The University of Illinois Jazz Band, for the third year in a row and the fourth year in the last six, won the Best Overall Jazz Group award at the 1969 Notre Dame Collegiate Jazz Festival. For their efforts they won the Benny Goodman trophy and a six, won the Best Overall Jazz Ball Bridgewater quintet from Michigan, and big bands from Case Western Reserve and the University of Northern Iowa. All finalist groups received trophies, cash awards, and sets of music stands.

Illinois also went heavy on the individual awards. Outstanding Instrumentalist of the Festival was Cecil Bridgewater of U. of I., who also won a Flugelhorn as the Outstanding Trumpet Soloist. Best Composer was Jim Knapp, another Illinois trumpeter. Best Saxophonist, for the second straight year, was Andy Goodrich of Michigan State, who received a $500 saxophone amplifier. A special plaque was awarded to tenor saxophonist Ron Dewar of Illinois. Other individual awards were Best Flute, Warren Jones of Ball State, who won a gold-plated flute; Best Trombonist, Dave Pavliska of Ball State, who has now won the award three straight years; Best Pianist, Ron Elston of Illinois, who won a Garrard turntable; Best Big Band Bassist, John Monaghan of Illinois; Best Combo Bassist, Wayne Darling of Ball State; Best Big Band Drummer, Chuck Brancham of Illinois, who won a set of drums and cymbals; Best Combo Drummer, Billy Parker of Michigan State, who won a set of cymbals; and Best Miscellaneous Instrumentalist, Louis Smith of Michigan State. The judges created a category of Most Promising Soloist in recognition of the performance of Alto Saxophonist Charles Barone of Case Western Reserve.

The promotional efforts of the CJF committee have put the Festival in the black financially for the first time in its eleven-year history. Chairman Greg Mullen said, "Attendance was up way over previous years. I was happy to see a greater response from the ND student body, but many students here don't realize the national significance of this event. Also they are often turned off by the motorette sound of the word "jazz." Once they come, they realize that the groups are tremendously exciting, and that the Festival is real. The important thing is not the financial but the musical success of the weekend.

Rossie to speak at the local police symposium

"The Role of Police in the "Period of Transition", is the title of a day long symposium sponsored by the South Bend Police Department, to be held on March 19. Assistant Chief of Police, Loren Bussert, estimated that 250 law enforcement agencies from within a 150 mile radius of South Bend have been invited to attend this symposium held at Bethel College. Student Body President J. Richard Rossie will be a speaker at the symposium.

Bussert said that the purpose of this symposium was "to identify the problems of society by the South Bend Police Department, to be held on March 19. Assistant Chief of Police, Loren Bussert, estimated that 250 law enforcement agencies from within a 150 mile radius of South Bend have been invited to attend this symposium held at Bethel College. Student Body President J. Richard Rossie will be a speaker at the symposium.

The backbone of the symposium will be three panel discussions that will attempt to identify the problems of society, followed by a concluding lecture by Donald H. Riddle, President of John J. College in New York City. The purpose of this concluding talk will be the adaptation of the role of police in the society that has been identified.

The three panel discussions will cover the following topics: Urban Crisis, Politics of Confrontation, and Anomone and Civil Rights. Of principal interest is the panel discussion of the politics of confrontation. SHP J. Richard Rossie has been invited to be on the panel to represent the student viewpoint. Two other panelists will be Dean Lawless, and County Prosecutor William Voor.

"This discussion," said the Assistant Chief, "will center on three main issues: to identify the philosophy that encourages and permits demonstrations against established law, to examine the right of citizens to violate the law and their further right to resist prosecution, and to determine the degree of force that is allowable in establishing the social equilibrium within a constitutional democracy."

CIF THANKS THE STAGE CREW FOR A FINE PERFORMANCE

You'll never get anywhere without it.

Nothing helps a young engineer's career like being given a challenge.
Which is another way of saying a chance to fail now and then. To make his own mistakes.

At Western Electric we give our newly recruited engineers responsibility almost immediately. They make their own decisions. Learn from their own errors.

You make it right!

Ice playoffs carded

Morrissey Hall posted an 11-2 record to win regular season honors in the ND indoor hockey league. Morrissey’s 24 points provided a five-point margin over second place Howard, with 19 points. Off Campus took third place, Zahn and Farley tied for third, and Sadowski finished sixth.

In the playoffs, Morrissey and Howard will play a 2-of-3 game series with the winner advancing right to the finals. The middle four teams in the standings will play quarterfinal and semifinal 2-of-3 game series to determine the other finalist. The championship will be a 4-of-7 game series.

Last Tuesday,

- Morrissey fought off a stubborn Travanca team and took a 4-1 playoff decision.
  - Greg Kacz, who has been the league’s leading scorer, clinched the match for Morrissey with a last-minute go-ahead. Wednesday night, Farley upset Howard 8-4 as Dick Leubbe and John McCarthy each scored twice.

On Friday, Zahn completed the first round of playoff games by dumping Off Campus 7-4. Gerry McPartland produced a three-goal “hat trick” for the victors.

ND sprinter Bill Hurd was eliminated in the semifinals of the 60-yard dash, won by Olympian John Carlos. Irish high jumper Ed freshman won the high jump at 6-8 before Florida’s Ron Jourdan won the event at 7-0.
