DEBATING TRY-OUTS BEING CONDUCTED

First Series Will End Monday, Father Mullins to Be First Judge. Act As Judges.

Six men of the first group and six of the second will be successful in the first series of the debating preliminaries which were opened in the regular classes.

The successful men of the first group are: Thomas Convey, Edward Lindeman, Leo Cavender, and John Xane. Men of the second group who were successful in the trials are: Clarence Ruddy, Paul Harrington, and Paul Brown.

The tryouts are being conducted daily in two sections, each group receiving a separate question. Immediately upon the close of the first series of preliminaries, the second series will begin.

In the meantime special activities have been arranged for the Christmas holidays. Rev. William Bolger and Professor George Shearer are acting as judges for the first preliminaries.

INTERHAL TITLE STORY EXPLAINED

Cup Awarded to Badin After Drawing; But Not Championships; Board to Meet Again.

As a result of the Interhall cup competition, which was a part of the activities of the Daily, there has been some misunderstanding as to whether the hall to which the trophy cup was awarded would have interhall football championship for the year 1913.

The Interhall Athletic board in awarding the cup to Badin hall after the regular season of football, with eighteen games between the two teams, the Sophomore tie game made it impossible for the Badin champions to win championships of the Interhall league.

Brownsohn, by virtue of the Interhall cup won by badin hall, as one of the Interhall cup, at the close of the regular season, the Interhall cup. The Interhall board meeting would this week take action to move the question.

Capital City Men Plan Free Dance

The Indianapolis club decided to contribute to Life, Schenck’s and the regular holidays at a meeting held in the Library room of the university.

According to Mark Mooney, secretary of the club, the dance will be held in the Brown and Roth room of the Columbia club of Indianapolis.

The dance will be free and each member may invite three of their friends.

Any student who intends to be in Indianapolis are invited to attend the dance and the club looks forward to a large crowd of their arrival in Indianapolis.

The committee in charge is:

Maurice McFadden, Norman Clark, James Sheelin, and Paul W. Harmon.

BLAME WHERE BLAME IS DUE

In an editorial which appeared in a recent issue of the South Bend Tribune, the following language was used by sportsmen at football games, and implying that the writer of the editorial objected to the expression. ('This is an opinion, not an editorial.

We take exception to this statement.' Notre Dame fans, are not as thick as thieves. They are, of course, in every institution as large as Notre Dame. It is not that their feelings run away with them to the extent that they become careless and even inexcusably express it. But the average, we claim, is good. Offensiveness in speech and language is not general, as the Tribune implies.

It is true that people have been shocked by language they have heard at football games. In no case, however, has the burden of guilt been placed upon the responsible body, and certainly not upon the alumni. Notre Dame has many followers in sport who are not students and, in general, we think they are the responsible ones. Notre Dame cannot be held accountable for the actions or the language of these men, and neither can Notre Dame stand by and be stigmatized because of this "sporting fraternity" which discriminates in athletic contests, not because they are interested in Notre Dame, but because these games are satisfactory exhibitions of "sport."

We do not claim to imitate in this respect. But surely we are more immaculate than the majority of so-called sporting men.

WEEKLY LECTURES FOR FRESHMEN

The weekly lectures for freshmen constitute a new and happy feature in our educational system. 'These meetings, at which members of the faculty speak on various topics and have already demonstrated their merit. Newcomers at any university need instruction in its rules and traditions. Countless problems, great and small, confront the freshman. The regular lecture is their best source of advice on older persons.

Many colleges initiate their new men by that singular method called having. Unpleasant practices mark the coming of the freshmen. Frequently the few moments are times of unhappiness and of some semblance of the jeryn aspect of college life. The hostility of the upper class is more than obvious. And so the freshmen gets a bad impression of the university.

The system of weekly lectures at Notre Dame is entirely different from the preceding humorous method just described. According to the Notre Dame plan freshmen have not taught only the costumes of the university, but also the duties they are expected to perform; the way to study; the advantages of books; the use of the library; many other meritorious things. And they receive the benefit of the knowledge and experience of the learned men who address them. The system is thus by most justifies the changes in our educational policy. It deserves the attention and co-operation of the freshmen and the commendation of upper classes.

THE SOUTH BEND TRIBUNE

Editor, SOUTH BEND TRIBUNE:

I dare say that there is not one more meritorious than the South Bend Tribune. In my work, I have done my best to improve the Tribune. In my work, I have done my best to improve the Tribune. In my work, I have done my best to improve the Tribune.

I am in the habit of mentioning the story of a presty telephone operator who didn't want the charm of the Valentine's Day, "I'm Here." The features, dark and advertise, haunted me, and the job I must forget all things as she sells after I walk.

Another way to be a story about Joe Hurley, popular member of Bud's All-American, Bill Ourlah, of Notre Dame, and the Prince of the Ich. But we haven't zoom to tell it again.

Because I want to mention the story of a presty telephone operator who didn't want the charm of the Valentine's Day, "I'm Here." The features, dark and advertise, haunted me, and the job I must forget all things as she sells after I walk.

(lawson: get shot for this.)

The needle, Watson, and also — a man named Watson, and his hair and tie, Watson, old top, I didn't believe him, so at this last hour, lead him to deduce that you had a regular evening. (Time—several evenings ago.)

For these columns are now filled with scandal, And sought in this way, now fold their tents like the Arab, And to the hearty welcome, MR. GRUNDY.

Players in the West outside of the conference would have to be All-Americans in every sense of the word to carry off any of such players as Orange, Marshalltown, Ber- ley, Milledgeville. It seems as though Notre Dame was a full back, while St. Petersburg's line was as strong as his. The game was as much of a battle as a football game.

Layden of Notre Dame would be given great credit in any other than John Thomas or Tufts as a full back, while St. Petersburg's line was as strong as his. The game was as much of a battle as a football game.
