Michelson: to resist the revolution is to resist humanistic virtues

By John Simone

The Conference on White Racism opened last night in the Student Center. In the panel discussion were: University President Fr. Hesburgh, William Turner, a black sociologist from the Department of English, Prof. Bernard Notley of the history dept., and Arthur McFarland, president of the Afro-American Society. Prof. McFarland commented on the revolution that is taking place in America. He said, "The elements on revolution articulate themselves by looking back in history, on the side of the minorities, black, yellow... or white man."

He also stated that the revolution is a humanistic revolution, and he said that "to resist the revolution is to resist humanistic virtue and the simple facts stated in the Declaration of Independence and the constitution." The humanist no longer gives the Black anything, he declared, namely "the gift of Civil Rights." He also said that "we must do it to prepare a climate for the Black revolution to find its way." Arthur McFarland, professor of the Afro-American Society, said that racism is ingrained in American institutions that try to protect the status quo. He stated that "the effort to assimilate the blacks into society dehumanizes the blacks." McFarland continued, "I have failed."

"Integration," Fr. Hesburgh's policy on student demonstrations came under attack. Turner stated, "If we are to be the ones who have to apply pressure to those in administrative positions as you say, how can we do this if we have 15 minutes to meditate?" Fr. Hesburgh replied, "I think that something must be wrong at Notre Dame if we have to do that in order to get things done."

"Integration," he declared, namely "the gift of Civil Rights." He also said that "we must do it to prepare a climate for the Black revolution to find its way." Arthur McFarland, professor of the Afro-American Society, said that racism is ingrained in American institutions that try to protect the status quo. He stated that "the effort to assimilate the blacks into society dehumanizes the blacks." McFarland continued, "I have failed."

Although there will be no Presidential Review next fall, this year, (and speculation that its cancellation was due at least partially to fear of a repeat of last year's incident) the debate over ROTC training here and on many other campuses has grown in its intensity, at times with violent results. Several major colleges and universities have revoked academic credit for ROTC while many others which do not currently have such programs have applied to the Department of Defense to bring ROTC to their campus.

The Academic Council of the College of Arts and Letters is currently investigating the ROTC program here with a mind to possibly recommending it to the Faculty Senate that it discredit all courses offered by the three detachments. Although opponents of such a move are confident that they have the necessary votes to defeat the action, it has caused grave concern and moderate reaction on the part of students opposed.

"Integration," he declared, namely "the gift of Civil Rights." He also said that "we must do it to prepare a climate for the Black revolution to find its way." Arthur McFarland, professor of the Afro-American Society, said that racism is ingrained in American institutions that try to protect the status quo. He stated that "the effort to assimilate the blacks into society dehumanizes the blacks." McFarland continued, "I have failed."
ND-SMC to combine Theology

By Ann Conway
St. Mary's professors, Mr. Theodore Hengenbach and Mr. Harold Weiss, will teach their courses at both St. Mary's and Notre Dame, as will Fr. Robert Nogosek, Fr. Luke Miranda, and Fr. Joseph Holman of the Notre Dame Theology Department. The idea behind the teacher exchange, according to Fr. Burtchall, is "to facilitate and encourage the idea of mixture between the two schools."

St. Mary's professors also agreed that "this close co-op between the two departments does not mean of merger of the two." Major courses prescribed by both departments will be offered. Those courses will also be given at Notre Dame again. The idea behind the teaching of the courses at both schools, according to Fr. Burtchall, is to "facilitate and encourage the idea of mixture between the two schools." A previous vote taken in sections proved to be too out of balance to represent the true opinion of the hall. In that vote, most sections went the way their section leaders presented their opinions. In Thursday's vote, section leaders simply took the vote with no discussion or argument at persuasion. The hall constitution with the result of the referendum included has been sent to the Hall Life Board for approval.

Theology Department as a result of losing those professors at the end of this academic year, but with the addition of the professors from Notre Dame hopes that it will be possible to build up the St. Mary's Theology Department again.

Dillon okays parietals

Dillon Hall residents passed a referendum on parietals last Thursday night. Dillon was the last hall to accept parietal hours as laid down in the Hall Life Bill. A previous vote taken in sections proved to be too out of balance to represent the true opinion of the hall. In that vote, most sections went the way their section leaders presented their opinions. In Thursday's vote, section leaders simply took the vote with no discussion or argument at persuasion. The hall constitution with the result of the referendum included has been sent to the Hall Life Board for approval.

St. Mary's professors, Mr. Theodore Hengenbach and Mr. Harold Weiss, will teach their courses at both St. Mary's and Notre Dame, as will Fr. Robert Nogosek, Fr. Luke Miranda, and Fr. Joseph Holman of the Notre Dame Theology Department. The idea behind the teacher exchange, according to Fr. Burtchall, is "to facilitate and encourage the idea of mixture between the two schools." St. Mary's professors also agreed that "this close co-op between the two departments does not mean of merger of the two." Major courses prescribed by both departments will be offered. Those courses will also be given at Notre Dame again. The idea behind the teaching of the courses at both schools, according to Fr. Burtchall, is to "facilitate and encourage the idea of mixture between the two schools." A previous vote taken in sections proved to be too out of balance to represent the true opinion of the hall. In that vote, most sections went the way their section leaders presented their opinions. In Thursday's vote, section leaders simply took the vote with no discussion or argument at persuasion. The hall constitution with the result of the referendum included has been sent to the Hall Life Board for approval.

Theology Department as a result of losing those professors at the end of this academic year, but with the addition of the professors from Notre Dame hopes that it will be possible to build up the St. Mary's Theology Department again.

Dillon okays parietals

Dillon Hall residents passed a referendum on parietals last Thursday night. Dillon was the last hall to accept parietal hours as laid down in the Hall Life Bill. A previous vote taken in sections proved to be too out of balance to represent the true opinion of the hall. In that vote, most sections went the way their section leaders presented their opinions. In Thursday's vote, section leaders simply took the vote with no discussion or argument at persuasion. The hall constitution with the result of the referendum included has been sent to the Hall Life Board for approval.

St. Mary's professors, Mr. Theodore Hengenbach and Mr. Harold Weiss, will teach their courses at both St. Mary's and Notre Dame, as will Fr. Robert Nogosek, Fr. Luke Miranda, and Fr. Joseph Holman of the Notre Dame Theology Department. The idea behind the teacher exchange, according to Fr. Burtchall, is "to facilitate and encourage the idea of mixture between the two schools." St. Mary's professors also agreed that "this close co-op between the two departments does not mean of merger of the two." Major courses prescribed by both departments will be offered. Those courses will also be given at Notre Dame again. The idea behind the teaching of the courses at both schools, according to Fr. Burtchall, is to "facilitate and encourage the idea of mixture between the two schools." A previous vote taken in sections proved to be too out of balance to represent the true opinion of the hall. In that vote, most sections went the way their section leaders presented their opinions. In Thursday's vote, section leaders simply took the vote with no discussion or argument at persuasion. The hall constitution with the result of the referendum included has been sent to the Hall Life Board for approval.

Theology Department as a result of losing those professors at the end of this academic year, but with the addition of the professors from Notre Dame hopes that it will be possible to build up the St. Mary's Theology Department again.

Dillon okays parietals

Dillon Hall residents passed a referendum on parietals last Thursday night. Dillon was the last hall to accept parietal hours as laid down in the Hall Life Bill. A previous vote taken in sections proved to be too out of balance to represent the true opinion of the hall. In that vote, most sections went the way their section leaders presented their opinions. In Thursday's vote, section leaders simply took the vote with no discussion or argument at persuasion. The hall constitution with the result of the referendum included has been sent to the Hall Life Board for approval.

St. Mary's professors, Mr. Theodore Hengenbach and Mr. Harold Weiss, will teach their courses at both St. Mary's and Notre Dame, as will Fr. Robert Nogosek, Fr. Luke Miranda, and Fr. Joseph Holman of the Notre Dame Theology Department. The idea behind the teacher exchange, according to Fr. Burtchall, is "to facilitate and encourage the idea of mixture between the two schools." St. Mary's professors also agreed that "this close co-op between the two departments does not mean of merger of the two." Major courses prescribed by both departments will be offered. Those courses will also be given at Notre Dame again. The idea behind the teaching of the courses at both schools, according to Fr. Burtchall, is to "facilitate and encourage the idea of mixture between the two schools." A previous vote taken in sections proved to be too out of balance to represent the true opinion of the hall. In that vote, most sections went the way their section leaders presented their opinions. In Thursday's vote, section leaders simply took the vote with no discussion or argument at persuasion. The hall constitution with the result of the referendum included has been sent to the Hall Life Board for approval.

Theology Department as a result of losing those professors at the end of this academic year, but with the addition of the professors from Notre Dame hopes that it will be possible to build up the St. Mary's Theology Department again.

Dillon okays parietals

Dillon Hall residents passed a referendum on parietals last Thursday night. Dillon was the last hall to accept parietal hours as laid down in the Hall Life Bill. A previous vote taken in sections proved to be too out of balance to represent the true opinion of the hall. In that vote, most sections went the way their section leaders presented their opinions. In Thursday's vote, section leaders simply took the vote with no discussion or argument at persuasion. The hall constitution with the result of the referendum included has been sent to the Hall Life Board for approval.

St. Mary's professors, Mr. Theodore Hengenbach and Mr. Harold Weiss, will teach their courses at both St. Mary's and Notre Dame, as will Fr. Robert Nogosek, Fr. Luke Miranda, and Fr. Joseph Holman of the Notre Dame Theology Department. The idea behind the teacher exchange, according to Fr. Burtchall, is "to facilitate and encourage the idea of mixture between the two schools." St. Mary's professors also agreed that "this close co-op between the two departments does not mean of merger of the two." Major courses prescribed by both departments will be offered. Those courses will also be given at Notre Dame again. The idea behind the teaching of the courses at both schools, according to Fr. Burtchall, is to "facilitate and encourage the idea of mixture between the two schools." A previous vote taken in sections proved to be too out of balance to represent the true opinion of the hall. In that vote, most sections went the way their section leaders presented their opinions. In Thursday's vote, section leaders simply took the vote with no discussion or argument at persuasion. The hall constitution with the result of the referendum included has been sent to the Hall Life Board for approval.

Theology Department as a result of losing those professors at the end of this academic year, but with the addition of the professors from Notre Dame hopes that it will be possible to build up the St. Mary's Theology Department again.
ROTTC shoots for scholastic prowess

continued from page 1

Instructors assigned to duty here.

Dennis B. McCarthy

We would be remiss, however, if we did not extend our congratulations to for subduing this ferocious uncooperative bachelor. We concede this long and bitter battle to you, Beth, and your St. Mary’s cohorts. Out-fought, out-maneuvered and out-smarted the irresistible Irishman has betrayed our code and asked for your hand in marriage.

BETH ANN BROWN

The Olympic Bachelor Committee

ANNOUNCEMENT

The Olympic Bachelor Committee regrets to announce the passing of one of its eminent members from its ranks. We join with thousands of bachelors across the land in expressing our deep sorrow and sense of loss at the engagement of

ATTENTION SENIORS

COMMONWEALTH COLLEGE BUILDER COSTS LESS!

If you have not turned 22 before

Jan. 1, 1969, here is what you would pay for our COLLEGE BUILDER PLAN:

- 10,000 Life Paid up at 65 $13.41/mo.
- 15,000 Life Paid up at 65 $18.56/mo.

Included in that price you have the following benefits:

- Accidental death ..................................................... 3 times face amount
- Travel Accident ......................................................... 4 times face amount
- Loss of one limb ......................................................... face amount
- Loss of two limbs ......................................................... face amount
- Loss of one eye ......................................................... face amount
- Loss of both eyes ......................................................... face amount
- Face amount (waiver of premiums)

Return of all premiums if death occurs in first 20 years of policy

Driving Range

Par 3 Golf Course

Miniature Golf Course

Open – Day & Night
(weather permitting)

Playland Golf Center

1700 Lincoln Way East
South Bend, Ind.
Phone 288-0033

ATTENTION SENIORS

COMMONWEALTH COLLEGE BUILDER COSTS LESS!

If you have not turned 22 before

Jan. 1, 1969, here is what you would pay for our COLLEGE BUILDER PLAN:

- 10,000 Life Paid up at 65 $13.41/mo.
- 15,000 Life Paid up at 65 $18.56/mo.

Included in that price you have the following benefits:

- Accidental death ..................................................... 3 times face amount
- Travel Accident ......................................................... 4 times face amount
- Loss of one limb ......................................................... face amount
- Loss of two limbs ......................................................... face amount
- Loss of one eye ......................................................... face amount
- Loss of both eyes ......................................................... face amount
- Face amount (waiver of premiums)

Return of all premiums if death occurs in first 20 years of policy

Blow Yourself Up

Poster Size

To

3 x 4

$5.00

PHOTO POSTER, inc.

2416 East Avenue, MISHAWAKA IN

Phone: 445-OHIO

Deadline: 6 p.m., Thurs., April 24

BE A SWINGER!

and own your own Polaroid!

It's easy, just pick up your own

SCRIPTO Pen at the BOOKSTORE and receive lucky number from the cashier.

The 3rd Drawing will be held April 28!
Tennis squad wins

by Pete Bruderer

Observer sports writer

Tom Fallon's netmen spent a productive day on the courts Sunday, coaxing to consecutive victories over Marquette and DePaul. Marquette succumbed 8-1 in the morning while DePaul took it on the chin 9-0 later in the afternoon.

Against Marquette the Irish took all six singles matches, with Jim Faught and Tim Whiting each posting 6-0, 6-6 wins. The only loss for Notre Dame came in one doubles match, otherwise Marquette never really threatened.

With DePaul it was more of the same for Fallon's forces. Number one and two men Bernie LeSage and Mike Reilly each weathered through their singles matches and then combined for an easy 6-0, 6-2 win in the doubles.

Bob "The Bouncer" O'Malley turned in a 6-0, 6-1 win in the singles and came back with Tim Whiting for a mopping 6-4, 6-1 victory in the doubles.

The Irish are now 2-1 on the season but the competition stiffens in the next few weeks. Four of the five upcoming matches will be against Big Ten squads.

Defense shines in scrimmage

Quarterback Joe Theismann scored one touchdown and passed for another as Notre Dame outscored Michigan State 17-6 in a scrimmage of the spring season. The contest featured various combinations of the three offensive and defensive units pitted against each other with the defense getting the upper hand most of the way.

With a sizeable crowd on the sidelines at Carrier Field on Saturday afternoon, on the number one offense scored three times on the number three defense with Theismann scoring on a nifty 19 yard run. Fullback Jeff Zimmerman bullied in twice from short range.

The best of the early performances belonged to the coaches. During the struggle, several of them stood behind the different units with charts in hand. They constantly yelled and many times swore at their charges, to the delight of the crowd. They somehow managed to keep it all out of the way of the action.

Not all the quickness however, was on the field. Precariously perched an end-run away from oblivion, the sideline crowd was forced to put together several long moves to keep alive.

After the early scores, the defense took over. The number one unit, led by Mike McCoy (someone had him and Theismann in mind when he coined the phrase "opposite ends of the spectrum"), was immovable. Tom Nash blocked a punt and Tim Kelly and Don Reid had interceptions to blunt the other offenses. Reserved defender Clarence Ellis also pilfered a pass.

Theismann returned to the field to face a stiffer defense and managed to dent it with a long TD pass. After scrambling away from defenders and shaking out coaches, he found Ed Ziegler, who took the ball in to complete a 63-yard play. The longest effort of the day, however, was an 84-yard touchdown run by Jim Yoder, who broke seven tackles.

Tom Gateswood, a much-touted newcomer, injured his knee during warm-ups and was taken to the dressing room. The approximate line-ups for the top three units:

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Position</th>
<th>Name</th>
<th>Team</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>Quarterback</td>
<td>Joe Theismann</td>
<td>Notre Dame</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Running Back</td>
<td>Jeff Zimmerman</td>
<td>Notre Dame</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Wide Receiver</td>
<td>Jim Yoder</td>
<td>Notre Dame</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

ND splits doublebill

The Irish couldn't improve on their season record this past Saturday as they split a doubleheader with Bowling Green. Both games were well-pitched shutouts.

The opener saw Ron Wellman and Mike Reilly combine for one in doubles. If Fallon's forces, sparked the Irish to drubbings of Marquette and DePaul, which won two singles matches and collaborated for one in doubles.

---

Is This Your Number? 304967

If so, come to the Bookstore with your stub and collect your Polaroid Camera any day between 9 and 5.