The theme of the Parent Weekend is “Thank Heaven for Little Girls” and is commemorated in an attractive pink and brown brochure which was produced by the Parent Weekend Committee.

by Shawn Hill

Campaiging officially begins at 6 p.m. Tuesday, March 2 and continues until 5 p.m. Monday, March 8. The college has a spending limit of $475 for the week, and the campaigns must be submitted to the college by Monday at 5 p.m. to be eligible for the election.

The Senate also considered a bill, introduced by Fred Guiffria, the House of Representatives, to allow students to vote in the Student Government election. Each sophomore class has the responsibility to supervise the election of the incoming freshman class. This measure was passed by consensus.

with Fay Keenze

In an attempt to acquaint the students of Notre Dame with the problems of Campus Security, a special open forum was held last night in the LaFortune Student Center before the Student Council meeting. Vice-President for Public Relations James Frick announced that security consultant Paul Powell’s report had been accepted, although the university has no further plans for continuing his employment. According to Frick, this is due in part to the following steps which the university has initiated: a study of the security system of the University, lighting and fencing at various parking sites, and the hiring of a Security Investigator along with the recruitment of more qualified campus police. Thus, citing a need for a concentrated and joint effort by their respective branches of government, the panel which included Frick, Fr. Michael Fanella, President of Student Housing; Fr. James Riehle, Dean of Students; and members of the Psychology Department; Prof. Robert Anthony of the English department and of the Student Life Council member Steve Griffigs, Frick opened the forum with a criticism of the “immensity” of some modern scriptural translations. Such translations, according to Frick, have given the students a feeling of “blithely ignoring” reality.

SB 12 passes ombudsman bill

The first order of business at last night’s Student Senate meeting was an Executive report by Student Body President Phil McKenna on this year’s election rules and procedures. The rules governing this year’s Presidential election are as follows:

To qualify as a candidate, McKenna reported a student must present a petition for candidacy that has been signed by 100 students. These petitions may be obtained starting Sunday, March 1, at 7 p.m. at the Student Government Office. The signed petitions must be returned to the Student Government Office by 5 p.m. Tuesday, March 3.

A panel consisting of Reverend Ray Powell, Ann Shutrump, Ann Jones and Steve Tapscott successfully articulated the necessity of Ronald Reagan, California’s governor, to America, for instance, having recognized the university’s responsibilities to the community in which it lives and functions, the necessity for a reaffirmation of the university’s function and hence structure. The price for such a second sight, however, was the danger from a backlash from those who felt threatened. Berkeley’s momentous 1968.
Peil calls Church racist

continued from page 1
natiomalist ties of the missionaries. He said that a friend once cynically suggested that the mis­ ionaries were used to "soften­up" the natives before the invasion of foreign troops.

Fr. Peil asked those who were working for reforms to stay within the Church "to help make the Church become what you criticize it for not being."

HYPOCRISY AND RACISM

He urged his audience to see the hypocrisy and racism that exists in the established structures today and to condemn all forms of violence, "violence against the spirit as well as property."

"Christianity can work by making it work," said Peil.

Reihle calls for student-security cooperation in open forum

continued from page 2

ject of the problem the S.L.C. passed a resolution which called on the university to select a "professional committee" to study the situation further, and report back on its recommenda­tions.

Following Fr. Whelan, Frick presented the Vice-President's Council position. According to Frick, the University is already in the process of implement­ing eight of eleven Vice-President's Council proposals, and would act on the other three at a meeting to be held on March 3.

Among the proposals acted upon were, "the increase of pay for campus police, recruitment of discharged Shore Patrol and military police as campus police, with a view towards them continuing their education here, and the soliciting of the editorial support of the Observer, the Scholastic, and WSND in a drive to upgrade the status of campus security.

At this point, the discussion turned towards hall security.
Frick announced that the university was studying the implementation of a $180,000 Honeywell system to safeguard the students against fires in all buildings. He contended that the system was electronically moni­tored, and thus would require the use of fewer night watchmen, but Father Whelan empha­sized that the hall rectors overwhelmingly voted this idea.

Whelan seemed to echo the sen­timents of his fellow rectors in saying that, "I sleep better at night, knowing that the human element is present."

Perhaps the only definite point of agreement between the two was the "Patriot of the Year" award. The Vice-President's Council was that unless the students exhibited some amount of respect for the campus secure­ ity the problem of enforcement would be present. Fr. Peil called for student self-criticism, stating that any directive he could issue on the subject would only go unnoticed, but that the students would listen to other students.

Agency heads toss heads

Agencies will interview on Campus

TUESDAY, MARCH 3

It's find out time. Time for you to find out the role you might play in the company that has designed or constructed over 8 billion dollars of fossil fuel, hydroelectric and nuclear plants.

There's never been a more exciting time to join Ebasco. Forecasts call for electrical power systems three times the size of our present national sys­
s. As an engineer at Ebasco, you'll be in the forefront of this activity. Ebasco engineers always have been.

See your Placement Director soon to arrange a Q&A session with the Ebasco representative on the above date. If this is not convenient, write to College Relations Coordinator, Department 122, Ebasco Services Incorporated, Two Rector
Street, New York, New York 10006. An Equal Opportunity Employer.

EBASCO

THE TASK OF UNIVERSITIES
IN A CHANGING WORLD
Center For Continuing Education
Feb 27,28

Today - Feb 27 - 2:00 pm:

THE PEACE CORPS IN THE 1960s
HARRIS WOFFORD, Former Deputy Director of the Peace Corps

THE PEACE CORPS IN A NEW DECADE
JOSEPH BLATCHFORD
Director, the Peace Corps

All Conference Sessions Open to Interested Faculty and Students

Fr. Peil asserted Christianity of fostering racism when he appeared before a sparse crowd in the Memorial Library Auditorium last night.
Nutting: The need for a Resident President

(continued from page 1)

ties, however, we find ourselves accountable to the loyal captivators who finance our institutions. The trustees, the Keenans, and the Flanners and the Graces. Indeed, one of the primary responsibilities of the university is to the education and life of its students.

The history of Notre Dame indicates that we do, indeed, suffer from this schizophrenia. (It is no coincidence that the latest issue of the IV, Alumni magazine contains 20 more coverage of the Cotton Bowl than of the trial of the Notre Dame 10.) The university feels it must speak in terms of the alumni's interests.)

TMH, after 18 years as president, has accomplished much from the view of civil engineering and financial progress. Such dedication, however, must mean a necessary orientation toward favorable public opinion and good public relations with potential donors to the university. (The black athletes' successful blackmail last year at the opening of the Convocation Center is evidence of the administration's fear of bad publicity.) The popular fact that our president must spend more than half of the year away from the campus is not necessarily residence of his full full neglect of the campus. It is rather proof that Notre Dame's President recognizes the university's social and political responsibilities (as interpreted, of course, by the president him- self). This is the administrative Schizophrenia, that the president must serve both internally and externally. "You don't find out where the action is by staying home," he concludes. (New York Times, May 11, 1969)

These involvements, added to his responsibilities to justify the ways of Notre Dame to her (prosperous) alumni, would more than exhaust any single man. Unfortunately the demands are not on a public relation director but on a university president, the man who should be devoting his time and total concern to the internal functions of the university.

A structure which demands that a president be both leader of internal progress and mediator between the university and the outside world would simply demand too much of that individual. "Working double shifts" is not an adequate answer, however much that solution may testify to Fr. Hesburgh's devotion to his job. Given such responsibilities, some hierarchy of values must emerge and some considerations must be placed secondary. Unfortunately, the internal affairs at Notre Dame are in need of secondary importance to the maintenance of the university's image and endowment. Left thus to find for themselves without power delegated from the president, the remaining 2/4 of the university students and faculty find themselves virtually ignored and powerless. Hence attempts to stop dismantlement through stop-gap measures: curriculum changes compromis- ed almost to non-existence; tokenism of student and faculty representation on committees and forums which can talk and vote but cannot appreciably influence university policy; the contra- diction of a "university community" which is still subject to dictatorial pronouncements (e.g., the "15 mins. letter of Feb. 17, 1969") from a president only half involved in the university.

And still the basic power structure remains, a structure personalized into one individual who must orient him- self in many directions and struggle to maintain integrity and even his health. The split is clear, and any functional administrative structure should adapt itself to its situation and its responsi- bilities.

Ind med students may train in new Notre Dame program

In an interview, Dean Bernard Waldman, head of the Department of Science, announced the possibility of training medical students from Indiana University at the University of Notre Dame.

The establishment of a partial medical school in the South Bend area would come as an outgrowth of a recommendation of a commission established by Indiana's Governor Edgar Whitcomb to find solutions to the pressing need existing in the state for medical training facili- ties. Other sites being consid- ered for similar programs are Fort Wayne, Gary, Muncie, Terre Haute, Evansville, and West Lafayette.

The program as proposed would initially have about six students from the Indianapolis campus sent to each of the seven branches for the first two years of their medical training to take such courses as microbiology, hematology, and advanced anatomy. In addition to their courses at the resident universities the students would also spend time in the local hospitals. Eventually each school would be expected to accommodate up to twenty students.

In their third year the candidates would return to Indianapolis before finishing their edu- cation in the branch area. Despite the fact that most of the training was received in the auxiliary schools the students would nevertheless be designated as graduates of the University of Indiana Medical School.

In commenting on the proposed program, Dean Waldman indicated that some sort of action is necessary. Currently IU at Indianapolis, the sole medical school in the state, is teaching two hundred and twenty-five students, one of the largest en- rollments in the nation. Wald- man contended that with the present facilities straining, expansion is necessary if ade- quate training is to be main- tained.

Academic Affairs Vice Presi- dent Father John Walsh has formed a committee, headed by Doctor Morris Pollard to look into the matter. Their findings should be available in about a month's time, Waldman said.

Citing the enormous costs associated with the running of a medical school, Dean Waldman contended that whatever future course is taken it will be taken in conjunction with the state. The recent separation of medical school from university at Mar- queet and St. Louis are growing proof of the fact that the univer- sity itself cannot support such a vast complex, Waldman said.

OBSERVER STAFF MEETING (FOR ALL PERSONNEL)
today at 4:20

BRING YOUR BLANKET
BRING SOMEONE TO SHARE IT WITH or, SHARE IT WITH A LONELY LASS THERE BUT, ABOVE ALL DON'T MISS THE DREAMS
Sat.-Night 8:30 Stephan Crumb
Preceded by student union social and commission-

INTERESTED IN WORKING FOR THE OBSERVER?
A WORKSHOP WILL BE HELD FOR ALL THOSE INTERESTED IN NEWS AND FEATURE WRITING. TOPICS WILL BE COVERED INCLUDE:
STRUCTURE OF A NEWS STORY INTERVIEWING TECHNIQUE THE ROLE OF INTERPRETATION IN A NEWS STORY THE QUESTION OF OBJECTIVITY.

DATES: Mon., March 2 Wed., March 5
TIME: 7:30 - 9:00
PLACE: 356 O'Shaugnessy
Why not take the war issue into your own hands? It is not the problem of war. Wouldn't we be able to voice our opinions, to be concerned human beings-am I not a Christian? We are in no way attempting to get in the middle of the Vietnam War, but we are not allowing the University to remain unimpressed. As R. Crumb would say, No, No, Flakey Foont. A beard did I say the University? This is an attempt to get all the failures of the present administration two stand out. The student government, so they have taken to vague praise of their one time leader, Bing Crosby. In the student activities fee, but outside of Denny Clark and Tito Trevino's
the fact that Fred Dedrick had an injunction slapped on him (that he necessarily reflect the
the women relinquish the starvation continues at a
whether the... have to set aside for the day that he was
we could end a terrible war sooner than the Nixon administration can discover a means to prolong it.

Letters to the Editor

Mike Kelly

"No, No, Flakey Foont"

A bit has been said in recent weeks concerning the value of the McKenna-Dedrick administration. This is to be expected what with the Student Body President election coming soon with at least one of the candidates running as the LaFortune heir apparent on the basis of the "accomplishments of the McKenna administration."

Defenders of the reign of Phil and Fred are at a loss to find any concrete improvements in student life coming out of the activities of the student government, so they have taken to vague praise of their building "the Christian community at Notre Dame." I, for one, remain unimpressed.

Even if one concludes that the purpose of student government is to foster a sense of euphoric brotherhood and joy here at Notre Dame, rather than the more mundane tasks such as improving the living conditions and academic offerings of the individual student and hopefully allowing joy and brotherhood to come of its own volition from the individuals here (which, for argument's sake, I shall concede for the present time), I am afraid that Phil and Fred have failed even at this.

The fact that Phil McKenna marched in a Moratorium procession the fact that Fred Dedrick had an injunction slapped on him (that he may or may not have deserved); that fact that someone scrawled the so-called "No, No, Flakey Foont." A beard did I say the University? This is an attempt to get all the failures of the present administration two stand out. The student government, so they have taken to vague praise of their one time leader, Bing Crosby. In the student activities fee, but outside of Denny Clark and Tito Trevino's
the fact that Fred Dedrick had an injunction slapped on him (that he necessarily reflect the
the women relinquish the starvation continues at a
whether the... have to set aside for the day that he was
we could end a terrible war sooner than the Nixon administration can discover a means to prolong it.

Letters to the Editor

Mike Kelly

"No, No, Flakey Foont"

A bit has been said in recent weeks concerning the value of the McKenna-Dedrick administration. This is to be expected what with the Student Body President election coming soon with at least one of the candidates running as the LaFortune heir apparent on the basis of the "accomplishments of the McKenna administration."

Defenders of the reign of Phil and Fred are at a loss to find any concrete improvements in student life coming out of the activities of the student government, so they have taken to vague praise of their building "the Christian community at Notre Dame." I, for one, remain unimpressed.

Even if one concludes that the purpose of student government is to foster a sense of euphoric brotherhood and joy here at Notre Dame, rather than the more mundane tasks such as improving the living conditions and academic offerings of the individual student and hopefully allowing joy and brotherhood to come of its own volition from the individuals here (which, for argument's sake, I shall concede for the present time), I am afraid that Phil and Fred have failed even at this.

The fact that Phil McKenna marched in a Moratorium procession the fact that Fred Dedrick had an injunction slapped on him (that he may or may not have deserved); that fact that someone scrawled the so-called "No, No, Flakey Foont." A beard did I say the University? This is an attempt to get all the failures of the present administration two stand out. The student government, so they have taken to vague praise of their one time leader, Bing Crosby. In the student activities fee, but outside of Denny Clark and Tito Trevino's
the fact that Fred Dedrick had an injunction slapped on him (that he necessarily reflect the
the women relinquish the starvation continues at a
whether the... have to set aside for the day that he was
we could end a terrible war sooner than the Nixon administration can discover a means to prolong it.

Letters to the Editor

Mike Kelly

"No, No, Flakey Foont"

A bit has been said in recent weeks concerning the value of the McKenna-Dedrick administration. This is to be expected what with the Student Body President election coming soon with at least one of the candidates running as the LaFortune heir apparent on the basis of the "accomplishments of the McKenna administration."

Defenders of the reign of Phil and Fred are at a loss to find any concrete improvements in student life coming out of the activities of the student government, so they have taken to vague praise of their building "the Christian community at Notre Dame." I, for one, remain unimpressed.

Even if one concludes that the purpose of student government is to foster a sense of euphoric brotherhood and joy here at Notre Dame, rather than the more mundane tasks such as improving the living conditions and academic offerings of the individual student and hopefully allowing joy and brotherhood to come of its own volition from the individuals here (which, for argument's sake, I shall concede for the present time), I am afraid that Phil and Fred have failed even at this.

The fact that Phil McKenna marched in a Moratorium procession the fact that Fred Dedrick had an injunction slapped on him (that he may or may not have deserved); that fact that someone scrawled the so-called "No, No, Flakey Foont." A beard did I say the University? This is an attempt to get all the failures of the present administration two stand out. The student government, so they have taken to vague praise of their one time leader, Bing Crosby. In the student activities fee, but outside of Denny Clark and Tito Trevino's
the fact that Fred Dedrick had an injunction slapped on him (that he necessarily reflect the
the women relinquish the starvation continues at a
whether the... have to set aside for the day that he was
we could end a terrible war sooner than the Nixon administration can discover a means to prolong it.

Letters to the Editor

Mike Kelly

"No, No, Flakey Foont"

A bit has been said in recent weeks concerning the value of the McKenna-Dedrick administration. This is to be expected what with the Student Body President election coming soon with at least one of the candidates running as the LaFortune heir apparent on the basis of the "accomplishments of the McKenna administration."

Defenders of the reign of Phil and Fred are at a loss to find any concrete improvements in student life coming out of the activities of the student government, so they have taken to vague praise of their building "the Christian community at Notre Dame." I, for one, remain unimpressed.

Even if one concludes that the purpose of student government is to foster a sense of euphoric brotherhood and joy here at Notre Dame, rather than the more mundane tasks such as improving the living conditions and academic offerings of the individual student and hopefully allowing joy and brotherhood to come of its own volition from the individuals here (which, for argument's sake, I shall concede for the present time), I am afraid that Phil and Fred have failed even at this.

The fact that Phil McKenna marched in a Moratorium procession the fact that Fred Dedrick had an injunction slapped on him (that he may or may not have deserved); that fact that someone scrawled the so-called "No, No, Flakey Foont." A beard did I say the University? This is an attempt to get all the failures of the present administration two stand out. The student government, so they have taken to vague praise of their one time leader, Bing Crosby. In the student activities fee, but outside of Denny Clark and Tito Trevino's
the fact that Fred Dedrick had an injunction slapped on him (that he necessarily reflect the
the women relinquish the starvation continues at a
whether the... have to set aside for the day that he was
we could end a terrible war sooner than the Nixon administration can discover a means to prolong it.

Letters to the Editor

Mike Kelly

"No, No, Flakey Foont"

A bit has been said in recent weeks concerning the value of the McKenna-Dedrick administration. This is to be expected what with the Student Body President election coming soon with at least one of the candidates running as the LaFortune heir apparent on the basis of the "accomplishments of the McKenna administration."

Defenders of the reign of Phil and Fred are at a loss to find any concrete improvements in student life coming out of the activities of the student government, so they have taken to vague praise of their building "the Christian community at Notre Dame." I, for one, remain unimpressed.

Even if one concludes that the purpose of student government is to foster a sense of euphoric brotherhood and joy here at Notre Dame, rather than the more mundane tasks such as improving the living conditions and academic offerings of the individual student and hopefully allowing joy and brotherhood to come of its own volition from the individuals here (which, for argument's sake, I shall concede for the present time), I am afraid that Phil and Fred have failed even at this.

The fact that Phil McKenna marched in a Moratorium procession the fact that Fred Dedrick had an injunction slapped on him (that he may or may not have deserved); that fact that someone scrawled the so-called "No, No, Flakey Foont." A beard did I say the University? This is an attempt to get all the failures of the present administration two stand out. The student government, so they have taken to vague praise of their one time leader, Bing Crosby. In the student activities fee, but outside of Denny Clark and Tito Trevino's
the fact that Fred Dedrick had an injunction slapped on him (that he necessarily reflect the
the women relinquish the starvation continues at a
whether the... have to set aside for the day that he was
we could end a terrible war sooner than the Nixon administration can discover a means to prolong it.
The first critical maneuver must be to keep upon arriving back on campus. If you live on the south quad, you must look for the car of D-1 parking lot; residents of D-2 will hopefully spot it on their way to the ROTC building, but the circle will do if you can’t get the car. Your purpose is to be noticed by as many people as possible, of course, your admission to Notre Dame man as you pass with two of Schlitz malt clunking together in your arms.

Evening. By now you should have played ball at the Rock or the Convent (if the Rock is cooler) for at least fifteen minutes. You should have shut down your first beer in two minutes, and gone to dinner. Dressing yourself as sweaty and relaxed as possible.

A weekend bonus at the dining hall is tomorrow’s Manhattan, since you are trying to impress others, you open the magazine to the editorial. After glancing at the titles, you skip to the cover story: complaining that there is too much copy and it is too much bullshit anyway, and turn hopefully to the sports article, which you read carefully and discuss intellectually. Then you read the comics. Flattening the magazine in your macaroni and cheese, you look at the movie reviews, the music reviews, the art reviews and the “art form.”

Back in your room, you cooly sit at your desk for five minutes, sighed, and proceeded to the refrigerator for beer number 2. About half way through it, you realize it is too quiet—just in your dorm, but not over the entire campus. At least one speaker of the stereo is placed in the window, and the full-volume strains of Led Zeppelin or Jimi Hendrix fill the air. It is time to kick it out.

The climax to a wonderful Friday night and a weekend of unbounded satisfaction—try it.
Mrs. Olivarez... to serve the poor

This is the third in a three-part series on Mrs. Grace Olivarez, who this spring will become the first woman ever to receive a Juris Doctor degree from the Notre Dame School of Law.

She met Huschong again one day in 1966 in O'Hare airport. He sensed her frustration and where the habits. From him in which he explained that her frustration stemmed.

The philosophy Department of St. Mary's College presents Dr. Nicholas Wolters a professor and chairman of the philosophy department at Calvin College. He was educated at Harvard University and has taught at A University, the University of Chicago and the University of Texas. He has written for numerous philosophical journals and is the author of a book soon to be published by the Chicago University Press, On Universals: An Essay in Ontology.

Welcome SMC Sophomore Parents

Hope you have an enjoyable weekend at SMC - Notre Dame

Like to keep on top of what's going on here during the year?

The Best Way to do it is with a copy of the OBSERVER

It brings the news to you everyday.

Just drop us the following with your name & address:

(Special rate until the end of the year - $2.50)

---

Flanner Basement

Fri, Feb. 27
Sat, Feb. 28
9:00 PM

The Return of JOHN RACHMANN from Detroit
Sparrell's JIMMY BOLAND: Monologue—Beyond the Fringe
Edward Sheehan (Fri. Only)
Pat Patterson (Sat. Only) From Terre Haute
The Incomparable Morningly Brigade
Extra Added Attraction: Student "Power" by DON BU

STARTS TONIGHT ENTERTAINMENT GEARED TO PLEASE THE SOPHISTICATED ADULT

IF YOU'RE 18 OR OVER MAKE THE

FINALLY, THE DREAMS COME TRUE The Original Sounds of the DREAMS

TOMORROW NIGHT, SAT FEB 28 8:30 STEPHAN CENTER

TICKETS AVAILABLE AT THE DOOR

Presented by Student Union Social Commission

WASHINGTON, from the Department of Labor, the Civil Rights Commission, and the Urban Coalition. She has never forgotten the poor of Arizona and eventually plans to return there to continue her work. Like many law students her main concern after law school is the poor.

Wherever Mrs. Olivarez goes after leaving Notre Dame one can be sure her work will continue to be with the poor. She wants to bring the law to the people. "The Constitution is great," she says enthusiastically, "but it is often poorly interpreted."

A picture of the late Senator Robert F. Kennedy with a child in Appalachia well reflects Mrs. Olivarez's own intention. Soon Mrs. Olivarez will begin her new career as counselor for the poor.

O.C. to run poll

by Don Ruane

A phone survey designed to determine why students move off campus will run from Saturday until Thursday of next week, according to Off-Campus Commissioner Bernie Ryan. Assisted by Carol Cinick of SMC, Ryan and fifteen to twenty other Notre Dame and SMC students will conduct the survey from their rooms during their free time.

The survey consists of thirty-nine questions and is directed at all undergraduates living off campus. Ryan plans to put a survey through the Hall Presidents Council to get the opinions of the undergraduates residing on campus.

According to Ryan, the "primary objective of the questionnaire is to find out why people move off campus and particularly to try to get some idea of how much influence dorm life is to living on campus." Ryan contends that the prime reason students move off campus is dissatisfaction with dorm life. The survey will try to find the reasons for the dissatisfaction. "We want to find out what can be done to improve the residential community; to get some idea of where student government is lacking in communications and where the university is lacking and to try to get a better perspective of the problem," said Ryan.

The survey is tri-sectional and covers the reasons for the move off campus: the responsibilities of student government and the university to the off campus student and the advantages, quality and expenses of living off campus. Other questions cover such things as restrictions set by landlords, consideration of returning to campus housing and recommendations for or against freshmen living off campus.

Mrs. Olivarez, who said that although she doubted if she would make it through law school, he was willing to give it a try. "I may not always agree with some of Father Heneghan's ideas," Mrs. Olivarez said, "but I would defend him with cape and dagger." It was a brave move for him, she said, to invite her to the Notre Dame Law School. Kenneth Galbraith said, asked why she was going to Notre Dame to study law. "You're not built like a fullback," he said. But he never invited her to Harvard. But then Mrs. Olivarez was reluctant to accept Huschong's offer. From January to June 1967 she continued to think about the offer as she commuted between Phoenix and Los Angeles serving as a special consultant to O.E.O., the Labor Department, and the H.E.W. Department. Why did she need an education, she asked herself, in a country where it was said you could get anywhere with just hard work. She soon realized that although she had succeeded so far without even a high school diploma, there were limits to the extent to which she could help the poor. Comes To South Bend

On July 10, 1967 Mrs. Olivarez came to South Bend. She and her son Victor moved into the University Village. In September she enrolled in the Notre Dame Law School. She disliked law school very much at first. It was very difficult for her and she had never developed serious study habits. Contracts and Corporations held her interest very little. But now she enjoys law school very much. It is very easy for her to see the relevance courses in constitutional law and civil rights have for the poor in the South.

Extracurricular Activities

Mrs. Olivarez, besides going to law school, is very active in "extracurricular activities". Locally, she is on the board of Action, the South Bend anti-poverty program, and she is active with the Model Cities Program and the Indiana Program for Migrant Workers. Her national activities include membership on the Democratic Party's Policy Council, the National Committee of the American Civil Liberties Union, the Skilled Achievement Institute Board, and the National Committee of Household Employment.

Mrs. Olivarez was one of the main forces behind the change made in university facilities for women. As a result of her efforts today women graduate students receive health service and enjoy recreational privileges at the Convocation Center and the Rock.

Counsel for the Poor

After Law School Mrs. Olivarez is unsure of her plans. She has received three offers from 3 decry Carroll conversion

The Carroll Hall students yesterday voiced opposition to the proposal to change that dormitory into a graduate student residence.

Greg Betz, Bill Lind and Rory McHugh contended that the proposed change would solve nothing and that it would also create disorder for the relocated students.

Commenting on the facilities that Carroll had been cited as having Betz said, "The grads have been told that there are parking facilities. Well, there are, but for only 10-15 cars." McHugh said they say that there is easy access to (Highway 31), but that isn't true. The road is gravel and has a pothole. On top of that the road is never plowed in winter."

Bill Lind, a sophomore, stated that the kitchen facilities that were reported have been torn out for over two years now. McHugh went on to say that the rooms were not as large as some grads might suspect. "The average double is approximately 9 feet by 17 feet. The larger rooms are triples and since the reason that the grads want to be on campus seems to be to allow them time to study triples seem unfausible."

Betz was quick to say that since "triples won't be popular with grad students the university will have empty beds and they will lose money anyway."

McHugh summed up saying "Besides the reasons that we've pointed out to show that this wouldn't be a good graduate hall, we question the university's priorities in giving grade choice over undergrads who are more active on the campus. There is a solidarity and autonomy here in Carroll Hall which exemplifies the concepts of hall autonomy that the university preaches. It's like a family here. We're far away from things and most of us are here to study so we like the quiet."

Greg Betz concluded "The only vandalism we have here is the grafitti on the bathroom walls. We can go on campus when we want or we can come down to our quiet. We have our own gym, football, and baseball fields. The South quad interball teams practice here. This would be impossible if this proposal comes about. In short, we feel that moving grad students in here won't benefit grads as many of the supposed advantages are non-existent and that this relocation will seriously harm the people now in Carroll Hall."

King statement change

As a result of a meeting Wednesday night, James King, president of the Graduate Student Union, announced certain changes and clarifications of the information on graduate housing which had previously been released.

In this meeting with administration representatives Fathers William Buizam, Charles McCarragh, James Riehle, and Jerome Wilson and Carroll Hall Rector Fr. Rev. William Hund, King learned that the proposal to open a parking lot at Carroll opening to U.S. 31 would be opposed by the County Commissioners.

This board controls matters of traffic and entrances to the highway and would object to an intersection there without the protection of a traffic light. There is also a barrier which would prevent a southbound turn by anyone leaving the property.

King however plans to join with a committee to negotiate these points with the county authorities.

With regard to the actual accommodations of Carroll Hall as a dormitory for graduates, the actual number of rooms available was found to be forty doubles and ten singles. Thus only ninety will be able to be accommodated.

According to King, the administration representatives also pointed out that the former kitchen will not be reconverted into a kitchen for the grads. Thus they will be without the kitchen facilities for which they had planned.

Today is the final day for graduate students to indicate their interest in on-campus housing for the coming year. The committee studying this stresses that they hope to open the hall to all graduate students including law students although these latter do not technically come under the Graduate School.

The university's commitment of a graduate dorm is contingent on the G.S.U. being able to produce at least ninety people who would like to live in these accommodations.

"The statement should contain a resume of qualifications as well as a statement of the applicant's concept of the role and direction of THE OBSERVER. Applications must be filed by March 4. The applicant will be required to meet with the Board for a personal interview. Announcement of appointment and acceptance will be made on Monday, March 10. THE OBSERVER'S last publication date under the present editor will be Wednesday, March 25. Publication of THE OBSERVER will resume under the new editor on April 7."

Applications are now being taken for the position of editor of the Observer

THE POSITION IS OPEN TO ANY STUDENT OF NOTRE DAME OR ST. MARY'S

APPLICATION MAY BE MADE BY SUBMITTING A STATEMENT OF INTENT TO

THE BOARD OF DIRECTORS

C/O Gaetano M. De Sipio, Editor-in-Chief
THE OBSERVER
Box 11
Notre Dame, Indiana 46556

The statement should contain a resume of qualifications as well as a statement of the applicant's concept of the role and direction of THE OBSERVER. Applications must be filed by March 4. The applicant will be required to meet with the Board for a personal interview.

Announcement of appointment and acceptance will be made on Monday, March 10. THE OBSERVER'S last publication date under the present editor will be Wednesday, March 25. Publication of THE OBSERVER will resume under the new editor on April 7.
A two-bit pitcher

The thing about Dennis Dale McLain, the former star of the Detroit Tigers, is that he was a two-bit pitcher. When they might figure that you were a good pitcher, but that, of course, depended on the opposition. The thing was, McLain had been a very good company. Not exactly Sandy Koufax, to be sure. Koufax was a 90-cent pitcher.

There never has been a dollar pitcher. And, before you get the idea that this means that McLain was a big time pitcher, let me explain. Now, Williams was only a dime ball player in his best days—and that Henry Aaron is the only other dime ball player around. Mickey Mantle was a nickel ball player.

All this small change has to do with the commissioner of all baseball. McLain did not play in the other day, and our friend, Jimmy (The Greek) Snyder, who will make you a price on the end of the world, patiently explained it all to me.

Jimmy the Greek is the guy who makes the Baltimore Colts 17 points over the New York Jets. Jimmy doesn’t book. The government ran him out of that sport by taking 10 cents off the top of every buck and telling him he had to do with carrier pigeons who ment ran him out of that pastime by taking 1

Jimmy explains that betting in baseball is on the pitcher. “You make a he f, you designate the pitcher. You say, ‘Take the Dodgers if Drysdale goes.’ With Drysdale, you had to lay 60 or 66 cents. That meant you had to bet $1.60 against $1.00 on even the greatest pitchers. But, if the government was an out price against anybody who didn’t have his own army, and maybe against somebody who did.

Jimmy explains that betting in baseball is on the pitcher. “You make a he f, you designate the pitcher. You say, ‘Take the Dodgers if Drysdale goes.’ With Drysdale, you had to lay 60 or 66 cents. That meant you had to bet $1.60 against $1.00 on even the greatest pitchers. But, if the government was an out price against anybody who didn’t have his own army, and maybe against somebody who did.

This is not to be construed as a betting manual. The point to be made from all this is that the news that a pitcher even KNEW a bookmaker could send baseball’s pulse soaring. The suggestion that Denny McLain was in partners with one could cause it to faint dead away. The last ballplayers to go in partners with a bookmaker were running on the ‘19 World Series. You can see where, if the gamblers figure the other ballplayers, even the sure Hall of Famers, can contribute no more than a nickel’s worth, you can get a pitcher to do the purse, and a pitcher would be a nice guy to have in your pocket. It’s like having a horse who can talk.

Jimmy the Greek in the McLain case is that, usually, by the times authorities act, it’s an old story to the books. Changes are, they have closed the books on the guy in question years ago.

But Jimmy The Greek heard nothing worse about Denny McLain than the 1919 Chicago White Sox. Arnold Rothstein, who died from an overdose of bullets 10 years later, cut them in a parlay he was running on the 19 World Series. You can see where, if the gamblers figure the other ballplayers, even the sure Hall of Famers, can contribute no more than a nickel’s worth, you can get a pitcher to do the purse, and a pitcher would be a nice guy to have in your pocket. It’s like having a horse who can talk.

Jimmy the Greek in the McLain case is that, usually, by the times authorities act, it’s an old story to the books. Changes are, they have closed the books on the guy in question years ago.

But Jimmy The Greek heard nothing worse about Denny McLain than the 1919 Chicago White Sox. Arnold Rothstein, who died from an overdose of bullets 10 years later, cut them in a parlay he was running on the 19 World Series. You can see where, if the gamblers figure the other ballplayers, even the sure Hall of Famers, can contribute no more than a nickel’s worth, you can get a pitcher to do the purse, and a pitcher would be a nice guy to have in your pocket. It’s like having a horse who can talk.

A guy who was 31 games would seem to be of little use to a handbook. Now, guy who could LOST 31 games...!

McLain could be making a big story—although teammates point out Denny hasn’t kept this silent this long since he had his tough stuff.

Looking at Denny’s books, he looks like an easier hit than a country bank. Either the guys were post-putting him, or his clockers wasn’t doing their homework right.

Anyway, the guys down on the corner were pretty sure Denny wasn’t booking. You got to get a federal license to deal that game. The only type who don’t have to have a license is the Dutchman and Notre Dame in the Mid-East on the basis of ND’s double-ov

20 - 5 Irish face balanced Flyers

by Mike Paulin
Observer Sports Editor

With an NCAA big in their presence last week in Calcutta back in the fold, the Irish finish their 1969-70 tourney for the year at the Garden in Boston on Tuesday. The Midwest Regional. He implied that judging his warriors that game, he would still have a chance to win.

The Flyers’ new arena for the opening round of the NCAA tournament is probably against Ohio University.

Marquette coach Al McGuire, never one to let such a chance to complain go by, blasted NCAA officials for putting his team in the Midwest Regional. He implied that judging his warriors that game, he would still have a chance to win.

When we say that would indicate to me the government was an out price against oddsmakers have more respect for government than college officials for putting his team in the Midwest Regional. He implied that judging his warriors that game, he would still have a chance to win.

Every buck and telling him he had to do with carrier pigeons who ment ran him out of that pastime by taking 1

Jimmy the Greek in the McLain case is that, usually, by the times authorities act, it’s an old story to the books. Changes are, they have closed the books on the guy in question years ago.

But Jimmy The Greek heard nothing worse about Denny McLain than the 1919 Chicago White Sox. Arnold Rothstein, who died from an overdose of bullets 10 years later, cut them in a parlay he was running on the 19 World Series. You can see where, if the gamblers figure the other ballplayers, even the sure Hall of Famers, can contribute no more than a nickel’s worth, you can get a pitcher to do the purse, and a pitcher would be a nice guy to have in your pocket. It’s like having a horse who can talk.

A guy who was 31 games would seem to be of little use to a handbook. Now, guy who could LOST 31 games...!

McLain could be making a big story—although teammates point out Denny hasn’t kept this silent this long since he had his tough stuff.

Looking at Denny’s books, he looks like an easier hit than a country bank. Either the guys were post-putting him, or his clockers wasn’t doing their homework right.

Anyway, the guys down on the corner were pretty sure Denny wasn’t booking. You got to get a federal license to deal that game. The only type who don’t have to have a license is the Dutchman and Notre Dame in the Mid-East on the basis of ND’s double-ov

20 - 5 Irish face balanced Flyers

by Mike Paulin
Observer Sports Editor

With an NCAA big in their presence last week in Calcutta back in the fold, the Irish finish their 1969-70 tourney for the year at the Garden in Boston on Tuesday. The Midwest Regional. He implied that judging his warriors that game, he would still have a chance to win.

The Flyers’ new arena for the opening round of the NCAA tournament is probably against Ohio University.

Marquette coach Al McGuire, never one to let such a chance to complain go by, blasted NCAA officials for putting his team in the Midwest Regional. He implied that judging his warriors that game, he would still have a chance to win.