Plans for a rally today at 2:30 were finalized at a meeting yesterday afternoon attended by the people involved in the Dow-CIA protest of last week. A decision on any further action to be taken will be made after the hearing on Wednesday concerning the expulsion of five students and the suspension of five others.

The present at the meeting included: Professor Douglass, Tim MacCary, Brian McLennan, Tom Lasheen, Shelley Smith; Peter Smith, Professor James Maney, Chris Cotter, and Karen Weller.

“The basic aims of the original demonstration against the Dow Corporation and the Central Intelligence Agency will be the theme of the rally,” according to Professor James Douglass.

'Ten' issue statement

Gary McLennan, representing the ten students involved in disciplinary proceedings brought by the university as a result of last week's Dow demonstrations, released the following statement last night which reflects the beliefs of the group concerning the main issue involved.

There is no right to kill indiscriminately and there is no right to make money through exploitation of other men. Last Tuesday the Placement Bureau invited for interviews the Central Intelligence Agency and Dow Chemical Company, to obvious examples of the unchristian and materialistic priorities which characterize the American society today. Besides its long track of manufacturing genocidal weapons, Dow has established a world-wide system of control, enabling thereby to gain large profits from those countries which are technologically inferior to the United States and to our business interests, regardless of their credibility or stopping support. This denial self determination.

The concept of the Christian University has never been examined at Notre Dame. Can this University isolate itself from the moral dimensions of our society? Should we allow ourselves to be channelled and directed into unquestioning cooperation with the corporate system, or should this university challenge students into attempting to restructure society and to end the sickness? Notre Dame cannot openly attack the evils of America in its classrooms and simultaneously give tacit approval to corporate activities which are at best morally questionable.

For Notre Dame to allow its facilities to be used by corporations to advance their objectives is to become a functioning part of the corporate system. The interviewing process is one of the many normal activities of these companies, much the same as running a memory bank or making travel arrangements. For the University to take part in the corporations' processes in this manner is to be an accomplice to the leinless, governmental, and political agencies.

Ten students were on suspension in the faculty statement issued on November 19, and included: "The university's subservience to the political and economic system represented by the Dow Corporation and the Central Intelligence Agency, the impropriety of allowing organizations engaged in the sale and export of death and repression to recruit Notre Dame students with complete cooperation of the University...forcing undergraduates, graduates, and faculty members into direct action to prevent this abuse of this self-proclaimed 'Christian' university."

Professor Douglass said that the possibility of further action hinges on whether the students at the university are able to raise "basic questions" concerning the 'university's complicity' with such corporations and agencies.

If the hearings are concerned with solely technical questions, such as whether a student was or was not sitting or standing in front of a door, that will be unacceptable and further action will be necessary, according to Professor Douglass.

"The fifteen minute rule is irrelevant" Douglass said in reply to a question about whether the demonstration would concern itself with Father Hesburgh's famous edict.

"We plan to undertake direct action in as closely related a form as possible to the original demonstration." Douglass said. The possibility of future protests "depends on how the administration responds to the original issue," Douglass said.

At the conclusion of the meeting, Tim MacCary, who was arrested for loitering on Tuesday, commented on what is involved in the dispute. "It is important to keep in mind that the main issue here is University complicity in a social order not liberal nor just, and for reform," he said.

Miss Weller said the University "seems to have abrogated its whole Christian context in favor of an order-keeping organ of society. This really saddens me. That this, the Christian University in the country, should expel and suspend those who attempt to put Christianity into context, really saddens me."

Sunday night groups of students and faculty went around to the dorms to give presentations of their position against the University's complicity with Dow and the CIA.

The South Bend police confiscated about four thousand of the leaflets, according to Dedrick. After stepping inside the police station at the stadium, Dedrick was told that the leaflets had been confiscated because he had not been given permission to distribute them. When he attempted to leave the leaflets, Dedrick said that the police officer grabbed his arm and the leaflets. Dedrick accused the officer of robbing him of his leaflets.

Dedrick said he called Father Wilson, Vice-President for Business Affairs, and Father Joyce and asked for an explanation of the seizure of the leaflets. After getting nowhere, he said he called Mr. Philip Fucenda, Special Assistant to the President, and got the same result. The police officers and the leaflet distributors then went to the ticket office and were told that Mr. Robert Cahill, Business Manager of Athletics, had ordered the confiscation.

Unable to reach Cahill, they talked to Mr. Don Bouflard, Ticket Manager and Assistant Business Manager, who told them that they had no permission to distribute the leaflets and that the leaflets would be returned after the game.

Dedrick said he asked why they would be allowed to distribute the leaflets after the game and not before, but did not receive an answer. Two calls were then made, the second to the police station, and the leaflets were returned.

Cultural arts supporters rally in fieldhouse

by Paul Gallagher

A colorful collage of faculty members of the University Arts Council (UAC) are invited to an open house to hold the rally to consolidate sup­port and make it visible. According to Kronk early sup­port for the activities of the newly formed cultural arts group came in the form of a demonstration on Tuesday. Around 2100 Notre Dame and SMC students signed a statement asking Fr. Hesburgh to hold off on the demolition of the fieldhouse.

Support has also come from the Yeager, Scholastic and Student Senate as well as from a host of faculty members, said Tom Kronk. Indeed, last Thursday the student senate passed by consensual vote a resolution submitted by Stay Swenson and John Zimmerman asking that the uni­versity reexamine its priorities and hold off on demolition of the fieldhouse “until all of the facts are brought to view con­cerning a possible arts center.”

The rally will be entertained and a petition in favor of delaying the demolition of the fieldhouse will be circulated.

Donnelly seriously hurt in car collision

Notre Dame sophomore Jim Donnelly is in St. Joseph’s intensive care ward with hip and skin lacerations, and facial lacerations suffered in a head-on car collision early yesterday morning on Juniper Road. Another person died in the accident and the three others involved received serious injuries.

Donnelly was returning to the campus in an Indiana Cab travelling south on Juniper near Douglas Road at 4:30 a.m. Sunday when a northbound vehicle went out of control, crossed the center line, and hit the taxi head on.

Donnelly was pronounced dead on the scene by St. Joseph Deputy County Coroner, and the three others involved were trapped in the wreckage until Rescue Squad No. 3 of the South Bend Fire Department arrived and used power saws to free the two. They were trapped for almost forty-five minutes.

Sargent J.F. Russell, in charge of the St. Joseph County Traffic Division, said that Wawrniak has been charged with reckless driving. He said that the accident case will be referred to the county prosecutor on Monday for presentation to the grand jury.

Donnelly, a resident of 509 South 28th St. in South Bend, was a front seat passenger in the north bound vehicle which was driven by Michael W. Wawrniak of 1826 Warrick in South Bend.

Another person died in the accident. The three others involved received serious injuries.

The rally will be entertained and a petition in favor of delaying the demolition of the fieldhouse will be circulated.

The rally was sponsored by the University Arts Council (UAC) and set for 4:30 p.m. to protest to the Notre Dame Art Department and Pat Dowdall, Student Union Academic Com­missioner. The rally will be circulated.

Lecture series honors the late Fr. Moore

The relationship of science to public affairs is the theme of a new lecture series to be es­tablished at the University of Notre Dame.

The series will be named for the late Rev. Philip S. Moore, a former vice president for ac­ademic affairs and dean of the graduate school. Father Moore died Tuesday (Nov. 18) at Holy Crown on the Notre Dame cam­pus. He was 69.

The new “Philip S. Moore Lectures” will be sponsored by the Notre Dame Chapter of the Society of Sigma Xi, a nation-wide organization en­couraging scientific research in all fields. Dr. Cornelius P. Browne, professor of physics and president of the Chapter, and Dr. Ernest L. Flei, professor of chemistry and immediate past president, explained that most Sigma Xi members wished to honor Father More as the man “who provided much of the ini­tial effort in establishing Notre Dame as a center for scientific excellence.”

While Father Moore was dean of the graduate school from 1944 to 1952, enrollment rose from 50 to 200.

In addition, research in organic and medicinal chemistry in­creased, the physical and radiation chemistry laboratories were established, and several new graduate programs in science and engineering were creat­ed.

Father Moore became vice president for academic affairs in 1952, and academic assistant to the president of Notre Dame from 1958 to his retirement in 1966. A native of Wabash, Ind., he was a noted Medialval scho­lar, and headed Notre Dame’s philosophy department from 1942 to 1948.

The first Philip S. Moore Lecture will be Dr. Alvin M. Weinberg, director of the Oak Ridge National Laboratory, who will speak on March 31, 1970.
GSU makes TA situation known to trustees

by Fred Schafer

Results of a recent meeting with the Trustees, insurance, the Christmas Dance and basketball interests were highlighted. The Graduate Student Union (GSU) also announced that it is seeking to set up a Graduate Studies Committee with student members to look into the organization's requirements for each degree rather than the actual course work, but also to provide for an open forum within the group.

To finance this and other proposals, the Finance Committee reported that they see a need to raise funds and a fee is the most likely possibility. A referendum will have to be held sometime before the beginning of the second semester to see if the body of the organization is in agreement. The amount will probably be between three and six dollars per student and it is hoped that this can be included in the fees paid by each student to the University. This system will have to advantage that those who are on grants, which include all fees, would have this taken care of automatically.

Among the items discussed by the Activities Committee was the proposed basketball league. It is presently being formed and will begin competition after Thanksgiving. The league will be patterned on the Interhall League. A list of rules has been given to all members of the Graduate Student Council who will pass them on to their constituents. A meeting to discuss these will be held December 2 at 8 p.m. in Room 211 of the Engineering Building. A dance is tentatively scheduled for December 12. Mike Kasper suggested that a Christmas Party be held instead so that nobody would feel obligated to bring a date. It is thought that this will be self-supporting.

Joe Kelly reported on the university's offer to include the graduate assistants in the group insurance for employees. Premiums of 26.20 per family or 9.90 for singles would be deduced from the paychecks if one signs up for the program. However this would have to be paid year round which means that one could not drop out of the program for the summer and return to it in the fall.

A report was given by the delegates to the Student Affairs Committee who had met with the Board of Trustees in an attempt to impress them with the plight of the graduate students. The general impression of these representatives was that this body seemed more concerned with the undergraduates as is evidenced by the future agenda of the organization. In fact, it was discovered that most of the Trustees were not even aware that graduate students were teaching on this campus.

As a result of the meeting, it has been decided that something will be done about the English TA's proposal by January. Many of the Trustees appeared to be interested in the problems of the graduates once they were pointed out. In fact, Trustees Thomas Carney and Edmund Stephan will meet with them over the coming holidays.

A forum will be held December 3 in the Alumni Club by the Fact Finding Committee. This will be completely open to the public. Its purpose is to discuss anything pertinent to the TA situation. Among other topics, a proposal to limit teaching hours to not more than 3 per week and working hours to not more than 15 hours per week will be on the agenda.

Reports on all of these activities will be made at the next GSU meeting to be held after Thanksgiving.

Draft lottery

The draft lottery bill now awaiting President Nixon's signature only makes an unjust draft system less unjust and lacks any substantial reason for optimism among the advocates of a volunteer army.

President Nixon's attempt to remove some of the inequities, however, deserves some praise. Formerly draftees included a disproportionately high number of men that were either poor or black or uneducated. With a lottery, the advantage a man had who was of college calibre and was financially able to attend college is now offset immediately after high school graduation. Also, discrimination against blacks from the vast majority of all white draft boards is lessened by the de-emphasis on local boards.

However, we feel that there were many more serious questions about the old draft practices that were not even considered.

Paramount in importance is the question of selective conscientious objection. Presently, a man is not able to declare himself conscientiously opposed to a particular war. He must declare himself conscientiously opposed to all wars in order to obtain a conscientious objector status. We believe that it is imperative that the government respect the individual's right not to kill in a particular war if his conscience considers the killing to be unjust and immoral. We ask President Nixon by presidential prerogative to allow for selective conscientious objection in the current lottery bill.

Chairman John Stennis (D-Mississippi) of the Senate Armed Services Committee promised that his committee will hold "wide-open hearings" on other aspects of draft reform by next February 15th. He said the abolition of local boards, deferments for conscientious objectors, and the volunteer army concept will be discussed among other things.

We urge him to put the passage of another draft reform bill next year high on his list of priorities and we commend him on the ideas he has mentioned that will be discussed.

We believe that the President can take an active role in ensuring that a draft reform bill is forthcoming next year. We urge him to use the force of his office to accomplish this task. He engineered the passage of the draft lottery bill and he can again push through a bill next year. He only needs the will to ensure success.

We remind President Nixon that when he is pondering the question of what kind of draft reform is needed and wanted, he remember his campaign promise to construct a volunteer army.

We sincerely hope that the President never has to be held accountable for breach of promise.

"A rock concert is as much a theatrical performance as a musical one." So says Peter Townsend of the Who, and on this point I cannot agree with him more.

It was the lack of the theatrical which put a damper on the Blood, Sweat, and Tears concert, and came closer to making last Friday night's Association Concert a disaster. The concert started slowly and dragged through the first half. It was not until the last song of the first set and the Ghost of Washington Hall) a dissolves when you're keeping the audience loose. Their only choice of songs was better, and they entertained the audience. They chattered between each number, telling jokes and keeping the audience loose. Their only attempt at this in the first half was the old gimmick of getting the audience to loosen up by having them to shake hands with the person to the left of them, which anyone who has ever sat in a TV studio audience has experienced in the studio warmup.

The humor and the introductions flowed in the second half, where there were none in the first half. Perhaps a clue to this could be gotten from the remarks of the lead singer, Russ Geore, in an exclusive Observer interview following the concert. Russ said that he had been sick to his stomach during the first half of the concert after eating a bacon, lettuce, and tomato sandwich. He revealed that he was feeling better as the concert continued because any sickness "sort of dissolves when you're singing." At any rate the second half of the concert was perhaps one of the finest that we have seen in years at Notre Dame. It had all the ingredients to make it a real success—dancing, humor, audience participation, familiar hit songs, and something that has rarely been seen this year, an encore.

The Association, the Convo Center, and the Student Union all left the concert happily because of the financial income, but more importantly the large crowd left with the knowledge that they had been thrilled by the live performance of one of the hottest groups around today.

Giving thanks

Thanksgiving provides the opportunity to not only give thanks for home, family, and friends, but also thank the people and things which have allowed some personal benefit and/or betterment during the foregoing year.

It is in this spirit of thanksgiving that I therefore present a few improbable but perhaps appropriate thank yous from the first half of the fall semester at Notre Dame.

"Jim MacCurry would like to thank the St. Joseph Co. Sheriff and eight South Bend Police for giving him a free escorted ride into South Bend."

"Rich Moran thanks all 17 people who faithfully read the Scholar's."

"Fr. Heschl thanks Fr. Riehle for having his night.

"Fr. Hunter extends his thanks to Edward VIII for setting precedence."

"Fr. Allen extends his thanks to Gypsy Rose Lee for setting precedence."

"YAF thanks Notre Dame's silent majority for their continued support."

"The Dow recruiter would like to thank demonstrators and onlookers for a day off."

"SMC Student Affairs would like to thank quality for a year off."

"Phil McKenna thanks the Afro-American Society for a guilt-ridden-white-liberal 'cause."

"Army ROTC thanks Navy ROTC which extends thanks to Air Force ROTC which in turn thanks Army ROTC for existing in building no. 5 and constantly recurring every other that they are academic, they are academic, they are..."

"John Mroz thanks Phil McKenna for winning."

"Chris Wolfe extends deepest thanks to Chrn Wolfe for leading campus conversation with zeal and determination.

"GF management would like to thank the ND student body for their show of support."

"The Viking thanks Scott for their pottery paper."

"Fr. Joyce thanks the Cotton Bowl for the $400,000 chance to compete in an admirable athletic endeavor.

"Fr. Heschl would like to thank middle America."

"Middle America would like to thank Fr. Heschl."

"Class and half government thanks the Federal government for losing on a larger scale that it is possible to lose money doing absolutely nothing."

"Notre Dame's rich old alumni thank Fr. Heschl for reassuring them on record that paternalism and censorship are in fact not Common plans."

"The SLC thanks the Student Senate for half its sand."

"The University Forum thanks Fr. Heschl for a full load of sand shipped well in advance of the body's inception."

"CPA would like to thank the old SDS for what it left at Notre Dame."

"Arthur Pearl sends his thanks to Mayor Daley for inspiring him to make timely, valuable, and accurate quotes at all times."

"Guy DeSapio thanks his night editors for keeping him at least partially sane and somewhat healthy."

"The "Notre Dame 10" would like to thank Fr. Riehle for the remarkable observation and intricate examination which led to the suspension of those five and only those five who waited 15 minutes and then ceased and desisted, and the expunction of those five and only those five who neither crawled nor desisted after 15 minutes plus five minutes.

"Dick Nelson would like to thank that "Dear Ted" to keep his mind on 15 minutes and off integration."

"Father Riehle would thank WNDU reporters and cameramen for having their IIDs handy the next time they violate the 15 minute rule."

"Don Hilliday would thank Fr. Riehle for his ID so that he can give it up once again the next time he covers a news story for more than 15 minutes."

"Tom Vehring would like to thank Dave Stauffer for being insane enough to take over this page."

Cherish the Association

"To goodbye Forever that the Association finally came alive. Behind the lead singing of Larry, the Hawaiian, they finally got it together and produced a good harmony and did anything other than just play their instruments.

Up until this point they seemed to be going through the motions, for the sole purpose of getting paid. However, there was a dramatic turnabout in the second set; they not only played, but they entertained, transforming the total effect of the concert from a small disappointment into a resounding triumph.

The concert started in the usual manner, which has gripped many concert-goers this season. After the mandatory half hour wait for the concert to start this inability to begin the concert on time evidently has become a time-honored Notre Dame tradition along with Knute Rockne, the Four Horsemen, and the Ghost of Washington Hall.

"Our student union poolkash, (at least I think he belongs with the Union, the Convos Center would have more sense than to hire him), mistaking himself for Johnny Carson, feebly tried to introduce the concert.

"The near sellout crowd was then treated to a very mediocre first half, consisting of ten numbers, along with numerous minutes spent tuning up the instruments. The highlights of the first set included, Along Came Mary, Goodbye Forever, and Never My Love. They were fair in the first half, getting better as they went along, but they never reached the height that their recordings promised.

The second half was different. Their choice of songs was better, and they entertained the audience. They chattered between each number, telling jokes and keeping the audience loose. Their only attempt at this in the first half was the old gimmick of getting the audience to loosen up by having them to shake hands with the person to the left of them, which anyone who has ever sat in a TV studio audience has experienced in the studio warmup.

The humor and the introductions flowed in the second half, where there were none in the first half. He revealed that he was feeling better as the concert continued because any sickness "sort of dissolves when you're singing." The Association, the Convo Center, and the Student Union all left the concert happily because of the financial income, but more importantly the large crowd left with the knowledge that they had been thrilled by the live performance of one of the hottest groups around today.
The first post season bowl game of the year was played yesterday, as the Student Union poolahs won not only a hairbreadth 6-0 decision over the Student Government poolahs, but free dinner and drinks at Louis’ in the first annual Poolah Bowl.

Before a crowd of about one-hundred slightly chilled spectators, the Student Union forces pushed across a second quarter touchdown on a 35 yard Denny a to Pat Dowdall aerial and then let their awesome defense protect their lead.

The game was marked by several penalties as both teams disdained with the amenities early in the contest and referees Don Holliday, Phil Kukelak, and Rich Hunter were subjected to a good test of their knowledge of the game and their stamina.

The field was eighty yards by forth yards marked by one chalk line at one end and a row of parked cars at the other end. First downs were 15 yards instead of 10.

The most unusual rule addition was one permitting females to play. Student government took advantage of the rule and used Mrs. Pat Molinaro, the House Mother to Phil and the boys. Clea in a variety uniform obtained from Tom Pagna, she stood cheerimg on the sidelines for the call to enter which never came.

Student Union did not dress up for the game, but chose her head coach and cheerleader.

Student Government took the opening kickoff and was stopped cold, a pattern that was to repeat itself throughout the game. The Student Union bills (eh, were they balanced) was effective all afternoon.

After a series of punts, Student Union found itself on the Student Government’s forty-yard line. After two unsuccessful passes, quarterback Denny Clark to Pat Dowdall on the thirty and he hightoped it down to the right side for a touchdown.

The Student Government’s only first half was a battle of the defenses with both looking equally supurb. The Student Government passed ineffectively from the pocket while Student Union went up with a play-action offense.

Half time talk concerned the Student Government defense and how effective they parlayed the seven man line into an effective 4-2-2 or 6-2. A suggestion was made that this might be the reason for the fine defensive play of Student Government.

The third quarter contained more bruising defensive plays, but no offensive threats by either side.

Student Government’s only drive of the day came in the fourth quarter. Previously, they had punted down to the Union’s forty yard line where it had been down by Dave Krashna. The Union was stymied and a punt was blocked. Student Government’s Denny Clark recovered the ball from the first down pass from Controy to Fred Dedrick went for an apparent

Senate faces Tax bill

WASHINGTON (UPI) – The biggest reform bill in modern income tax history goes before the Senate today as Congress prepares to embark on a Thanksgiving holiday recess.

The Senate is expected to take at least two weeks on the bill which costs some $9 billion in personal income taxes for most Americans, by 1972. The measure also closes so-called tax loopholes to give the Treasury some $4.6 billion in new taxes.

A similar measure has passed the House. While the subject matter is the same, the reform approach in the House bill differs significantly in several key sections.

The House bill would cost the Treasury nearly $9.2 billion through its tax cutting route, but revenue would be boosted by $5.2 billion by 1972. The House takes up changes in the federal highway aid program on Tuesday, and will continue examining conglomerate business mergers, and pay television during committee sessions. Otherwise the schedule is routine.

After returning from the Thanksgiving recess Dec. 1, Congress must pass long delayed appropriations bills to run most government agencies for the fiscal year that started July 1.

Only two of the money bills have been passed and signed by President Nixon, and the major ones remain, including the defense appropriation measure of $75 billion. Since July 1, the government has been operating on stop gap authority pending congressional passage of the finance measures.

Last night’s dinner attendants were unexpectedly treated to some old-time banjo picker’ and ivory ticklin’ that brought all to their feet, clapping, singing and dancing the halls.

Sage Foods had brought the Village Inn banjo and piano down from the South Bend restaurant to entertain during dinner in the Red Garter and Your Father’s Mustache manner. The enthusiasm of the first few table dancers and quasistripers quickly caught on as the student charleston and polka experts took over the sides. One particularly limber underclassman did a Vaudeville rubber-egg act on table-top.

for the Senior Class Fellows program. Several of the persons to be contacted were: Paul Harvey, Art Linkletter, Norman Vincent Peale, and Dale Carnegie. This could take some time, because the group is working through the proper established channels. A rival group has been formed in protest of the CYO, which calls itself SLLAB (Student League for Liberalization of American Behavior). The CYO considers SLLAB "not only copycats, but a radical leftist group of unkempt malcontents."

The CYO plans to have energy for only one pass. Shortly after awakening Sunday morning, Bean and Gordon were sent to the recovery ships. TheClipper was traveling at 3,350 mph with speed constantly increasing in the pull of earth's gravity until it reaches 24,853 mph when it slices into the upper fringes of the earth's gravity. Apollo 11 man's first landing on the moon, excited and encouraged the world more, but Apollo 12 accomplished infinitely more in the scientific field.

Charles "Pete" Conrad, Alan B. Bean and Richard F. Gordon were due to return to earth at 2:58 p.m. EST today in the South Pacific near American Samoa where weather was clearing after winds up to 35 miles an hour during the final pickup rehearsal. Passing the halfway mark about 1:30 p.m. yesterday, the lunar trip had 127,540 miles to go. At that time the Clipper was traveling at 3,350 mph with speed constantly increasing in the pull of earth's gravity until it reaches 24,853 mph when it slices into the upper fringes of the earth's gravity. Apollo 11 man's first landing on the moon, excited and encouraged the world more, but Apollo 12 accomplished infinitely more in the scientific field.

Conrad and Bean made a bellyflop landing, trekked more than a mile through the lunar dust to a robot camera ship landed two years ago and set up a nuclear powered laboratory which one scientist said could expand man's knowledge of the moon a million times. They had one final adventure during the evening when they were able to set another lunar first by holding a "press conference" with newsmen radioing questions from the Houston mission control center.

Shortly after awakening Sunday morning, Bean and Gordon were sent to the recovery ships. The recovery ships were ordered to Rear Adm. Donald C. Dawe, commander of the recovery fleet. It read:

"Dear Red Dog: Apollo 12 with three tailhookers on board expect recovery ship to make a PIM pinpoint recovery as we have energy for only one pass. Signed Pete, Dick and Al."

Then they realized that it was now "Pete Gordon's recreation time aboard the Yankee Clipper."

"What is the flack in the wardrobe tonight?" Gordon asked.

"We got one called 'Lost in Space,'" communicator 1st Gibson replied.

The astronauts then turned on a tape by Little Wiongs, which states, "You've Got to Come Into My World, and Leave Your World Behind."

Plan functions to close anniversary

Saint Mary's College, Notre Dame, Indiana, will formally conclude its 125th Anniversary year on December 6 and 7, 1969, with a series of artistic, theatrical, and religious functions which will be open to the public. Numerous well known dignitaries and alumni will participate in the official closing proceedings which will end with a convocation at which honorary degrees will be conferred by the College.

While there will be no admission charge for tickets to any of the planned events, there are only a limited number available. These may be reserved by calling 219-284-4934.

The initial function of the special observance will be a performance of the student production of Romeo and Juliet which is slated for Saturday evening, December 6 at 8:30 p.m. EST in O’Laughlin Auditorium. The cast, composed of Saint Mary’s and Notre Dame students, will be directed by Robert Speaight, noted British actor, author, and lecturer.

On Sunday morning, December 7 at 10:30 a.m. EST, the Anniversary Mass will be celebrated by The Most Reverend Leo F. Parsley, Bishop of Fort Wayne and South Bend Diocese. The Mass will be sung in the Church of Our Lady of Loretto on campus. A highlight of this event will be the premier performance of a special Mass composed specifically for Saint Mary’s Anniversary observance by Norman Dello Joio, nationally prominent composer. This composition is perhaps the first significant Mass created by a major composer using the English version of the Liturgy. Utilizing a 160-voice mixed chorus and brass choir, Dello Joio has used a voicing and instrumentation which he selected specifically to fit the acoustics of the Church of Our Lady of Loretto.

Following a luncheon in the College dining hall, ceremonial participants will proceed to the convocation, following a fully robed academic procession, a special convocation will begin at 2:30 p.m. EST. The convocation address will be given by Reverend Theodore M. Hesburgh, president of the University of Notre Dame.

At the convocation, honorary degrees will be conferred by the College upon a number of well known persons from widely diverse walks of life who are to be honored. It will be Reverend Hesburgh, Mrs. Michael Mansfield, wife of the Senate majority leader and a Saint Mary’s alumnus from Washington, D.C., Mrs. Margaret Hoff, nationally famous artist and Saint Mary’s artist-in-residence for 1969; Robert Speaight, British actor and director; Robert Podesta, assistant secretary for economic development in the Department of State; Curtis, humanitarian and civil rights champion from South Bend; Norman Delio Joio, famous composer from New York City; and Margaret Hall Cudahy, alumna of Saint Mary’s from Youngstown, Ohio, who developed an active line in service to her city, church, and alma mater.

A 125th Anniversary art exhibit featuring photos and other historical memorabilia will also be displayed in the College’s Monasz Art Gallery on campus and is located on the northern perimeter of South Bend, Indiana, which is the home of the nation’s oldest Catholic, liberal arts colleges having women’s liberal arts colleges having coeducational cooperation. Saint Mary’s College no longer offers graduate courses in education but specializes in undergraduate elementary and secondary education courses for students from both institutions. All graduate level courses are available through the University of Notre Dame.

Top-level officials of Saint Mary’s College and Notre Dame feel that the cooperative effort, especially without the loss of identity on the part of either institution, seems to be particularly appropriate in these times when funds for institutions of higher education are so limited.

Nixon intends to fight immediate tax cuts

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Treasury Secretary John B. M. Kennedy said yesterday the Nixon administration will fight any effort to increase or speed up the tax cut features of the tax reform act. A House panel that is set for debate in the House today.

Kennedy said the administration can accept a long range revenue loss for the bill, but that any tax relief which takes effect before 1972 would simply add to inflation and push up the cost of living.

The Senate Finance Committee’s version of the House passed tax reform act would reduce federal income by $3.4 billion in 1974 but it would increase revenue by $6.8 billion the next year.

Kennedy said that the administration can accept a long range revenue loss for the bill, but that any tax relief which takes effect before 1972 would simply add to inflation and push up the cost of living.

The administration considers extension of the income surtax at a reduced rate of 5 per cent for the first half of the next year to be vital to the fight against inflation, but it has no plans to request an additional extension.

A recession is highly unlikely anytime soon although "we may have a temporary period of adjustment."

Some additional unemployment may result from efforts to cool the overheated economy but, "I don’t think we’re going to have another depression."

Interest rates can be expected to decline from their present record levels when inflation cases "but it will be a long time" before there are any long term rates that were in effect three or four years ago.
Agnew hits protest disrupting other's rights

NEW YORK (UPI) - Vice President Spiro T. Agnew declared Sunday that demonstrations, even when respected, "can be condemned" if they interfere with the rights of others.

Agnew made the statement in a guest editorial written at the invitation of Life magazine to explain his reasons for speaking out in recent weeks against war protesters and the news media.

The vice president said he was not acting to accommodate the White House but because "like the great silent majority, I had enough."

"I had endured the didactic inadequacies of the garrulous in silence, hoping for the best but witnessing the worst for many months," Agnew said.

Agnew warned that "frightening forces have been set in motion as the public has become conditioned to precipitate action rather than quiet discussion."

The announced decision of the more extreme antiwar groups to continue and to escalate their disruptive activities proves this," he said. Agnew called the Vietnam Moratorium "not only negative in content but brutally counterproductive" because it encouraged the North Vietnamese and undermined the President's policies.

The vice president said the response from across the country to his views has been "both extensive and gratifying" and affirmed the importance of his office.

Agnew said he made his speech in New Orleans Oct. 19 attacking leaders of the Vietnam Moratorium because "I believe--and believe deeply--that, while the right of lawful dissent is sacred, the purpose behind any civil dissent is subject to question."

Agnew said there were "important distinctions" between various kinds of nonviolent civil disobedience.

"The nonviolent breaking of a law unrelated to the discrimination for which redress is sought, such as lying in the street to block traffic as a protest against a denial of equal employment opportunity, cannot be condoned. The rights of others not involved in the dispute to their freedom of locomotion are thereby disrupted," he said.

To select Bowl queen

With the Irish in the bowl picture for the first time in 45 years, plans are currently being made for participation in some of the traditional pre-game and post-game activities. One of the more immediate items involves the selection of a beauty queen to represent the university at the pre-game social festivities and the halftime show at the game.

Notre Dame, the Cotton Bowl, Student Union and Notre Dame's football team will be involved in selecting a queen from the host team, and the Cotton Bowl Court on Dec. 3.

Student Body President Phil McKenna and Student Union president Dennis Clark are leading a committee to form a plan for the selection of the Queen. It has already been decided that a St. Mary's girl will be chosen but no plans for the basis for the choice have been made as yet. The committee hopes to form a program that would be able to make the decision as soon as possible since the Cotton Bowl Association needs all necessary information on the queen soon for publicity purposes.

The Queen will participate in a student-group dinner on Dec. 30, a Cotton Bowl Style Show, and the official Cotton Bowl Student Dance on Dec. 31.

The Queen will ride on the float of the Cotton Bowl Court in the Cotton Festival Parade. She will be presented in a brief pre-game ceremony, and will sit with her escort in a special section for the Court.

HHH - stop sending troops to combat

LOS ANGELES (UPI) - Former Vice President Hubert Humphrey said Saturday he hoped President Nixon would stop sending draftees into combat in the Vietnam War.

Humphrey, here for a meeting of the trustees of Brandeis University, said that since Nixon has said the U.S. is going to get out of Vietnam "the sooner we do the better."

"When you send young men over to Vietnam now, after the highest official in this land has said we're going to get out, it's asking a terrible price of them, and I would hope that we would quit sending selectees and draftees into combat in South Vietnam," he said.

"I think North Vietnam would like to keep us there, knowing that we do not seek a military solution," the former vice president said.

Apology denied

Editor:

As the writer directly responsible for Ineke!, it is incumbent on me to apologize, at least for not apologizing. To begin with, I would even, now make no revisons. All apologies for either content or method of presentation. I was meant to incite opinions (hence the title, Chris) not to form it. The method was not meant for debate, nor to be read the same. I had no intention of presenting a dry fact sheet or a rational defense on who is a racist or who is not. It was genuinely meant, by myself if not by other members of SAR, to cause exactly what it did—

Each point was prefaced by the invocation, "Consider... (like you don't have to agree with it, Chris). It was in no way meant to be the last word and dogma of SAR. The leaflet even went to the trouble of pointing out that there was not attempt to create "good sides" or "evil sides". I hold to that position now as I did when I wrote it. There is no value judgement attached to your "good" or "evil" of black and white. I do not redcoats in the back" or "shooting pigs," except in the values we have brought with us. I myself, by word, have espoused the philosophy of non-violence and reason and do not recommend violence to blacks or whites. However, I know (despite what Mr. Wolfthinks), that we have been raised rip pen their own covers off and quit believing in a horsey-dory world and when they no longer suit your

I've got the right to make my own opinions, no one can take away this right, and no one can forcibly impose on me his beliefs if I do not choose to accept them. I still hold this statement as true, and I thought you did too, since the Notre Dame Resistance and the selective conscientious objectors that we are attempting to understand, to learn, to try to understand the mind simply because I didn't agree with the policy of the CPA.

Therefore, I see no point in being cute, polite, or rational. It's about time white America quits emptying out, quits refusing to look into its soul, and quits treating this kind of danger as nothing more than a "crude joke." Chicago, for example, could blow into some more than an Easter foyed parade and white America here is to the existence camps in the state to house every black person in Illinois (This was allowed in the 1860s in the McCaran Act in case of insurrection). Whatever happens, it won't be pretty. I wonder what St. Augustine says about your national symbol, Mr. Jones.

Therefore, I do not choose to be the last word and the "good sides" or "shooting pigs" back right to block the entrance to the placement bureau because of their disagreement with Dow.

And so one more revolution will begin, not in eritation than in failure. Instead of indenting Dow, the concerned students have now indicted themselves. And so doing, they have continued to justify themselves for the accepts of distorted morality which they mirror in a more distorted vision of reality.

As a pack of Wolffs, much of this country will attack the healthy evil of a blocked entrance, but, consciously or not, will not attack the dirty evil of a company's, and a country's, blocked conscience. If one is of the opinion that The System is worth saving, then work only to save it. If you disagree, I think you may find yourself with some other students whose freedom you can proudly negate. ‘ Sour Apples’ in Louisiana

The following is part of a story which appeared in the Baton Rouge, La., Morning Advocate on Tuesday morning, November 18. It was sent us by Mr. Henry J. Ledoux of Baton Rouge. In his letter of comment, Mr. Ledoux said, “Actually this statement is inexcusable; and is actually a result of this year’s ‘sour apples’ on LSU’s part (the student editor part) but does not reflect the general attitude.”

LSU students don’t know where the missing elevator went, but their bitterly known where the shaft went.

Sunshine and warmth but defense paramount

by Mike Pavlin
Observer Sports Editor

Something went wrong somewhere. True to my wildest dreams, the sun came out, the temperature rose, and all seemed ready for an offensive show last Saturday. But mistakes crippled ND's second-half offense and the Irish barely escaped with a 1:36 win over the Air Force Academy.

That Notre Dame won this game to finish with an 8-1-1 season's log was largely due to a defense which was at its toughest when it had to be. Two crucial fumbles, coming at the end of the third period and the beginning of the fourth, put the defense in holes with the score tied 13-13 Notre Dame. Led by junior linebacker Tim Kelly, however, the Irish allowed only a punt Leuthauser field goal of 37 yards and preserved the victory.

The game began as if the defense wouldn't have to do a thing all day long as ND moved 69 yards to score the first time in possession of the ball. At the 1 Air Force 39, DeOrio capped the drive by going right, cutting left, and then back right to score at 12:57.

For most of the quarter, however, the offense stalled and Irish fans were reduced to nail-biting while watching a Falcon offense which seemed continually on the verge of breaking loose. To begin with, Quarterback Joe Theismann took a hard hit and was knocked off his feet. Later in the period, a great diving tackle by Kelly brought the Falcons down to the Irish 40. Mike Kadish missed a field goal and then partially blocked a 56-yard field goal attempt by Leuthauser, who had been held to 1-for-3 on placekicks.

Third-down passes from Joe Theismann to Allan (2) and Tom Gatewood helped ND build a long drive from the Irish 10. Scott Hemple moved in when the drive stalled and made it 10-0 with a 22-yard field goal early in the second quarter.

Baxter was unable to connect with Jennings, but hit Longshore often enough to get the scoreboard via an 18-yard pass. The Irish had foreclosed Hemple's added another three-pointer of his own from the 15. The Irish scoring drive had begun back at the ND 15, but Thiemann got 60 of the remaining yards in two plays. First he faked an option play, dropped back, and hit Gatewood who had run a deep, deep hook. The beautifully executed play gained 33 yards. Thiemann then shifted through the Falcons for 27 yards on a keeper down to the Air Force 33.

The half-time stats showed an ND dominance. Jennings had 13 receptions, and Baxter was 7-20 through the air. But the Irish offense, which churned up 293 yards total offense in the half, ran out of steam in the third period.

While ND could gather only 42 total defensive yards, it began to move the Falcon. With halfback Curtis Martin out with an early-game knee injury, fullback Jim DeOrio took up the running room inside. Falcon quarterback Joe Theismann turned the tables on Theismann three other marks; passed Crotty for 27 yards on a keeper down to the Irish 18.

From the Irish 46, Darryl Haspunted, but Ed Gulasy fumbled the second time in 16 passes, one completion, and 16 yards a game passing on the average would have given Theis­mann three other marks; passed Crotty for 27 yards on a keeper down to the Irish 18.

Quadrant Joe Theismann participated in 308 offensive plays. Safety/Cornerback Claire brick entered the game to finish with an offensive stoppage. The Young soph was credited with three against the Falcons and wound up with 12, one better than the old standard. Bill Eiffler of the Mad Scarabins also gained the record for the entire season. The young soph was credited with three against the Falcons and wound up with 12, one better than the old standard.

Baxter succeeded in giving Irishmen set four records

According to as yet unofficial figures, Notre Dame individuals have broken four season records and tied one during 1969. Scott Hemple ran up a string of 30 consecutive PAT's this year.
