McKenna relates plans for today's Trustees meeting

by Tim O'Meillia

Student Body President Philip McKenna revealed his plans for today's Board of Trustees meeting to a Coalition for Political Action meeting last night in Niewland Science Hall.

The CPA also announced preliminary plans for activities scheduled for the October 15 Vietnam Moratorium.

McKenna explained that these requests were not considered the most important thing to be treated this year "so that's why we presented them as proposals."

"This is not the time nor the place for any tremendous bud-bud, but sooner or later, we will not ask any longer," McKenna said.

Pat Barbolla announced that the student government on McKenna's proposals.

Senior Ed Roickle announced that he had drafted a proposal which is in a draft at Monday's Student Life Coun cil meeting requesting that University classes be suspended on October 15 to observe the Vietnam Moratorium.

Brian McInerney recounted action already taken by various bodies preparing for the moratorium.

Barbolla said and all student groups at Notre Dame.

He also announced a list of speakers who will appear during the week prior to the moratorium.

New York Senator Charles Goodell, who recently called for a complete A. B. D. N. Q. C. in Vietnam by December of 1970, will speak October 10 at 3 p.m. in the Stieran Center.

Archbishop John Fromm, author of "Honest to God," will be on campus through the Wednesday moratorium date and on Tuesday night prior to the moratorium, pacific David Bennett, one of the Chicago Eight currently on trial, will speak.

Some of the activities already planned for the Wednesday in- clude a teach-in by the theology majors, continuous showings of anti-war films, a "Peace March to the War," and a rally and a mass.

McInerney also said prayer meetings will be held in seven churches in and around South Bend including a complete read- ing of the Magnificat in the halls of the county courthouse in South Bend.

Also announced were prelimi- nary plans for the two-day Traynor Peace Conference, an important movement in Washin- gton. Peace TVarians will march single file from Arlington Church to the White House in Washington, D.C., each person bearing the name of one war veteran, the ashes of one veteran. This will be deposited in a large coffin in front of the White House.

Seabrooks rejects all labels

by Mark Walbran

"One interview with me will dispel any ideas of 'window dressing,' placation, or 'tokenism' neither on the part of Notre Dame's administration nor on the part of the student body," Seabrooks said.

After completing his undergraduate work at Willamette University in Oregon, Seabrooks earned a Masters degree at Wayne State University in Detroit. Presently he is a Ph.D. in guidance and counseling.

Seabrooks spent two years teaching and counseling handicapped children in the inner cities in New York, Philadelphia, Washington, D.C., and Detroit under "de facto" conditions.

More recently Seabrooks has counseled disadvantaged stu- dents in higher education. Before coming to Notre Dame he was involved in recruitment selection and counseling of stu- dents at a consortium of institu- tions in Iowa, including Luther, Waldorf, Parsons, Upper Iowa, Wartburg, and Dubuque.

"We are powerless. The SLC is the only decision-making body we have a say in," said McKenna.

"The University is moving away from us. The administration has left us off on some tangent," he continued.

"We do not think that the administration takes priority over the develop- ment of the student and any institution is not an idea that is not surviving at all."

"I don't think that the meeting was fruitful to any extent," he said.

Clark believed that the main- tainment of the student and the administration could be an issue. The administration could air its views. "Our main concern at the ses- sion was that the students were very honest and sincere with the president. We would like him to involve himself with the students and faculty."

"We laid our cards on the table. I wish I could say the same for the administration," he said.

"The three student leaders also commented on Hesburgh's ex- tended absence from Notre Dame.

"Hesburgh may put as much emphasis on an any other university president but he's inacces-sorable," answered Clark.

"Often you have to go to the top to get a definite answer." he added.

"We feel that the Presi- dent is definitely not in touch with the mainstream of student thought and problems."

"I would like to see him around more," said McKenna. "Among Notre Dame's greatest problem," he commented. "I would like to see him involve himself with the students and faculty."

No direct results from Hesburgh's conference

by Dave Fromm

Three of the student leaders who met Wednesday with Father Hesburgh commented yesterday on the value of the session. The three concurred that the three hour conference will yield no direct results.

"It was a good dialogue session - but I'm afraid it didn't accomplish much," said Student body President Phil McKenna.

"We seem to be talking on two different levels at all times. The administration can't comprehend our feelings."

"It was very meaningful," said President Hesburgh.

"The student leaders were very realistic and honest with the administrative council." Clark believed that the main- tainment of the student and the administration could be an issue. The administration could air its views. "Our main concern at the ses- sion was that the students were very honest and sincere with the president. We would like him to involve himself with the students and faculty."

McKenna's administration couldn't do much of anything if the student leaders didn't have a say in," said McKenna.

"The University is moving away from us. The administration has left us off on some tangent," he continued.

"We do not think that the administration takes priority over the develop- ment of the student and any institution is not an idea that is not surviving at all."

"Hesburgh may put as much emphasis on an any other university president but he's inacces-sorable," answered Clark.

"Often you have to go to the top to get a definite answer." he added.

"We feel that the Presi- dent is definitely not in touch with the mainstream of student thought and problems."

"I would like to see him around more," said McKenna. "Among Notre Dame's greatest problem," he commented. "I would like to see him involve himself with the students and faculty."

"We laid our cards on the table. I wish I could say the same for the administration," he said.

"The three student leaders also commented on Hesburgh's ex- tend absence from Notre Dame.

"Hesburgh may put as much emphasis on an any other university president but he's inacces-sorable," answered Clark.

"Often you have to go to the top to get a definite answer." he added.

"We feel that the Presi- dent is definitely not in touch with the mainstream of student thought and problems."

"I would like to see him around more," said McKenna. "Among Notre Dame's greatest problem," he commented. "I would like to see him involve himself with the students and faculty."

"We laid our cards on the table. I wish I could say the same for the administration," he said.

"The three student leaders also commented on Hesburgh's ex- tended absence from Notre Dame.

"Hesburgh may put as much emphasis on an any other university president but he's inacces-sorable," answered Clark.

"Often you have to go to the top to get a definite answer." he added.

"We feel that the Presi- dent is definitely not in touch with the mainstream of student thought and problems."

"I would like to see him around more," said McKenna. "Among Notre Dame's greatest problem," he commented. "I would like to see him involve himself with the students and faculty."

"We laid our cards on the table. I wish I could say the same for the administration," he said.

"The three student leaders also commented on Hesburgh's ex- tended absence from Notre Dame.

"Hesburgh may put as much emphasis on an any other university president but he's inacces-sorable," answered Clark.

"Often you have to go to the top to get a definite answer." he added.

"We feel that the Presi- dent is definitely not in touch with the mainstream of student thought and problems."

"I would like to see him around more," said McKenna. "Among Notre Dame's greatest problem," he commented. "I would like to see him involve himself with the students and faculty."

"We laid our cards on the table. I wish I could say the same for the administration," he said.

"The three student leaders also commented on Hesburgh's ex- tended absence from Notre Dame.

"Hesburgh may put as much emphasis on an any other university president but he's inacces-sorable," answered Clark.

"Often you have to go to the top to get a definite answer." he added.

"We feel that the Presi- dent is definitely not in touch with the mainstream of student thought and problems."

"I would like to see him around more," said McKenna. "Among Notre Dame's greatest problem," he commented. "I would like to see him involve himself with the students and faculty."

"We laid our cards on the table. I wish I could say the same for the administration," he said.

"The three student leaders also commented on Hesburgh's ex- tended absence from Notre Dame.

"Hesburgh may put as much emphasis on an any other university president but he's inacces-sorable," answered Clark.

"Often you have to go to the top to get a definite answer." he added.

"We feel that the Presi- dent is definitely not in touch with the mainstream of student thought and problems."

"I would like to see him around more," said McKenna. "Among Notre Dame's greatest problem," he commented. "I would like to see him involve himself with the students and faculty."

"We laid our cards on the table. I wish I could say the same for the administration," he said.

"The three student leaders also commented on Hesburgh's ex- tended absence from Notre Dame.

"Hesburgh may put as much emphasis on an any other university president but he's inacces-sorable," answered Clark.

"Often you have to go to the top to get a definite answer." he added.

"We feel that the Presi- dent is definitely not in touch with the mainstream of student thought and problems."

"I would like to see him around more," said McKenna. "Among Notre Dame's greatest problem," he commented. "I would like to see him involve himself with the students and faculty."

"We laid our cards on the table. I wish I could say the same for the administration," he said.
SMC prefers council system to junior class officer

Wednesday evening the Junior Class of Saint Mary's held their first class meeting. The purpose of the meeting was to determine if the juniors wanted to be recognized as a class in a governmental structure or not. Three proposals were introduced by Junior class president Karen Schultz:
1) to retain the traditional class offices of president, vice-president, secretary and treasurer;
2) to adopt a council form government with Karen as chairman in which the members would represent floors in McCandless and LeMans where their class is located, or
3) to adopt a "no structure" government in which Karen would remain as the representative head with a group of interested juniors to guide the class in the year's activities.

Out of the ninety-two girls present at the meeting, nine voted for class officers, fifty-seven voted for the class council, and twenty-one voted for the "no structure" plan.

As the council form was adopted, Karen stressed that it would be a distinctive body from those established previously. With it the Junior Class President plans to accomplish any set goals as would have been realized under the "no structure" government.

Because McCandless houses the majority of the Juniors, Ruthie Lyons, its president, will sit in on the council in order that the hall and class governments may help each other out. In two weeks the council should be formalized so as to begin making plans for the class activities.

3 floors open
Residents on the second, third, and fourth floors of Grace Hall will move in today.

The 84 students involved in the move were notified by mail yesterday that their rooms were complete.

The move relieves about 336 students in eight dorms around the campus of extra guests they have had since classes started three weeks ago.

University maintenance men will begin Monday to dismantle bunk beds in the rooms in which the displaced students were staying and begin to move in new furniture for the suite's permanent residents.

The burgers are bigger at Burger King.

Home of the Whopper.

The burgers are bigger at

501 DIXIEWAY NORTH, SOUTH BEND

We Call it "Livability"

Our idea is to serve you with lunches and dinners you can live with day after day. Fine steaks properly broiled and at prices you can live with, too. And with pleasant surroundings, comfortable booths and chairs, a little background music and a smile from the folks who serve you. And a choice of dinners to match your taste:

1. Sirloin ....................... $1.59
2. Rib Eye ....................... 1.29
3. Chopped Sirloin ............ 1.09
4. N.Y. Strip .................. .1.89
5. Ham Steak .................. 1.19
6. Fish Fillet ...................... 99
7. 1/4 lb. Hamburger Platter with French Fries...79

STEAK HOUSE

1516 N. Ironwood
Just N. of Fillson

The Observer is published daily during the college semester except vacations by the students of the University of Notre Dame and St. Mary's College. Subscriptions may be purchased for $8 from The Observer, 1516 N. Ironwood, South Bend, Ind. 46615. Second class postage paid, Notre Dame Ind. 46556.
SMC faculty debates shutdown

by Laura Haferd

Called together by President John J. McGrath, the Saint Mary's faculty met Wednesday afternoon to discuss, among other things, the administration's anticipated position on the question of holding a Viet Nam war moratorium October 15th.

The administration had been informed Tuesday that students are considering requesting that classes be officially shut down on this date as part of a national-wide protest. If no heed is paid to this demonstration, the S.P.A. will work for a two day moratorium in November, and add a day each month until the country's higher educational system is completely halted.

At this meeting, Father McGrath asked faculty members to act as advisors to help determine whether or not this demonstration would be acceptable for the college's participation. An initial misunderstanding regarding the origin of the moratorium was clarified by Professor Hutchinson, chairman of the Philosophy Department, who assured the assembly that it was not a national protest, but a Viet Nam war moratorium.

Then they entered the Intercollegiate Music Festival.

The Burgundy Street Singers performed as regulars this summer on CBS-TV's Jimmie Rodgers Show and are now under contract to Budweiser. From Kansas State University students...to professional entertainers in one year!

The Burgundy Street Singers were just 10 unknowns from Kansas.

Then they entered the Intercollegiate Music Festival.

The Burgundy Street Singers performed as regulars this summer on CBS-TV's Jimmie Rodgers Show and are now under contract to Budweiser. From Kansas State University students...to professional entertainers in one year!

Sign up now for the 1970 Intercollegiate Music Festival...it could be the start of a new career in show business for you!

Competition is open to vocalists, vocal groups and instrumental groups...in two musical categories: Folk and Pop.

Regional Competitions:
Villanova, Pennsylvania;
Tampa, Florida; Edwardsville, Illinois; Austin, Texas;
Reno, Nevada; Northridge, California.

For entry forms and complete information on how to submit tapes and photos, write: I.M.F., Box 1275, Leesburg, Florida 32748.

Sponsored by Budweiser.

KING OF BEERS.
McKenna's proposals

Student Body President Phil McKenna issued a call last night for a student rally outside the Center for Continuing Education Building this afternoon as an expression of support for the proposals that he is going to present to the Board of Trustees.

McKenna wants students to be there so that he can report to them directly about his conversations with the Board. He can point the gathering out to the Trustees as indicative of the importance of the proposals to the student body.

We question McKenna's belief that he must mass great crowds of people to convince the Board of Trustees of the importance of the proposals. Selling the proposals will depend on McKenna's ability to articulate clearly the need for their acceptance. Acceptance of the proposal will depend on the soundness of his rationale.

If he feels the gathering is necessary we will support him. We urge students though to do nothing which might discredit McKenna's efforts while he is in the Board meeting.

We see no reason why any of McKenna's proposals should be rejected by the Board. All of them will serve to foster communication between students and the Trustees. If they are approved we feel it will be a giant step toward alleviating the sense of frustration that McKenna claims students around here feel.

For the Trustees to reject McKenna's request—which we feel with the exception of inclusion of students on the board are very simple—will severely hurt student-administration relations at Notre Dame.

We call the requests simple because we fail to see how they will radically effect the current structure of the University adversely. All of them on the contrary will help foster better working relations between student and administrators.

McKenna wishes to see where the University invests its money. We don't see why the Board should object.

McKenna wishes to have access to the University's budget. We don't see why the Board should object.

McKenna wishes to have Board minutes made public. He recognizes the need for certain information to remain confidential and so has made provision in his request for the Board to do so. We don't see why the Board should object.

McKenna wants meetings of the Board's Educational and Student Affairs Subcommittee at least four times a year. Special Assistant to Father Hesburgh, Phillip Facenda, says the committee is prepared to meet as soon as dates for the meetings can be established.

McKenna wants the Board to reveal immediately whether it holds any investments in—Dow Chemical, Boeing Aircraft, Standard Oil, Gulf Oil, and Douglas Aircraft. Apparently if the University does have such holdings McKenna would like to make an effort to get that they are relinquished. Personally he has every right to do so, but not necessarily in the name of the student body. We fail to see what the Trustees would lose though if they revealed the information to him.

McKenna wants the Trustees to pledge to work "right now" in creating a meaningful community. No Trustee in his right mind could argue about that. We feel that most of them are working for that right now.

The remaining two proposals have to deal with student representation on the Board. This could prove to be the most controversial request.

Father Hesburgh is opposed to representation on the board by stating that the Board doesn't do more than rubber stamp proposals that have been hashed out on lower levels, or perform tedious tasks such as reviewing the budget. He feels that students would be bored with the whole thing.

We agree with him on the point that the Trustees don't often do much that is exciting. But if that is the only reason why students shouldn't be allowed to sit on the Board then we feel that it holds little weight. If students want to sit in on the deliberations, be they interesting or not, then why not let them? What is there to be afraid of?

We feel that perhaps the students could add something to the Trustees understanding of what the true needs of the University are. For them to reject student participation would be for them to close the best channel of communication they could establish.

The remaining proposal has to deal with granting voting privileges to the student members. We feel that any student body representative on the board by stating that the Board doesn't do more than rubber stamp proposals that have been hashed out on lower levels, or perform tedious tasks such as reviewing the budget. He feels that students would be bored with the whole thing.

We agree with him on the point that the Trustees don't often do much that is exciting. But if that is the only reason why students shouldn't be allowed to sit on the Board then we feel that it holds little weight. If students want to sit in on the deliberations, be they interesting or not, then why not let them? What is there to be afraid of?

We feel that perhaps the students could add something to the Trustees understanding of what the true needs of the University are. For them to reject student participation would be for them to close the best channel of communication they could establish.

The remaining proposal has to deal with granting voting privileges to the student members. We feel that any student body representative on the board by stating that the Board doesn't do more than rubber stamp proposals that have been hashed out on lower levels, or perform tedious tasks such as reviewing the budget. He feels that students would be bored with the whole thing.

We agree with him on the point that the Trustees don't often do much that is exciting. But if that is the only reason why students shouldn't be allowed to sit on the Board then we feel that it holds little weight. If students want to sit in on the deliberations, be they interesting or not, then why not let them? What is there to be afraid of?

We feel that perhaps the students could add something to the Trustees understanding of what the true needs of the University are. For them to reject student participation would be for them to close the best channel of communication they could establish.

The remaining proposal has to deal with granting voting privileges to the student members. We feel that any student body representative on the board by stating that the Board doesn't do more than rubber stamp proposals that have been hashed out on lower levels, or perform tedious tasks such as reviewing the budget. He feels that students would be bored with the whole thing.

We agree with him on the point that the Trustees don't often do much that is exciting. But if that is the only reason why students shouldn't be allowed to sit on the Board then we feel that it holds little weight. If students want to sit in on the deliberations, be they interesting or not, then why not let them? What is there to be afraid of?

We feel that perhaps the students could add something to the Trustees understanding of what the true needs of the University are. For them to reject student participation would be for them to close the best channel of communication they could establish.

The remaining proposal has to deal with granting voting privileges to the student members. We feel that any student body representative on the board by stating that the Board doesn't do more than rubber stamp proposals that have been hashed out on lower levels, or perform tedious tasks such as reviewing the budget. He feels that students would be bored with the whole thing.

We agree with him on the point that the Trustees don't often do much that is exciting. But if that is the only reason why students shouldn't be allowed to sit on the Board then we feel that it holds little weight. If students want to sit in on the deliberations, be they interesting or not, then why not let them? What is there to be afraid of?

We feel that perhaps the students could add something to the Trustees understanding of what the true needs of the University are. For them to reject student participation would be for them to close the best channel of communication they could establish.

The remaining proposal has to deal with granting voting privileges to the student members. We feel that any student body representative on the board by stating that the Board doesn't do more than rubber stamp proposals that have been hashed out on lower levels, or perform tedious tasks such as reviewing the budget. He feels that students would be bored with the whole thing.

We agree with him on the point that the Trustees don't often do much that is exciting. But if that is the only reason why students shouldn't be allowed to sit on the Board then we feel that it holds little weight. If students want to sit in on the deliberations, be they interesting or not, then why not let them? What is there to be afraid of?

We feel that perhaps the students could add something to the Trustees understanding of what the true needs of the University are. For them to reject student participation would be for them to close the best channel of communication they could establish.

The remaining proposal has to deal with granting voting privileges to the student members. We feel that any student body representative on the board by stating that the Board doesn't do more than rubber stamp proposals that have been hashed out on lower levels, or perform tedious tasks such as reviewing the budget. He feels that students would be bored with the whole thing.

We agree with him on the point that the Trustees don't often do much that is exciting. But if that is the only reason why students shouldn't be allowed to sit on the Board then we feel that it holds little weight. If students want to sit in on the deliberations, be they interesting or not, then why not let them? What is there to be afraid of?

We feel that perhaps the students could add something to the Trustees understanding of what the true needs of the University are. For them to reject student participation would be for them to close the best channel of communication they could establish.

The remaining proposal has to deal with granting voting privileges to the student members. We feel that any student body representative on the board by stating that the Board doesn't do more than rubber stamp proposals that have been hashed out on lower levels, or perform tedious tasks such as reviewing the budget. He feels that students would be bored with the whole thing.

We agree with him on the point that the Trustees don't often do much that is exciting. But if that is the only reason why students shouldn't be allowed to sit on the Board then we feel that it holds little weight. If students want to sit in on the deliberations, be they interesting or not, then why not let them? What is there to be afraid of?

We feel that perhaps the students could add something to the Trustees understanding of what the true needs of the University are. For them to reject student participation would be for them to close the best channel of communication they could establish.

The remaining proposal has to deal with granting voting privileges to the student members. We feel that any student body representative on the board by stating that the Board doesn't do more than rubber stamp proposals that have been hashed out on lower levels, or perform tedious tasks such as reviewing the budget. He feels that students would be bored with the whole thing.

We agree with him on the point that the Trustees don't often do much that is exciting. But if that is the only reason why students shouldn't be allowed to sit on the Board then we feel that it holds little weight. If students want to sit in on the deliberations, be they interesting or not, then why not let them? What is there to be afraid of?
Due to an enormous demand by the Notre Dame fans, the Observer has decided to print the words of the stirring Notre Dame victory march.

"Cheer cheer for old Notre Dame,
Wake up the echoes cheering her name,
Shake down the thunder from the sky
What though the odds be great or small,
Old Notre Dame will win over all,
While her loyal sons are marching,
Onward to victory."

Due to an equally enormous demand by the entire Notre Dame student body, the Observer has decided to print Jim Bryan’s Chart Choices.

1. Hold Me - Bakersfield Hounds
2. Jean - Glenn Miller
3. Little Woman - Bobby Sherman
4. Carry me back - Russiek
5. Sugar on Sunday - Cirque
6. You, I, O - Ruggles
7. Wedding Bell Blues - 5th Dimension
8. Make Believe - Wine
9. Jean is a Soul Man - Lawrence Reynolds
10. You’ve Lost that Lovin’ feeling - Dionne Warwick

--THE END--

FRIDAY, OCTOBER 3, 1969

THE OBSERVER

PAGE 5

A WINNING COMBINATION

AMERICAN GENERAL
LIFE INSURANCE COMPANY

Offers College Students the only New Idea in Life Insurance in the Last 25 Years

MONEY

AS & LIVING

BENEFIT

write today for more information

Willard Butler
288-0657

ALLIED LIFE AGENCY
404 J. WALNUT ST.
SOUTH BEND, IN.

Free Prospectus booklet prepaid for you by the

CHANNING SPECIAL FUND

A mutual fund that aims for possible long term growth of capital through superior investment policies. Shares may be purchased only for students through your Account Plan with an initial investment of $50 and subsequent investments of $5 or more. Mail or call for free prospectus booklet.

CHANNING COMPANY INC.
WILLIAM RUITER
2227, ALLER PARKWAY
HOUSTON, TEXAS 77019

Name ____________________________________________
Address __________________________________________

AGENCY CODE 527

WHAT DO YOU THINK MY CHANCES ARE OF REACHING HOLLYWOOD?

FREE ADVICE:

IF YOU DIAL 1 AND AREA CODE 213

Get outta town without leaving campus. The lowest long distance rates are in effect every school night after 7 p.m. and all day Saturdays and Sundays.

Indiana Bell

Use your long distance calling number. Save time. Dial your own calls.
Black counseling impossible from desk

(continued from page 1)
wholly upon what is required of him.

The black student, he added, cannot do this if he must keep part of his attention upon what seems to him risks to himself.

"Once this security has been established," he explained, "the student must be able to use himself as a tool for mastering his situation."

Seabrooks said reading was a problem of "highest priority" as far as black students are concerned. He said that if the student could see reading as a "time-binding device" recording accomplishments of past generations, a means by which he can acquaint himself with more than one individual alone could ever learn or experience, then he would be on the road to reading with comprehension.

Seabrooks said his format for a student's problem with identity will be to help the student "thrust his problems out for himself."

When asked if one black counselor is adequate to meet the needs of the Notre Dame black students, Seabrooks replied, "One black counselor is certainly not enough. There is a great need for coordinating, educating, and effectuating the changing of attitudes. Various deans, professors, directors, field agents, other counselors, speech and reading consultants, and admissions people need to be informed of the diverse needs of black students within the framework of a white, highly selective, greatly esteemed university.

"With such a view in mind, it won't take the black community at Notre Dame long to realize that we mean business and that this view is an indication of a serious attempt to get our fair share of the good goodies which exist here at Notre Dame."

Mr. Seabrooks was born in Charleston, South Carolina. He is married and has one 16 year old son.
Ron Curl makes no bones about it—Chicago Bear linebacker Dick Butkus is his favorite athlete. "He knows what it is to be mean," Ron explains simply. Is Ron Curl mean? There has to be some reason why the 6-0, 240-pound Michigan State tackle from Chicago has come so far so fast.

In spring of 1968, Curl was just another name on the Spartans' spring roster—a highly regarded newcomer to be sure, but still a freshman who spent the entire spring sidelined by a bad left ankle.

A year later, however, Curl was the Spartans' only returning starter at defensive tackle. After seeing only 20 minutes of action in State's first four games of 1968, the hefty sophomore had started the Minnesota game as a replacement for the injured regular, Rick Benedict, and had finished the season as the front wall's second leading tackler with 19 solos and 25 assists. He also finished second on the team in tackles for lost yardage with eight for 61, minus 61 for opponents, and his line coach, Henry Bullock, offers a reason for the rags-to-riches transformation.

"Curl is an exceptionally hard worker who loves the game of football," Bullock explains. "He'll do anything to become a better player.

Anything includes his summer job. A product of Chicago's tough South Side, the 20-year-old junior spends his summers as a truck driver for the hustling kid from Highland Park.

"I picked up a fumble in one game with St. Catherine, and went 85 yards for a touchdown," Curl recalls. "There were only 56 seconds left in the first half, and it put us ahead, 21-14."

Baseball is the physical education major's other big love. A two-time allleague pick in high school, Ron has coached a Little League team and played softball for the team which has won the Windy City CYO title the past three years.

A high school All-American selection in football his senior year, Ron was a highly sought college prospect who says he picked Michigan State because "they weren't phoney; they told me the truth."

"I had a brilliant sophomore season in high school. With that kind of track record, the coaches usually come to Chicago's classes and put in an offer," Ron explains.

The only things the Spartans have not managed to do is convince Ron that the rags-to-riches transformation will last. "I want to take the rags and make them into rich clothes," Ron says. "It's really a long shot, though."

Curl's dreams of becoming a Chicago Bear and TV commentator are still a distant memory. No bones about it, though, he enjoys being a Chicago Bear fan.

Senior Frank Foreman is the Spartans' most dangerous receiving threat, operating out of the split end slot. For a college football player, but then nothing would be too unusual for the determined athlete. Curl envisions being a starter. It hurt him a great deal when he had to sit out that first spring in East Lansing, and that's a feeling he'll not soon forget.

"Athletes mean everything to me," Curl says. "It means what I like to do best—play. I can't stand to just watch. I'd quit first."

As a prep in Chicago, Curl attended De LaSalle High School where he put together an impressive athletic record. Despite the fine game he had as a starter in the Spartans' big 21-17 upset over Notre Dame last October, Ron still counts a high school game as his biggest sports thrill.

"I picked up a fumble in one game with St. Catherine, and went 85 yards for a touchdown," Curl recalls. "There were only 56 seconds left in the first half, and it put us ahead, 21-14."

Baseball is the physical education major's other big love. A two-time allleague pick in high school, Ron has coached a Little League team and played softball for the team which has won the Windy City CYO title the past three years.

A high school All-American selection in football his senior year, Ron was a highly sought college prospect who says he picked Michigan State because "they weren't phoney; they told me the truth."

"I had a brilliant sophomore season in high school. With that kind of track record, the coaches usually come to Chicago's classes and put in an offer," Ron explains.

The only things the Spartans have not managed to do is convince Ron that the rags-to-riches transformation will last. "I want to take the rags and make them into rich clothes," Ron says. "It's really a long shot, though, he enjoys being a Chicago Bear fan."
Successive losses - a first for Ara

Tomorrow marks Ara Parseghian's first real chance to be a head coach at Notre Dame. Whether or not Ara keeps his record clear of double defeats will depend upon how well he coaches this Michigan State's Veer Offense.

The Irish defense, which had the most defensive changes in an effort to prevent the plunging Spartan ground attack from controlling the clock, John Raterman and Ralph Dixter will replace Bob Noller (LOLB) and Chuck Zicls (RDB). An offensive change which was not intentional was that of Dick Zielez for John Cieskowalski at back-up fullback. A shoulder separation has shelved "Cico" for the season.

Mike McCow and Bob Olson, who had combined this year for 57 tackles, will attempt to rally the defense which gave up 414 yards in total offense last week. One statistic in ND's favor shows the Irish giving up only 2.4 yards per carry on the ground. And MSU's passing has been poor so far this season.

The Irish will try to put some life into a so-so offense which has shown a marked propensity for failing in crucial third down situations. Danny Allen, who had a fine running game against Purdue, will start at fullback Ed Ziegler, Bill Barr, and Joe Tistman comprises the rest of the backfield. Ziegler leads the team in rushing with 136 yards in 24 attempts.

Tight end Dewey Poskon has six catches for 75 yards as the leading receiver. Fullback Barz and split end Tom Gatewood have five receptions apiece.

State has come from behind to win twice this year despite the problems of time-consuming offense. The Irish can not afford to fall behind in this one. State coach Dovy Dauker has called me when the team got back from the Rose Bowl," Craig calcis.

"I visited the campus and was really impressed with it. After that my mind was made up. Craig is one of four former high school fullbacks starting in the Spartans offensive forward wall. Teamed with fellow tackle Dave VanElst, guards Ron Saa and Don Baird and center Tom Beard, he helps give the Spartans a mobile veteran line that must rate as one of the team's strongest areas.

"Another favorite is former Spartan wrestling great Dale Andersen, twice an NCAA champion at 137 pounds. "Andy never let up. He wanted to win and nobody could stop him," Craig says.

Another favorite is former Spartan wrestling great Dale Andersen, twice an NCAA champion at 137 pounds.

Craig was a winner in high school at North Farmington, where he led his team to a two-year record of 16-1 and earned himself All-Conference honors as a fullback and defensive end.

After his senior season Craig was recruited by Michigan and Notre Dame.

Craig also wrestled in his high school days and lettered once in track. Since coming to State, however, it has been all football. Michigan State football supplied his biggest athletic thrill, that 21-17 upset over Notre Dame in 1968.

"I got light-headed during that last game, Craig admits.

"I had to sit down and cool off. Then when everybody ran out after Al (Brenner, the Spartans' All-American safety) stopped Hanratty, I got knocked over. It was really something." Craig is a member of State's Varsity Club and of the Fellowship of Christian Athletes. He describes himself as a sports car enthusiast and considers a 1967 Corvette his most prized possession.

And at present he has one overriding athletic ambition. "I want to play in the Rose Bowl," he admits, "but that's not exactly right." "I want State to be No. 1 in the country. That includes the Rose Bowl."