TMH relates views on Violent student protest

Reverend Theodore Hesburgh C.S.C. was interviewed on the topic of student disorder by Hugh Downs and Joe Garagiola Sr., during a broadcast of the TODAY show. The focal point of interest during the early morning broadcast was Hesburgh's recent statement decrying the use of violence in student protest.

Hesburgh was asked why he issued such a statement and opined that the fact there is no major student unrest at Notre Dame at present is a result of the time to establish rules for our own campus demonstrations. The council ordered from the outside and that will mean the end of the universe.

The ad hoc committee on student seating on campus demonstrated the importance of the student's right to free speech, demonstration, due process, and a peaceful approach to their concerns.

The council released a statement yesterday on its position toward demonstrations as a right of the students. The council's decision was based on previous demonstrations which were considered disruptive.

The policy which the council determined would be that which College President Magr. John J. McGurath will act. The council has established the policy on demonstrations, but took issue with parts of it. The council's decision was based on what constitutes a disruptive demonstration.

The student council also recognizes the student's right of appeal. The policy states that the students are supposed to resolve their problems with the faculty and seek redress for any grievances they may have. The policy also states that the students are not supposed to resolve their problems by using violence.

Yesterday a joint meeting of the Student Senate, the Hall Life Council, and the student members of the Student Life Council was held in the President's office. The council members were especially critical of the Honor System. They were critical of the Honor System, not because it was not working, but because it was not working as intended.

The council also expressed their concern that the students themselves would be forced to confront the honor system. This confrontation is supposed to promote dialogue among the students and this dialogue is supposed to resolve the problem. The students are supposed to realize, said Voss, that the honor system means the student must take responsibility for his person next to him. Then can they truly say, "Yes, I want the Honor System."

Voss explained that the students can't take responsibility only for themselves because the faculty will not accept that type of system.

Those attending the meeting were critical of the Honor Council's opinion that the honor system was not working, and were unable to solve the Council's unilateral decision to take a leave of absence without further discussion or consultation with anyone else. Those at the meeting concluded that the council's action could not be reversed and that the council's role would be to re-evaluate the Honor Concept.

The council decided that the course of action would involve three parts. The student council would hold a meeting with the students and gather their ideas about any changes they would like to see. Then leaders along with the Honor Council would then draw up a new Honor Code. The second part of the meeting dealt with the actions of the SLC. Voss said that the Hall Life Report of the SLC will come before the SLC on Monday. He explained that this report will be incorporated in a bill that the SLC will act on.

On The Inside

- Federal Grant of $1,800,000 for new Bio building pg. 7
- Don Hynes replies to Hesburgh's letter pg. 4
- Sacred Heart Church Renovated Romanesque(?) pg. 7
- Tom Elrhe writes his mother pg. 5
THE OBSERVER
FRIDAY, FEBRUARY 21, 1969

Student leaders discuss Council

continued from page 1

Personnel. This is a new office which will handle the appointment and placing of prefects. In addition, each hall council will be able to voice an opinion on the number of prefects it wants in its hall. The council will advise the Director of Student Personnel of its opinion and this opinion will be taken into consideration.

Voicing an opinion on this bill, SBP Rossie stated, "I think it is a very good bill and I think all these resolutions will pass overwhelmingly on Monday." While other SLC members differed with the speed of the passage of this bill, they all concluded that the bill would be adopted by the SLC within two weeks.

Rossie then explained that after the bill passed the SLC, it will go to Father Hesburgh. He will then have two weeks to act on this bill, either by approving it or by passing it on to the Board of Trustees. However, Father Hesburgh will be unable to veto the bill.

After the Hall Life Bill is considered, Rossie said and the SLC will discuss other issues such as an increase in the number of organizational cars and the issue of cars for juniors. After the meeting, SBP Rossie said that he would like to continue these joint meetings on a monthly basis in order to "exchange ideas and information."

Commenting on the SLC, Rossie said, "I think the students want to see the SLC move faster and I agree. But because the SLC is a legislative body, it cannot move too fast."

Yeats discusses Political career
Of his father

Michael Yeats, son of William Butler Yeats, spoke about his father's place in Irish politics last night. Speaking to a group of 85, Mr. Yeats sought to provide an intimate view of his father and to clear up several misconceptions about him.

He showed that W.B. Yeats was not reactionary, but was a leading figure in the events leading up to the Irish revolution. Briefly mentioning his father's love for Maud Gonne, he said that W.B. Yeats was a Republican prior to falling in love with her. He also said that his father felt that there could be no fine Irish literature without Irish independence, and vice versa. He said that W.B. Yeats was not a fascist, as often claimed. He was interested in Fascism as a movement, but rejected it early.

Michael Yeats then showed a more personal side of his father. He said that W.B. Yeats was often incoherent and contradictory in his views. He was a "shy, introverted man" that had to make a conscious effort to become involved in politics. Finally he observed that his father was "an able and sometimes unscrupulous manager" of the political committees that he served.

Miller Makes it Right!

ON TAP

The Observer is published daily during the college semester except vacations by the students of the University of Notre Dame and St. Mary's College. Subscriptions may be purchased for $10 from The Observer, Room 13, Notre Dame Ind., 46556. Second class postage paid, Notre Dame Ind., 46556.
Laird: Soviets testing ABM system

WASHINGTON (UPI) - Defense Secretary Melvin R. Laird said yesterday that the Soviet Union is testing a "sophisticated new ABM system," and that he personally favors increased American deployment of a missile defense system of its own.

The unsettled question in his mind, Laird told the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, is what kind of protection the U.S. antiballistic missile system should afford.

That was Laird's reply to growing numbers of congressional critics of the Sentinel ABM system who question whether its effectiveness would be worth the cost—now estimated at $6 billion—and who fear its deployment would accelerate the Soviet American arms race.

Pueblo crew Noua cases U.S. retaliation

LOS ANGELES (UPI) - The captors warned they would be executed immediately if the United States decided to attack North Korea even if it meant their deaths, enlisted men testified yesterday.

Quartermaster Charles Law told a Navy Court of Inquiry their captors wanted they would be executed immediately if the United States struck back for the seizure of the intelligence ship.

"We waited for the United States to punish the bunch of barbarians they had over there, but it didn't happen," said Law, 27, of Chehalis, Wash.

Sirhan offers to enter plea of guilty

LOS ANGELES (UPI) - Sirhan B. Sirhan offered to enter a plea of guilty to first degree murder but the offer was rejected because he also insisted it be accompanied by a life prison sentence instead of death, it was revealed yesterday.

Superior Court Judge Herbert V. Walker made public a transcript of a conference held in secret yesterday morning at which it was brought out that the judge insisted the jury would have to decide on the penalty.

The conference was called when defense attorney Grant Cooper moved for a dismissal of the case against Sirhan.

Marines fight N. Viet's ridge to ridge

SAIGON (UPI) - American Marines fought North Vietnamese regulars from ridge to ridge thousands of feet above the A Shau Valley yesterday and killed at least 105 Communists, including 41 who died in one clash while trying to save two big artillery pieces.

The Marines inched their way across the jagged mountain peaks 370 miles north east of Saigon in heat which did not drop below 100 degrees until dusk, UPI correspondent David Lamb reported.

Israel leaning toward diplomacy now

JERUSALEM (UPI) - Israel was reporting leaning toward diplomacy yesterday and not reprisals—"for the time being"—in dealing with the latest Arab attack on an Israeli airliner. But Defense Minister Moshe Dayan said if and when Israel does strike it will be the Arabs "in the place where it will hurt them most in the heart." In Beirut, Lebanon, headquarters of Arab terrorists, there was a rift being diagnosed in the press of the attack on the El Al jetliner last Tuesday in Zurich, Switzerland.

Mideast tension was further heightened by Iraq's announcement that it had executed seven men none of them Jews convicted of spying for Britain and Israel's statement that it may continue to supply arms to Mideast nations.

Highly placed sources in Jerusalem said that for the moment Israel will take action through diplomatic channels on the Zurich attack. A strong protest note was being prepared for submission to the United Nations General Assembly. Israel's previous raid on Beirut's International Airport for an earlier attack on an Israeli airliner brought U.N. condemnation.

Art Festival

The Black Arts Festival will open today with a film festival and an art exhibit, both featuring the works of prominent black artists. This is the first of three phases of the entire festival which in March will feature a drama festival of appearances by noted black literary figures. There will be two feature-length films screened in the Engineering Auditorium tonight at 7:00. These will be "Black Girl" and "Bitter," and "Nothing But a Man," to show the struggle of the black man. Following the films there will be a question and answer session.

The phase of the Black Arts Festival is being produced by Jynnie Productions, "A Brooklyn based film producing company," and focuses on the areas of education, communication, and stiltulate Black communications.

The exhibit will take place in the Art Gallery and will consist of photographs and works of graphic arts by six prominent black artists. There will also be displayed ten recently acquired posters from the Communist government of Cuba. The exhibit and the show during regular gallery hours, today through Sunday.

Tomorrow evening four documentaries will be shown at the same time and place. These include two on the lives of slain black martyrs Martin Luther King, Jr. ("The King Is Dead") and Malcolm X ("Midnight X, Struggle for Freedom"). The other two films will be "Black Panther" and "The Kill."
his community government idea was put into effect with its almost endless number of tri-partite committees and sub-committees, the student body believing it was a case of voice in College affairs. It took the non-renewal of the contracts of several of St. Mary's finest young teachers to teach the truth to them.

On levels where the weight is significant, the students found that community government somehow failed to include them. McGrath's disregard for the students proved that his idea of a "mature young woman" proved to be a pre-adolescent of about ten years of age. Unfortunately the price of that knowledge was high.

When the SMC students challenged the non-renewal of the instructors' contracts they had two goals in mind. The first, to obtain a reconsideration of the cases of the teachers involved by the Committee on Rank and Tenure with possible written recommendations from students, failed. And it was a shock to the students. But McGrath was completely within his legal rights. The students simply were extended no part in decision-making.

The second goal, the more important, long-range idea, is to place students in influential positions on such committees as the Rank and Tenure, and beyond that on other committees which determine academic and teacher policy.

The conduct of the SMC students in their determination of students in the decision-making in resolving contracts and in dealing with McGrath is to be praised. Notre Dame would do well to emulate the attitudes and procedures of the St. Mary's student body which showed a genuine concern for the future of their school.

After a year and a half, the St. Mary's student body has finally learned what Father McGrath and "community government" actually mean. When the first goal is lost, the second is very small.

In McGrath's letter, denying a re-examination of the faculty cases, he said the proposition of giving the students "a more formal voice in academic and faculty affairs is being studied." It had better be implemented.

To add insult to injury McGrath threatened immediate and irreversible action against any militant action of the student body—this to a student body which has never ever threatened a sit-in, and has indicated his willingness to negotiate with McGrath with as much wisdom and maturity as can be expected from any group. Father McGrath who was rude. Fortunately, in the near future the Student Affairs Committee will set a demonstrations policy which will include appeal.

We urge that the faculty and administration of St. Mary's include the students in its Committee on Rank and Tenure immediately. Major should be allowed to present their recommendations to that committee in just the manner the department heads do. And their recommendations should be included in the committee's report to McGrath. We see no reason why this cannot be implemented tomorrow.

The young women of St. Mary's have been cruelly enlightened in the past few days. They have proven themselves to be a mature group capable of accepting the responsibility of this community. To include them would help fulfill McGrath's purported ideal at St. Mary's. To do less would make community government a lie and McGrath a hypocrite.

The Honeymoon Is Over

In the wake of President Hesburgh's momentous ultimatum to would-be demonstrators at Notre Dame he has received the critical acclaim of preyed-upon administrators, teachers, editors and many others—a huge potpourri of Americans tired of "bead-wearin', pot-smokin' hippies."

One of his records has been an early morning appearance on the Today show at which time he brilliantly extemporized the goals and ideals upon which universities, in general, and Notre Dame, in particular, have been founded. He drew the sympathy and admiration of millions of television viewers—a laudable talent few possess, but at which Father Hesburgh excels.

No doubt he will be eulogized in the future for his role in the ugly scenes which surrounded the arrest and public release of some of the students, and will be given the credit for all the chaos which ensued. No doubt he will be eulogized in the future as number three against McNulty, the mindless administrator, whose role in the event was to do nothing, and whose only function is to keep the university from a state of chaos. This is a lie. He states that members of the university will be suspended from the community for "notfulfilling the demands of that this community, in the irrelevance of the education, and lack of connection with the university community. In his last issuance Hesburgh defended the McNulty's, the mindless administrators, who sold buttons in a box with town cowardly and wordly the students. This is the truth to the students.

The fighting will be all right, or at least Narucki, Hesburgh and the corp of Corby Hall bell-ringers will have their wish, and the university will be suspended from the community for a year and a half, or at least that is what Father Hesburgh, Hesburgh's lieutenant. In his last issuance Hesburgh defended the McNulty's, the mindless administrators, who sold buttons in a box with town cowardly and wordly the students. This is the truth to the students.

What was made clear is that Hesburgh will not tolerate interference nor violent interruption of university proceedings. How does he deny the actions of the administration in relation to the Pornography conference. Because of the pressure from a small group from South Bend, outsiders to the community, the administration had the films and the rest of the conference closed down. When a group of faculty and students decided to continue with the community function, the police entered the community, brutally assaulted members of the community, and seized university property. Hesburgh contends that the police acted without administration compliance, but how does he explain the fact that the officers who made the seizure were entertained at the Faculty Club prior to the bust, by presidents, Hesburgh's lieutenant. Hesburgh is either a fool or a hypocrite.

In his last issuance Hesburgh defended the McNulty's, the mindless administrators, who sold buttons in a box with town cowardly and wordly the students. This is the truth to the students. The fighting will be all right, or at least Narucki, Hesburgh and the corp of Corby Hall bell-ringers will have their wish, and the university will be suspended from the community for a year and a half, or at least that is what Father Hesburgh, Hesburgh's lieutenant. In his last issuance Hesburgh defended the McNulty's, the mindless administrators, who sold buttons in a box with town cowardly and wordly the students. This is the truth to the students.

In the wake of President Hesburgh's momentous ultimatum to would-be demonstrators at Notre Dame he has received the critical acclaim of preyed-upon administrators, teachers, editors and many others—a huge potpourri of Americans tired of "bead-wearin', pot-smokin' hippies."

One of his records has been an early morning appearance on the Today show at which time he brilliantly extemporized the goals and ideals upon which universities, in general, and Notre Dame, in particular, have been founded. He drew the sympathy and admiration of millions of television viewers—a laudable talent few possess, but at which Father Hesburgh excels.

No doubt he will be eulogized in the future for his role in the ugly scenes which surrounded the arrest and public release of some of the students, and will be given the credit for all the chaos which ensued. No doubt he will be eulogized in the future as number three against McNulty, the mindless administrator, whose role in the event was to do nothing, and whose only function is to keep the university from a state of chaos. This is a lie. He states that members of the university will be suspended from the community for "notfulfilling the demands of that this community, in the irrelevance of the education, and lack of connection with the university community. In his last issuance Hesburgh defended the McNulty's, the mindless administrators, who sold buttons in a box with town cowardly and wordly the students. This is the truth to the students.

The fighting will be all right, or at least Narucki, Hesburgh and the corp of Corby Hall bell-ringers will have their wish, and the university will be suspended from the community for a year and a half, or at least that is what Father Hesburgh, Hesburgh's lieutenant. In his last issuance Hesburgh defended the McNulty's, the mindless administrators, who sold buttons in a box with town cowardly and wordly the students. This is the truth to the students.
ND Sports: More athlete than student?

by Tim O'Malley

Last in a five part series

There are probably two great dangers in competing in intercollegiate athletics on the university level. The first is that one will be made primarily, if not wholly, at Notre Dame where virtually every member of the team is a member of an athletic team and large amounts of money are sunk into the sports. The lesser sports such as swimming, wrestling and golf give few grants-in-aid because they are neither as popular nor are they dependent upon money. Hockey is moving into the same sphere as athletics in Notre Dame because it seems to be sufficiently popular. Ticket manager Robert Cahill has been slightly disillusioned with the early turnovers for the hockey games but he expects it to establish itself shortly.

At any rate there is such a great premium is placed upon winning in football and basketball in order to attract scholars-scholar-athletes to the athletic program, the possibility of abuses creeping in increases. In order to have excellent teams the finest coaches having given best players recruited and a large amount of time spent practicing. The dangers that are an athlete will not get an education and that instead he will be a part-time student and a part-time athlete, the participation. That second possibility seems to have been eliminated here except on the part of the student athletes, who are almost impossible to check on.

However the education of his education is the direct responsibility of the university. Executive vice president Rev. Edmund Joyce, CSC, also chairman of the faculty board in control of athletics, has said, "We try to keep on top of this as much as possible." In order to do this more thoroughly Mechanical Engineering Professor Michael DeCicco has been placed in charge of checking the athletes on grants to make sure their academic records are in good shape.

"Father Joyce called me into his office four and a half years ago and said, 'Mike, I want you to go out with a number of the first year students, give them a little jig and you won't take so long for an answer. I am supposed to work closely with the coaches and the faculty in this regard and the range of professor's work.

DeCicco explained the workings of his office. "Nobody tells the admissions office who they will or will not accept but anyway I receive a list of the student athletes on grants. I accept July 1st I go over the academic profiles of the 35-40 scholar-athletes with Dean of the Freshman year William Burke. Together they review the high school backgrounds of the athletes, what they may be lacking and then set up a program or sort of program that the athlete will be able to fulfill.

During the first week of school the first year athletes from the football team are highlite to the study hall or tutoring program is primarily for freshmen, football players from the 1967 team had at least six credits ahead going into the season so

To make it a bit easier on the athletes in season many of them attend summer school in order to be in the three or six credits ahead into the season so that they may maintain their eligibility and still be able to compete for the game. All the colleges permit the athletes to do this provided that they will still be even with their class for the following fall for college, which DeCicco cannot understand. While two summers 10 athletes attended summer sessions here this year DeCicco expects at least three.

Last year the average of the scholarship athletes was slightly higher than the 2.81 so the previous year trailed by only .002. DeCicco admits that statistics mean little. Most of the athletes are liberal arts majors, although there is a few athletes in pre-med.

DeCicco said, "We have our black sheep, though. We just have to keep on top of them all the time. I know coaches have taken players to class just to make sure they get there."

Joyce concurred, "Sometimes we get a boy who will sit down in the third week and was not credited resulting in his having a deficient background. The first semester he gets the book thrown at him. Out of sheer determination some of them get through the freshman year.

The subject of "jock" courses was also discussed. One prominently mentioned was basketball coach Jake Kline's freshman math course. Kline's students, in fact, attended class four hours a week for three credits. There are several classes in both freshman English and math which are for students for have failed to achieve a 540 on their college board. Kline's one is one of them.

There has been speculation that some "jocks" are the grades without doing the work involved, "I think it works both ways," DeCicco said. In other words, for every Father Brenner who likes the athletes, there is a Father Hesburgh at DeCicco. The story of Terry Harrnatty during his sophomore year.

Notre Dame athletic report on the football season there were write-ups in both Time and Sports Illustrated. One of them said that Penn State's Joe Paterno wanted Harrnatty but he couldn't meet the entrance requirements. Consequently one of Harrnatty's teachers said that anyone in that situation couldn't pass his course. Harrnatty, a defensive back said that he cut 10 classes. They happened to be football Saturdays, holidays for when they players cancelled. It made no difference.

No matter what the stituation is here at Notre Dame,德育 both the student would be there always as well. As long as intercollegiate athletics involves such huge amounts of money and puts such a premium on winning there will always be some question whether there is reason for question of not.

Dear Mom,

Tom Ehrbar

Dear Mom,

I guess I've been a while since my last letter-a-woman, but I'll take this opportunity to tell you how I'm doing and what's on my mind in general. I've been looking backward, and I think you'd really enjoy the story if Aunt Mini or Grandpa call.

Well, Mom, until next Homecoming...

In regards to your question about what the SLC actually is, I too am awaiting an answer.

As a matter of fact, the guy sitting next to me in the SLC actually is, I too am awaiting an answer. As a matter of fact, the guy sitting next to me in the SLC actually is, I too am awaiting an answer. As a matter of fact, the guy sitting next to me in the SLC actually is, I too am awaiting an answer.

"Tommy's doing real fine.

Tommy PS - For some strange reason, my room-mate keeps avoiding me.

Well, Mom, until next Homecoming...
The Senior Fellow program will be upon us. Chairman Chuck Sheedy and his co-workers Mike Keefer, Craig Fenech, Thomas Alter, and Bill Devereux are very optimistic about the outcome of the seminar, in which Eugene McCarthy will be the guest. As Sheedy said, "The response has been overwhelming. I was rather surprised at the sincere interest of the class."

Senator McCarthy will arrive in South Bend before noon on Wednesday, March 5th. Shortly thereafter, he will attend a luncheon with SBP Richard Rosne, the president of the senior class, Sheedy, an official from the Administration, and approximately 15 seniors chosen by lottery from those who signed up for the program. Sheedy felt that "rather than have as busy Seniors as possible at the luncheon, it would be better to have a more limited number and have them get something out of it." Wednesday afternoon McCarthy will fill in for faculty members at their invitation. The times for the seminars will be 2:10 and 4:10. These will be in regularly scheduled classes which are comprised mainly of seniors and have been chosen from the College of Business and the College of Arts and Letters curriculum. The Senator will make a few opening remarks and then proceed to a question and answer period.

Fifteen additional seniors, again chosen by lottery, will join McCarthy for dinner in the Director room above the South Dining Hall. That night McCarthy, members of the faculty, and 75 members of the class of '69 will attend a reception at the Alumni Club. In addition to the opportunity afforded here to meet McCarthy, seniors will also be able to meet some of the people after whom they will be named.

McCarthy will also be copies of McCarthy's new anthology "AND TIME BEGAN."

When questioned on coverage by the New York Times, Sheedy responded, "overall coverage by newspapers and news magazines such as Time and Newsweek is encouraging. Newsmen will not be allowed in the seminars as it might inhibit the exchange between our Fellow and the students. Besides, a public press conference will be held around 3:00 p.m. on March 6th, at The Center for Continuing Education."

The purpose of the Senior Fellow program is perhaps best expressed by Senator McCarthy: "University students have the obligation, of course, to study and comprehend as far as possible the intellectual heritage of the past. They also must respond to the ideas and to the social and political events of the present to the great problems of man and peace, and such domestic issues as economic policy, civil rights and the urban crisis. Their very special concern must be the direction of American life at home and American influence in the world."
New biology hall Construction soon

Father Jerome J. Wilson, Vice President for Business Affairs, stated Saturday that the university has just received a federal grant of $1,200,000 to be used for the construction of a new biology building. The cost of this building, which will be located between the Computing Center and the Life Sciences Laboratory, will be about $4,627,000.

The estimated start of construction is sometime in the month of May. Since the university accepted a grant from the government, it must wait for the university's permission to allow contractors to place bids. It will be ten weeks before this content is given because the government must first give their permission to many other schools and universities which have also accepted government grants.

The federal grant came from two sources. The Indiana State Commission awarded the university $4,627,000, the money for the construction of the biology building, and the Department of Health, Education, and Welfare funded a portion of the project.

Conrad Gothic Heart Church, begun three and one half years ago and costing $6,000,000, is sizable and magnificent. Although the pews have all been finished, the pews have all been removed, and the altar platform is being extended. An acoustical system that adjusts loudness is being extended. An acoustical system that adjusts the speaker's voice and avoids feedback is planned. A new style of beer is Beechwood Aged; it's $1795. beer is one of those good things you cultivate a taste for...like olives, or scotch, or kumquats.

Renovation of church Proceeding as planned

The renovation of Sacred Heart Church, begun three and one half years ago and costing approximately $200,000, is proceeding.

The project is contracted by Conrad Schmitt Studios of Milwaukee and is under the direction of a dozen committee members, drawn from the membership of the church. The committee includes Father Carl Hager of the Music Department, Milwaukee, and is under the charge of business affairs, Vice-President Jerome Wilson, Wilson, who has already applied to the government's permission to many other schools and universities which have also accepted government grants.

The speaker's voice and avoids feedback is planned. A new style of beer is Beechwood Aged; it's $1795. beer is one of those good things you cultivate a taste for...like olives, or scotch, or kumquats.

Did you like beer the first time you tasted it?

A lot of people say no. They say beer is one of those good things you cultivate a taste for...like olives, or scotch, or kumquats.

Maybe. But we think it makes a difference which brand of beer we're talking about.

We think Budweiser is an exception to this "you've gotta get used to it" rule. It's so smooth. (You see, no other beer is Beechwood Aged; it's a costly way to brew beer, and it takes more time. But it works.)

So whether you're one of the few who has never tried beer, or a beer drinker who suddenly feels the urge to find out why so many people enjoy Budweiser, we think you'll like it.

From the very first taste.

Budweiser, is the King of Beers.

(But you know that.)
Johnny Dee, an instructing, nail-biting, cringing, pensive and sometimes mesmerized coach, produced Notre Dame's 90th win last night.

Everything is coming up Violets

Last night was fun night in the Fun City for Notre Dame's Fighting Irish. They ran roughshod over New York University 98-88 in Madison Square Garden to bring their record to 18-5. The victory was the 90th in Notre Dame's career, and gave the Irish a clear shot at the NCAA Tournament. Only nine other teams can boast more than 100 wins.

Keys to the Irish success for the third straight game were shooting, as ND approached 60% from the floor and 80% from the line. Austin Carr brought a bag-full of moves to the big city and delighted a crowd of 6,249 with his 25 hard-earned points. The Irish were actually in difficult in the first half, NYU's fine pair of guards, Jim Miller and Adolfo Porto, split the first ten Violets points for a 10-7 lead. Murphy caught the Violets with a jumper at 16:15, but Miller scored to regain the lead.

Notre Dame took over for good at 22:35, outscoring the NYU on a pass from Carr with slightly more than 7:00 left. The final 9:45 minutes of the half were spent shooting fouls, with the Irish pulling ahead 47-41. Carr paced the attack with 15 points and Whitmore added 11. Notre Dame shot 17-35-486. During the second half, the Irish put the clamps on the Violets and whipped them into submission. A 70-66 center Jim Signorello, while Arzen powered the second half with a pair of buckets. Meehan propelled ND out at a 60-49 margin and Arzen made it 65-51 at 12:00.

Some fine work by Porto kept the Violets in reach, but Coach Ron Timmons' Irish put the clamps on Miller and never let them get up to the plate. Irish win 98-88 as Arnzen scored 27 points.

The Irish shot 17-35-486. During the second half, the Irish put the clamps on the Violets and whipped them into submission. A 70-66 center Jim Signorello, while Arzen powered the second half with a pair of buckets. Meehan propelled ND out at a 60-49 margin and Arzen made it 65-51 at 12:00. The Irish put the clamps on Miller and never let them get up to the plate. Irish win 98-88 as Arnzen scored 27 points.

A Rochesten coach ROCHESTER, N.Y. (UPI) "Pat" Stark, who set three passing records at the end of last season.

Notre Dame's Athletic and Convocation Center will be the scene of the 43rd annual Central Collegiate Conference indoor track and field championships Friday and Saturday. The two-mile will go off at 2:45 p.m. Saturday. Carr made his first start of the season in the two-mile last weekend. Against Southern Illinois and Oklahoma State but dropped out with five laps to go because of an injury to his ankle.

The two-mile will go off at 2:45 p.m. Saturday. Carr made his first start of the season in the two-mile last weekend. Against Southern Illinois and Oklahoma State but dropped out with five laps to go because of an injury to his ankle.

A Rochesten coach ROCHESTER, N.Y. (UPI) "Pat" Stark, who set three passing records at the end of last season.

The two-mile will go off at 2:45 p.m. Saturday. Carr made his first start of the season in the two-mile last weekend. Against Southern Illinois and Oklahoma State but dropped out with five laps to go because of an injury to his ankle.

Coach Bob Timmons' team announced, at a news conference.

Some fine work by Porto kept the Violets in reach, but Coach Ron Timmons' Irish put the clamps on Miller and never let them get up to the plate. Irish win 98-88 as Arnzen scored 27 points.

Johnny Dee, an instructing, nail-biting, cringing, pensive and sometimes mesmerized coach, produced Notre Dame's 90th win last night.

Everything is coming up Violets

Last night was fun night in the Fun City for Notre Dame's Fighting Irish. They ran roughshod over New York University 98-88 in Madison Square Garden to bring their record to 18-5. The victory was the 90th in Notre Dame's career, and gave the Irish a clear shot at the NCAA Tournament. Only nine other teams can boast more than 100 wins.

Keys to the Irish success for the third straight game were shooting, as ND approached 60% from the floor and 80% from the line. Austin Carr brought a bag-full of moves to the big city and delighted a crowd of 6,249 with his 25 hard-earned points. The Irish were actually in difficult in the first half, NYU's fine pair of guards, Jim Miller and Adolfo Porto, split the first ten Violets points for a 10-7 lead. Murphy caught the Violets with a jumper at 16:15, but Miller scored to regain the lead.

Notre Dame took over for good at 22:35, outscoring the NYU on a pass from Carr with slightly more than 7:00 left. The final 9:45 minutes of the half were spent shooting fouls, with the Irish pulling ahead 47-41. Carr paced the attack with 15 points and Whitmore added 11. Notre Dame shot 17-35-486. During the second half, the Irish put the clamps on the Violets and whipped them into submission. A 70-66 center Jim Signorello, while Arzen powered the second half with a pair of buckets. Meehan propelled ND out at a 60-49 margin and Arzen made it 65-51 at 12:00. The Irish put the clamps on Miller and never let them get up to the plate. Irish win 98-88 as Arnzen scored 27 points.

Johnny Dee, an instructing, nail-biting, cringing, pensive and sometimes mesmerized coach, produced Notre Dame's 90th win last night.

Everything is coming up Violets

Last night was fun night in the Fun City for Notre Dame's Fighting Irish. They ran roughshod over New York University 98-88 in Madison Square Garden to bring their record to 18-5. The victory was the 90th in Notre Dame's career, and gave the Irish a clear shot at the NCAA Tournament. Only nine other teams can boast more than 100 wins.

Keys to the Irish success for the third straight game were shooting, as ND approached 60% from the floor and 80% from the line. Austin Carr brought a bag-full of moves to the big city and delighted a crowd of 6,249 with his 25 hard-earned points. The Irish were actually in difficult in the first half, NYU's fine pair of guards, Jim Miller and Adolfo Porto, split the first ten Violets points for a 10-7 lead. Murphy caught the Violets with a jumper at 16:15, but Miller scored to regain the lead.

Notre Dame took over for good at 22:35, outscoring the NYU on a pass from Carr with slightly more than 7:00 left. The final 9:45 minutes of the half were spent shooting fouls, with the Irish pulling ahead 47-41. Carr paced the attack with 15 points and Whitmore added 11. Notre