COLDLY REALIZED DEGREES

That there exists on the campus the thing we shall call intellectual spathy will get the affirmation of the average Notre Dame man who has sat down to reflect with patience. It is a pitiful littlenaissance in class. This is not to say that subjects handled by circuses at Notre Dame in the usual manner. Our ordinary students are not to be seen in every classroom. What we mean is that our men are not in top-form scholastically. Right here we may be told that such a state of affairs is peculiar to Notre Dame; you need to find it at most institutions. We do not care about that. Why do sitting in scholastic desolation of the soul?

Certainly it is not the fault of the individuals who comprise the faculty. Their scholarships no one can deny; they are eager and interested. Not only are there libraries and methods, and would like to know them better. The man who holds a professorship at Notre Dame can boast of an ability to do a great deal of work. For in his judgment and his quality of work. It indicates that he is trying to do something worthwhile. Whether he or she is not trying to do something worthwhile, and in this we are not trying to be funny.

The things we mean by the title are the softest way to a degree. The fact is that Arts and Letters men are the most pathetic victims of overwork. Engineer, to a less extent. Commerce men, and Lawyers, have earned right to a certain amount of knowledge to cover. You get through it or not after you are through school, there is no what you have learned for a substantial piece of coin.

In the case of students of the humanities, the thing is not quite so simple. Comic books do not necessarily cast the highest values. Her athletic conquests must not be envied in misunderstanding by outsiders. What we mean by the opportunities to be had in athletics is the all is all at Notre Dame. They must modify their recreation. Most of the cases we mean by the thing that is usually a thing of a stimulant (and stimulants are artificial) to a natural appetite for growth. It is the case with many that departing from the rule of invidious selection, let us say no man can be born a B.D. degree who has not passed Plato's Dialogues.

The point is the same: we have no such in many of us that we do not go to get to do more than outline the subject. How much we mean by the occasion that the man who reads Leo Capital or The Wealth of Nations. How many men out for the championship of his or her interest, but have not read Plato's Dialogues. We will admit that wide reading does not make culture, but it makes a mind.

We submit then: Reduce the maximum class hours from 24 to let us say, 10 or 20.

Notre Dame has reached a supreme seat in athletics. Good! Congratulations! Excellent! Achievement is, and always should be, lauded. But with athletic stores, it must not be forgotten that, first of all, men are not simply institutions of the highest values. AT THE THEATRES.

LeJalle—His Children's Children.

This Morning—Exciting Night.

Opieham—Wife in Name Only.

Blackstone—The Eagle's Feather.

At the Palace.

The motion pictures offering at the Palace, James Russell in "The Eagle's Feather," had approximately the same amount of entertainment in it as had the "Trilogy of the Day," which followed.

Mr. Russell, as the Grand Duke, suave, a little flippant, and very much a gentleman, had a certain appeal to his characters which a little more polish and force would have increased.

Jubi—As usual.

THE PALACE.

The performance of Miss Griffith was not much of a success, as the plot was not well brought out, the acting was not of the highest order, and the music and scenery were not well performed.

The story of the picture is as follows:

Mr. Russell, as the Grand Duke, is invited to a masked ball by the Emperor, who is also his father. He goes, but does not recognize the Emperor, and is told by a friend that he is the Emperor. He is then taken to the Emperor's study, where he sees a portrait of the Emperor's wife, whom he married in a former life.

Mr. Russell then goes to the Emperor's palace, where he sees his wife, who is now a princess.

Mr. Russell, as the Grand Duke, is then taken to the Emperor's court, where he is received with great honors.

The picture is very well made, and the acting is good, but the story is not very interesting.

ROCKMEN LOSE GRID WARRIOR

Injury to Miller May Keep Star from Line-up; Clig All-American Story to Send Home.

Don Miller, one of the shining lights of Rockne's wonderful backfield, will in all probability be out of the Notre Dame lineup for the rest of the season. Miller's sensational running game met an untimely end for this season, when he was bodily injured in the Butler fracas last Saturday.

The brilliant right half-back, who had broken away for one of his long runs, crashed through tackle, only to be seen on the left side of the field for 45 yards, ending fumbled after tackle until he was brought down on Butler's 45-yard line in a vicious tackle. Two of Miller's ribs were fractured on the play and Rockne removed him from the game.

Notre Dame will stake up with a tough outfit yet Saturday, when they meet Carnegie Tech, the conquerors of Pittsburg. With Miller out of the game, Willie Miller and Bob Smiley will be relied upon to play the skyscraper with the prize of Quackerland.

Since Don Miller began his career of college football, in September of 1928, he has scored at least one touchdown in every game except the game in which the Nebraska encounter of two weeks ago. In the game between the University of Notre Dame and Southern football, Miller holds second place with 12.5. "Red" Murray is third. The same fault Mabson still has in games in which to equal or beat the record of the Illinois star.

In the 1929 game of 1925, Miller made two sensational runs for touchdowns after mailing the kick-off. The first covered 30 yards and the second was stretched out for 90 yards. In the record of touchdown made by mid-field, this football Miller is credited with ten, tallying, just one less than the Illinois star.

The season of the all-American backfield is upon us, and with the

URGE SENIORS TO SEEK MEDAL

Dockwiler Medal Will Be Awarded

To Senior Writing on Philosophical Subject.

All seniors in the college of Arts and Letters are urged to compete for the Dockwiler medal which is awarded to the senior who submits the best essay on some philosophical subject. This medal was founded by Mr. and Mrs. Dockwiler, of Los Angeles, in memory of their deceased father, Harry Dockwiler. A senior selected in regard to the medal, said, "In spite of the notice which has already appeared in the NOTRE DAME DAILY about two weeks ago, no one has manifested any intention of writing for this medal. All seniors in the Arts and Letters colleges are ex-pected to compete for the medal. Paul and Harry Dockwiler, Jr., further announced announcing the February 11th."

Brownoon Hall Beats

Off-Campus Eleven

The Dog's hopes of a champion-ship team was blunted when they were defeated by the Brown-son Hall eleven, 6 to 0, on Carrier field Sunday morning. Brownson's shifty fullback, ready a 50-yard run in the first quarter, had a powerful goal but was easily tumbled by studying Brownson's victory.

Jack Dowen, Dog's fullback played a great game, defensively and offensively. His run con-stantly threatened the Brownson defense.

This defeat eliminated the Dog's chances of setting the eight-man title. Brownson will play Badin for the championship on Cart-ter field Saturday, December 7. Badin is a poor 3 to 0 defeat to the Bears, 17 to 3. "Yank" Sunday afternoon. Logan, For the Voyager, will try to keep the field goal that beat the Badinites. The Fort Wayne Telegraph, however, the Badin team considerably, Logan's news from the northern Indiana school. His team, quantity, is worth looking at.

METROPOLITAN CLUB

SMOKER NOVEMBER 27
