Notre Dame ALUMNUS

TIMOTHY P. GALVIN, PH.B., '16
Devoted Alumnus
President of the Alumni Association
Supreme Director, Knights of Columbus
Eminent Attorney and Orator

November, 1934
Radio waves have controlled the direction of cars, ships, planes, etc., without the aid of human hands.

The direction of the Notre Dame Alumni Association is in somewhat similar vein now.

The waves of the depression overwhelmed us financially. Many paths that seemed attractive—and still seem so—were closed, like the path through the Red Sea to the pursuing Egyptians, by the flood of adversity.

But as the by-ways closed, the one unifying highway opened wider.

Service to the University has been the keynote of alumni associations from the first call in 1868, in the case of Notre Dame, to the present. Service to members and mutual benefits were essentially by-products of this generous virtue.

But as the depression cut down the benefit to members, it increased the need, and fortunately increased the opportunity, for the principal plank in the organization platform, service to Notre Dame.

Therefore, our history this several years past has been one of reliance upon the financial supplement of the University, which, however, we have returned an interest upon in the form of service and organized, articulate loyalty (to use a popular designation).

So, while you may not hear much from the presidential chambers of the Association; while the Editor may be confined to a large portion of routine; and while the treasury continues to suffer a most pernicious financial anemia—the Association continues a definite, even rapid, progress, controlled by those radioactive forces that have always worked for our progress, though in normal times through human agents.

 Bills have been mailed as in the happy days of yore. No blame, no mitigating statements. We believe that our infringement upon the indulgence of the University, no matter how satisfied Notre Dame may be with the results, is difficult to justify in the face of economic recovery. While we do not pretend to believe that all our members are happily or profitably employed, we bring up again those time-worn contentions that we still hold to be most moderate—five dollars, the annual dues, represent very little drain on any form of income. We maintain that one-third, just 1/3, of our members, paying dues, would support us in our fundamental activities. Surely not more than two-thirds of the Association are economically below the ability to contribute five dollars annually for actual values that more than repay the investment, and potential values that can't be interpreted in money terms.

What we want to do, so that the Association can be a real asset to Notre Dame, is to continue the high type of service and the deeply appreciated work that the organization has accomplished during these troublous times, and at the same time, support our own department financially.

At the present time, we resemble a bit too literally, the come-ons who sit on the Chinatown busses or stand in front of medicine shows and readily subscribe their half-dollar, knowing that it will be returned at the close of the trip, or show.

Of course it’s the same old misery. It’s the same old moan.
NOTRE DAME STANDS FOR BASIC PRINCIPLES

The text of a talk delivered by the Rev. John F. O'Hara, C.S.C., President of the University, over Radio Station WKBF, Indianapolis, on August 7.

This is a centennial year for the Catholic Church in Indiana. At a brilliant assembly in Vincennes on the 6th of May, addressed by His Excellency, Governor McNutt, was commemorated the hundredth anniversary of the establishment of the Diocese of Vincennes, now Indianapolis, which included the whole state of Indiana and a large part of Illinois. It is also a centennial year for Notre Dame, for in that same year of 1834, there was established on the shores of Lake St. Mary the first educational institution on what is now the largest campus in the world. An orphan asylum was built at Notre Dame that summer by Father Badin, missionary to the Indians, the first priest ordained in the United States.

But Father Badin's temporary project was soon abandoned. In 1835 he turned the land over to Bishop Brute who hoped to use it for a college. Bishop Brute's successor, Bishop de la Hailandiere, went to France a few years later to seek volunteers to carry out this project. In response to his call, Father Edward Sorin, a young priest newly ordained, set out for America with some lay-brothers to assist him. After a year spent in southern Indiana, doing missionary work and learning English, Father Sorin and six brothers came to Lake St. Mary in 1842 to begin a world-famous university with $400 in cash and an unlimited faith in God. The first winter was spent in the log cabin which Father Badin had built for an Indian chapel; the attic served as living quarters for these seven men. In the spring a brick building was erected and school began. The first student was Alexis Coquillard, the son of a French trader, one of the founders of the neighboring village of South Bend. The following year, January, 1844, a new main building was completed and a university charter was secured from the Indiana legislature.

That first building still stands—a few years from $400 to more than $10,000,000, and we hope that the faith in God of Father Sorin's successors is as great as the founder's. Father Sorin lived to see the golden jubilee of his project. He lived to see boys come from all over the world to receive their education in the hails that his hands had raised in the wilderness of Indiana. He saw his work live through the ravages of cholera, which decimated his faculty in 1854; he saw it through the scourge of Civil war when from his small community he sent eight priests to be chaplains for the Union army; he saw it swept away in 1879 when fire destroyed most of the buildings devoted to living quarters and classroom—but his courage never failed. He sent the students home in April, and in September he called them back again to a new Notre Dame that had risen from the ashes. He laid the cornerstone of the new Notre Dame while the ruins of the old still smoldered; he took up a trowel and began to build again to a new Notre Dame that had risen from the ashes. He laid the cornerstone of the new Notre Dame while the ruins of the old still smoldered; he took up a trowel and began to build again to a new Notre Dame that had risen from the ashes.

You might wonder what characterizes Notre Dame? It is the fidelity of Notre Dame in its underlying philosophy. There is an organic unity to Catholic education that is missing in so many educational projects today.

At a meeting of the Institute for Administrative Officers of Higher Institutions held recently at the University of Chicago, a prominent note was struck. There is a plea for a new direction in education, a more socialized product of education, a broader outlook on the part of both teachers and students. As one speaker put it, "the business men who come from our schools of business and commerce are so accustomed to looking down their own solitary channel that they never see the changing conditions about them." Notre Dame has never had to worry about that condition. While she has recognized that the variety of human talents and skills requires a variety of outlets, she has always stood out for sound training in fundamental principles. In her College of Engineering, for example, while she has offered courses in civil, mechanical, electrical, mining, metallurgical, chemical, and architectural engineering, she has stressed fundamental principles in all of these branches far more than laboratory work, for laboratory work, while essential for an introduction to processes, if overemphasized, leads to the narrow vision of the myopic specialist, and cripples a man when he faces an entirely new proposition. On the other hand, the man who is well versed in fundamental principles can study out and meet a new situation when it arrives.

Notre Dame took a stand 15 years ago against a popular trend in university training for business, which was then a relatively new departure.

Dr. D. M. Nigro, '14, City Health Officer of Kansas City, Mo., has found that the blood of nearly all heat victims shows a deficiency in salt.

Ray T. Miller, '14, former mayor of Cleveland, was made a member of the Supreme Board of Directors of the Knights of Columbus at the annual convention of the order in Detroit in August. Ray joins a friendly gathering in the Board which numbers among its members Leo F. Craig, ex-'07, Sioux Falls, So. Dak., and Timothy P. Galvin, '16, president of the Alumni Association. In addition, Dr. Edward W. Fahey, supreme physician, has had two sons, John and Edward at Notre Dame, and Supreme Grand Knight Carmody is an honorary degree holder. Coupled with the famous Boy Guidance course established at Notre Dame by the Order, Notre Dame and the Knights of Columbus have mutual interests which make the advent of Notre Dame men to the Board a natural thing, though the honor is appreciated none the less.

Captain R. C. Giffen, director of athletics of the United States Naval Academy, was a student at Notre Dame in 1885.

National Geographic's "Facts for Advertisers" carried the following in its August edition: "Harley L. McDevitt ('29), formerly with the school advertising department of Conde Nast publications, takes charge of the Educational Directory of the National Geographic Magazine on August 1, 1934. Mr. McDevitt, a graduate of Notre Dame, is well qualified by experience to show school heads that The Geographic audience is composed of readers ideally suited culturally and financially to fill worth while schools."

Several hundred friends of Hugh A. O'Donnell, '94, including of course a galaxy of N. D. alumni, gathered at the Commodore in New York City on June 18, to honor at a testimonial dinner a friend of long standing, closing a brilliant career with the New York Time.

Hugh's future plans are rather indicated in the pleasant sketch which follows, taken from a recent magazine of comment: "What this country needs is a secretary of leisure!" The speaker is Mr. Hugh A. O'Donnell, who bobbed up in the Washington circles last week with a suggestion for President Roosevelt.

Mr. Harry Ferguson of the Washington Post listened while Mr. O'Donnell explained his mission, aims, ideals, ambition and outlook on life. Mr. Ferguson's introductions to Mr. O'Donnell goes like this: "Mr. O'Donnell announced he was chairman of the national leisure time committee, and that if the government didn't cotton to his idea right away by golly he was going to set up shop anyway and start beating steel filing cabinets into mashie-niblicks."

"Mr. O'Donnell thinks it would be a swell idea to have the department of leisure right across the street from the department of labor. How the fur will fly when Secretary of Labor Frances Perkins, who is very busy trying to put people to work, finds out that Mr. O'Donnell is working just as hard trying to make them loaf!"

"At first glance the advantage seems to be with Mr. O'Donnell. Miss Perkins has made surveys in every state in the union, but Mr. O'Donnell is five surveys up on her because he jumped over to Europe in his capacity as chairman of the leisure committee and surveyed his way around the continent.

"He also has got a complicated chart showing how the department of leisure would be organized with service bureaus, executive committees and research divisions. Miss Perkins is a bit shy on charts, but she has some dandy graphs. Personally, our favorite is the red and blue one showing production figures for the pigiron industry for the fourth quarter of 1933, but it's everybody to his own taste.

"Mr. O'Donnell has come to the conclusion that the NRA has left people with a lot of free time. Indirectly he frowns on using of leisure time to say "make mine the same, Mike" or "two bucks straight across the board on Cavelcade."

"The national leisure time committee has decided what we are going to be allowed to do as soon as it really gets things organized. Clip this and save it, because it may save you a jail term when Mr. O'Donnell gets in the saddle. We will be allowed to play baseball, box, wrestle (we hereby challenge Claudette Colbert, two best falls out of three), play tennis and golf, act in amateur plays, read, hunt, fish, take hikes and go to the movies."

"Among the things we will not be allowed to do are hang around pool halls and beer gardens. At least not right away. Mr. O'Donnell says he has got to "elevate" such places first. The chart shows that the research division will have charge of the elevating."

"Mr. O'Donnell is all set to go into action with a herd of "regional directors, traveling demonstrators and correlating committees." If he is not too busy we would like to get a ruling on how he stands on sleeping till noon."
James J. Phelan, 63, died suddenly on Oct. 16, at his Brighton home. He was a Lay Trustee of the University of Notre Dame since 1931, leaving an unexpired term of two years in that important and ably filled post. Mr. Phelan was senior partner of the Boston branch of Hornblower & Weeks.

When Hornblower & Weeks was founded in 1888 by Henry Hornblower and the late John W. Weeks the office consisted of one room in the old Merchants Exchange building, in Boston, and the staff was one employee. The latter was James J. Phelan, who in 1900 was taken into the partnership. At the time of his death only Mr. Hornblower ranked ahead of him among the firm's members.

One of the most prominent Roman Catholic laymen in this country, Mr. Phelan, was awarded the Laetare medal by Notre Dame in 1931 and he was the first American to receive the rank of knight commander of the Order of Pope Pius IX. He was a charter member and master of the American chapter of the Knights of Malta which was installed in 1927. The other nine charter members of the American branch were Morgan J. O'Brien, John D. Ryan, James A. Farrell, Patrick E. Crowley, Edward N. Hurley, James A. Payne, John J. Raskob, Nicholas F. Brady and Edward F. Curry. Cardinal Hayes became protector of the chapter upon its establishment.

Mr. Phelan was born in Toronto and brought by his parents in 1878 to this country to attend school in Boston. In 1890 he married Mary Mistle, of Boston, and they lived in 1897. He married again in 1913. His second wife was the former Mabel J. McGaffee, of Boston, who survives. Also surviving are three children by his first marriage. James J. Phelan, Mrs. Joseph De Vore Norton and Mrs. Henry Milton Lyons, and three children by his second marriage, the Misses Priscilla, Virginia M. and Patricia Colbert Phelan.

Mr. Phelan was a member of the Boston Stock Exchange and a director of the Massachusetts Bonding and Insurance Co., the Union Mills, Inc., the Bangor & Aroostook Railroad, a member of the executive committee of the North East Power Association, and a trustee of the Massachusetts Utilities Association, the Boston Wharf Co., the United States Smelting, Refining and Mining Co., and the Suffolk Savings Bank for Seamen.

He was a former member of the Massachusetts Naval Brigade and a member of the executive committee of all Liberty Loan drives in Boston. During the war he was assistant food administrator of Massachusetts and executive manager of the Public Safety Committee. In 1923 he was emergency fuel administrator for Massachusetts. He also was a member of the San Francisco Relief Committee and a member of committees for relief in the Chelsea fire, the Salem fire, the Messina earthquake, and the Ohio flood. He was a member of the board of managers of the Boston Children's hospital, the Community Health Association, the Franklin Foundation, and the Travelers Air Society. In 1925 he received an LL.D. degree from Boston College, and the Order of St. Gregory the Great from the Pope. He was a member of many clubs in New York and Boston.

Funeral services were held Friday, Oct. 19. Rev. John F. O'Hara, C.S.C., president of the University, and Rev. Francis Boland, C.S.C., were present representing the University.

Beware of John P. Murphy

Not, of course, the past president and genial Cleveland leader, but a John Patrick Murphy who claims to be a personal friend of most of the recent N.D. football players, and who asks you to appreciate this by cashing a homeless check. He has been a pro athlete, etc., he says. He omits the fact that he has been in jail.

Redden Heads Group

William J. Redden, '14, was elected to succeed himself as president of the seventh district of the State Association of Wisconsin Architects at the annual meeting held Sept. 29 at the Milwaukee Builders' Exchange.
CAMPUS ACTIVITIES

By William H. Toulmin, '35

Representing 47 states and several foreign countries, 2,632 old and new students drifted back to the campus for registration on Sept. 11 and 12, to find a new post office in the middle stages of erection and a new administration ready to guide them through the coming school year.

On the 13th classes began and the same spirit of informality prevailed in the upper-class sessions while many of the sophomores and all the freshmen met their new professors for the first time. Professorial-undergraduate friendships were renewed and a truce was established until the formal school periods began the next day.

The campus wits were dismayed to discover that the faculty board of publications had decided to discontinue the publication of the 'Jugulator'; but undergraduate humor was still rampant in the rooms and corridors of the Halls and much banter passed across tables in the Dining hall.

On the first Sunday back, Father O'Hara celebrated a solemn high Mass in Sacred Heart Church to open officially the scholastic year at Notre Dame. Father Francis Wenninger, dean of the College of Science, preached the sermon and told the freshmen what they might expect to derive from an education at Notre Dame. The lay faculty attended, gowned in their academic robes, and formed the bulk of the procession from the porch of the Main building to the doors of the church.

During the week, S.A.C. Chairman Thomas K. LaLonde welcomed the freshmen at a convocation in the gym at which the student officers were introduced to the new class and undergraduate regulations and traditions were outlined and explained... Win Day, a junior, made a triumphal return to the campus, fresh from the National Amateur Golf Tournament, where he gave the country's best a scare before being eliminated in the quarter final round.

Something new in the way of mass sight-seeing was established on the afternoon of Sept. 30 when 300 undergraduate students drifted down to study and preparations for the Carnegie Tech game. The same afternoon Father O'Hara talked over the Church of the Air program and the Moreau Choir followed him with selections of liturgical music.

Bill Miller was appointed head of the newly organized Blue Circle, an organization honorary as well as utilitarian, intended to promote student activities and to act as mediator between the students and the faculty Disciplinary Board... The lay faculty came in for its share of honors when it was announced that Prof. Groom, of the Music department, had received a licentiate degree of music from the Board of Regents of the Royal College of Music and the Royal Academy of Music in London.

Rapid progress was made on the FERA project on the south end of the campus when under the direction of Father Thomas Steiner, intended to place all wires underground and thus do away with the poles and overhead wire about the campus. Father Steiner, by the way, replaced Father Matthew Walsh upon the latter's resignation from the provincial council of the Congregation of Holy Cross.

In a quiet ceremony on Saturday morning, Sept. 22, Rev. John A. Staunton, former teacher of philosophy at Notre Dame and a convert from the Protestant Episcopal church, received Holy Orders from Most Rev. John F. Noll, Bishop of Fort Wayne.

Doctor Francis Powers, a familiar personage to all alumni of many years back, finally received long-needed assistance with the appointment of Dr. James McMeel, a local doctor, as assistant University physician... A few days later the sporting bloods of the campus received a thrill in the visit of Jack Dempsey, former heavyweight champion, who dropped in to have a chat with Elmer Layden... He was followed, a day or so later, by 500 women, members of the N. C. C. W., who assembled in Washington Hall for their annual convention and to make plans for the local program in Catholic Action.

On the night before the Texas game the first pep meeting of the year was held in the gym. The entire student body attended to hear Father O'Hara, Elmer Layden, and Paul Host, '32, tell them about Notre Dame spirit. From the volume of noise it was evident that there is no let down in undergraduate loyalty to the team.

During the week, Hugh O'Donnell, '34, returned to the campus for a short visit and to renew acquaintances old and new. While here he addressed the Press club and told them a bit about his own newspaper work and a lot about his recent trip to Russia as a delegate for American Industrialists.

On Oct. 13 the student body attended a high Mass in Sacred Heart Church on the anniversary of Founder's Day. In keeping with the usual tradition, no classes were held that day.

A bomb shell was cast into the local camp of campus politicians when a member of the presidents' council suggested a plan whereby the nominations for future class presidents would be placed in a hat and, in grab bag fashion, a nominating committee would be picked from within by a disinterested person—if such an individual can be found. There was no formal adoption of the suggestion, and undergraduate opinions vary. If adopted, it will do away with a grand old custom.

On the evening of Oct. 15 the South Bend Chamber of Commerce tendered a testimonial dinner to President Father O'Hara. It was announced, upon this occasion, that such an affair will occur with the inauguration of each new administration of the University. On the preceding Thursday, the Lay Faculty club had also tendered a dinner to Father O'Hara in the University Dining hall. President Pedro de Landero welcomed the new administration and pledged the cooperation of the organization.

A revival of former pep meetings was held the night before the Purdue game when the University band marched around the winding campus paths to pick the members of the Halls and lead them in a march down Notre Dame Avenue to a point opposite the stadium where a monster bonfire was the scene for cheer leading antics and several speeches by local and imported orators. Among the talkers were Coach Layden, Cap Edwards, Tim Galvin, and Warren Brown, sports editor of the Chicago Herald and Examiner. What happened the next day is history.

The local social season got under way with the announcement that the Sophomore Cotillion would be held the night before the Wisconsin game when all good sophomores—and not a few upperclassmen—would dance at the famous Palais Royal. With that announcement the campus settled down to study and preparations for the Carnegie Tech game.
JAMES J. PHELAN

James J. Phelan, recipient of the Laetare Medal in 1931 and countless other honors of Church and state, Lay Trustee of the University, is dead.

Eulogy has been heaped upon eulogy from the many sources that profited from the exemplary Catholic life that Mr. Phelan led.

Nothing remains to be said concerning the individual but to add the sincere regret that the alumni of Notre Dame feel when a good friend of Notre Dame dies.

The occasion, however, offers the alumni, particularly, an opportunity to pay tribute not only to Mr. Phelan, but to a group of men of whom he was outstandingly one, who, not connected with the University by academic association, still find in it a strong appeal to their talents and resources to which they generously and in varying ways respond.

The Lay Trustees, especially the non-alumni half of that body, typify the peak of this group. From them much is asked and much is received, with no other satisfaction or remuneration than the sense of service rendered to an institution in which they must essentially believe.

Throughout the country there are many other men who are similarly, if less formally, enlisted in the service of Notre Dame.

They deserve the appreciation of every alumnus of Notre Dame as they have the heartfelt appreciation of the University itself. They are raised far from the lightly designated and often unsolicited "synthetic" alumni.

They are the purest example of unselfish giving to Notre Dame. For the Notre Dame man who gives to Notre Dame gives, in some measure, to himself.

Among these valued friends of Notre Dame, it is significant tribute indeed to record that Mr. Phelan was a leader.

Older they were. But Children they continued to be. They brought Discord; they brought Disquiet; and to the Kind Lady they brought Dismay.

Until finally the Kind Lady said that unless the Older Children who returned to the large House behaved so that their coming and their staying was pleasing to both the Kind Lady and the Younger Children, then it might be that the Large House would not be Large enough, and only the Younger Children Welcome to its Rooms.

And of course, being Older, the Kind Lady found only the Deep and Undying Love of the Older Children remaining, and the Kind Lady and the Younger Children and the Older Children lived Happily ever After.

THE JUGGLER DIES

The Juggler, since 1920 the mirror of Notre Dame's lighter nature, is dead—pronounced so by the budget doctors of the University.

Facts are facts. Upon them the decision was based, and with it, there is of course no argument.

But there still remains a regret that goes with the passing of a friend, no matter how long anticipated.

In the Juggler, ridiculous by nature, there was invariably a touch of the sublime.

In an era of smut and in a field particularly pervaded by filth, the Juggler was a smiling crusader for decency, achieving a technical and literary recognition which gave the lie direct to claims that indecency was the essence of modern humor.

Our Lady has lost a knight whose heroic charges were not all against windmills.

BEDTIME STORY

Once upon a time a Kind Lady had a large and lovely House. She also had Thousands of Children.

Many of them had lived in the House before Leaving Home to Make Good. They knew the Ways of the House and of the Kind Lady.

Always in the House were several thousand Younger Children. They still required much Sleep. They still demanded Discipline. They loved the Kind Lady but thought her Old Fashioned. And they looked at the Older Children with Awe and Admiration, of a Kind.

Loving and Understanding the Kind Lady, you would have thought that when the Older Children came back to stay in the large House they would have Helped her guide the Children living in it.

VOX ALUMNORUM

Elmer Layden has inherited one splendid tradition, it seems.

Vox populi began its customary dirge when Texas upset the country's crystal gazers by winning the opening game.

But the voice of the alumni was calm, quiet in a reassuring way, filled with the mettle that inspires.

The following Saturday proved it.

Such has become the way of the alumni of Notre Dame. Our University administration is composed of our own alumni. Our coaching staff is composed of our own alumni. They are trained voices. Even the most friendly voices, untrained, add nothing to harmony.

It is to our credit that we seem to know the time for community singing.

FR. O'HARA DELIVERS CHURCH OF AIR SERMON

Rev. John F. O'Hara, C.S.C., '11, president of the University, has given so freely of his intellectual faculties in response to innumerable demands made upon his speaking time that the ALUMNUS is hard pressed to reprint those utterances of most significance to alumni and within our space limits. The brilliant sermon preached by Father O'Hara over the "Church of the Air" program of the Columbia Broadcasting network on Sunday, Sept. 30, is omitted in full because many alumni undoubtedly listened in, and because the radio address from Indianapolis which is reprinted in full concerns "Indefinite Notre Dame references of alumni interest as well as the sound underlying principles of Catholic education.

The turgidity of religion, the inane deification of popular heroes, individualism and widespread disrespect for real authority were sternly excoriated by Father O'Hara.

The program originated from the studios of WSBT-WFAM, The South Bend Tribune's broadcasting stations, in the John F. Cushing hall of engineering on the Notre Dame campus, and was relayed to the 105 auxiliary units of the Columbia Broadcasting system.

"In these days we hear a great deal about leadership," Fr. O'Hara said in part. "The chaos which follows a major social disturbance calls for adjustment to new conditions, and the world war surpassed any previous social disturbance of history. Hence we hear now of political leadership, economic and business leadership, social leadership of one kind or the other. Any movement for readjustment requires, of course, sound backing.

"In the present mood of society, democracy holds sway, hence this backing must be secured by an appeal to the masses. And herein lies a danger, for history shows only too clearly that it is the way of the masses to follow a personality rather than a principle; a man rather than a platform. A Mussolini, a Hitler, a Stalin, a Mussalinish, bear eloquent witness to this truth...."

"Behind the war, behind the orgies of the reconstruction period, behind the depression, runs the common veil of greed, the common spectre of selfishness, to common quest of the individual for pleasure, possessions, power.

"Religion, not law, is the practical solvent of greed. A national recovery act, for example, may establish a minimum wage, but not even an army of enforcement boards can remove the selfishness that makes such an act necessary. Only religion can do that effectively, only a life ordered on principles, and on supernatural principles if the effect is to be far-reaching. . . ."

"Why then has not religion done the work it is supposed to do? If religion was on the job, why was there a war? If religion was on the job, why was there the unbalanced distribution of wealth that brought on the depression? The answer is simple enough: Religion was not on the job, religion was inarticulate.

"Where shall we lay the blame for the disrespect for authority which is so characteristic of our age? Lay it where you please. Blame it on the weakness of human nature, which is ever prone to pride. Lay it on the home, where the bright sayings of the children are treasured by fond parents who give their offspring in this way an overwhelming sense of importance... Blame it on the school, which acts today on the principle that children must be entertained. Blame it on the lawmakers, who juggle with human rights for political expediency. Blame it on the philosophers of individualism.

"Historically, the reformation must bear its proper share of responsibility for individualism, for it introduced the principles of private interpretation of the Scriptures as the rule of faith... But to go back to its real source we must go all the way to the Garden of Eden. In the story of the fall we see clearly who fathered individualism—"the lie.""

In conclusion, Father O'Hara warned: "Never be deceived by the appeal to your 'superior intellects.' It was not to Voltaire or to Schopenhauer or Nietzsche that Christ said: "Feed my lambs, feed my sheep," but only to poor, sinful Peter, who denied Him thrice and swore: 'I know not the man.'"

"Sport Story" Goes N.D.

Sport Story, one of the more virile of the Street & Smith family of magazines, goes definitely Irish in its Dec. 10 number (on sale Nov. 8).

Morrie T. Andrews, '17, author of "The Juggler of Notre Dame," is the author of the featured short novel, "Panski of the Irish." The story, written from the educated viewpoint of an alumnus, presents the inside story of the international flavor of the Notre Dame teams which seems to worry almost everyone but the Notre Dame man.

The cover is an action painting of football, backed by a very good painting of the head of the late Knute Rockne.

In the department, "From the Bleachers," Handley Cross discusses "Notre Dame Football." And under "Big Moments of the Year," the Army N.D. game of last year is discussed.

Law Grade's Brilliant

No lesser adjective seems adequate for the record established by the College of Law classes of 1933 and 1934 in the bar exams.

Dean Konop states that 50% and more of all those taking the state bar exams fail to pass.

But of the Class of 1933 of the Notre Dame Law College, 35 in number, 27 have passed their respective bars. The other eight have not reported. At worst, however, the percentage of success is 77%.

Of the Class of 1934, totalling 34, 22 have already passed bar examinations in the several states. Only four have reported failures in the first efforts. Eight have not been heard from. But, again, the worst percentage for the newest class is better than 64%.

Both classes, being very young, can undoubtedly raise these percentages with imminent examinations. But the original figures are a decided tribute to the legal training of the Notre Dame College of Law.

Cooneys in Crash

Doctor John M. Cooney, head of the Department of Journalism, suffered three fractured ribs and a painful leg injury when a car driven by his daughter, Catherine Ann, was side-swiped at the corner of Napoleon and Stanfield streets, South Bend, on the way to the Purdue game.

He was removed to St. Joseph's hospital, along with Mrs. Cooney, who was also injured in the accident. The Doctor was released in a week, and Mrs. Cooney was allowed to return home after remaining three days for treatment and observation.

Professor and Mrs. James F. Hines, the other occupants of the Cooney car, were uninjured in the accident.

Kirby Heads Jr. C. C.

Robert E. Kirby, '29, former president of the Indianapolis alumni club, erstwhile cheerleader, and other signal honors including twins, rose to the heights in a different field when he was elected president of the Indiana Junior Chamber of Commerce at its recent convention in Indianapolis, Sept. 15.

Alumni Board to Meet

Notre Dame vs. Northwestern is just one of the struggles set for Saturday, November 17.

On that day at the Auditorium Hotel at 9:30 A. M. the Alumni Board vs. the problems of the Association will go at least sixty minutes.

President Timothy P. Galvin, '16, will preside. In view of both the accessibility of Chicago and the rivalry with Northwestern, a full meeting of the Board is expected.
A specially bound volume of The First Cardinal of the West of which Paul R. Martin (Notre Dame '09) is the author, was presented to His Holiness Pope Pius XI, on Sept. 20, by Cardinal Mundelein of Chicago. The book tells the story of the Church in the Archdiocese of Chicago under the administration of His Eminence and was published by The New World official organ of the archdiocese, in commemoration of the episcopal silver jubilee of His Eminence.

From among many Catholic writers considered, Paul R. Martin who is an accepted authority on Catholic subjects as well as an author, editor and critic of distinction, was chosen to write this book which may be called an historical biography. Since early last February it has been appearing serially in The New World and has attracted widespread attention. There was an insistent demand for its publication in book form with the result that two editions have just been issued.

The first of these, called the Sponsors’ edition, was sold entirely on subscription and orders for the entire edition were received by the publishers long before the book went to press. These books of this edition are elaborately bound in red cloth, beautifully tooled with Cardinal Mundelein’s coat-of-arms and the author’s name embossed on the front cover. The second, or library edition, is bound in red leather with gold lettering. The copy of the book which Cardinal Mundelein took to Rome and which was presented to the Holy Father on the jubilee day of His Eminence when he celebrated Mass at the tomb of St. Peter, was bound in white leather.

The First Cardinal of the West is written in the same style which has marked most of the work of Paul R. Martin and which manifested itself in no uncertain manner during his student days at Notre Dame when he was one of the outstanding editors of The Scholastic. Graphically, it tells of Cardinal Mundelein’s boyhood, his rise to the priesthood and later to the episcopal dignity as auxiliary bishop of Brooklyn; his selection by the Holy See as archbishop of Chicago and the work he has done as head of this vast archdiocese. The subject matter falls naturally into groups including educational work, charities, war work, boy work and those activities which are classified as purely religious. The preface of The First Cardinal of the West was written by His Excellency, the Most Rev. Bernard J. Shell, auxiliary bishop of Chicago.

Another Victory March

There are many stories of success, most of them beginning in modest obscurity and ending in material glory. This one is a bit different: In 1928 Eddie Collins came to Notre Dame, inconspicuous in the shadow then cast by his brother "Chuck," end on the Four Horsemen team. This younger-brother handicap is a tangible thing in school athletics. But Eddie overcame mental and physical obstacles to win the coveted monogram in 1928.

In February of 1930 Eddie accepted an opportunity to help Jimmy Phelan coach at the U. of Washington. The following September his health broke, and a coaching career was replaced by an address in Tucson. For four years he has stayed in Arizona, striving to draw from its peculiar qualities the restoration of the vitality that was his at Notre Dame.

Never has there been, in the gratifying regularity of his correspondence with the Alumni Office, a hint of anything but the fire and the will to win that Rock gave to his boys. Frequently there has come a practical suggestion for a phase of Association activity. With every logical excuse for omitting financial obligations to the Association, Eddie has never failed to send a couple of dollars annually, insisting on this gesture for the ALUMNUS, which, in his enforced quiescence, mirrors for him the active world of which he was so vital a part. Never has there been an opportunity for a Notre Dame contact in Tucson but Eddie took cheerful advantage of it.

Two gone and three to go—that's the way the vengeful Irish of Notre Dame have their scorecards marked at this writing.

It's only another way of saying that Notre Dame has evened the score with Carnegie Tech and Purdue for last year's defeats, and that the names Pittsburgh, Navy, Southern California, are heavily underlined on the rest of the schedule.

Don't get the idea, however, that Coach Elmer Layden and his lads are taking their games with Wisconsin, Northwestern, and Army lightly, or that they do not feel keenly the sting of the 7 to 6 defeat at the hands of Texas in the opener.

Layden has accomplished lots at Notre Dame in a few short months, but especially in the weeks since the opening of practice last September 15. (The scheduled opening of the 15th was rained out and the newsreels took all afternoon the 17th to record the new Notre Dame shift music for posterity, while Sunday, the 16th, intervened).

He and his noble staff of assistants are the first to admit that there is still much to be accomplished. They say, indeed, that there is more to be done than has already been achieved. We are not one to disagree with them, but here are some of the things which have come about under the new regime:

1.—The morale of the team has been restored. It is seldom that the Notre Dame fan is satisfied in defeat, but those 33,000 fans who came and saw the 7 to 6 victory by Jack Chevigny's Texas Longhorns went away but those 33,000 fans who came and saw the 7 to 6 victory by Jack Chevigny's Texas Longhorns went away before the game, to send the boys into a panic.

2.—Notre Dame is improving mechanically every week. Blocking and tackling in the Texas game was ragged much of the time. There were none of the annihilating blocks that characterized teams of the past. But against Purdue, there were several, principally by Quarterback Wally Fromhart. Against Carnegie Tech, spirit ebbed somewhat, probably because of the Purdue victory, and blocking at the line of scrimmage suffered. But downfield blocking was improved. The blocking on Bill Shakespeare's 56-yard touchdown run for the first score, looked like the old days again. If Layden can coordinate the line-of-scrimmage blocking he has been getting with the Carnegie Tech game, his combination is going to be hard to beat.

3.—Notre Dame is getting sound quarterbacking. The tactical errors

Notre Dame has made in its three games to date can be counted on the fingers of one hand. None of them have proved too costly. One serious error of judgment, the calling of a line plunge on fourth down with six yards to go on the Texas 30-yard line, marred that contest, but all the quarterbacks saw the mistake and profited therefrom.

4.—An orchid to Trouble Shooter Joe Boland for his line. The guards and tackles were so seriously maligned by coaches and this press agent before the season opened that we went to Layden and asked him if we couldn't say just one or two nice things in print about the lads so that they wouldn't develop an inferiority complex. Layden said, "I'll take care of that." So he told them at the next day's chalk talk that Notre Dame guards and tackles rank with the best in the country.

Layden so much and their trust in him is so complete that they believed him, and went out to prove the truth of his words. They aren't the best in the country, but they rank with the best, and our guess is that they'll continue to prove it. Boland had a lot of line trouble to unravel, but the static is slowly but surely being eliminated.

5.—A great accomplishment of Layden's is the division of his large squad into an "A" and a "B" group, with six teams on each, and the appointment of Bill Cerney, fullback of Layden's playing day, as their coach.

"Captain Bill of the B Boys" is sending a new man up to the "A" group every few days now, and then Layden, Boland, Tom Conley, and Chet Grant take the boys in hand for individual instruction. The move has had a great psychological effect in keeping the boys from the sixth team to the 12th fighting all the time to get into the upper bracket. The will—of—the—wisp quantity known as "spirit" can rise or fall, affecting the entire squad, and its ebb or flow can start at one end of the squad as well as the other. Layden realizes this, and his division of the squad has provided just one more dam against any possible ebb tide.

6.—To recount the examples which flash to mind of good—will building done by Layden at Notre Dame would take more space than is available. Layden's quick wit, geniality, and generally ascetic demeanor have captured the hearts of alumni, students, faculty, administration, players, newspapermen, radio men, cameramen, fans without any particular allegiance to Notre Dame other than an interest in its football teams, and members of the coaching fraternity. Everyone, even the opposing coaches, is behind Layden. We hope all their teams are behind, too, when Notre Dame finishes 60 minutes of play with them.

We are making no sophomoric prediction of victory the rest of the way in, or anything like it. Notre Dame still has to meet Wisconsin at home, and then travel to points of varying distances to meet Pittsburgh, Navy, Northwestern, Army, and Southern California. Even if Pitt were not as formidable as last year, if Navy and Army were not undefeated, if Northwestern had not suddenly found scoring power, and if Southern California were not on its way to a come­back after dropping a couple for the first time, Notre Dame apparently didn't want to advance. "The boys played methodically, carefully. They made few mistakes, except mechanical ones, but did little constructive work. Downfield blocking showed improvement, but blocking by both backs and linemen at the line of scrimmage showed retrogression.

Notre Dame, 13; Carnegie Tech, 0.

In breaking the spell Howard Harper-­ster cast over Notre Dame in 1926, Notre Dame looked unimpressive against Carnegie Tech. Harper played quarterback for the 1926 team which defeated the potential national champions, 19 to 9; he played quarterback in 1928 when Carnegie defeated the Irish, 27 to 7, on Carter­field field in the first game Notre Dame lost at home in 23 seasons; he coached Tech to its 7 to 0 victory last year—and Notre Dame lost four out of the next five games. It seemed that Notre Dame could not win when Harper had anything to do with the game. But two perfectly-executed scoring plays turned the trick. Bill Shakespeare tore around his right end for the second touchdown. Andy Pinley passed 32 yards to Capt. Domin­ic Vairo, right end, for the second touchdown in the third quarter. Bill Bruno, confident sophomore quarter­back kicked the extra point, the first registered in five attempts by the Irish, by the dropkick route. The rest of the afternoon was a marvel of defensive play and punting. Neither team could advance consistently, and Notre Dame apparently didn't want to advance. The boys played methodically, carefully. They made few mistakes, except mechanical ones, but did little constructive work. Downfield blocking showed improvement, but blocking by both backs and linemen at the line of scrimmage showed retrogression.

Things to be thankful for include the fact that the Irish handled more than a dozen punts without a fumble. They made only one other fumble with the wet ball, and recovered it themselves.
CINCINNATI

Much water has passed under the bridge since last I wrote you.

Had a very successful season at Camp and considering everything, enjoyed the best season since Fort Scott became a summer recreation field for the boys and girls of this vicinity. Had a couple of Fort Scott boys in my staff this summer, DON MARTIN '33, and JIM MALONEY, both to be graduated in Boy Guidance this year. We also had the head of the course, Mr. HOYER, visit us a couple of times.

Mr. Hoyer was very anxious to have his son, Ray, Jr., absorb some of the camping experiences of one of his students so he selected Fort Scott Camp for that try-out and Ray, Jr., served on my staff as a junior counselor.

Came back from Camp around the 10th of September and dumped right into the preparation for the National Conference of Catholic Charities which was held in Cincinnati, Oct. 7 to 10. Monsignor Wagner, being president of the National Conference, our organization worked doubly hard for his success; and from the comments heard on all sides, we had one of the finest conferences ever held. Some say it was even superior to the one held in New York City last year. I am certainly glad as a Notre Dame man that I had a small part in the working of this conference.

I met quite a number of former Notre Dame men who appeared on the various programs throughout the three days of the Conference. FATHER MURRAY and also FATHER VINCENT MOONEY contributed to the program. Mr. Money led several of the discussions on Catholic Youth and Recreation, and gave a very fine interview to the Cincinnati Post reporter on the scope and type of his work. ERNEST DUBRUL, '92, a Cincinnati business man, was a leader in one of the discussions. Judge W. F. McGOWAN, a classmate of mine, was chairman of the meeting on Probation and Delinquency. CHARLES MCGALL, of the Class of '30, Boy Guidance, LOU MOORMAN, of this year's class and RAY PELLMAN, of '29, Boy Guidance, were very much in evidence during the entire conference as well as Father MICHAEL MORIARTY of Cleveland, Director of Charities of that city, who played a very important part in the conference.

So, all in all; although the Conference was national in scope, grazed by the presence of the Apostolic Delegate, over 25 Archbishops and Bishops, hundreds of the clergy, Hon. ALFRED E. SMITH and several members of Mr. Roosevelt's cabinet, we found Notre Dame men doing their part to make it the success it was. Naturally, I was very proud to be in the employ of the man who was responsible for making this conference a success.

Quite a number of local Alumni served on the various committees. I might name LEE DEBOIS, HARRY and WILLIAM CRUMLEY, BILL CASTELLINI, CLARENCE BRINK, ERNEST DUBRUL and ED MORIARTY, manager of the Hotel Netherland-Plaza, the headquarters of the conference.

Sort of rambled a bit from the topic of the Notre Dame club. However, I couldn't resist giving you a picture of this Conference because so many of our men were in evidence there. Now for some news of the Notre Dame Club:

We resumed our Fall and Winter meetings with a dinner and business meeting on Tuesday evening, Oct. 2. The club will hold its meetings this year at the Kemper Lane hotel, which FRANK, J. SWEENEY, of the Class of '18, a class mate of LEE DEBOIS. Frank is a very congenial host and I am sure that we are in for some very fine meetings this year. Naturally eating in a Notre Dame atmosphere will mean a great deal. Tell the boys when they travel this way to give Frank a call, and I am sure they will be well taken care of. We also have EDDIE MORIARTY, assistant manager of the Netherland-Plaza hotel, one of the show hotels in the country; there is no finer.

We had a splendid meeting and over 20 of the boys were present. The air was heavy with talk of Notre Dame and Notre Dame traditions. To a man, they vowed their confidence in ELMER LAYDEN as the man to put the boys back on the winning side. However, win or lose, we are still for him. I am sending you our meeting schedule for the year, so if any of the boys come this way, remember that the latch string is out:

Oct. 2—First regular monthly meeting.
Nov. 6—Regular monthly meeting.
Dec. 8—Afternoon cards, evening buffet lunch (Radio-So. Cal. game)
FRANK SWEENEY, chairman.
Dec. 22—Reception for Cincinnati Campus students (Home-coming). Details later.
BOB KUERZE, chairman.
Jan. 8—Regular monthly meeting—ladies party. BOB HUGHES, chairman.
Feb. 12—President's party.
Mar. 5—Regular monthly meeting.
April 22—National Notre Dame Night. AL and BILL CASTEL-LINI, chairman.
May 7—Regular meeting, final for season. LARRY JANSZEN, chairman.

So, if you feel the urge to hit Cincinnati this year, try to hit us on one of those dates.

Just received a call from a DR. McDONALD, who is spending his internship at the Children's hospital. He informed me that he took his pre-med at Notre Dame.

LEW DUBOIS was in Chicago helping close up the World's Fair. Also made a trip to Washington in the interest of the Better Housing Plan. Lee, you know, is with the Fred'k. A. Schmidt Realty Co., one of the largest in the country.

JOE MEYER, Coach at Xavier University, is putting a very fine team on the field this year. A very close defeat by Centre last Friday stopped a four-game winning streak. Joe is very ably assisted by CLEM CROWE. Clem certainly is showing us a fine line after losing two All American tackles.

JIM MITCHELL is Assistant Manager of the L. B. Harrison Boys Club and Hotel.

FRANK SWEENEY of '18 is putting an erstwhile dead hotel up among the leading hotels in the city. Right now, he is turning business away. Frank is also dolling up the place.

Smiling ED MORIARTY continues to drag them in with that winsome smile of his. Eddie was certainly our friend at the National Conference last week. Ed is the Assistant Manager at the Netherland Plaza, considered one of the finest hotels in the world.

BOTT'S CROWLEY is doing quite a lot of officiating. During business hours, he is doing quite well in the insurance game.

JOE DAUTREMONT still continues to be the Beau Brummell of the Police Dept. Joe will make the Chief's job some day.

BOB KUERZE is very busy these days securing orders for the best beer in the country, Hudepohl's. It is second to none; and if you haven't yet received it in South Bend, take a little tip from me, write Bob and corner the market.

HARRY CRUMLEY is still underlining the city with sewers. Harry reports business as being on the upgrade even if he has to dig down.

JOE MORRISSEY is still turning out winners at Roger Bacon High school. Joe lost a lot of good boys last year, but you cannot keep a good man down. We are watching with interest Thernes, one of Joe's boys, now playing end at Notre Dame.

BOB HUGHES is still in the brokerage business. Things look good, and the looks of things seems to be prospering.

ANDY BARTON still selling Kellogg's Products.

Cleveland Club Plans Navy Week-End

The stage is set for another big Notre Dame-Navy football week-end here Nov. 10. For the information especially of out-of-town alumni and their friends, who are planning on making this game, I will try to outline the schedule of events for the week-end.

The Notre Dame team will arrive at the Union Terminal station at 7:30 a.m. Friday. As many of us as possible will be on hand to meet them. From the depot, the team will go in a body to Mass, probably at the Cathedral, and will then go to the Lake Shore hotel, where they will stay while here.

Friday evening, Nov. 9, the Club is having a smoker at the Cleveland Athletic club, 1120 Euclid avenue, for Notre Dame and Navy men and their friends. The price of admission will be nominal, and there will be several boxing and wrestling matches on the program, and refreshments available.

From 11 a.m. Saturday forenoon until shortly before game time, a buffet luncheon, at 85 cents, will be served in the ballroom of Hotel Cleveland, on the mezzanine floor, for Notre Dame men and their wives, mothers, sisters and sweethearts. Wives of local members, who will act as hostesses, have planned this affair particularly for the entertainment of the feminine contingent, but the invitation extends to all N.D. escorts also. The committee also plans to entertain any feminine guests who may wish, during the absence of their escorts. The committee plans to entertain any feminine guests who may wish, during the absence of their escorts, by serving a buffet luncheon in Parlor B, on the mezzanine floor of Hotel Cleveland.

A dinner at $1.50 a plate in honor of the two teams, and for all Notre Dame and Navy men, will be given at the Lake Shore hotel, on Edge water drive, at 6:30 p.m. Saturday evening. This will be an informal dance, and there will be several boxing and wrestling matches on the program, and refreshments available.

To FRED JOYCE, at the Lake Shore, as soon as possible.

The dinner will be followed by a dance, also at the Lake Shore and commencing at 10 p.m. — informal, $3.00. The dance also is invitational, but all alumni and their friends will be welcomed.

J. R. RYAN, brother of our president, BILL RYAN, who formerly lived in Chicago, is a recent addition to the roster of Cleveland club members.

FATHER O'HARA was here for a short stay on Oct. 1, on his way to Pittsburgh, and a number of the boys found opportunity to visit him at his hotel that evening.

HENRY NEWMARK, class of '78, is taking good care of his title as the oldest Cleveland alumnus, by spending the winter in Los Angeles, Calif., at the Park Vista hotel.

PIERCE O'CONNOR, Secretary.

Kansas City

DAN FOLEY, the able president of the Kansas City Club, writes that his gang "had an enjoyable E.C. Notre Dame Club golf tournament at the Wood Hill Country club. After we all had broken par, several times, we walked across the way to J O E O'DOWD's cottage and enjoyed a plentiful and floatable Dutch lunch."

Dan continues that the weekly Sunday luncheons are being resumed this Tuesday, Oct. 2, at Engelman's, 1105 Grand Avenue.

"Our club is boosting the St. Benedict's vs. K. U. game and pulling for LARRY MULLINS to bring home a victory. (The game was on Oct. 15. Larry's team lost.)"

BOB TYLER, JOE O'BRIEN and RAY SMITH plan to see the N-D-Texas game. FRED MANCUSO, JIM BRAY, others and myself plan to see the Carnegie Tech game. DR. NIGRO, EDDIE MCGRATH, CHARLIE MEYER, JOE MURRAY, etc., intend to go. We are trying to round up the gang to a decision on one game and make a gallant charge on South Bend in a body."

Philadelphia

If well begun is partly done, your local supporters are all set to go right along with Elmer and his boys. When a score and a half of the locals roll out for the first meeting, after a summer lay-off, it's time to get up and shout. But then, that's the way with these Philly fans, you never can do them out. And, after their long hibernation they sure were poppin' with ideas. HARRY FRANCIS, '31, suggested that we go to see the BILL CATELLINI show of brawches, and you know what we saw.

Somebody came up with the question of the Annual Christmas Formal, and Messrs. COONEY, and FRANCIS, and CHARLIE MCKINNEY, ex-'26, and later assistant at St. Louis U., are the gallant yeomen who'll bear the brunt.

JERRY WILSON, '31, homesick for his Pittsburg (after a short and deserved vacation) gets the olive for suggesting a united block at the N. D. -Army battle. Another JERRY —of the Wilkesbarre, (Pa.) LYONS —was on the wire for the purpose of greeting us. Speaking of Lions, CLIFF PRODEHL was around bragging about how hard a Master's is at Penn State, and how they're still sore at the lickings N. D. administered a few years ago.

A mess of the "Floridans," (because they're with us only during the Winter), came back tanned after suns away from the Sleepy City.

Here's calling "Glady to see you back!" to JIM BIBIGNS (looking forward to that "men in white" label at the year's close.), BOB FLINT, '33 (ready to turn criminal if he doesn't get thru the same course in law at Penn, with JACK KENNY, '38). Speaking of medics, heard MAURIE REAGAN was learning to speak English in London, or thereabouts. JOE FARRELL came all the way in from our worthy Capitol, brought his fellow Harrisburgians' greetings. To say nothing of JIM O'DONNELL.

We think we'd like to mention the Club's Mass for all deceased Notre Dame men at the Cathedral of Sts. Peter and Paul, Sunday, October 28 —a beginning of the not-forgotten suggestion of Mr. President GUS. If it's not well attended, watch the thunder here next month.

Tom Magee.

Rhode Island

According to an attractive notice sent out by CHARLIE GRIMES, the club was to meet on Wednesday evening, Sept. 26, in the Naragansett hotel, Providence, in the new officers and to discuss plans for the Army game and for the visit of the basketball team to New England next December.

PERSONALS

Before 1880

HENRY NEWMARK sends an enticing postcard from Los Angeles where he is settled for the winter at the Hotel Park Vista, 626 South Rural Street, and waiting, incidentally, for the Southern California game on December 8.

1880-1885

JOE SMITH came down from Chicago to add his rain-laden cheers to the victory music at the Carnegie Tech game.

1887

WARREN CARTIER was much in evidence among those who saw and were cheered by the notable Purdue victory.

1893

JIM McKEE accompanied a party of friends up from Versailles, Kentucky, for the Purdue game and spent many happy hours talking over the old days with Professors Ackermann and Maurus, Father John W. Cavannah and others. Jim also came up to the campus last summer to introduce a prospective student from Versailles to the glories of Notre Dame.

1894

MAURICE KIRBY, of Lansing, Michigan, was one of the 45,000, more or less, who dropped in for a few hours to see Notre Dame score three touchdowns in one quarter against Purdue.

HUGH O'DONNELL spent several leisurely days at the University late in September, much to the delight of all his many friends on the campus. Recently returned from Russia, Hugh had just attended the World's Fair. He combined his intimate knowledge of the newspaper field with his travels in Russia to give Doctor Cooney's journalists a fascinating talk while he was here. Leaving, he promised to cut down in the future the interval of ten years that had elapsed since his previous visit to Notre Dame.

JIM DELANEY jumped the puddles and dashed between the rain drops to see Notre Dame take that moist encounter from Carnegie Tech. Jim is in Chicago.

1901

JIM RECORD, with Mrs. Record, came up from Texas for the Texas game and saw many of his friends on the campus, among them Father Eugene Burke, head of the Department of English and the new maestro of Washington Hall entertainment.

1902

Senator GEORGE MAYPOLE, of Chicago and Springfield, Illinois, was down for the Texas and Carnegie Tech games, and, although the Alumnus Office scout didn't see him then, very probably for the Purdue game also.

PEACHES O'NEIL was a figure familiar to many when he was dashed around the campus just before the Purdue game.

Through an oversight BOB PROCTOR reported in the October ALUMNUS that BYRON KANALEY and he had represented the class of 1904 at last summer's LajTen's Retreat. TOM JONES, M.A., '04, corrected the mistake with the information that he had been present at each retreat for many years past, including the one in 1904, and that FATHER THOMAS P. IRVING, '04, had celebrated the Mass for deceased retreatants at this year's gathering. So much, gladly, for the sake of accuracy and well-deserved credit.

Tom, who is treasurer of the Notre Dame Club of Indianapolis and lives at 822 North Rural Street, added in his letter to Bob Proctor that his son will be ordained in Sacred Heart Church next June and that his youngest daughter has entered St. Mary's Academy for the present year. Tom thinks he is the only '04 man with a son in the religious life.

JUDGE THOMAS D. LYONS is receiving widespread commendation for his courageous action against robbers and burglars in the Tulsa, Oklahoma territory. The Tulsa World reported on Sept. 29 that Judge Lyons, presiding over the criminal assignment in district court, had already meted out seven life sentences as well as two five-year terms.

Said Judge Lyons in sentencing two highwaymen: "We have a crime wave in the United States and it is as bad as war. We used to think that there was something to this thing of trying to reclaim criminals and reform them. A lot of ladies' aid societies and a lot of female men used to work on that proposition. They had great sympathy when the murder came into court. The murdered man in his grave was forgotten. The criminals came out of the penitentiary due to misplaced sentimentality and shot down officers of the law who take their lives in their hands every day. Not one day goes by but what you have the city and county officers risking their lives to protect society."

DAN O'CONNOR made another of his welcome visits to the campus when he was down from Chicago for the Purdue game.

Also, from his office at 10 South La Salle St., Chicago, he very thoughtfully sent a clipping from the Chicago New World concerning Rev. Mother M. Collette, Abbess of the Poor Clare Monastery, Laffin and 55th Streets, Chicago. Mother Collette a sister of REV. HENRY M. KEMPER, '05, of Kerville, Texas, on October 11, 12 and 13 observed the fiftieth anniversary of her religious profession. Most Rev. Edward F. Hoban, bishop of Rockford, Illinois, and Most Rev. W. D. O'Brien, auxiliary Bishop of Chicago, were among the many prominent clergy who assisted with the ceremonies.

Dan also sent word that his daughter, Sister M. Helene, O. P., has been sent to Rome to pursue her studies in art and to work for her master's degree. Sister Helene's headquarters are in Adrian, Michigan.

CHARLIE LOESCH was one of the many Clevelanders who saw the Hoosier civil warfare on October 13. Charlie lives at 16708 Clifton Boulevard, Cleveland, and is connected with the sales department of the Perfection Stove Company, Cleveland. When his brother brought him in with a Chicago greetings when he came down with Joe Smith and Jim Delaney for the Carnegie Tech game.
1909
JOHN DIENER, chief executive of Green Bay, Wisconsin, saw Notre Dame "take" Carnegie Tech. John was very much in the national picture this summer when he introduced President Roosevelt on the occasion of the President's address (broadcast by national hook-up) in Green Bay and rode with him in the parade which was a feature of this day of days in Wisconsin.

1910
The team of JOHN MURPHY and HARRY MILLER were "in" from Cleveland for the Purdue game and Father MIKE MORIARITY reported for the Carnegie Tech game.

Just received a letter from FABIAN N. JOHNSTON of New Orleans, La., containing a challenge to the entire class which reads thus: "I have not made an official report for a long time but I dare say that I have hung up a record that the other members of '12 cannot equal. I have a family of ten children, five boys and five girls. The oldest, 19, entered the Jesuit Novitiate this summer. The youngest, six months old, has not yet expressed her preference for station in life.

"About two and a half years ago, when we were enjoying the depression at its height, I went into business for myself as a Consulting Engineer and Manufacturers Agent and am glad to say that business has been on a constant increase and I am getting the breaks in this section.

"I had the pleasure this past summer of spending a day at Notre Dame with Father O'Hara, who by the way introduced me to Mrs. Johnston, and as she was with me, needless to say we had a most pleasant and enjoyable visit."

B. J. KAISER.

TORGUS "TURK" OAS, Butte, Montana, famous football figure of the Rockne playing era, saw with pleasure the defeat which Notre Dame handed to Carnegie Tech on October 20. Turk had come on from Butte, where he is a superintendent in the mining industry, to Chicago on business.

1916
FATHER VINCENT MOONEY, Washington, D. C., who is director of the Catholic Youth Bureau of the National Catholic Welfare Conference, gave his personal, on-the-spot approval to the Carnegie Tech victory. And it goes without saying, that another dynamic member of the class, TIMOTHY PATRICK GALVIN, president of the Alumni Association, has been present for all the home games.

1919
ART WEINRICH send with his dues a very thoughtful note about MARTIN LAMMERS who stopped in Chicago on his way to the National Insurance Convention in Milwaukee in September. Martin is manager of the Continental American Life Insurance Company, 701 Franklin Trust Building, Philadelphia. ART is with L. J. Sheridan & Co., One North La Salle Street, Chicago, a real estate organization.

1921

1922
GERRY ASHE spent several active hours at the University on October 3. With him was Miss Kathryn McDonald, a relative, of Beverly Hills, California, whose hospitality is a pleasant memory of the Notre Dame football visitors to Los Angeles. The Kid is working in Buffalo now and living at the Buffalo Athletic Club, but he spends his week-ends in Rochester.

LEFTY STEINLE, of Akron, helped win the Carnegie Tech game by his presence on that wet day.

HARRY J. CULLEN, '23, and James E. True have announced the formation of H. J. Cullen & Co., 25 Broadway, New York, for the transaction of a general brokerage business in over-the-counter securities.

RED SHEA and FRANK WALLACE were on the campus for the Texas game and saw N. D. defeat Purdue. FRANKholders, of the Kansas City and Fort Leavenworth Foleys, came up to see the Carnegie Tech game and to talk things over with BILL SHEEHAN, his old pal of Notre Dame ball-playing days.

FRANK GALVIN, of the Hammond Galvins, made the campus his headquarters during October.

AL BOEHM and RAY KOHIN had a pleasant chat in the Alumni Office when both of them stopped in after the Purdue victory. Ray, who is with the Midland United Company, Peoples Gas Building, Chicago, had come down with Mrs. Kohin for the game and to spend the week-end with his sister and brother-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. RAY HOYER, and other South Bend friends. Al is living at the Fullerton Plaza Hotel, 420 Fullerton Parkway, Chicago.

BILL CERNEY, fullback with ELMER LAYDEN on the Four Horsemen team, is the new coach in charge of the "B" football teams at Notre Dame. In order to give more individual attention to players, Elmer found it necessary to split up the squad. Six teams wear the varsity outfit and six teams the "B" contingent. Any player may at any time be moved from the "B" squad to the varsity or vice versa.

Bill was for seven years backfield coach at the University of North Carolina. He completed his contract last June and submitted his resignation at that time along with Chuck Collins, the head coach.

FATHER JOHN KELLEY stopped in at the office with the news that HAROLD WATSON, of Milwaukee, had been admitted to the bar in Indiana. No further word as to Harold's plans.

BERNIE LIVERGOOD, of Chicago, helped his teammate, ELMER LAYDEN, win the Texas and the Purdue games. WILLARD JONES, Dixon's leading mortician, managed to get a seat on the five-yard line from brother HERB and thus saw the Texas battle.

1925 was further represented at the Texas game by BEN KESTING and his wife. And JOHN KELLEY, of Michigan City, county surveyor of La Porte county, and BILL HURLEY, of Saginaw, checked in for the Purdue game.

1927
AL SMITH, of LaPorte, Indiana, PRINCE SLAVEN, of Galesburg, Illinois, and ART HOHMANN, of Rochester, New York, all stopped in to greet the Alumni Office on the day of the Purdue game.

1929
PAUL BARTHOLOMEW, Notre Dame professor, conveys the news that he stopped in Lorain, Ohio this summer to see JOSEPH SVETE. Joe has a promising law practice. Paul also reports that CLAYTON WOODRUFF visited the campus recently and that MARCELLUS KIRCHNER has a good radio service business in Pine Bluff, Arkansas.

JOHN DOARN, BOB TYLER, FRANK DOAN and JOHN DORGAN all shed tears in the stadium when JACK CHEVIGNY's charges went home with a victory on October 6. But BART McHugh, now an Indiana... napoli resident, was among cheerers when he was here for the Purdue game.

BOB HELLURING was one of the bridgegrooms who started married life at the Carnegie Tech game. Bob and Marie Connors, both of St. Louis, were married on the morning of Oct. 26 in the Log Chapel.

MALCOLM TROMBLEY and JIM SWYLA, both of Detroit, were here for the Purdue game.

RABBI PHILIP S. GREENSTEIN, M. A. '30, former head of the Sinai synagogue in South Bend, was formally ordained recently as head of the Temple Ashkenaz, near Cambridge, Massachusetts.

JOHN O'DONNELL is state supervisor for the Home Owners' Loan Corporation in New Jersey. His office is at 20 Washington Place, Newark.

ZENO STAULT, C.L.U., is assistant manager for Ohio of the Central Life Assurance Society. He offices at 303 Bankers Building, Canton.

JIM COSTELLO was married on August 4 to Miss Florence Robinson in St. Rose of Lima Church, Newark, New Jersey. Present to witness the event were J ACK KEEFF FE and BILL CARL, '31.

WALT BEESLEY was another of the boys who floated in for the Carnegie Tech game—and floated is the word, considering the weather.

TOM MONAHA N has deserted Chicago after three years and is now in the broom corn business with his father's company at Arcola, Illinois. He says that he is much pleased with the change. PAT GOGGIN, '30, is in the lumber business with his father in Arcola, according to Tom, and PAUL GRANT, '31, is working for the Central Illinois Public Service Company in Mattoon.

Here is my annual letter about the members of '31. Seems as though most of them are secret operatives and are backward in letting persons know of their whereabouts. BILL MAGARRALL took the occasion of the Carnegie Tech game to come down to the Log Chapel and get himself married. BERT MALONEY spent a few dollars for cigars this past month when he let his friends smoke on the birth of his daughter. Other proud fathers are JOE LAUERMAN, of Joan Marie, the knitting mill manager, and BOB BALFE, of Rose Mary, the Horizon Glee Club, Orlando, Florida.

JERRY CROWLEY has been renewing old friendships in New York where he was sent for a month in the interests of the 'O'Brien Varnish Co., DAN HALPIN took time enough off to view the Purdue game. CLARENCE TAECKENS the Port Huron school teacher, and JIM McQUADE who is coaching a high school in Saginaw, BILL REDMOND, BILL LANEY and TOMMY OAKES made up a part of the 45,000 present. Then there were: BOB CUNNINGHAM, assistant manager of the Medlin Club, Chicago; T O M MONAHA N, the broom corn broker from Arcola; TOM CANNON, Muncie barrister; PAT PARTLIN, Chicago organizer, and JOE MUNIZZO, Chicago counselor, all in the city over the Purdue week-end.

NICK BOHLING, FRANK McGREAL, EDDIE RYAN and VINCE PONIC, more Chicago barristers, were on hand for the Texas game. BOURKE MOTSETT is continuing his studies in the American College and remained in '36 and would enjoy hearing from anyone who has time to write.

JOE MEITZLER, is running an insurance agency in Danville and BILL BROWN is traveling for the Fort Kong Distilleries. AUSTIE BOYLE is spending some time in Mexico City. LORA BERGAN could not take time enough off for MAGARRALL's wedding. Dick is with the Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph. JOE MAXWELL is news editor of his home town paper in Pennsylvania. WALT BEESLEY is free-lancing since he left his Utah home. TOM KIENER and JUDGE CARBERRY are going great with their John Carroll football team in Cleveland. LARRY KRAL and Mrs. Kral managed to attend the Purdue game. TOM ASHE, still slaving away with the Mellinnex Co., in Rochester, plans on being present at the Northwestern game as does JOE SCHROEDER from distant Minneapolis.

MART DOWNIE is with the Governor's Relief in Chicago and EDDIE MURRAY is secretary to the Comptroller. Tom enjoys having EDDIE about and is also proud of his affiliation with the Marion club, South Bend's finest. In the list published in the October Alumnus the name of JOE DEEB's marriage was not seen. (Ed's note: Look again, John, old Pal). RON ZUKECH is working for a Buffalo radio station and hopes to be able to see the Pitt game. RED WELLS writes that he is one of the up and coming politicians of Paducah and does not believe that Mrs. Wells can spare him long enough for any of the games. But enough for now. Perhaps your correspondent can garner some more news at the Pittsburgh and Northwestern games for he hopes to see them. Am still located in the Associate Bluff, South Bend and would enjoy hearing from anyone who is a good penman.

JOHN BERGAN.

Through BOB RIORDAN, Registrar, comes word that MAURICE REGAN, Swogerville, Pennsylvania, is attending Trinity College, Dublin, Ireland, this year.

MARCHIE SCHWARTZ, backfield coach at the University of Chicago, scouted Purdue here on October 13. And BILL MAGARRALL and his bride—they had been married that morning in the Log Chapel—saw the Carnegie Tech game.

JOHN KIENER, after seven months of enforced idleness, is up and around again and weighed a slight stretching 178 at last report. His condition, he says, is A-1 and he has the doctor's permission to return to work any time. His present plan, however, is to stay on the safe side and remain a gentleman of leisure until next spring. Meanwhile he'd like to hear often and copiously from any of the old crowd. His address is 216 Cornwall Road, Rocky River, Ohio.

John's grandfather died last June. Three of his grandchildren and a daughter had gone to Notre Dame, namely, the late GEORGE KIENER, '28, TOM KIENER, '29, and JOHN KIENER, '32 and SISTER MARY ALOYSI, S.N.D., Ph.D. '31.

J. L. LEISEN, according to his recent letter, is employed by the Michigan State Board of Tax Administration as an auditor. PAUL HOST publicity director of the Catholic Youth Organization in Chicago, has transferred his scene of activity to the sales department of Fair Store in the same village. The Fair is one of the largest department stores in Chicago.

1934

JACK CLAUDER, of Milwaukee, left his stronghold long enough for the Purdue game. And, of course, JIM KEARNS and FRANK LA BORNE represented the school at all of Purdue's games for he hopes to be ordained in his studies in the American College—view the Western News Co. Another newspaper man, JIM KEARNS, as most of us probably know is also exercising his talents in Chicago as a feature sports writer for the Daily News.

Frankfort Distilleries Inc., seem to have the liquor situation well in hand. ROBB CHENEY and RUST LEONARD (all the way from Lowell, Mass.) are sponsoring operations from the home office in Louisville; while ERN KIEP compiles the board of strategy at the Chicago Branch. That business leaves fewer convenient week-ends for the Woods than did School.

JACK KIELY, our budding state's attorney, is attending DePaul Law School. Taking a peek at a couple of other students we find BOB CORCORAN, that eminent citizen of Pen Yan, M.D.'ing in an eastern medical school and FRANK LINTON seeking his M. A. at Northwestern University.

That's about all for this time, Jim. Perhaps a little appeal to the boys to open up about themselves would help forth-coming issues. In the mean-while, best of luck to you and the ALUMNUS.

JIM MOSCOW,
Class Secretary

ELEGANT ECHOES FROM ERRANT EICHER

(Being class notes of many classes and many places)

Dear Jim:

JERRY HAYES' marriage was a happy surprise. Now that he has joined the ranks of Doctor JIMMY SODA, JIM ARMSTONG, ART HALEY, HERB JONES, etc., there are only a few of us left among the free and the brave. Yesterday I saw PAUL FLEMING in Louisville and he is also a benedict. He is nicely situated at the Federal Land Bank of Louisville, where I called on official government business. I did not know that he had been in Kentucky these 14 months and I need not say that it was very pleasant to see him. We are lunching together next week.

Hurrying along Fourth street at noon yesterday came JO CAVAN-AUGH of the summer school of '24, '25 and '26. She was rushing back to a school—she is a school marm you know—which is only a few blocks from the hotel. Of course, we talked of Hayes, old man Armstrong, Dool-ley and McGINLEY. I think every-one stopped to see what all the excitement was about.

Speaking of Summer School, I met FATHER MAURUS McGrath, O.S.B., at Mass in Jackson, Tennessee. He had stopped off there enroute to the Monastery with his new N.D. degree. He brought first-hand news of my former rooms NORG ENGELS, RUFE RAUCH, Armstrong and other Sorin street revelers.

All of our group from N.D. headquarters at Park and 86th street have left New York except Dr. TOMMY SHREVE. He and JIM RIZER are sharing an apartment together in the Village. Tom- my's office is in the Medical Cham- ber building on East 54th street. I am a poor correspondent but BERNIE CONROY owes me a letter. I have received word from “Yawn and Stretch”—i.e., DANNY CAN- NON and JOHN RIORDAN. JIM RIZER, by the way, is now working for the municipal government.

Undoubtedly you have NORTHERN CHRISTMAN's new address at Mem- phis. BILL ENGELS has left Green Bay to take up a fine teaching job at the University of California. BOB KIRBY has just been elected Presi- dent of the Junior Chamber of Com- merce of the State of Indiana. JOE McNAMARA, whom I saw in Indianapolis recently, is doing some splendid work in the office of the State At- torney General. Someone told me that the time is not far off when he will be heading towards Washington. FRANK McCARTHY continues to be active in the national affairs of the Young Democratic clubs of America.

AMBROSE O'CONNELL has been very busy in his official position of executive assistant to the Postmaster General. He and Mr. Farley were in Chicago recently.

WALTER O'KEEFE, '21, will be the master of ceremonies at the Essex House in New York when Glen Gray's orchestra re-opens there. FATHER McGINN and I had a nice visit with him and Mrs. O'Keefe the last time he appeared at the Earle Theatre in Washington. According to Var-iety, WILLIAM ANTHONY MC- GUIRE has suffered with an attack of pleuresy. I suppose you saw the recent issue of Vanity Fair which drew attention to the marked resemblance between J. P. McEvoy, '09 and Einstein, and also between CHARLIE BUTTERWORTH '24 and George Arliss?

JACK CHEVIGNY is heard each Wednesday in the South as a sports commentator over Station KNOW, Austin, Texas, and the SBC chain.

I expect to have lunch with BOTTs CROWLEY on Friday. He is in the service, but I have been talking by phone with Spaulding's recently. BART McHugh is prac-ticing law. I have been very busy here and have been unable to get in touch with anyone but I will give your greetings to all of our mutual friends that I see.

I was sorry that I missed you in Washington last week, but CHARLIE MANNIX tells me that he spent some time with you; so you were in good hands. There were several things I wanted to hash over with you, but they will have to wait until later. Perhaps I shall see you up at Cleve- land at the Navy game.

Sincerely, HENRY WATS EICHER

FOREWORD

The task of compiling an Alumni Directory is one which no amount of explanation can describe adequately.

Suffice it for this Foreword to state that the percentage of Questionnaires returned and the efforts of the Alumni Office to locate alumni whose mailing addresses are unknown do not yet justify the work and expense of a Directory in the full sense and scope of service usually connoted.

Similarly, efforts to incorporate in this Directory those non-graduates who, everywhere, are a loyal and interested part of the Club organizations, are far from complete enough to permit fair treatment.

But, to hasten the service which some form of Directory can render, and to secure, we hope, an interest which will complete the return of the Questionnaires and the supplementing of known addresses, we are issuing this printed Duplicate of the Alumnus Mailing List.

This list includes the present mailing address of all known graduates of the University, and those non-graduates who have been elected to the Association through the provisions of the Constitution.

It is arranged geographically, the States in alphabetical order, the cities within the State in alphabetical order, and the alumni within the city in alphabetical order. We felt that this form would be of greatest service to alumni traveling, and to the Club organizations.

Supplementing the major Directory are separate lists of Honorary Degree Holders and Deceased Members of the Association.

Corrections, which will undoubtedly be many, are solicited. We sincerely trust that this Directory will be of great service, incomplete as it is. And, particularly, we hope that another year will see the return of Questionnaires complete enough to permit a real Directory—Class, Alphabetical, Geographical, and Professional.

Just one thing more—the machinery of printing requires several weeks. In that time many changes of address occur. Those who notify us within this unfortunate period are asked to be patient with the Directory in its failure to contain the change.
