WELCOME YALE (With Reservations)

About five years ago, we made a prediction in the Notre Dame Religious Bulletin. Within ten years, we said, any student would feel cheated if he had not religious training and instruction in college.

Today, only five years later, Yale, through its special Committee on Religion, confirms that statement.

The Yale committee's report, front-paged in the New York Times, Sunday, August 5, admits that religion is so important an aspect of human life that no university is doing its duty toward young men which does not offer them the best obtainable instruction in the field.

The committee, appointed by Yale's president, insists on a special department of, and emphasis on, religion saying, "If Yale is looking for a venture which will be acclaimed for its leadership and vision in the country and in the world, we believe this is the venture.

... (Yale) must, therefore, believe that such a study of prayer, faith and deeds will be no less profitable than the same sort of study in economics and agriculture."

The report asks alumni to raise money for this worthy and necessary venture of leadership!—and Yale's endowment is already $113,923,350.

(We say welcome with reservations because the religion the committee advocates is an eclectic system of Christianity, Judaism, Hinduism, Moslemism and Confucianism. Confusion, yes, but it is at least a recognition of religion's importance and an attempt to teach it.)

WELCOME HARVARD, TOO

About a year ago, John Dewey and Alexander Meiklejohn engaged in a discussion on education in Fortune magazine. In it, Mr. Dewey states, "We are uncertain as to where we are going, or where we want to go and why we are doing what we do." (sic)

How would you like to be in a Flying Fortress with a pilot who was uncertain where he was going, where he wanted to go or why he was flying?

Yet Mr. Dewey has been the pilot of American education for almost half a century through Columbia University Teachers College.

As pilot, he threw not only God and the soul completely out of his calculations and principles, but also the classical tradition.

Both Harvard and Yale as part of the revolt have publicly announced the rejection of the elective system and a return to the more classical and traditional program of prescribed courses with a minimum of electives.

Catholic education long ago opposed the elective system and was accused, therefore, of being unscientific and outmoded.

Notre Dame and all Catholic schools have had Christ and the classical tradition for their guide. They haven't had to spend thousands to find out where to go and how.

ATOMIC BOMB

Yale is now going to bring God and the soul back into education.

That declaration and admission of Yale is more important for civilization than the atomic bomb—because without religion and moral control of the atomic bomb, the end of civilization is in sight.

Life's editorial of August 20 stresses this: "Our sole safeguard against the very real danger of a reversion to barbarism is the kind of morality which compels the individual conscience, be the group right or wrong. The individual conscience against the atomic bomb? Yes, there is no other way."

WHERE'S "THE BRAVE NEW WORLD"?

They've made a mess of things so far since they broke away from and denied God, Christ and His teachings and the soul—and started out in their arrogant agnosticism and self-sufficiency to construct "a brave new world" in H. G. Wells' phraseology.

It isn't brave any more, it's scared, very scared: It isn't new, either. It's old and very weary!

It's going back to the old world, the old pagan Rome of power, cruelty, slavery, licentiousness, immorality, women as chattels, easy divorce.

Life's editorial calls a spade a spade and admits that man has reason to be afraid. It also asserts that when this bomb was introduced, human slavery was just being reintroduced into Europe, with specific American consent, "in approving forced German labor for Russians without pay."

Life isn't the only one scared. Witness the declaration of the Sixth Annual Conference of scholars on Science, Philosophy and Religion. It was before this group that Einstein presented a paper a few years ago denying the existence of God and asserting belief in Him hampered science and progress "of a brave new world"; typical of the attitude of too many philosophers, scientists and educators.

THEY ASKED FOR IT!

Agnostic and atheistic educators, philosophers and scientists wandered away in the past from God, Christ and religion and nullified religious effect. Now they bemoan religion's little influence and they're scared, and complain; in their declaration:

"There is no culture in the present world which is adequately adapted toward the establishment of world peace. The effort of Jewish and Christian religious teachers to transform culture into such a force has been only partially successful. From the point of view of these faiths, much of western life remains 'pagan' [sic!—Ed] to this day: in the sense that it is still directed toward power over other men and places its trust in power, rather than in justice, faith and charity."

Where will they get guidance (for their conscience) in "justice, faith and charity" except from Christ?

They are grasping for the truth and fact Christ gave them by His love and death for man—The Mystical Body of Christ.

JOBS FOR NOTRE DAME SERVICE MEN

Last month's ALUMNUS announced plans by several clubs to assist returning veterans. Heart-warming, it was, yet this is not only charity; it is not only the famous Notre Dame spirit: it is simple justice that we should aid these men who have suffered and fought for us.
Science and the Public Welfare

REV. J. HUGH O'DONNELL, C.S.C., '16
President of the University

World War II has had the effect of intensifying and accelerating research to an unprecedented degree as thousands of scientists in the universities and in private industry combined their talents and turned them to a wide variety of projects that would hasten the day of victory. It was apparent from the very beginning, however, that much of the work they were doing in their laboratories in order to give the United States the best equipped and best cared-for fighting men the world has ever known should have much more than a wartime utility. For example, nutritional studies, discoveries in medicine, disease control, and new surgical techniques, as well as a large number of amazing mechanical developments, from radar to the splitting of the atom, could be turned to excellent account in a peacetime economy.

Anticipating Postwar Problems

Realizing this possibility, and anticipating the vast problems that the postwar would bring, the late President Roosevelt wrote to Dr. Vannevar Bush, director of the Office of Scientific Research and Development, last November 17, six months before V-E Day and nine months before the final victory over Japan, suggesting that "The information, the techniques, and the research experience developed by the Office of Scientific Research and Development should be used in the days of peace ahead for the improvement of the national health, the creation of new enterprises bringing new jobs, and the betterment of the national standard of living." Specifically, the President asked Dr. Bush for his recommendations on four major points:

Four Major Points

"First: What can be done, consistent with military security, and with the prior approval of the military authorities, to make known to the world as soon as possible the contributions which have been made during our war effort to scientific knowledge?"

"The diffusion of such knowledge should help us stimulate new enterprises, provide jobs for our returning servicemen and other workers, and make possible great strides for the improvement of the national well-being."

"Second: With particular reference to the war of science against disease, what can be done now to organize a program for continuing in the future the work which has been done in medicine and related sciences?"

"The fact that the annual deaths in this country from one or two diseases alone are far in excess of the total number of lives lost by us in battle during this war should make us conscious of the duty we owe future generations."

"Third: What can the government do now and in the future to aid research activities by public and private organizations? The proper roles of public and private research, and their interrelation, should be carefully considered."

"Fourth: Can an effective program be proposed for discovering and developing scientific talent in American youth so that the continuing future of scientific research in this country may be assured on a level comparable to what has been done during the war?

President Roosevelt's letter was provocative. Dr. Bush turned to his associates and others for advice on the preparation of a reply. After some discussion, it was decided to create four special committees, properly equipped to bring in a variety of opinion, to devote their attention to the questions raised.

Dr. Bowman is Chairman

Dr. Isaiah Bowman, president of John Hopkins University, was asked to be chairman of a Committee on Science and the Public Welfare to consider President Roosevelt's third question. The sixteen members of the Bowman Committee included representatives of government, industry, and higher education. After analysis of the task at hand, they determined upon an agenda that included such topics as what the government can do to assist research in universities and non-profit research organizations; how the government can assist scientific research conducted by the government itself, and how the government can assist research in industry. The Committee also gave thought to proposals for modifications in the tax structure that would stimulate industrial research, and also to the determination of a policy that would encourage greater international interchange of scientific knowledge and engineering art after the war. Smaller groups within the Committee considered each of these subjects, and the analysis they undertook were combined into the final report.

 The President of the University is deeply grateful to Fr. Philip Moore, dean of the Graduate School, for his gracious helpfulness during the course of the committee's deliberations.

Federal Government-Private Research

One of the three full meetings held by the Committee was devoted to the concept of the Federal Government in relation to private research. In this subject the university presidents and other representatives of educational institutions had a vital interest, in view of their natural—and, historically, by no means groundless—apprehension that federal subsidy can be a serious threat to the academic independence which higher education has always guarded so jealously.

Some recent experiences were fresh in their minds. About three years ago, for example, the Federal Government, faced with 'grave problems of war finance, and in need of additional revenue and sources of revenue, seemed willing to entertain a proposal to set limits on those deductions on estate taxes that now permit gifts for educational purposes. Had the suggestion been adopted, investment portfolios of every privately-owned college and university in the country would have suffered so severely as to make it necessary to seek other means of financing their operations. What those methods would have been, university presidents—the writer among them—were unable to say, but the threat of federal subsidy and all that it implies loomed large upon the horizon.

That measure came to naught, but not too long afterward a federal-aid bill appeared in both houses of Congress. If enacted, it would have provided $300,000,000 to be distributed among the states as aditional support for public primary and secondary schools, to help "keep competent teachers in the schools" at a time when the average annual salary of teachers in the United States was $600 below the average annual wage of factory workers. Although that state of affairs was deplorable and demanded a remedy, many educators felt that the suggested cure was at least as bad as the disease, since it could hardly escape bringing with it a federal bureaucracy of a nature and scope that should alarm the public, including the very teachers who would presumably be the beneficiaries of federal aid.

I mention these instances and the reaction to them because they indicate a traditional wary attitude toward the encroachment of any agency, governmental or otherwise, upon the autonomy and integrity of institutions of learning. At the same time, however, it must be said that within the past five years or so—that is, during the period of national emergency and throughout the war itself—many colleges and universities found themselves working in complete harmony with a number of governmental departments and bureaus, to their common advantage, and with never a hint of dictation. To illustrate, I need go no further than the University of Notre Dame. Our Naval R.O.T.C. unit was established before the war, and will continue after it. We also have had on the campus for four years a Naval Reserve Midshipmen School and a complement of V-12 students. In addition, we have had in our laboratories a number of research projects especially assigned to us by the government. Our experience has been uniformly satisfactory and pleasant. At no time has there been any tendency to interfere with the character and primary purposes of the University. On the contrary, we have always found in our governmental associates an intelligent and sympathetic approach to any university problem that touched upon their specialized activities.

Realized Value of Research

The Bowman Committee realized the value of research in university and non-profit organization laboratories, much of which is known as "pure" research. It knew, in other words, that it is not always possible to visit a laboratory and say that one man will discover this, and that another will develop that. But it is possible to say that scientists in such laboratories have in them the power and the promise to justify being allowed to work in freedom so that the nation will not be deprived of the certain benefits which result from their work, whatever it may be.

But freedom here means more than the absence of academic or other interference. It is positive rather than negative in that it implies active encouragement, and not a mere laissez-faire policy. And it certainly includes having at one's disposal enough financial backing to pursue promising lines of inquiry. I am reminded that Father Julius A. Nieuwland, C.S.C., discovered the components of synthetic rubber as early as 1906. Not until fourteen years later did he successfully form an oil with these components from which rubber itself could be synthesized. Meanwhile, he was sometimes obliged to finance his own experimentation by making and selling botanical slides. Dr. Albert A. Zahm was similarly handicapped. His advanced work in aeronautics during the 1880's—cut short because insufficient funds did not permit the purchase of the equipment needed—remained theoretical for years and then was developed by the experiments of others.

Nieuwland and Zahm

How much less than fourteen years would it have taken Father Nieuwland to bridge the gap between his original formulæ and his workable components if he had been supplied with adequate materials? What other discoveries might he have made in the time saved? Had Zahm's experimentatıon been unrestricted so that he could have demonstrated his theories immediately, how far might aviation have advanced unretarded because of the experiments of this imaginative scientist? Eventually, of course, Nieuwland and Zahm succeeded despite handicaps. But the nation lost those incalculable benefits which might have come from the time, energy, courage, and genius that they were obliged to expend in surmounting difficulties they found before them.

These are two instances—two of many that might be cited—of benefits deferred. No one will ever know how many there may have been of benefits perhaps lost forever because of lack of support to the right person at the right time. It was to help prevent such losses in the future that the Committee on Science and Public Welfare gave serious consideration to the role that the Federal Government can play in private research.

And it is none too soon for such stock-taking. We have been an ingenious and inventive people, it is true; but, in the words of the Committee report: "Our national pre-eminence in the fields of applied research and technology should not blind us to the truth that, with respect to pure research—the discovery of fundamental new knowledge and basic scientific principles—America has occupied a secondary place. Our spectacular development of the automobile, the air-

Twenty-three local Notre Dame clubs had, up to Oct. 1, appointed vocational chairmen to assist returning Notre Dame war veterans, and other Notre Dame men, in their employment problems. All such men are invited to communicate with one of the following:

NEW YORK CITY: John T. Baile, '20, 60 E. 42nd St.
CHICAGO: Edward F. O'Toole, '25, 10 S. LaSalle St., Room 607, (Miss Jane Cahill in charge of club's permanent office at this address.)
CLEVELAND: Clayton G. Leroux, '27, Assistant Personnel Director, Monarch Aluminum Manufacturing Co., 9301 Detroit Ave.
BUFFALO: Joseph F. Ryan, '39, 50 Fron­ tenac Ave.
MILWAUKEE: Edward J. Rogers, '17, President, Loyea-Northwest Co., 709 N. 11th Street.
RHODE ISLAND & SOUTHEASTERN MASSACHUSETTS: I. Clement Grimes, 384 River Ave., Providence, R. I.
ST. JOSEPH VALLEY, IND.: Judge J. Elmer Peak, '12, Court House, South Bend.
ST. LOUIS: Robert T. Hellrung, '30, Manager, St. Louis Medical Credit Bureau, Humboldt Medical Bldg., 306 N. Grand Blvd.
OKLAHOMA: Robert M. Siegfried, '37, 305 National Bank of Tulsa Bldg., Tulsa.

The Alumni Office at Notre Dame, through William R. Dooley, assistant alumni secretary, is coordinating the efforts of all these chairmen by supplying identical application forms to each chairman and by an exchange of information, job openings and job applications. Bill Dooley will also attempt to assist vocationally those alumni who do not reside within one of the club areas above.

BURNS SCHOLARSHIPS ESTABLISHED

Rev. James A. Burns, C.S.C., '88, president of the University from 1919 to 1922, former provincial of the Congregation of Holy Cross, and one of America's greatest Catholic educators, will be commemorated by scholarships established in his name by Rev. Hugh O'Donnell, C.S.C., '16, president of the University.

The new scholarships, effective in the November semester, were approved by the Alumni Board, and the funds will be allocated from the Second Annual Alumni Fund. Alumni, many educators, and other friends of Notre Dame, who remember Father Burns and his great interest in providing 'Catholic education for deserving boys of limited means, readily recognize the significance of the new scholarships. And necessary increases in the cost of education at Notre Dame have, of course, increased the need for such aid.

Five residential-tuition scholarships and 10 tuitional scholarships will be awarded for the semester which starts Nov. 1. They are exclusively for entering freshman students, high-school graduates of superior scholastic ability who have a real need of financial assistance.

The five residential scholarships bring $500 per term; the tuitional scholarships are in the amount of $200. The tenure is for two terms, the full freshman year.

The University committee on scholarships will make its selections of candidates on the basis of validated records of scholastic achievement in high school and the candidate's evident financial need. Applications have been solicited throughout the country, and were to have been filed before Sept. 24.

These annual memorial awards to deserving students are not made from endowment, it will be noted, but from the current annual support of alumni, who should feel a particular satisfaction in the dual merits of the Father Burns scholarships—meeting a present critical need for student aid, and commemorating one of Notre Dame's great alumni and administrators.

Army Service Forces
Office of the Commanding General
Washington, D.C.
September 12, 1945

Rev. J. Hugh O'Donnell, President
University of Notre Dame du Lac
South Bend, Indiana

My dear Father O'Donnell:

Your institution has played a very important part in producing the material which has been such a decisive factor in winning the war. You and your associates must have a deep sense of satisfaction as you look back upon your accomplishments for your country.

Now that the war is won, I want to express to you the gratitude and appreciation of the Army Service Forces for the magnificent achievements of your organization.

The energy, initiative, and efficiency which you and your colleagues have demonstrated in the war effort give me complete confidence that the problems of peace will be met with the same effectiveness as those of war and will be as swiftly and as successfully solved.

With all good wishes for the future, I remain

Very sincerely yours

Horan Somervell
General, Commanding
Notre Dame Dead in World War II
(to October 1, 1945)

Supreme among the contributions of Notre Dame men to World War II is the contribution of those who gave the most they had to give—their lives. It is on that account that the Alumnus, in its first issue after the war’s ending, gives major emphasis to this listing of 277 men who once walked under the Dome.

May their souls and the souls of all the faithful departed through the mercy of God rest in peace. Amen.

Te Martyrum Candidatus

Ah, see the fair chivalry come, the companions of Christ! White Horsemen, who ride on white horses, the Knights of God! They, for their Lord and their Lover who sacrificed All, save the sweetness of treading where He first trod! These through the darkness of death, the dominion of night, Swept, and they woke in white places at morning tide: They saw with their eyes, and sang for joy of the sight. They saw with their eyes the Eyes of the Crucified.

Now, whithersoever He goeth, with Him they go: White Horsemen, who ride on white horses, oh fair to see! They ride, where the Rivers of Paradise flash and flow, White Horsemen, with Christ their Captain: for ever He! Lionel Johnson

Notre Dame and the Atom Bomb

With the return to the faculty of Dr. Bernard Waldman, Notre Dame physicist who was released for special government research and who was one of the scientists who flew over Hiroshima to study the effects of the atomic bomb, attention is again focused on Notre Dame's part in this world phenomenon. Rev. Hugh O'Donnell, C.S.C., president of the University, at the recent quarterly meeting of the Alumni Board, stressed the hope of the University for peace time development of the principle rather than its devastating use as a weapon of war. His article on science in this issue represents Notre Dame's aims.

Concerning the atomic bomb and Notre Dame's part in it, the following text was released by the University publicity department:

"The world of tomorrow can look forward to limitless peacetime possibilities of atomic energy such as is used in the new devastating atomic bomb which has just been unloosed upon Japan, according to Rev. Philip S. Moore, C.S.C., dean of the graduate school of the University of Notre Dame, in commenting upon the University's contribution in the atomic research that has led to the development of the bomb.

"The United States government has clamped a lid of secrecy upon the Notre Dame activities in connection with the atomic research, but Father Moore said that while the University's facilities were not used in the development of the atomic bomb itself, our research facilities played an important part in the unlocking of the riddle of the atom.

"Three other Notre Dame men, in addition to Father Moore, have been highly instrumental in the atomic research program at the university. They are: Rev. Henry Bolger, C.S.C., head of the Department of Physics at Notre Dame; Dr. Marcellus Wiedenbeck, who completed his graduate work at Notre Dame; and Dr. Bernard Waldman.

"Although Father Moore and his associates are not permitted to disclose the methods which they used in their contribution to the atomic project, on which thousands of scientists all over the country have been working at a cost of more than $2,000,000,000, it is a fact that before the war Notre Dame was completing the construction of a mammoth electrostatic generator capable of bombarding atoms with 8,000,000 volts of electricity.

"In pointing out tremendous postwar applications to atomic energy, Doctor Wiedenbeck revealed that if the atomic energy stored in a thimble full of water should be converted into energy, the resulting power could run a 20-horsepower engine, or a small automobile, for the next 2,000 years. Moreover, he revealed, less than a quart of water conceivably would be the only fuel needed to power a giant ocean liner—the Queen Mary, for instance—on a voyage around the world.

"In the field of power alone, emphasized Dr. Wiedenbeck, the release of energy from atoms is so far-reaching that it simply staggers the imagination. Power would be practically without value; a new social and economic order would have to be constructed. But power would be only one of the postwar applications. It would seem that a vast quantity of new radio-active substances will be made available for the treatment of such malignant diseases as cancer. Such substances would enormously increase our limited supplies of radium and would be far cheaper.

"One of the most important parts of developing atomic energy, Father Moore stated, was the development of the knowledge of how to control the process. Without control, he said, production of atomic energy would be useless. 'And it is only natural that Notre Dame should be interested in atomic research. As a center of scientific research, the university became interested in this problem and installed unique facilities. After the war started, it continued its research.'

"The University of Notre Dame, then, played an important part in the research leading to the development of the atomic bomb. But scientists at the University are going even further; they are continuing their research in the energy-development and controls toward a better peacetime era."

BISHOP CROWLEY DIES

A press-time bulletin brings news of the death on Oct. 2, of Most Rev. Timothy J. Crowley, C.S.C., D.D., '02, for many years Bishop of Dacca, in the province of Bengal, India. Bishop Crowley was born in 1880, and was consecrated Bishop of Dacca in May of 1927.

UNIVERSAL N.D. COMMUNION
SUNDAY SET FOR DECEMBER 9

Universal Notre Dame Communion Sunday, when all Local Clubs should plan simultaneous Club Masses and Communion Breakfasts, will, as previously announced by the Board of Directors of the Association, be observed on December 9. Its conjunction with the Feast of the Immaculate Conception is, as you recall, not coincidence, but filled with significance for Notre Dame men, particularly in the United States where Our Lady's patronage has brought so many favors.

This 1945 Sunday marks the first universal opportunity to give thanks to God and Our Lady for the end of the war, to ask her intercession for the 777 Notre Dame men who lost their lives in this war in the armed forces under her patronage, and to ask God and His Blessed Mother to bless and preserve the hard won peace.

With conditions of meeting much more favorable, and with the return of many Club members from the armed forces, the Alumni Board looks forward in 1945 to a more universal observance of the Communion Sunday, instituted in 1938 by the Notre Dame club of New York.

With priests of the Congregation of Holy Cross stationed throughout the United States, and with travel conditions relaxed somewhat, this 1945 Sunday should find most of the Masses and Communion Breakfasts attended by a familiar priest from the campus. The Alumni Office will of course assist in such arrangements whenever a Club so wishes.

The great spiritual significance of Notre Dame should be the highlight of these annual Communion Sundays, in theme and publicity. This leaves Universal Notre Dame Night, in its annual April observance, to stress the academic and the cultural phases of the University.

NEW SEMESTER NOV. 5

Enrollment for the new semester, starting Nov. 5, is heavier than anticipated, with 800 pre-registered, 929 Navy students promised in the R.O.T.C. and V-12, and a new-and-return enrollment of approximately 700. The Midshipmen's School will graduate its final class on Nov. 2, having trained more than 10,000 men. Its co-educational period began in October, 1942, on the Notre Dame campus. Residence facilities, except Carroll, are nearly filled. The University does not plan to open Carroll for the semester.
Report to the Alumni Association

By REV. J. HUGH O’DONNELL, C.S.C.
President of the University

It is a source of satisfaction to the president of any university to observe the continuing vital interest of alumni in the welfare of their Alma Mater. When that interest takes the substantial form of participation in the Annual Alumni Fund to the extent of $111,405.56, the satisfaction is deep indeed. This generous sum in a critical period will not only safeguard the advances that Notre Dame has made recently, but it will also help to smooth the way during the difficult time of reconversion which we are now beginning.

In accordance with its understanding with the officers of the Alumni Association, the administration has allocated the fund to definite undertakings which in its judgment will enhance the academic prestige of the University, as shown in the following statement:

Operation of the Alumni Association:

All alumni have taken pride in the administration of the Association under its executive secretary, James E. Armstrong, and his assistant, William R. Dooley. It should be noted that the operating cost of $85,589.31 is for 17 months—the unusual period having been caused by a change in the fiscal year.

Aside from rendering assistance to individual alumni as well as to local clubs, and advancing the program adopted by the directors more than a year ago, the Association has been of great help to the University itself through student promotion and its fostering of good public relations. An enterprise as vital deserves strong financial support.

The staff in the Alumni Office was necessarily increased in order to keep abreast of additional work caused by the University’s wartime regime. The Office has been exceedingly valuable to the president in maintaining contact with alumni and students in service through questionnaires, letters, and other media.

The books of the Association are audited annually in accordance with the best business practice.

The Graduate School:

You have heard me stress repeatedly the necessity of strengthening the Graduate Division because of what it means to Notre Dame’s academic prestige. During the war this division was affected, as were other graduate schools throughout the country. Money provided by the Alumni, Association—$12,000 from the Centenary Fund and $9,000 from the current one—has aided materially in the purchase of research equipment and the publication of studies of vital importance to the division.

The Library Fund

I need say nothing about the importance of the University Library and the departmental libraries except to repeat that no library is complete so long as there is progress. Were it not for the generosity of alumni, the handicaps imposed by the war years would have been much more difficult to overcome. I consider the allocation of $20,000 to the libraries one of the best investments that the University can make.

Emergency Fund for the College of Law

The law schools of the country have been academic casualty No. 1. Remembering, however, that ours is the oldest of Catholic law schools in the United States, the administration determined that it would survive the war if the deficit did not become too heavy—and it became heavy enough. Once again the Alumni Fund proved invaluable. The school itself made changes to insure greater economy, a fact that will gratify the large number of alumni who are graduates of this historic college.

The James A. Burns Scholarships

The James A. Burns Scholarships, the details of which are published elsewhere in this issue of the Alumnus, are in keeping with the Notre Dame tradition of helping the poor, talented boy get an education. It is fitting that they should be in memory of Father Burns, because he was once such a boy to whom Notre Dame gave a helping hand more than half a century ago. Father Burns never forgot, and as the years passed, bringing him honor and distinction as an educator, he remained one of the strongest advocates of the tradition of which he was a product, giving similar aid to countless numbers of boys who otherwise would not have had the advantages of a Notre Dame education.

You will observe that in commenting on the second Annual Alumni Fund, I have referred as well to allocations from the Centenary Fund, as reported in the

TOTAL SECOND ALUMNI FUND PARTICIPATION $111,405.56

Dear Friends of Notre Dame:

In accordance with established practice, the University presents here-with its statement of operations for the fiscal year ended June 30, 1944, as prepared by Pearson and Dwyer, certified public accountants, 111 West Monroe St., Chicago, Ill.:

OPERATIONS FOR THE FISCAL YEAR ENDED JUNE 30, 1944

RECEIVED:
From tuition and student fees: U.S. Navy: interest on general endowment; returns from scholarships; and from all auxiliary operations, including athletics $5,002,523.56

PAID OUT:
For the operations of all colleges of the University—Arts and Letters, Science, Law, Engineering, and Commerce (including administrative and faculty salaries, pensions, etc.) as well as operation of the Graduate School; for interhall athletics, student activities, and publications; for operation of residence halls, dining halls, infirmary, laundry, Rockne Memorial, golf course, and general maintenance 4,999,809.37

NET GAIN FROM UNIVERSITY AND AUXILIARY OPERATIONS:
(including endowment income) $ 12,714.19

OTHER INCOME:
From miscellaneous sources, exclusive of University and auxiliary operations (interest on investments, profit from sale of securities, bad debt recoveries, property rentals, etc.) 37,537.54

NET CREDIT TO SURPLUS:
To be used for purchase of new laboratory equipment, additions to libraries, for research, graduate departments, etc. $ 50,251.73

While the administration is deeply grateful to God for such a successful operation, it is also mindful of the excellent cooperation it received from faculty and students as well as the various department heads. It has been no easy task to administer the affairs of a privately-controlled university during such a critical period, but the burden has been greatly lightened by the sympathetic understanding and helpfulness of all those who belong to the family of Notre Dame.

Extended comment on the report, I believe, is unnecessary. The small amount credited to surplus only serves to emphasize the need of increasing our endowment in order that our plans, postwar, for both the graduate and the undergraduate divisions may be realized.

It should be noted, however, that our very happy and cordial relationship with the U.S. Navy is on a purely cost basis, and not cost plus. Mr. Dwyer directs my attention to this particularly, and stresses the fact that since the program permits the recovery of established costs only, "no profit as such is realized from the operation," to use his own words.

Within the next few months I hope to be able to publish our operating statement for the year ending June 30, 1945, which has been understandably delayed because of the unusual demands made by the war effort on our Accounting Department.

Sincerely,

War Veterans Come to the Campus

By JOHN DEFANT*

The Men Who Fought in World War II Want To Be Integrated With Other Students Despite Difficulties; Writer Says that Readjustment Is "Ridiculously Overemphasized"

For two years, Navy (and Marine) trainees were in the majority in the Notre Dame student body. But, assigned to their own residence halls under navy discipline and training and having only limited contact with civilian students in scholastic activities and extra-curricular activities, the trainees were, of necessity, a "group apart."

Now, with the transition from war to peace, and with civilian students once again in the majority in the student body, the University is experiencing an influx of a special group of students who, generally are homologous in their aims, purposes and outlook. These are the returning war veterans, studying at Notre Dame under the provisions of the G. I. Bill of Rights or the Veterans' Rehabilitation Act.

But, a "group apart" though they may be to some limited extent, the veterans, unlike the trainees, can readily be integrated with the remainder of the civilian student body. And such integration is in line with the wishes of the majority of the veterans themselves.

It must be admitted that many of the veterans would like to have some privileges not granted other civilian students, such as later hours and more independence of action. But at the same time most veterans realize that were the veterans to be granted special privileges they would then become, definitely, a "group apart"; real integration with the remainder of the civilian student body would be lost.

And so the veterans go on in the Notre Dame pattern, adapting themselves as quickly as they can to the traditional Notre Dame regulations.

The veterans, however, are faced with some special problems. Much has been written and said about the difficulties confronting veterans returning to civilian life and to school, but the arm-chair psychologist who look upon them as high-strung individuals who must be tenderly readjusted to civilian life have ridiculously overemphasized the matter. They overlook the fact that the return to the comforts, freedom and more natural mode of life of the civilian will be accomplished with ease. After all, compared to the conversion to the rigors of service life and war to which the servicemen adjusted themselves, the "reconversion" problem is a simple one. Certainly the veterans at Notre Dame have slipped into the college routine without undue difficulty. The veteran gets along as well as, or better than, the student who has not had the experience of service life.

There are some at Notre Dame of course, who could not make the grade and dropped out of school, but the percentage does not run much higher than that of students who have never been in service. Nor do their reasons for withdrawing from college differ much from those of other students: they lack the necessary academic preparation, have no self-discipline, or simply do not like college. Some, of course, have been forced out by poor physical condition.

The difficulties of the veterans enrolled in college crop up during the first few months after their return to school. Two, they face immediately: they have forgotten how to study after an absence of several years, and they feel a strangeness in their new surroundings that is common to all freshmen, but augmenting the strangeness, is the added years of the veterans, which, they feel, set them apart from their younger classmates. The emotion engendered by their age is dissipated when they discover that they are still pretty much like the other fellows. The inability to concentrate they can overcome only by giving more time to their studies; after a few months of intensive application to their books they find their studies no more difficult than other students do. In fact, some of the veterans contend that the interruption of their education was beneficial because they learned to attach a greater importance to it.

The 111 veterans now at Notre Dame have already taken steps to mitigate the difficulties of those who will enroll in (Continued on Page 13)

FOR GOD, COUNTRY, NOTRE DAME
IN GLORY EVERLASTING

Quintin Mason
Jim O'Brien

Lt. Quintin Mason, USMCR, St. Paul, Minn., was killed in action on Okinawa, three-quarters of a mile north of Naha, on May 5. He had been in the Marine V-12 program at Notre Dame for two semesters.

Quintin has been recommended for a Bronze Star award. Surviving him are his parents, three brothers and one sister.

Sgt. James J. O'Brien, Jr., '41, Elmhurst, N. Y., met a tragic death in a train wreck near Weingarten, Germany, while en route to a port of embarkation on July 13.

Jim was graduated magna cum laude and at the time of his induction, in May 1942, was employed by the Kollman Instrument Company in Elmhurst. He was a member of the reconnaissance and intelligence group of the headquarters company, 65th Armored Infantry Battalion. He received a citation and the Bronze Star medal for conspicuous service at Biberbach, Germany, on April 29.

Jim leaves his wife, his infant daughter, his parents, a brother, Donald J., '29, and four sisters.

Capt. Roger H. Henry, ex. '44, Valparaiso, Ind., was killed in an airplane crash in India on July 29, 1945. Roger was a student in the law school when he enlisted in the air corps on Dec. 8, 1941. His parents survive him.

Cpl. Mark E. DeMots, ex. '44, Minot, N. Dak., died on July 30 of burns received in a vehicle accident in La Fere, France.

Mark had been overseas since January, 1944, and had been a radar operator of the Ninth Air Force, the 19th Tactical Air Force and the Third Army. He won five battle stars and his unit of 15 men had received two citations. With his parents, Mark leaves a sister who is married to Thomas E. Duffy, '32, and a brother, John E. DeMots, '37.

Mark was inducted into service in June 1943, while a student in law. He enlisted in 1942 under the E.R.C. program.

Pvt. James Bassett, ex. '43, Toledo, Ohio, died July 19, 1942, of malaria in a Japanese prison camp in the Philippine Islands. He had been missing in action since May 7, 1942, following the surrender of Corregidor.

Jim was wounded in action on Dec. 10, 1941, and returned to duty March 11 the next year. He had enlisted in April 1941, and the following fall he volunteered for service in Hawaii. Two days before Pearl Harbor, he notified his father of his transfer to the Philippines.

Jim's father died last October without knowing the fate of his son. Other members of his family are his twin brother, another brother and two sisters.

The ALUMNUS has so far received only incomplete information regarding the following Notre Dame men who died in the service of their country: Lt. Cmdr. John M. Hughes, '31, Jacksonville, Fla., killed in a plane crash on September 28, near Kingsland, Ga.; Major Carlo J. Marinello, ex. '37, Buffalo, N. Y., died of wounds received on Leyte, Dec. 31, 1944; Lt. John W. Smith, ex. '41, West Winfield, N. Y., killed in a plane crash at the Army Air Base, Greenville, S. C., on Jan. 29, 1944; Lt. Robert E. Schoo, ex. '45, Louisville, Ky., killed in a plane crash Aug. 5, 1945, near El Paso, Texas; Sgt. Francis M. Maloney, ex. '45, Louisville, Ky.; Daniel Ginsburg, USMCR, ex. '47, Detroit, killed in action on Iwo Jima; Pfc. Joseph J. Petillo, USMCR, ex. '47, Asbury Park, N. J., killed in action on Okinawa, April 13, 1945.

1st Lt. William G. Haller, ex. '42, Doylestown, Ohio, was killed Nov. 5, 1944, on a mission over Germany while leading a squadron of the 94th Bombing Group.

A pilot of a B-17, Bill had been in service since 1942 and held the Air Medal with three clusters, the Distinguished Flying Cross with one cluster and the Presidential Citation with one cluster. A wife and small daughter living in Cadiz, Ohio, survive Bill, as well as a brother in the Navy, another brother and the parents.

Missing in Action

Lt. (jg) Robert T. Browne, '38, Medical Corps, USNR, Peoria, Ill., is missing in action since last October in the Philippines. For his extreme courage in the second battle of the Philippines, Bob received the Navy Cross. He remained aboard the USS Johnston after the abandon ship order was given, supplying injured men with life jackets and ministering to the wounded in the face of terrific salvos from hostile gun batteries. His brother, Bill, is a '37 graduate.

Bill Haller

2nd Lt. John R. Hartsock, '39, of Altoona, Pa., a navigator with the AAF, has been missing over Japan since Dec. 18, 1944.

Deaths Already Reported

(This section contains additional information about Notre Dame men whose deaths in the armed forces were reported in earlier issues of the ALUMNUS.)

Lt. George S. Owens, USNR, '32, Lockport, N. Y., was killed in action on May 1, 1945, aboard the U. S. S. Terror, off the northwest coast of Okinawa when the ship, while in port, was struck by a suicide plane. He leaves his wife, a son and a daughter, his mother and a brother and sister.

George entered the service in March, 1943, and reported for duty in April at Babson University, Mass. He was at the Mare Island Navy Yard in California as assistant supply officer from May, 1943 to November, 1944. For several years, prior to his service in the Navy, he was purchasing agent for the Pittsburgh Metallurgical Company, Niagara Falls, N. Y.

Lt. Edward L. Kinn, ex. ’46, Fostoria, O., was killed in action in Germany, April 18. Ed was wounded in the Aachen drive in Germany on Oct. 30, 1944, but he returned to active service in March 1945. He was awarded the Purple Heart, the Bronze Star and the Combat Infantryman’s Badge.

Lt. John J. Bishop, USMCR, ex. ’44, West Brighton, S. I., N. Y., was killed Nov. 20, 1944, when his S.B.D. Dauntless dive-bomber crashed into the sea on a flight from Henderson Field, Guadalcanal. John went overseas in the fall of 1943, and he and his squadron members, flying B-24 Liberators, were the first white men to see Truk, the great Japanese naval base, on reconnaissance missions.

John completed two years at Notre Dame and then volunteered as a Navy V-5 aviation cadet. He trained at Chapel Hill, N. C., Hutchinson, Kans., and Corpus Christi, Texas, where he was commismioned a second lieutenant in the Marine Corps.

S/Sgt. George Yeager, Jr., ex. ’45, Roanoke, Va., was killed in action on July 16, 1944 in a bombing raid over Europe. A bombardier in the Eighth Air Force, George escaped death in May 1944, when his bomber exploded over the English Channel. Eight other flyers perished and George and one other man, who had bailed out before the explosion, survived in the icy channel waters for several hours.

George entered the service in March 1943. He took preliminary training as pilot at San Antonio, Texas, transferred to gunner at Las Vegas, Nev., and finished with his crew at Sioux City, Ia.

Lt. Edmund L. Leach, USMCR, ex. ’45, Golf, Ill., was killed by a sniper’s bullet on Iwo Jima on March 3. He is survived by his parents and a brother.

Ed enlisted in the Marine Detachment of the Navy V-12 program in January, 1942, while he was a student at Loyola University, Chicago. In March 1944, he was sent to Parris Island for boot training and was then sent to Camp LeJeune and commissioned a second lieutenant in September, 1944. In November he was sent to the Hawaiian Islands and placed in the Fifth Marine Division.

Pfc. John Roger Keane, ex. ’45, Watertown, Mass., was killed in action on Nov. 20, 1944, near Immendorf, Germany.

Roger went overseas in September, 1944, from Fort Dix, N. J. He had been called into service in April, 1942, and received his basic training at Camp Blanding, Fla. Assigned to the A.S.T.P. at Georgetown University when the program was discontinued, he completed his training in the infantry at Camp Swift, Texas.

War Veterans

ensuing semesters. The Veterans’ Club is setting up an orientation program which it hopes to have in operation by the start of the next semester, on November 6, when a total enrollment of over 300 veterans is expected. Under the plan, members of the club will assist the incoming veterans in any way possible, especially in tutoring and in the sponsoring of social functions where they can meet their fellow students and become more readily accustomed to college life.

Although organized just at the end of last semester, the Veterans’ Club has already assumed a position of leadership on the campus. When Frank Syzmasnik, a veteran himself, resigned from the football team because of the recent Big Ten ruling declaring ineligible all persons who had signed contracts with professional teams, the club immediately set to work, not only because the ruling affected a Notre Dame player, but because in its working out the rule would so largely affect veterans. Letters pointing, cut the seeming unfairness of the retroactive ruling were sent to sports commentators, sports writers, the Veterans’ Administration, and veterans’ clubs at other universities. By marshaling public opinion against the ruling, the Veterans’ Club hopes to have it altered.

The club has been active not only socially, but also spiritually. The first Communion breakfast at Notre Dame since the start of the war was held, fittingly enough, by the veterans on September 9. They offered up their Communion for the 269 Notre Dame men who, up to then, had died in the armed forces in World War II.

There can be no doubt that returning veterans will be an important factor in campus activities for the next half-decade. Ranging in age from 19 to 30 and already accustomed to assuming leadership and responsibilities, the veterans have the training and willingness to lead. Their more mature outlook on life forged in the bloody years of war may add a new ingredient to the spirit of Notre Dame.

At N. D. 60 Years

Rev. Bernard J. Ill, C.S.C., professor of German, oldest active member of the Notre Dame faculty, on Sept. 5 observed the 60th anniversary of his arrival at the University. He began teaching at Notre Dame in 1887, before his ordination in 1894. Father Ill has witnessed the erection of every private-room residence hall on the campus.
Third Annual Alumni Fund

Contributions, July 1, 1945 to September 1, 1945

As in the previous Alumni Funds, the alumni contributions represent alumni gifts direct to the University, through the Alumni Association, or through the Director of Public Relations.

LATER

Assuming the role of underdog for the first time in history in a season-opener, Coach Hugh Devore's Fighting Irish registered a 7 to 0 triumph over a highly-touted Illinois eleven Sept. 29 in Notre Dame Stadium.

Phil Colella, freshman left halfback from Rochester, Pa., tallied the only touchdown of the game on the first play from scrimmage in his initial collegiate game as he broke off-tackle and galloped 76 yards for the score. Stanley Krivik, fullback from New York, drop-kicked the extra point and that completed scoring for the day.

Three times during the contest the Illini drove deep into Notre Dame territory and once the Irish held for downs on their own one-foot line to take over the ball when it appeared certain that Illinois would score. Frank Dancewicz, Bob Skoglund and Colella stood out both offensively and defensively for the Irish, and on defensive play Vincent Scott, guard from LeRoy, N.Y., Bill Fisher, freshman tackle from Chicago, Fred Rovai, guard from Hammond, Ind. and Stan Krivik displayed talents that stamp them as men to watch throughout the season.

Loss of two key men prior to the opening of the season substantially crippled the hopes of Coach Hugh Devore for a successful season in his first campaign as head grid coach at Notre Dame.

Captain Frank Szymanski, Detroit senior who was counted on by the Notre Dame coaching staff to bolster the line at center, resigned from the squad as fall practice opened as the result of a contract he had signed early this year to play professional football with the Chicago Bears after graduation. Although Szymanski's contract later was declared null and void by Commissioner Elmer Layden when it was discovered he was not a free agent, he resigned following clarification by Big Ten Commissioner Tug Wilson of a ruling forbidding men who have signed professional contracts to play college ball.

The effects of Szymanski's loss barely had worn off when the Navy announced the transfer of Marty Wendell, Chicago sophomore, to Great Lakes. Wendell, a member of the ROTC unit at Notre Dame, performed regularly at the fullback post during most of the 1944 campaign and, along with Szymanski, provided a formidable combination in the line-backing department for the Irish.

To partially fill the gaps created by the departure of these two key performers, Coach Devore moved Tom Walsh, a 6'2¼-212 pound freshman from Phillipsburg, N. J., into the first-string center berth, and elevated Frank Ruggerio, hard-driving 200-pounder from Orange, N. J., to the first-team fullback post.

Frank Dancewicz, Lynn, Mass., senior, who was named captain of the 1945 Irish after Szymanski's resignation, will spark the team this year from the quarterback post. Phil Colella, Rochester, Pa., freshman, holds the key to much of the potential Notre Dame success as he stands out as the only capable runner at right halfback. Elmer Angsman, Chicago senior, will carry the burden at left halfback this season where he was shifted by Coach Devore from fullback where he performed brilliantly last season. Ruggerio, at fullback, completed the Irish backfield.

On the same day that Szymanski announced his resignation from the squad, backfield Coach Gene Ronzani came forth with the announcement that he had resigned to return to his duties as quarter-back and coach of the Chicago Bears professional squad.

Within a few days, however, announcement was made that Joe Sheeketski, '33, star Irish halfback in the early 30's and former head football coach at Holy Cross college, had been signed to coach the Notre Dame backfield. Sheeketski, a native of Shadyside, O., was a right halfback on Irish teams in 1931 and 1932 and served as assistant to Eddie Anderson at Holy Cross from 1933 to 1939, when he assumed head coaching duties. After three years as chief of the Crusaders, Joe resigned to join the F.B.I. He remained with the government until January of this year when he entered private business in Cleveland.

To add to the general upheaval of the Notre Dame football squad, 11-year-old Clashmore Mike, veteran Irish-terrier mascot, died of old age two weeks before the opening of the season. A new Irish terrier pup, Clashmore Mike II, was presented to the University by James J. McGarry of Chicago, for many years a devoted follower of Notre Dame's athletic fortunes.

Outlook for the season, with Szymanski and Wendell in the lineup, was neither gloomy nor bright. It appeared that Notre Dame would hold its own with most college competition this season. With the defensive stars gone, however, the situation is uncertain. Illinois definitely has one of the stronger teams in the Big Nine, loaded with veteran performers both in the line and backfield. Pittsburgh, during the past several season "breathers" for the Irish, has come up with a good passing attack and held Illinois to a 23-6 decision at Champaign in the season-opener. Georgia Tech reportedly is coming up with another of its consistently good ball clubs, while the Irish will be fighting the Iowa "jinx" when Coach Clem Grove brings his Gophers to Notre Dame Stadium on Oct. 27. Northwestern supposedly hit hard by graduation this year, got off to an impressive start against a tough Iowa
The Notre Dame Alumnus

State eleven, while Dartmouth and Great Lakes remain unknown quantities. Army and Navy, of course, can be expected to be as tough as last season, if not tougher, when they belted the Irish for their only losses of the campaign.

Joe Sheeketski, '33

Effective Late Arrival

The picture appears unexpectedly dark at this writing, but may improve as the season progresses if a few of the youngsters on the Irish squad can come through in tough competition.

BASKETBALL

The 1945-46 basketball season was officially opened at Notre Dame on Oct. 2, when Elmer Ripley, new head coach, took charge of a squad of nearly 100 men who reported in answer to his call for the start of practice.

Ripley has had outstanding success in the past as head coach at Georgetown, Columbia and Yale. The new coach is familiar with the ability of only one player on the squad—Bill Hassett, All-American guard of last year who as a freshman was a member of Ripley’s N.C.A.A. champions at Georgetown.

Prospects for a strong team at Notre Dame are the brightest in years, with four regulars from last year’s team, which broke all Notre Dame single game and season scoring records, again available, plus an All-American Irish star of two years ago who will resume his studies at the semester opening in November.

The four men available from last year’s team are, besides Hassett, Frank Gilhooley, Johnny Dee and George Rat-terman. The returning star is Leo Klier, recently placed on an inactive status by the Navy in which he had served for more than a year. There is no center in that group as Vince Boryla, 18-year-old freshman who shattered all Notre Dame individual scoring records last season, is now enrolled at the United States Naval academy at Annapolis.

In Klier, Ratterman and Dee, Coach Ripley knows he has three experienced forwards, while Gilhooley and Hassett are outstanding as guards. His immediate job, therefore, will be to find a center, and it might be that he will eventually use either Ratterman or Klier at that spot; it depends upon what Ripley discovers among the new center candidates.

The Irish schedule for 1945-46 has not yet been completed.

FOOTBALL PARTIES

ARMY PRE-GAME RALLY. The Notre Dame Club of New York, sponsors. 8 P.M., Friday, November 9. Main Ballroom Waldorf-Astoria Hotel. Price $3 (tax included). Twelve outstanding men in American industry have accepted invitations from Notre Dame to serve on the University's newly-organized Industrial Advisory Committee, according to an announcement by Rev. Hugh O'Donnell, C.S.C., president.

During the wartime era, plans were laid for the expansion and further development of Notre Dame, particularly the development of the graduate and research departments in the colleges of science and engineering. The University is beginning to realize these plans.

Several of the University's fundamental research programs (rubber and plastics from both chemical and physical approaches, electronics both theoretical and applied, nuclear physics and radioactivity) will have important implications for the future industrial development of the nation.

To assure an understanding and cooperation between the University and industry, which will be important for the maximum realization of the University's contribution to this development, the University has formed this advisory committee. Men who have accepted are:

plane, and radio obscures the fact that they were all based on fundamental discoveries made in nineteenth-century Europe. From Europe also came formulation of most of the laws governing the transformation of energy, the physical and chemical structure of matter, the behavior of electricity, light, and magnetism."

There have been reasons for such dependence. For instance, until comparatively late in the nineteenth century the United States was an agricultural nation, and its attitude toward science was affected accordingly. The colleges, generally speaking, were indifferent to the growth of scientific research. Industry, as we know it today, had not come into existence, so there was little compulsion toward either pure or applied research from that quarter. Such aid as came from the government was for strictly limited and utilitarian purposes; and aid from private philanthropy was negligible.

Scientific Bureaus Established

As America grew up, however, conditions changed. To meet obvious needs, the Federal Government began to establish its scientific bureaus—the Coast and Geodetic Survey, the Naval Observatory, the Department of Agriculture, and many others. Private philanthropy began its direct support of research through the creation of non-profit scientific institutions and foundations. As powerful new industries developed, they set up their own laboratories out of which came basic technological discoveries. Nevertheless, despite the increased interest in science, pure research continued to lag far behind applied research.

The proportion must be corrected because, as the Committee pointed out, future progress will be most striking in those highly complex fields—electronics, aerodynamics, chemistry—which are based directly upon the foundations of modern science.

To insist that the need exists is to stress the obvious. A question more to the point is how is the need to be met? Private gifts, endowment, and grants from state legislatures are inadequate. Universities, already affected by declining incomes and increasing costs of operation, are reluctant to take on expensive projects. Industry, reasonably enough, is interested primarily in applied rather than pure research; and, in any event, is financially unable to assume the burden.

The Committee believes that the means to the desired end is an increased measure of Federal aid to scientific research, administered "without incurring centralized control or discouraging private support." Experience of the war years strengthened the Committee in this opinion. In the first place, research in universities and non-profit organizations amply proved its worth by increasing specialized knowledge and disseminating it when and where it was most needed. Simultaneously, through the Office of Scientific Research and Development, the government was demonstrating that a definite policy of initiating and supporting basic scientific research through contracts and grants added immeasurably to the national welfare. With these premises in mind, what remained was to determine the machinery to carry over into times of peace, and to adapt to peace time needs, the type of coordinated work done under the direction of the Office.

The best means, the Committee believes, is to establish in the executive branch of the government an independent agency to be known as the National Research Foundation with well defined powers and duties to be exercised by a board of nine members appointed by the President. The sole qualification of members should be their demonstrable interest in, and capacity to promote, the purposes of the Foundation. The Board, in brief, would be above and beyond any consideration but that of scientific advancement, for "in order to be fruitful, scientific research must be free—free from the influence of pressure groups, free from the necessity of producing immediate practical results, free from dictation by any central board." Senator Warren G. Magnuson of Washington has introduced a bill ($1285) providing for the establishment of a National Research Foundation which "would promote the progress of science and the useful arts, secure the national defense, advance the national health, prosperity, and welfare. . . ." This bill should be of vital interest to all Notre Dame men, as well as to Americans generally.

Regarding Government Grants

In addition to formulating the principle of a National Research Foundation, the Committee made suggestions as to the technical forms in which Government grants should be made to private and state-supported institutions. These include: 1) matching grants for fluid research purposes within the institution, rather than to any particular department or person; 2) discretionary grants, either as grants-in-aid for promising special projects, or in the provision of large and expensive capital facilities; 3) post-doctoral fellowships as a direct aid to research; 4) senior research fellowships to enable really experienced investigators to develop and utilize their talents most effectively.

It is the Bowman Committee's considered opinion that increased support of research by the Federal Government will give the greatest impetus to science and technology; that is, federal aid wisely administered. "We do not believe," said the Committee significantly, "that any program is better than no program—that an ill-devised distribution of Federal funds will aid the growth of science. Our concrete proposals seek to augment the quality as well as the quantity of scientific research."

Enterprise Must Be "Joint"

In the reconversion period, which is now beginning, we must have an appreciation of the tangible benefits that can come from a joint enterprise in which the Federal Government, charged with the responsibility of providing for the common defense and general welfare, joins with private and public institutions of higher learning to assure a flow of new knowledge that will promote the common good. But the enterprise must be "joint"—that is, the partners must be equal, each contributing its share and respecting the rights of the other. Undue influence or pressure will lead either to bureaucratic desuetude or academic murder.

NEW RADIO SERIES

Attention of Notre Dame alumni is called to the new radio series on Mutual each Thursday morning, 10:15 to 10:30 Eastern standard time. Mr. Fulton J. Sheen, L.L.D., '41, will be the featured speaker, conducting an informal type of program, called "The Spiritual Clinic." The program is sponsored by Our Sunday Visitor, under the patronage of Most Rev. John F. Noll, D.D., L.L.D., '15. Francis A. Fink, '30, managing editor of O.S.V., and the University of Notre Dame administration were instrumental in the negotiations which led to the new program on Mutual, whose president is alumnus Edgar Kobak, a miniat at Notre Dame from 1904 to 1906.

The new program will tie in with the nature of the programs being developed through the Local Club committees on religion and citizenship. The time of the program enlists the interest of alumni wives and mothers, particularly.

Norm Fredericks has announced that we will have a D & C Boat to go to Cleveland for the Notre Dame-Navy game. Mr. Kincairn is chairman of the ticket sale.

Joe Minnesota is handling all of the prizes and baskets. It is expected to be much bigger and better this year.

Arrangements are being made for the "Feather Party" to be held Sunday afternoon after Thanksgiving at the Book-Cadillac Hotel. Leo McInerney is handling all of the prizes and baskets. It is expected to be much bigger and better than last year.

John Higgins is chairman of our first dinner meeting.

Marion Heffeman, '28, 1630 Frankfort Ave., Louisville, Pres.; Eugene J. Heffeman, '23, Kentucky Home Life Bldg., Louisville, Sec.

Joseph F. Donaldson, '23, has been appointed as chairman of the Veterans Committee for the club. He will be assisted in an advisory capacity, by Frank B. Bloemer, Jr., and William N. Bostic.

The chairmanship on the program for Religion and Citizenship has been given to William A. Bierst, Jr., who through his past activity and willingness, you will find most cooperative.

Our Summer Stag, held on July 28, again proved to be successful in drawing a large crowd since there were 21 members present on a rainy, gloomy day. Our plans for a dance on the night of the Kentucky-Notre Dame basketball game, start at midnight, will be a tentative state since we have been unable to obtain a location.

You may wish us luck for our party to be held on the night of Nov. 25. This and the dance, if it can be arranged, will be the source of our revenue for the year. Regardless of the outcome of the dance, we feel the party will again be successful and place us in a position where we can forward another bond to the University.

Unfortunately we have lost the services of both our secretary, George B. Rith and treasurer, Otto J. Miel, Jr., as both men have accepted positions in other cities. However, Eugene J. Heffeman, '23, has been appointed as secretary and treasurer for the remainder of the term. This office has been combined for the balance of this period only and will again become separate offices in the coming election.

We regret to advise you of the untimely death of Lt. Robert E. Schoo, class of 1943, who was killed in a plane crash Sunday, Aug. 5, near El Paso, Texas. On September 9, we received Communion for Robert in a body. This is now a practice of the club and is well attended by the members. The comment from such practices has been most favorable.

Incidentally, our next Commununion Breakfast will be held on Sunday, Dec. 9. We are already giving this our attention and feel certain the attendance will be larger.

The club's annual Reunion and Rally will be held in the Waldorf-Astoria Hotel on Friday night, Nov. 5, the night before the Army game. Jack Hoyt, club secretary, writes that Harvey Daily and Thorne O'Hara are co-chairmen in charge of the party. Jack is in charge of the Reunion and there are 1800 quarter tickets, to reservations, will be opened in the Waldorf-Astoria early in October.

At a meeting of the Board of Governors of the club on August 8, a vocational committee to assist John Reib with regard to returning war veterans and others was appointed, and plans were made to enlarge this activity in keeping with the demands of the day. Details of this enlarged program will be reported later.

At the invitation of the local Michigan Club and the party will again be successful and place us in a position where we can forward another bond to the University.

The club's annual Reunion and Rally will be held in the Waldorf-Astoria Hotel on Friday night, Nov. 5, the night before the and member of the Board of Lay Trustees at Notre Dame. John died suddenly of a heart attack. We are sure to miss them both.

Dan Young is "looking up" after his return from India where he was taken sick. Charlie McMullin is located back in Philadelphia after being in Washington for a few years. Bob Coote is another local lad returning to the fold after working in Baltimore for about a year. We're gradually building up our membership here. Even Ed Bailey used the excuse that he was sick to stick around town for a couple of days.

Lt. Jim O'Neill should get some sort of medal for his efforts in connection with the club. He's one member who never gets a notice and who always shows up for meetings. Vince McNally looking forward to another year. This year, is jumping between here and the west coast for the newly formed pro league.

Our September meeting was held very informally. The name Duane couldn't reach ye and had to try and round them up himself. Navy Lieutenant Leo Burby and Coleman McGinty from the class of '42 attended and had quite a confab with Jack Ridley, recently back from the wars. We are planning several tributes to John Senn in the coming year.

San Fernando Valley

An organization meeting of the Notre Dame Club of the San Fernando Valley, California, was held July 18 at The Lamp Post in Toluca Lake. Those attending were: Reg. Alexander, Ed Ashe, Frank Cane, Bill Corr, Art Fiedler, Delaney, Joe Delaney, John Hunter, John McCoy, Don Morgan, Bill Stevens, John Walsh and Chuck McNelly.

Following dinner Frank Cane gave a brief resume of the work of the Los Angeles Youth Committee of which he is executive secretary.

Ed Ashe acted as chairman for an open discussion of organization problems. Doc Gorrilna outlined some of the activities of the ST. Louis Club which tended to keep member interest active.

Art Fiedler recommended the principle of a rotating committee for handling arrangements for each successive meeting. This was adopted.

A special committee of Bill Corr, Reg. Alexander and Frank Cane was elected to make arrangements for the next meeting. Bill Corr

The annual Notre Dame picnic was held July 15 at the John Corley farm, Chesterfield, Mo., and, as in the past, was a grand success. Mr. Corley, '42, who so graciously has been host to our club year after year, again made all of the facilities of his place available to us for a fine day's entertainment.

In spite of the fact so many of our members are away in the service a crowd of about 250 people were present. It was especially gratifying to the officers of the club to see new faces—men who expressed intentions of becoming more active members.

A special vote of thanks goes to the three men in charge of things this year: Louis Fehlig, Frank Amato, and Frank Tully. These men worked hard and the 1941 picnic one of the most successful.

F. A. Armour presented our baseball team with a new set of uniforms. Martin Hughes and his committee did the best job ever on the "rehabilitation." Bob Hickey, who has been a great asset to the roast and grate, and thanks to Dutch Wipke and Al Rosvaro for their aid on the food side. We want to thank the Brown's Country Club for the fine dinner and entertainment served there.

Rhone Island & S. E. Mass.

From Ross Hunt, Providence, R. I., comes this tremendous report on the doings of Johnny McIntyre:

"Johnny A. McIntyre, Providence, R. I., has recently returned from a tour of duty in the Pacific theatre.

"John was the commander of a night fighter squadron with Task Force 58, operating from the famous Hornet. He was in on the strike against Tokyo with Gen. Jimmy Doolittle and flew over Hirohito's palace repeatedly from then until June of this year. John was in on the 'kill' of our old 'buddy' at Truk. The Japanese fast battleships and he was the first American flyer to land on Okinawa after the island had been taken from the enemy. His squadron was the only night fighter group that came back from all its missions against the Nips without loss of a single man. John had brought one ship back to the flat-top so badly damaged that it was dumped overboard after it had been stripped of materials. John, the members of his squadron sent Sons of the Land of the Rising Sun to Join their ancestors and John has five stars placed to his credit. At least that is what he admits to.

"One can learn to identify the various decorations of the U. S. Naval Air Forces by studying Mac's chest. He has, besides the one we modestly to discuss him, he is beheaded with the pre-Pearl Harbor ribbon, the Atlantic Theatre ribbon, the Philippine ribbon, the Pacific ribbon with battle stars for Iwo Jima and Okinawa, the air medal with three gold stars, the Distinguished Flying Cross with one gold star, and the silver star. In addition to these, John has been recommended for the Navy Cross, the highest honor obtainable in his branch of the service.

At present, discharged from service, he is assistant coach at Brown University.

Syracuse & Central N.Y.

Hawley E. Van Swall, '41, 1202 Harrison St., Syracuse, Pres.

Henry Hickey, who was president of the club, was called into service and Hawley Van Swall, who was secretary, has taken over the presidency.

The club held a golf tournament and dinner at the Skaneateles Country Club, July 15. The following Notre Dame men were present: Hawley Van Swall, Father Joseph Toomey, who is director of Catholic Charities of the Syracuse diocese, Father Frank Harrison, assistant at St. Mary's Catholic Church, Syracuse, Father John Harrison, assistant at Our Lady of Solace Church, Johnstown, Dr. William Keinig, Fred Delaney, Leo Murphy, Edward McNally, Vinfent Brown, who had as his guest, his brother, Rev. Joseph Brown, S.J., of Buffalo, and James Haxford.

Lt. Tom Delaney and Frank Cashier had reservations for this season's trip to Sun Valley, but a great number of transportation difficulties were delayed in arriving from New York on time. The kieker handicap was won by William Sullivan with a net score of 91 and the runner-up was Father Toomey with a score of 92. Hawley Van Swall had the best score of the day which was an 88.

The next meeting date of the Notre Dame Club of Syracuse is August 12 at the Syracuse Country Club.

The committee for this meeting was Leo Kelley and Fred Delaney.

Hawley Van Swall would appreciate it if all Notre Dame alumni in Syracuse and vicinity would communicate with him so that the meeting may be held sometime before he could be brought up to date. Address communications to Hawley at the Herald Bldg., S. Warren St., Syracuse, N. Y.

Maj. Larry O'Toole, and Lt. Larry O'Donnell, both '36, were home on 30-day leave recently after extended service in England, France and Germany.

Dick O'Donnell, '31, brother of Larry, and Frank O'Donnell, '34, is director of Employment, Inc, campaign director. Dick had been on the copy desk of the "Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph."

Noel MacCary '41, left the local office of the International News Service to Join the staff of the Associated Press in Philadelphia.

Joe Breig, ex., '28, for 10 years on the staff of the "Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph," resigned to become assistant managing editor of the "Catholic Universe Bulletin" in Cleveland. Aside from his regular beat at City Hall, Joe had written a feature column, "One Man's Opinion," which appeared weekly in the "Tele." Fashioned in a readable, essay style, the column was widely read. Joe is a regular contributor to such Catholic publications as the "Pittsburgh Catholic," "Catholic Observer," "Our Sunday Visitor" and "Columbia."

The Club resume its weekly Thursday luncheons at the Fort Pitt Hotel. Out-of-town alumni visiting Pittsburgh are invited to join the crowd each Thursday at 12:15 p.m.

The Club is arranging for a smoker on Oct. 19, the eve of the Pitt-Notre Dame game. The affair will be held at the Royal York Hotel.

Bob Hartman, has moved to Washington where he has joined the Chemical Division of the WPE.

Navy Lt. John F. Pavlick, '44, was home on a recent leave. John is a gunnery officer on a Merchant Marine ship.

John F. McMahon, '34, is chairman of the club's committee dealing with employment for local alumni returning from service.

RETURN TO CHAMBERS

With the closing of the Midshipmen School, scheduled for early November, the Notre Dame Council, Knights of Columbus, will return to its former quarters in the basement of Walsh Hall. The K. of C. chambers have for much of the war been occupied by Navy offices, with the result that the Knights' activities have been centralized in an office in the former Brownson Hall in the Main Building.

Ens. and Mrs. Donald Potter, '42, announce the birth of Donald V., on Sept. 5.

Deaths

There will be little disagreement with the statement that in John Neeson's death the University lost one of her greatest alumnis. Because John Neeson was a great alumnus, almost the ideal alumnus. Not on Sundays. Not during the football season, of which he was thoroughly appreciative. Not on the occasion of meetings of the Lay Trustees, of whom he was a valued colleague. Not during his presidency of the Alumni Association, in 1925-24, when his leadership brought so many developments, culminating in Universal Notre Dame Night and the permanence of a central office, magazine and other factors of progress among the alumni.

John Neeson, apparently from his matriculation, was a Notre Dame man twenty-four hours a day, as loyal, as enthusiastic, as generous, and as willing, as a man could be. And as representative in his life and work as the University could ask.

John H. Neeson, '33

On Sept. 1, at the age of 61, John Neeson was found dead in his home by his wife, who, with John H. Neeson, Jr., '25, a lieutenant in the Navy, survives him. The immediate reaction was a tribute to the high civic position he had achieved as engineer and director of public works in Philadelphia. The grief and the tributes were spontaneous and universal. The "Inquirer" said, "The sudden death of John H. Neeson has deprived the city of Philadelphia of a conspicuously faithful and efficient servant. For nearly two score years this native son devoted his energies and special talents to making the community a better place in which to live." The "Record" added, "... Director Neeson was a career man enjoying a national reputation in his profession. He was never active in politics, a rare thing at City Hall. But still rarer was the fact that he was a hard worker, a real public servant. . ."

The Notre Dame loss is adequately expressed in the statement of the Rev. Hugh O'Donnell, C.S.C., president of the University:

"When an alumnus of the University enjoys the confidence of succeeding administrations for more than forty years, and when he has portrayed in his whole life the highest ideals of his Alma Mater, little wonder it is that in his death genuine sorrow should pervade the campus he loved so tenderly."

"Ever since John Neeson was graduated in 1903, he went about doing good in his own quiet way. Bishop O'Farara beautifully characterized him in his funeral sermon when he said that he observed faithfully the two great Commandments: love of God and love of neighbor. We may be sure that the Master he served so well will richly reward him, because of his fidelity to His precepts while on earth."

"The Associate Board of Lay Trustees has lost a valued member, the Alumni Association and the exemplary Notre Dame tradition of service and leadership was a very dear friend. Our hearts go out to his devoted wife and only son, also a notable student of the University, as we assure them of our continued sympathy and prayers for a Notre Dame man who through untimely death is lost to Notre Dame.

And on the same day, Sept. 16, in Dublin, Ireland, Mr. Woodlock, 78, former editor of the "Wall Street Journal" and since 1939 writer of the paper's column, "Thinking It Over," died in New York on Aug. 25. Mr. Woodlock, a native of Dublin, Ireland, joined the "Journal" staff in 1912 when he migrated to the United States. He became editor in 1962, and retired in 1965 to John Sn. Warren & Co., New York Stock Exchange firm.

President Coolidge appointed him to the Interstate Commerce Commission in 1925, from which he resigned in 1930 to rejoin the "Journal."

In his latest years, Mr. Woodlock, in books and articles, became one of the foremost Catholic apologists.

The Notre Dame Alumni
his work the distinctive promise he had shown as a prominent undergraduate at Notre Dame.
Frank obtained his law degree from the Chicago College of Law and was admitted to practice in Illinois in June, 1935.
Surviving are Frank's wife, three sons, a daughter, his parents, a brother and three sisters.

Eugene J. Cattle, '37, Philadelphia, owner and pilot of the plane in which he crashed, died on July 7 shortly after being admitted to hospital. A friend who was a passenger escaped with minor bruises and cuts.
Gene was an official of the Cattle Galvanizing Co. He is survived by his wife, a daughter, his parents, three brothers, all in the Navy, Joseph, '28, Jules, '45, and Jerrett, '47, and four sisters.

Martin Dolak, Jr., ex. '38, Youngstown, O., died of complications following an operation. He had been in ill health for some time. Mr. Dolak had been in the grocery business in Youngstown with his father. Besides his wife, he leaves his parents, and three sisters.

The "Alumnus" extends sincere sympathy to Father Raymond Murray, C.S.C., '18, T. Frank, '21, on the death of their mother; Father Philip Beasba, C.S.C., '19, on the death of his father; Father James W. Connorston, C.S.C., '28, on the death of his sister; Marcellus Kirchener, '29, on the death of his father; Prof. Frank Monroe, '27, on the death of his brother who was killed in the service in Europe; Thomas F. Byrne, '21, on the death of his father; Father Louis J. Pats, C.S.C., '22, on the death of his father and family; Prof. John F. Nims, '37, on the death of his father; Frank Congrove, '33, on the death of his father; W. J. H. Harris, '23, on the death of his father; John P. Donnelly, '25, on the death of his mother; John E., '39, and Robert D., ex. '42, on the death of their father; the family of John J. McGinnis on the death of Mr. McGinnis, father of Capt. John J. McGinnis, Jr., ex. '44, who was killed in action May 2, 1945 on Mindanao.

PERSONALS
1890-99

From Father John Mac (who this year, for the first time, will be unable to attend the Army-Notre Dame game):

"No doubt, like myself you were stunned to hear of John Neeson's death. Last night when reading the obituary notices in Sunday's "New York Times," I came on it suddenly and it hit me like a bolt from the blue. I'm still dazed by it . . . I was just about to answer a letter I had received from him three weeks ago. I had written him for some information I wanted and incidentally had handed on to him the attendance record for the Notre Dame-Army game. He refused to accept it and in characteristic fashion said he expected to see me as large as ever at the game . . . John's death is an awful blow to his friends and an irreparable loss to Notre Dame and our alumni. Gentle, kind, and lovable, he was the ideal Notre Dame man—there may have been his equal, but there never was or will be his superior."

From Hugh C. Mitchell C.E., '95; D.S., '98:

" . . . I fully agree with you that Notre Dame is still the Notre Dame of old, come what may perhaps in appearance, but the same in heart because those things that are Notre Dame cannot change . . . those things which are in the present to be new' may apply to customs and forms, but not to faith and moral standards. It is good to remember this now, when human traditions are going overboard so frequently, giving place to things that may never become traditions.

"At some later time, perhaps, the battered remains of the Grass of '35 may rendezvous on the porch of South Hall, and gazing at its protecting cover, wonder if it was placed there to protect a softening generation or because it was made necessary by the increased aggressiveness of the successors to the 'water commissioners' of the eighteen-nineties. Perhaps Father Ill may know—pleads given his my loving regards.

Marcellus L. Joslyn, '32, Chicago, after 50 years with the Joslyn Manufacturing and Supply Co., resigned as president. He will retire from active participation in the business, but will remain in an advisory capacity as chairman of the board.

A FRIEND OF THE YANKS

Keene Fitzpatrick, of San Francisco, is president (and has been since he helped organize it in March, 1943) of Friends of the Yanks, Inc. a local voluntary civilian organization of 275 prominent businessmen and men and some business women who devote themselves to the welfare of men and women in service.

Friends of the Yanks does "anything" for service people—and does it quickly in response to emergency needs: it has distributed millions of cigarettes to wounded men in the area; sent Christmas gifts overseas gathered and distributed thousands of books and thousands of pictures, collected all sorts of athletic equipment, luggage, etc., and has paid for the construction and furnishing of day rooms in army camps and hospital. There is no paid staff—all work is done by volunteers.

Now that the shooting war is over, Friends of the Yanks is devoting itself in a special way to the needs of occupation troops, to the wounded veterans and to the reorientation of veterans in civilian life.

Keene has generously accepted the chairmanship of the Vocational Committee of the Notre Dame Club of Northern California and he will be particularly glad to assist any Notre Dame veteran in the San Francisco area. His office (along with the Friends of Yanks office) is at 153 Montgomery St. San Francisco.

Mary Ann Fitzpatrick, daughter of Keene, was married in Palo Alto, Calif., on Aug. 4, to E. Robert Bala.

Jim O'Brien is now in charge of veterans' affairs in the employment department of the Detroit Edison Co. Jim was for a time on lend-lease from Detroit Edison for service with Army ordnance.

Little has been heard from and of Milton W. Goodwyn, who received both a B.A. and a LL.B. in 1915, but on the strength of his academic background and outstanding marks, his success seemed assured. In late July, the news was received that Mr. Goodwyn was actively campaigning as a candidate for the state legislature in the Democratic primary held in Richmond, Va.

It was with regret that the Alumni Office received the announcement of Rev. Patrick H. Dolan's intention to leave his parish and South Bend indefinitely because of ill health. Father Dolan, pastor of St. Patrick's Church for five years, has become known throughout the city because of his active interest in civic affairs, president of the South Bend Community Fund, director of the speakers' bureau of the United War Chest, a member of the executive board of the St. Joseph County Council, Boy Scouts of America, a Rotarian and a member of the South Bend Country Club.

back at Iowa University some time this year.
He left his position of head coach of football at Iowa to assume Army medical duties. Clem the volumes donated by J. P., was found a fifty dollar war bond which J. P. had been using for book mark. "It might be well and profitable for friends of the Cullens to cultivate the habit of borrowing books from

One of two survivors of the 37 chaplains with Lt. Gen. Jonathan Wainwright during the battle of Bataan is MAJOR JOHN E. DUFFY, '23. Father Duffy's experiences are legion.
During the "Bataan March" he fainted twice.
The first time he was revived by a Japanese guard who gave him tea and biscuit and told him to keep up or he would be shot. The second time he was given up for dead.

"I guess I didn't respond to revival attempts," Father Duffy said, "for I was given up for dead. Later I was picked up by Japanese guerrilla soldiers. . . . I lived for two weeks in a foxhole during the daytime to escape the Japanese." Later, the Japanese captured him.

"Once at Olongpanoo naval base we were placed in a tennis court, 1,300 of us. There was only one spigot of water and we took turns drinking at it. We were kept in the Philippines a long time until we were shipped to Moji in Japan. During this trip there were m any as 500 persons in one hold. Allied planes bombed us one day and nearly half of us were killed.

"Then we got to the Mukden camp," Father
Duffy said, "we were treated much better. One Japanese doctor should set a medal from the U. S. Government for the many he bought and procured medical supplies for us."

Father Duffy, a priest of the Toledo diocese, had been an Army chaplain since 1933.

Mlller, '44 with Cleveland.

From Myron Hood, Cincinnati, with a war bond:

"I've been 'dead' a long time, but the good fathers at Notre Dame taught me and the rest of us that we should believe in resurrection.
It wouldn't be fair to let them down or in any way try to prove them wrong, so here
I am, back again.

"Will be glad when transportation is such that I can come back in person. Have six children who will like to see Notre Dame."

Ben Kerling, Toledo, county engineer of Lucas County since 1932, resigned recently to become associated with L. Compe of Toledo in the construction business. Ben had been elected four times to his county post. He has two boys at Notre Dame.

Ironwood, Mich.

Camp Atterbury, Ind., in early August brought together, for the first time in 19 years,
Lt. Col. John Warden Kantz, Binghamton,
N. Y., and editor of the "Alumnus." "We" was head of neuro-surgery in the Walkerman Hospital Center at Camp
Atterbury after long service in England.

Joe Boland, conductor of nearby '27 doughs, tried to claim Mike Bolger of Detroit for the Boland news center, thinking that Mike had taken that extra year to play on the recrification head table team, or something. Happily, the sit attempt was thwarted by wide-awake editing, and so we can report here that Mike was in South Bend and on the campus in August.
He saw Boland and tried to see Dooley, who was on campus. Mike is still with the Fisher Body Corp.

Vie Lemmer got some letters in August in the Alumnus with news of the 27 doughs in the Army and some news of the 26 doughs in the Navy. And then, to make you check back on the passing years, there was Art Bidwill's letter with the news that he had just taken his last official trip to Notre Dame to register him for the term starting next March. As far as the executive managing editor knows, Art will be the first '26 man to have a son on the campus. Any competitors?

Jerry Smith, manager for the Phoenix Mutual

Capt. (Chaplain) Jim Morin sent along the following letter along with his generous contribution to the Alumni Fund:

"I'm over in the Philippines. Assure you it is no fun to be with the Infantry when they are in combat, but so far I have come out pretty lucky. 1927 is a long way off but still close enough to warrant consideration for the post of Mayor of Chicago."

"Quite often I run into a Notre Dame. I used to hit Joe McCabe skipper on an LST. I put off too early because I was going to go and get a good meal once in a while. Here's from Detroit.

"Had the best meal I've had since I left the conclave with E. M. Ball and John McMahon at St. Louis. He's skipper on an LST. After putting up with army meals for a long time, I went aboard and he gave me all the steak and french fried potatoes that I could eat.

Slim Pickin's pals, I know, but—how about a note or three to me, at the above address? Here's a couple of addresses possibly overlooked in past reports.

Joe Glennie, '28, is a special agent with the Aetna Fire Group of insurance companies. Office, 410 N. Michigan Ave., Chicago.

Col. James Fenton MacMannan, a Princeton All-American, brother-in-law of Art, and host of the innumerable parties held at Merit, has been nominated by President Truman for temporary promotion to the rank of brigadier general in the United States Army.

Lt. (sg) Cletus S. Daughworth dropped in at the University enroute to the Bureau of Personnel in Washington, D. C.

Dan Cunningham, now with General Electric, expects to turn up the G.E. plant in Wayned, Ind., and plant will be stopping off to renew old acquaintances at Notre Dame.

Sgt. Chuck Beret got back from Germany early in July and a little later was discharged from service. In the best Beret manner he writes, "I had a lot of fun over there and came back in one piece and still fat as hell."

1928 Louis F. Buckley, 617 Lincolnway West, Miamisburg, Ind.

Good to hear from Major Guy Lonergan of Rantoul, Ill., on Aug. 14. . . . "I arrived home recently after being overseas for two years in the New Guinea and Philippine campaigns where I was a member of the medical staff of the 25th Division. I also had command of one of the units of the hospital. I am home on the point system and soon may be in civilian life again. My best regards to all."

John Rickard has been promoted to assistant manager of the quality control department at Armour & Co., Chicago.

Joe Buckley, the 17-year veteran of secretarial heroes, sends along the following: "Joe Canty and I exchanged dispatches on Christmas cards each year. He's a legal light on Columbus. With gas rationing lifted, maybe we can do something about that get-together we've been threatening. Art (Red) Canty, once of Batavia, N. Y., is located in Salt Lake City, Cal., Dick Meinert, San Marino, Calif., holds a responsible research post from Joliet, is another case for the Missing Persons Bureau, along with Jim Morrissey, Art Shein, then of Rochester, N. Y., is now in Milwaukee. Joe Breig of our vintage left the "Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph" recently to become assistant managing editor of the three Catholic weeklies in Ohio—Cleveland, Toledo and Youngstown. He is in Cleveland. Bernie Greenberg, a 1928, has been with our company in New York. I always forget to ask about his old townsmen, Harold Caneaux. There are so"

"Bill Neff once lived in Hilliopolis, Ill. Now he is just about the outstanding leader in Catholic Action in the diocese of Bloomer, N. D. You remember he finished his Ph.D. in education at Stanford and now is superintendent of schools in Mandan, N. D. His wife is a fine girl. Maybe you met the two of them when they spent a summer at Notre Dame recently. Now that they have taken up Spanish they have a 'discussion group' of Spanish speaking workers on their front porch once in a while."

"When I am in St. Louis I enjoy the St. Louis Club meetings. I taught a number of the St. Louis, Layton, Cape May, N. J., Cape Breton, N. S., Cape Wrage, Nbrt. Huntsbane, Mangesdorfe, Cape Breton, N. S. Cape Wrage was co-pilot for the commanding officer at Great Bend (B-29) base in Kansas. He had finished his missions in the ETO. Gene Fehlig had a marvelous escape on D-Day when a bullet stopped inside his helmet.

"I haven't been to Collegeville, Minn., since Joe Benda left his coaching job there, but I shook the Benda hand there one beautiful fall day on the practice field. I visited Jim Bynes who used to be at N. D. Is Ray Mack still in the Navy? I heard from him down in Texas."

"Father J. Hugh O'Doherty lectured in Springfield, Ill., at the spot where Neenan conducts his orchestra. As you know, the "Victory March" was the production. Did I tell you I met Jim Bray on the "L" after seeing a Notre Dame game in the New Guinea and Philippine campaigns? I had just come in from giving a mission in Alasbma, where Wade Sullivan, '28, is postmaster. Joe hears about Carrell Pickin's pals, I know; but—how about a note or three to me, at the above address? Here's a couple of addresses possibly overlooked in past reports."

Jim Bray, '28, is a special agent with the Aetna Fire Group of insurance companies. Office, 410 N. Michigan Ave., Chicago.

Col. James Fenton MacMannan, a Princeton All-American, brother-in-law of Art, and host of the innumerable parties held at Merit, has been nominated by President Truman for temporary promotion to the rank of brigadier general in the United States Army.

"Father J. Hugh O'Doherty lectured in Springfield, Ill., at the spot where Neenan conducts his orchestra. As you know, the "Victory March" was the production. Did I tell you I met Jim Bray on the "L" after seeing a Notre Dame game in the New Guinea and Philippine campaigns? I had just come in from giving a mission in Alabama, where Wade Sullivan, '28, is postmaster. Joe hears about Carrell Pickin's pals, I know; but—how about a note or three to me, at the above address? Here's a couple of addresses possibly overlooked in past reports."

Bill Mabin holds a responsible research post for Westminster House, is told, but we never see him. George Kelly is a "city editor" of the "Youngstown Vindicator," according to last advices. Speaking of Kelly's "and '28 journalists, "what ever became" of "Turk"? And while on the subject of "Turk," Melott might as well have taken the roll for we see of him. I saw "This is Texas" last Universal N.D. Night and we heard of his continued golf triumphs from time to time. It must be grand to play that kind of game. Remember the Erickson course and the long trek it was cut out there, and Chals-o'-Lakes? What a lot of puddies that layout had! (S.H. the misty past 'ere the campus boasted a golf course?)"

"Sgt. Chuck Beret got back from Germany early in July and a little later was discharged from service. In the best Beret manner he writes, "I had a lot of fun over there and came back in one piece and still fat as hell.”

From John McMahon:
"Comes one of those periodic postcards from Joe Buckley, '28 Old Faithful, requesting class notes for Dooley, and soon. Look, Louie—you siphoned off my depleted stock a year ago. As the "city editor" of the "Youngstown Vindicator," you might as well have taken the veil together—we've been threatening. Art (Red) Canty, once of Batavia, N. Y., is located in Salt Lake City, Cal., Dick Meinert, San Marino, Calif., holds a responsible research post from Joliet, is another case for the Missing Persons Bureau, along with Jim Morrissey, Art Shein, then of Rochester, N. Y., is now in Milwaukee. Joe Breig of our vintage left the "Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph" recently to become assistant managing editor of the three Catholic weeklies in Ohio—Cleveland, Toledo and Youngstown. He is in Cleveland. Bernie Greenberg, a 1928, has been with our company in New York. I always forget to ask about his old townsmen, Harold Caneaux. There are so..."
many like that of whom we never hear hide nor hair.

Dick Elpers, the Bov brothers, Al Tehan, Tony Czer, Tony Bonnie (from Old Mississipi,) Maurice McMenamin, Joe (Blue Circle) Dornan, Bob O'Brien, Tony Cercs (from Old Mississipi,) the Fellers from Blue bluff, Art Denchfield, Dave Gibson, Big Ed McSweeney and on and on.

But then it was 21 September ago that the class of '29 was born. And the years between have been the tumult of the time discontente," with depression, wars, conversion, revolution, life and death. God speed the '29ers now returning from the wars for a prayer for those who sleep.

Yes, we are long overdue for a reunion, for a class of nine years is enough. If you are in the Los Angeles area, I hope you see Mr. Secretary, that it be scheduled soon and to last about a week!

For succeeding issues of the "Alumnus" during his absence from the country in 1945-46, Louie Buckley is asking the following to take over in his place: December, 1945, issue, Bill Keaney and Bernie Garber; February, Jack McNamara and Bob Grant; March, Bob Grant and Paul Brust; June, Tom Byrne and Jack Lavelle; August, Frank Mahoney and Mr. McCullum; October, Jack and Joe Dave Smith; December, Herb McCabe and Leo McIntyre. News is due in by mid-November. (This was written in the first part of August.)

Jack has in mind, to commemorate the fifteenth reunion, class letter that would carry a few sentences from each class member telling of his doings since June of '31. Jack continues: "It sounds quite an undertaking but as a matter of fact the individual contributions from each class member wouldn't be much, all working together here would do the assembling, filing and making ready for either mimeographing or printing. If enough are written, we can appoint committees and promptly get to work.

So there you are—a generous offer if we ever saw one! Be sure to write to Jack at once that you approve and will cooperate.

Further to organize the fifteenth reunion, Jack has appointed regional chairmen and associate regional chairmen to "go the drums" in their respective territories. These gentlemen are: Eastern Region—Don Hafpin, chairman, Mr. Bedell, Ted Galton and Bob Massey; Midwestern Region—Eddie Ryan, chairman, Dan Clark, Al Grissanti, Joe Deeb, Joe Laurence and Bert Maloney; Pacific Coast Division—Bert Maloney, chairman, Haskell Asken and Bill Morsz; Pacific Division—Matt Cuthlin, chairman, Hoyle Roehl, Dick Baker, Paul Cushing and Walt Beesley.

And now, with a low bow of real gratitude to Jack, who has done all this work "on his own"—we give you the earlier return in response to his letter to each class member: Dick Baker (Philosophy Department, St., Mary's College, Indiana), has been awarded the Legion of Merit for his service with the CIC Detachment of the AAF in Italy. He has been with the AAF since May, 1942.

Lt.Cmdr. Ted Twomey has been assigned officer in charge of physical training and the cadet regiment at the U. S. Naval Air Station in Norfork, Va. After a brief tour of duty in the south he is now in the rotation at Annapolis in June, 1942. Ted saw duty at NAS, Melbourne, Fla., for 13 months before joining the staff of Fleet Air Wing II.

Father Joe Kiernan, C.S.C., Army chaplain, wrote that he flew from Munich to Paris to London to Glasgow, then took a boat to Ireland. He concluded his letter with, "I hope to see you in September."

Lt. Col. Tommy Quilter, former bodyguard for President Roosevelt, has been awarded the Legion of Merit for his service with the CIC Detachment of the AAF in Italy. He has been with the AAF since May, 1942.

1931 John F. Saunders, Early & Moor, Inc., 139 Blackstone St., Boston, Mass.

You know how now effectively Jack Saunders has taken hold as class secretary? He has sent a letter to each member of the class and a class list, with addresses, to each member. And besides that, he is the making for the fifteenth reunion of the class which, it is hoped, can be held on the campus some time next year. So that for a such a reunion have to await a definite announcement by the University as to when is the fifteen semester-per-year at the time in session can be discontinued. While this plan remains in force reunions cannot be held.

I plan to attend the reunion and hope to see both Bill McNamara, Ed McNamara, John Zaback and the other fellows who worked with me on the 'Jugger.' These in the armed forces will probably be by next June and will be in position to attend.

"Brother Joe, '33, is a flag lieutenant for some Navy brass at Manila. He was in the Armed Guard from August of '39 to September of '42. Brother George, '39, was killed in Italy in June of '44 (August, '44, 'Alumnus'). Brother Bill, '33, has been a member of the '31 secretaries; perhaps I'll make another before 1960."

Walt Cahill (Business Department, Board of Education, City of Chicago, 234 Builders Bldg., 228 North LaSalle Street, Chicago).

"Talked to Jim Griffin yesterday. He, as you know, is coordinator of safety for the Board of Education and also a teacher in the Physical Education Department. He is now also connected with the school as a teacher at Austin High. Don Perttula has been in the Army over two years in Germany, but we expect him home around November.

"No doubt you have heard the sad news of Frank McGrath's death, which came on the heels of his well appointment in the D. A.'s Office."

"Bert Maloney was in town about a month ago. He and family are located in Austin, Texas, where he has hit it big in agency work for International Harvester Co. in the truck division, and is very successful. Bill Leshinsky is doing a bang up job for Victor Adding in their reorganization program, and as for me, I am now paymaster of the Board of Education and am being kept busy paying 25,000 employees every two weeks."

Charles "The Red" Wells (G and S Distributing Co., 415 Fourth Ave., Nashville, Tenn.): Has since 1931 been doing very well in the wholesale business in the "Athena of The South." The C. S. Wells have a 13-year-old boy, and with his day's sick leave, "Tripoli" will be pleased to tour any and all N. D.'ers about Nashville.

Bill Karl, 2115 F Street, N.W., Washington, D. C.: "I have been employed as a civilian mechanic at the Navy Department's Bureau of Ships since 1918 so that I was able to witness and take part in the complete reconstruction of the Pacific Fleet. I plan to attend the reunion and hope to see a few of our classmates who have been "the tumult of the time discontente."" ward J. O'Dea, Joseph V. O'Rourke, Charles J.

Ambrose M. Stoeppler, James M. Strong, Francis J. Sroboda.

Tom Magee of Paterson, N. J., was released from service in May. He is working as health inspector for the State Department of Health and has returned to the employ of the Tuberculosis and Health Assoc. Dr. Tom Gester, M.D., is stationed at Percy Jones Hospi tal in Berkeley, Calif., and Paul En Rasmussen of Minneapo rowski is teaching at St. Teresa's College, Collegeville, Minn.

2:5 Carl Garmire, Bridgman, Mich., has arrived in the Philippine Islands with an Army Postal Unit shipped directly from France. He entered the Navy in 1942 and has a D plus pin. Carl was wounded before the end of the month and hospitalized. For his battle participa tion, he was awarded the Purple Heart, the Distinguished budge, and also the Purple Heart.

Capt. Jim Hughes, whose wife lives in Colum bus, O., was graduated from the AAF School of Aviation Medicine, Randolph Field, Texas, on sep. 15.

1932
Lt. James K. Collins, 1135 Man chester Ave., Norfolk, Va.

From Jim Collins:
Two very welcome visitors were here last month in the persons of Jacky and John Perone. Both were drafted into the Navy and each has the rating of seaman, first class, and have been in the Navy since July 4. Joe was superintendent of a number of offices of the U. S. Employment Service in the vicinity of New Haven. He was sent to radio school and is now on his ward in the Navy. He expects to be a civilian again soon.

Describing just what Perone is up to is a little more difficult. He was discovered at Mass by Don Ryan, who brought him over to the house where he has spent most of his life since adolescence. He is an excellent sleight-of-hand and card tricks, with all of the embellishments which come with years of practice. He has had a very unusual situation of waiting for a new ship which probably will not be built now. In the meantime he is impatiently waiting for the day when he will return home. He is spending a month in the persons of Jce Kennedy and Bob Collyer, a very nice fellow. He expects to enter the Navy in the fall.

John Litcher was from Tokyo Bay that his outfit expects to be the last one to leave that part of the world to return home. He has been overseas since November, 1942, and is finishing up his South American campaign with the 14th of April. I am a lieutenant, USNR, in St. Joseph's Church in Duanesne, Pa., on an assignment which I consider very nicely in a real estate development projec project. He is doing especially well since the Americans came as he is leasing them a lot no of property for warehouses. He said they lost very heavily in the damage of the war. He spent two years in the Army and now has a position with the American Tobacco Company and misses his American cigarettes and most of all some good old American beer. I am going to spend a few days in New York soon and are going to look up some of the N. D. boys he knows.

"One of the biggest treats I have had since I came to the Army came about the other night. We were having a talk on the Jap soldier by someone that knows. It was given by none other than the now famous Frank Murphy of the Sixth Rangers. It was like old times for many hours into the night. He said it was a real treat to find someone who wanted to talk about something other than war. . . . His principal worry now is getting home and seeing his wife and daughter, whom he has never seen. He said he thinks he has about $80 points as he has been over here about ten years. I too can sympathize with him as I have just completed my 24th."

14. Cmndr. John Conley, of Baltimore, has received the praise of his admiral as a result of a message from President Truman commending him for his reports to the USN August during the trip and from September. Admiral H. B. Miller, USN, director of the Navy, Navy Department, forwarded the Presidential message to Conley because of his interest in the preparation of the reports. He added his personal commendation. John joined the Navy August with the rank of Lieu­tenant (j.g.). He was public relations officer at the Norfolk, Va., Naval Air Station, later being sent to Baltimore to take charge of a Fifth Naval district branch public relations office. In November, 1941, he was made acting press officer of the Navy Department's Office of Public Relations, and shortly afterward he was given full status in the position.

Mike Wield, who is married to Agnes Sobatzke, who's A.B. '32, A.M. '33, is secretary of the Atlanta Chapter of American Society of Metals.

1935 Franklyn C. Hochreiter, 2118 Treasure St., New Orleans, La.

From John Holahan in Wilkes-Barre, Pa.:

"I met Hal Clift in Washington on the 13th of August. He said that he had not been discharged as a Lieutenant from the Navy after four years service. He expects to take a position as public relations officer in the gubernatorial office. He says he will send them on a tour of duty in foreign countries.

14. (ag) Charlie Mahler of Salina, Kansas, was in the vicinity of Radio City in August.

Father Tom Hewitt, C.S.C., chaplain, delivered the keynote address at the opening of the first session, and he is now the director of basketball at Providence College. Ed reports that the Brown prospects look pretty good for '46.

We spent some happy hours with Basil "Jerry" Gillespie when he was stationed here. He has been in armed guard and at the King's Point. Sporting a couple of stripes as an officer in the Merchant Marine, Earl will be head coach of the King's Point football squad. Earl has a very nice schedule lined up this fall with Harvard and Boston College.

While on the subject of coaching, we might point out that Ed Cottrell is doing a fine job as head coach at Fordham and head coach of basketball at Providence College. Ed reports that the Brown prospects look pretty good for '46.

Occasionally we meet Joe Condon, '41, in the vicinity of Radio City. Joe is with the F.B.I. and is interesting in assignments in the Eastern area.

Tom Proctor is now working as legal counsel with the Hazenite Electronic outfit, with headquarters in and around New York. Audrey Proctor and the lovely Mrs. Proctor, and their son are living in Manhattan. As is to be expected of Tom, he is taking the road to success. One of these days he'll find himself a D.A. or a governor.

We were pleasantly surprised a few weeks ago when Jack Murphy dropped into the office. Jack is a surgeon on one of Uncle Sam's cruisers and was aboard when his vessel made up part of the Presidential entourage at Yalta. One of these days we'll ask Jack to write a full account of the proceedings for the 'Alum­nus.' As we are writing the column, a note comes from Jack saying that he expects to make this port around the 15th and asks that we get together. Maybe he'll start his "mem­oirs" right away.

That's all for this issue. With the war ended, we hope the men of the class will have more time to write us news of themselves which we will pass along.

1936 Joseph F. Mansfield, 34 Fifth St., Paluma, N. Y.

From Joe Mansfield:

The letters have been on the scarce side of late, but a few of the lads have found time in their busy schedules to drop a word or two this way. John Morse, "01'' Faithful" in the keeping-in-touch department, was, at his last writing, in the Pacific. He is skippering an armed cutter out of New York last winter after an extended tour of duty in European waters.

Some few weeks later, we received letters from John Morse, "01'' in the Navy. Bob Noon, '32, telling us that they had met in the Admiralty Islands. Bob has been stationed there for the past year and a half as a naval officer. John's ship put into port and he and Bob had a real Notre Dame reunion. Later, Bob was flown to Australia on business and who should he bump into again but Morse. Needless to say, the second reunion was a humdinger. Bob is due back in the States any day now for re-assignment, and re-acquaint­ance with his lovely wife, Jeanne. They were married just a few hours before Bob left the States.

John Desmond sent a letter telling of his experiences in Africa, Italy and England. He is still in London, attached to the Intelligence branch. Earl Brown is now in New York, stationed at King's Point. Sporting a couple of stripes as an officer in the Merchant Marine, Earl will be head coach of the King's Point football squad. Earl has a very nice schedule lined up this fall with Harvard and Boston College.

Some few weeks later, we received letters from Joe Condon, '41, in the vicinity of Radio City. Joe is with the F.B.I. and is interested in assignments in the Eastern area.

Tom Proctor is now working as legal counsel with the Hazenite Electronic outlet, with headquarters in and around New York. Audrey Proctor and the lovely Mrs. Proctor, and their son are living in Manhattan. As is to be expected of Tom, he is taking the road to success. One of these days he'll find himself a D.A. or a governor.

Lt. Frank Dunn of Joliet, Ill., recently com­pleted his 54th air mission in 15 months over the enemy's home territory with the 20th Air Force and has been named a Distinguished Flying Cross. He also has two children living in Joliet where he practiced law.

Father Henry Heinzl, C.S.C., chaplain, has been with the Army for the past four years. He is commissioning and participated in four major invasions, both in Europe and in the Pacific . . . southern France, Lezon, Iwo Jima and Okinawa. Father has won the right to wear all four campaign ribbons of this war, including the newest, the Philippines Liberation ribbon.

Johnny Hobbs is now a lieutenant com­manding in the Navy Department in the Pacific. He writes he recently encountered Lt. (fg) Joe Zwerp, '37, out there.

Horace Strocker, his wife and two daughters, visiting her mother in Roseland, near South­ Bend, Homer, whose home is New York City, formerly a war editor for the "New York Sun," was in Roseland for a few days and then took a tour of Europe. Paul Lauger, discharged from the Navy, has started with the Mitchell, McConnell, Organization (PR, motion, public relations) in Chicago. Way back in July we received a letter from Tom Golden in which he mentioned having met Lt. George Mclarny on an island in the Pacific.

1937 Frank J. Reilly, MacNair-Dor­land Co., 254 W. 31st St., New York City

From Frank Reilly:

Just before sitting down to write this piece, I received a telephone call from my Park­chester neighbor, Joe, who reported that he had a fairly full portion of the doings of some of our classmates. Tom, incidentally, has been very helpful to me, but when he found out my money, would make a top-flight reporter on anybody's newspaper. He had heard from Joe Condon, '41, a few weeks ago, in London, who is currently taking a demobilization course at Great Lakes Naval Training Station, told of seeing Bill Lynch, '37, there. Joe roomes with another of our more illustrious classmates, Wally Dromliart. Joe's course, apparently, is intended to fit him as an instructor or coun­sellor to naval discharges.

Jack Baker, '37, whom I mistakenly thought was in the Army, is back in his former post at The New York Times, where he is doing a fairly good job of keeping up on the news. In relaying that bit of news to me, Tom Hughes, who relayed a note from Frank Reilly, MacNair-Dorland Co., 254 W. 31st Street, New York City... department of the National Catholic Welfare Conference, also in Washington. John’s next move was into the Federal Bureau of In ternational Justice. Meanwhile, my own activities centered around teaching.

Naturally, when you get together with a couple of class-mates you haven’t seen since the fateful day, there are a number of familiar names that come to mind, for example, as that of Charlie Meyers, the Elgin, Ill., boy who did so handsomely scholastically in his undergraduate work at Notre Dame. After Charlie left N. D., he went to Chicago where he joined a law firm that specialized in patent cases. He did very well at it, and when the head of the business went into the army, Charlie took a very good position with another Chicago law firm. The name of Joe Loftus came up at the lunch. John having mentioned that Joe was a naval lieutenant, I believe John and he had met Joe some time ago. Other items picked up at luncheon that came under the heading of background information, rather than news, are: Martin Huguen’s completion of N. D. law school and practice of the same in a local firm; Joe O’Reilly and John Vie er’s graduation from the same institution; Ed Sklarek, a student of Chicago bistro’s and Ned Joyce becoming a C. S. C.—following our five-year reunion in 1942.

Another neighbor of mine, Mark Longeran, of ’43, wrote me a card in which he went by the fact that he was recently transferred from Balinbridge Naval Training Station, Balinbridge, Md., to a New York Pier address.

From the mail more of the details on Jim Gardiner’s wedding came through when he wrote to Father Crouth F. Kelli, O.F.M., who, in turn, forwarded the letter to Jim. Jim writes: “We got the Church blessing (at St. Germaine-en-Laye, June 16) and I managed to struggle through with a ‘Oul’ in my ‘Canuck bistro’ until 1:15 a.m. I was a bit worried about how French should be spoken. It’s terrible all the mistakes these Frenchmen make, there are few pronunciations like mine can understand. It was quite an affair, quite unlike a ‘hitching’ in the States. Firstly, we had to be married by the town mayor. That was followed by a tying of the knot by the pastor of Madame’s parish. The ceremony took place in a small town about 15 miles from Paris and the whole town was there. After a very impressive nuptial Mass there was dancing until 3 a.m., at which time there was an altar rail while everyone in the church lined up to kiss the bride on both cheeks. Some came directly from France so I thought they would never stop coming by. As you can imagine, it was quite a meal where the children recited something they had learned for the occasion and the older folks sang indi cisively. Then there was dancing until 4:30 a.m.

“Our honeymoon was spent at Vouyry, famous for its wines. . . . Don’t know when I’ll be coming home, but it does not look as though it will be soon. Hope you will keep in touch with me as I want to drop in when we hit New York.”

Another very welcome and totally unexpected letter came through Sept. 13 from Girard E. Rider, Lieutenent, U.S.N., Lake Beach, ABAZU, Long Island, N. Y. That would be none other than our friend and cham dr race partner, Charley Morris, for Mark. Our friend Jerry writes: “. . . Last May, I celebrated my three years in service. On May 9, 1942, I was one of the Forty-First Veterans Reunion and just nine days later I reported there for navy indoctrination as an ensign. One of the last I heard from Minnesota was Johannes Milligan of Lake Village, Ark., is in the Phil ippines with an army postal unit, being shipped directly from France (Marseilles in June—Lisbon in July).”

From Major Luke Timan: “I thought that I had written to you back in April to tell you that our second child had arrived, a girl whom we named Teresa Rose sure that his son, Joe Jr., will manhandle my son Pat when they meet at N. D. around 1960.

Li. Tom Boben just dropped me a card that he is home from the Pacific. He was participated in the last battles in Germany, going over in January and coming back in June. He spent several months in the Pacific and left two children, Pat (rilis) and Mike in St. Paul before leaving for Japan.

While in Chicago last summer I ran into Bob Moilen of Youngstown, O., an engineer with the Ohio outfit. He called his mother mentioned that Jack's roguy at N. D., Phil Shields, is stationed at Camp Lewis, near Seattle. He was told that Jack Mary gave her latest address 1125 State St., Olympia, Wash. I have heard of several other Notre Dame men who originally came from LaPorte. Ernie Launois, '37, is now married and has a four month old son. All of his Clarksburg accountants at his Milwaukee Super-charge plant. His address is 81 W. Wisconsin Ave., Milwaukee. Capt. Frank Munnighen who was with Ernie in Corsa Sub our senior year has been in the Army four and one-half years. Frank is in the 11th Airborne in Louis doing in the field artillery.

Howard Murdock, '31, is working at the Kingsbury Ordnance Plant just south of here, and lives just two blocks from us with his wife and their two children. Pat (ricia) and Mike in St. Paul

Rex, Victor P. Froehoe, of our class is minister of the St. Paul's Evangelical Church here in LaPorte and plans to send his two children, Pat (ricia) and Mike in St. Paul Franklin Stroud is another La Fortean who committed to N. D. Franklin runs an insurance and real estate business here in LaPorte and plans to send his two children, Pat (ricia) and Mike in St. Paul

1939 Vincent W. DeCoursey, 1321 South Springfield Avenue, Chicago

While awaiting shipment to the states, Lt. Pete Repetti of Newark, N. J., is enrolled in courses in French language and civilization at the Sorbonne, University of Paris. He's been overseas since last September and participated in the central Europe, Rhineland and northern France campaigns. Capt. Fred Simon who served 26 months in the company command was awaiting reassignment at Mimi Beach, Fla. Lt. Earl Brown, who coached at Harvard, Brown and Dartmouth, was named head football coach at the U. S. Merchant Marine Academy at Kings Point, N. Y. After serving in the African and Italian campaigns. 1st Sgt. John Focke of Dayton, Ohio, has arrived home from Italy.

TENELLI IS RELEASED

Sgt. Mario "Motti" Tenelli, '39, who survived the "March of Death" on Bataan for eight days and the brutal treatment accorded American prisoners for three and one half years, was found in a Japanese army camp near Yokkaki. And on the JSL which removed him from Japan were two Notre Dame begmen of the 3rd Army. Louis M. Sheehan and Bob Klein. Tom reported to the University that Motti was "looking fine" and feeling pretty "proud" despite his loss of weight, from 206 to 125 pounds. By the time you read this Motti will probably be at home in Chicago.

Ph. M. Al Kiefer was home and enjoying a rehabilition program. He stated that he would leave the Air Force immediately and take over the Fire Department of the Navy.

Bob Mullen of Cincinnati, O., is still in Germany forresting Oa Naval Service for the Navy Intelligence. Lt. Nick Lamberto dropped in at the Alumni Office on his way to Cincinnati. Edn. Joe Zwirner is an executive and communication officer aboard an LCT with the seventh amphibious force in the Philippines. Pat McCarty, for several years coach of Central Catholic High School team in his home town of Toledo, Ohio, is now in the Army and is assigned at Camp Attleboro, Ind.

Marine 2nd Lt. Joe Koting, South Bend, was selected to serve as an Auxiliary pilot in an all-Marine aircraft carrier group after training at the Marine Corps Air Station, Santa Barbara, Calif. Sgt. Frank Zinck of Chicago is in a photoscoping company of the 64th engineers in Manila. Frank was in service before Pearl Harbor and has seen duty all the way from the Alcan Highway to Australia and the South Pacific. Jim has been assigned as station air inspector at Hendricks Field, Florida. For his tour of combat in the ETO as a pilot, Jim has the DFC with two oak leaf clusters, the Air Medal with four clusters and a Presidential unit citation. He is currently in Chicago in the Air Force service against the Japs.

1940 Capt. Robert G. Sanford, 3824 N. Maryland Ave., Milwaukee, Wis.

Lt. (jg) Don Deesell serving as executive officer aboard a P-47 Thunderbolt over the west coast of Mana during the Leyte last March. After several runs all four barracks were left off to sight of the Japs. He is now from the Xavy in England, Capt. Gene Sheridan then reported to his unit in the expectation of transfer to the Pacific.

T Sgt. Clyde Archer of Parkersburg, W. Va., has returned to the states with the Purple Heart, the combat infantryman badge and the European campaign ribbon with two battle stars.

Bob Paul was assistant to the chief of the tool department at the Thomas A. LaPorte. He is in Los Angeles—there are 25,000 employees in this department throughout the country. Paul is a leading figure in the N. D. Club of Los Angeles. T Sgt. Jim McCube, radio operator in a Liberator bomber, completed his 100th mission in the southwest Pacific. Jim whose home is in Johnson City, N. Y., flew over such targets as Formosa, Indo-China, China coast ports and Borneo. He is now a trans-ment officer in Belle Mec, N. J. and Lt. Fred Stubine, his former Noye roommate, is on the seafarers staff at San Diego, Calif.

Lt. Wally Borey, Navy flier who has been repported missing in action in the Pacific, has been awarded the DFC for heroism as pilot of a torpedo plane. His wife and two children are residing in Pflorien, Me.

John Brodericker has received his honorable discharge from the Army and is living and working in Cincinnati. Lt. Bill Fay is editor of the Honolulu edition of "Stars and Stripes" and is ex-commandant of the Central Catholic High School in Fort Wayne, Ind. Lt. Ed Wurtzrecht, USNR, after extended service in the Pacific was home to South Bend on leave. He reported to Great Lakes where he is expected to receive a discharge. Capt. Jim Barrell visited the office before reporting back to his air base in Hayward, Nebr., last September.

From Rock LePage to Bob Sanford:

"Just a few words to let you know I've been discharged from the Army. Returned from Europe, running a chemical, but I'm doing a little work with the office of strategic services for a year."

"In March was awarded the Croix de Guerre by the French Government. Niceat part about that is that it boosted my point score from 84 to 85—right past the critical 85."

Jean is now working for the National City Bank of New York, and his address is 20 Geary Summit, N. J.

Bob Sanford still in Minneapolis, is now a captain. He met Mccomb, '38, in Minn.

Dick Faller writes from St. Joseph's Seminary in Dunwoodie, Yonkers, N. Y., that he will be ordained to the priesthood on Dec. 1 in St. Patrick's Cathedral in New York, and that his first solemn Mass will be on Dec. 2 in Holly Family Church, New Rochelle, N. Y. He adds: "Since it will be impossible to send invitations to all the fellows, I ask now that any who are in New York be with me."

From Major Joe Malqueen, USMCR, to Bob Sanford:

"Am located at the Marine headquarters here in San Francisco, having been back from overseas 14 months plus. Housing shortage in that city is acute. House has been in order the wife, Peggie, and the two gnomos could have a place to come in out of the fog.

"In the Navy's Army’s Lt. Frank Blakbuck backtaaped with me a 'I haven't seen you since graduation' and proceeded to tell me how he's been doing since he and his branchy-new wife, Frank is studying Japanese at Stanford and coupling this with a communication course. Several weeks before this, I spied FBI's Frank Bright riding past this pedestrian in downtown San Francisco. He stopped and we made like long-lost brothers-in-law and agreed to have lunch together at Fisherman's Wharf some Friday. There, I learned that he was married to a Sentine girl and that diapers are already a big part of Monday's wash. He tells me that Dick Swisher is also around these parts spreading the good word about Notre Dame.

"Lt. Herb Fairall, '38, is publishing the Marine Corps' Cheroev at the Marine Corps Base in San Diego. Herb read all about me and told me that Sanpan is taking its time healing. He passed on the following news about the Denver '40 class: He is floating around in the vagabond area of one of the Texas air stations after a siege of it Pacific way, Tom married one of Herb's sisters two years ago. Chuck Cassidy was last corresponded with from Italy where he's wearing wings on his chest and eagles on his shoulders. Stateside — returned Marine Capt. Tom Barry, '40, now commands two ration books and so far as is known is still alive and looking forward to our class reunion this summer.

"Big Jim Donohue was a well-ribboned Marine captain when I saw him at the Carlisle Hotel in Oceanide, Calif., some months ago. He was fresh back from four campaigns in the South Pacific and much aglow in introspection books and so far as is known is still alive and looking forward to our class reunion this summer.

"Thought I would let you know that I'm still alive and looking forward to our class reunion this summer. I'm hoping to tell you what will happen when our bunch gets together again. I recall our freshman year when we almost wrecked a trolley after the Notre Dame-Army game. (Get dizzy when anyone mentioned Army to me). Shall we try to be more behaved on our next cruise.

"Good luck and may God keep us all."

"It's been a long time since many of the '40 class have heard of or from Bob McKinley. He overserved with me for a period of eight or nine years. It might be interesting to know that Bob is going into his ninth year in the Jesuit order and is teaching classes in Latin, debate and elocution in the St. Louis University High School.

"Marty Regan writes that he's exec on a destroyer-escort and still directing around the Mediterranean. Marty was on a destroyer at least three out of the last four years in these waters. Jack Reddy ups and gets married some six or eight months ago but no word since that time. Indirect word says Jerry O'Deed is skipper of a salty LCI and is steering it around oriental waters.

"Major Bob Hackman and George Haggerty are spending this summer on the Harvard campus after having spent the last two on Guadalcanal and some months ago but no word since that time. Indirect word says Jerry O'Deed is skipper of a salty LCI and is steering it around oriental waters.

"Now that this War is finally reaching a closing point, I hope many of us can get together on that promised reunion next summer and rapidly extending its sixth year. How about it Bob?

Sgt. Clarence T. (Pete) Sheehan, transferred from Hollywood, Calif., to the Reception Station No. 2, Ft. Dix, N. J., writes:

"Jack Reddy in the mess hall after I came to Dix. Jack is a counselor in the separations branch. He is set to re-unite with Bob Bernard in New York. My one ahead roommate in Badin Hall, Bud is now at the Brooklyn Navy yard. Paul Daly, the real roamse, is a personnel officer at North Camp Hood, Texas.

"Bing Binkowski, '33, for a long tour in the South Pacific, was the star right fielder on the DePaul University baseball team. Also in the Navy. He says Matt Belcher is there with him. Bing saw Ed Brocie in California. Ed was getting ready to sail."

Lt. John W. Patterson, Jr., 5530 Darlington Rd., Pittsburgh, Pa.

From Roland Bellatoni, Capt. USMCR, in the Pacific to Jack Patterson:

"Thought I would let you know that I'm still alive and looking forward to our class reunion this summer. I'm hoping to tell you what will happen when our bunch gets together again. I recall our freshman year when we almost wrecked a trolley after the Notre Dame-Army game. (Get dizzy when anyone mentioned Army to me). Shall we try to be more behaved on our next cruise.

"I saw Leo Hillebrand only a short while before he was killed at Iwo. It certainly is a shame that such an expensive price to be paid. I remember all of our Notre Dame men in my prayers.

"Good luck and may God keep us all."

"Jim Lang, with the FBI in San Francisco, is living there with his wife and son, James Jr. T.Sgt. Bill Scanlon, of Ft. Sheridan, has been awarded the Bronze Star Medal and received a direct appointment as second lieutenant on the island of Mindanao. Sgt. Gerry Kasem, '44, has been awarded the Bronze Star with a letter from, brother Elmer Kasem, who also writes of another brother, Sgt. Wilber Kasem, '49, who was at Marseille, France.

Lt. (Jg) Eddie Ricka was wounded in a battle while fighting with the Pacific fleet in Japanese waters according to word received by his wife, who lives in South Bend. Lt. Bob Conner, navigator of a Navy search plane, returned to the U. S. for leave and reassignment after completing eighty and one-half months duty in the Pacific.

The distinction of being the first officer to report aboard his "tin can" belongs to Lt. Arnold Allman of Ft. Sheridan, Ill., who in March, 1943, helped place her into commission, and since that time he has sailed well over 211,000 miles without a skip in the enemy engagement from Wake Island to Okinawa.

Capt. Virgil Van Meter received his promotion at the Aberdeen Proving Ground in Maryland, for his outstanding military services in the ETO. And we have another Bronze Star Medalist. He is Capt. Bud Feiglino who won his for work during the German flying bomb attack on the port of Antwerp.

John O'Loughlin was program chairman and toastmaster at the Junior Association of Commerce luncheon given in the Sherman Hotel, Chicago, for the All-Star players and their coaches on Aug. 23. John is still with Illinois Bell. 2nd Lt. Jerry Ryan of Smug­hanna, Pa., was appointed assistant maintenance officer at the Columbus Army Air Field.

The parents of Lt. (Jg) Chuck Eremoladhan, received a cablegram from him recently announcing his liberation from a Japanese prison camp. A Navy flyer, he was captured after being shot down over Tarawa Sept. 16, 1943.

Chuck Farrell, another former prisoner of war, in Germany, has returned to the United States.
You can get the latest news on the Lawyers from Mrs. Lora Lashbrook's usual fine contribution.

The big news now everywhere, of course, is of the approaching home of our men who are already back from the war. Among the highlights in this category was the news that our Mary, now back and safely in Chicago, is being married on Sept. 25 in Missouri. The bride is Mary Lou Daim of Normandy, Mo., and former of St. Mary's. Joe, you will remember, was the “cover boy” on the April, 1944, "Alumnus" and the "Scholastic" of April 15, 1944.

Others who have indicated that they expect release from military duty soon are Major Robert E. Sullivan, who is still in Europe but expects to get out shortly. Lt. Charles Housink, still in Texas but whose discharge may not be too long in coming, and Joe Lavery, already discharged and ready to practice law in Connecticut.

A letter came from Lt. (jg) Gerard Feeley of the U.S. Sub. Hubert in the Pacific, who reports that he has no prospects of discharge until further notice. Like the others, he wishes that some such change would be made so that he could get his legal education finished.

Lt. (jg) James F. McVay sent his application for admission to the Pennsylvania Bar after telephoning from Seattle giving us instructions as to the material we were to furnish for that purpose. He has been home on another short leave but is now headed for the Japanese area again as the President Zachary and its officers and men from my old outfit made the change of units with me, so I feel as though I’m too much of a stranger in my new surroundings.

I have recently acquired a very beautiful German shepherd police dog that is rapidly becoming a fine companion to me. Please remember me to any members of the class of ’42 that you may contact.

Lt. Chet Sullivan, third base star and hitting ace of Ft. Sheridan teams in our early era, passed through only long enough to look me up and say hello.

An excellent letter from Fred Paulmann, Jr., of Mt. Vernon, N. Y.: he writes:

"Quite a few of the N. D. boys have been around here lately, and I thought you might pass the word to the fellows via the "Alumnus."

"I was married on June 16 to Cecilia Dennehy, of New Rochelle, and it was a real Notre Dame wedding, 1st Lt. Walter Brennan, ’41, was my best man, and three of the four ushers were Notre Dame fellows: Jack Malone, ’42, made the trip all the way from Toledo to be one; Charles Cooper came up from Brooklyn, and Raymond Araujo, ’42, stayed over on his visit from Colombia to help me out. I’ve plenty on my plate and work as soon as possible. 1st Lt. Thomas J. Trueman, ’41, was to have been another usher but he had to return to Denver for surgical treatment before the wedding.

"Had a get-together recently with the above fellows and also Doc Leising of the Army, Lt. (jg) John Sperber, who I stationed in New York for a while, Lt. (jg) Bob McFarland, who just left for Panama last week, and Clem Hansen, stationed at V-Mall. All are still here. Also had a grand re-union with Lt. (jg) Ed Hackett, who came down weekend from St. Louis, Mo. Lt. (jg) Johnnie Bissette phoned the other day that he is back in the States after two years overseas, and Lt. (jg) Bob Lohn, T.7., for a few furloughs. Saw a lot of Byron Kasmer until recently when he moved from this city back to Chicago,"

The Notre Dame Alumni

Bill Spangler is still in India with the Army Air Forces. He should have almost enough points for discharge but has come from him in the last few weeks—in fact not since the end of the war. Jim Dancer was in for a visit last night. He will probably be discharged now for his service with the Army and will return to practice. He looked wonderful and was enthusiastic about the new V-mail field. He has a special interest in the field of aviation law, which happens to be a specialty of our right.

Jim Diver, home for 36 days from Europe where he has served with the 35th, the famous Timbervolkes, caught up on his sleeping but didn’t get up for a visit. He was enroute to the Pacific where the 35th is thought to be one. We are not sure whether or not he has actually gone that direction.

Ted Freire wrote that he has had several nice offers to go into law firms, all the way from Florida to Minnesota, but thinks he will accept a place in an Ohio firm since he passed the Ohio examinations and is now ready to practice. Ted was all set to take the bar exams on the first days of January when he was called into the military service. He finished law school. After a tour of duty with the Navy on the U.S.S. Bogie, he was given a medical discharge a few months ago.

Henry Anderson was discharged from the Army several months ago after suffering the loss of his wife, who died while Henry was on active duty.

John Spence wrote for the necessary documentary material to make him eligible for some graduate study at the University of Michigan in the field of law. He will enter there this month.

Bill Syring sent a postcard from Ireland where he was enjoying a 39-day leave from his duties in Germany and he reports the 11th relatives very well.

A letter from the Illinois Bar examiners tells us that Pete Alonzi is being considered for the October class. The material has gone in here and this may be some evidence that Pete will soon be a civilian again. He has been out with the Pacific fleet for some months now.

We had a nice surprise this week, too, in a visit from the father of Lt. Bob Simon, USMC. He says Bob is on Guam and he has no idea when he may be home but he hopes very soon.

Bob’s wife and baby are in Ottawa, Ill., waiting for Bob to telegraph them from Guam. He has been discharged and will have court-martialed and will be allowed to return to work in the bank in Chicago. He likes the polished desk and the freedom from the worry of building up a law practice.

Capt. Al Choisy wrote a nice letter from Fort Lauderdale, Florida, where he is serving with the Military Government. He promised to look up Gerry Kempin, who is stationed in the same area with the same outfit. They had not seen each other when letters arrived from each of them giving us the same address and describing the work in identical words, so we immediately went to look each up and find the other up, which instruction has now been carried out. Neither had much hope of getting home in his future.

Another bit of good news reaches our desk in the form of an announcement of the opening of a new law firm in Chicago at 109 W. Monroe St., with one of the partners, John J. Ward, Jr. While we have had no additional news, we can assume John is out of uniform and that he is continuing an active and civilian life with John in the neighborhood of Chicago.

Leo Linek wrote from Sheppard Field, Texas, where he is serving with the Air Corps. He was through South Bend a few days ago but all the visiting I had with him was a few minutes in the hotel. Bill Spanier, a fellow with Station. He also hopes for an early discharge and a return to his law practice in Michigan.
Volume 23, No. 5, October, 1945

Station Hospital unit of the Medical Corps. Nick Gulassey has completed his first year at Loyola Medical School, Chicago, and is well into the second year. Brother Vie is with an ordnance company in Manila.

Lt. Chuck McNell, long with the armed guards of the South Bend, is home, and Notre Dame in July. His assignment there was Treasure Island, San Francisco.

Marine Capt. Charles Butterworth, South Bend, since Corregidor a prisoner of the Japanese, was on the Camp helen Yohama. Mrs. Butterworth who hadn't seen her son for seven years planned to go to the coast to meet him.

From Ed Rosey:

October is rolling around fast and in another two months most of us have left as alumni. Three years is a long time, but, I believe we've stuck together as well as any classmates under the circumstances of to-day. It'll be our job now to stick together just as closely for the rest of our lives as we have been these past three years. We should be able to get together oftener, and we'll hold some of these bull sessions as only '43 can do.

It might be well, while we're all thinking of getting out of uniform and back into civilian life, to remember those of our classmates who've lost their lives, to remember those of our classmates who've won the Purple Heart. That's about all for this column so I'll close with a reminder that we could use some letters and photographs from you. I hope to get after Pat to write in what news he has.

To Bob Towner has been awarded the Bronze Star for meritorious service with the 191st Airborne outfit. He writes that he expects to be home by Christmas. He's trying for a 6 per cent representation in the Alumni Fund. How about giving your all toward it?

From Johnny Lynch:

V-J Day and recent reassignments from the European theatre has brought the usual number of letters, but first we'll have to talk some more about the Aussies after the last deadline. The first is an airmail from John Amsb, a Lt. (jg) on the U.S.S. Guam.

"We hit, San Francisco for a few days in June, but it was a stay that lasted just long enough for us to get a tang of the good old States and then shore of. I had hoped for a leave of some sort, but my luck wasn't working, so the telephone was the nearest I got to home. Maybe I'll get home in the next four or five months and we can go out again just like old times."

While in 'Frisco I ran into Jim McVay, '42, who was going on a short leave, and we bumped into each other yesterday while I was on shore patrol duty in this port. He said that he had been back to N.D., Ed Hickey on the ship that is berthed next to us. As yet we haven't gotten together, but tomorrow's the day. He's on the Army transports in this area, but finding him is like looking for a needle in a haystack. Vincent Dunne was at Okinawa on his R & R, but had come back from a leave yesterday. Who knows but what Jim Byrne might end up out here if the war is over? Ed Hickey came from Okinawa to Pearl Harbor with us and is football coach at Parkersburg Junior High in his home town of Parkersburg, W. Va. Two days before the surrender of Germany, Bill flew his final mission over Berlin. He was badly shot up on one mission and received the Purple Heart.

"I first heard you were back in the States when I visited N.D. late last month after we came in from our first cruise. [My letters to J.B. were following him to Cuba—J.L.] I saw Jim Armstrong, Roy Donovan and several rounds around town and had a talk with Frank O'Malley while riding the bus.

"I enjoyed your up to the minute dope in the 'Alumnus.' Two of our other officers are ex. N.D. men—Bob Scriven and Jim Heirne, ex. '32. Crowley and I got together with Tom Fagan in April and had a good time. Ran into Ems. Joe Comity, '45, and Mike O'Connor, '43, while in Cuba. Joe is on a PC and Mike has a shore job. I tried to talk Mike..."
out of 45 pairs of shoes for our ship, but he only let me have 15. "Walt till I catch him if he's not already here. [See "Deaths," this issue.]

"I've been married the 25th of this month, and two of the fellows who will help hold me up are John Van Benthon and Bill Snyder. I hope to get down to school before I get orders to go back. It looks right now as if it won't be too long before we all be meeting down there some day."

Jim Landgren writes:

"Received a copy of the 'Alumnus' the other day, read your news, and thought I'd drop a line to you. I am doing pretty well and as missing in action, so it might be a good idea to clear that up. I spent a couple of months in a German hospital in Leipzig, and after being bombed out went to Sialag 4B. It was quite a surprise to read that Duce Leary spent some time there. I certainly would have liked to have bumped into him.

"Joe Bad, Bill Kenny, and Bill Ginnan were all in my outfit, and all came through o.k. The news on Mox Rufton was welcome to read. It looks right now as if it won't be too long before we all be meeting down there some day."

Jim Landgren and I am still assigned to a convalescent hospital at Ft. Custer.

"Since I've been home I have received letters from my old roomie, John O'Brien, West Bend, Wis., Jack O'Connell with the Navy in Georgia, and Frank Brinkman at Camp Fannin, Texas. I sent them a visit from Paul O'Connell who is working for the government in Rochester, N. Y. Little Vic DeSclimmon came through a lot of tough fighting with the 86th division in the ETO and is now waiting his turn to come home. When I went over I was pretty lucky to be with three chapsmates. Bob McFerde, Warren Lesiay, Mike Zorovich and I were all in the same regiment of the 106th where we were closely connected. I knew Warren and Bob had been captured. I've got another three weeks before I report to Miami Beach to "round out" for that discharge. After that I plan to return to school..."

"I've got some three weeks before I report to Miami Beach to "round out" for that discharge. After that I plan to return to school..."

"I've been back in the States about two and a half months, and at present am in the middle of a great 90-day furlough. The reason for being that the censor has been quite a few liberties together in lonely Honolulu, cousin), and also Joe Gally, '44, and Jack Murray, '43, Joe and I were able to make quite a few liberties together in lonely Honolulu.

"As has been mentioned in previous issues of the 'Alumnus,' old roomie from V-12, Rebel Shackman, was through here for a visit, and I have seen Bob Naught, Bill Talbot, Johnie Moore, Ralph Vinceguerra, Jim Britz, Tony Molinaro, and Joe Gally, '44. Kit Furbish, a boy from John O'Brien's class, before he went home on his ship to get married, and Tom Shellworth and John Henry, '45. Those are the fellows back in the States that I write home to.

"Quite a gathering with my neighbor Bill Connelly, Hank Bohl, and a pretty lady. Bill is an RT in the Navy. They were both in the V-12 unit, and shall receive my M.D. degree in October. Bill jumped into a heavy sea without a life jacket. Two days later he suffered a spinal fracture when a jap mine exploded on contact with the anchor chain of the LCT on which he was serving. He has since been recuperating in naval hospitals.

"Quite a few of the fellows, but shocking to learn of the deaths of so many of them. I hope to receive each issue from St. Louis now on, as I learned when in St. Louis last month that I was eligible for a 'war-time degree' from N.D., and then will be a real alumnus myself.

"As you may remember, I left N.D. in December of '42 after completing three years of pre-med. I entered the University of Colorado later in the year and in March of '43, am now in my senior year, am a member of the Pre-medical Society, my M.D. degree is coming in March of '44, I have been accepted for internship at the St. Louis University group of hospitals. They are doing quite a few things that I'll tell you later. My B.S. from N.D. in October when the next convocation is held.

"Haven't heard from too many of the boys lately, Bud Kuhna was stationed in Oakland in the States. Jack Wietchoff, '43, is still in the Philippines now. After sweating out the backwoods of Guadalcanal for many months, he's back here by the skin of his teeth and probably a l.g. now. Paul Marieota was stationed in Phoenix the last I heard. I hope to catch him out of cigarettes in the Pacific. While at N.D. I ran into Navy Med Student Brock Lynch, around to pick up a laurel, and Bill Billis an RT in the Navy. They were both in Catholic Action with me.

"There are plenty of chances for CA work on this ship, I'm holding services Sunday for my division, and put out a daily on the newspaper which goes along with the daily press news.

"I saw Chuck Patterson who's working for the government in Oakland, and I went to visit the coach that day.

"I've received the June issue of the 'Alumnus,' a publication that I haven't completely opened before! Dick Doermer was through here a short while ago just fresh from his resort dis-

"McMichael—and his boys went out and whipped us good. Carl Loyd, '41, was in his shift, too.

"J. F. keeps the candle out for the boys overseas through his "V-12 unit". A few of them are up now, and let the boys know that the welcome sign is always out here at the Pearl Harbor air station."

"The Notre Dame alumni lists lost two names from the missing column when Herb Clark and Jim Landgren reported in safely after V-E Day. Both of them are on the 15th of August. This is from Herb.

"Just received my August copy of the 'Alumnus.' It's the first time I've ever been home to get hold of one when it was new stuff. I was glad to read some of the news about the fellows, but the parts about Steve O'Meara, Tom, and Joe Miller, '42, law class, and also of South Bend, Wis., Jack O'Connell with the Navy in Georgia, and Frank Brinkman at Camp Fannin, Texas. I sent them a visit from Paul O'Connell who is working for the government in Rochester, N. Y. Little Vic DeSclinmon came through a lot of tough fighting with the 86th division in the ETO and is now waiting his turn to come home. When I went over I was pretty lucky to be with three chapsmates. "This morning we just heard the official word that Japan has surrendered. So you can guess how all we feel over here. Ever since last Friday, when the first hint of their giving in to the radio, we've been in a state of suspense. My biggest problem right now is when I'll ever get home. I'm in my 21st month over there, and two weeks ago I had my last operation. But if I have enough to keep me out of the occupation force, I can stand sweating out a discharge. This sure is a beautiful difference. We've had some good bull sessions when we're home, but we're looking forward to getting back to the States for a few weeks to see our families. Then we'll plan to meet at N. D. and probably mail in a wire to let you know where we are."

Michael Stuart. I am quite happy for my old roommates.

"I'm up for that CDD, and I'm pretty anxious to get home. I've heard from my old roommate, Ed Schroeder, from New York, who is carrying on in Leyte and evidently operating a band. He says he is in one of the same outfits, though I'm in one of the others."

Michael Stuart.

"Everything seems to be going along smoothly. We are currently sweating out a discharge. (See 44 news issue.)"

Another first letter to the column is from Enr. Don Davis in the Pacific. The date is August 5.

"I came across your article in the April Alumnus—first of the ones I've seen since I've been out here. It sure is great to hear what everyone is doing, and to read about the 'killed in action' and 'missing.'"

"I am in a hospital in the Admiralty Islands, and have had to go to school and leave the operation for a while. I've been in touch with all my classmates, though I know lots of others are out there."

"I am in a hospital in the Admiralty Islands, and have had to go to school and leave the operation for a while. I've been in touch with all my classmates, though I know lots of others are out there."

Another first letter to the column is from Enr. Don Davis in the Pacific. The date is August 5.

"I came across your article in the April Alumnus—first of the ones I've seen since I've been out here. It sure is great to hear what everyone is doing, and to read about the 'killed in action' and 'missing.'" section of 5th Army rear. The three of us had several good sessions together. They moved to be away from the left German. That was about all for now. Hope we meet at N. D. at the first game—how are your chances?

Two additional letters have come to the column that may be of interest. Though Miss Ruth Hurley, of Camp Croft, was in a Notre Dame man, they are from members of our so-called synthetic alumni. She is a daughter of Capt. Jack Hurley, ’43, and cousin of Lt. John Starchy Bishop, ex. ’46. It explains itself.

"In reading my brother's 'Alumnus' for the monthly issue that was enclosed, someone was seeking information about Lt. John Bishop, who according to the Marine Air Corps, was killed Nov. 26, 1944. Johnnie had been overseas nearly a year when the tragedy occurred. He had enrolled as an air cadet in '42, planned on being a naval flier. Instead he was commissioned a Marine Lt. in a Marine Reconnaissance Group, and sent overseas late in '43. He had a chance to come home for Christmas '44 and to see the Notre Dame-Great Lakes game last year. However, a few weeks before this happy expected event he was sent out on a mission from which he never returned. July 24, and at the time his plane disappeared one was seen to crash into the water. They searched for a week, and then declared him 'missing in action.' When no trace was found they declared him dead."

Lt. Joe Cusick, Holy Cross, ’36, brother of Frank Cusick, writes as follows:

"I see by the August 'Alumnus' that you were mentioning Frank Cusick, Frank is a lieutenant in the Army Air Force and was shot down over Germany, Jan. 2, 1945. He is still a missing status Cargo, and we are all hoping and praying for his safe return. He was a navigator on a B-X7 and would have been to Japan July 42, stopped in Detroit on his way from the ETO to the Pacific theatre. Paul is with a port engineering outfit. Having just received a recent Annapolis grad, stopped in Detroit on a round about way to sub school at New London, Conn.

Joe Dillon, ’41, Camp Croft graduate, has been in Germany with the 35th Inf. Elmer Milliman, ’43, was with the 194th Gilder Inf. in Germany after being discharged from a hospital in England. I heard later that he had been transferred to the paratroops and had jumped at Wesen or some such place. Dick Milliman, ’43, was a corporal with the M.P.'s at Camp Lejeune. Dick was wounded and released from the hospital with more than one bullet scar which he caught in the Gothic Line. Joe, Dave Honeym, was on the USS McCulla in the Pacific and hoped to get home this fall.

That's all for now. If you're '44, let's write a letter."

It's good to be able to start quoting from the many letters we've received from the '44 boys. From Oshu, Hawaii, Lt. (jg) Chuck Patterson wrote to Jim Armstrong: "I know that when you get this good word is being done by the N. C. D. Club in Honolulu. A couple of weeks ago, Bill Berzus, ’42, who is VTYC and stationed here, and I attended a communion breakfast at the Academy of Sacred Heart. We were invited by club president, Tom Fullam, who is stationed here at NAS, Barber's Point. Mass was at ten, followed by breakfast, then benediction at the grotto (much like N. D.') after which was held the business meeting. It was a wonderful day."

From Lt. (jg) Chuck Urruela, Oklahoma A & M College, written last July but nevertheless still interesting: "... Jerry Smith, ’45, is in my classes, and he and his wife have a little apartment where they are at home to the boys.

"Have had some more news from the sea-going Roties. Wonder if Jim Armstrong has gotten in touch with the boys which have come to me first hand? Several of the ships with pictures have appeared in the paper of late. I'm vicarious of the Kamikazes that our boys avert. Think I told you of the heroism of little Charlie Moncrie at Okinawa, where he was shot down and bailed out of his plane near the Newcomb, into the sea, and though burned and wounded, tried to keep afloat a dying chief petty officer for several hours. Tex Crowley's destroyer was in the force which shelled out of Tokyo. Tom Shellworth was on the B-47, and Pat Malloy, ’45, just brought a big Navy ordnance to Guam as part of a War Bond drive. Think he's living at home for a War Bond drive."

And more, informally, from your sec., Lynneh:

... I landed in Spartanburg, S. C., Sunday morning, (Aug. 29) and was royally entertained by the Joyce family. N. D. ’43, and Lyle) also the Crowleys (Jim, ’41). They are the 'families who entertained such stalwarts as Jack Wentle, Jerry Quinn, Charlie Koppler and myself when we were little military men at Camp Croft. Mrs. Crowley had just heard from the War Department that her son, Jim, was only recently transferred to the 9th Division, having transferred from the 44th which is coming home."

From Ted Weber:

"They're ballyhooing an all-star football game here on the coast for the night of Sept. 14 between the 4th and 25th air forces. Bill Huber, Bob Greenbaugh and Ear's, are getting their share of publicity. I saw Huber once when his air force team played Fort Riley in the fall of '43 and they banked in our squadron. I'm hoping I might get a chance to see him again out here, but come Sept. 14th I'll be one of the mob, sitting way back and seeing Huber and all the others from a distance.

"And before you slip me the sixty-four dollar question and ask 'when are you going to get out,' let me yell 'I don't know.' The chances aren't very good, what with my manly 36 pounds gone. I've done two thousand miles of what appears to be a minor infractions of the rules. The people who don't like MP's should remember that we don't like ourselves when they're on duty."

Jerry Coleman, out of the Marines and well installed in civilian life, is working for the Treasury Dept. in Philadelphia. He has a brand new wife, and so we offer congratulations.

Here's a string of honors that would do any soldier proud. I have been awarded to Sgt. Jim Constanta of Camp Germany for优良的 manages, the Silver Star for wounding eight enemy and capturing eleven of the enemy, the French Fourreuil, and the Presidental citation for action in the Colmar pocket in the Philippines. He is with the 9th Division now and was at Obernhorbach, Germany. The Joyce's are the parents of N. D. with their son Johnnie, who has not been seen since July, where he was bailed out of his crippled ship while returning from the battle of Wilmingtom I'll be happy. Even this infernal war won't discourage me.

"Jim Krek, ex. ’45, and the former drum major—he of the tam-tam tones, to quote the 'Dome'—and my counterpart graduated from Marine OCS late in June and at last word was in Rhode Island going to some sort of school.

"The work continues to be interesting—meeting the returning troop ships and some of the refugees from the Philippines prison camps—and sometimes distasteful when you have to turn a guard or throw some asylums. I'm still for what appears to be a minor infraction of the rules. The people who don't like MP's should remember that we don't like ourselves when they're on duty."

Phl Meyers, south Bend, visited home and campus when he had a short vacation from the Burbank, Calif., Lockheed plant, where he is employed as an aeronautical engineer.

Lt. (jg) John Nilles spent a leave at his home in Fargo, N. D., after duty in the Pacific area of operations, 1944. Lt. (jg) Bill Wicks of Chicago was at Iowa City, his home town for the second week of the invasion. Twice, his ship was disabled and 25 airmen who were forced to bail out of their crippled ships while returning from missions.

Ens. Charlie Moncrie, Notre Dame, Mich., returned to duty aboard his destroyer, the New­port, after being discharged from the Navy. He was injured in a bombing raid over the Philippine Islands.

Don Heltzer, on his last tap of a 20-day leave, visited the Alumni Office. He was on his way to Navy Pier, Chicago.

Paul Wehrig, south Bend, visited home and campus when he had a short vacation from the Burbank, Calif., Lockheed plant, where he is employed as an aeronautical engineer.

From Ens. Jim Cunningham, Aug. 28:

"Ran into Jim Clark, class of '44, a few weeks back, and he took me home, Detroit, and to Notre Dame. I'm hoping I might get a chance to see him again out here, but come Sept. 14th I'll be one of the mob, sitting way back and seeing Huber and all the others from a distance.

Redskins on Aug. 12. Bill, class of '46, is back in the States from Europe with a couple of air medals and silver bars.

"I don't figure to be out for a year. You lucky people will be seeing the Notre Dame games soon, and we'll be out here thousands of miles away trying to hear them short wave."

1945 and Later

Al Lemence's basic training at Sheppard Field, Tex., has been completed and as of Sept. 17 he was awaiting orders to be shipped to another field and thence to an embarkation center for overseas service in various foreign stations. And Bob Blorfan has started that new job with the State Department in Washington with an eight-week training course. He writes that Bob Morrissey is in the same deal and the two are living together.

QM 3/c Jim Phillips of Kane, Pa., with the Atlantic Fleet wears the American, the European-African-Middle Eastern theater ribbons, and Pfc. Ray O'Connell holds the Bronze Star Medal, the combat infantryman's badge, the Purple Heart and the good conduct medal. He has been overseas 19 months and is now athletic technician with the 2623rd Special Service Group in Italy.

Pfc. Ed Sweeney, Rockville Centre, N. Y., recently returned on furlough from the Italian front where he served 18 months with the 18th division of the Fifth Army and later with the 15th Air Force. He was wounded in action in May, 1944, and again in October of that year. Norb Tzemko was furloughing from the Italian theater with two battle participation stars. He has been awarded the combat infantryman's badge, the Purple Heart and the good conduct medal.

Lt. Bill Mills, South Bend, is a fighter pilot with the "Flying Shark" fighter squadron of the "Flying Tigers" fighter group of Maj. Gen. C. L. Chennault's 14th air force in China.

Tom Steigmeyer recently returned from a year's tour of duty in the Pacific with the Navy, during which he took part in six major battles. Bob Nutidino, Sp. (A) 3/c, was on his way to the Pacific as a physical instructor in the Navy. Bob Hanlon is playing left half for the Jacksonville, Fla., Naval air station team this fall. He expects an early discharge and will return to Notre Dame as soon as he gets it.

Brother Leo, born Daniel Donovan, was selected for the portfolio on the basis of his designs for two educational structures—the Gushing Hall of Mathematics and the St. Matthew's parish school in Milwaukee, Wis., containing 130 accomplishments, including 18 by Notre Dame architects. All designs are ecclesiastical buildings embracing churches, chapels, schools, hospitals, rectories and convents.

Represented are the accomplishments of 59 architects who have demonstrated their ability in the field of ecclesiastical design, and of this number eight are architects of Notre Dame.

Prof. Kervick, veteran head of the Notre Dame Department of Architecture, was selected for the portfolio on the basis of his designs for two educational structures—the Cushing Hall of Engineering on the Notre Dame campus and the St. Matthew's parish school in Mobile, Ala.

Architectural graduates of Notre Dame who have distinguished themselves in the portfolio follow:

Maurice Carroll, '19; Thomas Flad, '40; Paul C. Brust, '28; John J. Brust, '34; Wendell Phillips, '12; R. L. Kelly, '13; Thomas E. Cooke, '24, and P. M. O'Meara, '09.

BROTHER LEO DIES

Brother Leo, C.S.C., 76, retired director of the University of Notre Dame farm, died Aug. 20 in the community infirmary after a lingering illness. Brother Leo was one of the nation's leading stock breeders and cattle feeders and was named champion cattle feeder of Indiana in 1937, joining representatives of other states in a tour of large packing houses in Chicago, Boston, Philadelphia and Washington, D. C.

Until 1933, Brother Leo's farm supplied all the beef for the University dining halls. He was prominently known in Chicago livestock circles, where he did all of his buying and selling.

Brother Leo, born Daniel Donovan, joined the Congregation of Holy Cross in 1897 and was appointed director of the Notre Dame farms in 1900. He retired in 1943 because of failing health. Funeral services were conducted in Sacred Heart Church by Rev. Joseph A. Maguire, C.S.C., celebrant, Rev. Thomas Irving, C.S.C., deacon, and Rev. William F. Lemnart, C.S.C., subdeacon. Burial was in the Community cemetery.

ARCHITECTURE HONORS

Francis W. Kervick, head of the department of architecture at Notre Dame, and seven graduates of the University are honored in a portfolio of ecclesiastical designs published by the church property administration in Milwaukee, Wis., and received recently by the Notre Dame library.

The portfolio, designed to present outstanding ecclesiastical designs in recent years over a general cross section of the United States, contains 130 accomplishments, including 18 by Notre Dame architects. All designs are ecclesiastical buildings embracing churches, chapels, schools, hospitals, rectories and convents.

In Parliament

Christopher Hollis, English economist and author who was a member of the Notre Dame faculty from 1935 to 1939, was elected to the British parliament at the recent elections.
The OFFICIAL & MINIATURE UNIVERSITY OF NOTRE DAME RING

The official Notre Dame ring and miniature as manufactured exclusively by the L. G. Balfour Company shows the tower and dome of the Administration Building heavily modeled on one shank. The ND monogram is reproduced below with crossed torches in the background, an emblem of the ideals and attainment of Notre Dame. The opposite shank shows the seal of the University in high relief and below are crossed torches.

The raised letters "University of Notre Dame" frame the stone, set in the oval top.

Available this year is a miniature of the official size ring for the sweetheart or wife. This is an exact replica, 2/3 size, of the large ring and is now being manufactured to meet the great demand for this sweetheart style.

Be sure to specify the ring size in ordering.

Scholastic OFFERED ALUMNI

Alumni may subscribe to the Notre Dame Scholastic for three dollars the calendar year

- The Scholastic will resume full schedule with the November semester. Several issues, including a special Commencement number, will be published in the current semester.

- The Scholastic, established in 1867 by Rev. Edward Sorin, c.s.c., still brings the detailed campus developments, the official pronouncements of the University, and the personalities of the current student body. These of course come in much more detail than space permits in the ALUMNUS.

- But most refreshing to alumni in the Scholastic are its two major claims to graduate interest, frequency of publication and (not the least attractive) the undergraduate approach.
