THE WORLD TODAY

HHH Changes Tune

SALT LAKE CITY (UPI) -- Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey said yesterday he would "be willing" to stop the bombing of North Vietnam as a move toward peace if elected president.

Humphrey told a nationwide television audience: "As president, I would be willing to stop the bombing of the North as an acceptable risk for peace because I believe it could lead to success in the negotiations and a shorter war. This would be the best protection for our troops."

Humphrey repeated, however, an earlier statement that neither he nor anyone else had control over the Vietnam War while President Johnson remained in office.

Discussing his proposal if elected president, Humphrey said "in weighing that risk and before taking action I would place key importance on evidence direct or indirect, by deed or word of Communist willingness to restore the Demilitarized Zone between North and South Vietnam."

Humphrey also said he would take a second step which would "involve the risk that the South Vietnamese would meet the obligations they say they are now ready to assume in their own defense."

Furthermore, the Democratic presidential contender said he would sit down with South Vietnamese leaders to "set a specific timetable by which American forces could be systematically reduced while South Vietnamese forces took over more and more of the burden."

"We propose once more an immediate cease-fire with United Nations or other international supervision and supervised withdrawal of all foreign forces from South Vietnam," he said.

In what appeared to be a sharp break with administration policies, Humphrey said, "I believe all of these steps could lead to an honorable and lasting settlement serving both our national interest and the interests of the other nations of Southeast Asia."

300,000 Greet George

CHICAGO (UPI) -- George C. Wallace rode down crowd-filled State Street toward the Chicago Civic Opera House, where he organized and directed the Cavaliers Marching Band, in a kickoff of the Monday in the kick-off of a week long courtship of the industrial Midwest and East.

The third party candidate for president promised, as he opened his new drive, that the blue collar vote, that he would select a vice presidential running mate by the end of the week.

Police estimated about 300,000 persons were packed along the sidewalks and估算 about one million persons were sitting on a black, open top convertible, waving and snapping military salutes first to one side and then to the other.

Bust In Indy

INDIANAPOLIS (UPI) -- A narcotics squad officer who stalked out Weir Cook Municipal Airport all weekend yesterday arrested a youth as he got off a plane from Los Angeles on charges of violating the Narcotics Act.

Lt. William Owens said Steven J. Fall, Indianapolis, had 65 capsules of a new synthetic drug called THC in his possession along with four packages of ordinary marijuana.

Fall was arrested at 2:30 a.m. Monday in the kick-off of a week long courtship of the industrial Midwest and East.

"He came toward me off the plane as I held a newspaper in front of my face," said Owens. "I just dropped the paper down and when the boy spotted me, he said, 'Lieutenant, I'd rather see anybody in the world right now except that cop.'"

Mothers March

MEXICO CITY (UPI) -- Women in mourning led a crowd of 5,000 yesterday in a "march of the mothers" on the Mexican Chamber of Deputies to demand the immediate release of students and others arrested in recent anti-government disorders.

Busts of riot police were stationed along the march route but made no attempt to interfere.

March leaders wanted to present a minerscript petition to the legislators asking a blanket amnesty for law violators of any side and then to the other.

The report indicated that the Student Strike Affairs. The office will be responsible for preparing brochures, press releases and will handle all college publicity. Development plans for the college include a new library, additions to the present one, and a new dorm, if the need arises, he said.

Recker is a 1948 graduate of the University of Notre Dame. He served fourteen years in merchandising and sales fields with General Motors Corporation and General Electric Company. He was appointed Director of Development at Gannon College, Erie, Pennsylvania in 1966, where he organized and directed publicity department. The office will be responsible for preparing brochures, press releases and will handle all college publicity. Development plans for the college include a new library, additions to the present one, and a new dorm, if the need arises, he said.

Edward L. Recker has been appointed Vice President for Public Relations and Development at Saint Mary's College, the Rt. Rev. Monsignor John J. McGrath, President, announced today.

Recker is the first man to dollars extra to live in McCandless; the legislation will allow smoking which already exists in the dorm; the lounges on each floor are not used because the students cannot smoke in them; it is inconvenient to go to the ground floor smoker in order to have a cigarette. The insurance company is too nebulous to be used as a reason for forbidding smoking.

Recker is a 1948 graduate of the University of Notre Dame. He served fourteen years in merchandising and sales fields with General Motors Corporation and General Electric Company. He was appointed Director of Development at Gannon College, Erie, Pennsylvania in 1966, where he organized and directed publicity department. The office will be responsible for preparing brochures, press releases and will handle all college publicity. Development plans for the college include a new library, additions to the present one, and a new dorm, if the need arises, he said.

Recker is the first man to

WHAT DO YOU MEAN SMOOKING IN HERE?
YOUNG LADY! HOW WOULD YOU LIKE TO BURN THIS PLACE DOWN?

Edith R. Recker hold the newly created post. His responsibility entails Public relations, publicity, the alumnae and the alumni fund in an effort to co-ordinate these affairs.

In an interview Recker said that the publicity office at St. Mary's is being revamped. It will be a public information office, and will be expanded to include much more than the present

Recker New SMC Vice-Pres.

Edward L. Recker has been appointed Vice President for Public Relations and Development at Saint Mary's College, the Rt. Rev. Monsignor John J. McGrath, President, announced today.

Recker is the first man to students added the stipulation that the lounges on their floor be made available to upperclassmen for the benefit of those who don't smoke. Susan Dalrymple, McCandless Hall President, presented the vote totals to the committee meeting last night. Miss Dalrymple stated the following reasons for the students support of the legislation: "students pay fifty

Senators Races Begin

Approximately 100 students have filed petitions to run for Student Senate in elections to be held this Thursday. In total, petitions required 25 signatures of hall residents.

Dillon leads in number of candidates with a total of ten. Off-campus runs nine students. Walsh, Sorin, and St. Joe have only submitted one into the elections as a united party. No other party has materialized to oppose the five ASP candidates. There had been rumors of a split in the ASP leadership and a possible coalition against Kelly, but this has been denied by party representatives. ASP will head the first slate for the election as a united party.

No other party has materialized to oppose the five ASP candidates. There had been rumors of a split in the ASP leadership and a possible coalition against Kelly, but this has been denied by party representatives. ASP will head the first slate for the election as a united party.

It will be the first time in Saint Mary's history that girls can legally smoke in their rooms. At McCandless Hall floor meetings Sunday night, students voted 176 in favor and 5 against the proposal. Fifth floor students added the stipulation that the lounges on their floor be made available to upperclassmen for the benefit of those who don't smoke. Susan Dalrymple, McCandless Hall President, presented the vote totals to the committee meeting last night. Miss Dalrymple stated the following reasons for the students support of the legislation: "students pay fifty
Chris Wolfe

A Question of Crisis

There will be two major positions represented in this Thursday's Senate elections. There will be the radicals who in general support the administration, cannot imagine campus publications, and the moderates who will be more willing to defend Notre Dame as it is.

The most important point in the radicals' ideas is that Notre Dame requires a radical restructing to fix certain intolerable conditions. In defense of this position they point to administration refusal to grant students the sole right to govern their lives. Some go so far as to say that students are being denied basic human rights.

While this position is advantageous in that it appeals to a natural student desire for more power and freedom, it does have certain problems. The main one is that it rejects the whole idea of community which has developed at Notre Dame. Several years ago Notre Dame was a very authoritarian institution in every sense of that word. Under pressure from students, and from within the Administration and faculty, this has given way to community government, with student participation in aspects of university life. Examples of this are the new Student Council, and that the students are playing, by specific invitation of the administration, in evaluating and proposing curriculum reform.

The radicals now feel that they must reject this present situation because student life after all is not a community affair - it's none of the administration's and faculty's business. Their essential demand is that the administration's and faculty's business. Their essential demand is

This crisis the administration's and faculty's business. Their essential demand is

The result of agitation by radicals and some student leaders. This crisis the administration's and faculty's business. Their essential demand is however is not so much the product of intolerable conditions as it is because student life after all is not a community affair between student leaders and other University leaders. This crisis the administration's and faculty's business. Their essential demand is because student life after all is not a community affair between student leaders and other University leaders. This crisis the administration's and faculty's business. Their essential demand is

The radicals now feel that they must reject this present situation because student life after all is not a community affair - it's none of the administration's and faculty's business. Their essential demand is

But more important than this philosophical rejection of community is the atmosphere that radicals need in order to be successful. That atmosphere is one of crisis, extreme tension between student leaders and other University leaders. This crisis however is not so much the product of intolerable conditions as it is the result of agitation by radicals and some student leaders.

The worst side effect of this state of tension is to cause everyone to forget that when you get right down to it there is no reason for crisis. The essential thing for a critical situation that is lacking is unwillingness to change - the Administration and faculty are simply too flexible in their attitudes for anyone to accuse them of denying students basic human rights.

What some radicals are trying to do is concentrate on relatively minor issues in the hope that students will forget that on major issues things at Notre Dame are pretty good. Parental hours as they stand may be unjustified, but how important is an issue like that? In the things that count - like representation on the Student Life Council and in academic reform - students are pretty well off.

The real issue in the Senate elections is whether students will try to grab as much power as they can while the grabber's good, or use the power that they already have responsibly without trying to stir up unnecessary dissatisfaction with the University. SBPRose probably put the issue well when he stated his position as "lack of growth for fights in the present". Hopefully he will find out this Thursday that most students do indeed have faith in Notre Dame and its present organs for growth and change.

Even the Ghost of Washington Hall

Reads the Observer

He may not like it - but he reads it. We haven't recruited him for our staff yet and if you'd like to fill in, come to our meeting today at 7:30 p.m. in the Student Center Amphitheatre. The Ghost might even turn up.

New Home For K. of C.

The Notre Dame chapter of the Knights of Columbus is still awaiting completion of the interior of their new headquarters in what was once the campus post office. This structure will receive a total of $500,000. Walsh hall was given to the Knights by the Trustee of the college. This amount is expected to cover their use of the building. The additional $500,000 will be used for the various university scholarship funds. (The remainder of the $1,000,000 for this venture will used for a basement).

According to Dave Stark, Deputy Grand Knight the total cost was acquired from the campus organizations treasury which had accumulated over a period of several years. After the allotment for the scholarship committee the remainder of the $500,000 for this venture will be used to locate a basement under the existing structure and to air condition the building.

The money will also take care of the elaborate remodeling and decorating.

Stark said this remainder was spent refurbishing the building so that it will now include office and lounge space, an ultra-modern kitchen, and meeting and game rooms as well as a T.V. room. He added "we had to scrap plans for an all mahogany barroom because the University requires that we prohibit the use of alcoholic beverages on campus, or so I'm told."

An extension was also added to the south wall of the building, thus increasing the floor space as well as in the new basement.

Besides the absence of a bar this structure will also lack the conspicuous absence of women, as one member stated "it is also one of the few of our fascist areas that women have not managed to invade. "Although there has been some action by the K. of C. to institute a St. Mary's auxiliary this has yet to actually take place.

The money for the present structure was raised by a special building fund started before the depression. The initial money was invested until it accumulated to the present amount. The K. of C. Board of Directors had control of these funds and it was also the final voice in the selection of the new building site.

Besides not being allowed much voice in the location of the new hall, some members will have to forego the pleasure of using their new headquarters immediately until the renovations which have been delayed finally arrive. The K. of C. had planned a Christmas Orientation open house but this event had to be cancelled because of an unexpected delay in the completion of the interior. Future open houses, however, are now under consideration although no actual dates have as yet been established.

Sir Edward Lovett

Dear Editor:

I would like to use this opportunity to express some very personal sentiments to you and my brothers-the men of Notre Dame. I am the third quarter of the Purdue game and I am alone here in my room. But before I explain why I must make this confession, for I've done wrong.

I first knew it during the pep rally when we were told that, despite the importance of the Purdue game, there existed among the Notre Dame students a "shocking complacency." I knew-deep in my heart-that it was true. I knew that every person had the right to express themselves equally, if, that is, they did not violate the rights of others. Anyway I was corrected fraternally by two Notre Dame men who grabbed the bar I was holding and gave it to them and I rip it up.

Realizing that I had wronged my brothers again I began to despair. This time I couldn't repent. I had come to Notre Dame to learn who was I that I might someday become better. But I know now, having failed again, that I never would. I lacked even the courage to reclaim the sign I had taken. This way it was taken. I could only ask for it like a little boy. At my deepest I knew and I prepared to leave. I knew I couldn't enjoy the violence of the afternoon like the others. I couldn't cheer with the others when the remnant of the sign was held up that called simply for "War." I didn't even have the decency to say I was ashamed of the Purdue players "wet pancreas." I knew that a kid who couldn't play the game should leave. So I did.

As but I make this confession I must also say that I've heard it said that the Spirit at Notre Dame is dying. And my own observations of the past three years confirm this. I pray, however, that the men of Notre Dame not let this happen. For if they do and if the love of football, the love of violence, the love of war dies, to hell with them. I want to see you look in your quest for manhood? I know what will happen then. A new race of Notre Dame men will grow up, who are not men at all-at least not in the traditional sense. With this warning and this plea I call on the men of Notre Dame to know themselves and to act.

Sincerely,

John Kirby
323 Farley

The Mail

Dear Sir,

I would like to use this opportunity to express some very personal sentiments to you and my brothers—the men of Notre Dame. I am the third quarter of the Purdue game and I am alone here in my room. But before I explain why I must make this confession, for I've done wrong.

I first knew it during the pep rally when we were told that, despite the importance of the Purdue game, there existed among the Notre Dame students a "shocking complacency." I knew—deep in my heart—that it was true. I knew that every person had the right to express themselves equally, if, that is, they did not violate the rights of others. Anyway I was corrected fraternally by two Notre Dame men who grabbed the bar I was holding and gave it to them and I ripped it up.

Realizing that I had wronged my brothers again I began to despair. This time I couldn't repent. I had come to Notre Dame to learn who was I that I might someday become better. But I know now, having failed again, that I never would. I lacked even the courage to reclaim the sign I had taken. This way it was taken. I could only ask for it like a little boy. At my deepest I knew and I prepared to leave. I knew I couldn't enjoy the violence of the afternoon like the others. I couldn't cheer with the others when the remnant of the sign was held up that called simply for "War." I didn't even have the decency to say I was ashamed of the Purdue players "wet pancreas." I knew that a kid who couldn't play the game should leave. So I did.

As but I make this confession I must also say that I've heard it said that the Spirit at Notre Dame is dying. And my own observations of the past three years confirm this. I pray, however, that the men of Notre Dame not let this happen. For if they do and if the love of football, the love of violence, the love of war dies, to hell with them. I want to see you look in your quest for manhood? I know what will happen then. A new race of Notre Dame men will grow up, who are not men at all—at least not in the traditional sense. With this warning and this plea I call on the men of Notre Dame to know themselves and to act.

Sincerely,

John Kirby
323 Farley

A.S.P. MEETING TONIGHT 7:00 P.M.

727 NIEUWLAND SCIENCE

The Observer is published by students of the University of Notre Dame and the St. Mary's College, Indiana, May be purchased at A.S.P. Columbus, Ind. College Office, or on s. a. p. Ross 31, Notre Dame, Ind. Phone 1027, N.D. 1027, N.D. 11027, N.D.

ARDON
Bogle: 'Stay In Democratic Party'

Speaking to a crowd of more than 1,000 in the Library Auditorium last night, Notre Dame Government Professor Dr. James Bogle, a prominent Indiana citizen for McCarthy, urged that students work within the political processes of the country. Bogle stated "we must focus attention and activity within the system. The institutions may be outmoded but not the political processes..."

He emphasized the support which the new politics had.

"I think the experimental social action programs such as legal aid should diversify itself into the community," Bogle advised. "If you think there is a revolutionary situation in this country, you're fooling yourself if you think there is."

Sophie To Study In S.A.

Father Laurence Broeze, Assistant Vice-President for Academic Affairs, announced yesterday that a new Foreign Study Program in South America is to be conducted next year in Cali, Colombia. The program is in addition to those in Angers (France), Innsbruck (Austria), and Tokyo (Japan). Present freshmen with Arts and Letters or Business Ad. intent are eligible for all these programs. Those interested should notify the Modern Languages Department or phone 7155.

NPP Meets

At its second district meeting, the New Politics Party last night began drafting a district platform concerned with the specific problems confronting the Third Congressional District of Indiana, especially its Afro-American community.

Mr. Richard Bizot, chosen last week as the acting chairman of the district's organization, opened the meeting by explaining the difficulties facing the party. The initial appeal that must be made in efforts to get the party on the ballot is one that asks that the ruling of the State Election Board denying the party's petitions be overturned. This appeal, it is now felt, is faced with great difficulties and it will probably be necessary to go ahead with the appeal for a writ-in. If the write-in takes place, then the party's candidates, Dick Gregory and Mark Lane for President and Vice President, will have to decide whether to run for office in Indiana. This just isn't the method. The motion that went into 1968 won't carry on into 1972. We must work within the Democratic Party..."
NEW YORK UPI - Purdue, proving that lightning can strike twice, Monday came within one vote of the nation's leading college football power when the United Press International board of coaches cast 34 first place votes last year, 4. Notre Dame as the underdog, are rated the top national ranking. Southern Cal received the lone first place vote not cast for Purdue. Notre Dame's loss dropped the Irish, a strong choice for No. 1 last week, down to eighth in the rankings. The ratings:

1. Purdue (34) 2-0
2. Southern Cal (31) 2-0
3. Penn State 2-0
4. UCLA 2-0
5. Kansas 2-0
6. Nebraska 2-0
7. Ohio State 1-0
8. Notre Dame 1-1
9. Louisiana State 2-0
10. Florida 2-0

Others receiving votes:
- Stanford, Iowa, Michigan, Texas Tech, Oregon State, Air Force.

Scrambling Hawkeye quarterback Ed Podolak, shown in action against the Irish last year, may miss Saturday's game with a head injury.

UPI Says We're Number 8

Hawkeyes Loaded With Nicknames

IOWA CITY, IA. - If you're sitting in Iowa Stadium Saturday and hear one of the Hawkeyesoller, "Hey, Puncho, Golden Boy says Charlie Robot is open on the down and out," your ears are not playing tricks.

Someone is merely telling Ed Podolak that Larry Lawrence says Ray Manning is an excellent target for a short pass.

Nicknames are common on athletic teams and the 1968 Iowa football squad is no exception. About one-third of the squad's top two offensive stars are doubtful starters this weekend.

Quarterback Ed Podolak, that Larry Lawrence says Ray Manning is an excellent target for a short pass. Borden must stay exceptionally alert. Besides answering to The Vulture, Charles and Charlie, he also responds to Doc. If you don't think Charlie Robot is descriptive of Ray Manning, then try Mr. Machine.

Hanratty Assaults

The Record Book

TOTAL OFFENSE
George Gopp 4110 yards
Terry Hanratty vs. Purdue 301 yards
Total 3521 yards

PASSES ATTEMPTED
Ralph Guglielmims 436
Terry Hanratty vs. Purdue 27
Total 423

PASSES COMPLETED*
Terry Hanratty vs. Purdue 23
Total 23

PASSES HAD INTERCEPTED
Angelo Bertelli 30
Terry Hanratty vs. Purdue 3
Total 30

COMPLETION PCT
Frank Tripucka .567
Terry Hanratty vs. Purdue .535
Total .543

PASSING YARDAGE*
Terry Hanratty vs. Purdue 294
Total 3182

TOUCHDOWN PASSES
Angelo Bertelli 28
Bob Williams 26
Terry Hanratty vs. Purdue 2
Total 21

* designates all-time Notre Dame record

Rockne Memorial. Club president Mark Grantham has issued an invitation to prospective members.

SOUTH BEND Ind. (UPI)
The University of Notre Dame announced Monday that all tickets for home football games this season have been sold out. Ticket manager Bob Caid said the sellout for all six home games was completed with sale of the last tickets for the Georgia Tech game, Nov. 16.

Students interested in playing varsity hockey this winter should meet with coach "Lefty" Smith 7 p.m. today in the Athletic and Convocation Center.

The Irish Eye

By Terry O'Neil, sports editor

Merry, mercy, merry

The word from Iowa is "Uph." By the fourth quarter Saturday afternoon, that word may be changed and twisted to "Mercy, mercy, mercy.

For the second straight year, the Corn Country Kids must face Notre Dame seven days after a loss to Purdue. That ain't nice.

Even in top physical shape, Iowa fields the smallest team (both in size and number) of any Big Ten school. The 65 Hawkeyes average just 206 pounds per man. Only seven of them are over 230 pounds and the biggest is 247-pound tackle Gary Herman. Worse yet, the squad's top two offensive stars are doubtful starters this weekend.

Quarterback Ed Podolak, whose scrambling was a minor irritant to the Irish in last year's 56-6 romp, has suffered a pair of head injuries in Iowa's first two games.

Banged up in his team's 21-20 upset victory over Oregon State Sept. 21, Podolak had severe headaches all last week. Nevertheless, he had his biggest game of Texas Christian 17-14 with only seconds to play in the third quarter last Saturday.

Then Podolak was kicked in the head and forced to retire from the action. The 6-0, 204-pound senior is hospitalized currently. His playing status won't be known until Thursday.

The other casualty is starting fullback Tim Sullivan. After gaining 112 yards on 16 carries in Iowa's opener, Sullivan suffered a hip pointer in the first period against TCU and sat out the rest of the night. Like Podolak, he is doubtful Saturday.

The Hawkeyes' triumph over nationally ranked Oregon State will be one of the biggest surprises of 1968. You will recall that the Beavers were 7-2-1 in 1967, including wins over Southern Cal and Purdue and a tie with UCLA.

Oregon State returned 38 lettermen from that squad, 22 of them starters. Coach Dee Andros' club was ranked as high as No. 2 in 1968 pre-season polls. That's why Iowa's giant killing earned Ray Nagel coach-of-the-week honors and sophomore Mike Phillips Lineman-of-the-week laurels from UPI.

Against TCU, the Hawkeyes were in command until Podolak's departure with 15 minutes to play. Then the Horned Frogs marched for six points and a 21-17 lead.

With sophomore quarterback Larry Lawrence at the helm, the Hawks moved to TCU's 20 before three penalties stole their momentum. TCU added another score with :26 to play, making the final 28-17.

This week, Iowa will be at a critical disadvantage physically. The Irish offensive line outweighs the Hawks' defensive wall by 12 pounds per man. Conversely, ND's defensive front four goes 250 pounds each while the Iowa offensive line carries a 218-pound norm.

"Mercy, Mercy, Mercy."