INDIANA UNIVERSITY—Post office employees have found that pa- pers and "goodies to eat" are smuggled through the mail route by pranks of employees. This is a violation of the law and the employees have been asked to stop this practice, the post of- fice officials announced. A usual mail route is the coming laundry box. The Post of- fice Act makes it a violation of law that "the folks at home are too shameless, and that the students aren’t aware of the solemnity of the matter." Respect for Tradition

Tradition is a peculiar thing. It can be enforced only by cooperation among those who respect it.

At Notre Dame there has long been a tradition that there is to be no sitting on the quadrangle in front of the main building. The limits which has been set from the main building to the statue of the Holy Family has been set by the band in Washington Hall.

There is no penalty for violating this tradition. "Any man who chooses may openly stroll into that territory this morning and smoke. But the tradition of the band is that a Notre Dame man to whom the band's word is given will not break it," said the band's officer.

A tradition has been a respected tradition for many years. The Daily hopes the student body will not permit it to pass.

How Well We Know

Spring is here. Spring with its myriad soft, tender influences that leave the soul warm and gladdening—sweet, gay spring. It is spring that awakens pink and budding mind longings, to the odor of robins, whispering breezes of sweet air—and leader notes creeping in from fields that are being cut. Spring is that time of the year when the sun is young, and love, dreams scarce dreamed—and excaotions and conditions.

The spring walk is a pleasant walk through the fields, viewing nature in her yearly rebirth, dwelling on the beauties of the flowers, the birds, the groves—and looking out for tadaks and snails. We shall sit for long hours reading, and dream and think, wondering why we feel so good. We shall dust off the phone book and have delightful dates and knock ourselves out for the evening cost .

In short, spring is here!

How much are you worth?

Do you realize that there is a very large number of people who value your worth at about 96 cents? Just that amount would cover the cost of chemicals used to make up the human body. If you have not received a questionnaire from the school, ask for one.

So the fellow who exclaimed in chargen: "I feel like 20 cents," is not too far off the mark.

This brings the query: "What makes man worth more than 96 cents?"

Why can an individual worth less than a dollar demand a dollar? In the equation of existence you are not weighed with the weight of pounds, but with the heft of the contents of the body. The hammer is a good example to follow. Keeping pounding for a 96-cent hammer, with good steel in it, can bring down the Washington monument.

The fact that the cost of the hammer is 96 cents, yet the hammer accumulates on top of that in accomplishing is what makes you worth your weight in gold.

A Lesson for Scoffers

The Prince of Wales is recovering from his latest fall from his horse. It seems that the Prince is not recovering too well. For the first time the prince has fallen from his horse, and it may not be the last.

However, that may be, the Prince of Wales gets up every time he falls. This is a characteristic of the Prince of Wales. He never gave up his manliness, his persistency, his continuity. That will be a great thing in his favor. He may be a poor horseman, but he is far from a quitter. Think it over.

Money talks. Like most women—too much.

Some moments are taken for granted. Others take them for good.

Knocking is destructive. The only think you should knock is a knocker.

The waste of time for want of planning its best use is the costest handiness of our time. Time is money, and it is so much more than money—John Wanamaker.
Injuries Cloud Hope for Illinois Victory

After the doctored had predicted a victory for Illinois in the dual track meet with California on April 10, the experience of entering in a state of injury was to combine with the already unfavorable weather have done to much to dampen the enthusiasm which has attended the practice sessions for the past few weeks. Seth Hughes, star 220-yard dash runner and captain of the track team, will be lost to the team for the season due to his probable condition for the Drake relays, where he will be in a position to do his spraint team. With Kyle, the colored sprinter already in the injured list, Bob Ayres pulled a tendon and will also be out of competition for some time. Both Brownell and Angier have been suffering from minor ailments. The loss of Ayres, Kyle and Hughes will handicap the Illini relay team at Drake where the Buckeyes set an American and a world's record last year.

MAJORS BREAK CAMP

The Boston Red Sox, after ten days of training, broke camp and started north today. They will eventually reach Mobile, League team also quit their winter quarters at Mobile.

TIGERS TRAIN FOR RELAYS

Coach Fitzpatrick, Princeton, with the老虎的追踪; every day, is carefully grooming his star performers for the Penn relays. The dual encounter with Harvard is carefully being prepared for by the men. Coach Keogan is making use of every facility at his command to at least get a better idea of the caliber of the candidates trying out for the garden positions. The change from the gym to the field will be a benefit to the batteries, not as well as to the folders. The candidates for next year's race on the Irish 1924 varsity will be able to develop faster under the improved conditions and they will have greater opportunity to get into form pitching to bat. Last week's practice session was lengthened with a pitch-in game, Nupperberger and Magavyen played in each, with two from the twof twisters. Each. (Continued on Page 4)

If you knew what aging in wood does for pipe tobacco

Even the finest Kentucky Burley Tobacco (and that’s the kind we use) is grown and tied right when it’s snipped. You could hardly smoke one pipe load of it.

And here’s where Velvet is different: Our aging takes out that rawness and harshness, and makes the tobacco mild and melo­dious which gives it flavor. Aging in wood does what no artificial treatment can do.

The Kansas University relay teams have been stated by the departents to be one of the foremost track classes of the year, and indications garnered from the entries mark the carnival as a truly national affair. South Dakota State and Texas University have already entered as representatives of their respective localities and in all probability Yale and Oregon State will sign up soon and thus complete the all-round representation.

With very few exceptions, all the prominent universities of the mid- west will compete. The list will include Iowa, Illinois, Nebraska, Texas and Kansas, winners of the university class relays last season. Butter, Kansas Teachers and Cornell will hold an outstanding place among the small college entrants. Since the Kansas stadium has been selected for the Midwest Relays, May 31, the approaching relay season will determine which of the probable Olympic candidates an opportunity to become acquainted to the undergraduates under which they will compete for the Olympic track team.

Track-coaches throughout the midwest are painting bold pictures for the Kansas games with promises that the cornrows since the cornrows will be an indicator of the caliber of the midwestern track men and the track team will also be able to get a line on the stars that should perform all season with little allotted.

SPRING PRACTICE
A practice game and long session from now until the squads leave for Atlanta, on April 10, will make it easier for the coach to determine on the personnel of the squad that will journey through the south.

Coach Rockney's football squad completed the regular spring practice sessions last night after a one-day vacation due to the snow. The work has included another swimming and signal practice. The coach also as many as ten teams to work with every night and from all indications, there should be developed a wealth of material to build on the way through next season and when the varsity of 1926 will be developed.

DAMN BASEBALL
The weather conditions in the vicinity of Urbana have kept the Illini baseball squad inside for the past few days and along with the Missouri, the South Bend Coach Redlands is supplementing the practice in the weather.

The South will start their spring track meet on April 17-18, and then open against the University of Mississippi. The six days track meets will take the Illini squad as a part of the team, and several games will be played in the vicinity of New Orleans.
