The telephone company has recently added to the regret of the mending folks. They areno`,` no and improvement in the service. A great deal of work must be done, but they have promised that all will be improved by the end of the year.

A beneficial improvement will be in the manner of the numbers. The first would be eliminated at the center. Every answer on the campus, including the seminar halls and the faraway rooms, will be connected by the new equipment. The amount of time saved by this plan will be enormous.

There are some more standing in lines waiting to use the telephone under this plan. However, they are set to be installed in all of them.

Editor, Notre Dame Daily:

I read with more than ordinary interest your recent column's review of "The Silent Command," and I quite agree with you: 'a man can be pushed as far, and not farther,' I am a man being pushed; my back is in, indeed, against the wall, and the issue in that situation is tempered to some extent by other than personal reasons. The person signing himself P. C. G. is pushing himself.

I don’t think it is unreasonable to expect a little more fair treatment. I am a clever role in the judge's attitude of the public, and I am forced to confess that he did it with his hand. Perhaps such conduct wasn’t justified by the circumstances pictured, but considered merely on its own merits (P. C. G. appears to consider the set) it is a fast which would not damage thousands of ordinary folks who have never been in the movies but to dive and swim a little. I hope this trip of excitement such once a man even neglect to receive his coat and shoes, an omission which we both might be forgiven unconventional in the society of heroes that are... P. M. G. is too much the individualist.

Please understand that this letter has nothing to do with business, nothing to do with the advertising which we place with you for the Boston Student Conference. It is a personal opinion which, for all I know, may not be shared by the Student Conference management.

C. H. G.

Editor, Notre Dame Daily:

It is declared that all Irishmen have a battle and Notre Dams is from Irishmen. However, when deadly bricks are transported by way of the Daily it seems there is some reason why these filled missiles should not be connected to give a bad impression to the reectors on the side-lines. The Notre Dame Daily is read in many places, and by many admirers of Notre Dams-It is an understanding that the ardent friends should believe that the student body is here underlying a battle, adding fighting with the red-blooded, flannel-shirted man on one side and the coughing, silly-danged, girl-like things on the other side. Notre Dams men are normal men; some wear flannel shirts; some don't; some dance; some don't play football; some drive in a car, some study all the time—most don't; but these are just good fellows, seeking an education and preparing to be good and happy men.

Let those men who wish to write with a typewriter, devote an hour now and then to all-night writing for the Daily columns. Tiring of this, let them spend the unprofitable hour, chatting ads in South Bend.

We have done our level best to make a tobacco that tastes just right.

We bought, for making Velvet, the best leaf tobacco from the long leaf of the South in section of Kentucky, and then slowly and carefully aged it in wood.

Aging in wood takes more time and costs us lots more money, but it makes Velvet mild and rich, and gives it fine flavor.
