The Daily's Stand for Notre Dame

A union building to be built as soon as possible.

A well-organized student body, residing on the campus.

Two true representations of scholarship and a better appreciation for the efforts of men in campus activities.

TIPPERARY TERENCE IS DEAD.

Tipperary Terence was just a dog. We saw him presented to Kennedy once before a great crowd. Dimensions, wondrously frightened in his blanket of green. It was a big thing for little Terry to be the center of so much attention. At home in the gym he became the best dog in the world. He was a part of the game, a part of the slipper, in a way.

And then Tipperary Terence, in the way of a puppy, was bunt at half past five. All we'll miss him, even though Tipperary Terence was just a dog.

ON THE SUBJECT OF VOTING.

The week beginning today will afford practically every man on the campus an opportunity to vote. The state primaries are set for Tuesday, while Dome and class elections are scheduled on practically every campus occasion for the week.

Every man eligible to vote ought to go to the polls, whether in national politics or in campus politics, and exercise his right. Participation in the primaries, regional, state and national — and also in both, is a necessary thing.

An primaries are like the first cut in the football squad; or the first tryout for the band; or the first tryout of the girls in the university. They cannot be used and locked in his blanket of green. It was a big thing for little Terry to be the center of so much attention. At home in the gym he became the best dog in the world. He was a part of the game, a part of the slipper, in a way.

And then Tipperary Terence, in the way of a puppy, was bunt at half past five. All we'll miss him, even though Tipperary Terence was just a dog.

Varsity Nine Meets Indiana and M.A.C.

Two baseball games with Indiana and one with the Michigan Argos all serve to keep Coach George Langen's nine busy during week.

The first game with the states university will be played on Carter's mid-Tuesday afternoon, and the second at Bloomington next Friday afternoon.

The Michigan Argos bring shown strength by holding Michigan to a 1 to 0 count, will come here for a game on Saturday afternoon.

While the varsity has already gained a victory over the Crimson, the result of its 4 to 1 count in the best lending game played at Indianapolis last week for the benefit of the Olympic fund, the downtown site is by no means a weak soul and Bill Sheahan and his men will have to be at their best to maintain their supremacy over the visitors.

The varsity will be in fighting form this week, no doubt, for the sure victory by Wabash has had its effect. With Bert Dunn's able guidance, the team still will be able to travel at his old form, and intense stick practice, the team will probably hit its stride again.

PLAYERS ADMITTED TO CHAIN OF LAKE LINKS

The decision on the student membership proposal which was placed before the officers of the Chain of Lake Links was made, at a meeting held on Wednesdays, when it was decided not to permit a student membership, the first year players on the Notre Dame varsity golf team would be allowed free access to the course.

At Other Colleges

NORTHEASTERN UNIVERSITY

Plans are now being made to raise funds to pay the expenses of the band to the Michigan football game next fall at Ann Arbor. A dance will be given the near future and Brunswick merchants are contributing all expenses for the dance.

MINNESOTA UNIVERSITY

Members of the freshman class are contemplating on raising $250,000 for the new stadium drive between May 6 and 9. Recently a street dance was given in order to develop interest in the coming drive.

ILLINOIS UNIVERSITY—During that he is "dead against" the use of college and university students for what he turned "propaganda purposes." President Dol Kimley attacked the use of students by outside organizations for funds that commit the University in public print without the University's official knowledge or approval. He added that he had been "greatly impressed and very much troubled" by the way that outside organizations were attempting to turn the school's prestige to their own particular advantage.

PURDUE UNIVERSITY—The final session of the Semi-Centennial exercises will be devoted to Purdue affairs today. This will be presided over by the procession of the entire student body. The marshals will pass student tickets.

In this stand there will be the congratulations of the reviewing body, representatives of many of the leading educational institutions of the country.

Interhall Leaders in Danger This Week

When the fourth series of interhall games begins today, Walsh and Freshman will be the only teams to take the field with an undefeated record. Badin, Carrol and Brownson are close behind and a loss by the leaders is liable to cost them the lead.

The Freshman-Brownson tilt promises to be the outstanding game of this week's bill. Both halls have presented strong teams, and the result of the contest will have an important bearing on the standings. The Six-Day game should also furnish plenty of excitement.

Schedule for the week of May 4 includes: Eastern Day, Sophomores vs. Walsh, Brownson vs. Freshman, Coiffine vs. Badin, Carroll vs. Cus.

Sophomore Defeat Freshmen in Albion Class Fry
ALBION.—Following numerous duckings in the Kalamazoo river by the Albion college freshmen, when the sophomores were outnumbered, the second year men got sweet re­venge late today when they com­pletely outclassed the yearlings in the flag run on the campus.

Led by Ralph Prashaw, of De­troit, Victor Peck, of Birmingham, and Roy Howell, husky football­man, the sophs, booted over the flag and formed a human land­mark, which the rest of the party con­clused to secure the flag that was lengthened on a wire between two trees.

Captain Luther Pahl, of the football squad, won and shot the gun within two minutes after the festivities started. Each class was re­presented by 50 men.

What They Say
CATHOLIC PATRIOTISM
Patristicism cented in the love of one’s country, willingness to obey her laws and, a desire to serve her when she calls for your aid.
We all esteem and honor a man who has been a real hero for his country; we admire the gallantry of one who willingly dies for her.
This feeling we have is not ac­quired now; it is an instinct. This is one reason why people are shock­ed and horrified when a man prevents a traitor to his country’s case.
Catholics, and especially Catholic schools, have been accused of such crimes, for they have been called unpatriotic. Perhaps in the century and a half this country has been prospering, there have been some so-called Catholics who are unpatri­otic; but, are they unfaithful just because they use Catholic, or is it because they have been ex­posed to Catholic civilization and have deliberately thrown it aside?
If we would but study the Catho­lic Church and her doctrines we would find that obedience to all just laws of our country, and respect to her call, are ideals she holds up to her children.
American history reveals that de­spite the ridicule of the church has lived up to these ideals. Their mot­to has been ever been “For God and Our Country.”—St. Mary’s Gilmore.
