President's Letter, by William E. Cotter, Jr., '41. Page 68
We have nurtured our fraternal traditions. (The Reunions just past attest to this.) We cherish our athletic traditions. (The winter just past was eloquent testimony.)

Our spiritual traditions are strong. (The dedication of the new Moreau Seminary brought a wonderful testimonial to the piety of our alumni from the Apostolic Delegate.)

Next issue, the ALUMNUS will introduce a new department in an effort to promote regularly and consistently the intellectual tradition of Notre Dame.

Msgr. John Tracy Ellis observes: "... to whom, one may ask, may the leaders of the coming generation turn with more rightful expectancy in their search for enlightenment and guidance in the realm of religion and morality than to American Catholic intellectuals? For it is they who are in possession of the oldest, wisest, and most sublime tradition of learning that the world has ever known..."

Our project, simply and hopefully, is to foster this "sublime tradition."

With the background of literally years serious discussion by your national Board of Directors and the University administration, and through the current cooperation of a faculty committee headed by Rev. Philip S. Moore, C.S.C., academic assistant to Father Hesburgh, the ALUMNUS has scheduled a series of four 4-page inserts in the next four issues of the ALUMNUS magazine.

These inserts will deal with single fields of liberal education, sometimes presented by one faculty author, sometimes by several. The treatment may be unified or segmented within the broad subject.

Each topic will be supplemented by a suggestion of one or several authoritative and interesting books or other available treatments which will permit alumni with more intense interest to pursue the topic in detail.

The first planned fall insert is a universally significant topic "What America Stands For."

The presentation is a current, vital summary by Dr. Stephen Kertesz, chairman of the Committee on International Relations and professor of political science, on two symposia conducted by Notre Dame on this broad topic, "What America Stands For." Dr. Kertesz will treat the present status of the United States in its relation to world problems, and review the many facets of our rich heritage treated in the symposia by a group of outstanding leaders, including a number of Notre Dame alumni and faculty members.

In the current era of world crisis, no opening topic seemed so universally adapted.

The second proposed winter insert, directed by Dr. John T. Frederick, head of the Department of English, will feature several short analyses of current fields of literature by members of the Department, with suggested reading under the separate headings. This should be a great contribution to the reading search of the educated man, for method as well as content.

The Department of History, under Rev. Thomas T. McAvoy, and the Department of Sociology, under Dr. John Kane, will, as presently programmed, provide the significant contents of the third and fourth inserts.

This announcement is obviously understatement. But the area of thought is not new to you.

For me, it represents my own "30 Years War." I was sold on what was then called "adult education" in 1927. In subsequent issues of the ALUMNUS you will find a "Book Page" authored by the late Father John W. Cavanaugh, C.S.C. You will find Reading Lists, in the magazine and separately sent, prepared by Colleges or by Departments. You will find articles by faculty members on broader fields of interest. Frankly, we never felt we had hit a general pattern of success. But there is evidence of revived interest, not only among Notre Dame men, but everywhere. And we believe this simple pattern may prove a most effective spearhead to as broad a program of continuing education as your increasing activity of mind can create.

Our project is based on some assumptions.

1. Your business and professional reading is adequately covered in your business and professional journals.

2. Your basic general reading is adequately covered in the magazines and newspapers which inform you.

3. In every alumnus there is a cultural urge, created by the concept of liberal education, and contact with it, not satisfied by any undergraduate curriculum.

4. This urge is too often diverted after college by the competition of required reading for business or professional progress, or by the sugar-coating of the picture or digest media that permit a superficial short-cut to our world scene.

5. If voices of familiar faculty members, from the campus on which the intellectual world unfolded its vastness to us, can bring us an occasional reminder that education is a continuing, never-ending process, with a simple new picture of some attractive new horizon, and a quick colorful chart on how to get there, the urge will not so often be diverted.

6. You are as anxious as the University, or the faculty, or your Association officers, to foster this Sublime Tradition.

So look for your next ALUMNUS. The insert will be on a different color stock, readily identifiable.

Read it. That is the first appeal to you, and the primary purpose of the insert. Then, if you will, let us have your reaction — the Alumni Office, or the Editor, or the faculty writer or writers who have intrigued you.

We believe this is the opening of a bigger, brighter era of richer alumni life. Many of you are already enjoying it. We hope this multiplies the number. It is intended as a service from the University to you, in return for another rich tradition — your generous support of the University. We believe it can repay you as many times over as you will let it. —J.E.A.

30th ANNIVERSARY REUNION CLASS OF 1919 — As if to symbolize their elusive classmates, reunionists Rademaker, Fenlon and Carroll dodged photographers, may have darted behind these trees to talk.

THURSDAY, June 11, 1959, found early arrivals all but breaking down the doors of Morrissey and Lyons Halls, shattering the silence for rectors and prefects winding up a week-long retreat.

Officially the 1959 Class Reunions were not to begin until the following evening.

Part of the unexpected influx may have resulted from confusion about the Monogram Golf Day and annual meeting, traditionally scheduled by the Monogram Club on the eve of the Big Weekend. The athletes quartered in Alumni Hall and spent the day chipping down the fairways, protected from the critical gaze of non-lettermen. In the evening, after cocktails and dinner at the Morris Inn, Monogrammers elected Oregonian Bill Schmitt, '10, to succeed Detroit’s “Pep” Panelli, '49, as president.

Meanwhile, early reunionists had leisure for private rubbernecking at the magnificent Moreau Seminary and other recent campus construction, visits to favorite chapels and shrines. . . . and, after dusk, quiet chats over glowing cigarettes in the darkened quads.

Gabfests...

35th ANNIVERSARY REUNION CLASS OF 1924 — Boasting one of the smallest, noisiest and liveliest delegations were the boisterous beatniks of '24.

Gaiety...
10th ANNIVERSARY REUNION CLASS OF 1949 — Beyond the size of their contingent, ’49ers were prominent in golf, food consumption and liquid capacity departments.

FRIDAY, June 12, dawned on a jam of cars and taxis at the Circle. . . a steady stream of sportshirted registrants into the reunion center at the Law Building and on to registration desks in half a dozen halls on the old “Gold Coast,” the West Quadrangle dominated by the Rockne Memorial. . . a mass invasion of the Burke Memorial Golf Course by duffers and pros alike, to compete for high, low and middle prizes in the most indiscriminate golf tournament known to man. . . a campus swarming with caps of every imaginable hue (but pink). . . and — most marvelous of marvels — the draining of ten thousand cans of chilled and frothy beverage with hardly a stagger to be seen.

20th ANNIVERSARY REUNION CLASS OF 1939—Substituting enthusiasm for numbers, ’39 was notable in its taste for vermouth.
This was the scene until the shadows lengthened and enveloped the grass. Then the rainbow of caps broke up into solid colors, in the courtyards, the dining halls and the Morris Inn, for the Class Dinners, business meetings, elections and various entertainments. The dinners differed in form—from hearty outdoor buffets of pizza or grilled seafood for the younger alumni to linen-and-silver sit-down feasts for older grads — and programs ran from raillery to music to sports movies to plain nostalgia, but all dissolved into chatter over cheese-on-rye in the late — and early — hours.

SILVER JUBILEE CLASS OF 1934 — Regaled with music, movies and martinis, the 25-Year Class assembled (minus the brass band) after luncheon with Father Hesburgh.

The Young...

Saturday morning, June 13, saw an always amazing phenomenon. Hundreds of clear-eyed citizens, showing few effects of the conversation marathons and horseplay of the night before, turned out in the hall chapels for Mass and Communion in memory of their departed classmates. Then some dawdled over coffee in the Caf, while others toured the changing campus or returned to the fray on the fairways.

By noon most of the wanderers returned to the hall areas for box-lunch picnics of fried chicken, and majorities were mustered for pictures at the Library before scattering for more golf or a quick nap. The 25-Year Class, probably the most athletic of all, hiked back to the remote scene of the previous night's merriment for their President's Luncheon at the North Dining Hall.

In the afternoon alumni were invited to their respective schools for the College Hours, open houses and meetings with deans and faculty representa-

Stars of the Alumni Banquet program included (l. to r.) Fathers Cornelius Hagerty and Eugene Burke; Bill Cotter, Alumni Assn. president; Father Hesburgh, N.D. president; Jim Armstrong, Alumni Assn. secretary; Father Thomas Irving; Ed Krause, N.D. athletic director, and Father George Holderith, N.D. golf coach.

Feasts . . .

As usual, the Alumni Banquet was a crowded affair, both physically and program-wise.

A traditional feature was the appearance of Rev. George Holderith, C.S.C., University golf coach, to award prizes to the winners in the unorthodox categories of a gruelling golf tournament. There was a fairly even distribution in all but the five- and ten-year classes, battling, again as usual, for the lion’s share.

Special guests abounded, but toastmaster Jim Armstrong, ’25, singled out only the most special. Fathers Eugene Burke, Cornelius Hagerty and Thomas Irving were the hit of the evening, the eve of their Golden Jubilee as priests of the Congregation of Holy Cross. Ed Krause, ’34, recounted the impressive 1958-59 record of athletic teams under the coaches present at the banquet (see Athletics, page 27), but a coach with his record still before him was the only one required to speak. Head football coach Joe Kuharich, ’38, introduced his staff, of whom only two members, freshman mentor Hugh Devore, ’34, and executive assistant Dave Slattery, ’48, are alumni. Newcomers Bill Daddio, Dick Evans, Dick Stanfel and Joe Scudero seemed happy to be aboard.

Alumni President Bill Cotter, ’41, reported on developments of vital interest to alumni (see page 19).

Speaker of the evening was Notre Dame’s president, Father Hesburgh, whose “State of the University” address was both harrowing and inspiring. Describing his thoughts as he watched a huge rocket rise into space at Cape Canaveral, Father Hesburgh examined the terrible responsibility of Christian education, and particularly of Notre Dame in her possibly destined role as Queen of Catholic Universities, in the light of man’s tremendous power for progress or destruction in the Age of Scene of many a private request for favors (left), the hallowed Grotto was also the site of the annual Alumni Mass (see cover), celebrated by Rt. Rev. Msgr. Edward J. Seward, '34 (right), who also preached the sermon.

Space. The grads returned, haunted by the thought, to their halls, for snacks and bull sessions far into the night.

On Sunday morning, June 14, alumni trooped out of their residence halls and northward to the Grotto of Our Lady of Lourdes for the crowning event of the Reunions, the Alumni Mass offered for the intentions of Notre Dame men throughout the world. The significance of the Mass in this setting was beautifully expressed in the sermon of Right Rev. Monsignor Edward J. Seward, '34, chancellor of the Diocese of Cleveland and a former flying chaplain in World War II. Msgr. Seward called on N.D. men to rededicate their lives to the Patroness of their student years, the Lady who has appeared on earth so often in the past 100 years to warn the modern world of the possible consequences of its folly and to urge our prayer for the conversion of Russia.

Armed with a plenary indulgence recently renewed at the Grotto by the Holy See, reunionists strolled back across campus for a last leisurely look before returning to their families and everyday occupations.

The Need for an Adult Theological Education

by
REV. LOUIS J. PUTZ, C.S.C.

The Popes of recent decades have put a great stress on an active responsible laity in the Church. Now this call would be principally addressed to College graduates. The question that immediately presents itself is whether the religious equipment received in College is enough to carry one through to solve the many problems that must invariably face a man going from school to life. Every profession has its own particular moral and spiritual challenges that need more specific answers than either the catechism of the elementary school or the religion texts of high school or college could solve, not to mention that for the most part these problems were not even known to the teacher.

Therefore, a big gap needs to be filled both from the point of view of the professional field by way of bridging religion and life in the layman’s world, but also one of possessing a mature hold on religious truths adequate for the more mature mind. Religious knowledge should grow with one’s greater responsibilities as life unfolds. Familiarity with religious literature both in book and magazine form would have to be the simplest form of catching up with all the new developments in the life of the Church.

One graduate told me recently that he formed a group of interested people who read a book a month (a religious book in this instance) and every month they meet to discuss the book. One man is assigned to learn as much about the author as possible, another leads the discussion of the book, others try to get a background on related issues. This group has been going for several years with great profit to all of them and more than a hundred books have been thus read and digested. He maintains that without this challenge and regularity he would not have been kept spiritually alive.

TWO Notre Dame men, each an “impresario” in the original sense (entrepreneur or enterpriser), have gone a long way toward exploding the myth that the interests of Irish grads are narrowly athletic. A Detroit lawyer and a Chicago chemical executive, they are typical of hundreds of N.D. alumni who have assumed cultural or artistic leadership in their communities.

In the case of Frank W. Donovan, ’26, and Alfred C. Stepan, Jr., ’31, this leadership is manifested primarily in music and specifically in the esoteric world of grand opera. As presidents of the leading opera associations in America’s two largest inland cities, Messrs. Donovan and Stepan are shining proof (to jumble a metaphor) that Notre Dame men don’t live on bread and circuses alone. Or, in the words of Jim Armstrong, that “Pagliacci” is as much a Notre Dame byword as “Savoldi.”

Stepan, president of Chicago’s Stepan Chemical Company, was elected unanimously to the post of president of the Lyric Opera of Chicago, the city’s only major opera company, at a meeting of the corporation’s board of directors last spring.

Attorney Donovan distinguished himself this year as president of the Detroit Grand Opera Association in its first year as host to the Metropolitan Opera in Detroit — the Met’s first local appearance in 49 years.

Frank Donovan’s achievements were threefold. He organized a huge guarantor program of more than twice the required amount. He engineered a special benefit performance program for the Detroit Museum of Art Founders Society and enlisted the active services of Mrs. Henry Ford II as general chairman of the entire program. He strengthened the membership of the Opera Board, enlisted municipal cooperation, and widened community support for opera to a degree where the entire season was 25% oversold. The 39-member board of directors includes Mrs. Edsel Ford, Roger Kyes and George Romney.

In view of the great success of the opera season, not only from an attendance standpoint, but in its favorable nation-wide publicity and its benefit performance contribution of almost $40,000 to the City’s Art Purchase Fund, Frank was unanimously re-elected president of the Detroit Grand Opera Association at the annual meeting on June 23. Reuben Ryding is vice-president and manager.

Frank’s extensive contacts in the business and professional world were important factors in the success of the Met’s first season in Detroit since 1910, but the greatest item in his achievement was the unflagging effort he devoted personally toward organizing Detroit’s plans for properly launching a Metropolitan Opera season in Detroit.

As a result of these efforts, Detroit is to have a longer season in 1960 and plans are already under way to make next year’s Metropolitan Opera Festival an even greater success.

Contributing reason for Frank’s success was the formation of a strong promotional organization, ably directed by Mrs. Henry Ford II, whose interest and extremely generous devotion of time to meetings, special projects and publicity were of vital importance. In fact, Mrs. Ford’s active participation was Donovan’s tenstrike — a widely recognized asset, which Donovan has re-enlisted and confirmed for the 1960 season.

His appointment of Mayor Louis C. Miriani as Honorary Chairman, the by-product of which was the establishment of a separate Mayor’s Committee, produced excellent results in a field hitherto untouched in previous

A member of the N. D. Club of Detroit, Frank is also a director of the Detroit Symphony Orchestra, treasurer and trustee of the Archives of American Art and trustee of the Etruscan Foundation. But, lest anyone think that he is a one-sided culture vulture, he was a tennis enthusiast at Notre Dame and remains a staunch admirer of the late Knute Rockne.

Al Stepan has been on the board of directors of the Lyric Opera of Chicago since 1957 and is the second president since the present corporate structure of the Lyric was formed in 1956. Others on the 27-member board are Dr. Morris Fishbein, Alfred O`Gara, Edward Ryerson and General Robert E. Wood, and Chicago Mayor Richard J. Daley is honorary chairman. The board handles the tremendous business problems of running a major opera company, while general manager Carol Fox and her staff direct artistic affairs—scores, sets, costumes, conductors and, presumably, the temperaments of artists like Maria Callas. Al finds the opera business very exciting, rather far removed from chemicals, but a long-time avocation.

Music is traditional in the Stepan family. Al's late father, also a chemical executive, was an accomplished singer. The elder Stepan was soloist in the Marble Collegiate church in New York City the first time Henley's celebrated "Invictus" was sung, on Easter, 1912. Al treasures a program from a performance of Rigoletto in Mannheim, Germany, in 1859. In that performance 100 years ago Rigoletto was sung by his great-grandfather, one of the leading operatic baritones of his day.

Al himself has sung with the N. D. Glee Club and Chicago's Paulist Choir. As a small boy he sat in the third row from the rear in the highest balcony ("with the real opera experts") every Saturday afternoon for five seasons. During World War I he was in his "perch" when soldiers from Fort Sheridan and sailors from Great Lakes gave the great Galli-Curci such an ovation that she took a record number of bows.

At 30, Al has been listening to opera for 42 years. He started making the musical rounds of Europe in 1924, and in the summer of 1956 he and Mrs. Stepan went behind the "Iron Curtain" for a month to hear performances in Russia, Czechoslovakia, Poland and East Germany.

Also Art and Symphony

In May, before taking office as president of the Lyric, Al toured European opera houses to study their operating procedures, administrative methods, finances, etc. He visited the Staatsoper in Vienna, La Scala in Milan, and the Royal Opera House, Covent Garden, London.

Al has been a member of the University's Associate Board of Lay Trustees since 1957. His son Alfred III, '58, is a Marine lieutenant on two-year leave to attend Balcol College, Oxford, where he won his Oxford "blue" this past summer swimming against Cambridge. A second son, Quinn, '59, is a lieutenant in missile training at Fort Bliss, Texas, while a third, Stratford, is entering his junior year at N. D. A daughter, Marilee, is an Olympic swimming veteran at 22.

A member of the N. D. Club of Detroit, Frank is also a director of the Detroit Symphony Orchestra, treasurer and trustee of the Archives of American Art and trustee of the Etruscan Foundation. Exciting Season Promised Famed for revivals of forgotten masterpieces and imaginative productions of more familiar works, the Lyric Opera promises a thrilling sixth season beginning October 12. Included are fresh settings of old favorites like Bizet's Carmen, Massenet's Thais, Verdi's Masked Ball, Ponchielli's La Gioconda and Mozart's Cosi Fan Tutte, plus seldom-heard gems like Wagner's Flying Dutchman, Rossini's La Cenerentola (Cinderella), Verdi's Simon Boccanegra, a repeat of Puccini's lush Turandot and the Chicago premiere of the Czech masterwork Jenufa by Leos Janacek.

Lyric's roster of singers is dazzling—such American stars as Richard Tucker, Eileen Farrell, Leontyne Price and Joan Madeira; international favorites like Tito Gobbi, Birgit Nilsson, Giuseppe di Stefano, Elizabeth Schwarzkopf, etc.; lesser artists and talented newcomers from both sides of the Atlantic. The company has also signed directors, conductors and designers from the world's finest opera houses.

Bringing to the business of grand opera the same enthusiasm and proficiency they have shown in law and chemistry, Frank Donovan and Alfred Stepan are demonstrating again that the "whole man" is nurtured at Notre Dame.
YOUR ALUMNI BOARD

Field Secretary ... General Survey of Alumni ... Non-Graduate Membership ... Continuing Education Program ... Highlights of June Meeting

Your national Board of Directors of the Alumni Association is one of the most effective, least spotlighted factors in our alumni development. This comes from their own unselfish generosity and the fact that what the ALUMNUS and its editors say about the Board may seem on occasion like self-adulation. But in the increasing diversity and significance of your Association program, it becomes vital to waive these minor amenities in favor of acquainting you with the fine representation and the many benefits your Board is bringing you.

The Board, composed as you know, of twelve Directors, four elected each year for a three-year term, with the retiring past president an ex officio member for one year, elects its own officers, and works now largely through sub-Committees. It meets three times each year — usually in January, June and October.

The University Placement Office, the Annual Alumni Fund, the Notre Dame Foundation, Universal Notre Dame Communion Sunday, are only a few of the strong programs which the Board has sponsored in the past.

Its present programs are manifold, but two are of immediate interest and concern to all alumni.

SURVEY

I. One is a Survey of Alumni, to be conducted in this 1959-60 year by John F. X. Ryan, South Bend, former member of the University faculty, now heading the Catholic Schools Psychological Services.

No Survey of our alumni has been made since 1941, the Centennial Survey. More than 60% of our alumni have been graduated since that time, and many of our older graduates were permanently displaced by the World War II years. No Religious Survey of alumni has been made since 1940.

It is vital to proper planning in the Alumni Association program, in the Admissions Office, in Placement, and in the Foundation, that we have a much clearer picture of our alumni.

Dr. Ryan conducted a pilot study of 600 scientifically selected alumni, and in the basis of this interesting preliminary report, the general Survey, to be launched this fall, will be made. Every effort is being made to revise the pilot study to achieve maximum utility and maximum brevity. Most of the questions will be check answers, with only a few essay questions for more detailed data.

The effectiveness of the Survey will depend entirely on participation, and individual alumni, Clubs and Classes, will be urged to work toward 70 to 80% results.

LOCAL CLUB ORGANIZER

II. The second major Board project is a special representative of the University and the Alumni Association to serve as a spur to Local Alumni Club organization.

Our Clubs have grown since 1923 from 40 to 170 in number, and Club programs have grown within each Club to impressive proportions. The benefits of well-organized Clubs to the members, to the community, and to the University has become increasingly apparent.

The Board feels that it owes a tremendous debt of gratitude to the Club officers whose volunteer work has led to this great stature, but it feels that to consolidate these gains, to insure continuing growth, and to achieve a more uniform program, more attention must be given from the campus to the Club organization.

Further announcement on this project will be forthcoming soon to the Clubs and the alumni generally.

NON-GRADUATE MEMBERSHIP

III. Over the years, the Alumni Association has offered full membership constitutionally to those non-graduate former students "whose entering Class shall have been graduated," and who make application for such membership on available forms to the Alumni Board. Activity in our Local Clubs, correspondence with Class Secretaries, interest in football games, prominence in the community or in a business or profession, have been our major sources of contact with these former students. In interest and in activity, to the Association and to the University, they have made valuable additions.

The Board encourages this program.

SYMPATHY

To J. Patrick Canny, '28, past president of the Alumni Association, on the death of his beloved wife August 25, 1959

REUNION REVISION

IV. The Committee on Class Activities is concerned with the imminent need for a change in the Class Reunion pattern, when the increasing number in attendance (now totalling 1,000) will demand some change in our tradition. It is appealing to the Class Secretaries (and to all of you) to devote thought to the preservation of present Reunion benefits and still adapt ourselves to the space demands of the dining halls, for example, the Church, and our auditorium facilities.

OTHER ALUMNI

V. The Committee on Inter-Alumni Affairs has given long study to our relations with the alumni of other colleges and universities. Its present conclusion is that our smaller Local Clubs can find much interest and augmentation for their programs in the local graduates of other colleges and universities, especially Catholic, who do not yet have local organization. This is particularly true for family social functions or for speakers on topics of educational importance.

BOARD NOMINEES

VI. The Nominating Committees are working on proposals to improve the nominating procedures. But your Board is agreed that over the last 15 years, under the present structure, an amazing amount of representation (consciously sought for by previous Committees) has been achieved in geography, in Class grouping, in business and professional activities, and that this broad pattern, especially in view of the limited number of Directors, ought to be studied more carefully before changes are made. Club and Class officers suggestions have aided the Board Committees greatly. Your suggestions are always welcome.

CONTINUING EDUCATION

VII. Elsewhere in this issue you will find the announcement (see Editorial Comments) on one of the most significant projects of your Board, achieved as are many of its projects with University cooperation — this time the creation of a department in the ALUMNUS for continuing the intellectual stimulus of our alumni after they have left the campus, through articles and suggested reading material from faculty members.

Conclusion: This is only a summary of some Board meeting. It is the hope of the Board that it will give you a deeper insight into the long hours which your Board devotes to you and to Notre Dame. It is the Board's hope that calling these diverse programs to your attention will enlist your suggestions.

Notre Dame Alumnus, September, 1959
The University Today...

ALUMNI: ACCOMPLISHMENT AND CONTROVERSY

A total of 51 grants for graduate study and research have been awarded to '59 graduates and current graduate students at Notre Dame. The University's 22 Woodrow Wilson Fellowship winners constituted the fifth largest group at any college or university in the nation. Record totals were also registered with National Science Foundation, Danforth, Fulbright and Smith-Mundt Act grants.

In a recent issue of Cap and Gown, the Notre Dame faculty publication, Alumni Secretary James E. Armstrong roundly condemned a practice employed in the paragraph above—"the lumping of alumni in statistical form." In observations entitled "Wasting Our Natural Resources," he also denounced the labeling of alumni as one of the University's "publics" and "treating the embryo alumnus, the student, as a 'number' or an IBM card, rather than as a person."

Urging faculty members to treat incoming freshmen—and, incidentally, themselves—as individuals with individual backgrounds, attributes and potentialities, he also appealed to all advisors to keep up Notre Dame's person-to-person tradition and added: "Rectors and prefects and other administrators can help greatly by trying to avoid the excess demands that keep them from meeting students (and alumni, and parents). . . . The difference in atmosphere comes from more demands on the priests outside the old rector and prefect relationships."

From Rev. Charles W. Harris, C.S.C., rector of Howard Hall, came this rejoinder: "I should like to point up one of the facts that contribute to some of the impersonalization. . . . twenty years ago, 1936-37, there were 55 Holy Cross priests on the faculty plus four engaged in full-time administration . . . 2818 students . . . one priest for every 51.2 students. . . . In 1956-57 there were 68 Holy Cross priests on the faculty—an increase of 13 in twenty years—plus 10 in full-time administration. With 5600 students . . . this means one priest for every 82.3 students. . . . I think you will agree that this is a decided decrease in the ratio of priests to students. . . . "The present situation is even less satisfactory. There exist today three vacancies among the prefects simply because there have been no replacements for priests who have become too ill to continue their duties there. . . . "Under these circumstances it is not surprising that contact with students, relatives of students and alumni has diminished. Many of us have made it a point to reduce contact with alumni and relatives of students simply to have time for the students who are our direct responsibility. This is not a desirable situation, but perhaps if the alumni were aware of the facts they might understand why we seem to have so little time for the person-to-person contact we all value."

PERIODICALS: MILESTONES FOR THE REVIEW AND NATURALIST

Twenty years of publication for the Notre Dame quarterly Review of Politics are represented by 28 outstanding articles from its pages in The Image of Man, a book published recently by the Notre Dame Press ($6.00). Edited by Professors M. A. Fitzsimons, Frank O'Malley and Rev. Thomas T. McAvoy, C.S.C., associated with the Review since its inception in 1939, the volume includes articles by the late founding editor Waldemar Gurian, Jacques Maritain, the late Don Luigi Sturzo, Christopher Dawson, Yves Simon, John Nef, Aaron Abell, etc.

Celebrating its 50th birthday this year, The American Midland Naturalist, a scientific journal founded by Rev. Julius A. Nieuwland, C.S.C., in 1909, has international prestige and subscribers in 45 foreign countries as well as throughout the United States. A general biological periodical, the Naturalist also includes studies in paleontology, zoology and botany, for which field it was named by its celebrated botanist-chemist founder. It is currently edited by Dr. Robert E. Gordon, assisted by Rev. Cletus Bachioler, C.S.C., and Prof. George R. Bernard, George B. Craig and Robert P. Mcintosh, all of the biology faculty, and 16 associate editors who are specialists in American universities, museums, etc.

FACULTY: APPOINTMENTS, APPEARANCES, PROMOTIONS AND PUBLICATIONS

Forty-two new faculty members have been appointed for the 1959-60 school year. Full professorships were awarded to five men, three of them named department heads and the other two to serve as visiting professors for the year.

Beginning as department heads will be Profs. Julius T. Banchero in chemical engineering, a heat transfer specialist from the University of Michigan; Harry C. Saxe in civil engineering, a structural theorist from the University of Cincinnati, and Ralph E. Thorsen in biology, an alumnus who has been a professor of parasitology at Auburn.

Also named full professors are R. Gordon Brown, city planning authority and former dean of architecture at the University of Hong Kong, and Hans Sassenhaus, algebraist and group theorist from McGill University, in mathematics. San-ichiro Mizushima, professor of physical chemistry at Tokyo University and former Reilly lecturer, will be a visiting professor of chemistry.

Promotion of thirteen established faculty members was announced earlier at the annual President's Dinner, attended by approximately 700 members of faculty and administration and their wives. Honored guests were Rev. Eugene P. Burke, C.S.C., and Prof. Leo Kuntz, who retired this year, and Professor Emeritus Knowles B. Smith and Rev. Francis P. Cavanough, C.S.C., observing 50th and 25th anniversaries respectively at Notre Dame.

Rev. Chester Solota, C.S.C., vice president for academic affairs, announced the promotion of the following: Professors Otto Bird (General Program), Rev. Cletus Bachioler, C.S.C. (biology), and Bernard D. Cullity (metallurgy); Associate Professors Robert F. Christlin (English), Journet D. Kahn (Gen. Program), Louis Pierce (chemistry), and Kwang-Tzu Yang (mechanical engineering); and Assistant Professors Rev. John P. Dolan, C.S.C., (history), Rev. Henry A. Guess, C.S.C. (classics), Robert J. Lordi (English), Rev. Patrick H. Maloney, C.S.C. (music), Gilbert L. Rathbun (communication arts), and Rev. Ernan McMullin (philosophy).

A veteran faculty member, Rev. Robert Pelton, C.S.C., was appointed head of the department of religion, succeeding Rev. Roland Simonitsch, C.S.C., who joins the faculty of the University of Portland (Ore.). Father Pelton received his S.T.D. from the Angelicum in Rome, is a planner... for the annual Institutes of Spirituality, author and editor of works on spiritual direction. Active in Latin-American Student affairs, he has also been rector of several residence halls.

Two faculty members are lecturing and researching in Europe during the 1959-60 academic year on Fulbright grants. Wienczyslaw J. Wagner, associate professor in the Law School, will lecture on American and comparative law at the University of Paris and University of Rennes in France. Ralph M. McNerny, assistant professor of philosophy, will conduct philosophical research at the University of Louvain in Belgium.

Dr. Erhardt M. Winkler, associate professor of geology, has been awarded a grant by the Office of Naval Research to team up with his wife, a pilot, on an aerial photography project with special camouflage detection film developed by the Navy, with which he will interpret glacial deposits from color photos.

Professor Wagner, mentioned above, has written The Federal States and Their Judiciary, a 390-page comparative study of the judicial systems of seven nations, published in English by Mouton and Co., The Hague, Holland.

Three Notre Dame mathematicians have collaborated on Introduction to Analysis, the first textbook of a two-volume course in mathematical analysis published by Ginn and Co. The authors are Dr. Norman Haaser and Dr.
Joseph Sullivan, associate professors of mathematics, and a former professor, Dr. Joseph LaSalle.

Representatives of the economics faculty appeared at various meetings last spring. Professor Warren J. Bilkey addressed the Central Michigan Chapter of the National Machine Accountants Assn. on "Economic Problems in Per-John Sheehan attended a seminar at Cornell University sponsored by the AFL-CIO, while Profs. Paul Montavon and Warren Bilkey represented the department at meetings of the Midwestern Economic Association.

SUMMER SESSION: RECORD ENROLLMENT, EXPERIMENT AND COMMENCEMENT

More than 1,700 nuns, priests and brothers from the Catholic educational system studied for advanced degrees during the 37th annual summer session, while lay students swelled the total summer enrollment to 2,627, the largest in the University's history. Approximately 300 summer courses were offered, largely on the graduate level, with education and art boasting the largest enrollments. The National Science Foundation sponsored well-attended institutes in mathematics and chemistry for teacher training programs. Also highly enrolled, mostly by religious, school and hospital superiors, was the College of Commerce M.B.A. program. The summer liturgy program, with a faculty of liturgical authorities from Europe and the U.S., and writing workshops of the department of communication arts, atthracted a great number of registrants.

The University expanded its experiment with closed-circuit television as a teaching medium in advanced math.
About 180 teachers, most of them nuns, took the summer
course in "Higher Algebra and Analytic Geometry" via TV lectures by Dr. Arnold Ross, head of the mathematics department, viewed by a small audience in the WNDU-TV studios and on monitors in several classrooms in the Engineering Building. Supplemenating the daily lectures were regular seminars conducted by the mathematics faculty.
Still considered the infant phase of a large project, the experiment employed a full studio staff, new graphic designs, and microphones in the classrooms. Dr. Ross considers the experiment a necessary response to mushrooming enrollments.

Degrees were awarded to approximately 250 graduates, most of them nuns, at summer commencement exercises August 4. Honorary doctorates were conferred on Rev. Eugene P. Burke, C.S.C., veteran teacher and editor in his 50th year of priesthood, now serving as chaplain of the Student Infirmary, and Sister Mary Emil Penet, I.H.M.,
national leader of the Sister Formation Conferences. Dr.
Otto Bird, director of the General Program, was commencement speaker, and Rev. James Doll, C.S.C., of Lobund, delivered the baccalaureate sermon.

LATE SUMMER: CONFERENCES,
CONVENTIONS AND CONVOCATIONS

His Eminence Richard Cardinal Cushing, Archbishop of Boston, addressing the formal opening of the seventh annual Institute of Spirituality in August, told more than a thousand leaders of women's religious communities that intelligence, emotional stability and capacity for adjustment to change are requisites of a good religious superior. Balancing prudence and piety, the practical and speculative, the New England prelate told the nuns that the qualities of spiritual leadership have analogies in secular administration. The week-long institute, sponsored by the religion department, featured lectures and workshops on the theme "The Superior and the Personal Development of the Subject-Religious," treating everything from Christian womanhood to mental health.

The annual meeting of the History Teachers' Club of Notre Dame, attended by 150 high school history teachers back in July, included talks and panels by Dr. Jean Belliard, French consul general in Chicago; Drs. Stephen Kertezs and John J. Kennedy of the N. D. Committee on International Relations.

In mid-August Rev. Gilbert Hartke, O.P., head of the drama department at Catholic University, keynoted the 12th biennial convention of the National Catholic Theater Conference, attended by 1600 high school, college and community thespians. Under the theme "God Behind the Masque," workshops dealt with all phases of dramatic production.

His Eminence Giacomo Cardinal Lercaro, Archbishop of Bologna, came to the U.S. to deliver a major address on "Liturgy and Social Action" and receive an honorary
as part of the 20th annual North American Liturgical week observed on campus by 1500 religious and laitymen. Bishop Leo Pursley of Fort Wayne opened the week, marked by numerous studies and displays on the renewed liturgy.

Archbishop Albert G. Meyer of Chicago was a major speaker at the 11th annual convention of the Christian Family Movement, also addressed by Senator Eugene Mccarthy of Minnesota, former Democratic National Chairman
Stephen Mitchell and other experts on politics. About 700 CFM couples and 200 chaplains came to study the role of the family in political and international life.

THE NEED FOR TALENTED LAW STUDENTS

In his Annual Report for 1958-59, Dean O'Meara makes a personal plea to every Notre Dame lawyer and every friend of Notre Dame to be on the watch for talented prospective law students and to bring to their attention the many advantages of the Notre Dame Law School.

The number of lawyers in relation to population has been declining, Dean O'Meara said, calling attention to figures compiled recently by the Survey of the Legal Profession. The Dean's Report continues:

"Briefly, the figures compiled by the Survey of the Legal Profession show that:

1. There were 25,732 fewer lawyers admitted to practice in the decade 1940-49 than in the previous decade, notwithstanding a population increase of 27,000,000.

2. Since 1949 the number of lawyers admitted to practice has decreased steadily from 89 per million of the population in that year to 57 per million of the population in 1956.

3. Thus the number admitted to practice, relative to the population, has been declining for 26 years.

"And, taking the country as a whole, there has been a long-term downward trend in the number of law students. Even more serious, the ablest college graduates, by and large, are not studying law; they are being beguiled into graduate work looking toward a scientific or an academic career. Now, it may be true that we need more scientists and engineers. But if more scientists and engineers are needed, they are needed to advance the arts of war. That is dreadfully important. I agree. But it is even more important to learn to keep the peace and ... for that purpose it is lawyers that we need, not scientists and engineers.

"As for the widely heralded need for more teachers, I agree with Mr. Beardsley Ruml: if all the trivia were removed from high school and college curricula, I think it altogether likely there would be teachers aplenty — and higher salaries for those who deserve them.

"The American Bar Association is concerned about the decrease in the number and quality of law students. President Malone has said: "... one of the two major factors which control the quality of the legal profession is the quality and character of the individuals who are attracted to the study of law ... the current national emphasis on the need for a greater number of scientifically trained men and women, combined with the dramatic accomplishments of science during the last decade, have combined to affect materially the quantity and quality of young men and young women applying for admission to law schools.  ... there is ... general concurrence that we have not yet felt the full impact of the situation and that it will get worse before it gets better. ...

"The problem was presented to the Board of Governors of the American Bar Association at its fall meeting. At that time the Board of Governors authorized the initiation of a program to accelerate the recruitment of law students with emphasis on ability.'

"We at Notre Dame have a responsibility to turn out our share — yes, and more than our share — of the lawyers so urgently needed to meet the awful challenges of the modern world — lawyers, technically competent to serve their clients well who, at the same time, are equipped for responsible leadership in a troubled world. Accordingly, we are going to have to extend and intensify our recruitment program.

"As I said in my last Annual Report: 'The recruitment program is not designed merely to enlarge the student body. Its primary purpose is to attract outstanding students — students who have the ability to become great lawyers and leaders. Excellence is our platform and we can be content with nothing less. Just as Notre Dame athletic teams always play with the very best talent available.'

NEW OFFICERS AND DIRECTORS

Mr. Albert H. Monacelli, '34 of Dunnington, Bartholow & Miller, New York City, was elected President of the Notre Dame Law Association at the annual meeting at the Law School in June. Also elected were: Honorary President, Roger P. Brennan, '33, of Cleveland, Ohio; Vice President, John J. Locher, Jr., '36L, of Cedar Rapids, Iowa; Secretary-Treasurer, George H. Gore, '40L of Fort Lauderdale, Fla.; Executive Secretary, Thomas L. Murray, '51L, of South Bend, Ind.

Newly elected directors of the Association are:

Directors previously elected and continuing in office, in addition to the officers, are:

LAW ASSOCIATION LUNCHEON

The Notre Dame Law Association Luncheon, held each year in connection with the Annual Meeting of the American Bar Association, was scheduled for the Beau Rivage Hotel in Miami Beach on August 26. All Notre Dame lawyers at the ABA meeting were expected to attend the luncheon. George H. Gore, '48L of Fort Lauderdale, was in charge of arrangements and also presided. Dean O'Meara was the speaker.

'54 REUNION

Under the leadership of Donald W. Bebenek, now practicing in Pittsburgh, the Law Class of '54 celebrated in June the fifth anniversary of graduation. In view of the success of the affair, hopes are high for the reunion next June of the Class of '55.

Bill Cotter Speaks

On Four Matters

Of Importance

To The Family

BY WILLIAM E. COTTER, JR., '41
ALUMNI PRESIDENT

(Ed. Note: This statement is condensed from President Cotter's Report to the Alumni at the Reunion Banquet of June 13, 1959. J. L.)

To many of you the work of the Alumni Board may be a mystery. Let me assure you at the outset that the Board is a real and living thing and that the twelve men who compose it look on their three-year responsibility to represent the Alumni with very serious respect. Our official job is to represent you and all the members of our Association. We try hard to assist the University and the Alumni in the several areas of our committee assignments to advise and to act on matters of Club and Class Activities, Preparatory School work, Placement, Inter-Alumni Affairs, N.D. Foundation efforts, Student Admission, Religion and Citizenship, Association budgets and many other vital things.

Underlying all of the objectives of our Association is the family concept of the alumni — that whatever we do must be done for the good of the integral family of faculty, students, administration and alumni. What we do is done to strengthen this family relationship so that our alumni feel a close personal attachment to the family and can share in all the joys and sorrows which any family must bear. With this thought in mind I want to report to you on some of the matters which your Alumni Board considers to be of importance to all of us in the family.

Gratitude

The most important matter I have to talk about has to do with gratitude — with an expression of very sincere thanks to all the members of our association for your many contributions to Notre Dame. I use the word contribution in the broad sense — to encompass not just the dollars we have given but to include all of the personal sacrifices — your time and your efforts in the past in those many activities throughout the country which mean so much to Notre Dame's valued name. Too often we consider Alumni work as money-raising effort only and too often we fail to realize that a tremendous amount of prestige and great reputation of Notre Dame is due to the personal attention of many Notre Dame graduates to matters not concerned with fund raising. We must not forget that the Alumni Association performs its duties under our twelve men who comprise it.

The survey will be conducted by an experienced and competent professional firm which has already made the necessary pilot study. After several months of refinement work have taken place, a final form of a questionnaire will be mailed to each member of the Alumni Association. The success of these efforts is entirely dependent upon the willingness and cooperation of the individual Alumni. Knowing the great spirit

To Manifest Faith Against
Austrian Prelate Tells How Prayer Was Tested by Anschluss Terrors

His Eminence Franz Cardinal König, Archbishop of Vienna, and Chairman John A. McConi of the U.S. Atomic Energy Commission were the principal speakers at the University of Notre Dame’s 114th annual commencement exercises June 7.

The Austrian prelate preached the baccalaureate sermon during a Solemn Pontifical Mass celebrated by Bishop Leo A. Purseley of Fort Wayne in the stadium at 9 a.m.

Baccalaureate Sermon

Cardinal König commented on the outstanding contribution Father Hesburgh had made and the honor he brought to Notre Dame as Vatican representative with Mr. Frank Folsom in Vienna in 1958 “by his skill and friendliness in several critical situations.”

He praised Cardinal O’Hara, who, at the Consistory, “stood next to me, and afterwards as he talked to me with enthusiasm about his years of work at Notre Dame, I felt that the Holy Father honored in him also the University of Notre Dame . . .”

“Entirely in God’s Hands”

Cardinal König said, “I would like to address a few words to the graduates this morning about the virtues that our age demands from intelligent young men. I can speak of these from my own experience as chaplain to high school and university students during those dark years when you were still children and my country was under the rule of un-Christian forces between 1938 and 1945. Many of those young students had to fight in the schools against un-Christian teachings. Later they were forced into military service during the atrocities of those terrible years. I was very often surprised how well they could live up to the ideals of their Catholic religion. I was also often afraid that they might give way to their milieu, but when I received their letters from the battlefields, I saw how deeply rooted was their faith and how they had grown to the fullness of Christian life. That showed me how important it is for a young man to carry out the consequences of his faith, to manifest openly what he reveres, the strength and beauty of our religion . . .”

Cardinal König collected many of these letters and published them under the title “Entirely in God’s Hands.” He read some of the profound and touching excerpts from several of these letters. He commented:

“From this you can see how important prayer is to remain in close touch with God and to feel His special protection. For everybody the moment comes when all creation, all the things that were familiar to him, start passing away. Even family, friends, his profession — all those things begin to lose their importance. At such a time, only one thing matters having served God truly and having been a devoted member of the Church. Every man seeks peace and happiness in hours of danger . . . Perhaps you will even be able to help others and to make the world better, but through prayer you will first have the strength within yourself."

Cardinal König concluded, “These young men had been students and they found the real test of their life when they were in danger of death . . . I would also like to remind you once more of the importance of the counsels given to you very often in the past. They have their meaning now and always. It does not matter if you succeed only in your profession, but it does matter very much for you to master your life so that your career and all your actions correspond to the Will of God. You must know that you are on the right way. From prayer, from the Holy Sacrifice of the Mass, you must find strength to overcome all difficulties.”
The Challenge of the Atom

AEC Chairman Describes Impact and Implications of Nuclear Development

Chairman McCone was commencement speaker at exercises beginning at 2 p.m. in the stadium.

 Commencement Address

Chairman McCone said, "I deeply and sincerely appreciate the great honor that Notre Dame has today given me. I accept it as a trust. With God's help I shall try to be worthy of that trust.

"This honor links me to the glorious tradition of Notre Dame. Through the tradition of great teaching and sound direction, young men are equipped, as few others in this country, to face with hope and faith the challenging and perplexing world of today.

"Thus, when you leave these halls with your degree you start with the advantage of an unusual endowment in mind and in Christian spirit.

"In this scientific era, many of you will enter fields of specialization. Some of you will find careers in sciences, others in the humanities. May I, as one who was trained as an engineer in a less exacting era, suggest that you do not overlook the rich rewards that come from enriching your minds through a knowledge of many areas of human concern. The life of the fully developed person, the truly cultured man, is marked by an understanding of the humanities and the social sciences, as well as technical and scientific matters. To that we add the requirement of a belief in God, and a trust in the Christian way of life.

"My concern, as you men know, is the atom. "The Atomic Energy Commission's responsibility in this new and exciting scientific field is all encompassing.

"Let me briefly discuss the scope of our activities. We are, on the one hand, our nation's nuclear armorer. On the other hand, we are charged by law with the challenge of bringing the atom into the daily lives of the people of our great country and, indeed, of the world.

"We hope and we pray that understanding among men will improve as we pursue and succeed in the second of these two responsibilities — the use of the atom for peaceful purposes. Then we and all others will know that the atom will serve always for man's benefit and advancement, never for his destruction."

Chairman McCone, after an outline of the Commission functions, added:

"Beyond our direct support of such vital research programs, we help universities acquire the specialized equipment needed for instruction in the advanced fields of our concern. Grants-in-aid have been made for the purchase of simple subcritical assemblies to acquaint students with the nature and control of the fission process. Some universities have also been provided laboratory equipment for use in other instruction. By such means will this nation be ensured a supply of well-trained scientists and engineers so essential to its welfare and future development.

"The management of our laboratories, the direction of our research effort, the performance of essential work in your own institutions in cooperation with us represents the link between the University and the Atomic Energy Commission.

"There exists a carefully designed and well-constructed bridge between the university and the Atomic Energy Commission in our relentless search for new knowledge in nuclear science.

"Specific examples of this relationship are the advanced genetics program of the California Institute of Technology, the high energy physics research of Harvard and the Massachusetts Institute of Technology, and the basic materials research at Iowa State at Ames. But none, in my opinion, is of greater importance to us, and to the people of the world, than the basic research in radiology and radiation chemistry carried on year after year here in Notre Dame. In these fields you excel. We consider your efforts pillars of our research program, and I believe this work will expand substantially with time.

Foressees Radiation Lab

"I can foresee a new, fine laboratory on this campus which will be devoted exclusively to basic research in radiation chemistry. Your faculty feels it essential. Ways will be found to provide it. Personally, I feel it is within the province of the Government to help universities with their scientific work by providing facilities essential to both Government and university needs. I am an advocate of these programs.

I believe that our progress in atomic energy, in defense, and in the space age, require the best in the university. This is the starting point, as I have said, of the search for new scientific knowledge.

"In the few minutes my purpose has been to present in the broadest terms a picture of our activities and the interrelationship of the university and the Atomic Energy Commission in the conduct of our affairs.

"Without the university in its persistent drive for truth and basic knowledge, the atom might never have been split. The great plants at Oak Ridge, Paducah, and Hanford, might never have been built. Without the university our nation's progress in the application of the atom in the fields of biology, medicine, agriculture, and industry and for the production of power would, in my opinion, be at a standstill . . .

"The atom will bear on the lives of all of you. It will change the world in which you live. Thus, it demands your thoughtful concern. Basic research now in progress will open new vistas for the future. Whatever you do — you will have this day completed . . .

"During your lifetime man will produce more products and new ideas . . . than, however, the energy of your era will increasingly be supplied by the nuclear re-actor. This in itself will change many things in your lifetime — the economics of industrial geography, the standards of engineering practice, the raw material needs of the giant utility manufacturing industry.

"Lastly, you will be citizens of an age of change. Whatever you do — you will do in new ways with new tools and new products and new ideas and new man's lives.

"There is need in public life for men of your training: men who have had the privilege of Catholic education; men whose ideals and values of life have been molded by the dedicated Fathers in Notre Dame as they have given you the instruction which you have this day completed . . .

"Many of you will find your future in the field of my principal concern, atomic energy. I hope this will be so, for I believe man's ability to survive on this earth hinges upon his success in developing ways to use the atom for the benefit of mankind — never for its destruction. Men with the training and the deep convictions which providentially have come to you are needed to undertake this task and to do it well."

Father Hesburgh conferred eight honorary degrees and 1,280 graduate and undergraduate degrees during the ceremonies.

Honorary degree recipients, in addition to the two speakers, include Dr. Frederick D. Rossini, head of the department of chemistry, Carnegie Institute of Technology, Pittsburgh, Pa.; Sir Hugh Scott Taylor, president of the Woodrow Wilson National Fellowship Foundation, Princeton, N. J.; Rev. John A. O'Brien, author of religious and philosophical books and a veteran Notre Dame faculty member; Harry C. Hagerty, financial vice president, Metropolitan Life Insurance Co., New York City; and John Walker, director of the National Gallery of Art, Washington, D. C.

Following the Baccalaureate Mass in the morning Father Hesburgh blessed the American flag which the senior class presented to the University on Washington's Birthday.

On the day before graduation 236 members of the senior class received commissions in the Army, Air Force, Navy and Marines Corps during Class Day exercises in the University Drill Hall. The program also included the awarding of prizes to outstanding students. Student speakers included class president John Hayward, Toledo, Ohio; valedictorian Lucio A. Noto, Englewood Cliffs, N. J.; and class orator John M. Maloney, Fairless Hills, Pa.

The senior class made its traditional "Last Visit" to Sacred Heart Church on the campus. The ceremony was conducted by Rev. Glenn Boarman, C.S.C., prefect of religion.

A highlight event of the 1959 Commencement week end was the Special Convocation in Sacred Heart Church on Saturday morning, June 6 at which the University conferred its Doctor of Laws, honoris causa, on Alfredo Cardinal Ottaviani, "a Prince of the Church, whose high distinction as an authority in canon law is brilliantly matched by the high offices he has held in the Vatican, including the Congregation of the Holy Office, the Congregation of Extraordinary Ecclesiastical Affairs, and the Secretariat of State. In welcoming him to Notre Dame, we laud him for his great achievement in the compilation of the public law of the Church; and we praise him for his unremitting care in maintaining the order and discipline of the Church, the Universal Kingdom. At this special ritual of the graduating seniors, their traditional last visit to the University Church of the Sacred Heart, we gladly honor him as a renowned protector of God's word in a Society generally alienated from God."

Cardinal Konig became a Prince of the Church last December, having succeeded Cardinal Innitzer as Archbishop of Vienna in May, 1956. A native of Rabenstein in lower Austria, the 53-year-old prelate is an outstanding Biblical scholar and an exceptional linguist with a command of most European languages including Russian. During World War II he served as chaplain to University of Vienna students. With the end of hostilities he became lector in Biblical studies at the University of Vienna and later was appointed to the chair of moral theology at the Salzburg Theological Faculty. He was elevated to the hierarchy and made Coadjutor Bishop of his native diocese of Sankt Poelten on June 3, 1952. He was ordained in Rome on October 27, 1933.

John A. Mccone was sworn in as chairman of the U. S. Atomic Energy Commission on July 14, 1958. During 1950-51 he had served as Under Secretary of the Air Force in charge of new aircraft procurement and the construction of air bases throughout the world. A native of San Francisco, Mccone is a 1922 engineering graduate of the University of California. Before assuming his present duties, he was president of the Joshua Hendy Corp., Los Angeles, which operates tankers in world trade and cargo ships in the Pacific.

A new nuclear reactor at the University is prepared for operation by inserting natural uranium fuel rods. Dr. Marcel K. Newman (left) head of the department of mechanical engineering and director of nuclear engineering, supervises the project. Assisting him is Conrad Szumbert, '54, assistant professor of mechanical engineering. The new reactor, funded by grants from the U. S. Atomic Energy Commission, will be used primarily for instructing more than 40 students enrolled in nuclear engineering courses.
Irish Drill 73 Candidates
For 1959 Football Season

ONLY ELEVEN VETERANS REPORT

Seventy-three candidates were invited back for the start of practice preparations for the 71st football season of the University, according to Head Football Coach Joe Kuharich.

Workouts began on Tuesday, Sept. 1, with Monday, Aug. 31, having been set aside for picture day purposes.

Only 11 monogram winners from last year's team have returned, the smallest number returning from one year to the next since World War II. Among the losses from last year have been three of the first four ends, the first five tackles, three of the first four guards, and the first three fullbacks.

Captain Ken Adamson, senior right guard from Colorado Springs, Colo., is one of the 11 monogram returnees. He played behind All-American Al Ecuyer, a year ago. The other 1958 returning monogram men are: Bob Scholtz, senior center, Tulsa, Okla.; Monty Stickles, senior end, Poughkeepsie, N. Y.; Al Sabal, senior guard, Chicago, Ill.; Myron Pottios, junior guard, Van-Voorhis, Pa.; George Izo, senior quarterback, Barberton, Ohio; Don White, senior quarterback, Haverhill, Mass.; Jim Crotty, senior halfback, Seattle, Wash.; Bill (Red) Mack, junior halfback, Allison Park, Pa.; Bob Scarpitto, junior halfback, Rahway, N. J., and Pat Doyle, senior fullback, Sioux City, Ia. (Note: Doyle made his monogram as a halfback last year, and Pottios his as a center.) Also returning will be Dick Giesielski, senior tackle from South Bend, and Jim Colosimo, senior end from Eveleth, Minn. Giesielski made a monogram as a soph in 1956, was out of school in 1957, returned last year but did not see any action. Colosimo won a monogram in 1957, as a junior, was not in school last season.

The breakdown on the squad returning shows 12 ends, 13 tackles, 14 guards, seven centers, seven quarterbacks, 13 halfbacks and seven fullbacks. Of the total of 73, there will be only 18 seniors and 20 juniors, which indicates the heavy dependency there will be on the 35 sophomores.

Coach Joe Kuharich has stated: "We are aware that there is no substitute for experience, but circumstances are going to force us to rely greatly on the sophomores."

Kuharich indicated there would be two sessions a day for about two weeks. The first game will be on Sept. 26, at home, against the University of North Carolina.

Notice for Fall Visitors:

Football Moves To Rockne Memorial

This is just a reminder to the alumni that the football department offices are now located in the Rockne Memorial. Coach Joe Kuharich and his staff completed the move from their old offices in Breen-Phillips Hall during the summer.

Alumni visiting the campus during the fall season are more than welcome to drop in on an inspection tour of the new offices.

Also, on a home football game, the Rockne Memorial Lounge will be open as a meeting place for friends and parents of football players.

In the past there really was no place for the players to meet with their parents and friends and a great deal of confusion resulted in and around the dressing room doors. Now, however, the players are expected to take full advantage of the Rockne Lounge and make arrangements to meet their friends and parents there.

As far as the dressing room itself is concerned, no one will be admitted prior to or after a home football game except the players, members of the coaching staff and University personnel carrying out working assignments.

Sincerely,

DAVID D. SLATTERY, '48
Executive Assistant to the Head Coach

.AUTOBIOGRAPHY OF A NUN-POET-SCHOLAR

One of Notre Dame's first and most distinguished woman graduates, Sister Mary Madeleva, poet-president of St. Mary's College, has compressed her life story into book form.

Undertaking the task of writing her autobiography at the request of her publisher Sister Madeleva accepted the assignment as casually as she does appointments with scholars and public figures or her many requests to lecture.

Celebrities Mentioned

In two weeks she filled four notepads with angular penciled handwriting, outlining her fabulous journey from a small Wisconsin town to the big business of heading one of the oldest Catholic colleges for women in the United States. The book is made up of 30 chapters, with such breezy titles as "The Cat Is Black," "Varsity, Varsity," "7,000 Boys and 1,000 Girls" and "I Enter Oxford." Incidents in her autobiography embrace the worlds of the theater, letters and education. Names like Helen Hayes, Clare Boothe Luce, Irene Dunne and Marian Anderson are mentioned.

50 Years in Congregation

This year marks the dynamic nun's 50th year as a member of the Congregation of the Sisters of the Holy Cross and her 25th year as president of St. Mary's.

Though her career has been devoted to the religious life of poverty, chastity and obedience, Sister Madeleva's story is not the conventional "nun's story." It is also the story of a poet, philosopher, educator and administrator whose advice and counsel has been sought by world-famous persons in politics, the theater and education.

A dozen volumes of her poetry have been published over the years. Her poems have also appeared in many national magazines. Honored by a host of colleges and organizations with degrees and citations, she returned to N. D. for an honorary doctorate in 1953.

A copy of My First Seventy Years will be presented to His Holiness Pope John XXIII. The company prepared the special copy bound in white leather with gold lettering.

HOW-TO OF CHRISTIAN YOUTH GUIDANCE

Here is a new book on youth guidance by Vincent J. Giese, editorial director of Fides and also author of The Apostolic Itch and Patterns for Teenagers.

Combining principles for training lay leaders with his broad experiences with young people in the Young Christian Workers, the Young Christian Students, and the Confraternity of Christian Doctrine, Giese has written a realistic handbook for anyone concerned with the training of youth for leadership.

Special chapters are devoted to the role of the school, the parish, and the clergy in working with youth. The author also discusses the apostolate of the CCD, professional and work life, and world responsibility. One chapter is devoted to the elements of spirituality of lay leaders.

Holding degrees from St. Joseph's College, Indiana, and Marquette beside his master's from Notre Dame, Giese is a member of the national lay committee of the Confraternity of Christian Doctrine. He represented the CCD at the II World Congress of the Jewish laminate in Rome, October, 1957. He also serves on the board of adult education centers in the Archdiocese of Chicago and is an active member of St. Francis de Paula parish.

Training for Leadership is illustrated with photographs.
Of Importance to the Family

of cooperation within our Alumni we are certain that the survey will succeed and will be of significant help to all of us.

Recognizing that such a survey can attain a real purpose, we also know that we can never replace the advantages to Notre Dame of personal contact with you, with class officers and with the various clubs. We hope to make continued improvements in personal contact with Alumni so that all Alumni will feel their part in the close family relationship with Notre Dame — so that all Alumni will know more of the needs, the problems, the good things, the mistakes, the honors, the plans, and the future of Notre Dame.

Admissions

One of the matters which is apparently in the minds of a great majority of Alumni (if we can judge from the many discussions about it at the Universal Notre Dame Night gatherings) has to do with the present University policy on student admissions. We are all faced with questions about admissions either from our own family or from friends and associates. These questions say:

"Does a candidate for admissions have to be a straight A student? Why are the standards so rigid and so high? What are the chances of the average high school boy? Is it true that Notre Dame wants only the genius of the classroom?"

These questions must be answered with fact, and speaking as one who has just consulted with Father Moran, the Director of Student Admissions, let me say this to you:

Notre Dame seeks the well balanced student, not the young man who is scholar alone, or athlete alone, or whose record shows an abundance of social activities only. Being a student only is not enough, just as being an athlete only is not enough. Naturally everyone expects the best from Notre Dame in all her undertakings. Therefore, Notre Dame seeks the best and tries to provide the best in her graduates. This does not mean, however, that all candidates must be straight A in high school. It means, rather, that to be admitted, a student must have proven his scholastic ability and must have shown some recognizable leadership potential. The best applicant is one who has exhibited successful interest in study, in play, in fun and in prayer — with an understanding of the relationship of one to the other.

Certainly the scholastic standards of admission and of study have become more difficult to meet. Before any graduates — or faculty members — of any vintage, may feel that the change in standards is a reflection on them let me point out with a well worn expression that "times have changed." Who can deny that our social and business world is more competitive than it was just a few years ago. Any college degree is not the key which will open all doors. And if Notre Dame is going to train men to be responsible Catholic leaders in this competitive world, she must begin with the best balanced charge of raw material and she must bear down hard on classroom standards so that facing the world be a freshman experience for the graduating senior.

As Alumni we can make a very real personal contribution to Notre Dame by a good understanding of this policy. We can all help, just as so many hundreds of graduates are now helping, by advising, and counseling, and screening with honest judgment these young men, including our own sons, who come to us with admission to Notre Dame in mind. We cannot do the job of the Admissions office but we can act as scouts and counselors. And to those of you who have been so helpful in this area in the past may I express the warm appreciation of the Alumni Association as well as the University for a most valuable service.

ordinary ability and great promise and we welcome him most warmly.

Mr. John A. Buczkowski, '48L, has been appointed lecturer on law and will teach the course on Torts while Professor Wagner is on leave next year. Mr. Buczkowski received an LL.M. from New York University in 1949. He is engaged in the active practice of law in South Bend.

Dean O'Meara participated in a conference on legal education held in June under the auspices of the University of Michigan Law School. He took part in a national conference on "Law and The Layman" held in Miami in connection with the annual meeting of the American Bar Association.

SYMPOSIUM ISSUE

The Notre Dame Lawyer will publish a Symposium Issue. It will contain the papers read at the Symposium on the Problems and Responsibilities of School Desegregation, held at the Notre Dame Law School last May. Also to be included is an extensive student analysis and discussion of the legal aspects of desegregation. This latter, it is believed, will fill a real need, as there is not now in existence any such comprehensive examination of the many legal problems involved in desegregation.

Alumni Clubs

A Akron

The Darago Administration, named for banker JOHN DARAGO, '54, the Akron club's new President, has been established with JOHN B. HUMMEL, II, '49, as its Vice-President, BRUCE W. RAFF, Jr., '45, as Secretary, and JOSEPH J. WEBB as its Treasurer. This administration's platform has been evolved and launched already.

JOE BOLAND, '27, and DON MILLER, '25, were made television celebrities again when they were honored guests on Universal Notre Dame Night. That night WILLIAM G. BURKHARDT, '33, was presented the Man of the Year Award by HUGH M. COLOPY, '33, and JOSEPH H. KRAKER, '29, served as the Master of Ceremonies for the Universal Notre Dame Night dinner at Akron's Sheraton Hotel.

—JOHN B. HUMMEL, II, '49, Vice-Pres.

A Alabama

The joint Purdue-X.-D. boat excusion on May 9 was the last event of the Alabama Club until cooler weather, but now is as good a time as any to present the short prayer composed by the Club Chairman for use before each meeting:

Our Lady of the Golden Dome... lovely Queen of our Indiana home,... smile upon your sons here as good a time as any to present the short prayer composed by the Club Chairman for use before each meeting:

—Rev. J.P.S., '49.

A Boston

The Boston Club's annual family outing was held on Sunday, June 21 at Stonehill College, "Notre Dame of the East." President HENRY BALLING, Jr., '32, and Vice-President JOHN ENDERS, Jr., '53, Honorary President, HARRY CARROLL, '33, Vice-President, JOHN M. SIECK, '31, and VICE-PRESIDENT, JOHN O. O'BRIEN, '30, conducted the party, which was a great success.

A Buffalo

President HENRY BALLING, Jr., '52, and Vice-President JOHN ENDERS, Jr., '53, spent a very profitable week end on campus at Notre Dame. These two current leaders of the Buffalo Alumni Club's destiny went right to the top folks on campus to clear one of the most ambitious club programs ever undertaken. Needless to say, Armstrong, Krause, Cabell, Laughlin, Father Joyce, et al, were most co-operative in firming up the program for the coming year.

The stag outing for the Buffalo Club is traditionally an afternoon and evening affair, but this year after the pleasant trip to Strykersville, N.Y., most of the attendingStag was made the most of a whole week end away. . . This top on several of the men having been back to school for their annual class reunion put a few of the "men-about-town" way back in the left field department. . . Some of the committee that made the party so interesting (and extended) were JIM DOMINIC, '48, and PAUL CARROLL, '48, in charge of the beer concession. WALLY NEVERLIN, '53; PAT NEVILLE, '52, and ED KING, '51, programmed the games (both amateur and professional). TOM KELLY was official photographer. Tom is of the class of '49 and has been spending lots of photographic time trying to bring out the photogaphic qualities of BOB WEBER, also a forty-niner. . . . The food was continuous and delicious, most everyone had a hand in it at one time or another, but those most responsible for having it in the right town on the given week end were: FRANK SHINSKEY, '23 (fresh from being a benefactor), DON SEIFERT, '49; TED FLANIGAN, '30; ED HOWES, '37 (all the way from Dunkirk); DICK WAGNER, '53; FRANK KELLNER, '26; TED KINUNROW, '30; CY RICKARD, '34, and the NOVAK boys CHARLIE, FRANK and JOHN. FRANK GAGLONE and FRANK FUSATI (the furniture men) together with AL IFFL, DER, '29, are in charge of the tables (for games) both indoors and outdoors. Over all were the sergeants-in-chARGE, the BROTHERS BULLING (HARRY and PAUL) assisted by JACK LAVAGNE. This was a party that will be a long remembered date in the Greater Buffalo history. JOE DUFFY, '46, now in Buffalo, by way of Indianapolis and Louisville, through Tonawanda, has made a motion that Strykersville annex Buffalo. . . It might be easier to find!!

After the stag the "sports" and their friends made the big night at Buffalo Raceway for the annual running of the Notre Dame Handicap. . . . This evening event on the Buffalo Club calendar is made possible through the co-operation of James J. Dunigan and his Buffalo Raceway organization. This year JACK BOLAND and President HENRY BALLING with the assistance of James J. Dunigan, president of Buffalo Raceway, presented the Notre Dame cooler blanket to the Notre Dame Alumni, September, 1959

Central Illinois

At a meeting of the Central Illinois Alumni Club in observance of Universal Notre Dame Night the following officers were elected for the Springfield, Champaign Club on Monday, May 18, in St. Patrick's Hall, Hammond, Ind. About a dozen area clubs held similar observances and sponsored the sports-writing field (Norman Weir), sports director of the Gary Post-Tribune, and John Witter, sports editor of the Hammond Times, in welcoming Joe Kuharich and staff. TIM GALVIN introduced Joe. WILLIAM J. O'CONNOR, president, was master of ceremonies, and ANTHONY KUHARICH, brother of Joe and U.S. probation officer for this district, took bows.

Central New York (Syracuse)

With the family picnic in July at Green Lakes and the annual Golf Outing in August, 1959, the Syracuse Alumni Club has been very busy during the past four years. It is the goal of the present officers to reactivate the Club and hold a minimum of four activities annually.

Chicago

Chicago Club board and officers met on Wednesday evening, May 20 to honor the retiring governors and officers. The incoming National Testamentary Director was also honored. This is the third consecutive year the board has paid tribute to the efforts expended by their predecessors.

Cincinnati

It's been a busy summer for the Notre Dame Club of Cincinnati. JOHNNY REED, '56, and JOSEPH SCHRINER were chairmen of the annual Golf Party at Monkski Country Club on June 30, featuring buffet lunch, golf, dinner, prizes, etc., with FATHER NED JOYCE, C.S.C., N.D. executive vice-president, as featured guest. Honorary chairman and adviser was JOHN CHAPLAIN, assisted by JERRY GRANT. On July 31 a group departed for a Hubbard and Wife Retreat through August 2 at Our Lady of Fatima Retreat House on the Notre Dame campus. JOHN CHAPLAIN, GEORGE KERRY and FRANK CULL did the planning. On Saturday, August 8, Monika and Mary's of the Club's biggest yearly event, socially and financially, the N.D. and M.S.U. football game.

Cleveland

Our annual election held in June resulted in the following list of officers for the 1959-60 year: President, JOHN E. CRONIN, '48; Vice-President, THOMAS D. GROTE, '50; Secretary, BARRY SAVAGE, '54; and Treasurer, JOHN R. LABAR, '53.

Current plans call for a "Freshmen Farewell" picnic to be held in early September. Freshmen and their fathers will be guests of the Alumni and will be joined by the present students and their fathers.

Dearborn

The Notre Dame Club of Dearborn 1959-60 election declared JOHN FISH, JR., '53, President; JIM KING, '50, Vice-President; and JOE BYRNE, '52, Secretary-Treasurer.

Our annual Family Picnic, ably planned, organized and executed by JERRY KELLY, was a grand success. Familiar faces were mirrored in the families of TOM NELSON, JERRY SMITH, DON HICKS, JERRY WAYNO and JACK LAKE among the families represented.

The Mid-Summer Dinner-Dance received excellent cooperation from the weather and overwhelming attendance from members and friends. Mary Fish, Jeannie King, and Doris Byrne collaborated with the wives of the Board of Directors to present a menu filled with good music and fine food. Acting as host for this event were Jerry and Rita Wayne.

Lee LABRADE, JACK SCHAFFER, and Dick King have been busy with preparation for Future Events.

Dearborn is the location of the Stag Golf Day which will have been held August 15 at Glen Oaks G.C. This is an open event for all N.D.ers in the metropolitan Detroit area.

Jack Schaefler and Dick King are co-chairmen of the Club's biggest yearly event, socially and financially, the N.D. and M.S.U. football game. Raffle and Trip. Plans are well underway for this renewal of an old rivalry on October 17, at East Lansing.

J. W. BYRNE, Sec-Treas.

Dayton

Past President PAUL LAMMERS had high praise for DR. THOMAS GARNEY of the Lilly Co., Indianapolis, who spoke at the last U.N.D. Night in Dayton. Paul wrote: "I would recommend him as a speaker to any Notre Dame Club, and also I feel he is one of our outstanding Notre Dame men of the Midwest."

Dayton

It's a little late but worth reporting that our St. Patrick's Day Dance was a huge success. BUZZ MORAN was chairman of the event for the second straight year and never was more effort exerted in planning a good time. Somewhere Buzz managed to get an eight-piece band on our limited budget, which really added to things. Much thanks, Buzz!

On April 22, 1959, Universal Notre Dame Night was celebrated at the Blue Mill in Decatur. ALAN LANDOLT was chairman, with GEORGE HUBBARD, BOB UHL and STEVE GRALER as committee. There were over 50 assembled for cocktails, dinner and a most excellent talk by JOHN BRODERICK, aest. dean of the N.D. Law School. His informal words got right down to the core of the educator's problems today and just what steps Notre Dame is taking to find a solution. Also at U.D. N.D. Night in Decatur it was your young club's greatest privilege to present the "Man of the Year" award to our president BERNARD MARTY. Without Bernie's efforts and guidance, the Decatur Notre Dame Club would still be a dream. Our Notre Dame family is increasing: to FRANK LEX and BERNA D BEAUDINE, a baby girl.

Since the first of the year we have five new members. They are POYNTELLE DOUGLAS, former Notre Dame all-American, now being laid for a gala affair that will be reported on in the next edition.

DENVER DIARY

JOHN LATTNER, '54, is handling the coaching staff of Denver University as backfield coach. . . . New to the Denver fraternity of attorneys are JOHN C. DOBBS, '43, and DON MORTENSEN, '54. . . . JIM HANLON, '18, is laying plans for this fall's special train to the Notre Dame versus Navy game in South Bend on Oct. 31. . . . New Denver Realtor, recently moved from Columbus, Ohio, is BOB POISSON, '49. . . . Running unopposed for his second term as Denver City Auditor in last May's municipal election was TOM CONROY, '48. . . . The newly elected officers for 1959-60 were installed: President, DON HERRON; First Vice President, LOU CONROY; Second Vice President, WILLIAM RONEY; Secretary, JERRY ASHLEY, and Treasurer, THOMAS J. VERBIST.

Numerous events are being planned for the '59-'60 season.

The Notre Dame Club of Detroit had its annual summer golf party at Oakland Hills Country Club on Tuesday, June 30.

JOHN PANELLI, All-American fullback in 1948 at Notre Dame and former Detroit Lion and Chicago Cardinal star, was chairman of this year's event.

JOE KUHARICH, head football coach of the Fielding Håkanson, was guest speaker at dinner following golf. Athletic director ED KRAUSE and FATHER JEROME WILSON, business vice president, were also invited.

As an added attraction, Oakland Hills made arrangements to have Sammy Snead demonstrate the finer points of the game.

The Notre Dame Club presented a specially built 1959 Ford station wagon to VAN WALLACE, a former student from Mt. Clemens injured in a swimming accident on July 4, 1924. Van, who had just completed his freshman year at South Bend, has been confined to bed ever since.

Ecuador

From Quito, Ecuador, S.A., Club President John MOELLER reports on the state of the organization. Organized under the stimulus of visits by FATHER HESBURGH, KENNA and CUNNINGHAM, with John as president and ANTONIO MORTENSEN as secretary-treasurer, the Ecuador Club has been in existence for three years. At first there were frequent meetings in the homes of various members, but the practice was discontinued because, with typical Latin hospitality, each host would try to outdo the others in the lavishness of arrangements. At the end of the summer season John will attempt to reorganize on a different basis.

President Moeller, married and the father of a family, is the owner of a dairy farm and is executive director of the Fielding Håkanson Commission in Ecuador. He sent the following information on other members. Secretary Mortensen is married and employed as manager of a match company in Quito.

Bachelor LUIS GALEZ works for the government. Farmers ALEJANDRO VILLAVICENCIO and JORGE ESPINOZA are both married and fathers. GONZALO SERRANO, also a farmer at present, is a bachelor. Temporarily missing from Quito but expected to return at any time are ALBERTO PEREZ, ALESSANDRO, and JOSE GARCIA, who are graduates of Notre Dame.

In October, when members will return to town to start their children in school, John hopes to begin a series of more enjoyable and less pretentious stag events, with perhaps one party a year to include the ladies.

Erie

The Erie Club held its first annual week-end retreat Feb. 21 and 22 at Mission Manor in Girard, Pa. Father Ralph Reiner, S.V.D., master and the theme of the retreat was "Faith."

This was undoubtedly the most inspiring and worthwhile retreat the club has yet held. Over one hundred members participated in the program. Retreats were arranged by JACK BERTGES, FELIX SHUBERT, JOE GLASS, TONY ZAMBRUKO, BOB LUKES, LEO BRUGGER, DR. FREDERICK GABRIEL, JOE BARBER, LARRY STADLER, HERB KERN, ED KERN, JOHN McCORMICK, RICH McCORMICK and JOHN WALSH.

At the club's March dinner meeting, held at Marturel's Tavern, after a dish (large) of that delicious spaghetti, two new directors were elected. Directors present and voting were DON BUSECK, '56, HERB KERN, '57, EARL O'CONNOR, '50, JOHN McCORMICK, '55, and RICH McCORMICK, '55. John married Miss Helen Cavanaugh on July 25 in Fort Lauderdale, Fla. She is from the city of Miami and is a graduate of thine Catholic University. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. JOHN R. ATKINS. Ping pong (singles), CARL KNAPE, '28, and Mrs. ROBERT KIN, '28, were committee members.

Other honored guests included Father Richard Carter and Father Edward Wojniak, SVD, author of "Tha Atomic Apostle." Also -- Mr. and Mrs. HERBERT G. KERN, JR., Mr. and Mrs. ANTHONY ZAMBRUKO, Mr. and Mrs. THOMAS BAHR, Mr. and Mrs. ROBERT KIN, '28, Mr. and Mrs. LEO BRUGGER, Mr. and Mrs. CHARLES WITTMANN, Mr. and Mrs. DONALD C. BRUGGER, Mr. and Mrs. HARRY ESSEICK, Mr. and Mrs. WILLIAM GRANT, Mr. and Mrs. JOHN J. McCORMICK, '57, Mr. and Mrs. RICH McCORMICK, '55, RICH McCORMICK, '55, and JOHN WALSH, Mr. and Mrs. JOHN DUCATO, '57, and Mrs. FREDERICK R. GABRIEL, '55, and Father R. C. BUSECK, Mr. and Mrs. HOWARD ESSICK, Mr. and Mrs. JOHN S. YOUNG, JOE GLASS, RAY LEGLER, '57, and JOHN WALSH, '57, are not entering as they seem to think one can do better at making side bets throughout the day. I certainly hope that those of you who are interested in the outcome of the ongoing outing will read this column in the next issue for results. As a matter of fact, we members of the Erie Club will have to do the same for the results as it is a gross breach of ethics and etiquette to divulge anyone's score during or for the two weeks immediately following the outing.

Fairfield County

At a summer meeting WILLIAM MULREXAN, '57, of Fairfield, Conn., was elected president of the Fairfield County Club, succeeding ROBERT K. GRIFFIN.

Fort Lauderdale

The fifth annual State Convention of the Notre Dame Club of Florida was held at the Sea Ranch Hotel, Lauderdale-by-the-Sea, on April 24, 25 and 26.

Perfect weather again greeted the 100 Notre Dame Men and their wives who traveled from all sections of the state, and from out-state as well, to assist in making this one of our most outstanding affairs.

Once again, hard working BOB GORE, JR., '51, served as General Chairman, and together with his lovely wife, Margie and Club President JOHN CALGAN, '57, and his father, Eugene Gore, acted as official hosts for the Convention. Assisting Chairman Gore were committee members GEORGE ERNST, '29; RICH McCORMICK, '55; DON BUSECK, '56, and TOM WALKER, '42.

We were particularly honored this year by the attendance of the Excellency, Most Rev. COLEMAN F. CARROLL, the first Bishop of the newly-formed Diocese of Miami. Also in attendance and represented by the University were this year EDMOND JOYCE, C.S.C., executive vice president, and JAMES E. ARMSTRONG, alumni secretary, accompanied by Mrs. Armstrong.

The Convention got underway Friday evening with a particularly fine fish dinner, with the fish being supplied through the efforts of Club Members WILLIAM MOSS and BOB GORE, JR., who, along with the previous MacGinnis, also tried to provide the catch. The dinner was followed by a Mardi Gras Night, a new and most successful innovation this year. And as a result of which, through the efforts of the conventioners at the various games of chance, the associated clubs of the state were able to contribute $240 to the University. The 56th Annual Notre Dame Night banquet was held in the main dining room of the Sea Ranch. It was Saturday evening with many additional members and guests in attendance who were unable to spend the entire week-end with us. Father Joyce offered his Mass for her on Sunday morning at the club, and Father Joyce introduced the ladies. The ladies gave the toast, presented Father Joyce with a check for $100 for the club treasury.

Our regular caddies -- UVRRY STADLER, '28, and JOE GLASS, '40, made the scoring, and did the same for the results as it is a gross breach of ethics and etiquette to divulge anyone's score during or for the two weeks immediately following the outing.

--RICHARD T. McCORMICK, '55, Secretary.

HIAWATHALAND—Mrs. Phil McCanna, Marinette, Wis., accepts her husband's Man-of-the-Year award from Mike O'Hara, Menominee, Mich., attorney, on U.N.D. Night in Escanaba, Mich. Dr. McCanna, unable to attend, was also named secretary-treasurer of the Hiawathaland Club.

Notre Dame Alumnus, September, 1959 35
Fort Wayne
Since our last report to the Alumni, many club activities have taken place. In February we had election of officers at a meeting held at the President's House. In March we held our annual Day of Recollection at the Crozier House of Studies. Father Joseph Fichtner, O.C.S., was our retreat master. John Steelman and Ethel Kuharich were co-chairmen of this event.

The highlight of this year’s activities occurred in April on Notre Dame Night. We were honored with the presence of James Armstrong. He was our guest speaker. The event was held at the Orchard Ridge Country Club. Included in the program was the selection of Joseph Coleman as our Notre Dame Man of the Year. The presentation of this award was made by Donnelly P. McDonald, Jr., a former recipient of this award. He was a member of the Irish in the Lutze floor. He addressed the event. The N.D. Club of Jackson, Mich., has recognized a penitentiary warden, a Felcidan nun, and a priest as nominees for the award. This award is a key to the awarding of the award. The N.D. Kansas City
The start of summer brought the activities of our club into high gear. The Auxiliary was active as usual. It is a privilege to be a member of the Auxiliary. President. Our JOHN MASSMAN, president at the installation and in return, received a substantial donation to be placed in the University. This was the result of the profits of the many and varied fund raising functions of the busy Auxiliary. The Auxiliary, President, JOHN MASSMAN, has the Auxiliary in the Auxiliary at the Auxiliary at the Auxiliary.

Kalamazoo
The Kalamazoo Club held a “Schlafisfest” in honor of HUGH DEVORE and DICK BOWES. We turned out 150 strong. The full proceeds went to the scholarship fund. Hugh did a great job and the University received plenty of good publicity as the event was covered by local newspapers and television stations. This is an annual affair for local alumni.

Five days later, June 13, to be exact, the Auxiliary held its annual scholarship dinner. The guests were the Scholarship Fund with its contributions. Frankly, we’re extremely proud of the Auxiliary for all the things it does. We are a small, interested group furthering the best interest of the University. We are sure no fine auxiliary exists anywhere. We, gentlemen, pay over thousands dollars a year in monitory gifts to University.

Local Alumni in the News: Paul Rupps’ Auto Parts Company opened a new addition recently and the ChiliChile paper honored them with a headline. Tom Mcroy, president, LEO barnes, etc. (right), shown with Mrs. Jim Armstrong with a 32-page supplement. TOM CARNEY, ‘57, BUD turner, ‘45, and our permanent downtown auxiliary lend. We hope that all the members will keep Jack informed as to any changes of address by calling his law office, ME 4-7386. Also we hope when you alums are in town you will contact the members by phoning Jack.

We planned a real professional golf tournament for July 23. JOHN FOLEY, captain of the golf team at school in ‘53, was made chairman of this event and was able to make a few requests to make the event a little more interesting. We hope you will come out and help us win it this year.

We planned a real professional golf tournament for July 23. JOHN FOLEY, captain of the golf team at school in ‘53, was made chairman of this event and was able to make a few requests to make the event a little more interesting. We hope you will come out and help us win it this year.

Five days later, June 13, to be exact, the Auxiliary held its annual scholarship dinner. The guests were the Scholarship Fund with its contributions. Frankly, we’re extremely proud of the Auxiliary for all the things it does. We are a small, interested group furthering the best interest of the University. We are sure no fine auxiliary exists anywhere. We, gentlemen, pay over thousands dollars a year in monitory gifts to University.
will take place in July. While Tom wrestles the printers, CRAIG WHITEKILL is interviewing applicants for the annual $1600 scholarship. This award is the result of the many functions of the club and the support of the members. It is an important and difficult task. Craig and his committee do a remarkable job.

BILLY FARRIS and BOB METZLER announced a football trip to the N.D.-Northwestern game. Plans to be announced later. In the meantime, we'll have two more functions prior to the game. The annual summer picnic in August followed by a freshman kickoff dinner. Visiting alumni are always invited to attend our functions and information is available by calling Plaza 2-2560.

Kentucky

Members of the Kentucky club took part in a closed retreat at the famed Abbey of Our Lady of Gethsemani, Trappist-Cistercian monastery at Trappist, Ky., in late May.

La Crosse

FATHER TOM NINNEMAN conducted the club's second holy hour of the season May 25 at St. Mary's Seminary. The club is open to Notre Dame Club members, their wives, families and friends. Four such holy hours are held each year. For the first holy hour, Father Tom, who is athletic director of Aquinas High School, heads for Catholic University in Washington, D.C., this summer to take courses.

TOM JAEB, Caledonia, Minn., and BOB KELLY, Winona, Minn., are two recent additions to our club. Father Tom, resident of St. John's Monastery, is a MacNab Award winner. When Bob Padesky was assigned to Port Huron, Mich., in June.

Members are now pointing to the steak fry held annually in September at Pete Rau's cottage. BERNIE LAVINS, JERRY HERBERLIN, ROGER ZOELLNER and TOM SAGG AU head the committee gearing to make the event a success.

TOM Saggau has recently joined the personnel department of the Trane Company here in the city. —STEVE PAVELA, ’48, Secy.

Lehigh Valley

Summer time has been a busy time with the Notre Dame Club of the Lehigh Valley. After the regular May membership meeting at the Hotel Bethlehem, the new year under President JIM WALSH got under way. The June membership meeting held on June 25 at the Hotel Easton in Easton, Pa., featured the showing of the Prudential Insurance Company film, "Rockne of Notre Dame." The film which appeared over CBS-TV's "Twentieth Century" show last fall was a tremendous success. TOM FOGARTY handled arrangements for the meeting.

Highlight event of July was the annual family picnic. JOHN SIMITZ and his fine committee arranged the outing for the alumni, students, and guests. Although the Old Timers spent several weeks in training, the outcome of the annual "softball game was unchanged as the youngsters won again.

August will see the second golf outing. Prizes for ability as well as the "most honest golfer" will be awarded.

Los Angeles

After U.N.D. Night under the capable chairmanship of BILL HUSTON, the concluding officers, throughout the year, DON DEMPSEY, reported that the year's activities had netted $2,000, $2,000 of which went into the scholarship fund, which now approaches $7,000. A committee is being set up to determine the basis for scholarship awards.

The summer picnic, managed by PAUL RUBLY will be held at St. John's Park, Sep. 11-13 (EUGENE CALHOUN, chairman) and a Freshman Sendoff under the direction of BOB KELLEY. Future events will include a Sports Dinner in November under the direction of BILL WELCH, program chairman for the evening. The University Club with Francy Art Sells has arranged for us to join the stag bar and buffet with some fifty of their members, which was to precede Rocky Marciano and a beer smoker. Due to an emergency trip north at the last minute by Rocky, a revised program was quickly arranged and one of the highlights was the film featuring Clint McGearry, manager of Rocky, who brought a fine film of the Mariano-Moore fight, and who gave a nice talk on the title-contender, ex-heavyweight boxing champion. There were an estimated forty plus NDers on hand.

Our heartiest congratulations to Dan and Dee Rowland, who have just added another candidate for the Notre Dame roster of 1979, Douglas Rowland, born June 5 at Doctor's Hospital. Father, Mother and baby are all doing fine!

Midland-Odessa

H. BYRNE O'NEILL succeeded JOHN BUCKLEY as president of the N.D. Club of Midland-Odessa after a highly successful U.N.D. Night deep in the heart of Texas, featuring athletic director ED KRAUSE.

Milwaukee

JOHN LINNENHOF, ’48, of Watatotaus, Wis., succeeded WALTER E. SCHNEIDER as president of the Notre Dame Club of Milwaukee after elections on July 15. Other new officers are JOHN WILEY NIGHTINGALE, ’35, v.p.; FRANK HERMAN, ’57, secretary, and CHARLES O'BRIEN, ’55, treasurer, all of Milwaukee.

Mohawk Valley

The annual Mohawk Valley Club picnic was held to attend a Syracuse University (doesn't it happen?) on June 17 at Twin Ponds Golf and Country Club in New York Mills. Although it was pretty damp on the outside, we were able to move the "picnic" inside. More than 30 faithful turned out (or in), the food and drinks and ourselves stayed dry, and everyone who attended seemed to have a real fine time. CHARLIE HITZELBERGER, ’32, was chairman of the affair and did a good job in taking care of everything but the weather.

Among those who attended was FRANK HACKETT, ’41, who has replaced FRANK OTT, ’22, as the "elder statesman" of the club.

"SLEEPY JIM" CROWLEY was in the area just prior to the picnic to act as main speaker at an athletic banquet in honor of the Utica Catholic Academy High School basketball and baseball squads. He did a really terrific job, as did Gene SYLVESTER of the Mohawk Valley Club.

Among those who turned out for this affair and to wish Jim well were FRANK DONALTY, ’32, ED SWEENEY, ’35, LOUIE CLARK, ’34, and KEN MURPHY, ’34 (along with his dad, who is one of the leading subway immortals).

FELIX (PHIL) AQUINO, ’50, a teacher at Kerman School in Utica, was a recipient of the Utica newspapers' scholarship which enabled him to attend Syracuse University workshop on "The Newspaper in the Classroom."
ED REagan, '42, is in line for congratulations on his recent appointment to the presidency of the Mohawk Valley Chapter of the Society of Industrial Engineers.

The club is mourning the passing of the mother of ED SWEENEY, '30, who was 89 years young.

New Jersey

Seventy-five New Jerseyans turned out for the election of officers and the annual Alumni Club Golf Outing June 2 at the Glen Ridge Country Club.

The principal feature of the outing was a golf tourney. A 25-man handicap tournament was played. A total of 45 players participated in the tourney, which wound up with the award of $40, an investigator. Question is— who's watching whom?

New York

The Club followed up U.N.D. Night with two of its most successful smokers on May 13 and 14. The first, sponsored by the Long Island Chapter was held in the Garden City Hotel. The principal speaker was JOE KUHARICH who made an excellent impression on the crowd of over 300, notwithstanding his guarded prognosis for the future. Chairman AL LESMEZ, his Committee, and the Charter officers did an excellent job.

The second smoker, sponsored by the Westchester Chapter, was held at the Westchester Country Club. Another crowd in excess of 300 heard JOE KUHARICH and MALCOLM WILSON, Acting Governor of the State of New York. JOE DURKIN and his Committee likewise did a particularly outstanding job.

One of the Club's most worthwhile endeavors has been its Scholarship Trust Fund. The Committee, chaired by DANNY HIGGINS, Jr., is comprised of BUNKY REGAN, BILL FALLON, RICHARD REID, FRANKIE FEER, JAMES MULVEY, GEORGE HORN, HAROLD MARSHALL, CLAUDE CARTIER, and JAMES SHEILS, secretary. The Committee selected THOMAS HALE MOWROR of St. Francis Prep and Petri, and STEPHEN MACMANON of Seton Hall H.S. and Rockville Centre, as this year's winners.

The Club has found it increasingly difficult to raise the necessary funds for the scholarships and is exploring the possibility of using new media for this purpose, e.g., theater party, directory, etc.

The annual golf outing, under the chairmanship of FLO MCCARTHY, HOWIE FAHEY, and GORDON FORESTER, was held on June 30 at the Leweswood Golf Club. It was followed by, appropriately enough, a corned beef and cabbage dinner.

There were prizes galore for golfers and non-golfers. (JACK HOYT, a former Club President, is now President of Leweswood.) Details next issue.

The annual beach party, sponsored by the Long Island Chapter, was held on July 13 at Gilgo Beach (details also forthcoming). This is a particularly popular affair inasmuch as it is strictly for the family. This year's chairman is JOHN MARTIN.

Philadelphia

On May 22 a happy throng of friends gathered at the Barclay Hotel to congratulate CHARLES M. DOUGHERTY, '26, on his appointment by Governor Lawrence as Secretary of Revenue for the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania. The occasion was "Charley Dougherty Day," an informal testimonial luncheon honoring Charlie, a member of the Philly Club's favorite sons. RAY BRODERICK and R. H. SIMPSON promoted tickets on a committee consisting of co-Chairman CHARLEY CONLEY, TOM MATTHEWS, JACK DENISEY, BUD DUNDEE, BILL FAY, CHARLIE MCKINNEY and CLIFF PRODEHL, lunchroom chairman. Also on the program were Club President JOHN MOOREHEAD and BILL GREEN, who introduced "Charley."

Cliff was also chairman of the gala Philadelphia Club Outing and Clam Bake June 20 at the Commercial Club, Port Indian, on the Skykirk River. The picnic featured chicken, lobster tails, beer, dancing, movies, etc. Charlie Conley was in charge of a drawing for an all-expense trip to the Southern Cal-N.D. game.

The Wyoming Club has never had an alumni club despite the fact that its alumni are some of Wyoming's outstanding citizens. Lack of numerical strength, not lack of spirit, has been responsible. Now, however, there may be a continuation of this spirit, since we still are few in number. Casper is the largest city in Wyoming and one of the most important economically. Our University Night dinner was the only public relations action ever taken on the University's behalf. We received very good local publicity in press and radio and statewide publicity with a story in the diocesan paper.

The Club's members include CHARLES A. GEHERNS, WILLIAM GREEN, RICHARD L. HODGES, PAUL K. BENNETT, MAURICE D. LANDERS, J. FRED TRIMBLE, R. A. MEEGAN, ROBERT R. MAYER, LEE E. MILLER, DR. JOSEPH P. MURPHY, VICTOR NIETZMACHER, ADAM FAIR, ROBERT STUDER and ROBERT A. TRIPLEY.

From Green Bay, Wis., comes word from the recent widow and family of ROBERT E. LYNCH, '03. Green Bay's oldest and most distinguished alumnus, Mr. Lynch died May 1. He was a baseball star and coach at N.D., coached at Northwestern and Clem­ son and played semi-pro and minor-league ball. A Wisconsin Democratic assemblyman for 20 years, Mr. Lynch was responsible for a great deal of the state's progressive legislation. He received the Green Bay N.D. Club's Man-of-the-Year award twice in the last ten years. Mrs. Lynch wrote: "He had great devotion to Our Blessed Mother all his life, and she really took care of him," referring to his short, illness. "He was a promoter for her Miraculous Medal, , had enrolled about 1,300 people and had them praying to her. They were
• from all stations in life, none too high or none too low for Bob to enroll them."

HON. ERNEST E. HAMMER, '04, of New York City, recently referred by his classmate, HON. GALLITZEN A. FARABAUGH, to the book, "Colonial Hours of Notre Dame," in which he was quoted by REV. THOMAS A. LAHEY, C.S.C., wrote: "I have read the book from beginning to end with keen interest and aroused sentiments of deep emotion. Wonderful memories were reawakened by the lifelike portrayal of the beloved but frequently student-caricatured COL. WILLIAM HYNES as he marched with dignity and friendliness across the pages, or was depicted as teacher in class, judge in court, savior at all patriotic celebrations and as a lovable human being on campus, in refectory and about his living quarters in Brown Hall.

"I also greatly enjoyed and was pleasantly moved by the tributes to the Colonel by FATHER JOHN CAYANAUGH, of beloved memory, and by former students, most of whom were my college classmates or in attendance in my time.

"It all seemed as if we old students were gathered together in a conversation memorializing the events of our own student days at Notre Dame. Naturally it seemed this brought forth memories of the lovable, though occasionally pompous, but always loyal and friendly Colonel Hynes. He enjoyed a place of high renown with Notre Dame and we pray Our Lady has obtained for him a fitting place of rest in Heaven."

Majoring in the Minors

PHILLIP P. PITON, veteran administrative official, has served more than a quarter of a century as a quiet, behind-the-scenes executive of professional baseball.

Phil Pittone, the former baseball official began with 15 years of close association with the professional sport's first commissioner, Judge Kenesaw Mountain Landis. Following re­jection as a Navy volunteer in W.W. II, for reasons of health, he did his stint during the war years as an examiner for the Board of Governors of the Federal Reserve System.

In 1945 and 1946, Phil served as staff executive for the National Patent Council and the American Fair Trade Council, public relations organizations devoted to preservation of the patent system and the fair trade laws.

Early in 1947, he joined his old friend George M. Trautman as executive assistant. Trautman had been named president of the National Association of Professional Baseball Leagues, succeeding Judge William Bromham. This is the administrative office of the Minor Leagues which spread across the United States, Canada, Mexico, and Cuba, as well as of seven Winter Leagues which operate in various Caribbean countries.

An authority on baseball law, Phil is the originator of many of the regulations which govern the day-to-day activities of the sport. Personal friend of every executive in base­ ball, he works closely with each as a liaison man between the Majors and Minors.

Phil married Mary Alice Brady of Quincy, Ill., in 1944. They reside with their daughter, Margaret Alice, at 4538 Sellers Avenue, Columbus, Ohio.

Something most of us surely didn’t know until now — JIM LOGAN is 12 times a grandfather. Also there’s a street named after him in Denver, or maybe, more accurately, he lives on Logan street.

With his long career of Superintendent of Schools of Escanaba, Mich., behind him, JOHN LEMMER, twice our Class President, 40 years apart, is a new District Governor of Rotary International. He intends to lend his talents generously to that well known organization.

Imagine reading a lengthy and most interesting article about PETE RONCHETTI in the American Legion section of the Voice-Chronicl, of Corpus Christi, Texas, and not finding that such a bundle of aggressiveness played on Notre Dame’s great football team. No mention of his nirth-pounding punching of the accordion, either. But as a young lieutenant he was in the thick of the St. Mihiel drive, and the Mein-Aurpose offensive, in World War I, and since then has travelled far and wide for the Corn Products Co. He shoots 80 at golf, and maybe his “semi-retirement” has a great deal to do with the score.

When our Class were Freshmen it was awe-inspiring to hear about how Notre Dame beat Michigan at football in 1909. Of course that’s high 30 years ago. We recently ran into one of the players in that memorable game — BERT “RED” KELLY. He’s been handicapped with a bad leg the last dozen years, and surely would be glad to hear from any real oldtimer, at his home in Zephyrhills, Fl.

DAN McGlynn, who was handed his law degree at the Marne River in 1918 by Chaplain Father MATTHEW WALSH, is the subject of a long and flattering article in the St. Louis Post Dispatch, telling how he has long endured as the political boss of East St. Louis. Accompanying the article is a mammoth three-column picture of Dan, and a slicker super-executive look on any 63-year-old lawyer certainly would be hard to find. There were even a graduation picture and excerpts from the 1918 Dome write-up of Dan. “Never run for office; run your friends; if they win it means you got them elected; if they lose — well, they were just slow horses” — was the advice Dan’s father gave him when Dan was just starting up the ladder.

But the absence of others (like "good time" CHARLIE LENTZ, who attended physician at St. Clare's Hospital, New York), Dr. Sheen was elected president of the New York Tuberculosis and Health Association. Also a consultant at Trimborough Hospital, Dr. Tom had been on the TB Association since 1919 and was chairman of the Manhattan Christmas Seal campaign in 1954. The picture in the Times clipping reveals a remarkable resemblance to the doctor's older brother and one of his closest associates, for the two were the only son of the Hon. and Mrs. (Julia Loo-\nuer, to build up our Memorial Mass fund. I, too, \nished and that finished my school program. I feel very much, and, of course, that gives us an excuse to head South occasionally.

PIERRE "PETE" CHAMPION of Cleveland reports in with this message: "In accordance with memo received from RALPH CORYN, I am pleased to send a check to Dee Weis, our class treasurer, to build up our Memorial Mass fund. I, too, hope the fund will last for a long time. Agnes and I sold our big house about four years ago. We now live in an apartment. I love it, no grass to cut or snow to shovel. We now have almost ten grandsons, and our college days are behind me. The present-day standards are mighty tough. A few weeks ago, we had our Rockne Memorial Breakfast in Cleveland. FRANK LEAHY was the speaker. He did a marvellous job. It was the first time I ever heard him speak."

Your secretary had a fine visit with CY KELLET and others of the Kellet family who made a special trip over to home of CHARLIE "RED" CROWLEY in Weston, Mass., for a 22nd reunion. Cy and family reside in Millford, Mass. Then, a short time thereafter, he came upon DANNY SULLIVAN, formerly of Jamestown, N.Y., at New Ha-\n\nOn May 7. He reported that very day he had a phone call from JERRY JONES, whom he had not heard from in many years. Both are near neighbors down the San Francisco peninsula. Thanks for the news, and keep it coming to G. "KID" ASHE.

From the Alumni Office:

It was with great regret that I announced the death of EMETT M. GRINAGER, P.W.C., ’25. This was a shock to a great many of my classmates as well as many others who knew Emett personally. He was one of the bright stars of the Class of ’25 and one of the outstanding men of our University and of the world. He leaves a great void in the life of his family, friends, and classmates.

In his memory, we should all try to make the best of life and live as he did, with conviction and purpose.

You will note that Class news for this issue is scarce. It must be in the hands of the editor about two months before going to press. I hope some of you will provide me with some news items before September 1st, which is deadline for the November issue.

FATHER BERNADET J. COUGHLIN, our classmate priest, is at College of St. Thomas in St. Paul, Minn., where he is serving as instructor and athletic director. Father Bernie has held the offices of president and secretary-treasurer of the Minnesota Intercollegiate Athletic Conference. Many of you will remember the fine companionship which Father and I enjoyed together while attending our 35th in 1956 and we are looking forward to seeing him then.

FATHER BERNARD J. COUGHLIN

At the Caterpillar plant in Peoria, Frank was there drumming up some business for his outfit, The Winkleman Company. He is there selling chemicals for a New York firm. Herb has a son who is a Junior at Notre Dame.

Your secretary and Mrs. G. had an enjoyable week at Myrtle Beach, S. C., with our nephew, GEORGE GOEPFRICH, ’55, and his wife Gertrude and their little one, John, and Miss G.’s sister, (Try to figure out that relationship!) We had lots of golf and some fishing; we didn’t break any records in either sport.

FRANK W. HOLLOWAY, G.L.U., president of the Notre Dame Club of St. Joseph Valley and FRANK DEFFLE has been elected secretary-treasurer of the Notre Dame Golf Outing at the Notre Dame Golf Course on June 24, with a record attendance. Other forthcoming events will be a picnic in August; five Quarterback Luncheons in October and November; Communion Sunday in December; the Football testimonial Banquet in December; a dance in January; the Rockne Memorial Mass and breakfast in March; Universal Notre Dame Night in April and the Old Timers Football Game in May — a big year of work for Frank and me.

My mother died on St. Valentine’s Day of this year, and with her passing an era closed. Dad had died three years before, leaving behind the family grow, become educated, and its different members leaving to get married and settling down from coast to coast. In fact it was Dad and Mother who started the tradition of Notre Dame. Neither of them had gone to college, but in the early days they were determined that their son should go. Like many other hardworking Catholic parents, they knew the value of a Notre Dame education.

Now in my mind it will become a school again. I mention these facts just to show the relationship! We had lots of golf and some fishing; we didn’t break any records in either sport.

I mentioned the preceding generation. Now let me mention the next. On the first of May, my oldest son received word that he was accepted as a student at Notre Dame for the year to begin September. So now begins another era. The traditions will be carried on. New associations will be formed. Some of the current members as well as classmates will be known to you as professors. Some of Phil’s classmates will undoubtedly tell him from time to time of the incidents of life at Notre Dame.

I believe it is more than just a school that generation will find will be, as you know, far different than the Notre Dame we know today. However, I believe it will be the same. Since graduation, I have seen little of the University except at reunions and football games. The association with it as a school has been limited to my personal affairs. I mention these facts just to show the relationship! We had lots of golf and some fishing; we didn’t break any records in either sport.

Walking down LaSalle Street in Chicago the first time after my return from Rome, I was encountered by a successful lawyer of the City, and one who looks the part.

He also has a son at Notre Dame.

TOMMY GREEN is back in Chicago, I was told by a person who works for the law firm. Tommy is the type of person who wouldn't be caught dead in a suit and tie, but rather dressed in jeans and a t-shirt.

Joseph J. Lordi, '30

Joseph J. Lordi was elected president of the hallowed New York Athletic Club earlier this year it was only the second time in the 91-year history of the club that a former athlete member had achieved the presidency.

A real athlete's athlete, Joe was a catcher-second baseman-captain of the 1930 N.D.

baseball team and got his A.B. on a full scholarship, having prepped at De La Salle

Institute and been recommended by Hugh

A. O'Donnell, then president of the N.

D. Club of New York. Prior to his election as

N.Y.A.C. president he served three years as vice-president and chairman of the house committee and has been on the Board of Governors since 1950.

He joined the club after graduating from

Law School and, after serving as an athletic member to play on the Winged Foot baseball team for ten years; transferred to resident membership in 1939 and become a life member in 1948, serving on many important committees in his 29 years with the club, including two years on the athletic committee.

Joe was 1937 national squash racquet champion, and in 1948 he defeated the Yale Club entry in the final round of a tourney to win the veterans' national squash tennis title.

In the business world Joe started as an oil salesman and in 1937 opened his own firm, Lordi Petroleum Co., which he still operates in addition to being sole owner and president of the Petroleum Heat and Power Company of Newark, N.J., purchased in 1952. He spent four years in the Navy in W.W. II, mustering out as a lieutenant commander.

In 1953 Joe married Georgette Mech in St.

Patrick's Cathedral. With their daughter Georgette they reside at 50 Park Avenue, New York City.

The many '29ers who toured the new Moreau Seminary heard how the building project was thought that had gone into the beautiful building.

Only the devoted wife of a '29er could read this conclusion to its conclusion. These words are meant to be addressed to her, the one who is faced with the budget problems that are the inevitable aftermath of a long trip, "your husband is sincere in his attempts to put into words just how much the trip back to Notre Dame and to his classmates meant to him. I'm no better at it than he, but I share his pleasure in his thoughts on the trip for a day or two."

From New Haven, we expect to see and hear about the many '29ers who toured the new Moreau Seminary and visited the new building.

CHIEF catharist wants to say a special word of thanks to the 1930 fellows:

"Our Fall Festival to raise funds for our new church has come to a close. We want you, the all the fellows in our class who contributed to our fund, I am happy to say that JIM BURKE of Oklahoma, and the others who joined in and made it a success, and thanks so much to ALLAN POUTS of the Notre Dame Foundation.

"We got started on our church in August (1953) ... I was sure glad to see Archbishop JOHN O'HARA named a Cardinal, and outside of Stan. Musial that is the first Cardinal I personally have ever known."
in the near future as some of the members expect to have sons at N. D. next year after graduation from Catholic Central. My youngest son, Peter, is one of them. Since I’ve seen you I’m standards twice. My oldest daughter has two boys 6 and 7 years old. Before long I will have only the baby girl left with us; she’s 10 now and growing too fast to suit us.

“So much for that — but just a word about 1960. I hope to be present for our 50th Reunion and hope for many visits with many old friends. May run into you next fall at a game or two and then the very best to you and all of our class. Please remember me to FATHER ‘LOU’ THORNTON.”

TIM RONEY, vice-president for our class in the eastern area, turns in this noisy summary of doings out east:

“...It was good to learn you were able to take a busman’s holiday and get to see a few football games during your Christmas holiday in Florida. You must be the run-up to the late beloved ‘CHUCK’ ROHR, as the member of the Class of 1930 who has witnessed the greatest number of Notre Dame football games since graduation.

“Since we last wrote you, the fathers of two class members passed away, TIMOTHY FREENE in Nebraska, the father of DR. JOHN FREENE of Fremont, N. and J. FRANK DRISCOLL, Sr., who died here in Boston on January 6, 1959. Our prayers for these fine gentlemen and all other deceased members of our class may be said.

“A word to those on the Eastern Seaboard. If misfortune in any manner befalls your family, contact us at 12 Windcresser Avenue, Arlington, Mass. We have the class mailing list and we are able to get in touch with friends and other classmates.

“We had the sad task of flying down to New York City to pay our respects to a good and great friend of Notre Dame, DR. HENRY L. SMITH, SR., who died suddenly from a heart attack on December 4 at his home in Hempstead, New York. ‘Trigger’ Jack helped this fine gentleman many a time through our great school. It was a great honor to meet on the Campus during frigid days.

“Jack spent most of his life making people happy and doing favors for others, asking none for himself.

“The New York Club, the Connecticut Committee and the Army Athletic Association have pooled their respective talents and are sponsoring a JACK LAVELLE Memorial Fund to insure the education of Jack’s two promising youngsters. If you have a few spare ones and want to do something big, we urge you to give it to the memory of a Notre Dame man who came from me in his heart as large as his body.

“Joe Richly deserves this great honor. Many of Jack’s two promising youngsters. If you have a few spare ones and want to do something big, we urge you to give it to the memory of a Notre Dame man who came from me in his heart as large as his body.

“Joining the army in 1942, Jim served as a staff officer in North Africa and Europe during W.W. II. After separation as a major he worked for the Internal Revenue Office, was graduated from New York University Law School and opened an office on Broadway as a C.P.A. specializing in tax audits before setting up his own law firm in 1958.

“Guiding the activities of more than 2,500 Notre Dame men in the Greater New York area as president of the N. D. Club of New York is Jim MacDevitt, whose interest in the University has been long and lively.

“Jim is a partner in the firm of MacDevitt & Labarbera, tax attorneys, with offices in the Empire State Building. A native New Yorker and a graduate of La Salle Military Academy, he matriculated in accounting, worked summers with various New York firms and was active in several campus organizations. After graduation he worked as an accountant for Price Waterhouse, U.S. Rubber Co. and S. D. Leidesdorf in New York City before setting up his own accounting firm on Fifth Avenue in 1958.

“Two from New York informs us Joe LORI was chosen president of the world-famed New York Athletic Club. Joe has been a member of the Winged Foot Club since graduation, having represented NYAC on the baseball field and squash rackets court. Our friend Bob Mulgrew moves this his last home.

“We had a postcard from LIZ and TL O’ROURKE who took a post-Christmas Mediterranean cruise and visited Catholic University of Louvain and the church while in Rome.

been very faithful in keeping up with the news
on our classmates which I have enjoyed tremendously.

"In closing may I say that I hope you don't lose any time in getting us the news as you have been doing. But now it's time to go. I will attempt to keep you informed of some of the Notre Dame men in this area because we are accumulating a few.

It is my sad duty to report the death of RICHARD CLARK BENENDKOF early in January. Clark was the brother of Bennie when we lived in room 340 over the Morrisey Hall Chapel. He finished his Pre-med at Notre Dame and moved to the East where he worked in the business of patent medicines. He moved to the West which was his native home. From there, he moved to Bushnell, Illinois, where he was in charge of the McDonough County Municipal Tuberculosis Sanitarium. He departed pastor, FATHER BRENNAN, in February. The last time many of us saw him was the Sunday morning of the last week under the Lyons arch. Clark registered his son, Dick, that morning. He will be a senior this coming year. Richard is survived by his wife, J. F., of St. Francis Hospital at Macomb. The last time many of us saw him was the Sunday morning of the last week under the Lyons arch. Clark registered his son, Dick, that morning. He will be a senior this coming year. Richard is survived by his wife, J. F., of St. Francis Hospital at Macomb.

I had a letter from JOHN DORSCHEL saying he would be in town for the N. A. D. A. convention in December and had a chance to get together with Bill CALLAHAN recently. Bill's son recently won the Figure Skating Championship in that area. MARTY BOWLING is well and recovering from a recent illness. JOHN C. SULLIVAN took time out to send a note announcing the birth of their second daughter. Lisa. They now have two boys, Richard and John Whitaker, program moderators; Club President and m.c. Bill O'Connor; head football coach Joe Kuharich; assistant coaches Bill Daddio, Dick Evans and Joe Scudero.

From the Alumni Office:

I understand BUCKY O'CONNOR and his wife Mrs. Gertrude Hickman, secretary in the N. D. Club of Chicago office, will be in a trip to Europe in April. Bucky's son, Jim, was graduated in the 1959 class. AL STEPHAN was recently elected president of the board of directors of Lyric Opera Association of Chicago. The JERRY DESMONDS recently visited RAY COLLINS. They have a new grandchild (a boy) and a new grandson. Gerry has been elected Secretary of the Kalamanzo Alumni Club. Which brings up JOE BRANDY who also mentioned Jerry in a recent phone conversation.

JOHN C. SULLIVAN took time out to send the following note early this year:

"Well, Jim, thanks again. And I hope if you're in the neighborhood of Old Orchard, you'll stop in to see me. The old Ly, that Mr. McDonald was a bit mild in his description of the depression. I am sure many of us were well aware of that. But, I am now living here in Pierce City, Missouri, and sent the following letter:

"I have been planning this letter for a long time. It just seems there is so much to do. Our TV is out of order so you may catch that situation for this letter.

"I have been living here in Pierce City since November 1937. I married a widow with six children ranging in age from 14 to 3. Maybe I wrote to you about this before. Seems like I did. At any rate, I am retired now (compulsory) and we are all getting along fine. The kids all like me and call me Daddy and I sure enjoy them.

"We have a big house here, and if any of my old friends are passing through this way I'd like to see them. (Enclosed is Mass check for $5.00.)"

FATHER HESBURGH for luncheon on Saturday.

LOUIS CLARK wrote in to inform us that his son, scheduled to enter Notre Dame this fall, have entered their Novitiate on July 8. This still possibilities that the younger Clark may

Again, the news keeps getting slimmer and slimmer.

Report for the Gincy area by WALT NIEN-ABER brings us up to date on the operators in the Queen city. Walt met quite a few of the coaches at the equipment show along with FATHER NED JOYCE to review the class items and start getting ready for our Big 24th which will have to be made up of more than you think. BOB BURKE is reported having deducted Item No. 7 early this year and winning the race in Gincy. Bob is a sales jobber and business BILL PHELPS has been in Detroit the past four years. BERT SCHLOEMER is in the advertising business in Gincy and doing very well. Should be reporting to our advertising V.P., Scribe Foley, in the fannal suit district of New York City. JERRY (the quiet one) Mosher is established in the city outside of the city limits and can now be classified as a real “squire.” I wonder how he changed from being one of the quietest to being a salesperson.

Walt states that he could have used “BUCKY JORDAN” during the convention when he and BILL WHITTLEBERRY were up in the Kentucky spots. Seems as though while in the Navy in Boston, Bucky had a habit of keeping the boys up late. At the Universal N.D. Night at Mayfair Farms, West Orange, the New York contingent was well represented. Big “EL” JOE MCKINLEY, who lives in New York City, as well as Joe DEFRANKO, HARVEY FOSTER, JIM MC-GOLDRICK. You can see Joe’s visit was a well-gotten one. Will report on Joe’s arrival at the end of the year. But states that he still lets Brother Bill take the blue ribbons. Bill is reported as the bachelor of the family, rating all over the country and showing how to raise funds for any project you can think of. It was reported that Bill was thinking of having Bill as an associate. Finally caught up with TOM HUGHES, who still owes me a reporting letter. Tom is with Continental Can and with sales promotion, gets all over the country, which only a large operator like him can do. Talked up with JOE SCHILLING on some of his juniors. One item I overlooked was a visit in Miami with the beautiful woman who has the household. George really has it made with his family, and the boat supply business that he is in is prospering with the times. What a pal to have today. It was good to meet another fellow who has a desk piled high with papers and two phones ringing.

We have a letter from MARK LORENZEN, from Canada to Park Forest, Chicago, Ill. Let’s hear on the particulars, Mark. Also LEN TOSE has come in on the phone, and the old Mound Polka takes us to New York City. Then we have a big jump being made by WALT TROY from Ohio way out to Spartan Drive, San Diego, California. It is with deep regret that we report the passing of LUKE TIERNAN in April. You may miss this in the regulars, but Luke is one of the hundreds that will be remembered by all the politicians who operated at the “G” over the years. Luke knew all the angles on campus politics. He had a big job from 1950 over the years and at reunion time. After school, he did a hang-up job with the Chicago Club. With the warm weather approaching we are running out of the fine brew that MIKE BRIAS forwarded from Manila. At least there is some com-coalmiller roommate, JOE WEHLRE of Punxs- utta, Wisconsin, is married and busy with a new writing — can't Former Economic Round Table Age, CARL DOOZAN, is too busy lawyering in Bismarck, N.D., to write from his new home at 1103 Chestnut Street, according to his old buddy, FRANK LANIGAN, of La Porte, Ind. CHARLEY DUKE, now airline manager in New Orleans, hasn't been away from us in Southern long enough to write except to let us know he is now a confirmed insomniac at 1940 Park St., Little Farms 23, La.

TOM HALBERT moved from Pittsburgh (after the Pirates made that terrible first-week start) to 46 Salmi Rd., Framingham, Mass. — to be near the Red Sox??

HAROLD WARELL jumped from Westport, Connecticut, to 11 Woodland Lane, Arcadia, Calif.

BILL ARMEL, old side-kick of LEN SKOGLUND, is in his homeland of Chicago and is now the neighbor of JIM DAUGHERTY, the Bristol baron, at 6613 Joseyla Hollow Rd., Nashville, Tenn. BOB BISIONS moved from Kinston, N.C., to become assistant to the production manager, textile fibers department, Dacron Textile Rayon Mfg. NORTHER FLORIDA—Among the 70 present at U.N.D. Night in Jacksonville's Naval Air Station were (1. to r.) Joe Hartzler, Tom Parsley, Fred Rahain, John Corrigan, principal speaker Jim Armstrong, Club President Fritz Baumer, Al Keisling, Gerald Johnson, Sam
Lawder and Dick Broder.

In a whopping mail ballot the following men were put in office: JAMES V. DONOHUE, Chicago, Ill., president; PHILIP J. SANDMAIER, JR., Chatham, N. J., vice-president, Eastern States; WALTER FLEMING, Jr., Dallas, Texas, vice-president, Southern States; JOSEPH THESING, Kansas City, Mo., vice-president, Midwest States; JAMES METZLER, Kansas City, Kansas, vice-president, Western States; JAMES G. BROWN, New York, N. Y.,
secretary, and RICHARD BURKE, Notre Dame, treasurer.
A referendum on the ballot overwhelmingly approved a resolution to make an additional assessment at the 1950 reunion.

It's not every club that can have a University accountant like DICK BURKE watching the purchases, and JIM BROWN's resounding vote of confidence should result in his getting a little news to report in this space. Jim needs some mail from you at the Madison Avenue address above. WAL-TER FLEMING, a strong contender in several departments, not only covers Dixie but serves as liaison with the Alumni Board on which he is a director, while PHIL SANDMEIER bolsters Secretary
Brown on the Eastern Seaboard.
A Midwestern and Western regional vice-presidents respectively, JIM THESING and JIM METZ-LER, by an odd twist of the vote, will be surveying their domains back-to-back across the wide Missouri, but they'll have the advantage of comparing notes at the river bank.

In the presence, Chicago stockbroker JIM DON-OGHUE has already swung into action with appeals to all the officers for reunion suggestions. Jim has also called the aid of JOHN KELLEHER in New Jersey; JIM HUANG in Pennsylvania; AL KES-LING in Jacksonville, Fla.; BILL COLEMAN in Cleveland; AL FUNK, La Crosse, Wis.; PHIL
CANAL in Memphis, Tenn., and DR. JOHN KELLEHER in Toledo.

Congratulations to other close runners-up in the strongly contested officer races: New York's FATHER RICHARD FALLON and JOHN MARTIN, easterners JOHN DILLON, BERNARD CRAWFORD and HENRY ARMITAGE; JOHN CAYNO, CHARLES HUTCHENS and TERREll SMITH, below the Mass-Assion; Iowa's ED HANNAK; JIM D'ELAHANTY in South Bend, and Californians
RICHARD LYNG and JOHN MACK. Their active assistance will be appreciated by the officers in an all-out effort for a record reunion turnout.

In his labor for Convair JOHN MORGAN has worked with ED DOYLE, occasionally sees JIM DOYLE, chief accountant for Pan-Am at the Mis-site Test Center in Florida, and hears from roommate HARRY PHILLIPS.

A West Coast visitor recently was JOE CALIHAAN. Joe was en route to Djakarta, Indonesia, after an extended vacation in the States from duties in management of National Balance plant. He had many interesting stories to tell of his life and travels in the Far East for National Carbon. It's Joe's first trip in three years.

PAUL FISHER, working in Washington, D.C., is serving his second year in office for the Notre Dame Club of Washington, D.C.

Paul has five children.

JIM MADIGAN reports fair progress with the Buck-o-Week plan he wrote about early this year. If you haven't made the contribution to his plan Jim asks that you send something along soon.

News has been sorely lacked (naturally it's been absolutely nothing) so please send along any information. Please note the new address. I'm sure the new postcard would like to lug some letters up the hill from '43ers.

From the Alumni Office:

JAMES M. LILLSTROM has been appointed southwestern regional sales manager for Olin Aluminum. Bill has been Dallas sales manager and assistant manager of sheet and plate product sales in New York City where he has served since 1953. Previously he had been a market manager for Reynolds Metals and served in the Navy during W. W. II. Bill moves back to Dallas for the new assignment.

The Class of '43 is fast catching up with '38 (prewar) football champions, as the class with the most high-ranking representation on campus. Already boasting a vice-president for student affairs for the Class of '43, Tom Hager, the Brotherhood Award this year.

JOHN J. McHALE, '43 Tiger at Home with the Braves

In baseball's National League pennant stretch Fred Haney's Milwaukee Braves battle for a third straight crown with tough West Coast contenders, while Jimmy Dyke's Detroit Tigers struggle for the first division as spoilers of the American League. Following the fortunes of both Midwestwesterners is Tiger veteran Johnny McHale, "braving" his first season as general manager-vice president of Milwaukee's defending champs. Top boss in Tigertown for two seasons, rabid fan Johnny agonized self-accusingly when Kuenn, Kaline & Company suffered an early-season slump.

After 18 years with Detroit's system John McHale is one of the game's youngest top executives. He signed with the Tigers in 1941 after two years at N. D. in which, as varsity center, he started against Army and other football foes but never played college baseball. Two seasons with farm clubs like Beaumont in the Texas League were interrupted by W. W. II. Then bad health in navy midshipman training forced a medical discharge, and John returned to end the 1944 season with the Tigers. Sent to Buffalo in '45, he sprayed the International Ass'n with 22 homers, driving in 320 with 114 RBI's, before recall (despite a knee injury) to help the Tigers take a pen­chant and edge the Cubs in the World Ser­ies. Fol­lowing the fortunes of both Midwesterners, while Jimmy Dyke's Miller Ass'n is coming to Milwaukee this summer.

thanked for the great interest he had in reunion arrangements and the election of a successor.

The successor, JOHNNY LYNCH, has the misfortune of being the most successful literary man in the class, author of some highly honored short stories, and so he will place him as the logical man to author a memorial brochure on the Class of '44 at the 15-year milestone, including the class survey completed just before the reunion, for distribution in the near future. The only generalization John has divulged to date is that the typical '44 man, no matter how successful, never learned to spell.

THOMAS F. TIMM HALLIGAN of Flint, Mich., was recently elected president of the Bowling Proprietors of Michigan, an organization of the state's bowling establishments.

From the Alumni Office:

Over the reunion week end GEORGE BASILIC- TIO was the harried YPM to see the three papers on the festivities. President-elect JOHN LYNCH, who ringmastered the affair with Brother Joe, was filled with the news with specific suggestions to improve the performance in 1964. It took nearly two months, but the Class of '44 voted to accept the officer list's suggestions to serve these purposes and we hope all the reunion registrants have sent their replies to George by now.

Incidentally, one of George's reunion preparations was getting elected in May to another four-year term as commodiator in Bradley Beach, N.J.

ENGINEERING OPEN HOUSE

Your class secretary was invited to the Engineering Open House at the University April 24, 25 and 26. I went as a representative of the Alumni Association, and the firm was lending its college display units to the electrical engineering department of the College of Engineering.

The campus was lovely as ever and your secretary was very, very fortunate in having a few friendly words with FATHER FRANCIS STRONG, HAROLD ELLITHORN, DOCTOR HODES, JOHN LAUGHLIN, REV. JAMES MOR- RIS and Rev. F. N. BROOK and PROFESSOR IKEENBERRY of the Aeronautical Engineering Department. Of particular interest were the excellent display units which the firm was lending to the high school students of the area and to interest industry in engineering activity at Notre Dame.

AN APOLOGY

Your class secretary wants to apologize for not having a column in the last issue of the ALUM­ NUS, but through a reading error of the schedule which was mailed by the Alumni office, a mailing date of May 15 was misconstrued to mean that the deadline date was May 15 and on May 15 I was rushing to get the copy out when I realized that it was the mailing date of the magazine going to the Alumni. It meant that I really was very early for the next issue, but that I had missed the previous one. At any rate, this gives you a chance to see what hap­ pened. I was supposed to include with each issue, this is one post that must be manned at all times, with the coming reunion, there will be a braneh of the class secretary's office. I am hoping that the new class secretary will not make the mistake that I have just made.

A BRAND NEW SLATE OF OFFICERS

At the reunion the class will have an opportunity to vote for new officers. As soon as we know what the slate is going to be, we will let you know; be sure to be ready to cast your vote for a worthy candidate. Your class secretary will be resigning from "political" life because of the strain of business, and although your class secretary believes that ten years of any office is enough, and that someone else should have the opportunity to serve the class in the same capacity.

Frank J. CULHANE, '45

For a 2-Fold Task, a Fine "Foundation"

Frank C<ulhane can truly be described as serving a "two-way" stretch since he was elected treasurer of The Formfit Company of Chicago, manufacturer of foundation garments, by the board of directors early this year.

Succeeding to the position relinquished by Formfit's president, Frank continues as legal counsel, a post he held formerly as assistant treasurer of the firm. In his new office he also remains secretary-treasurer and a director of Formfit International, which operates in Jamaica, Morocco, France, Canada, England, South Africa, Australia and Switzerland. Prior to joining Formfit in 1955, he was a tax specialist and senior accountant with Arthur Anderson and Co., Chicago.

Frank's Class of '45 designation is arbitrary. A veteran of both W.W. II and Kore-a, he has a background in three Notre Dame Classes studying three different subjects. Starting in the NROTC program in 1941, he left in 1944 and saw action as a naval officer in the Pacific theater of operations. He returned to receive his accounting degree in 1948, then stayed on an L.B. in '50. Recalled for the Korean conflict, he served two years as operations officer on a destroyer and did a tour in Korea before returning Stateside for legal officer duty in California. In 1953 he again was separated; he went back to his native Chicago and success in civilian business.

Former Vetville residents, Frank and his wife now have five children and live at 375 Woodlawn, Glencoe, Ill.

SPOT SHOTS

An announcement card at hand informs us that JOHN T. KELEHER of Elmhurst has moved his law office to 1 N. LaSalle St. in the Windy City.

GOOD LUCK IN YOUR NEW LOCATION, JOHNNO, AND HOW ABOUT A MESSAGE FROM YOU ON CURRENT EVENTS IN THE KELEHER SCRAPBOOK?

BILL JANN, who has been with the Hertz organization for 10 years, has recently been appointed general sales manager of Hertz's Rent-A-Car division with full authority for formulating its national sales policies. Bill lives in Chicago Heights with his wife, Jo June, and their two children.

Just across the state line from Bill, JIM KNOBLICH, who garnered his M.S. in '47, has become senior research scientist in the Whiting laboratory of Standard Oil of Indiana.

During a recent annual meeting in the Hoosier resort center of French Lick, our treasurer, JOE SHARP, was named to the board of directors of the Indiana Association of Certified Public Accountants.

And the population of Detroit was increased by one in April when JOHN M. HENRY and his wife Margaret became the parents of young Thomas Edward.

Congratulations to all of you on your respective achievements!

REQUIESCANT

Please remember in your prayers Lee C. McNamara, who died earlier this year after having sent eight sons to Notre Dame, including JOE McNAMARA of our own class to Joe and his brothers and the other members of the family, our sincerest sympathy, also to FRANK GILHOOLEY, whose dad, FRANK P. GILHOOLEY, Sr., a former Yankee outfielder, died July 11 in Toledo.

Although JACK QUEINLAN didn't graduate until 1948, many of us know him and consider him one of our own; his father also died recently and he'll appreciate your prayers for the repose of his soul.

A dozen years since graduation, and already there are more than a dozen of our fellows who won't make any more reunions.

Most recent of these prematurely dead is JOHN S. FORSTER, who died early in June in Coral Gables, Fla., where he had been operations manager and secretary-treasurer of the Grandio Wholesale Drug Co.

John, who was a member of the Veterans Club at school, was buried in his native Milwaukee. News of his passing was received right at press time, so further details aren't available at this time.

To his bereaved widow and son, we extend earnest and heartfelt sympathy as an expression of that sympathy, FATHER JOHN A. DRISCOLL, C.S.C., offered a Requiem High Mass July 9 in Christ the King Church, South Bend, for the repose of John's soul.

And FATHER ARTHUR S. HARVEY, C.S.C., sang a Requiem Mass July 30 on campus in memory of all of our deceased mates. The other R.I. in case your memories are short, are PETER M. CASTELLI, WILLIAM P. DELANEY, WILLIAM B. DOUCHERTY, HERBERT M. FRIEND, NOEL H. GOTTESMAN, CLARE G. LEER, GEORGE J. SCHOTT, RUSSELL S. UNDERWOOD, LEONARD A. WALL, REV. MR. EDWARD B. WILLIAMS, WILLIAM A. PFISTER, and FRANK G. PETERS of Chicago, who died two years ago, as we learned in the June issue.

Frank was included in the intentions of the July 30 Mass offered by Father Harvey, of course, and a Requiem High Mass was also said on campus for the repose of his soul by FATHER MATTHEW MICELLI, C.S.C., in the second week of July. (Father Matt, chaplain for the Brothers at the分数线 this summer, refused to accept a stipend to bless his heart, for our treasury is getting mighty low!)

Pray for them as you would have us pray for when your time comes. A more tangible memorial beyond your prayer duty is to send $1 or more for our Mass fund, for which you'll receive a card listing these men and some appropriate devotions.

YO HO HOCUS-POCUS

No pirate galleon flying the Jolly Roger floated in St. Mary's lake over the reunion weekend; neither did a cutlass swing nor a wash bucket. But marauders were at work nonetheless, led by such brigands as BLACK GEORGE BARICOSCOLO and LONG JOHN LYNCH.

Plied with doubts with promises of grog and gaiety at the past reunion, 10 of our cohorts have deserted the Good Ship '47 and signed aboard the '44 barkentine.

The 10 who succumbed to the Circe-like lure of the jup-and-sebbing-violin obligato rendered by the aforementioned buccaneers are: HEROLD JOHN-SON, GENE SLEVIN, BILL WYLIE, VIC COL-LETTI, JACK GUTHRIE, CHARLIE PATTER-SON (little did I realize when I asked for word from this Dome Award winner that the word would be "Beryl"), JOE RIGNEY, GERRY STANTON, PAUL UNVERZAGT, and JACQUES VEENEMAN.

If any of you know these gentleman well, your efforts to help convince them of the error of their ways will be most welcome.

They are free to transfer to any class they wish, of course, but if the '47 class is to maintain any
Dr. Ralph E. Thorson, '48

From Savoy Stage to Boblund Lab

Back in April Father Hesburgh announced the appointment of Ralph Thorson as head of Notre Dame's department of biology. Ralph, formerly a professor of parasitology at Alabama Polytechnic Institute, Auburn, Ala., was also named to direct the germfree life research programs at the University's Boblund laboratories.

A native of Chafield, Minn., Ralph distinguished himself as an undergrad with performances in N.D. University Theater productions of everything from Shakespeare to student musicals. He won particular fame for his portrayals of the Lord Chancellor, Major General and other roles in Gilbert & Sullivan operettas produced by the Savoyards. Originally a pre-med, he was drawn to the lab and followed up his bachelor's degree in biology with a master's in 1949. He went on to The Johns Hopkins University, Baltimore, Md., where he was awarded an Sc.D. in parasitology in 1952.

During 1952-53 Ralph served as an instructor in The Johns Hopkins School of Hygiene and Public Health. More questionnaires were sent to those names which start with A, B, C, and D, and we'll work through the rest of the class in or out of alphabetical order during the course of the year.

From the Alumni Office:

The '49 10-Year Reunion was a roaring success, thanks to the brilliant efforts of the local chairman, CARLOS CORONA, to whom the assemblage owed a great vote of thanks. The '49's had a huge delegation, but it was only a toe-turnout, percentage-wise, of the largest class Our Lady ever hosted on the world. The promotion was less than inspired, it's true, but the only effective publicity would seem to flow from the inspired enthusiasm of a few numbers anxious to preserve Class pride and Class identity. A card or note to JOHNNY WALKER from you might strike the spark that would seem to flow from the inspired enthusiasm inspired, it's true, but the only effective publicity loosed on the world. The promotion was less than adequate.

LOUIS F. DIGIOVANNI, '49
At Beantown U., a Legal Eagle

Lou DiGiovanni has had a big year. Making his debut as an author, Lou was also recently appointed assistant professor of law at Boston University. Senior partner of the firm of DiGiovanni & Everburg, Cambridge, Mass., he has been teaching law since 1953.

A native of Belmont, Mass., Lou attended grammar and high schools there before the outbreak of W.W. II, in which he served three years with the U.S. Air Force as a first lieutenant and was awarded the Air Medal with five oak leaf clusters. At Notre Dame he obtained a Ph.B. in the College of Commerce, followed by an LL.B. in 1950. Then, returning home to set up law practice, he received an LL.M. from Boston U.

Lou recently completed a textbook entitled "Fundamentals of Business Law" for publication this year. He is a member of the Massachusetts and Federal Bar Associations, the board of directors of the Boston University Credit Union, the board of government of the Catholic Sodality, the Cambridge Lions Club, the University Club of Boston and the Curriculum Committee of Boston U. He is especially active as a member of the Notre Dame Club of Boston, for which he has served as a vice-president and a director. In the limited free time available to him he enjoys golf and swimming.

A friend had this to say about Lou: "Nothing I could write would tell the real story of his humility, quiet manner and devotion to duty. He possesses that unique, unrelenting faith in God . . . so often lacking."

In August, 1955, Lou married Miss Mary Queeny. Residing in St. Paul's Parish, Wellesley, Mass., the DiGiovanni now have three children, Thomas, 3 years; Gemma, 2, and Stephen, 1.

As you can see from the last entry on the above listing, you will be exposed to my ramblings for another five years. However, you are to be reminded that this rambling can only continue if you supply me with the necessary information. Let me hear from you.

From the Alumni Office:

ROBERT L. McGLYNN recently became administration manager of Liberty Mutual, 255 Franklin St. in Boston, Mass. He and his wife and their three youngsters attended the reunion last weekend in Boston.

Cage ace DICK ROSENTHAL, now assistant vice-president of Robert W. Childs, Inc., was back in the area last week. Fort Wayne, gave the annual inspirational address at the N.D. Senior Dinner, given by the Alumni office back in May. This was all the more inspirational because of his brand new son, John William, born April 25.

JOHN F. SEXTON of Minneapolis, Minn., received an M.B.A. from Harvard University in June. E. I. du Pont de Nemours & Co. has assigned H. GERARD TRAVIS as sales representative in the Seattle (Was.) district for the Petroleum Chemicals Division. Gerry, a West Point transfer, has been with Du Pont for several years as a sales representative.

Those that missed the reunion should make a plan to move into a new home in the new future. Congratulations. PHIL SHERLOCK and his wife, Nancy Ellen, report the birth of a daughter. Congratulations. ROBERT MILLER

Each column grows more difficult to report the deaths of our classmates and it is with the deepest regret that I tell you of the death of BILL BYRNE. He will be long remembered at the Glenview Naval Air Station, Ill., in the latter part of May. I'm certain that I can assure Bill's family and friends that the thoughts and sympathy of those who were fortunate enough to have known him and those who never had the opportunity will be at home.

I had the pleasure of hearing from many long lost graduates this week and I must say that it was quite an experience. It was good to hear that you're all so prosperous so instead of hoarding the news, I'll pass it along. Just a short reminder before I do. This correspondent adds to the invitation of the Class of '49 to move into a new home in the new future. Congratulations and best wishes to them both.

While on his trip to Florida for a week end on the ski slopes, JOHN WIEThERS stopped in Kansas City long enough to say hello. He's working for the Midwest Home Office for M., L., P., F., and Smith in Kansas and says that the business of stocks and bonds has been good to him. He and his wife are expecting a baby in July. The news to follow is from Harry's letter. EMET ROOT is living in Omaha with his wife and son and enjoying life. He is working for a brokerage firm in Chicago and his wife plans to move into a new home in the new future. JIM

Those that missed the reunion should make a firm resolution now to be on hand in 1964. Our class turnout totaled 181 thoroughly happy, formed, and exhausted men by Sunday afternoon. They all held one thought in common. There was no regret that the reunion was over and there was no regret that they had spent in many years. At this writing some of the activities are still a bit hazy due to the late hour and we must confess that we didn't take copious notes as a good class secretary should have. From the picture that appears in this issue to the phone calls you can easily recognize who was in attendance. In some cases you may have to subtract 30 pounds or so and add a few patches of hair to individuals under study before you can tell who they actually are.

Our combined dinner with the Class of '49 on the courtyard of Alumni Hall was a huge success and if I remember correctly we left the line at about 4 a.m. Saturday morning. Most registrants were in bed before the sun rose on Saturday morning and if I'm not mistaken they were up bright (?) and early for the reunion Mass about 4 a.m. Saturday morning. Most registrants who they actually are.

JOE SMITH married the former Miss Mary Carolyn Welke on June 27 in Fort Huron, Mich. Again, congratulations and best wishes.

JOHN HOSINSKI dropped a card to tell me of his marriage to the former Miss Mary Ellen Bolle on the 6th of June. The wedding took place in West Palm Beach, Fla. Again, a round of congratulations and best wishes.

John is currently Athletic Director and head football coach at St. Ann's High School in West Palm Beach.

Much newborn news this time and DON WILLIAMS and his wife Joan have joined the club. Their new son, Francine Williams arrived safely on the 10th of April and I'm sure there was much joy and jubilation in the Boulder Creek, Calif. area. Congratulations Joan and I and I appreciate your dropping me a card.

I don't know what happened to my letter filing system but it sure didn't happen. It's time to file the new names because a copy of THE PAUSE THAT REFRESHES is a thing dear to PAT McNAMARA's heart and he and his wife, Carolyn, have just joined the ranks of the Northern Alumnae. Their address is for them in Evanston, Ill. MARTY CULHANE is working as a claim adjuster for the Aetna Casualty & Surety Co. in Chicago. Marty and his wife, Josephtina, have two sons, Martin and John. GERRY HILLSMAN, his wife and two daughters, are living in Evanston, Ill. He is working as a thief for a Chicago taxicab company.

JACK PINTER and his wife have added a daughter to the family and Jack is working for a chemical company. DICK COOK and his wife, Carol, are living in Alameda, Calif. for the last year and he and his wife, Sandy, were getting a little anxious to put down roots and get married. Jack reports that he has a job in Chicago. Mike will marry Miss Trudy Short in September. Congratulations and best wishes are in order. TOM HAYES is working with a commercial paper company. CARROLL DOWTEN is married and is working for Brach's Candy Co. ED FOX is finishing up a sales promotion manager and has moved back to Chicago. He and his family have been burning the other night, old buddy, beaming parents of a daughter born last April.

Tidbits to follow are pulled, almost word for word, from letters I have received. EDD SHICKLER has much news to pass on about the classmate and a very important news item has been received from their first son, Mark Edward. He was born on May 1 and Ed and his wife Marilyn seem just a little bit happy about the whole thing. Congratulations are certainly in order.

Ed is working as a mechanical design engineer on electronic equipment at Stromberg-Carlson Division of General Dynamics, Rochester, N.Y. The news to follow is from a letter from Jack HART who will be leaving the Navy and the U.S.S. Greenfish at Pearl Harbor late this month. This September is planned as a vacation plan for his Master's in Nuclear Engineering. Ed DEMPEY married the former Miss Elizabeth Murphy last June and has been hard at work wishing the best to both of them. JOHN CASEY is living in Rochester with his wife, Mary, and their lovely newborn baby. They are progressing with Lincoln-Rochester Trust Co. in closing. Ed Shickler mentions that he would like to hear from JOHN BOSKY, JOHN CURTZ, GENE SCHMIT, and TOM POZZI. Their address is 215 Meadow Lane, Webster, N.Y.

Great news from out Stockton, Calif., way from Paul's letter. Tim is living in Washington, D.C., and works for the Mosler Safe Co. He's attending law school in the evening. Jim is living in gastric Washington and he's just moved into a new home in Virginia. He and his wife are looking forward to their third son.

ED GZUPPA is keeping busy in Milwaukee where he is coaching and teaching at Marquette University.

NORM HIPSIND married the former Miss Julieanne Suefer on the 11th of April in Fort Wayand Ind. Congratulations and best wishes to them both. Neve his name is not mentioned. Tim is living in Stockton, Calif., and is stationed with the Air Force at Hickam Field. DAN SULLIVAN writes that he is about to complete his degree at Northwestern University. He then plans to take his wife and family to Paris where he will study for a degree in French.

JOE TONINI and his wife, Alene, are doing their part to fill the N. D. classrooms of the future as they added Alan Joseph to the enrollment on January 1. Congratulations. Joe is with the Micro Switch Division of Minneapolis Honeywell in Freeport, Ill.

I'm having a wonderful time following the news that Bob McAuliffe filled me in with some new grads from the St. Louis area. Bob is working with the accounting firm of Peat, Marwick, and Mitchell and has been with them since he was a charged from the Army. He and his wife became parents of a boy type child in February and Bob says that he keeps them pretty busy. They named him Robert Emmett. Congratulations. Bob passed his B.A. from the University of Michigan and he's quite happy about the prospects of receiving his M.D. too from Georgetown, which also graduated cum laude from Harvard, and has been with them for the last three years. He joined them after doing a year of graduate work at the University of Michigan. Hot Dick CAPKA and BOB GERAIS are also working for Douglas and that Bob and his wife were expecting a third little Prevoznik at any moment.

From the Alumni Office:

Commencements in June brought advanced degrees to many of '57. Here are a few officially reported. Architect ROBERT L. LINN took his master's in civil engineering, while DESMOND H. O'CONNELL, JR., supplemented his electrical engineering background with a master's in business administration, both degrees awarded by Harvard University. And, at Washington U., St. Louis, Mo., got an M.A. in English.

ROBERT L. GEISE, who followed his A.B. with a degree in electrical engineering this year, has joined the long lines department of the American Telephone and Telegraph Co. He is on a 41-week training program in Cincinnati before a specific engineering assignment.

RAY McCINTOCK, down in Indianapolis, has joined the editorial staff of The Insurance Salesman, a leading journal in the insurance publishing field. Ray is an editorial associate.

Villager politician JOHN P. McNEEL has established bachelor quarters in the Windy City and is especially eager to begin the three years of law study at the University of Chicago.

BILLY MCCORD, C.S.C., and three novices, ROBERT T. COBB, and CARL MADDA., both '59, and myself."

"One point which I must make clear is that, even though I have deplored the English student as the least interested in the "fields" of knowledge and yet have had a more specific knowledge of one "field," I think we have brought with us the emotional maturity and the respect for the important things which Notre Dame tried so hard to give. More specifically, none of us is finding the studies over-powering. Here, too, I think Notre Dame has prepared us well."

Greetings to '58ers one and all. I hope that this fifth edition of the '58 news column finds everybody feeling happy, hale, and hearty, and I hope that the summer has been especially good for all. At the time of this writing, your secretary has just finished sweating out final exams here at the N.D. Law School and has had to begin the three month absortus from study.

The past year has flown by with amazing swiftness. It seems to me that we were just beginning to observe the year's events here at the campus through the eyes of a returning graduate. The first thing I notice about the present is a great difference in the absence of the familiar faces of four year's association made upon the campus. It was clearly not the same to me as the same men who had been living on it, roaming around it, counting the days between vacations from it, and scurrying back to it (10:00 and 12:00 each evening) for the previous four years.

The football week ends, especially the week end of the Army game, were clothed with something of a reunion atmosphere by the return of so many of our classmates and although it had been only a matter of three or four months since graduation it seemed as if it had been much longer.

The winter months descended with their usual ferocity and we had record snowfalls, which I understand made news from coast to coast when the University was forced to cancel classes because of mountainous snow drifts and blocked roads. I suppose the most graphic means of describing the weather to you men who spent four years here is just to mention the fact that the University was actually forced to close. I leave it to your imagination to picture the conditions necessary to bring that about.

The spring scene was evinced to a great extent by the affaire Brennan, of which I feel sure you are just as tired of hearing as we are. Also, I was gratified at receiving the bits of news which trickled in during the winter and spring months with which I am able to keep this column going.

Perhaps you are already aware of the fine records turned in by Notre Dame in the field of spring sports. The baseball, tennis, and golf teams all had exceptionally fine records, and the new Varsity under Joe Kuharich showed a great deal of promise in the Old-Timer's Game.

And finally, the realization of how swiftly the year had passed was brought home to me when I saw this year's crop of graduating Seniors preparing for graduation. And, I was reminded of our somewhat demure departure from Notre Dame a year ago.

A sizable crowd of people descended on South Bend for this year's Old-Timer's game and among the many were TOM O'BRIEN, BILL CAHILL, and HOOT WALSH, whom I met at an after-game get-together at PROF. T. B. BRADY'S. Luckily those three Chicagoans (or near-Chicagoans) were full of news (among other things) and I learned the following: BILL CAHILL is studying law at DePaul; TOM O'BRIEN, not long out of the Army is working for N.R.A.; and I learned that Tom is in the sales field and preparing himself for an executive position as soon as possible. Hoot Walsh is working in the family coal and fuel oil supply firm in LaSalle, Illinois.

I also learned of several weddings of the recent past and near future. It seems that both MIKE UNDERWOOD and JACK ARMSTRONG are being married soon although I don't know who their brides will be. GERALD (TINY) RYAN is another soon to be married.

JOHN HIGGINS and Miss Pat Sexton were married on June 6, and the marriage of JACK CRILLY and Miss Sherry Connerty on last June 28 (1958) in the Log Chapel at N.D. has been announced.

BOB FORSBERG is married and now works for Permatex and I recently learned that he is now at Winona, Minnesota.

Well, it’s been three months now since that warm but happy day of June 7 and it seems strange not to be getting ready to motor back to South Bend. Certainly graduation week end was one which we won’t forget and one which I am sure most seniors were glad to see. It seems that the Class of ’59 have a large percentage that are getting married in the near future or that have been married this past summer. This information I have gathered from the cards which I received from you at school. I have cards on approximately four hundred of the class but this is not enough. Those that were unable for some reason or other to give me one of these cards, I would appreciate a line from you here at my home where it will be forwarded to Ft. Bliss, Texas, where I am presently stationed. I am sure the class is interested in what you are doing, so let me hear from you. As for the activities of some of your classmates:

John Hayward, your senior class president, is currently aboard the U.S.S. Independence where I am sure that he is serving the Navy as well as he served Notre Dame. Mark Shields, who is in the Corps of Cadets and General Logistics, plans to attend school at Boston College, while Tom Reinhart will invade the campus of Northwestern University in the fall.

Jim Schreiner and George Vander Venent will hold down the fort at South Bend and attend law school this fall. Tom Mark will study under business administration at Indiana University.

John Hart will make use of his law scholarship in the fall and carry his military bearing to Ft. Eustis, Virginia, where he will serve Uncle Sam in the Transportation Corps. Jim Lichtenberg—"Wooska"—will play football with the Washington Redskinks and I am sure that we will see him in the near future.

James Colosimo will return to South Bend for one semester to play under Joe Kuharich and here’s hoping that Jim does not have any more trouble with the infirmity. Bobby Williams was married to Miss Patricia Bergman on August 22 and will study medicine at the University of Pittsburgh. Tom Brady will study medicine at the University of Pittsburgh. Tom Brady will study medicine at the University of Miami and get his Ph.D. in the summer. Joe Bairley is in the Navy. William Reilly—Billy is the lone M.P. from the Senior ROTC class and, after his traffic trouble with the instructor, police woman (Miss) Ester Jordan could have found a spot for Mr. All Cameron in some law firm.

Jodie Littenfield is with the Air Force in Mobile, Ala. Ron Totten is with the Transportation Corps at Ft. Eustis and wants to go to Wharton’s Business School in Pennsylvania after his active duty has ended. Tom Smith will be in the Adjutant General Corps aboard the U.S.S. Independence this fall and has set his wedding date for September 12, 1959, to Miss Mary Moran, another St. Mary’s graduate.

Mark Keillty, an art major from Oakville, Conn., is with the Marines at present but will go after his Master’s in Communication at Columbia University next fall. Henry Mccley, Robert Goldschmidt, and Fred Kooxan are back at Notre Dame for their 4th year. George Harlan is in the Transportation Corps and wants to go to Wharton’s Business School. Gerry Jung and Joe Bekelia will attend law school at Georgetown U. and Gerry Bechamps will attend the same school but for medicine.

Roger the Rock Brerlin is in the U.S. Navy aboard the U.S.S. Independence. He is working for some oil manufacturer. Terry Maloney will only take a minute.

Bill Haslinger is in the insurance business with his father. He was married June 27 to Miss Teresa Smith. Wants to study further on business administration at Indiana University.

John Roejdel, Jr., is in technical services for Monsanto Chemical in Monsanto, Ill., where he has worked as a chemist fellow doing polymer research for his doctorate.

Citizens of Vetsy have since 1955, Tom and his wife, the former Carol Mae Mott of San Francisco, were married Dec. 5, 1953, and now have three children, Michael, 5; Charles, 3, and Irene, 1.

Tom’s professional affiliations include membership in the American Chemical Society and the Paint and Varnish Federation.
Dear Fellow Alumni:

At the 1959 reunion in June your Alumni Board held its annual summer session on the campus. We were fortunate in having almost a full complement of the board present to consider a variety of agenda matters and to arrive at some conclusions which we feel will benefit our Association. (See "Your Alumni Board.")

One of the more important events of our meeting was the opportunity to confer with a very representative faculty committee to consider possible means of bringing some part of the University's educational activities to each individual Alumnus. We have recognized a sincere interest on the part of alumni in containing educational relations with the University. And we learned from our discussions with the faculty committee that there is also a sincere faculty interest in assisting the Association in our efforts to serve Alumni. We hope to be able to present to you in future issues of the ALUMNUS a program which will be a start in the field of continuing educational relations. We plan on providing a supplement to the ALUMNUS which will feature several short treatments by Notre Dame faculty members of current broad fields of interest with some bibliography for additional reading. (See "Editorial Comments.") When you have seen the first issue we will be anxious to learn your reaction. We will appreciate your comments and the Alumni office will be seeking an expression of your interests and suggestions for future supplements.

Those of you who were at Notre Dame for reunion this year must have left the campus afterwards with a warm feeling of satisfaction in the spiritual and material accomplishments of Notre Dame. We heard a remarkably fine speech from Father Hesburgh on Notre Dame's place in the world today. We had, as honored guests at our Alumni Banquet, three great priests who have contributed immensely to the Congregation of Holy Cross, to students and to Notre Dame for many years. We were blessed to have with us Father Eugene Burke, Father Con Hagerty, and Father Tom Irving, each of whom observed the golden anniversary of his ordination in June. These men and others like them have given Notre Dame the place in the world today about which Father Hesburgh spoke. And the Alumni Association was extremely glad to be able to show its appreciation to them in a small way by honoring them at our Annual Banquet.

The 1959 reunion with approximately 1,000 men returning to the campus was a real success. Reunion is, of course, one of the major undertakings of our Alumni office each year. It is a job which requires considerable planning for the many details of the program. This year, as always in the past, Jim Armstrong and his staff did a great job for all of us. I know that you join your Board in extending our sincere thanks to Jim and his entire office for their cooperation, spirit, and invaluable assistance in all the undertakings of our Alumni Association.

Most sincerely,

Bill Cotter
