Adam and Eve Americans?

WASHINGTON (UPI) — On Oct. 2, the U.S. Senate barred the press and the public, swore its employees to secrecy, locked its doors and discussed the American that would remain following a "nuclear exchange."

"If we have to start over again with another Adam and Eve," Sen. Richard B. Russell told his colleagues during that private session, "then I fear that America would not survive."

He argued that the United States should spend the $5 billion that would be required to construct a "thin" antiballistic missile ABM system and should consider it the "foundation stone" of an eventual ABM system to protect the United States from Soviet attack. Such a system, he has been estimated, would cost $40 billion or more.

A censored transcript of the debate in the rare executive session of the Senate Appropriations Committee, published in the Congressional Record of Nov. 1. In greeting to a closed session, Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield won the Senate's approval for eventual publication of a declassified record of the debate.

After the debate, by a 45-25 vote, the Senate passed a defense appropriations bill containing initial funds for deployment of a "thin" ABM system and it is already under construction.

Violence Resumes at San Francisco

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — Hundreds of jeering students clashed with police yesterday in an attempt to shut down strike torn San Francisco State College for the second time this month.

Several students were seized by police squads during a short lived melee.

Three policemen were injured, including a campus guard who lost his voice in the melee while trying to make an arrest. No injuries were reported among the demonstrators.

It was the fourth clash between students and police this fall. The school is re-opened after the San Francisco Police guard was after being closed for several days because of sporadic violence.

The upsurge began with an march onto campus buildings from a noon rally attracted by nearly 5,000 of the campus's 18,000 students. About 500 persons participated in the march as administrators summoned police.

Within minutes, the crowd on the college commons swelled to more than 2,500. A group of about 30 climbed to the top of the main administration building as "observers" but later were removed by police.

Secret Talks Halted

PARIS (UPI)—Nations officials disclosed yesterday that secret talks between U.S. and North Vietnamese representatives have been suspended one day after a boycott of broadened Vietnam negotiations planned for Paris.

American diplomat spokes confirmed the halt in behind-the-scenes contacts of the type that had enabled President Johnson to arrange ground rules for an expanded parley that has so far failed to get off the ground.

North Vietnamese officials in Paris displayed growing impatience with more than two weeks of delays in getting the talks started and accused the Saigon government of attempting to "torpedo" the expanded parley.

The Hanoi officials said their delegation chief, Minister of State Xuan Thuy, was prepared to meet U.S. negotiators at any time—even at night—to get the conference started.

Diplomatic sources believed suspension of private contacts indicated that Hanoi and the Viet Cong want first of all a public conference in which they can expound their political demands.

Hanoi officials made their disclosure after the chief South Vietnamese observer in Paris suddenly was called back to Saigon because of the death of his father.

Monetary Crisis Unsettled

BASEL, Switzerland (UPI) International bankers kept private talks open day long in an obvious search of a solution for the monetary crisis involving the French franc and the West German mark.

A credit arrangement looming up the franc would be handled via the Bank for International Settlements(BIS) in Basel, the bankers said. Switzerland's national bank intervened yesterday to the tune of about $80 million to prevent the dollar from going through its official floor of 1.6500 francs.

With the money market unsure about the outcome of the Bonn meeting, the dollar remained low throughout the day.

Senate Urges Dorm Names

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Sen. John F. Kennedy said yesterday that Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey, D-Minn., should be the first student to occupy the dormitory named after him.

"I will have the pleasure of dedicating the first student to occupy a dormitory named after me," Kennedy said.

Kennedy spoke to the Senate's special committee, which recommended the names of student dormitories.

Kennedy has been a subject of controversy since the Reverend Martin Luther King Jr. and his associate, the Rev. C. T. Vivian, were refused permission to speak at the annual event.

The committee's recommendation for the dormitories will be presented to the Senate chamber, where a vote will be held on the names.

Peace on the campus is the top goal of the committee, which will have the final say on the names.

The committee recommended that the dormitory be named after Kennedy and is scheduled to be completed next year.

The dormitory is expected to house 2,000 students.

The Senate is scheduled to vote on the recommendation next week.

Gross In

Rick Gross, a member of the Afro-American Society with the endorsement of the ASP, overwhelmingly won election to the OC senate as opposed to Sam Boyle. His vote total (49) was more than twice that of his nearest challenger Joseph F. Drucker who garnered 18 votes.

Gross, the first black student to win a senate position in the college's history, viewed his election win as a minor first step in obtaining a voice in student growth for the black students. He believes his main purpose is to give the black students a voice while at the same time to represent the OC students.

Gross said that it is imperative that the senate recognize him as the official senate spokesman for the black students. In addition to this, he expects to exert an amount of influence commensurate with the urgency of the black student's situation.

"Before my election, he said, the black students ignored the senate and went directly to the administration to voice their feelings. Now, black students intend to use the senate as an important vehicle of communication."

Grid Picks

When Brown's Jerry Hart wins the Heisman Trophy in two years, you can tell your friends you read about him when he was "only a sopho-more."

Jerry averaged more than nine yards per carry and scored his team's only touchdown in a 31-7 loss to Harvard last Saturday. He's not the only one who had a good weekend. That guy who writes the Irish Eye picked 38 of 46 winners for an average of .826.

Leaving the Tigers with a disappointing Three TD margin.

And the 49ers are back to fun and Bears may not score.

The last regular-season victory of O.J. Simpson's college career. The formidable hockey sage, who one Minnesota newspaper labeled "Minnesota's foremost teacher of body checking," stated that the main difference between high school and college hockey is to "get the players to think alike." He based this statement on the diverse playing and coaching techniques his players had been accustomed to before coming to the LAC.

The other crucial part of college coaching is recruiting. There are eleven freshmen on this year's incoming class. Some teams will not find the Orangemen and the Buckeyes' offensive and defensive lines are both superior to the Wolverines with they will face.

Wright over Colgate--A fine 8-2 season mark for the Jersey lads.

The Southwest

Arkansas over Texas--Averaging upset victories by Tech the past two years.

Southern Methodist over Baylor--SMU finishes 7-3; not bad.

Texas Christian over Rice--Battle of the "Southwest Nobodies". Houston over Tulsa--Cougars could roll up nearly 800 yards in total offense again this week.

Wyoming over Arizona--This means the Western Athletic Conference title.

The South

Louisiana State over Tulane--It may go even higher than last year.

L.A. over Northwestern--If they can keep the number of fumbles under five.

Iowa over Illinois--Hawks are the "comer" of the Big Ten.

Mississippi over Wisconsin--A perfect season in reverse for the Badgers.

The Midwest

Ohio State over Michigan--Buckeyes' offensive and defensive lines are both superior to the Wolverines with they will face.

The Offense should be on the spectacular side if high school records and club team statistics stand for anything. For example,.

One of them was tackle George Kunz of Notre Dame, who wants to be an attorney. The others include end Allen Brenner of Michigan State, guard John Hendricks of Iowa, tackle David Foley of Ohio State and end Robert Stein of Minnesota.

All qualify for $500 graduate fellowships set up by funds from former Army coach Earl "Red" Blaik's syndicated football column. They will be saluted Dec. 3 with the National Football Hall of Fame inductions, the MacArthur Bowl winners and other award winners in New York.
