The Archives of
The University of Notre Dame

Notre Dame Alumnus
Merry Christmas

THRONED IN HIS MOTHER'S ARMS, CHRIST RESTS IN SLUMBER SWEET — EXCEPT AT GOD'S RIGHT HAND FOR HIM NO HIGHER SEAT.

— CHARLES L. O’DONNELL, C.S.C., ’06
(IN THE CHRISTMAS SCHOLASTIC OF 1905)

Happy New Year
Commencement Forum Session Proposed

Would be Conducted by Professors for the Alumni

There is a feeling that alumni who return for the annual Commencement programs have passed through the BBB stage — which, for the relaxed reader, is a short form for Boys will Be Boys.

It has become noticeable in the comments of the June-visiting brethren that they relish a certain physical let-down that comes with the several days on the campus, but chafe a bit under the mental let-down.

You can't come in for a breather from a corporation job, or a sales job, or a legal job or medical practice, or an NLRB case, or a plant strike, or a teaching job, or an insurance or banking background, and not carry a slight mental hang-over which you'd like to toss a bit.

And after you have been up at the front in these fields, you can't help being just a little hazy about how that course in the principles of economics fits in, or what the ethics of this act may be, or just a little hazy about how that course in economics? current history? philosophy? current literature? legal developments? scientific progress?

And don't you have at Commencement a slight nostalgia for a session in which some of your old teachers — who want neither to sell nor buy — would sum up for you again the basic truths that are the foundations of Notre Dame and the bases of all the courses? Because by the time you're out a very short time, you realize that professors, almost alone in this world, work only to give you the implements for your own salvation. No other group, except the Religious, has so much to give and so little to get.

Acting on this theory — backed by the fact of a growing expressed opinion — the University has promised the Alumni Board cooperation in working out what must be a very broad, but at the same time a very interesting and valuable contribution from Notre Dame to those alumni who expend the time and the effort and the expense of returning to the campus.

Simply and briefly, the thought is to present to those alumni interested one or two or three sessions — as your response indicates — in fields of current import and interest. These would probably begin on Friday and continue on Saturday in conjunction with the rest of the usual full Commencement program.

Will you advise the Alumni Office of your reactions?
Do you like the idea?

Whom would you like to hear?
We believe that an open forum after a lecture offers the most valuable mutual method of presentation. What is your idea on this?
We would particularly like to have this whole idea discussed by the Clubs and Club expression reach us as soon as possible so that we can plan the program accordingly.
Remember — this is an idea which seems to offer you MORE. How much more depends on you. And the 1941 program depends on a prompt and frank expression from you in answer to the above query.

P.S. The Alumni Reunion this year will be on Friday (Memorial Day), Saturday and Sunday, May 30-31, June 1.

GIFTS

The University acknowledges with deep gratitude the following gifts:

From Mr. Bernard J. Donoghue, '32, Washington, D. C., for purchase of books for the library of the Department of Economics, and two prizes of $25.00 each for best papers on labor relations and labor problems respectively, to be awarded to members of the Class of '41........................................ $100.00

Anonymous: two prizes, to be awarded annually. “The competition to be restricted to history majors and students concurrently enrolled in history classes.” Two winning contestants to share equally in yearly purse of.................................................. 50.00

From Prof. Edward J. Maurus, '93, South Bend, for the University Library: 554 volumes from his personal library of mathematics.

From the American Foundrymen's Association, Chicago, for the library of the Department of Metallurgy: Twenty-four volumes of the Proceedings of the British Institution of Mechanical Engineers.

From Rev. Ernest Hawley, A.M. '94, Lacon, Ill., for the University Library: Photostatic facsimile (1893) of Privileges of Christopher Columbus — 1502.

From Sister M. Therese, O.S.B., '26, Ferdinand, Ind., for the University Library: Home Sunshine; or, Bear and Fornbear (1870).

(Sig.) J. HUGH O'DONNELL, C.S.C.
President of the University.
JOE MOVES OUT

Blasting, jarring sound waves will no longer shake the mortar of Music Hall, frighten the ghost of Washington Hall, nor penetrate the eardrums of St. Ed's and Brownson scholars. For Bandmaster Joe Casasanta has moved his horn toot­ers far away to the soundproof apparatus room in the gymnasium. All practice sessions and warm-up periods will be held there hereafter. All's quiet on the Main Building front!

BOOM TOWN

Rumors spread the other day that under the Notre Dame campus rich veins of oil flowed. On Badin Bog various people reported numerous puddles stagnated with oily surfaces. Strategists immediately planned positions for lowering derricks and pondered likely spots for "wildcats." Dr. Knowles B. Smith, head of the Mining Engineering Department, dismissed these wild ideas when he explained to a Scholastic reporter that the geological structure in this vicinity renders difficult any accurate determination of the presence of oil. He recalled, however, similar excitement on the campus 50 years ago when gas shot out of the casing where a hole was being drilled, flamed for several days and then ceased to flow. This spout was located near the University barns in the vicinity of the present Dining Hall.

DEFINITION

History professor T. Bowyer Campbell, noted for his exam questions requiring brief answers, asked for the definition of the Holy See in his Western Europe class. Came the response: "Jewish diction of the Pope." Maybe the Holy Father has learned Hebrew since visiting Notre Dame in 1936 as papal secretary of state. He knew seven languages then, — Italian, Latin, French, Portuguese, German, Spanish and English.

THE WIND CAME

Sweeping across the campus on Armstice Day a 70-mile wind, intensified by rain and cold, gave the University one of its worst storms in 25 years and left much damage in its wake. At least 300 feet of the Cartier Field fence were blown down. Parts of slate roofs were ripped off Badin, Lyons, and Dujarie Halls and the Dining Hall. Windows in the Main Building were shattered and the Golden Dome, silently awaiting its 1942 new coat, was minus several big pieces of gilding.

Director of Maintenance Rev. John J. Reddington, C.S.C., and his crew of house-wreckers stole the show on the big gale, however, when they finished demolishing Freshman Hall a few hours before the wind struck. Imagine a room full of doorknobs flying through the air! Said Father Reddington: "We got wind of the tempest and beat it to the blow."

OPEN THE BICARBONATE!

Pains in the mid-sections and logginess in the upper-stories begged down academic routine after the most lavish meal of the year on Thanksgiving Day. Stomachs suffered from the following menu: 4,500 lbs. of turkey, 100 gals. fruit cocktail, 15 cases celery, 100 lbs. salted nuts, 40 gals. mixed olives, 36 gals. cranberry sauce, 15 hampers sweet potatoes, 1,000 lbs. whipped potatoes, 20 hampers new peas, 50 lbs. chestnuts, 400 lbs. rutsabags, 7 cases lettuce, 30 gals. Russian dressing, 125 gals. soup, 7 cases mixed fruit, 5 cases oranges, 3 cases apples, 2 cases pears, 2 stalks bananas, 50 lbs. grapes, 175 mince and 175 pumpkin pies, 250 gals. milk, 65 gals. coffee, and 50 gals. tea.

WITH THEIR LITTLE HANDS

Baby brother and baby sister have often caused anguish to big brother or sister attending college. Sometimes it was a book report thrown into the fire, or it may have been a notebook whose sheets were disarranged, or maybe pages were torn from classbooks. Thanks to this youthful yearning for massacring books, added significance has been given an exhibition of children's books in the University library. Four editions of the once popular New England Primer, the earliest dated 1797, feature a display of 200 books. Two million copies of the Primer were originally sold but only 50 copies are extant. Comments Librarian Paul R. Byrne: "Children have always had an inquisitive genius for destroying printed matter."

HERE...

John Devlin, junior in commerce from South Bend, is Notre Dame representative in the 158 club of Army draftees. Residence halls were dressed in their best bib and tucker for the Iowa game. Many designs decorated the fronts for the annual hall decoration competition. Students wishing to play their favorite records may now do so in a special room in Music Hall provided with a record-playing machine. Two new courses, Ballistics and Principles of Economics, have been introduced into the Engineering curriculum.

THERE...

The University Theater players, directed by Rev. Matthew Coyle, C.S.C., will present their first production of the year, Sutton Vane's "Outward Bound" on Dec. 12 and 13 in Washington Hall. Special recognition was accorded the Chemistry Department by the American Chemical Society in a recent listing of 65 schools in the United States offering adequate laboratory and instruction facilities. . . . Debate Coach William J. Coyne's wranglers will bark out their oratory soon in an effort to equal or better last year's record of 22 wins and 8 losses. The Villagers, one of the most active local organizations, has acquired Carroll recreation hall as its official meeting place and lounge room. . . . Campus students, however, still are welcome to play pool and ping-pong. . . . Rev. Edward Keller, C.S.C., has accepted the post of chaplain of the club and Robert H. McAuliffe, assistant prefect of discipline, has become adviser.

HERE AGAIN...

"Scrip," literary quarterly, made its first appearance of the 1940 schoolyear last month under the capable editorship of Felix Pogilano, senior from Denver, Colo. . . . A new feature of this year's edition, which is bound in light buff stock with simple, blue lettering, is a column of random comment on various essay topics. . . . Two volumes of research material for the film, "Knute Rockne — All American," have been given to the University by Warner Brothers. . . . The volumes, which are bound in red morocco, indexed and stamped in gold, contain pictures that were taken in Norway, Hollywood and at Notre Dame. The original scenario has been included in the present. . . . Another book by a Notre Dame writer recently released is "The Catholic Church in Indiana, 1789-1834," by the Rev. Thomas T. McAvoy, C.S.C., head of the History Department. Seventeen Notre Dame students have made their solo flights under the Civil Aeronautics Board program. . . . Moaning and groaning filled the classrooms recently when the announcement was made by the Director of Studies office that all professors will be required to give examinations immediately before the Christmas holiday. . . . The compulsory exams, which will count approximately 10 per cent of the final grade, are intended to prevent the numerous absences that have usually characterized the pre-vacation period.
CATHOLIC HISTORICAL INDEX

A card index on American Catholic history numbering over 225,000 entries and said to be the only file of its kind in the country has been in preparation at the University since 1934 and will be completed in another three years.

Rev. Thomas T. McAvoy, C.S.C., '25, Notre Dame archivist who is directing the work, declared that graduate students and research workers in American Catholic history, for whom the file was set up, have already found it of immeasurable value. Requests for bibliographies prepared from the new file have been received from many sections of the country and insofar as possible, Father McAvoy said, the University will continue to supply bibliographies to research historians. Several writers have come to the University to take advantage of the file material.

The file includes an analytical index of the contents of the most important periodicals in American Catholic history. The cards contain a sentence on every person, place and date mentioned in the volumes and while one file is arranged chronologically the other is set up according to alphabet. Nearly three hundred students have worked on the index and all entries are checked three times before being filed. Father McAvoy personally checked all entries during the first year to make certain that the form he had to set up was satisfactory.

"The file," according to Father McAvoy, "makes available to students much Catholic historical information that would otherwise be lost. The magazines covered in the process contain articles, documents, and other items of historical import, and after the material is extracted and filed it is a simple matter to find practically all available information on a man or event regardless of importance.

"The file has turned up considerable information that would probably have been lost and much that has not been indexed elsewhere. There are also items on personages in American Catholic history not known generally, and information on persons known, but not usually associated with the type of item recorded."

Historical works already covered include American Catholic Historical Researches, 29 volumes; Records of American Catholic Historical Society, 48 volumes; Catholic Historical Review, six volumes, and St. Louis Catholic Historical Review, five volumes. Indexing of the Illinois Catholic Historical Review and Mid-America has started. Eventually all other local Catholic historical reviews will be covered. Father McAvoy estimates that at least three years will be required to complete the work now in sight, but that the project can be extended to include other periodicals.

Forty-five students are engaged this year in preparing the index, but as many as 60 have worked on it in one year. Every five men have a supervisor who checks the cards before they are typed, and finally a chief supervisor checks the finished cards to insure against error.

ENGINEERING FOR DEFENSE

Nearly 150 men from South Bend and vicinity now in industry will receive additional engineering training for defense industries under a government program, according to the plans of the University which have been submitted for approval to the United States office of education.

Under the program young men in industry who have all or part of their work toward a college degree, or the background of a high school diploma and the equivalent of some college work in actual experience in the field, can avail themselves of night classes at Notre Dame, pursuing subjects pertinent to their jobs. No costs will be incurred except for textbooks, instruments and transportation.

A representative committee from local industrial plants headed by Dean Dugald C. Jackson, of the College of Engineering, has completed preliminary plans for the course expected to begin not later than Jan. 2.

All classes will be under the administration and complete supervision of the University, and students enrolled in the courses will be given access to instruments, machines, laboratories and library at the University. Recommendations for students have come from employers in various industries.

All classes will be held at Notre Dame. They will extend from 18 to 20 weeks, two nights a week, with classes of two- or three-hour duration. The minimum number of students for each class will be 15 and the maximum number will depend upon the laboratory facilities in the particular course.

The proposed outline of courses will offer classes in production engineering under Prof. C. Robert Egry; tool and die design, taught by Prof. George Rohrbach and specialists from industry; chemical analysis of metallurgical material, taught by Profs. E. J. Wilhelm, R. E. Rich, A. J. Boyle, and L. H. Baldinger; and physical metallurgy to be taught by Prof. Edward G. Mahin.

Of the 37 members of the law class of 1940, 32 had taken examinations for admission to the bar, at the latest report from Professor John H. Whitman, of the College of Law. For the five other members, no report of examination has as yet been received. Of the 32 who have taken the examination, 27 (84.4%) have passed, and five have failed.

A hydraulics laboratory was begun by the Civil Engineering Department in the summer of 1940 and will be put into operation during the second semester of the current schoolyear.

A 5,000-gallon reservoir was constructed in the laboratory. Out of it, water will be pumped by a 500-gallon-per-minute pump, driven by a 50 hp. electric motor. The water will be forced through a four-inch pipe at a pressure of 100 pounds per square inch, and can be drawn from this pipe at frequent intervals and used for experimental purposes.

Experiments performed in the laboratory will include such fundamental things as study of friction in pipes, effects of bends and constrictions in pipe flow, studies of metering devices and of small hydraulic machines.
Origins and Development of Secularism

By ROSS J. S. HOFFMAN, M.A., Ph.D., LL.D., Litt.D., Professor of History, Graduate School, Fordham University.

(Ed. Note: The ALUMNUS is privileged to present to Notre Dame men one of the excellent and timely essays from a volume, "Man and Modern Secularism," published by the National Catholic Alumni Federation as an outgrowth of its last convention, of which the general theme was the volume's title. This particular essay deals with a very important background for the understanding and action of the Catholic layman in resisting the further encroachment of secularism and seeking remedies for the evils it has already superimposed on our American way of life.)

Father Raymond Corrigan, S.J., in the glossary of "isms" appended to his book, "The Church and the Nineteenth Century," defines secularism as the "exclusion of God and religion from life." The Catholic Encyclopedic Dictionary gives much the same definition: "The teaching that the foundation of morality, duty and religion is to be sought in nature alone, and that, therefore, the teaching aids and sanctions of supernatural religion and the Church are of no account in human conduct." Other dictionary definitions are similar to this one, and I presume this is what we all mean in talking about secularism at this convention.

The Protestant Revolution

Were I to confine myself to the main lines of a history of thought that has led from a Catholic vision of reality to the secularist vision, I should have to go back to the Protestant Revolution and to the rise of sectarianism and individualism that issued from that revolution. I should have to deal with the seventeenth century degeneration of religion from something that called for a corporate social membership into something that was mere religious ideology and opinion of ever-diminishing certitude. I should have to deal with that great divorce between religion and life, which became evident in the seventeenth century and opened the way, throughout much of our civilization, for the world of thought and action to go down a road unlit by the lamps of spiritual illumination. I should have to show how a spiritual void was created by this separation, and how rationalism, naturalism, pantheism, materialism, positivism and atheism entered that void. I should have to deal with capitalism, democracy, liberalism, socialism, science, industrialism, education, and every other force that has made itself felt in the formation of the contemporary moment in the history of Christendom. In short, I should have to give an historical explanation of the following excellent picture of the present which Professor Theodore M. Greene, of Princeton, has recently drawn:

Professor Greene's Words

"Wherever we turn we come upon men in positions of authority who are wordy panegyrists of the irredeemable theorists rather than statesmen; artistic faddists rather than creative artists of true vision; scientists who repudiate the validity of insights other than their own; narrow theologians and emotional evangelists who have lost contact with a living Deity and the vital needs of mankind; educators with no inkling of the nature and goal of true education; philosophers content to dismiss all vital philosophical questions as 'meaningless,' and historians unable wisely to interpret the facts that they discover or to make the past enlighten the present. No wonder that our culture, though infinitely superior to other cultures in specialized knowledge and techniques, is so lacking in spiritual quality, so insensitive to the higher values and so madly determined to use its own achievements as instruments of self-destruction."

Quoting these words serves a double purpose. They give a good rapid summary of the more obvious and visible results of the acid-like action of secularism on our culture: a summary made by a man, let us remember, who is neither a Catholic nor an extraordinarily acute and penetrating social thinker. (Similar judgments, indeed, can be picked almost at random from any number of modern books.) And secondly, those words will impress upon you, I am sure, how universal throughout all spheres of culture has been the influence of secularism, and how impossible it is, therefore, for me to relate its history this evening.

In the past thousand years there has come about, in the western nations of Christendom, a complete transformation in the character of civilization and the structure of social-political life. Our culture, to be sure, in the strict sense of the word, is still the same culture. I do not agree with Oswald Spengler that the culture of the West was a new creation formed in Gaul and the Rhinelans about the end of the nineteenth century. I believe rather that our culture — that is, our unique community of thought, spirit, and tradition — is the culture of Christendom, and that Christendom as a social, spiritual, cultural organism achieved its being, with all essential elements and ingredients, in the patrician age of Christianized classicism. But as for our civilization, by which I mean the sum of our arts and skills, our every-varying forms of organizing social life and ceaseless diversification of human activities, that, I say, has undergone a complete transformation.

It has been secularized, as many will say, and undoubtedly this has taken place almost simultaneously, with the growth of that which is rightly called secularism in the more strict sense of the word. And there are many who seem to think that these two developments are but two aspects of the same development which is, I think, a great error and an error that impedes the Catholic apologist of our day.

Change in Civilization

When we think of our past thousand years as a whole, what impresses us most, I think, is the change from an ecclesiastical to a lay civilization. There has taken place a great withdrawal of ecclesiastical persons and institutions from that direct and practical guidance of human affairs which prevailed generally in the partly decadent and partly primitive society of the early middle ages. In that chaos of rotting pagan culture and untamed barbarism, the mission of the clerical order was not merely the propagation of the gospel and the dispensing of the sacraments, but the totalitarian discipline of society. It included the upbuilding of political authority, the creation of legal institutions, the founding of schools and hospitals, the building of roads, reclamation of lands, the teaching of agriculture and all the practical arts by which man transfigures the natural world and shows forth that freedom and creativity which are in his nature because he was made in the image of God.

That civilizing mission was discharged, that work was done, and only the most ignorant enemies of Catholicism — only men totally devoid of all historical knowledge and understanding — would now deny the excellence, the human necessity, and full historical justice of that work; or refuse to agree at least with Lord Macaulay that "it is better that men should be governed by priestcraft than by brute violence."

New Era Is Opened

So well indeed was that work done, that there was opened a new era of civilization and enlightenment in which a diversified and autonomous lay activity, physical and spiritual, became possible. A new kind of human being had been raised up through long centuries of spiritual re-birth. The Church had disciplined minds and souls; it had drawn men out of a barbaric dream world into the world of natural and supernatural reality; it had combated superstition, trained them to discern spiritual and natural and supernatural truths; it had drawn men to perceive that there is a natural order of existence with its own independent laws. By doing all that the Church had made men fit at last to take up again the creative and progressive work of a free activity, in this natural order, for the rebuilding of civilization.

There was no one point, of course, at which we may say that this mission was accomplished. South of the Alps and the Pyrenees it was largely accomplished by the thirteenth century; to the north it necessarily continued much longer. I speak, of course, only of our own ancestral past in the life of Western Europe. For this mission of direct and practical ecclesiastical guidance has never actually ceased, but goes on today wherever it is unfinished, and will always go on for so long as apostolic activity encounters primitive or decadent cultures. It may even be that western nations shall sink again into a barbarism that calls for a renewal of this mission.

Now this great development of a predominantly lay civilization has, I say, been often called the rise of secularism. In many books you will find the whole story brought together under that heading. It will begin with the Renaissance and go on to the French and Russian Revolutions, and the central theme will be denominated as secularism, or the secularization of Western civilization, or the growth of secular interests and ideals, or some other such topical statement. And very often the story is so told as to make the whole development appear as an essentially anti-Catholic development, as a sloughing-off of Catholicism from a new order of life to which the Church was alien or irrelevant. For there is still a commonly-held notion — indeed, it is one of the dogmas of a still powerful positivist sociology — that the old clerically-guided society was a crystallization of specifically Catholic social, political and cultural ideals.

Indeed there are Catholics who also imagine that this was so, and they go on from that kind of reactionary medievalism and an unhappy confusion of nature and grace, of the temporal and eternal, of Church and State, of politics and religion, of religion and culture; which confusion leads them to fancy that only the ecclesiastical and the clerical is truly Catholic, and to express political and sociological views that would be more appropriate to a Byzantine or Islamic society (where all human activity is fused into a sacred mold of life), than to a genuinely Catholic society in which distinctions are clear and there is freedom, diversity, and dynamic progress. In such views, it appears to be forgotten that the enduring mission of the Church is not to clericalize but to Catholicize human society, using whatever means, at any given historical moment, are available to that sublime end.

Pre-eminently Lay Civilization

When that mission is accomplished, what arises is not a clerically-directed but a pre-eminently lay civilization, and all the more Catholic for having this character; recognizing the autonomy of the political, the scientific, the cultural, and perceiving clearly the essential, primary and permanent work of the Church to be the sanctification of souls, towards which all other ecclesiastical activities have their justification only as temporal and instrumental means. For the Church, as Mr. Christopher Dawson has recently said, "is the hierarch of the divine mysteries, the teacher of human science nor the organizer of human culture, which belongs to a region that 'has its own laws of life and its own right of self-determination and self-direction.'"

Hence it is that the great civilization of the West risen up in the last seven centuries, with its manifold lay, or secular, institutions, and its immense achievements in moral, intellectual and material progress, is far from being a defeat or denial of Catholicism; but is the fruit of Catholic work and genius. The Church did not directly create it, of course; and to many it may even seem that the Church has had little to do with it; but the great truth, and deep truth, is that the Church historically formed the kind of men who were capable of launching this creative work. For it has all risen from the knowledge that the human spirit is free, from a confidence in reason, and from a bold investigation of the autonomous natural order.

This Has Been Christendom

All these have been ours because this has been Christendom; for nowhere else have they existed; and nowhere else can they exist. Upon them all modern civilization depends, and not merely in the sense of necessary historical preparation, but as a continuing spiritual nourishment. Let this knowledge of freedom fail and men lapse again into the old fatalism that defeats and paralyzes the will. Let rational certitudes weaken and men surrender guidance of themselves to emotions, appetites, pragmatic hunches and mere instincts. Let violence to the laws of the natural world bring back the demons before which men cringe in terror from the face of nature. Let all this happen, and we shall see again the shipwreck of our civilization and a sinking back into that barbarism, servitude, superstition and bestiality from which the Faith once extricated us.

Never in fact was a civilized order more desperately dependent on sustaining spiritual forces than is ours. Others that are less complex and dangerously fragile, less bold and adventuring, less organized, making less demands on the individual soul and character, but more obviously dominated by visible institutions, such others, we may be sure, can survive more easily than ours a weakening or corruption of spiritual roots.

Hence it is very plain, when we think only a little about it, that although these two kinds of secularism of which I have spoken — the rise of lay civilization order and the growth of an atheistic exclusion of God and religion from life — have developed side by side in recent centuries, they are not allied movements, but fundamentally antagonistic. Secularism, strictly defined, is the mortal enemy of this grand edifice of human achievement. For it destroys nourishment, kills roots, rots everything from within. Indeed, it is no paradox to say that this spiritual disease will undermine a civilized order more surely and more fatally than it will attack an order that is clericalized.

When we dedicate ourselves, as at this convention, to fighting against it, our cause is not a reactionary attack on modern civilization but a defense of that which alone makes possible its continued progressive development.
ATHLETICS

FOOTBALL.

Still somewhat of a mystery team after eight games, the Notre Dame footballers left early this month for California for the final game on the 1940 schedule — with the 1940 Rose Bowl Champion team from Southern California at Los Angeles on Dec. 7.

The Irish, who breezed past College of the Pacific, Georgia Tech, and Carnegie Tech in impressive style, continued the assault against Illinois at Champaign as 63,186 spectators — the largest crowd at Champaign in 11 years — watched the Layden men score three times in the first half and coast to a 26 to 0 victory. Steve Juzwik, 185-pound right halfback from Chicago, led the assault with two touchdowns. The play of Juzwik dominated the game — he picked up 95 yards in eight attempts.

A week later, Juzwik continued the sensational play by taking a spot aside Christy Flanagan and Jack Elder, heroes in past Irish-Army grid annals, by snatching a pass near the end of the first quarter to scamper 84 yards for the game-winning touchdown to beat Army. The Cadets outplayed in earlier games, arose to the occasion and handed the Irish offensive its first great defensive test of the season. Johnny O’Brien, right end from Denison, Iowa, turned in the greatest game of his career to spark the Irish to a last-period comeback triumph over the Navy at Baltimore. With the Irish trailing, 7 to 6, in the fourth period, Saggau dropped back, faked a pass, then dashed around end to score with the chips down. In the 78-yard last-quarter drive which culminated in that run, Saggau passed for 52 yards, caught another for 18 yards, and gained the final seven himself — accounting for 77 of the 78 yards.

Earlier in the game, Saggau hurled a 32-yard forward to Bob Dove, sophomore left end from Youngstown, Ohio, for the first score. Another newcomer who showed well in the game was Ray Ebi, Ironwood, Mich., junior. Ebi caught two passes to help keep alive the 78-yard game-winning drive.

For the second consecutive year, the Hawkeyes of Iowa — coached by Notre Dame alumnus Dr. Eddie Anderson — shat-tered an unbeaten string for the Irish. This time the men from the west, who have never lost to Notre Dame in football, took advantage of two Irish fumbles and an intercepted pass to turn an apparent Irish touchdown into a 7-0 Iowa victory at Notre Dame. Late in the final period, Captain Milton Piepau crashed into the Iowa line on the 12-yard stripe. The ball bounded out of Milt’s arms and Captain Mike Enich, Iowa’s great right tackle, snatched the ball in mid-air and ran to midfield before Piepau caught him. Four plays later, Bill Green, Iowa’s 60-minute fullback, ripped off right tackle for five yards and a touchdown.

Captain Piepau, displaying his ability to carry the ball successfully against one of the best lines in the nation, picked up 67 yards in seven attempts — an average of better than nine yards per try — but the effort wasn’t enough to cope with the all-around strength of Northwestern’s versatile and offensive-minded backs who marched to a 20-0 victory at Evanston a week later.

1940-41 BASKETBALL ROSTER

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Player</th>
<th>Home Town</th>
<th>High School</th>
<th>Age</th>
<th>Wt.</th>
<th>Ht. Exp.</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>Bagarus, Stephen</td>
<td>South Bend, Ind.</td>
<td>Washington</td>
<td>21</td>
<td>160</td>
<td>6:11</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Browning, Robert Francis</td>
<td>Chicago, Ill.</td>
<td>Battle Creek, Mich.</td>
<td>18</td>
<td>187</td>
<td>6:3</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Butler, Charles Joseph</td>
<td>Chicago, Ill.</td>
<td>Mt. Carmel</td>
<td>20</td>
<td>160</td>
<td>6:2</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Carmes, James Robert</td>
<td>Muncie, Ind.</td>
<td>Central</td>
<td>21</td>
<td>165</td>
<td>6:1</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Chapman, Francis Warren</td>
<td>Cumberland, Md.</td>
<td>LaSalle Institute</td>
<td>19</td>
<td>195</td>
<td>6:3</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Del Zoppo, Albert Joseph</td>
<td>Niagara Falls, N.Y.</td>
<td>Trott Vocational</td>
<td>28</td>
<td>160</td>
<td>6:0</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Dinn, Robert Emmett</td>
<td>Indianapolis, Ind.</td>
<td>St. Meinrad’s</td>
<td>19</td>
<td>170</td>
<td>6:3</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Engel, James Mahlon</td>
<td>Albany, N. Y.</td>
<td>Vincent Institute</td>
<td>19</td>
<td>190</td>
<td>6:2</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Fischer, Robert</td>
<td>Milwaukee, Wis.</td>
<td>Wauwatosa</td>
<td>19</td>
<td>189</td>
<td>6:0</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Gillespie, Charles Joseph</td>
<td>Indianapolis, Ind.</td>
<td>Indianapolis</td>
<td>21</td>
<td>185</td>
<td>6:3</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Kelley, James Williams</td>
<td>Lexington, Ky.</td>
<td>Millersburg Mil.</td>
<td>19</td>
<td>190</td>
<td>6:2</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>O’Leary, Charles Joseph</td>
<td>Cincluani, O.</td>
<td>Roger Bacon</td>
<td>20</td>
<td>165</td>
<td>6:0</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Pope, Arthur Wollington</td>
<td>Chicago, Ill.</td>
<td>Morgan Park</td>
<td>21</td>
<td>165</td>
<td>6:0</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Quin, Francis Bernard</td>
<td>Indianapolis, Ind.</td>
<td>Indianapolis</td>
<td>20</td>
<td>170</td>
<td>6:2</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Reinberger, Robert LaMar</td>
<td>Nappanee, Ind.</td>
<td>Nappanee</td>
<td>19</td>
<td>170</td>
<td>6:11</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Riska, Capt. Edward Joseph</td>
<td>Chicago, Ill.</td>
<td>De La Salle</td>
<td>21</td>
<td>175</td>
<td>6:11</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>*Ryan, Lawrence Patrick</td>
<td>Chicago, Ill.</td>
<td>Fenwich, Oak Park</td>
<td>22</td>
<td>177</td>
<td>6:1</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Singer, Cyrilus Howard</td>
<td>Jasper, Ind.</td>
<td>Jasper</td>
<td>22</td>
<td>175</td>
<td>6:11</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Smith, Robert George</td>
<td>Joliet, Ill.</td>
<td>Joliet</td>
<td>20</td>
<td>165</td>
<td>6:0</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Sobolek, George Edward</td>
<td>Hammond, Ind.</td>
<td>Hammond</td>
<td>20</td>
<td>175</td>
<td>6:0</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Stahl, Robert John</td>
<td>Wilmette, Ill.</td>
<td>New Trier</td>
<td>18</td>
<td>170</td>
<td>5:11</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Vincent, Ralph Joseph</td>
<td>Akron, Ohio</td>
<td>North</td>
<td>18</td>
<td>162</td>
<td>6:0</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Yezerski, Florian Albert</td>
<td>Shamokin, Pa.</td>
<td>Coal Township</td>
<td>25</td>
<td>163</td>
<td>6:1</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

*— Indicates number of monograms won.
Capt. Ed Riska, Forward

the Wildcat touchdowns came on third down, and one on a fourth — after Notre Dame had braced and had apparently stopped the threat. Bob Osterman, hampered most of the season by injuries, continued the sensational defensive play as center for the Irish. He hails from Detroit.

Commenting on the season thus far, Coach Elmer Layden said: "Some of our early opponents, because of injuries, were below par. And even when we played strong teams, they didn't give us much trouble because everything we tried worked. Then later when we had to buckle down, we didn't know how. There is no substitute for hard work, for ruggedness, and for toughness."

Line Coach Joseph Boland, who denied receiving an offer to coach at Marquette as rumored in midwestern newspapers, blames the collapse partly on the injury plight that struck the center position. At the beginning of the season, the pivot men lined up in this order: Osterman, Gordon O'Reilly, Chicago, Tom Brock, Columbus, Nebr., Jim McHale, Detroit, Jim Ford, Binghamton, N. Y., and John Lanahan, Jacksonville, Fla. Lanahan, a B squad performer, reached the second team during the Army game, and McHale, was with the first team, despite an injured shoulder.

At no stage of the season have all the centers been available, and on no two consecutive week-ends have the centers lined up in the same one-two-three order. This, says Boland, has hampered the timing and rhythm of the backs, since this finesse depends upon knowledge of the particular traits of the fellow who starts the plays.

BASKETBALL

Notre Dame swamped Monmouth, 81-34, and Kalamazoo, 73-39. The Irish total against Monmouth was the highest in local court history.

Playing a doubleheader with Kalamazoo and Monmouth colleges, Notre Dame opened its basketball season at home on Nov. 30. Coach George Keogan, beginning his 18th season as head coach of the Irish, faced the problem of developing a center to replace Captain Mark Ertel and Rex Ellis, who shared the pivot post last season.

With George Sobek, junior from Hammond, Ind., on the sidelines because of leg injuries, Jim Carnes, Muncie, Ind., junior, stepped into a starting assignment beside of Captain Eddie Riaka of Chicago. Ralph Vinciguerra, Akron, Ohio, and Art Pope, Chicago, are other leading forward candidates.

Charles Butler, Chicago sophomore, Frank Quinn, Indianapolis junior, Cy Singer, Jasper, Ind., sophomore, and Jim Kelley, Lexington, Ky., sophomore, have been battling for the center spot. Joe Gillespie, senior center, was sent to the sidelines by a sprained ankle.

Larry Ryan, Chicago, and Bob Smith, Joliet, Ill., monogram winners, have been teaming at the guard positions with help from Bob Rensberger, Nappanee, Ind., and Jim Engel, Albany, N. Y., both sophomores.

The 1940-41 basketball schedule follows:

- Nov. 30—Kalamazoo at Notre Dame
- Nov. 30—Monmouth at Notre Dame
- Dec. 7—Illinois Wesleyan at Notre Dame
- Dec. 14—Wisconsin at Madison
- Dec. 19—Michigan at Notre Dame
- Dec. 23—Illinois at Notre Dame
- Dec. 31—Northwestern at Evanston

RICE RUNS AGAIN

Greg Rice, 1939 Irish track captain, who has been turning in outstanding records since his collegiate career closed, opened the 1940-41 season by winning the sixth annual CYO and Central AAU Thanksgiving Day cross-country title at Chicago's Jackson Park. His time of 15:03 for the 3-mile and 188-yard course lowered by 24 seconds the mark established by Mel Truitt of Indiana two years ago. Max Lenover, Loyola University star and defending champion, finished second.

Rice may run in the Sugar Bowl games at New Orleans on New Year's Day.

The perennial question of the relations between Church and State, aroused anew by President Roosevelt's appointment of Myron C. Taylor as special envoy to the Vatican, finds an adequate and clearly presented answer in Catholic Principles of Politics. The present work is a revised edition of The Church and the State by Ryan and Millar, a book enjoying wide acceptance for two decades.

The authors are primarily concerned with the ethical and moral aspects of the State. For a world that seems to have substituted force for reason the necessarily rational basis of any enduring society is clearly set forth. No more condensed and comprehensive statement of the scope of the present book can be found than the following excerpt from the preface.

"We have attempted to present an essentially adequate discussion of all the religious and moral aspects of the State. We have tried to answer the following and kindred questions: What is the State? What is its relation to the Church? What is the ethical basis of government? Whence do civil rulers obtain their moral right to rule? Do governments derive their just powers from the consent of the governed? Does the individual exist for the State or the State for the individual? Should the State be merely a limited policeman? or a universal provider of every good thing? or something between these extremes? Are the ordinances of the State merely civil counsels with the intermittent sanction of physical force, or are they true moral laws? What are the duties and what are the rights of the individual citizen? What is the normal Catholic attitude toward the American State and American political institutions? What is the rational meaning of patriotism? What manner or spirit must animate the nations if they would restore and preserve international peace?" The liberal inclusion of papal encyclicals and other official Church pronouncements gives the answers a solid ring of authority.

Catholic readers will learn that their political conduct is bound up with their eternal salvation. Catholics are required by their faith to obey all just laws promulgated by the State in the exercise of its divinely ordained authority, to vote in elections and perform their civic duties, and to resist any attempt by the State to encroach upon the spiritual domain of the Church. This book provides Catholics with a ready answer to all objectors who allege a conflict between their faith and their national allegiance.

Non-Catholic readers will learn that the Church is not a super-State, that it has reserved for itself the spiritual order and left the temporal domain to civil government.

Besides picturing for us the Christian State the authors point out erroneous conceptions of the State, viz., Communism, Fascism and Nazism and tell why the Church cannot accept them.

Readers of this book will have a clearer conception of the essentials of international peace: A family of nations, patriotism confined within rational limits, that nations as moral persons must be governed by justice and charity in their dealings with one another, and the universal observance of international law.—Harry L. Murray

KELLY ELECTED

Harry F. Kelly, '17, was re-elected secretary of state of Michigan at the Nov. 5 election. Concerning his victory, the Detroit News had the following editorial:

Efficiency Rewarded

Conspicuous among Michigan office holders who survived the election is Harry F. Kelly, Secretary of State and a Republican. Tens of thousands of ballots must have been split in his behalf, since his total vote will outrun that of any other candidate for any office in the state.

The citizen's contact with the incumbent of this office has to do usually with licensing his car and himself as a driver. These ordinary functions were handled, under Mr. Kelly, with competence and good sense, which was also evident in the selection of types of license plates and the new system of numbering them, and particularly in a reluctance to project himself and his name into the public notice in the various manners to which the office had lent itself under his predecessors. This self-advertising was, in the main, carried on at the public's expense. That Mr. Kelly felt he could do without it has done him no harm, it appears, at the polls.—Detroit News

Notre Dame Books . . .

Defense Program Is Planned

Committee Appointed at N. D. by President

Preliminary plans for coordinating use of Notre Dame facilities and personnel in the national defense program were outlined recently at a meeting of the Notre Dame committee for national defense.

Numerous curriculum changes have already been arranged to aid students in preparation for future military and naval activity. A civil aeronautics administration program of pilot instruction was inaugurated last summer and is being continued during the current school year. University facilities have also been offered to the government for the training of industrial workers in specialized fields, such as tool making and machine design.

During the second semester courses in ballistics, trigonometry and allied fields will be offered by the Department of Mathematics to students who plan eventually to seek military or naval commissions.

Aeronautical courses designed to provide a background for students who are interested in aviation but not primarily in flying are being offered for the first time this semester as electives for non-engineering students at Notre Dame.

Rapid expansion of the aviation business in recent years with its many opportunities in the sales and operations division has created a new problem for University authorities.

No January Issue

Following its practice of several years' standing, the ALUMNUS will have no January issue. The February number will, according to present plans, be mailed in the final week of January. Secretaries of the clubs and of the classes are asked to have their next copy at the editorial office not later than January 13.
THE NOTRE DAME delegation in Congress was increased to four on Nov. 5, when Joseph P. O'Hara, '20, Glencoe, Minn., a Republican, was elected to the House of Representatives from the second Congressional district of his state.

With him in the House will be Vincent F. Harrington, '25, Democrat, from Sioux City, Iowa, and Robert A. Grant, '28, Republican, from South Bend, both re-elected. D. Worth Clark, '22, Boise, continues his term as United States Senator from Idaho.

Joe O'Hara worked his way through Notre Dame, starting in the old St. Joe Hall and graduating in his senior year "to the opulence of Corby Hall." In between the start and the finish, however, he had 27 months in the service of his country during the first World War.

Practicing law in Glencoe for the past 20 years, Joe has found extra time to be a county attorney as well as state commander of the American Legion. Mrs. O'Hara, (the former Leila White, of Holden, Mo.) and he have three boys: Pat, now a freshman at Notre Dame, Ed and Terrence.

Joe defeated in his race a man who had served three terms and who was the lone Democratic Congressman from Minnesota. And Joe's victory was in face of the fact that President Roosevelt carried Minnesota on Nov. 5.

Harry B. Flannery

Harry left in a hurry, by way of trans-Atlantic Clipper. A note from him, written in Barcelona on Nov. 5, just as he was about to continue his journey to Germany, expressed regret at two things: 1) that he hadn't heard of the outcome of the U. S. presidential election; 2) that he hadn't heard of the outcome of most of the Notre Dame football games. "And this was the fall I expected to see two games," he said.

Harry's appointment to a post of extreme importance at one of the world's crucial points is a culmination of his years of experience in news-handling. While he was in high school in Hagers-town, Md., he worked for the local paper. A journalism major at Notre Dame, he was the first editor of the Notre Dame Daily, editor of the Dome, and art editor of the Juggler. Followed newspaper work with the Baltimore Sun, Albany Evening News, Decatur, Ill., Herald, the Chicago City News Bureau and the Hoosier Observer, of Fort Wayne, Ind. His first radio work was with WOWO, of Fort Wayne, as news and sports editor. He went from there to KMOX in 1935.

ATTORNEY GENERAL of Wisconsin for the second time is a Notre Dame man, John E. Martin, who was re-elected at the Nov. 5 election.

A native of Green Bay, Wis., John attended the University of Wisconsin for three years before he came to Notre Dame in 1914 to enroll in the Law School. His two years under the dome were followed by two years in the army of the U.S.A., from April, 1917 to June, 1919, as a member of the 127th Company, 32nd Division, A.E.F. Wounded in action, John was awarded the Purple Heart.

He was admitted to the practice of law in Wisconsin upon his return from the army, and was with the firm of Martin, Martin and Martin, in Green Bay, from 1919 to 1929. In 1929 he moved his practice to Milwaukee and there, in 1932, he became first assistant district attorney. He was assistant attorney general, in charge of the banking department, from 1933 to 1935, resumed the private practice of law in Milwaukee in 1935, and was elected attorney general of the state on the Republican ticket in 1938. And then his re-election.
AKRON
Joseph W. Wozniak, '29, 2116 First Central Trust Co., President; Glenn Smith, '27, 2120
First Central Tower, Secretary.

On Nov. 11, we held our first committee meeting on the Notre Dame Christmas Ball. We have selected Dec. 28 as the date, and extended invites tions to all Notre Dame folk in northern Ohio.

Here is the committee: general chairman, Joe Kramer; invitation committee, Hugh Coughl; chairman, Dan Brady; Art Era, Frank Steele, Bob Kelb, Chuck McCook; hall committee, Bob Joyce, chairman; ticket committee, Claude Herring, chairman, Dr. P. C. Deran, Joe Wozniak, Dr.
James G. Kramer; publicity committee, Murray
Powers, chairman, John Donan, Jr., Mike Stoley, Glenn Smith; decoration committee, Tom Markes, chairman, Forest J. Swartz, John Moir, Steve Wozniak; patrons and patronesses, Al J. Hilbert.

This Christmas dance is really the outstanding event of the holiday season in Akron. We have held this dance up over a period of nearly 20 years to a point where it is comparable to the Charity Ball.

Among newcomers to the club, we have Steve Sitoke, '40, quarterback for two years on the first team.

Glenn Smith.

BUFFALO
Lloyd V. O. Smith, '33, 424 Main St., President; John H. Travers, Jr., 1319 North St., Secretary.

At our last meeting we held a bowling party for our loyal members. In appreciation for their devotion we save them a free party and, believe you me, they really were pleased. Among the members attending were Carl and Bob Nagel, Tom Condon, Frank and Bill Cais, Bob Moore, Marty Ryan,
Jim Moulder, Frank Bennett, Tony Brick, Li
Smith, Chuck Ernst, Frank Reppenhagen, Gus Jenkins, Norm Anderson and Frank Kellner. The bowlers were in grand form and Chuck Ernst etted us the way with a brilliant 245 score.

We had quite a few of our members at the Notre Dame-Army game. Those making the trip, sponsored by our club, were Li Smith, Joe Ryan, John Wardell, Frank Bennett, Carl Nagel, Frank Reppenhagen, Tom Condon, Ted Flanagan, and yours truly. We all had a great time and met our boys at the Hotel Pennsylvania after the game.
It was really grand to see some of the old classmates again and bull sessions were held late into the night.

Ron Zudeck, '30, has gone into the optical business and is doing very well, Maurice Quinn left for Camp Bic where he will serve Uncle Sam the next year. Marty Travers was elected a director of the Junior Chamber of Commerce.

Joe Fay, '30, of Medina, is working in Buffalo at the DuPont plant and we hope to see him at our next meeting. Tony Brick is a successful lawyer in Tonawanda. Latest reports have him listed as a substitute judge. Steve Banas, '33, is an executive in the Bethlehem strip mill and plays pro football with the Buffalo Indians. They were honored by a thousand employees of his plant during the intermission of a Buffalo-New York Yankees game.

John H. Travers, Jr.

Cleveland alumni clubs
GRAND RAPIDS
Ginn, Jim. Wither, Joe Decb, and others of the maintenance monopoly on luck, for the Iowa-Kotre Dame game. John Broffcer, to now they are jolly friends forevermore—Fredericks to be the wifely apple of his eye. and Mrs. will reside in Grand Rapids. Philip Fritz—with a token of $100 in appreciation.

on the "America" to the West Indies, the Mr. and with Miss Mary Dugan. After a honeymoon cruise to the American scene these hitherto un-introduced to America the cocktail, ice cream, and C. Marc Verbiest and Line Wnrzer.

and L. J. "Lnrny" Gemon were elected to succeed president, Malcolm F. Knaos; secretary, V. J. "Vic" sult: president. Jay L. "Biffy" Lee; vice-presiter. Bob (Governor) Hackman. and Al (Governor) Lawton.

Fritz Slackford addressed the Football Rally committee and some of the officers of the club on the merits of the local alumni clubs at a meeting of the group at Rohr’s early in November. If you have never heard Mr. Slackford on this subject, do so at your earliest convenience (or his).

Les Raddatz is vacationing and putting on weight in Arizona, and feeling bigger and better than ever. We can’t keep up with all our vacationing friends, so watch the club notes from Tiverton, Ariz., for news about us.

Dr. Frank Gannen has deserted Newburgh, and is now residing in Garfield Heights, with his Maggie and little Jimmy.

Johnny Doyle, our membership secretary, probably knows more about Clevelanders and local Notre Dame than he ever did in West Long Branch, and every one of them consider it an invitation to the Christmas dance.

When are you holding your Annual Retreat?
Mike Crawford.

DETROIT

Monday night, Nov. 18, 80 members assembled for dinner and election at the Whittier Hotel. Results: president, Jay L. "Biffy" Lee; vice-president, Malcolm F. Kraus; secretary, V. J. "Vic" Schaefer; treasurer, Dr. Neil J. Whalen. For trustees, Charles Martin and Judge Thomas C. Murphy were re-elected, John W. Bronson and L. J. "Larry" Germon were elected to succeed C. Marc Verbiest and Line Wurzer.

Retiring President Howard F. Beechinor was given a great send-off. A resolution was read commending him for his efforts the past two years, and, in addition, the club presented him with a token of $100 in appreciation.
Malcolm Kraus.

GRAND RAPIDS
Francis J. Thrall, ex-’31, 317 Bond, N.W., President; George A. Jakoboice, 327 Front Ave., N.W., Secretary.

You will recall, no doubt, that when Recham­been arrived at Newport with his French army he introduced to America the cockpit, ice cream, and the brass band . . . so now, too, it is only proper as a matter of history that I submit as a contribu­tion to American scene these hitherto unrevealed facts . . .

Fred Gast trotted off on Oct. 17 to the old hitching post at Beacon, N. Y., for a double harness with Miss Mary Dugan. After a honeymoon cruise on the "America" to the West Indies, the Mr. and Mrs. Whitfield were there, and after a pleasant visit to Chicago, they are now enjoying the hospitality of the Illinois Club.

E. Joseph Moore also found Mary Margaret Frederick to be the witty apple of his eye, and now they are jolly friends forevermore.

Tom Campbell relaxed from his sums at Seld­man and Seidman, public accountants, long enough to scramble off with one of the football tickets awarded by the Grand Rapids Club for the Iowa-Notre Dame game. John Brogger, to maintain the membership monopoly on luck, walked away with the two remaining prizes.

Gladstone McDiarmid, Leo Walsh, Benedict McGin, John Wither, Joe Deeb, and others of the downtown tycoons gather Friday nights at the Elks’ Cafeteria for fillet of sole and a round of bouncers.

Ray Benini has been transferred to Ann Arbor where he has been promoted by the Michigan Bell Telephone Company. A. John Alt with his wife and babies is now housed, locked, stock, and barrel, in his new colonial home on Oakleigh Road.

Jim Sweedyck and Jack Ley are arranging plans for an informal club party to be given at an early date.

Now, down with the trolley; it’s the end of the line.
Secret Operator No. 9.

DES MOINES

The Notre Dame Club of Des Moines held a get-together for members, their wives and girl friends, the parents of the Des Moines boys now at Notre Dame, and a few friends, at the Cabin of the Hotel Fort Des Moines on Oct. 4, to listen to the Kate Smith broadcast. After the broadcast we moved to the previous rooms of the Fox and Parsons offices for a preview of "Knute Rockne—All American."

Several men, new to Des Moines, were present—Bob Tieman, who is associated with the Meredith Publishing Company, and Jack Saggars, who is with the Lailey Service Company.

Club President Charles Lynch represented the University at the inauguration of Samuel N. Stevens as president of Grinnell College on Oct. 25. Bill Robinson.

FORT WAYNE, INDIANA
Henry J. Hasley, ’28, 494 Peoples Trust Bldg., President; Maurice J. DeWald, ’33, 2115 Robertus St., Secretary.

The Notre Dame Club of Fort Wayne has been holding noon luncheons. So far they have been well attended. President Henry Hasley is doing a fine job as head of our club.

At our last meeting Herman Centivre presented a survey to the members asking what type activities our club should indulge in besides our luncheon meetings. Answers will be discussed at the next meeting. Ed S. Sullivan, ’24, is pleased to announce the birth of Steve E. Sullivan. Ed boasts that he will be all-American quarterback in 1941. Frank Corbett, ’30, was unsuccessful candidate for congressman of fourth district on Nov. 5.

Maurice J. DeWald.

GREEN BAY, WIS.
John D. Clancy, ex-’35, 315 Clay St., President; James E. Enkla, 115 S. Madison St., Secretary.

GREEN BAY
The student club composed of current undergraduates from the Fox River Valley will give a dance on Friday, Dec. 27 in the Conway Hotel in Appleton, Wis. They extend to all alumni and former students of the area a cordial invitation to attend.

HAWTHALAND (Mich.-Wis.)
Robert E. LeMiere, ’38, 421 Second Ave. S., Escanaba, Mich., President; Francis E. Langrell, ’28, 2004 Ellis Court, Marquette, Wis., Secretary.

The club entertained Arch Ward, sports editor of the Chicago "Tribune," at lunch in Escanaba, on Nov. 13. Arch was in town to be the chief speaker at the football banquet of the two local high schools. John Lemmer, ’18, is superintendent of schools in Escanaba.

JOLIET, ILLINOIS
Clarence W. Wilhaid, ex-’27, 903 Osmond St., President; Edward H. King, Special, 201 Bee St., Secretary.

Had a very pleasant visit from Rev. Bro. Lawrence Joseph, ’25, on Nov. 17. He is now located at De LaSalle Institute, Chicago. Brother had been down to N.D. for the Iowa game.

KANSAS CITY, (Missouri-Kansas)
John J. O’Connor, ’34, 4115 Merriweather St., Kansas City, Mo., President; Norman M. Bowes, ’32, 4115 Rockhill Road, Kansas City, Mo., Secretary.

The campus club will entertain with its annual Christmas party Dec. 28 at the Millburn Club. Reservations may be secured by calling the officers of the campus club after Dec. 21.

Personals: Joe Siemer, ’31, cracked the strong Democratic blockade by winning the county attorney post in Effingham County, III., at the recent election. Tom Quislan, ’33, of Montpelier, Vt., was in these parts briefly the middle of last month, and was taken for a round of the local bowling alleys. Fred Crow, judge, J. B. Bevers, Les Raddatz, ’33, of Cleveland, was through here enroute to the West Coast. Bill Cole, of Parsons, Kansas, recently down with the flu, is up and again hanging around those large Kansas jackrabbits. Joe Herbeck has recently been trans­ferred to Wichita with the Air Reduction Sales Co. Frank Toyne, ’39, is working in Chicago with some engineering firm. Bill Shaw, of Tulsa, Okla., called his room, and was able to give us the fact that the oil business was again booming. Query was made recently about those two St. Joseph opera­tors, Mike Farquhar, ’33, and Joe Canfield, ’34. Jim Murray and Joe Stewart have been splitting the maple leaves on the lawns.

The Alumni Association extends its sympathy to Jim Brav on the death of his mother; and to Maurice Carroll on the loss of his daughter.
Norman M. Bowes.

LOS ANGELES
Charles S. Gase, ’34, 1235 Champs Marfi Bank Bldg., Los Angeles, President; Mrs. M. R. Bailey, ex-’28, 3112 Demens Ave., W. Los Angeles, Secretary.

Oct. 15 saw a luncheon that was somewhat im­promptu due to the fact that we called it on Monday when we got word that Rev. J. Hugh O’Dennis, C.S.C., could attend that day. It was held at the Biltmore hotel and was attended by over 50 of the club. Besides Father O’Denssell there was Father Healy from school, and Jack Reddy and Jerry O’Dwyer who were out here to attend the Congress of the Confraternity of Christian Doctrine as the representatives of Notre Dame.

Jim McCabe was responsible for the arrange­ment and Charlie Gase presided. I was unable to attend but according to reports the affair was a real success. Lee Ward and Judge A. A. Scott were there as the backbone of the meeting. Frank Berry, Bill Cook, Fred Plemons, and G. Bentley Ryan were among those present, and Thomas and Henry Deckweller took time off from campaigning for their brother John in his drive for the district attorney’s office (whence he will later be sent to cover and join the crowd. Father O’Dennis told of the way things are at school these days and gave some ideas as to the improvements planned for the future.

Our weekly luncheon idea got a set-back due to the fact that we were not able to get a private room at the Club hotel. Then I went out of town and Charlie Gase got involved in a lot of work and Jim McCabe went east on business. He also took in the Illinois game but was unable to get back to the N.D. campus, as he had planned, due to press of business. That, combined with the pre­ election frenzy, kept us from getting things started properly. However, we finally got a private room at the hotel we held a luncheon on Nov. 8. Ed Cunningham, Gene Kennedy, Tad Walsh, F. T. Madd, Pinn Swanson, J. W. Kelly, Tom Walsh and Leo Ward were there among others.

MILWAUKEE
Earl McCarron, '25, Home Owners Loan Corp., President; John R. Cauder, '34, 1219 W. Vliet St., Secretary.

The Board of Directors of the club held a meeting on the night of Oct. 31. All members were in attendance. And since the organization was found to be out of the deep red, financially, since its successful football rally they gave Brother Venard, C.S.C., St. Charles Boys’ Home, a kindly check in the amount of $50.00.

Bill Brown was elected the new head of the committee on placement. This is a big job and needs serious and complete cooperation on the part of all the locals. Door prizes at the Football Rally were tickets to the Iowa and the Northwestern games. Tickets were won by friends of Bob Sanford and Jim Effinger.

The father of John and Jim Corrigan died suddenly during the last month. The club was represented at his funeral. James is studying at the Jenck Seminary at Florissant, Mo. John is working locally at interior decorating.

Neil Gleason has been busy as an agent for several large financial houses, but he took time to bring an old friend from Florida, John Webster, to the rally. John is an artist, now working for a local printing house.

John Voss reports an interesting experience in the routine of his work when he was in court some time back. He saw Dan McCluskey, an attorney from Janesville, District Attorney McDaniel of Antigo, and State Warden Burke of Waupun in one case at the Federal Building. John also reports a visit from John Deane, who was in the state for a short time.

Red Hearden pictures a considerable part of the sport sheet in honor of his “superman” football team at Green Bay’s leading high school. Bob is a successful high school team ever since he left Notre Dame.

Bill Naas was elected to State Assembly from a district just north of Milwaukee. He went in with a fine total of votes that buried the opposition. We should report that John Martin also went back to Madison, as attorney general.

Bob Latz just came back from New Orleans, and he will talk about their good hunting and fishing down there until state authorities hear about it. Earl McCarron met Gus Stange, of Merrill, while duck shooting.

A newcomer to Milwaukee is Bob Schmidt, of Employers Mutual Insurance Co. Bob is from Eau Claire, and he comes here from his company’s home office at Wausau.

Frank Holdampf is still singing loudly, as at school, but now he’s with the K.C. chorus. So is Bill Collins. They tell us Dan Hagedorn won a turkey on the K.C. alleys.

Ace Hanushek was busy as they come. He is working for the state military architect, and in these war conscious days they are erecting armories mightily fast.

Merry Christmas, boys.

Paul Brust.

MOHAWK VALLEY (N.Y.)
Lester Laver, '26, 604 N. Madison St., Rome, President; Edward J. Sweeney, '28, 1415 Miller St., Utica, Secretary.

Met some of the boys at the Army game and though they were a bit disappointed in not having a larger score we were thankful to have beaten a great team. Guess the public forgets that Army is always good when they play Notre Dame.

Saw Art McGee, assistant manager for the Metropolitan Life, now located at Glens Falls, N. Y., at the game. He had the wife with him and they both looked grand. Also saw a few other lad but did not have a chance to speak to them. I recall, among these, Andy Aman and Tom Ferrier. At the Roosevelt Saturday evening Guy Lombardo introduced Milh Fitup.

MINNESOTA
Frank Mayer, '27, Northern States Poww Co., St. Paul, President; George McDermott, Secretary.

The club had a smoker at the Town and Country Club in St. Paul on Nov. 6. It was well attended.

The club will hold its annual Christmas dance in the Continental Room of the St. Paul Hotel on Dec. 28. It will be formal and the committee in charge has arranged for two orchestras. All Notre Dame students, former students and friends who are in the Twin Cities at the time are invited to attend.

Joseph P. O’Hara, one of our club members, was elected to Congress on the Republican ticket representing the second Congressional district of Minnesota. Joe lives in Glenwood, and has always taken an interest in the Notre Dame affairs in the Twin Cities. Congratulations!

George T. McDermott.

NEW JERSEY
Harvey P. Rockwell, '34, 1202 Essex House, 1048 Broad St., Newark, President; Andrew E. O’Keefe, '33, Box 362, New Brunswick, Secretary.

We, the Notre Dame men here in Jersey City, got together and raised $200 and sent 2,000 deserving boys to see the picture “Knute Rockne—All American” on Oct. 25.

The men who worked on it were, Frank Maddox, '23, George Wenz, '34, Murray Booth, '23, James B. Clarke, '34, holding the baton, and Robert Hamilton, '28, and Harry O’Meally, Jr., '42.

We had the Hudson College Glee Club sing the Notre Dame songs and then Paul Morrison and I gave talks on Rockne. All in all, it was a very nice affair, and I know the boys enjoyed it.

James B. Clark.

Warner Brothers treated the club to a preview of “Knute Rockne—All American” on Oct. 5, in Newark. About 300 people, including members and friends, turned out for dinner and the show. Audience reaction was 100 percent favorable, particularly among those members who had the privilege of knowing Rock in person.

The annual Hard Times Dance came off on Friday, Oct. 25. Chairman Jim Quinn gave all who attended an enjoyable evening’s entertainment. climax of the affair was the wind-up of Pete Quinn’s work as chairman of the annual Army game ticket distribution. Fortunately for the reputation of the committee, no member won any prizes.

Most of the members of the New Jersey Club made the yearly pilgrimage to Ruthtown-by-the-Harlem for the Army game. Harvey Rockwell was there accompanied by the newly-acquired Mra., formerly Miss Alice Kavanagh. Also Tom Tracy, Tom Farrell, Dan Sullivan, Pete Quinn, and nearly all the rest of the New Jersey crowd. One who missed was brother Jack O’Keefe, who was busy celebrating the arrival of a son, George Christopher, born that morning.

Pete Quinn, Ray Geiger and the Wingerters were a few of the New Jersey group who traveled to Baltimore for the Navy game. This year’s report seeing Jack Sanders, Earl Bedeget, Warren Fragel, Harold Robinson, Ray McCullam, and Bob Mamsey—long a Jesuit, but now living in Wilmington, Del.—as well as many others—a whole trainload—of others.

The club held its first business meeting of the year on Nov. 4. Principal item of discussion was the coming New Year’s Eve Dance, of which Sam Calusarse is chairman. As in the past two years, it will be at the Robert Treat Hotel in Newark—on Dec. 31. If it’s as popular an affair as it was last time, those who want to go should get their reservations in soon. Both last year and the year before the S.R.O. sign was out before Christmas.

Andy O’Keefe.

NORTHERN CALIFORNIA
Howard Parker, '17, 219 State Bldg., San Francisco, President; Robert L. McDonald, '24, 8319 Arden Ave., Oakland, Secretary.

The broadcast of the Notre Dame-Army game was the occasion of another get-together for the Northern California alumni at the Army-Navy Club in San Francisco. Among those attending were Howard Parker, Harry Wilt, “Bill” Byrne, Tom Flirick, Paul J. Cushing and Dan Sullivan. The favorable outcome of the game insured a swell time for all there.

We are, as this is written, all looking forward to the Southern California game and a chance to renew acquaintances with the campus through the football team. Howard Parker reports that quite a few of the northern California alumni will be in Los Angeles to cheer the team on.

NEW YORK CITY

Fanfare, hilarity, hand-shaking, tumultuous applause, spine-tingling feelings, gaiety, desultiveness and a hundred other phrases and adjectives couldn’t describe the Annual Rally and Rally of the local club. Even Hollywood took a back seat on the eve of Nov. 1 when the local K.D. maestros, presented by producers, scenario writers, glamour boys, etc, outdid themselves by staging another successful evening of entertainment and fun for the 2,000 people who jammed the grand ballroom of the Hotel Commodore.

Rev. John Cavanaugh, C.S.C., vice-president of the University, honored the presence as the official representative of Rev. J. Hugh O’Donnell, C.S.C., president. Father John (No plug for the cough medicine) had to wait until he became a vice-president before seeing an Army game. His brief but inspiring message made a hit with the crowd and his intimations later on the air must have thrilled thousands of listeners.

The United States Army was represented by Col. H. T. Spellings, who introduced for Bill Hoge A. Drum, commander of the First Army, who asserted himself the last hour because of official duties. Maj. Ernest R. Dupay, director of public relations, was the designer of West Point.

Frances Wallace, from Belleville, Ohio, and other points in the United States, again M.C’d the evening’s festivities in the ballroom. His presence was the red carpet in the air, and his renditions was superb. Jack Hoyt, Jr., was also “in the groove” with his sideline remarks over the microphone. Father Gannon, S.J., presided over the several events in the affair, with his Irish brevities. He also tried to unravel the mystery of an annual sell-out for the Army game.

Other satellites and blizzards on the program were Elmer, the Broadening Thin Man, Layden, and his renditioning was superb. Jack Hoyt, Jr., was also “in the groove” with his sideline remarks over the microphone. Father Gannon, S.J., presided over the several events in the affair, with his Irish brevities. He also tried to unravel the mystery of an annual sell-out for the Army game.
OREGON

CM A. McKenni, A. B. Fetersdimidt, and J. A. Ladwyce. Others present were Gene Harphy, R. Ikeadora Hdilinc. CS. C was one of those present at an Oct. 23 banquet honoring Ber. Donoghne. general chairman, and his side-kick, Fort Pearson the announcer. A triple salaam to J. A. La Fortane, Arch Leonard, Charles Reid, Laetare Medalist and editor of the "Catholic News" including Wes Farrington, '33, of Pleasantville, and Charlie McKinney to the Army game since we last saw him, a wrestling bout between them, J. A. La Fortane, Arch Leonard. Charles Reid, Catholic chaplain at West Point; Richard L. Doke; Across the river Vince Donahue; Gerald Dobrich; Paul J. Blaholidic. Ed O'Bbara, M-A. '40, was toastmaster, and Edw. F. O'Heara, N. Y., and Paul Devers. down from Scranton. "DM

The Notre Dame Alumnus

OKLAHOMA

Joseph A. LaFerrante, ex. '18, Nat'l Bank of Tulsa Bldg., Tulsa, President; Carl J. Seager, '37, 1234 S. Cheneyne, Tulsa, Secretary.

At the American Petroleum Institute meeting in Chicago were many of our members, among them, J. A. La Fortune, Arch Leonard, Charles McNamara, E. Moran, W. B. Moran, William Sherry and Tom Moore.

Frank Reidy, '37, and Jim Reidy, '32, are in charge of the annual election dinner planned, as this is written, for Nov. 23 at the Tulsa Club.

The annual holiday dance will be held Dec. 26 at the Mayo Hotel. The chairman and the committee in charge of the affair will be announced later.

OREGON

Natt McDougall, Jr., '33, 45 S.W. First Ave., Portland, President; Edward J. Sandstrom, '29, 8 N.E. Portland Blvd., Portland, Secretary.

Several members of the N.D. club of Oregon were present at an Oct. 23 banquet honoring Rev. Charles Henry, CSC, '11, new president of the University of Portland, which was sponsored by the alumni association of that school.

Ed O'Meara, M.A. '40, was toastmaster, and Ed Sandstrom was included on the speaker's program. Rev. Theodore Mahling, C.S.C., was one of the guests. Others present were Gene Murphy, former Portland football coach; Dan Callister, Csc A. McKenna, A. B. Peterschmidt, and Jim Cilligan.

Edw. F. O'Meara

PHILADELPHIA

William A. A. Castellini, '23, Franklin Institute, Parkway at 24th, President; E. Brauns Bailey, ex. '23, 310 S. Broad St., Secretary.

McCreary Huston, former associate editor of the South Bend "Tribune" and now news director of the Academy of Natural Sciences, Philadelphia, spoke on "The Rockne Few People Knew," at the October meeting of the club held, Oct. 23, at the Hotel Adelphia. It was such an annual presentation of "Rock" that the talk held the audience of 56 spellbound. Huston was compelled to continue for a half-hour past his time through the insistence of the audience for "more."

Those who participated in the club fund raising project so the usual football means were Gerald "Kid" Ashe, '23; Bob Armstrong, John J. (U.S. Mint) Brady; Connie Byrne; Ed Bailey, ex. '23; Bill Castellini, '22; Bill Cooney, the proud papa; Tom Carroll; Phil Crossan; Treasurer Harold Duke; Across the river Vince Desahage; Gerald and H. P. Degut, pillars of the club; Jim Fagarty; Penny Special Tuxedo Bryan Hayes; John Lynch, Jr., Curtis Publishing Company; Dr. E. J. Lyons; Loyd Club Member Joe Maloney; Charlie McKinney, Budd Builder, beat all the rivals and dairies; Director John H. Neeson, Sr., Bill Nolan, '22, chemical king; life insurance Jim O'Donnell; music master Walt Phillips; newlywed Walt Rid- ley, Town Stepper and clamp-on of course; Commerce building benefactor; architect Adrian Wackerman; Dry Docks Dan H. Young . . . and Clifford Froehle.

November meeting was held at Palumbo's Restaurant, famous Philly nightery since the Gay Nineties. New special dining room was appropriately decorated with giant photographs of scenes from the Notre Dame campus.

December will include a party at the Fels Plan- etarium where Public Relations Castellini will bring them "Out of Darkness."

Further note on "Knute Rockne—All American." H. Birchard Taylor, executive vice-president of the Cramp Ship Building Company, prominent University of Pennsylvania graduate and president of theSandlot Sports Association, told our prexy that "every boy in the United States should see the Rockne picture."

Ed Bailey.

The ticket activity that took the club out of the red and Charlie McKinney to the Army game came off without any casualties. None of the club members was successful in snaring any paste­ boards, so the thing must have been on the level. Charlie was high man for the number of chances sold (even with the rigged Job against him), so we have to hand it to him. You might as well hand it, he'll get it anyway.

Harold Duke, the keeper of the funds, whenever there are any available, brought down the house with his report wherein we went up to 900 bucks and back to zero in ten seconds flat. It was a great ride though!

Several newcomers were also in attendance including Wes Farrington, '33, of Pleasantville, N. Y., and Paul Devers, down from Scranton. The others will have to forgive me.

As soon as the old courage comes up enough, I'm going to ask Josh D'Amora how he likes being a chemist. Imagine Bill Nolan better snap up this budding Niewland.

Neil Harley, our classmate, paid a flying visit to Philly in the rain. He ran in on Dan Young to see the new job, but unfortunately, Dan was in Norfolk at the time. Judging from Neil's size, we last saw him, a wrestling bout between himself and Fere Consayil would be quite an attraction.

Cliff Froehle.

PHOENIX, ARIZ.

E. J. Hilkert, '22, 442 Title & Trust Bldg., President.

Jack Hilkert, president of the club, is recovering slowly after a critical illness. Suffering from a "left-over" from the first World War, Jack went to the City of Sanitarium and Hospital, Glendale, Calif., last August, and has been there since. He writes that his escape from death was considered by the doctors to be a miraculous occurrence—"thanks to the many prayers in my behalf."

ROCHESTER

Frank X. Consayil, ex. '34, 135 Sprg St., President; John F. Harley, '37, 1018 Commerce Bldg., 119 Main St., Secretary.

In the absence of Jack Harley, who is up in Springfield learning how to really polish off an insurance prospect once he is in a weakened condition, it falls on me to give you the inside on what is happening in our local club.

I was hardly back from a very pleasant honeymoon trip through the New England states, including Bar Harbor and Boston, not to mention a few days in New York City, when we began to arrange for a series of events in connection with Knute Rockne Week.

We took part in having Mayor Dukes proclaim the week of Oct. 24 to 30 as Knute Rockne week. The preliminaries to this week were ushered in by a civie dinner. There were some 250 present and we occupied a porch of honor.

Joe Flynn, our standby in times like this, spoke earnestly and well of Rock as he knew him, I, as president, presented our good-looking Knute Rockne trophy to the "Democrat & Chronicle."

At the opening of the picture we had a nice spot on the program. Judge Harold G. Burke spoke from the stage and he was good. Jerry Flynn led the audience in some feebie cheers and songs until he came to the Victory March, when they almost tore the place down. Later that night we had a party at Johnny Odenaksh's Peacock Room and served dinner for 60 people.

Soon we shall meet to formulate final plans for our annual Christmas formal which will be held this year on Dec. 23 at the Rochester Club. Every year this event gets better and we are figuring on taking care of 500 couples this year — to top last year's record of 450.

Frank X. Consayil.

RHODE ISLAND & §. E. MASS.

John J. McLaughlin, '24, Meadow Road, Cumberland Hill, B. L. President; Russell E. Brown, '36, 45 Olo St., Woonsocket, B. L. Secretary.

Activities for the past month have been rather light except for the mass attendance at the showing of "Knute Rockne—All American" in a Providence theatre. Sixty seats were reserved for the club members and their guests. President John McLaughlin addressed the audience on the first day of the presentation.

Earl Brown, '36, has been doing very well as end coach at Brown University. His charges were instrumental in major victories over Yale, Holy Cross and Army.

Russell E. Brown.

ST. JOSEPH VALLEY (IN.

Louis V. Bruggner, '23, 129 W. Jefferson, South Bend, President; Clarence Harding, '25, South Bend Tribune, South Bend, Secretary.

Committees for the 29th annual testimonial banquet of the Notre Dame football team have been selected by the officers of the Notre Dame Club of St. Joseph Valley which each year sponsors the event.
The dinner will be held the night of Dec. 16 in the east room of the Notre Dame dining hall. Frank E. Coughlin has been named general chairman of the affair.

Chairman of the program committee is Elywn M. Moore. Members of the committee will be M. Robert Cahill, Joseph S. Petritis and B. J. Voll.

Jack Shively is chairman of the ticket committee. He has as his assistants Herbert E. Jones, Edward P. Kreimer, John Schindler, Clarence Futter, Edward Voerde, Frank X. Kopinski, Peter A. Beering, Jerome J. Crowley, Harry S. Driggs, Charles A. Sweeney and Robert Froctor, Jr.

The seating committee has as its chairman, Arthur Dachried, Assisting him are Grover Ma­ linear, Willard F. Wagner, Joseph Lauber, F. Breen, Burton Teop and Louis J. Hickey.

The reception committee, headed by Gerald Harr, includes Walter Clements, Edward J. Meach, Paul M. Butler, Francis Jones, Giles Cain, Albert Mc­ Gann, Joseph W. Nyikos, F. D. Frank Miles and Thomas L. Hickey, Sr.

Arrangements for the banquet will be made by a committee headed by A. Harold Weber. Assisting him will be James Keating, Norman Hartley, Harry Hendew, Harry Crockett, Edward A. Everett, Dan Youngerman and Paul Fergus.

The finance committee includes R. Floyd Searer, James Meach, Frank Miles and Herbert Jones. The publicity committee is headed by Clarence W. Harding, with Joe Petritz and Frank Farrington as his assistants.

LOCAL POLITICS

The Notre Dame Club of the St. Joseph Valley was, as usual, largely represented on the Nov. 5 ballots in St. Joseph County.

Aaron H. Hugness, '22, Democrat, and Ed­ ward B. Smith, '20, Republican, both of South Bend, were the county chairs of their respective parties.

George W. Sand, '16, Democratic candidate for congressman from the third Congressional district, carried St. Joe County (as did the entire Demo­ cratic ticket), but lost to Robert A. Gran, '28, Republican, when the other two counties of the district went Republican.

Harry Ridwine, Harrison H. Crockett, Edward A. Everett, Dan Youngerman and Paul Fergus.

The budget committee includes R. Floyd Searer, James Meach, Frank Miles and Herbert Jones. The publicity committee was headed by Clarence W. Harding, with Joe Petritz and Frank Farrington as his assistants.

WASHINGTON, D. C.

Andrew Auth, '24, 405 6th St., S.W., Pres­ ident; Carl G. Christianson, '21, 4475 Con­duit Road, Secretary.

Not since Hubert drew a cross bow at the Battle of Hastings has there been a grander rally than we staged at the Carlton Hotel on Nov. 8, the eve of the Navy game. Credit where credit is due, says I, to a committee of John Maloney, chairman, Bernie Lohbbaugh, Joe Borda and Andy Ath.

United States Attorney Edward M. Curran, self-styled "synthetic alumnus," was a top-flight toast­master who launched the rally with a toast to the Bobcats, a guest of Bill Jones, and Father Maurice Layden, an excellent turn-out by the local club, to say nothing of the always welcome synthetic alumni of our own. Bishop Gilmore of Mon­ treal, a guest of Bill Jones, and Father Maurice Layden were there. Buc^ O'Neil covered the first Army­Navy game. Wayne Millner and four of his synthetic alumni of our own. Bishop Gilmore of Mon­ treal, a guest of Bill Jones, and Father Maurice Layden were there. Buc^ O'Neil covered the first Army­Navy game. Wayne Millner and four of his synthetic alumni of our own. Bishop Gilmore, of course, had to work hard to make the introduction, but — from what I hear about the Notre Dame and Navy lines, I shouldn't think that would be a very healthy spot.'

Ambrose O'Connell, first assistant postmaster general, was very much in evidence at the rally and looking hale and healthy enough.

I should be remiss not to mention the distaff side of the affair, all too sparse though their atten­dance was.

Joe Apodaca is now in the professional personnel of the newly-created Division of Latin American Agriculture of the U. S. Department of Agriculture. Joe has spent the past two years in Latin American economic research.

Carl Christianson.
Engagements

Miss Elizabeth Richard and John C. O'Donnell, ex. '37, of South Bend.

Miss Margaret Keeney and Robert F. Wilson, '39, of South Bend.

Miss Virginia Kessell and Robert J. Tierman, '40, of Des Moines, Iowa.

Miss Winifred Magher and F. Edmund Doneghue, '36, of Milwaukee.

Marriages

The marriage of Miss Bernice Claire Jordan and Charles Michael Walsh, '27, took place, Nov. 6, in East Liverpool, Ohio.

Miss Marella K. Conners and James E. Kesting, '29, were married, Nov. 9, in the Log Chapel, Notre Dame.

The marriage of Miss Helengrace Farragher and Thomas M. McLaughlin, '33, took place, July 27, in Cleveland.

Miss Bernice Magiers and Arthur S. Prekowitz, '33, were married, Oct. 26, in South Bend.

Miss Lorraine Murphy and Edward M. Sullivan, ex. '33, were married, recently, in Chicago.

The marriage of Miss Rhea Ruth Chambers and Donald G. Waufe, '33, took place, Aug. 10, in Janesville, Wis.

The marriage of Miss Virginia Ann Hoyt and Charles F. Fisher, ex. '34, took place, Oct. 26, in Chicago.

Miss Blanch Marie Murphy and John J. O'Connor, III, '34, were married, Oct. 12, in the Log Chapel, Notre Dame.

Miss Rose M. Miotti and John C. Carasio, '35, were married, July 29, in the Log Chapel, Notre Dame.

Miss Helen Connor and James Paul Celleran, '36, were married, Oct. 5, in Indianapolis.

The marriage of Miss Madeleine Elizabeth Kelly and George T. Demetro, '35, took place, Aug. 31, in Paterson, N. J.

Miss Su Ellen Julian and Lt. Harold H. May, ex. '35, were married, Nov. 30, in Pecora, Ill.

Miss Mildred Mogan and William F. Martha, Jr., '35, were married, Sept. 28, in Rockville Centre, N. Y.

The marriage of Miss Helene Herr and Charles E. Patterson, Jr., ex. '35, took place, Sept. 28, in Chicago.

The marriage of Miss Vera Praybytz and Lee R. Boyle, '38, took place, Nov. 21, at Notre Dame. Paul J. Boyle, '33, brother of the bridegroom, was best man.

The marriage of Miss Charlotte M. Ruiter and Ralph L. Pope, '38, took place, Aug. 22, in Massachusetts.

Miss Alice Scully and Leonard H. Skogland, '38, were married, Sept. 14, in Harvey, Ill.

Miss Ann Mary Power and Charles E. Syngstad, '38, were married, Aug. 31, in Worcester, Mass.

Miss Rita Marie Cahill and Edward J. Fanning, Jr., '39, were married, Sept. 7, at Notre Dame.

The marriage of Miss Eleanore Fob and Edward K. Grimes, '39, took place, July 17, in Dayton, Ohio.

Mrs. Eva Brown Yoho announces the marriage of her daughter, Margaret Anne, to Kyron W. Haslen, '29, on Oct. 12, in Pittsburgh.

Miss Mary McSherry and Joseph C. O'Connell, Jr., '40, were married, Nov. 16, at Notre Dame. Louis J. Demer, '39, was best man.

The marriage of Miss Margaret Tierney and James Sackley Bigney, '39, took place, Nov. 21, in Oak Park, Ill.

Miss Helene Herr and Charles E. Patterson, Jr., ex. '35, were married, Sept. 28, in Chicago.

Miss Geraldine Zink and Charles A. Kulp, Jr., '38, were married, June 23, in Canton, Ohio.

The marriage of Miss Katherine Haggerty and Charles V. Horvath, ex. '33, took place, Sept. 23, in Flushing, Long Island, N. Y.

Births

A son, Stephan Edward, was born to Mr. and Mrs. Edward S. Sullivan, '24, on Oct. 25, in Fort Wayne, Ind.

Dr. and Mrs. Bertrand D. Coughlin, '26, announce the birth of a son, Bertrand, Jr., on Oct. 1, in St. Louis. A daughter, Barbara, was born on Aug. 9, 1939.

Mr. and Mrs. Clem F. Crowe, '26, announce the birth of a son, their ninth child, on Oct. 22, in Cincinnati.

A daughter, Frances Eileen, was born to Mr. and Mrs. Edward J. Mullen, '27, on Oct. 12, in Fonda, Ohio.

A daughter, Susan Elizabeth, was born to Mr. and Mrs. Paul A. Bertsch, '29, on Nov. 18, in Pecora, Ill.

A daughter, Barbara Ann, was born to Mr. and Mrs. Paul A. Bertsch, '29, on Oct. 24, in Akron, Ohio.

Mr. and Mrs. William E. O'Reilly, Jr., '29, announce the birth of a son, recently, in Norwalk, Conn.

Mr. and Mrs. John A. Smith, '29, announce the birth of a son, James Gilbert, on Sept. 16, in Chicago.

A son, William John, II, was born to Mr. and Mrs. James W. Sullivan, '30, on Nov. 1, in Royal Oak, Mich.

Deaths

Frank H. Verast, 52 years, a student at Notre Dame in the late 70's, died in South Bend on Nov. 12. A school teacher in the county schools of St. Joseph County, Ind., for eight years after he left Notre Dame, Mr. Verast was appointed to the railway mail service in 1889 and served on the run between South Bend and Terre Haute, Ind., until his retirement in 1930. He was regularly one of the first registrants at the alumni reunion each spring, and he took a deep interest in Notre Dame affairs. Surviving him are a son and three daughters.
enthusiastic advocate of statehood for the Island. Surviving him are his wife, three sons and three daughters.

Ralph S. Feig, LLB ’07, Mishawaka, Ind., president of the St. Joseph County Bar Association, died suddenly on Nov. 20. Mr. Feig began his practice of law in Mishawaka immediately after his graduation, and in 1914, he became the city’s first city judge, serving in that position until 1921. He was a leading member of many of the community’s fraternal, civic and professional groups, as well as a regular member of the Alumni Association for many years. One son, survives him.

Williams M. Vaughan, ex. ’11, of Lafayette, Ind., died on Nov. 11, according to word from Father Thomas Irving, C.S.C. Mr. Vaughan was the brother of Charles L. Vaughan, ’14, Vint D. Vaughan, ’17, and James E. Vaughan, ex. ’27.

John C. Sullivan, Min., E. ’22, of Ironwood, Mich., died on Oct. 29 after a heart attack. A native of Sparta, Minn., John had been in Ironwood since 1926 and was a leading member of the Gogebic Range Notre Dame Club, serving the club as secretary for two years. The club attended the wake in a group and had a Mass said at Notre Dame for the repose of his soul.

John is survived by his wife, two sons and a daughter, one brother and three sisters. He was an engineer for the Pickands, Mathco Co.

Accidentally struck down by a taxicab as he was crossing a street, Attorney Robert E. McElroy, of San Francisco, Calif., was killed immediately. He was a partner in the prominent East St. Louis law firm of McGlynn and McElroy. He was buried on Nov. 12 after having been honored by one of the community’s largest funerals. Surviving him are his wife, three sons, his two brothers and two sisters.

Complications resulting from a ruptured appendix developed to the death of Mr. McElroy, in Nov. 5, of Wilbur McElroy, B.Arch., ’26, of Norwalk, Conn., and Medomak, Maine. He was the brother of Paul McElroy, ’29.

Mac rallied courageously from the critical operation and, as it seemed, fought successfully against peritonitis and a streptococcus infection. But when pneumonia developed he lived only a day. If he had been operated on earlier, he would have lived.

Those who were on the campus through the “McElroy era art” 1922-29, recall Wilbur, like his brother, as one of the most talented Notre Dame artists of all time. As a prolific contributor to the “Juggler” and, later, its art editor, he was one of the main props of that well-remembered publication. He continued in art work after his graduation.

Those who knew Wilbur can appreciate the recent comment of one of his Norwalk friends, “I hope that when I go out I am as thoroughly in the state of grace.” Another friend said, “May he intercede for all of us. No finer ever lived.”

Deanna T. Nagrent, Algona, Iowa, a Notre Dame student in 1922-24, died in the past summer from a brain illness, according to word from Wade Sullivan, ’26, also of Algona. He was assistant county engineer.

The “Alumnus” received, through the President’s office, word of the death, on Oct. 10, of Roger J. McGovern, A.B. ’35, of Bridgeport, Conn., and Washington, D. C.

Sister M. Francis Stace, S.C., M.A. ’23, of Mt. St. Joseph, Ohio, is dead, according to a notification from the post office.

Frederick Avelage, Sidney, Ohio, a freshman in the College of Arts and Letters, was accidentally drowned, on Oct. 17 in the pool of the Boone Memorial Fieldhouse. An older brother, John, is a senior in the University.

The “Alumnus” extends sincere sympathy to Elton Crepean, ex. ’10, upon the death of his brother; Joseph H. Dunn, ’27, upon the death of his father; William J. Maxwell Jr., ’35, upon the death of his mother; John H. B. Brinker, ’35, upon the death of his father; Dr. Joseph R. Caten, ex. ’34, upon the death of his mother; Dr. Joseph P. ’12, John W., ’12, and Edward W. Costello, ex. ’10, upon the death of their sister; James B., ’35, and John T. Cerrigan, ’35, upon the death of their father; Daniel M. Murphy, ’39, upon the death of his brother.

Personal
Before 1890

Rev. J. A. MacNamara, ’97, Saint Joseph’s Sanitarium, Mount Clemens, Michigan.

Seen taking a look at the Fighting Irish grid practice in Danville, Ill., before the Illinois game, was Dr. F. W. Barton, ’96. Johnny Chevigny was also at Danville prior to the Illinois-N.D. clash. The team attended Mass at St. Pat’s there. Father Glessy, pastor, is a brother of Ed, ’09.

Father MacNamara, writing from his Eastern headquarters, where he was to be until Dec. 1, had news of the Army and the Navy week-ends and of other things. Father has seen every Army game to date (as has John Neesen, ’03), but he got a special kick out of this one, when, as he writes, “. . . I saw Charlie Bryan, of Memphis, my old classmate, for the first time in 43 years and we had a fine but too short reunion. He immediately started making plans for the centenary in 1942.

“I also saw that hardy annual, Hugh O’Donnell, ’04, and Judge Bill Walsh, ’97. There were probably more there from the gay ‘90’s but I didn’t see them. At the Navy game, I saw Ambrose O’Connel, who looked, and said he felt, very well. I also saw Harry Miller and Walter Duncan and Joe Gargan, who was also at the Army game.

“When I got back from New York, I found a letter awaiting me from C. C. Fitzgerald, C.E. ’94, of Havana Cuba. He is still going strong — says he has been to two wars, and, although over the age limit, is willing to go to the one which may be coming on.

“He announces the marriage of his daughter, Marry, to Cyril L. Thiel, of Chicago, U.S. consul at Guayaquil, Ecuador. Miss Fitzgerald is a graduate of Holy Cross, and from ‘94 until 1923 worked as a secretary to Mr. E. Sanford. 3725 Clinton Ave, Cleveland, Ohio.

“I was sorry to read of Tom Medley’s death. I was always hoping to see Tom but never met him after graduation. He was ‘of the salt of the earth.’ May God be good to him.”

1900-04

Roe. E. Proctor, ’04, Manger Building, Elkhart, Indiana.

1905-09

The Managing Ed, in New York for the Army game, met John J. “Red” Murray, who is recreation director of Elmlia, N. Y. Red was with the New York Giants of the National League for 12 years under the late wizard of the diamond, John McGraw. Red asked especially about an old friend, Lawrence McNerney, ’06, of Elgin, Ill. Red’s address is 651 W. Washington Ave., Elmlia, N. Y.

1910

Rev. M. L. Moriarty, St. Mary’s Church, Mentor, Ohio.

1911

Fred Steers, 19th First National Bank Building, Chicago, Illinois.

1912

B. J. Kaiser, 324 Fourth St., Pittsburgh, Pennsylvania.

1913

Paul R. Byrne, University Library, Notre Dame, Indiana.

1914

Frank H. Hayes, 642 Third Ave., Chula Vista, California.

1915

James E. Sanford, 3725 Clinton Ave, Berkeley, Illinois.

AN EXPLANATION

This will explain to the New York Club and to the Big Rally and Reunion at the Commodore the night before the Army game that the competition to the program coming from the vicinity of table 60 was not the informal meeting of the Ancient but Honorable Order of FH SHAGS who were planning their part in the hundredth anniversary of St. Joe Hall. From the moment Ralph “Zipper” Lathrop and Bill Cook pulled in the car with a “Come and get it!” until Father Ed Howard suggested that it would soon be time for morning prayer, much was discussed. Smeethport’s Bob Daly was overheard telling Larry Lajoie how to conduct a “rev” room trial. Pat Harl showed Dick Dunn just how a turkey could get out of a locker. Pennsylvania’s “Fricky” Farrell acted as interpreter when Norman Bartholomew asked Dr. “Maggie” Burns and Dick Dunn were able to produce the customary two bowls of ice cream when needed. Bill Kelleher and Frank “Poo” Hayes were outtalked by Jim O’Brien and John Neesen. Jim Eberhart and Rochester’s Joe Flynn, Browncoats, were not allowed to vote. Bill Dunaft furnished the head-table coffee. Dan Shevlin was elected an honorary member. Emmett Leaiah induced Ed Beach to close the place. All members, including the President, received thoughtful consideration. C.S.G. no six course dinner ever produced as much laughter. Let me take your 1942 reservations for St. Joe Hall now. Heads Up, Hot Stuff. No Seconds.

(Signed) One who was there.
1916
Timothy P. Galvin, First Trust Building, Hammond, Indiana.

C. I. Krajewski, Dubuque, Iowa, architect, spent two weeks in Los Angeles. He is one of the three main actors of the movie premiere, together with Mrs. Krajewski and Dr. and Mrs. Kasp, Dubuque, who happen to be personal friends of Pat and Mrs. O'Brien.

1917
Edward J. McOke, 3309 Fairmount Blvd., Cleveland Heights, Ohio.

1918
John A. Lemmer, 591 Lake Shore Drive, Escanaba, Michigan.

1919
Clarence Bader, 630 Pierce Street, Gary, Indiana.

1920
Leo B. Ward, 192 Black Blvd., Los Angeles, California.

From far aff Chile a "voice in the wilderness" cries out for news from a few of his former associates.
The voice belongs to Enrique Rossetl A. of Santiago de Chile and the friends with whom he would like to correspond are Joe Thompson, Peter Smith (the Texas Smitty), Father Doremas, Father Pat Hagerty, Prof. Jose Corona, Prof. Muas and Father Steiner. Senor Rossetl is assistant in the engineering office of the Chile Telephone Company, is married and has two children. When at Notre Dame he founded the Latin-American Club.

From Secretary Ward:

Father Pat McQuire, class of '20, was here in Los Angeles for the Bi-centennial Mass. Father McQuire is the leading parish priest in Salt Lake City. As heretofore noted, Bishop O'Hara has spent some time here both for the Bicentennial Mass and in connection with administering sacraments to the members of the Army and Navy stationed around Los Angeles.

Edward P. "Slip" Madigan was recently hired as manager of a race track in Oakland at an annual salary of $15,000 per year, with a three-year contract. Those who have not seen Slip since he was retired by St. Mary's College at Moraga, Calif., would never know him. He is completely cured of his stomach disorder, has gained at least 60 pounds, is the picture of health and is his old jolly self again. Managing a race track is less disconcerting than managing a bunch of football players.

Ed McManus, of Anderson, Ind., and Joe Sait-ter, of Elwood, Ind., are two Notre Dame alumni from or near Wendell L. Wilkie's home town who voted for Roosevelt. They don't know why except for the fact that they have always been Democrats.

Gerald "Kid" Ashe, pride of amen corner and brother of Tom and Ed Ashe, was in Los Angles recently. The Kid, so I am told, is employed by the Democratic party. He was not in the class of 1920 but who has been one of the members of the Notre Dame Chorus for more than 20 years (and was at a time when we were glad to get four or five members together, regardless of class) was recently released from the hospital.
He suffered several broken vertebrae as a result of an automobile accident. Tom Hearn is also one of the alumni who has a son at Notre Dame.

Rev. Francis C. Ott, old student, class of 1910, who returned to Notre Dame several years ago for a period of a year, was recently operated on for an internal disorder. For a few days they thought he would not live, but he pulled through and they expect him back on the job as dean of San Diego diocese in San Bernardino County, Calif.

1921
Dan W. Duffy, 1600 Terminal Tower, Cleveland, Ohio.

1922
Gerald Ashe, 46 West Avenue, Hillsie, N. Y.

From Kid Ashe:

Joseph E. Dufer is president of Industrial Management Engineers, Inc. with offices in the Singer Building, New York City. At present, Joe is on a business trip to the West Coast. He resides in Short Hills, N. J.

That robust, good-looking gentleman attending the Santa Clara-U.S.F. football game in kezar stadium, San Francisco, was our good friend Clete Lynch. Clete is a travelling representative for the Lion Ribbon Co. of New York City, and his territory extends from Chicago to the West Coast.
Clete says he is an excellent, if only a casual, fisherman. His arm spread is much too small to describe the length of a sea bass he recently caught at Lake Tahoe.

When this goes to press the football season will be about finished. We must not neglect to mention the members of our class who are members of the coaching fraternity. As this is written Lighthouse Harry Methre, at the University of Mississippi, has his team rating second to Tennessee in the South.
A one-point loss to Arkansas is the only blemish on the record. Eddie Anderson at Iowa is having a bit more trouble than last year, but this was not unexpected, because of graduation of Kinnick. Iowa will never be a "pushover" so long as Eddie is in charge. Santa Clara's Buck Shaw is again a power on the West Coast. Santa Clara lost a one-point decision to Stanford who lead me to believe I was wrong in charging them with one of the best teams in the nation. Vincent Walsh is doing excellent work scouting for Fordham. In the professional field, the Chicago Bears are outstanding. It might well be that Hank Anderson, line coach for the Bears, deserves more than a little share of credit for the team's success.

Ralph Coryn is operating a wholesale dairy products business in Moline, Ill.

As this is written, we are without news of election results in Illinois, and we hope Jerry Jones is still assistant states attorney of Lee County, and that Jerry Blain is still assistant attorney general of Illinois.

Up in Seattle, Ed Cochrane is busy at law. Also, he is a member of the draft board for the nearby town where he is resident.

In Bridgeport, Conn., the class is represented by Dr. Harold E. Osgood, lawyer.

Congratulations to the John Paul Collins of Elmhurst, Ill., on the birth of a son.

Professor Clarence E. "Pat" Manies resigned his post as director of the federal office of government reports in Indianapolis in order that he might participate in political activities in the campaign recently completed. Under the Hatch act, Pat was prevented from such political activity.

Soon to be elected to the Alumni Association is Paul F. Nagle, of the class of '22, 333 East 35rd Street, New York City. Paul is an engineer in the commercial division of the operation and engineering department of the American Telephone and Telegraph. After spending two years at Notre Dame he finished at Carnegie Tech and — is still single!

1923
Paul H. Cattner, 137 South Ave., New Canaan, Connecticut.

From Paul Cattner:

I know the class of '23 will be nothing sort of shocked to hear from me, Mike Siefert had sent up the river for one year and I just got out.

You know, Mike, I was glad to hear from you—as I know were the other members of the class, but your case against me wasn't very strong as
you waited 16 years before you reported yourself.
But your case against me wasn't very strong as
you waited 16 years before you reported yourself.

The Notre Dame Alumnus
great and he and his fine family hail from Indiana-apol. Bob said they planned on seeing the Northwestern game, too, so, with seeing two games in a season, he is batting a much higher average than most of us.

We drove over to the game with Joe Navarre,
'26, and his wife. Joe has a fine family of five and with the Democrats in Indiana he is the leading citizen of Marquette.

Called Bud Barr, '26, while passing his Chalmers, Ind. Bud's still single and is still taking care of the family elevator.

After the Illinois game we drove into Chicago for the midseason furniture market and as I usually do there, I saw Paul Bonemer, Paul hasn't changed a bit — even to that beaming smile. It comes in handy in melting those frozen faced furniture buyers because he is still top man for his own American Furniture and Batesville Club Co. of Batesville, Ind.

A Merry Christmas to all the class, and let's start the New Year right with news from all of you.

Al E. Feller was appointed a director of the Belleville, III., Chamber of Commerce to represent industry at a recent meeting of the group, after relinquishing the presidential reins of the Chamber. He will also serve as general chairman of the industrial department of the organization.

1926

James A. Ronan, 127 N. Dearborn St.,
Chicago, Illinois.

Mr. Dooley:

I've been reading in the papers, Dooley, that some of these philanthropists (stamp-collectors to you) are complaining that Frank Walker's Post Office Department is putting too many stamps in circulation. I wouldn't know much about that; but from personal observation it would seem that there is a serious shortage of the three-cent variety in the homes and offices of the members of the class of 1926.

This month's offering was purposely delayed in the hope that we might gather some news items the day of the Iowa game. Again no luck — in either the game nor the matter of news-gathering.
Saw Dutch O'Day, but only through the window of a Pullman car; and heard indirectly that Dan O'Neill was around somewhere. That's all!

That 15-year reunion is getting closer every month and we still have a lot of the boys to hear from. What has become of Fred Link? He was a regular in the class of '26 and has been missing some years ago. And how about Vince Goelitz? I hope to catch up with him in Chicago one of these days. Maybe we'll run into somebody next week at the Northwestern game. "Hope springs eternal," you know, Dooley.

From that Army week-end in New York, via the Managing Ed., John Campbell was down from Albany, where he is branch manager for the Commercial Investment Trust. . . . Rome sent Insurance to the brethren. He has only 5 children: so extends another of those "board and room" invitations to the brethren. He had a great time in Arizona. ... Joe is taking some classes . . .
feels fine.

There are many reports on the fine accomplishments of Dr. Jim Stack in Chicago . . . he teaches in the Northwestern Med School and has an excellent practice. . . . Art Scheer, South Bend, was re-elected prosecuting attorney of St. Joe County on the Republican ticket. . . . Ronan continues in advertising with the South Bend Lathe Works.

John O'Donnell and his wife suffered an automobile wreck en route to the Navy game, but came out of it with relatively minor injuries.

Don't forget May 20 and 21 and June 1. Mr.
Ronan is arranging to things for you, and the local '26 contingent will be glad to cooperate . . .
But it all means nothing unless a large fantastic attendance. Don't let that discourage them the least. It is just as likely you won't run quite as long as Richard's because in the end I fear
Jim Armstrong and Bill Dooley would be billing the
'28 men for a special assessment to cover printing costs. The November number is being referred to as the 'Rodrick '28 issue of the "Alumnus."

Just a word about the election returns before I give you the letters. The class of '28 will be represented again in Congress by Bob Grant who was re-elected on the Republican ticket from this county with a comfortable victory. Congratulations to Bob Kirby who was active in directing Oona Deanvan's campaign as Democratic nominee for Secretary of State in Indiana. Oona unfortunately lost out in a very close race. Oona, Bob Grant and Bob Griswold were the best running mate in the campaign. Jim Armstrong was a candidate for judge of the Indiana Supreme Court, all were overwhelmingly victorious at the Notre Dame precinct.

1927

Joseph M. Boland, Athletic Office,
Notre Dame, Indiana.

From Joe Boland:

Armstrong and Dooley want these things to be short, and to the point: don't know how I'll possiibly compress a recent letter of Andy Sieg's, because he really opened up the gates in his missive. He runs the class of '28, and they are looking to him in measures of an established fine reputation as athletic director and football coach at St. Vincent's College.
Latrobe, Pa. Things are too quiet in Weston, W.
Vt., for Andy, and he misses Gene and all the other lads. He sends his best to one and all — and continues in advertising with the South Bend Lathe Works. . . . John O'Donnell and his wife suffered an automobile wreck en route to the Navy game,
but came out of it with relatively minor injuries.

Jerry Armstrong and I were at Bailey's circus, where both of us were looking at the elephants—and the elephants were looking right back at us!

I'll be seeing you!

1928

Louis F. Backley, Box 134, Notre Dame, Indiana.

Thanks to Angie Grams, Bob Callagy, and the other 28 men who cooperated with them, again we meet the deadline with two letters packed full of news. I must admit Angie and Bud were in a spot having to follow John Rickard but they didn't let that discourage them the least. It is just as likely you won't run quite as long as Richard's because in the end I fear
Jim Armstrong and Bill Dooley would be billing the
'28 men for a special assessment to cover printing costs. The November number is being referred to as the Rickard '28 issue of the "Alumnus."
kept active as director of our junior school at Cheshire.

"I note in your communication that you are the proud father of two boys and two girls. I have been blessed with two fine daughters and I hope to boast eventually of a future candidate for Notre Dame. I can't say that my two daughters will head for St. Mary's, because I am a member of a few offices connected with the Council of the Cathedral College, but one of the best known is a most excellent Catholic school in New Haven.

"The only member of our class with whom I come in contact is John Callinan of Bridgeport, Conn. He has become a successful lawyer and we have been active together in Democratic politics of this state. John succeeded me when my term of office expired as assistant attorney general in Rochester. Joe writes to me that he has been in the brokerage business since 1929, married, and the father of two.

"Did get a lot of family news from Bill Keen, who is tax attorney for Bell Telephone in Indianapolis. Bill is married, has two children, and for exclusive news — a surprise in spring. Bill tells of B. X. Gremlin, who is transmission engineer at Bell Telephone. Tom is manager of the local office and ready for visitors to his new home. Sorry to hear that John Glasa has been ill. Our great family man of '28, Robert Emmett Kirby, has been elected to the State Board of Embalmers, Bill writes. Bill is manager of the Jim Fanning, who is with the State Unemployment Compensation Department in Indiana, and of Ed Cunningham, who is traveling for Phillips Petroleum Corporation.

"For now the latest word from Frank McCarthy: 'Mary' gives word that he has moved to Fort Wayne with the Van Camp Milk Company, and that it was not hard to do as he is yet a bachelor. Mae writes of Joe McNamara and Barney O'Neil of Indianapolis, and of Joe Madden, who is with the Indiana Gasoline Line. Harold Schuh is with the Berghoff Brewing Co.; Mike Hogan, manager of a drug store; and Henry Hasley, attorney in Fort Wayne and president of the local Notre Dame club. I was glad to hear from John, that he has had a fine roommate, Jim Belm, chieft; I have not a word since he is married.

"A telegram from John Frederick gives word that many of our class will be back for the Iowa game. John plans to be with Dave Kremske, and I hope to get to see as well as many of the others. John tells of being with Joe Morrissey at the Georgia Tech game.

"To keep in the state of Michigan, — a good news from Lou Norman. News from Lou — that Neil Amiot is married, father of two, and living very well in Wyandotte. Don Run is still located in Cedar Springs, and the father now of three — a new arrival a short time ago. Lou writes that Carl Petterson, Vince Stace and Henry Clark are all with Detroit Edison Co.; Lou would like to hear from Frank McCarthy, John Sister and Tom Mahon. Lou is doing very well with GMAC in Detroit, — married but no family.

"Not to take away news from the East from Martin Callinan but Joe Geraghty, from Rochester, N. Y. It is the first I have heard of Joe since leaving school and it was more than welcome. Joe wrote a lot of news so here goes — that Phil O'Connor is working with Eastman Kodak, single; Joe DeBett in the haberdashery business in Geneva, also single; John Larsen is sanitary inspector in Geneva, N. Y., married; Jim Berry farming out of Geneva, also has an orchestra which is very popular in his newspaper. Joe is doing the news. Joe is a very busy fellow in Newark; Don Corbett very busy these days as assistant attorney general in Rochester. Joe writes that he has been in the brokerage business since 1929, married, and the father of two.

"George Cosby wrote a note to cover Chicago news, and tells that he has been to Little Rock, Ark.; that Frank Donovan operates a wholesale drug company in Chicago. To get a partial list of our class places many in the brokerage business; Joe Childs, of course, in New York, George Cosby in Chicago, and as mentioned before, Tom Mahon in St. Paul, and Joe Geraghty in Rochester.

"Joe Langton writes from Peoria; spends the greater part of his time in charge of the sales department, and is quite busy. Joe is married, has one daughter, and, for more exclusive news, a blessed event expected at the Langton home soon. Joe tells of Al Gary who is working in Peoria in a department, and of John Carleo, who is in Salina, Kansas.

"To go South, I have a fine report from none other than Vince Dewey, Vince, as you perhaps know, is the only Notre Dame man Joe has in Dallas. By the way, Joe's new address is 1101 Rose Ave., Dallas.

"A letter from Joe Murrissy just under the wire; Joe spends his time with the King Mfg. Co. in Cincinnati, has three boys and one girl, interesting to know of Beets Crebley, big league umpire. Must be because of the start with our '27 team! Good to hear of John Flynn and John Cannes: we all should have a meeting place at some time in football season. Joe writes: — 'Dave Kremske, up Stevens Point way, aa

"With direct word from Bill Dealley that this report must reach you by the 15th I must hurry. However, this morning's mail must be recognised. An air mail letter from Jim Sheehan, out of Colombo, Ceylon, and a letter from Ripary, Marty Rial, husdon Jeffrey, John Fenn, bernie Zipperer, Joe Kinney, Jim Ebdh, Al Tahan, Norb Seidenstucker, Joe O'Neill, Bill Dealley, and Bill Leeby. Sorry all this is so late but it is in an air mail wrapper. Another marvelous note — Dave Kremske, up Stevens Point way, as mentioned previously in this report, is coaching and teaching Physical Education. Dave will be at the Iowa game.

"And now for the last message — air mail from Fred Blanchard who writes: — 'So you have been selected to be guest conductor. Wish I had sufficient matter to help you pad the column, especially after the great '28 showing of this past month. But I have seen very few things since then.

"Father Joseph H. Burke, who was director of studies when we entered N.D., is our new pastor and is already firmly established with our people after three months in New Orleans.'

"William Wagner, with the Mrs. and friends, visited me about a month ago, and we had a few pleasant hours together. Burke's name in the records of New Orleans. Haven't seen Burke hence for over six months. The Notre Dame Club of New Orleans had a preview of Rock's picture, but I could not make the showing. The New Orleans papers are praising much the work of the "Rock" note — Dave Kremske, up Stevens Point way, as mentioned previously in this report, is coaching and teaching Physical Education. Dave will be at the Iowa game.

"And now for the last message — air mail from Fred Blanchard who writes: — 'So you have been selected to be guest conductor. Wish I had sufficient matter to help you pad the column, especially after the great '28 showing of this past month. But I have seen very few things since then.

"Father Joseph H. Burke, who was director of studies when we entered N.D., is our new pastor and is already firmly established with our people after three months in New Orleans.'

"The Notre Dame Alumnus letter from Albany, N.Y., for which you have our thanks, Bud.

"I managed to gather a little information. In general, the situation seems to be: everyone doing well and the children growing nicely.

"From Indiana, Mike Rick's lists first, and as most interesting the fact that he is the father of three boys, including twins. He forwarded their pictures and I can attest that his affectionate description is entirely justified. He has been on his own for a few years, dealing in prudent, real estate and corporate law and has built himself a house on East Union Street in Lafayette. Of Bob Mohlan, he writes that, after spending a term in the state legislature, Bob entered his father's business.

"During last summer, Mike met Henry Halsey in Fort Wayne at a legal meeting. Henry has two children and is practicing law. In closing his letter to me, Mike asks to hear from Bob Stoepeler, Joe Hilger and Frank Negrety.

"Since Mike asks for Frank, I have this to tell him. On Nov. 6, Frank announced the arrival of another daughter, and is living at 124 South Pana­dana Drive, Pittsburgh, Pa. Recently Frank saw Marcus Farrell. From the voluminous next generation which this letter is reporting, Marc has picked the right career—pediatrics.

"In New Jersey, Law Connors is the genius behind the Coast Cities Coaches, Inc., of Avon-by-the-Sea, N.J., operating approximately 60 coaches, and he is doing an excellent job. In a letter to me he adds his own three children to the long list of '25 men and counting,' and they all seem to be doing well "along that line."

"Lou sees Herb McCabe, who is working in New York City and lives in Long Branch, N.J. Herb has two boys. Sometimes ago he had a major operation but is now as fine as ever. They get together once in a while, says Lou, with a little better health than they had at Mrs. Nick's.

"Bill (Clipper) Smith is head coach at Ashbury Park high school, assisted by Bill (Butch) Brune. For both of them this is their first year and so far they have done undefeated.

"Just as I was about to send this, a letter came from another daughter, Dianne, Pa. She is practicing medicine there, has two boys and a girl, and invites anyone passing his way in to enjoy his six acres.

"I think that tells the story, Buck, except to say thanks for the opportunity of contributing to the 'Alumnus.'"

As we go to press I note the following '28 men are registered in the Alumni Office as having been here for the Iowa game: Dr. Paul Harkin, 540 South St., Elgin, Ill.; Conrad M. Ochoa, 172 Congres­stitution Ave., Guadalajara, Mexico; Dr. Marcus E. Farrell, Clarewburg, V. A.; Jim Allen was here from Chicago.

Our plans for the next issue include notes from Lou Carr and Bob Grant. I want the engineers to drop Bob a line. Joe J., if he will be able to give us complete coverage of the '28 engineers such as John Fagan and Nat Rice did a few years ago. Also let me urge the A.B. and A.B. Engineers, men to drop Bob at the House Office Bldg., Washington, D. C., so he will be able to pack as much information in his notes as he did in his recent campaign speeches.

1929

Hearrd every Tuesday afternoon from 5:30 to 5:45 is Professor Reynolds C. Seitz in his radio program "The Alphabet Boards" conducted by the Creighton University of the Air in Omaha, Nebr. The broadcast comes from the Creighton University School of Law.

A source of pride to St. Gabriel's parish of Connersville, Ind., is a copy of Murill's Imp­maculate Conception in oil painted by one of its parishioners, Bill Heinean. The painting, hung in St. Gabriel's School, is on a canvas 48 x 72 inches.

1930

Richard L. Donoghue, 518 Riverside Dr., New York City.

From Dick Donoghue:

"Things are looking up, mutes, as regards news. We have been rescued from the pit, so to speak, by a timely suggestion which Bill Dooley gave us, on his recent trip tohe Army game. Bill's sug­gestion was that we have our guest contributors add their news to this column, after the style employed so effectively by the Honorable Buckley of the '28 class. Although said Buckley gave us his correspondent one grand rib­bon during the last football game of the season, we can't help but agree with Dooley, that Buck­ley conducts a grand column, and we will at­tempt to mimic him. (All is forgiven, Buckley—all!) We hope that Lou doesn't plagiar­izing his ideas, and while we are in the wishing mood, we hope the idea works half as well for us, as it does for him. So, here we go, and we begin by hearing from August L. Bondi, district man­ager of the Metropolitan Life Insurance Company in Indianapolis. Gus reports, as follows:

"This is to acknowledge your appeal for help relative to class news. Your letter sounded so fran­tie that I am getting this letter off immediately to you.

"Well, about this so-called election we had last week, I have bad news. Clarence 'Ooie' Denovan ran for secretary of state on the Democratic ticket, and was defeated by his Republican oppo­nent by a few thousand votes. He put up a good fight, but he lost. Al Feeney, '14, went through a terrific campaign with his G.O.P. opponent, and he won by about 3,000 votes. He was the only Democrat to win in this county.

"I am very busy at the present time, because as president of the Indianapolis Alumni Association, with the help of about five other fellows, we are sponsoring a game at the N.O.R. foot­ball game. The purpose of it is to raise money for our scholarship fund.

"I see by our alumni directory that we have eight members of the class of '30 living in Indiana. Three of the eight live here: John Rocap, who is a promising attorney, and Bill Konop who is with the Bell Telephone Company. I have seen Paul J. Kleier several times, and he is an engineer with the Indiana State Board of Health. And the first of the year, I will attempt to round up all of the members of the class of '30, who live here, and see how much news I can get for you.

"I heard some time ago that Bill Walsh, who lives in Brooklyn, was married. I wish you would get in touch with him, and tell him that I would like to hear about all the big wedding."

"Many thanks, Gus! Your letter was excellent, and we are looking forward to more news after New Year's Eve. We have a letter from Bob Hellrang, director of the St Louis Med­ical Credit Bureau, Inc., and Bob writes as follows:

"At the present time, I am chairman of a schol­arship fund committee here in St. Louis, and we are raising funds with which to send a St. Louis student to Notre Dame next year."

Bob also sent his apologies for a late reply to our appeal for news on the crowd in his area, and he is doing an excellent job. In a letter to me Hike asks to hear from Bob Steepler, Judge Con Carey is holding forth as county judge at Malone, N. Y. Dan Sullivan is headquartering at Northampton, Mass.

And Andy Aman came in from Columbus, Ohio, for the Army game, and Tom Lantry met him in the Roosevelt Hotel for breakfast. Bas Redgate is an undertaker in Bridgeport, Conn., and is doing very well. Jim Dillely is baseball and football coach at North Tarrytown, N.Y. Jim Dooley is sales manager of the N.O.R. Sales Co., and bought the salesmen to the Army game to receive a recent successful sales campaign. Hooley Smith is having a good year at Mt. St. Michael and the Bridgeport Cathedral. This week, is getting set for the Thanksgiving Day game with Jack Lavelle's team of All Hallows. (Jack was setting up a defense for Hooley's team, the other evening at the dinner I mentioned—and I believe some one mailed the table cloth to Hooley, just in case!)

Larry Creanla, the father of two children, attended the Army game functions, having come down from Elmira, N. Y.; and we observe that his forehead is gradually moving upward and backward, as in contrast to our own, which is being attacked from the rear. Jim O'Rourke is back in New York, returning recently from Pitts­burg; Jim circulated about the Commodore Hotel the night before the Army game, and was as fine a fellow as ever. Tommy too shares this youthful appearance. Pat Conway renewed many old acquaintances at the Navy game in Baltimore; Pat is coaching football at Cumberland, Md., again, having recently returned from Philadelphia to continue his good work.

Art Deeneshy is with the publicity department of Warner Brothers and is active in N.Y. club affairs during his spare time. The Rockie picture ought to be a "natural" for Art to exploit his talents on.

Tommin Murphy from Bridgeport, Conn., and his brother, Tim, were in town for the Army game also; Tim looks fine, and we understand is doing some coaching, and is also engaged in business in Bridgeport. Danny Shay made a mid­summer appearance here in town, having spent his work in Florida in an aviation plant and coaching with Adam Walsh at Bowdoin College in Bruns­wick, Me. Looks like an all-weather arrangement, at that. At Wilmington, New, they dropped the N.Y. club special train to the Navy game, and you are right in thinking that Bob is with the DuPont Company. Tom Fleming of Jersey City attended the N. Y. club Reunion and Rally, and the Army game. Mike Robb is managing northern New Jersey at the 'game.' Kenny Knox­straw is with the American Can Co. Tom Lantry these week-ends seemed very enthusiastic about visits with classmates and the mention that others campus. The four games at home afforded many the class in the vicinity of South Bend and the can no longer expect to see the many members of years in graduate work at Harvard. is assisting John F. RiAinson. 28, in the junior elections. post at Arthur Anderson & Co., public accounants. this column for the next issue of the "Alumnus," pretty active all Fall. Tim Toomey is a master to him. Ed Ifdiren of Beverly Hills, Calif., blew in the team! Hie latest on Jack Cassidy is that he saw their show from the "wings." incidentally, "Ollie" when he couldn't bring Johnson also. Tim is now in Buffalo, N. Y., with American Laundry疥monicies for the Bunte Candy company and is now in Los Angeles. Norm Herwit is also showing of the Rockne picture, und we were glad for the Army game, together with his wife. Ed is affiliated with a soft drink concern on the coast, and he is now promoting a very popular soft drink out there, which is the "people's choice." Warren Fogel was chairman of the N. Y. club Navy game trip, and did the usual good job with it. He also arranged for the local rooter of Fordham Prep; all of which kept him pretty active all Fall. Tim Toomey is a mastermind of the Royal Indemnity Co. in New York, as well as a pillar of the Navy Club. Tim was the official bearer of "Ollie" Olen on the night of the Reunion and Rally, having strolled for "Ollie" when he couldn't bring Johnson also. Tim saw their show from the "wings," incidentally, but he couldn't have been induced to join them on the stage. Jim Riser escorted a nifty blonde to the Navy game at Baltimore, then spent that weekend in Cincinnati, Ohio; maybe he rode back with the team! The latest on Jack Cassidy is that he is now married. N. Y., with American Laundry Machinery Co., and we would like to have him contribute a letter on events taking place in that area. We hope to have more letters to incorporate in this column for the next issue of the "Alumnus," and may urge the gang to drop us a postal card or a letter.

Andrew Leo Love is assistant comptroller of Postal Telegraph, Inc., and subsidiary companies, in New York City, having recently resigned his post at Arthur Anderson & Co., public accountants. Leo J. Scallen was re-elected to the office of prosecuting attorney of Crawford County, Ohio, for his second four-year term in the Nov. 5 elections. Louis Hutchinson is acting as director of the federal office of government reports in Indianapolis, succeeding Clarence E. "Pat" Manion who recently left the post. Leo had been assistant administrator under Pat. Tom Murphy is head coach of football at the Cheshire Academy, Cheshire, Conn., where he is reported as doing a fine job. Paul Loecker, '38, is assisting John F. Rohnke, '29, in the junior school work at Cheshire. Paul spent the past two years in graduate work at Harvard.

1931 John Bergan, 318 E. Colfax Avenue, South Bend, Indiana.

From John Bergan:
With the football season practically over, we can turn our attention to many members of the class in the vicinity of South Bend and the campus. The four games at home afforded many visits with classmates and the mention that others campus. Everyone with whom we talked on these week-ends seemed very enthusiastic about the ten-year reunion and vowed that nothing short of military training would stop them from being on hand on May 30, 1941.

Thanksgiving Day was a great day in Rochester, N. Y., when Miss Mildred Jean Clements and John G. Derschel were married at Our Mother of Sorrows church. Among those present were Walker "Dutch" Ridley, the Philadelphia engineer, and Mart Dowling, Atlantic Stamping Company execu tive. Our best wishes to the Dorschels. A pro fessional student for the University class of 1902 is Lois Q. Gough of Elgin, Havana. After a great race and campaign, Onslow Johnson lost a close finish for the secretary of statehip of Illinois. It was certainly a fine experience for Oonie and provided him with statewide recognition in Democratic circles of that state.

We are sorry that you cannot read of the doings of the class in New York and Champaign, but our scouts did not come through with the news that was promised by Monahan and Touhy. The Iowa week-end brought Ray Smith, Denver salesman; Bob Neydor, Detroit industrialist; Paul Dunne, LaSalle, Ill.; Chris Zabek; Asth tabola, Ohio, mortician; Eddie Ryan, Chicago rail weld executive; Bill Lahey, Chicago business machine sales correspondent; Bill Haking, Indianapolis securities broker; Coleman O'Shaugnessy, New York ad man; Bert Metzger and the Rev. Bourke Maysett of Kewanue, Ill.

Joe Meitler is now traveling for a Danville hardware concern and makes South Bend occasions. Joe is selling insurance and managing a cigar store in his native Kentland, Ind., while Glenn Wohleiber has left Shillibyville and is now in Los Angeles. Norm Herwit is also in that California city and expects to see the. Iowa U.S.G. game. Walter Wolanski is practicing law in that California city and expects to see the. Iowa U.S.G. game. Walter Wolanski is practicing law in Plainia, Pa., Herman Ziffman, in town for the Iowa game, related that he is located in Louisville and is managing a trucking concern in addition to practicing law. Forre West is now practicing architecture in Gary, Ind., and has designed many of the new FHA homes that were built in that district this past year. Dick Walsh is located with the General Electric company in Schenectady, N. Y. Howard Maloney is in the shrubbery busi ness in Dansville, N. Y., with his father and recently built a new home. Eduardo Melian is a consulting chemical engineer for a U. S. rubber company in the West. David Nash is now an attorney in the legal department of W. R. Grace & Co., New York City. After leaving Notre Dame he finished in law at Harvard.

Secretary's note: The zenith! — The customers do all the work. Thank you, boys.

Letter from Mike Crawford:
"It's from Osterich, but I never knew he was that good looking."

"Not much news from here. Am practicing ob stetrics here in Lakewood (Cleveland suburb), married, and with a three-month-old son, I have, of late, been writing Cleveland club news for the 'Alumni' and I know that every bit of news you get will be welcome. [Secretary's note: Kneec t!]""

Jack Collins and Nick Rafling are practicing law in Cleveland. Nick has just succeeded Jack as Cleveland club president. Hugh Ball is working here and, at present, taking flying lessons. Your Chicago friends — Bill Smith and writer (is) here. Brunswiek-Balkie-Callender but I have not seen him.

Tom McLanathlin, '33, has his own food-broker age office here. Rev. Paul Hallinan is at St. Aloysius Church in Cleveland. George Keen, chairman of the alumni association, had last year's city champions in football. Howard Hinkle was at the state liquor department.

"John Kieser is married and busy operating the Kiese Coal company (keener people buyer Kiesen coal). "Who's sick" Mateusek is quite a stranger to us but he's still a Cleveland. Bill Van Bassy is one of the city's leading golfers but that exercise has not impeded the growth of a quite size able waistline.

"Looking back through the fellows I have mentioned, I'm struck by the fact that they're all married except Clyde McCoy and Jack Collins. I really think Clyde McCoy spoiled that guy for any future devotion. Jack's still playing the field when not lawyering, or stumping for local Democrats. He spends every other week-end in Toledo — claims to be visiting 'Bugsy' Gen erally, but that wasn't 'Bugsy' that came up for the Navy game last October!""

Letter from Walter "Moos" Malen:
"We have three f2ers over here in Bingham ton: Bill Hogan, Reggie McNamara and myself. We are all married. Hogan is the only one so far blessed with a youngster.

"Mac spoke Saturday, Oct. 25, between the hours of local time. Hogan's practice was dedicated to Kasie Beasee. He has recently been working in Albany, N. Y., and is an N.Y.A district engineer.

"Bill, whom I saw the other day for the first time since '32, is teaching school at Binghamton Central high school."

"I Walt Maili (the skinny one) have been here two years as manager of Standard Brands, Inc."

"What do you say, believe we are unique in that I don't believe we've gained a pound amongst us. Mac, however, still weighs as much as Hogan and I put together."

"Boomed two years with Jim Biedy, '32, in Rochester, about five years ago, but he went to Texas and never have heard from him since. Biddle comes to town occasionally but must be we didn't use him right 'cause he couldn't sit right back to old man Haskell Dustall without calling.

"George Baden, '32, and I took at least 10 years off the old lives when we spent the year of '36 together in Syracuse. He is now back in Brooklyn and occasionally calls long distance for his shirts which I took to the three-hour laundry three years ago.

Letter from Jim Beose, the Prize Bunte salesman:

"Hope you survive this surprise. Perhaps this letter will give you a lift in the way of publication for the next alumni issue (Secretary's note: "Danmatoomit!"

"I travel a portion of Ohio and Indiana for the Company this stationery represents (Bunte). Live here in Lawrenceburg, Ind., where I just finished celebrating two years of a very successful marriage. Married a lovely girl from here and, thus, we make our home here.

"Truthfully, Jim, in the October 'Alumnus' issue, the picture therein led me to wonder if it were 'skinny' Igo 'gone fat' but alas, now we are not so representative copy of Teny Oehlerich. Sure enjoy your issues, James, and hope some of us will keep supplying you with material as an incentive.

"Call on Charlie Quigley every five weeks in Richmond, Ind. Charlie operates a very prosperous drug store in that city. Owned by the Roster 'utch' Ulrich, a little before our time, gives me some nice candy orders in his drug store in Aurora, Ind. Jack Hamilton, '32, originally from Riverside, Conn., recently resigned his position with Franchise in Dayton, Ohio, to accept a position with a subsidiary of Curtiss-Wright in, of all places, Philadelphia. I see him at Mass regularly each Sunday that I'm home. During my last visit in Chicago, I dropped into Bernie Leahy's Raklos No. 7 eating emporium — during his absence, the couple run the place well. He was saying good-bye for dessert.

"The Mrs. and I shall attend the Iowa game next week when I hope to see some of the '32ers. John Blaisius, '29, and I listened to the Army game in his clothing establishment in Logan, Ohio, last week. Saw Bob Brucker in Madison, Ind. He has a fine position with the Pearl Packing Company in that city. Also, in Madison, I dropped in on Bill Hertz. Bill is doing well in dividing his time between the restaurant and retail shoe business in that city.

"Do you know Bill Kerrigan? I am told that he is on the Chicago police force. Norb Crowe is coaching at Roger Bacon High in nearby Cincinnati. His older brother, Clem, coaches Xavier University football, also in the Queen City.

"Two excellent collaborators and contributors covered the recent Big Rally in the interest of the '32 News. These two staunch fellows are Ray Geiger and Fran Oehlerich. Their letter follows:

From Ray Geiger:

"In the Commodore hotel before we went up to the Rally, I ran into a crowd of '32 alumni from Chicago led by Neil Harley, Jim Downs and Dick Roney. In addition to celebrating the coming Army game victory, they were giving their condolences to Jim Downs who came out No. 29 in the recent government lottery. Jim is connected with Vitro- lite Products Co. and I suppose that, with the release of this information, their stock will go down about 10 points.

"Of course, Neil Harley is still with the Independent Pneumatic Tool Co. in Chicago, is their vice-president and hardly shows the wear and tear of several years of married life, plus so responsive a position. It must be the build-up they gave him at Notre Dame. Incidentally, Neil denies the rumor that he has a fourth son on the way and wants it known, once and for all, that his dependence had nothing at all to do with the draft.

"Dick Roney is now living in New York City for good, having come here the end of July, and is connected as eastern advertising manager of the Simmons' Plant Production Directory, so well known in the eastern association. Dick is doing very well and is a welcome addition to the eastern alumni association. The only thing he would say for quotation purposes was 'have Barney Bernhardt of Sturgeon Bay, Wis., write him.' Seems as how Barney is kind of lax.

"In tow with this trio was Jack Merle, one of the Chicago city government officials, and our own F. W. Broker do Jack Lucky? for us. Ed just happened to have some pictures in his pocket of his infant son, now six weeks old. After a little coaxing, Ed let us see them and we can truly say that he is a good prospect for Notre Dame football team in 1938.

"Jim Wardell, originally from Mt. Vernon, N. Y., but now Bynholder, Pa., still with the branch of the American Can Co. in that town and doing quite well from the size of the tell-tale midsection.

"A few of the rumors that drifted into the conversation were that Ben Salvaty of Chicago is about to become a December father and that Jim Oehlerich was going out of the beer business and into his way. How's that for scooping the secretary?

"Also at the Rally were Terry Dillon, Fran Oehlerich, Joe Pettrits, Dr. Red Jackson, Herb Whelan, Gene Connelly, Jim Ward, George Calihan, Flo McCarthy and many others. Joe Pettrits, of course, came on to give the team the proper amount of publicity and the 'thin man' still looks as he did the day he pulled out, diploma in hand, in 1932.

"Fran Oehlerich is now famous for his concoction, the Japalaapa Waffle, which can stand some publicity throughout the country from his classmates. Terry Dillon arrived with his wife who kept Mrs. Fran Oehlerich company during the Rally.

"George Calihan has just come back from China, so we understand, although I didn't get a chance to talk to him. Gene Connelly is now with his dad in the Connelly Restaurant Y Bar Supply business. Harry Gristant is still selling jewelry up New York state. Herb Whelan team English in the Ralway High school. Flo McCarthy is still with a loan company. Jim Ward was at the Rally but he was so busy that I did not get a chance to really talk with him.

"At the game Saturday we ran into Arch Denha, of Philadelpha who is on the editorial line. There, too, I saw also Tom McKevitt, who is with the Justice Department in Washington, D. C., and has been there for four years.

"In the Hotel Pennsylvania I met Rev. Frank Garbison, C.S.C., who was prefect of religion at Notre Dame for three years and is now located at the Holy Cross Seminary in Massachusetts, doing a fine bit of work and has each week a full-page article in the 'Sunday Visitor.' Frank was in the class of '30, and made the announcement a year ago to take up the robes of the Holy Cross order.

"Ed Mehren came on from California and stayed for the game Saturday. He is here on a business trip for his beverage, 'Squirt,' the finest regular and sdaking drink on the market today. It has a grapefruit base and is called 'Squirt' obviously because once you see it, it stays in your eye and nothing else will take its place.

"Heard that Tom Tarasovic is now practicing as a physician in Bridgeport.

"Coming back from the Carnegie Tech game, I stopped in Columbus, Ohio, and saw Jack Geddes, who was just celebrating the arrival of his infant son, Jack Geddes III. Jack said everything is fine except that he is quite angry to think that the youngster has more hair than he has.

"Incidentally, we found out that Dick Roney is planning to be married this Christmas, Christmas Day, in fact.

From Fran Oehlerich:

"I should be前沿 for you, telling you who I saw in New York at the Army game, especially after that screen test you gave me two issues ago. Oh well, one does not always get all the facts. Arch Ward says, in What Cheer, Iowa, and anyway several of the boys recognized my picture because at least I have some hair left, so I was thrilled to no end to see the following fellows during the three days that Terry Dillon and I (and our wimmin) scouted about the big burg carrying our cans of paint.

"At the Big Rally, or Rat Race, first thing we did was to go into a private room reserved for our friends, and there, as he did for so many Wednesday afternoons against the Palais Royale building, was Tom Flin­negan. Hard by Tom was George Connolly, fresh from a hitch in China. Next I saw two pairs of pants staring about seven inches above the ankles, and upon following the pants up to the faces recognized those two young men of Manhattan, Bill Fitz and Willy Weir.

"Slithered out of the private room and into the big ballroom and there was Florence Justin 'Mac' Sorensen, with Joe Pettrits, riding a horse and scalping tickets for the rat race game at 65 cents apiece. Saw a fellow sitting on three chairs and on examining same with one eye found it to be Jerry Finneran. Fellow leading a blood­ soaked parade of paintings.

"Incidentally, he had a picture in his pocket of his infant son, now six months old. He is planning a trip to the Orient.

"From a classmate of Joe Siemer, James R. Biehler, of Chicago, Ill., who was elected state's attorney for Effingham County, Il., on the republican slate. He is still living in his home town Teutopolis, and has a practice law in Effing­ ham.

"William R. Murray was recently appointed as an itinerant personnel worker for the F.A.A. of the N.Y.A. Bill did graduate work at the New York School of Social Work and at the University of Chicago.

First Lied, Charles H. Brown, Elkhart, Ind., has been ordered to extended active duty with the
The Notre Dame Alumnus

United States Army. He will be stationed for temporary duty in Washington, D. C., and will then be transferred to Fort Benjamin Harrison, Ind., in connection with the construction program.

1933
Edmond Moriarty, 1027 Ferdinand Road, Ann Arbor, Michigan.

The "boller kid," alias Fred B. Nile, Jr., inaugurated his fourth season at Miami Beach a few weeks back where horse races, football games and other sports will hold some of his attention. At present, most of his attention is centered on his young daughter, Teresa Marie.

1934
M. Robert Cahill, Athletic Association, Notre Dame, Indiana.

From Bob Cahill:

Not a lot to report this time, gentlemen, for none of you has roused himself to report anything to me.

By way of apology, last month I told you how I was covered with confusion for not remembering Eryk Neve's name, and then if the printer doesn't go and lose up the spelling of his name! Honest! Eryk Neve did it correctly. Let's see what they do to it this time.

I'm awaiting a report from Bill Ayres, who I know was at the Army game, and any of you others gentz who were there, for some news of the '34 boys in attendance at the Rally and game. Milt and Stew Osborn to you! said he saw several, but his memory didn't run to names. So get busy, you Easterners.

John T. Sexton, of the class of '33, postcards to the effect that Joe Degnan is in the Elks Hospital, Tuxen, Arizona, and Joe would welcome letters from any of you, and visits from those in that vicinity.

George Shields, the former S.A.C. executive and roommate of Reishman for, shall we say, several years, dropped in the other day. Has a brother a freshman here, whom he couldn't find and we had a good laugh. He was to be back for the game with Iowa, and we'll reunite with Reishman, who will be on from Charleston, W. Va., with his wife. George is single, worrying about his hair, although I thought he had as much (or as little as ever he had). He travels quite a bit for his Brass Company out of Grand Rapids, and spent considerable time in Canada last year. His factory has a branch in Jamestown, N. Y., but I gleaned that there are other attractions there too.

Get a clipping and picture of James H. Gleason from Geneva, N. Y., which says that Jim won't return to office as town of Lima supervisor over the Republican nominee by a plurality of 319. Gleason polled 769 in the G.O.P. stronghold to his opponent's 459. Congratulations, Jim!

Here's a wedding invitation from the parents of Walt Kellett's bride-to-be, the hitching to take place Nov. 28 in Stamford, Conn. Walt's with Macmillan Publishing Co., and doing right well. In fact, he is so busy here these days taking the special from South Bend to the So. Cal game as part of their wedding trip.

According to Harry Desnoyer, the Triple Cities Club in Binghamton, N. Y., had a meeting recently, and reporting '34 there were John Dennisly, Francis O'Brien, and Jack Hean. William Ayres and William Yeager were busy elsewhere that day. (Happen to know that Ayres works nights, Harry, so I'll be his alter ego back in the office for Elenio, Harry says, wondering whether Jim O'Day's recent wedding kept him away. Francis O'Brien and Stew Osborn compared notes on the progress of the recent family additions, namely Teresa Susan O'Sullivan, Barbara Joan Stemp, Patrick O'Brien, Jr. Harry teaches electricity in North Senior High School, Binghamton, and his home address is 18 Grant St.

This month's tip from the feed-box for Marvelous Man of '34: Mr. Thomas J. Stritch, M.A., teaches electricity in North Senior High School, Binghamton, and his home address is 18 Grant St.

Tom has stayed with us since his graduation, after a swell job of writing for four years on the campus publications, while a student. Well do we remember the written feud between Stritch and Degnan—so called the Forty-Five Fellow. He's risen here, too. Took his M.A. in 1933 and first rank of instructor has advanced to assistant professorship. He's single, lives on the campus, and is fast becoming an integral part of the campus life. Seems strange to us who knew him when, I suppose, to have of Tom the terror of the English students, if terror he is. From what the boys tell me, Tom hasn't forgotten that he was once on the other side of the desk, even if he couldn't see over it!

1935
Franklyn C. Hochreiter, 340 Rosedale Ave., St. Louis, Missouri.

From Hoch:

We received a little correspondence since our last time to press and we'll dig right into it. First, the wedding announcements—and the congratulations of the class to all the newlyweds.

Jack Gainer was married to Miss Frances Louise Rippey in Altion, Ill., on Oct. 12. John Neeven married Miss Dolores Jean Marie Haydey in Germantown, Pa., in the Immaculate Conception Church, also on Oct. 12.

We have an announcement with no date or locality (but we can anticipate that it was within the last week or so) that Jim Ayers was married to Miss Helen Connor in St. Thomas Aquinas Church sometime in October or November, 1930. Pat Fisher was among the ushers.

There is a new arrival in the family of Mr. and Mrs. Ed Simpson. Gail Louise, weighing in at 6½ pounds, came along for the Simpsons on Oct. 14. To the proud parents we send along a lot of congratulations.

Three letters crossed our desk this past month and for each one we are deeply grateful to the author. First, George Rossay, who wrote from United States Naval Mine Depot in Yorktown, Va. George was called up for active duty just five days after the '32 reunion. Our friend has claim to the dubious honor of being the first number of our class in service for this war. If there are any who claim that distinction over George, please communicate with us so we can make it known.

Incidentally, George, Beanie Cavender is up at Fort Knox, Ky. We tried in vain to make a contact with Beanie who was supposed to be on the staff of the Paul Hospital (one of the newest and best in St. Louis). Finally, we spoke to the right person and got the dope that our M.D. had been called up during the summer and is attached to the medical corps at Fort Knox. Will you verify this, Beanie?

To return to George, we'll quote from his letter: "My job here is special technical assistant to the ordnance and mining officers. We have quite a spot here on the banks of the York river and in the heart of one of the most historical parts of our country. We play golf over the battlefield of Yorktown. The post is about 12,000 acres in area and is a hunting and fishing paradise. There are only 10 naval officers here; all the work is done by civil service labor. The only military thing about the place is the marine garrison, although we are last down by the river."

"For so far I haven't found a Notre Dame man in this part of Virginia. Catholics are at a premium here. I am living in Williamsburg and are one of a half dozen Catholic families in town. We live there because it is the only place where I can give them some inside dope on the Navy. Probably some of the fellows will be coming to Williamsburg to visit the restoration. If they do, Mary and I will buy a drink (and that's something, as you'll find if you ever come down this way). Our house is on Cary Avenue, no number, but just the last house on the street."

While we are on the topic, gang, there likely will be a good number of our '35 or more who will be winding up their careers at The Notre Dame this spring; accordingly, we are thinking of starting our Selective Service Program. (We feel pretty lucky as we came out 7827 in the national lottery and 3530 in our ward.) How about dropping us a note if you are down this way and we'll ask around and see if there are any more N.D. men there and, especially, if there are any from our class.

Now, John Porceva. John has taken us to task for giving you the wrong steer on his whereabouts and his doings. He tells us that we twice wrote him up as selling typewriters in the Midwest. Hit us if there are any more N.D. men there and, especially, if there are any from our class.

The Notre Dame Alumni for the eastern district of Oklahoma, working out of Muskogee, Okla. Jim Kaufman was reported very sick in April. We hear that he has sufficiently recovered to be his old self again. May we have a word from you, Jim? Joe Beach is assistant credit collection manager with the Personal Finance Co. in New York City. Ray Donovan is a foreman in Lock Haven high school in Lock Haven, Pa. Walt H. Sheehan, we are sorry to say, was in Arroyo Sanitarium, Livermore, Calif., when he returned our card last April. Walt was a tuberculosis patient. We hope that you are out and around now, Walt, and would sincerely appreciate a word from you.

Fran O'Connor is a junior engineer with the United States Bureau of Reclamation in Klamath Project of Oregon and California. Adam Drayer is teaching for the Ph.D. Program in New York City. Ray Bonnar is a football and basketball coach at the University of Cincinnati. Ray's father died last April 22 and we never acknowledged it in our column. May we extend the class' sympathy at this time, Ray? Paul Stanc is office manager for the Jotely Manufacturing and Supply Co. in Fort Wayne, Ind.

Neil Farrell is television sales supervisor with the R.C.A. Manufacturing Co., working out of New York City in New Jersey. Ray Keating is an ace novelty salesman, independent oil operator, in Houston, Texas. Dick Hyde is cashier with Shell Oil Co., Inc., in Minneapolis, Minn. Tom Flynn is in the insurance game for Fidelity and Casualty Co. of New York, working in Washington, D.C. Fred Fallman is internee in Milwaukee County General Hospital.

Frank Sinnott is teaching English in Admiral Farragut Academy, Toms River, N. J. Jim Mcevoy is the public relations man with Bulkeley and Horton, Inc., real estate company of Brooklyn. John Loucks is in the district division of the General Ice Cream Corporation, division of national dairies, in Burlington, Vt. Tom Sepe is assistant manager of the Public Loan Corporation of Providence, R. I. Jake Kane is in the insurance business for himself in Gomovomac, Wis. Sorry for the 'dubious remark' in our column of a year ago, Jake.

Art Brown is the owner and merchantiser of the Snow Queen Co., wholesale water softener company of Toledo, Ohio. John Maddock is claim adjuster for the New York Indemnity Co. in White Plains, N. Y. M. J. Winkel is a foreman in the anode casting department of the American Smelting and Refining Co., in Baltimore. Merle Settles is maintenance man for the Indiana-Michigan Telephone Co. in Anderson. Karl Schuppert is a point chemist for the Illinois Paint Works of Sears Roebuck and Co., in Chicago.

Bill Bernrock is an architect for the Department of Public Works and Buildings for the State of Illinois in Springfield. John Fugue is selling life, accident and health insurance for the National Council. Robert Eichler is a research chemist with the Standard Oil Co., in Cleveland. Congratulations on the son, John, he should be well into his second year now. Jack McDonnell is a salesman for Western Flour Mills, working out of Davenport, Iowa. Al Schwartz is a cost clerk for Fairmount Glass in Indianapolis.

R. S. Roece is the owner of the United Radio Service outfit in Peoria, Ill. Frank Leonard is selling bicycles for Arnold, Schlevin and Co. in Chicago. David Kranzfelder is a research chemist for Reilly Tar and Chemical Corporation in Indianapolis. John Gross is a bank examiner for the Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation, working out of St. Louis. Joe Hochberg is assistant manager for the Commercial Credit Co. of New Haven, Conn. Tom Walsh is assistant job manager for Associated Contractors, Inc., working out of Vahalla, N. Y. Ed Caldwell is backfield coach at John Adams High School in Milwaukee. Art Kranzfelder has been there since he graduated. John Brenn has a new address at 902 Oakton St., Evanston, Ill. Bus is doing his law work with Kinne, Sorel, Robson and Murphy in Chicago. Charlie Schell is an engineer for the Midland Electric Coal Corp. in Farmington, Ill.
line we think it’s no more than he deserves.

With that we took away the volume of Pollyana and recited the rest of the news relayed by Al.

Down around Fort Wayne the laws of the sovereign state of Indiana are getting a going over from our newest attorney Bernie Niemer—whom you put up, Charley.

Semi-legalese in a recent issue of Life: “We say semi-legalese because there is something pending about raling blondes off the track at Fort Wayne. Niemer reports he’s doing well at the subpoena- and-whereas business.

Dick McArdle has finally wised up and trundled off in double-harness, the event took place on Nov. 20 with the aid of a cabling off of Miss Dorothy Keenan of Fort Wayne—a most aiding and abetting town.

From right here at home in Detroit Bob Siegfried has chosen a Mrs. and will be married before you read these lines, Bob’s been putting plenty of zing into the insurance business around Tulsa.

As we already know of the merger of J. Paul Shandy we will discuss only his expanded gift, the increasing amount of forehead both fore and aft and the fact that he is progressing in no mean fashion. It is reliably reported that he was in New York to watch the boys through the Army game by a bright red hair.

Parker Sullivan, sure, you must remember Fries—is putting plenty of blue into the Bluegrass of Kentucky while working for the Lexington Telephone Co. Schwartz says Parker has been “getting promotions right and left” — but then, you know how they look for the boy who makes some sort of income tax racket for all we know.

Again we hear tell of N.D.’s Ambassador without portfolio, Vince Prebst. And again we can report a further expansion of market for Old Judge. It has now reached, as I make it, the area of about 18 states, we know we have covered five.

Most of this dope is relayed through Bob Bodie who is himself traveling representative of Bodie-Hoover Petroleum Co.

As we reported in our last scribbled Bill Foley is keeping Dodge fans out of the law’s toils as an assistant district attorney. Recent reports, however, state that Bill has found no time for romance but has devoted a lot of energy to K. of C. work — every man to his taste, we always say. Still, it doesn’t sound like a real Foley.

Schwartz says the wolves in the west, that is, Bill, he means Harry Marck and Tony Walsh, are keeping the finances of the Ed Garvey Co. in good hands. Someone also said that Bill worked as a house painter.

Again we hear tell of N.D.’s Ambassador without portfolio, Vince Prebst. And again we can report a further expansion of market for Old Judge. It has now reached, as I make it, the area of about 18 states, we know we have covered five.

As we reported in our last scribbled Bill Foley is keeping Dodge fans out of the law’s toils as an assistant district attorney. Recent reports, however, state that Bill has found no time for romance but has devoted a lot of energy to K. of C. work — every man to his taste, we always say. Still, it doesn’t sound like a real Foley.

Schwartz says the wolves in the west, that is, Bill, he means Harry Marck and Tony Walsh, are keeping the finances of the Ed Garvey Co. in good hands. Someone also said that Bill worked as a house painter.

Most of this dope is relayed through Bob Bodie who is himself traveling representative of Bodie-Hoover Petroleum Co.

As we reported in our last scribbled Bill Foley is keeping Dodge fans out of the law’s toils as an assistant district attorney. Recent reports, however, state that Bill has found no time for romance but has devoted a lot of energy to K. of C. work — every man to his taste, we always say. Still, it doesn’t sound like a real Foley.

Schwartz says the wolves in the west, that is, Bill, he means Harry Marck and Tony Walsh, are keeping the finances of the Ed Garvey Co. in good hands. Someone also said that Bill worked as a house painter.

As we reported in our last scribbled Bill Foley is keeping Dodge fans out of the law’s toils as an assistant district attorney. Recent reports, however, state that Bill has found no time for romance but has devoted a lot of energy to K. of C. work — every man to his taste, we always say. Still, it doesn’t sound like a real Foley.

Schwartz says the wolves in the west, that is, Bill, he means Harry Marck and Tony Walsh, are keeping the finances of the Ed Garvey Co. in good hands. Someone also said that Bill worked as a house painter.
returned from the West Indies where he vacationed after working hard out in Cleveland. Saturday night Chic Gallagher was telling this story: He said that Bob had to introduce himself to a majority of his classmates because they did not recognize him as he is rapidly losing his hair.

I found Hugh O'Donnell at the rally sitting at a table with people he did not know but having the time of his life. Hugh is still studying medicine at Columbia in New York. Also at the rally was a former radio announcer, Ben Rudesill (with the Retail Credit Company, I understand), Johnny Schmitz (now looking for a job after working at the World's Fair), Bill Nolan, Pete Mahoney, and Redline, Jerry Clifford (seen by Bill Coor), and several others whom I can't recall at this minute.

I also believe I saw Tom Quinlan (with a very handsome mustache) and Tom Hardart at a distance during the Rally but I am not sure.

Some other news picked up at the Rally — source forgotten — was: Gene Smith is studying medicine at Long Island University Medical School. John Clifford is manager of the Grant store in Buffalo. Jack Mahoney is working for the government in Akron. Ray Longstreth is married and living in the downtown, Zanesville, Ohio. Ed Greener works for the Germania firm, "Gas and Electric Co.", South Bend.

After the game an informal and small reunion was held around the Notre Dame bench until the Yankee Stadium guards chased us out. The reunion was attended by John Kelly, still working for the Prudential Insurance company in Maine, George S. Ladd, Ed Barlow (New York "Times" man) still Cliff Tallman, who is working for some company in Chester, Pa., that is making boilers for Navy destroyers, Chic Gallagher, who is teaching English at Shaker Heights (she says Joe has joined the Officers' Naval Reserve and has taken his cruise. He will study at the Reserve School at Northwestern), and one or two others.

After the game there was the usual reunion at the Rally. One of the first lists but a majority were right down on the first lists but a majority were forgotten — was: Gene Smith is studying medicine at Long Island University Medical School. John Clifford is manager of the Grant store in Buffalo. Jack Mahoney is working for the government in Akron. Ray Longstreth is married and living in the downtown, Zanesville, Ohio. Ed Greener works for the Germania firm, "Gas and Electric Co.", South Bend.

In going back over my notes and memories I realize that I also saw Ed Kavanagh in the Penn (Ed is working with Glenn L. Martin Company outside of Baltimore) and he said that he was going to join the Officers' Naval Reserve and has taken his cruise. He will study at the Reserve School at Northwestern), and one or two others.

That evening I saw — Bernard Wessel, of Mt. Carmel, Pa., now working for the Metropolitan Life Insurance company in Pittsburgh, Pa., that distinguishes himself. Castlaman, the old golfer from Louisville, who is still with his Southern charm, is now working in New York for the Aluminum Aircraft Company. Vic Vic Gaughn is at the college of Pennsylvania studying for a Ph.D. in history and literature. "Shorthy" Norris is who is working for the United Aircraft Company in Stratford, Conn. the Bend brothers, Tom and Jack. Jack is working in the Engineer's Department of the Cincinnati Gas and Electric Company, and Tom is working on the Franklin (Ohio) "Chronicle" and is the Franklin correspondent for three Cincinnati papers. Steve Bierich (with his wife — their cute baby stayed home), the assistant advertising manager of the Trenton (N. J.) "Times."

George Schlauderke was there with his bride, the former Miss Marian Sheehan. They were married October 2 in Erie, Pa., and George is now working for the National Electric Specialty Company in Wilmington, Del. I also saw and had a delightful chat with Casimer ("Ivan") Ivanovic, who has changed his last name to Vance-"Ivan" is now back in his hometown, Midland, Pa., working for the Mutual Life Insurance company in the invoice department. On July 3 his engagement to Miss Betty Suplina, of Brooklyn, was announced. The marriage is to take place sometime in December. Walt Monacelli was there and reported that he is doing graduate work in chemistry at N.D. Hopes to get his Ph.D. this year. Walt is also doing some teaching at school. I had quite a visit with Tom Shells — still selling classified advertising with the "Journa-led American" in New York — and he gave me the following information: Al Sherrod is studying medicine at St. Louis University. Tommy Atkinson is in the advertising business in Boston. Fred Williamson, the old bandman, during October made a lot of noise in the Young Republican Club. George Fitzpatrick is teaching school in Massachusetts and is on the list of the Officers' Naval Reserve. I heard it said that George was down for the game but I did not see him.

I also recall that John Glesish is still working in Taunton, Mass. John ducked out before the festivities were over and I did not get a chance to say goodbye to him. Sitting next to John was Pat Sullivan who is still long long on a land as a hospital orderly. Jim's girl friend said she knew Johnny Clifford, worked under him, and found him a swell boss. Also seen around the Penn were Jim Blunt, who is studying medicine at Boston University, and Ed Buckley. The notion of Buckley's name is World's Fair, but I have a vague remembrance in the back of my head that he came down from Boston with Jim. I'm probably wrong both ways.

Some of the information passed along that night — source forgotten — concerned: Ed Brangian, who is in his last year at the Albany Law School. Johnny O'Connor has passed the Indiana bar examination. Walt Duncan hit oil in Texas and cleaned up (now I remember, Castlaman told me that). Gus Cisler is at the Temple Dental School in Philadelphia. Tom Hickey who is studying medicine at the Penn. Charlie is the press agent for the New York Cardinals pro team and was trying to persuade any number of us to attend the game on Sunday afternoon. Charlie, I am glad to report, has not changed a bit. In the bar of the Commodore Hotel I saw Don Hickey's brother, Tom, and at the Pennsylvania I saw Don's mother and father. Don did not make the trip but Tom reports that he is riding high. During the Knute Rockne premiere in South Bend Don personally escorted several of the movie actresses around town in his new yellow open car. I also saw Tommy Flynn for a minute at the game. I missed them. Sunday morning at the 12:15 Mass at the Cathedral I saw Joe McDermott, now attending University of Baltimore. George Ross down from New York for the game, Hal Langton, ex. '37, now working in Baltimore. John Gormley, the deputy advertising manager, Pat Gorman, and Pat O'Brien, of the Hollywood O'Briens.

Chasney Rooney came up before the game and said that he intended to step over long enough for the game and was then heading west on his vacation. He planned to see the Iowa game. Chasney is now working for the duPont Rayon Company in Wayneboro, Va.

And, so help me, that covers my notes and my news of the Army and Navy games. I probably have forgotten some names and some names. To those who have, I remember their good intentions.

Oh yes, two other remarks about the New York week-end. First topic of conversation when meeting an old classmate was, "And what is your draft order number." Several of the boys were right down on the first lists but a majority were way back with me — 7762.

Aside from the two games I also managed to pick up the following information since the last issue.

In the "Religious Bulletin" of October 29 I noted that prayers were requested for the mother of Bill Horan, who died. While watching the "Knute Rockne—All American" picture I spied Joe Reilly sitting on the N.D. Bench for the scenes of the first Army-Notre Dame game. Joe is quite an actor. I locked up Russ Kelly, an old N.D. boy, recently. He is now working here as assistant manager of the N.D. Lumber Company. At a cocktail party several weeks ago, Frank Murphy, '36, told me that he is working for the Household Finance Company here. In the October 26 issue of the South Bend Bulletin I saw a picture of John, "The Son of St. John," in the caption under the picture, "is president of the St. Joseph county Christian Education union and assistant superintendent of the Grace Evangelical church school."

In a recent letter I was informed that Phil Shields is working in Bay City, Mich., as the manager of a store for the General Tire Company. Tom Hutchinson sent me a clipping from an Indianapolis paper stating that Miss Rita Carpenter, of Indianapolis, will be married to Richard Joseph Hennessy Nov. 21 in the Log Chapel. And in a recent issue of the "Scholastic" I noticed this ad, "Don's (Hickey) Hesta—The Mosta of the Massa." news. Let’s hope that the Chicago boys will come through with news for next month’s column on the Iowa and Northwestern games. That’s all.

Redman Duggan is in charge of the Alamosa, Colo., field office of the Bureau of Old-Age Insurance of the Social Security Board. Redman married a South Bend girl late in the summer.

Due recognition was given the gridiron feats of Andy Pupils in the sports sheet of the Chicago "Tribune." One writer noted that the red head has made him head coach, first of Crystal Lake, Ill., High School, and now of Provio High School, Maywood, Ill., the "Triub" said many nice things about him. The story parallels the high school, Notre Dame and coaching careers of Andy Pihly, head man at Chicago’s Weber High.

1939 Vincent DeCoursey, 205 Brush Creek, Kansas City, Missouri.

From Vince DeCoursey:

Now that a fellow alumnus has been elected President for the third term, the draft numbers have been drawn, and the war has narrowed down to feature stories on how one Brave British Bomber sank four submarines, two cruisers of the Deutschland class, and the entire right wing of the Bomber sink five submarines, two cruisers of the Deutschland class, and the entire right wing of the Bomber at the same time. Fricke’s letter from Altadena, Calif., but it was the description of the places visited, sights seen, etc., it must have been an eventful week-end.

The Notre Dame Alumnus (including address) would be appreciated.

Jack Dever, the Minneapolis flash, is still at large, but expecting Duluth's Kristian denies that Bob Martin, Frank’s old roommate, is still with the Fud du Lac “Commonwealth-Reporter.” Walt O’Meara is still at Wisconsin U. Lou Otmer is with the Ghef Mfg. Co., operating out of West Bend, Wisc., as a field representative, married, and doing well.

Surprise of the month came in an air-mail letter from Burbank, Calif., early in November. Bob Huthar, the engineering marvel, wanted some information on the art of washing dishes (I would never have believed it possible, but would be willing to work on a classy case of yellow jaundice, or close. Fictionally we're number 7603 and next to last in our district, have one dependent and am working on a class of yale jaundice, or worse if I can find a book giving details on what will and what will not exempt.

Draft brings back memories of the day after the great number game when, awakening with a slight hangover, eagerly in hand a paper to see where we were, and the Kansas City "Star" informed us in Column One, Paragraph Five, Lines 1 to 15 that “Around one o’clock, when number 1,807 (I think) was drawn, a merry voice from the gallery shouted "Bingo." The lucky drawee was Pat Gorman, a student at Georgetown who, however, will have little to fear for at least a year or whenever his student exemption expires.” And so on in gory detail. But Pat Gorme came through all right. He is one of those齿 who are photographed of course, giving details on how it feels, statements, etc. (including address) would be appreciated.

Among other things, last month we asked for a verification of a rumor we had heard about Julie Kristian. And from 129 Williams St., Wallingford, Conn., came a prompt reply. "Just to let you know that certain rumors you have heard about me are true. I’m still preparing to make an ungraced alarm for the rally and game from the Harvard Business School. Let’s hope that the Chicago boys will come through with news for next month’s column on the Iowa and Northwestern games. That’s all.

Frank Parks, demon reader of Distributive Justice papers that you have heard just as correct. I am married, date of ceremony August 31, 1940. I’m still preparing to make an unstate appearance into the cold, practical world as a teacher. I’m a second-year graduate student in the Department of English, a far cry from those rose, idealistic dreams of an English major.” That ought to settle pretty definitely the alarm sounded by Bill Donnelly, whose letter comes later.

Just too late for the last issue came Carl Frick’s letter from Altadena, Calif., but it was heartily welcomed juts the same. Carl is still with the same outfit, our paper having hard times. The big religious ceremony in Los Angeles (in mid-October) was attended by Father Hugh O’Donnell, and Carl says that he heard him at the Ambassador and then at a Notre Dame luncheon Monday morning. I am a lucky St. Mary’s girl’s made the trip out to the celebration and the luckiest was escorted about the city by Carl. From the description of the places visited, sights seen, etc., it must have been an eventful week-end.

Frank Parks, demon reader of Distributive Justice papers that you have heard just as correct. I am married, date of ceremony August 31, 1940. I’m still preparing to make an unstate appearance into the cold, practical world as a teacher. I’m a second-year graduate student in the Department of English, a far cry from those rose, idealistic dreams of an English major.” That ought to settle pretty definitely the alarm sounded by Bill Donnelly, whose letter comes later.

‘To get to news, roommate Andrew Wilson finished yet, and a little free time over the week-end was. Of the ‘never count the underdog out’ series. Bill provides quite a bit of information, if four single spaced typed pages can be called a little bit. But

The University of Chicago has quite a few of the boys corralled for the term, and a few of them we reported in attendance last month have been confirmed as head coach, first of Crystal Lake, Ill., and now of Proviso High School, and now of Proviso High School, Maywood, Ill.; and Carl says that he heard him at the Ambassador and then at a Notre Dame luncheon Monday morning. I am a lucky St. Mary’s girl’s made the trip out to the celebration and the luckiest was escorted about the city by Carl. From the description of the places visited, sights seen, etc., it must have been an eventful week-end.

Frank Parks, demon reader of Distributive Justice papers that you have heard just as correct. I am married, date of ceremony August 31, 1940. I’m still preparing to make an unstate appearance into the cold, practical world as a teacher. I’m a second-year graduate student in the Department of English, a far cry from those rose, idealistic dreams of an English major.” That ought to settle pretty definitely the alarm sounded by Bill Donnelly, whose letter comes later.
Mrs. J. P. Sallivan, Jr. Julie represented Notre Dame, her charming sister. The newlyweds, Mr. and Mrs. P. Sallivan, had fun with native Geoere Mulligan—all worn out from a vigorous week of promoting the Rally.

They spent the evening in, of all places, Brooklyn. We had a delicious fried chicken dinner at Tonsmeire's—we didn't mind Denny Dineen?

Manhattan while Schmid found a parking lot.

For the Met Club; little Luke McGinnis with his classmate Sullivan ran into who. The top story of "the week-end was the ex—

Framed at the North, I saved many a whistle, for we never saw a red light. Only the Kansas and Connecticut license plates were out of the way, working for the Worthington Pump Corporation. Here in the Grad. House dining room. I haven't passed a chance to look up the fellows living in and around Boston as yet, nor have I been able to get in touch with the N.D. men at Harvard. Dick Witte (E.E.) has joined the Air Guard and is doing well, having been in Boston, Md. Wall Rante, ex '40, and heavyweight champ that year, is playing tackle for Penn. Ted Williams, ex '40, is a backfield star for Boston College. I hope we see some of them next time.

Incidentally, we're all "hashing" for our meals here in the Grad. House dining room. I haven't had a chance to look up the fellows living in and around Boston as yet, nor have I been able to get in touch with the N.D. men at Harvard. Dick Witte (E.E.) has joined the Air Guard and is doing well. an aeronautical degree. Jim Kelly (M.E.) has left Republic Steel in Ohio to accept an engineering position in Baltimore. Md. John Else (E.E.) was seen at the Army game, playing hockey from Detroit. Bob Chamberlain and John Drungold were also there and having a mighty good time.

Don Fossett (A.B.) is a supervisor and physical instructor in a boys' home in Yonkers, N. Y. He claims to be working for his father in the S. J. Bend. "Just received the Alumnus. No doubt by Pat Gorman explains his absence from South Bend: "The circle marks my new home and the large circle around one of the buildings. It was an important position that he can take time off with a 40-hour week. Art Lancaster was "running around with Doc Corran and explained that he was working for the N.Y. & Porto Rico Lines soliciting business man, writes the following letter on Chicago Y.M.C.A. stationery and mails it in a Notre Dame official envelope. Bob writes: "Should have written sooner, but they have been kind of rushing me. After leaving N.D. this June I started with the Household Finance Corp. in Chicago and have recently been transferred to the Flint office (my hometown) where I am learning how to fly at the local airport in the Civilians Pilot Training Course sponsored by the government."

"My roommate last year, Jim Daney, is taking law at the University of Michigan. Chuck Fieters of Mishawaka is with the National Discount Co. in Pontiac, Mich., and will be married next week."

This was mailed Nov. 7, so by this time we have another married man added to the married group of the class of '40. Congratulations, Chuck! If you're happy, we're also happy, and we're asking you to keep it up. We need news like that. Bob Sweeny also gives his address as 100 'B' St., Flint, Mich. Well done. Bob. Hope to hear from you again soon.

Received a card from Washington with a very large circle around one of the buildings. It was an answer to one of my questions in the last issue. Pat Gorman explains his absence from South Bend: "Just received the Alumnus." No doubt by this time you know that I am at Georgetown Law School. The circle marks my new home and the rear view, the looking from one end of Constitution Ave. to the other. I also see Al Swanser every night at school. My address is 100 'B' St., N.E., Washington, D. C. If any of you fellows want to see where Pat is living, drop him a card and he will be glad to let you see him. He lives at 408 E. First St., Flint, Mich. Well done. Bob. Hope to hear from you again soon.

The three boys who once lived together, Jerry, John, and Jim Donoghue have parted. Jerry is on the South Side, John on the North, and Jim either on the West Side or in New York. Jerry Webster, Neal Gleason, Ted Broach, and Dick O'Melia were wandering around the lobby, but didn't have much to say. Miss Morris was up from Oklahoma, and says that the only reason he was able to make the game was because of the 40-hour week. Art Lancaster was "running around with Doc Carran and explained that he was working for the N.Y. & Porto Rico Lines soliciting ocean freight."

Bud Roberts was out of bed at eight o'clock Saturday morning claiming that it was late. He had been up since five that morning. I ate breakfast with him, but was still half asleep. "Truck" Crain explained that he was working for the same company as Bud, but in different cities. Bud has a position and "Truck" has a job. Saw Gavan in the Oliver again. Joe Malqueen was sitting behind a table in the lobby passing out folders of some kind, but I never was able to find out just what they were. Met Mrs. Becker after the game, and, of course, Miss Gavan was sitting at the table with George and Dorothy. Hank Engel was at the same table. Joe Gerwe was also there with Tom Hammond, and they both promised to write soon. Mark Grusenfelder was sitting around and the other guy was able to make it was because of Roosevelt and the 40-hour week. Art Lancaster was "running around with Doc Carran and explained that he was working for the N.Y. & Porto Rico Lines soliciting ocean freight."

Bud Roberts was out of bed at eight o'clock Saturday morning claiming that it was late. He had been up since five that morning. I ate breakfast with him, but was still half asleep. "Truck" Crain explained that he was working for the same company as Bud, but in different cities. Bud has a position and "Truck" has a job. Saw Gavan in the Oliver again. Joe Malqueen was sitting behind a table in the lobby passing out folders of some kind, but I never was able to find out just what they were. Met Mrs. Becker after the game, and, of course, Miss Gavan was sitting at the table with George and Dorothy. Hank Engel was at the same table. Joe Gerwe was also there with Tom Hammond, and they both promised to write soon. Mark Grusenfelder was sitting around and the other guy was able to make it was because of Roosevelt and the 40-hour week.
The University of Notre Dame du Lac
Notre Dame, Indiana, U. S. A.

Colleges and Departments

COLLEGE OF ARTS AND LETTERS
Department of Religion
Department of Philosophy Department of English Department of Classics
Department of Modern Language
Department of History
Department of Economics Department of Politics

Department of Religion
Department of Sociology Department of Social Work
Department of Education Department of Physical Education Department of Art Department of Music Department of Speech
Department of Journalism

COLLEGE OF SCIENCE
Department of Biology Department of Chemistry
Department of Mathematics

(Special programs for pre-medical and for pre-dental students)

Department of Physics
Department of Mathematics

COLLEGE OF ENGINEERING
Department of Civil Engineering
Department of Mechanical Engineering Department of Electrical Engineering Department of Architecture

Department of Mining Engineering Department of Chemical Engineering
Department of Metallurgy
Department of Aeronautical Engineering Department of Engineering Drawing

COLLEGE OF LAW

COLLEGE OF COMMERCE
Department of Finance
Department of Business Administration

Department of Foreign Commerce Department of Accounting

GRADUATE SCHOOL
Philosophy History Politics

Education Chemistry Mathematics

English Economics
Sociology
Social Work

Biology Physics
Mathematics

ENTRANCE REQUIREMENTS
Notre Dame

GROUP I—Nine Required (Ten in Science and Engineering)

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>Units</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>English (all Colleges)</td>
<td>3 or 4 units</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>History (all Colleges)</td>
<td>1 unit</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Algebra (all Colleges)</td>
<td>2 or 3 units</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Geometry (all Colleges)</td>
<td>1 unit</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Science (Eng. and Sci. - Physics required)</td>
<td>1 unit</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Language (all Colleges)</td>
<td>2 units</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Science (except for pre-medical course) and Engineering require 1/2 unit each of Int. or Adv. Algebra, and Solid Geometry.

GROUP II

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>Units</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>English, 4th year</td>
<td>1 unit</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Latin</td>
<td>2 to 4 units</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Greek</td>
<td>2 or 3 units</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>French</td>
<td>2 to 4 units</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>German</td>
<td>2 or 4 units</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Spanish</td>
<td>2 to 4 units</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>History</td>
<td>2 units</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Algebra (Int. or Adv.)</td>
<td>1/2 unit</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Solid Geometry</td>
<td>1/2 unit</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Trigonometry</td>
<td>1/2 unit</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Physiography</td>
<td>1/2 unit</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Physiology</td>
<td>1/2 unit</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Astronomy</td>
<td>1/2 unit</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Botany</td>
<td>1/2 unit</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Zoology</td>
<td>1/2 unit</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Chemistry</td>
<td>1 unit</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Physics</td>
<td>1 unit</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

GROUP III—(Not more than Three counted)

Electives—Any subjects which High School accredits.

MINIMUM TOTAL REQUIRED          15 units

Note to Alumni

Please urge early registration, preferably first semester of the senior high school year or earlier, for relatives or friends. Three advantages accrue:

1. The applicant is sure of coming within the quota of the College of the University he chooses, if accepted.

2. The applicant is sure of securing a room on the campus, if accepted.

3. The applicant learns upon application of any deficiencies in entrance requirements, before completing high school.

Action on the above suggestions will prevent many of the disappointments to alumni and friends which occurred this year in conjunction with a capacity enrollment well ahead of the opening of school.