SCHEDULE FOR MISSION WEEK IS ANNOUNCED

The time of sermons, benedictions, and masses for the mission week will be the following:

Gentlemen, this is the third time I have had the pleasure of addressing you. I am, therefore, very happy to see you again, and I hope that this meeting will be as successful as the last two.

FRENCH CLUB IS ORGANIZED

Offices Elected—Fr. Cherette President, and Instructor of the Club.

The French Club was organized in Room 227 of the Main building, Wednes- day, October 24, 1923, by Fr. Cherette, who was president; Rev. William Cus- og, secretary, and Father Charles Mar- er, critic.

Father Cherette outlined the objects of the club, which are to preserve the knowledge of the French language and to promote the study of the subject at the University. The club was organized to give afternoons to French students, and will hold meetings in the regular course and in regular courses to be invited to the French club.

Dr. Charles Mercuri will speak at the next meeting on the French explorer, La Salle. Meetings will be held regularly every Wednesday evening at Room 112. The meetings will be held every week, and will be attended by French students who are willing to attend the meetings. The French club will be held every week, and will be attended by French students who are willing to attend the meetings.
The Freshman Handbook

With the conclusion of Notre Dame's second annual "Hello Week," it is timely perhaps to comment upon another plan of the S. A. C. which has a similar end in view. It was discovered that Notre Dame men were drifting away from the ideal unity of college-friendship, and "Hello Week" was introduced to correct this tendency, so that men might not be made so insensitive to the beauty and values of a college life. We hope that a fresh start is made in the future in maintaining the unity of student thought and spirit.

The Freshman Handbook has been compiled to aid and comfort freshmen in their first year at Notre Dame. It includes a wide range of information, from academic policies to personal advice. The handbook is designed to help freshmen navigate the challenges of college life and make the most of their experience.

The Freshman Handbook is available at the Office of Student Affairs on the 2nd Floor of the South Building. The cost is $5.00, and it is strongly recommended that all freshmen purchase a copy.

Ghost of Washington Hall

The famous old white, who is said to make Washington Hall his home, is truly the spirit of the old times. As the years go by, his ghost is seen by many in the dimly lit halls of the university. It seems that he is always there, watching over the students and guarding the secrets of the past.

When the students arrived on campus, they were greeted by the Ghost of Washington Hall. He would make his rounds through the buildings, his footsteps echoing through the empty halls. The students would shiver at his approach, knowing that he would bring them bad luck for the day.

The Ghost of Washington Hall is said to have been a student at Notre Dame many years ago. He was known for his love of pranks and practical jokes, and his ghostly presence still haunts the halls of the university today.

The Freshman Handbook

The Freshman Handbook is a valuable resource for freshmen at Notre Dame. It provides information on academic policies, student life, and campus resources. The handbook is available in the Office of Student Affairs and is strongly recommended for all freshmen.
PARACHUTING ON PARNASSUS

TO A POET WHO DIED TOO YOUNG

They took the fragments of his dreams
And folded them away.
And caught the dainty imagery
His words used in their play,
Putting them all to sleep beneath
Covers black and white.
Quiet, he passed, and made of death
Only the sleep of night.

GETS TRIBUNE PRIZE

A fifty dollar prize for general excellence in Journalism, offered annually by the South Bend Tribune, was awarded this year to John Nicholas McCabe. McCabe received his degree in June.

McCabe was not announced at the graduation exercises, but was announced during the summer.
McCabe is the first man to receive the awards as the fund was begun last year.

FATHER O'DONNELL and James Swift Carroll Yearlings on Campus Conduct.

"Remember at all times that you are Notre Dame men," was the message from Father O'Donnell, chairman of the S. A. C., to the Freshmen class which assembled in Washington hall yesterday to hear a discussion on their duties to the University.

Announcement was made at the meeting that Don Gallagher, Senior class president, that the election of officers of the Freshman class, would be held at 5 o'clock Tuesday evening in Washington hall.

In behalf of the alumni and the faculty, Swift extended a welcome to the class of 1927. Traditions of "custom," which have been looked upon as sacred for the past 80 years, were explained and appologies for their preservation were made. Partial stress was laid upon the observance of these duties which, he said, distinguished this University from other institutions.

Incidents were cited in which members of the class assembled, had been guilty of misconduct. He declared these acts and described the punishments frequently meted out, though reluctantly, by those iner­ ested in the preservation of Notre Dame's ideals. He concluded his discussion by appealing to the class to uphold every tradition and custom, that the spirit of the University may be perpetuated.

Don Gallagher, appealed to the members to perpetuate the ideals set by the classes of the past. He urged those present to keep in mind the spirit of fairness when choosing the of­ cern of the class.

The "Freshmen Handbook" was referred to as "The Bible" for all former members by the Rev. Hugh O'Donnell, prefect of disciplines, who made the address. A detailed explanation of the rules to be found within its pages was given and Notre Dame spirit and good fellowship were defined. He remarked upon certain acts which should be discouraged by the Freshmen and asked for a display of the spirit and loyalty which will make the class of 1927, real Notre Dame men.

PARKER ANNOUCES
A New One For Students
 Parker D.Q.—the Note-taker Pen, §3

Strong metal guide relieves you Large ring-end clips to note-book —A pocket-clip if you prefer—No extra charge for either.

We asked about 1000 students at seventeen universities and colleges the kind of pen they wanted.

The majority preferred the Parker, but in most cases had vowed to buy the Parker
Dou­

So we set to work and produced this black beauty—the Parker D.Q.—formed on Duofold’s classic lines and made by the same crafts-­ guides.

We gave it a 14k gold point tipped with polished Iridium, and a good healthy ink capacity. And we made one addition to the Parker D.Q. we could find on no other pen of this size below five dollars—a metal guide to reinforce the cap; and an extra large ring link to fasten to the student’s note-book. These features are included free, or a pocket-clip instead of ring-end.

The Parker D.Q. is an ink-fine point. Ask to see
