Laird says troops leaving Cambodia

WASHINGTON (UPI) - Defense Secretary James R. Laird yesterday said that several thousand American troops already had departed from Vietnam and that by the middle of next year, every troop withdrawal pledged has been met.

"At the end of this next fiscal year (June 30, 1971), there will be some U.S. ground forces in Vietnam but they will not be assigned to combat missions," said Laird, declaring that Vietnamization of the war "is well ahead of schedule." He told the Senate Armed Services Committee that after that date, 40 to 60 per cent of remaining U.S. troops would be assigned to protect American supply lines and to assist Vietnamese forces. "I think we will be able to have members over there," he said, "but we should be able to disengage and to withdraw." Manuel A. Begue, deputy director of the war, said that the U.S. military presence in South Vietnam has already been reduced from a high of 96,000 to 77,000.

"The Senate is expected to vote later this week on an amendment sponsored by Sen. John Sherman Cooper, (R-Ky.), and Frank Church, (D-ID), that would cut off funds for "retaining United States forces in Cambodia" after the current operation ends.

Laird said he opposed any legislation "which limits the President's authority to protect Americans, American fighting troops, and American interests in Cambodia." He said he did not believe legislation would help as far as protecting American lives and carrying out the Vietnamization program.

Under repeated questioning, Laird said he would "not rule out any measure that would limit President Nixon's authority in Cambodia, even though he reaffirmed Nixon's promise to have all U.S. troops out by June 30." He said American forces would not re-enter Cambodia after June 30. If any strikes against Communist border sanctuaries are necessary again, as expected, the South Vietnamese would make them, he said.

Laird added: "I will not permit the South Vietnamese forces to be tied down in such a way that it would affect the withdrawal of American forces from South-East Asia."

Laird said the Cambodian operation was a success beyond the expectations of Gen. Creighton W. Abrams, the U.S. command in Vietnam. Communist resistance, however, was "less than expected," Laird said, and the North Vietnamese and Viet Cong headquarters complex is mobile.

"U.S. forces are trying to destroy sanctuaries facilities all along the Cambodian border and deny the headquarters complex any place to hide," he said.

"The secretary, calling President Nixon's program for turning the war over to South Vietnam "the most credible," to date, said: "Every timetable we've set, every troop withdrawal, has been met. Every single public announcement, every timetable, every event from the first withdrawal announcement through today, every pledge has been honored."

Assembly activates Community Board

by Mary Kay Davey

The SMC Student Assembly voted last night to activate the Community Relations Board. Though previously provided for, the Board has not functioned this year.

The purpose of the Community Relations Board is to handle disputes between faculty and students, specifically over grades. The board would be composed of two students, four faculty members and four members of the administration.

The new board will be made by the Judicial Reviewing Board. When a student first confers with the faculty member, the procedure is to be as follows:

1. The student first confers with the faculty member. A mutual agreement is not reached, the question then goes to the department chairman.

2. Barred settlement at this level, the matter will then be presented to the Community Relations Board. All decisions made on student appeals by the Board will be final.

Report was also made to the Student Assembly of a Student Affairs Committee meeting decision concerning the entrance by hall directors. The policy has been established that, when the hall directors desire to post notice in an apartment, signs must be posted in advance of the check to enable the residents to be present if they desire.

Various student appointments were voted by the Student Assembly. They included the appointment of Missy Sloan, named Student Body Secretary and Carol Lacey, Student Body Treasurer.

Diane Shahedy was elected Student Services Organization (SSO) director. Mary Jane Alias will serve as Controller of SSO. The five SSO Commissioners were also named: Chris Nieland (Lawyer-Entrepreneur Lewis Kelso will present to the Notre Dame community his unique system of economics which he labels "two-factor economics." The Student Union Academic Commission has coupled Kelso's speech which will be given in the Library Auditorium at 8 p.m. Wednesday with a round table with authors of the book, Profs. Lewis and Kelso to be moderated by Library Director Harriett, Prof. Peter Wallace, Prof. Lewis and Kelso to be moderated by Library Director Harriett, Prof. Peter Wallace, Prof. Lewis and Kelso to be moderated by Library Director Harriett, Prof. Peter Wallace, and Dr. William Dagan. The topic of the discussion will be "Economics and the Nazification of England."

Considered by most to be the middle ground between socialism and capitalism, "two-factor economics" is based on both capital and labor. (continued on page 7)

Will present system of economics

Lawyer-entrepreneur Lewis Kelso will present to the Notre Dame community his unique system of economics which he labels "two-factor economics." The Student Union Academic Commission has coupled Kelso's speech which will be given in the Library Auditorium at 8 p.m. Wednesday with a round table discussion with authors of the book, Profs. Lewis and Kelso to be moderated by Library Director Harriett, Prof. Peter Wallace, and Dr. William Dagan. The topic of the discussion will be "Economics and the Nazification of England."

Considered by most to be the middle ground between socialism and capitalism, "two-factor economics" is based on both capital and labor. (continued on page 6)

Students should stand together

Proposes ND as sanctuary

by Steve Lazar

Prof. Charles McCarthy of the Program of Non-Violence proposed last night that a sanctuary be created at Notre Dame for the protection of those students who could not morally justify their induction into the military institution.

McCarty suggested that the students "stand together" at Notre Dame in collective conscience resistance to the conscription killing in South-East Asia.

"It is an intolerable situation, a situation of gigantic proportions," he said.

McCarty said that it was usually futile for a person to "stand alone" in resisting induction, and he said that the present CFI draft registration was of little help because it discriminates against those who form conscience on the right to declining to conscienctious objection were not met by the Federal Government," he said.

"You have the absolute right not to have the Government force you into a war," he said. "The absolute right is absolute when you consider it immoral."

McCarty noted that after the U.S. forced Germany to write a new constitution, that country was given a constitution, but it did not take the same step at home. He said that the proposal (continued on page 5)
Hesburgh announces promotions

Twelve University of Notre Dame teachers were promoted to full professor, it was announced yesterday by the Rev. Theodore M. Hesburgh, C.S.C., at the traditional President’s Dinner at the University of Notre Dame.

Promoted to full professor were Dr. Leon L. Bernardi, history; Dr. William B. Berry and Richard J. Laske, electrical engineering; Dr. George A. Brinkley and Edward A. Boerner, chemical engineering; Dr. Donald J. Lanct, C.S.C., art; Dr. Robert J. Lordi, English; Drs. Karamjit S. Mann, finance and business economics; Donald E. Spotader, architecture, and the Rev. Ivo Thomas, O.P., general program of liberal studies.

The New Book by Paul R. Ehrlich and Anne H. Ehrlich

The author(s) of the bestselling report The Population Bomb present the first comprehensive, detailed analysis of the worldwide population-environment crisis. An indispensable sourcebook for all concerned citizens, a timely and relevant textbook for courses on environmental science.

"I have found no comprehensive and well-documented discussion of today's great problems not only valuable but also very interesting." -Linus Pauling

"A superb book." -Preston Cloud
Cloth, Illustrated, $3.95

THE OBSERVER WEDNESDAY, MAY 13, 1970

Queens to stay

The Student Senate engaged in a lengthy debate last night over a motion presented by Senator Pat Weber to cut the Student Activity Fee by two dollars for the upcoming year.

All the senators were able to agree that a motion to table the bill until a clearer study could be made was necessary. The committee supported the cutback by a 10 to 1 vote. The rationale behind their decision was that if first, the cutback would allow the halls to expend their original amount of funds in spending, an, make it easier for them to collect a half tax. This would eliminate the problem of having student government allocate funds to the various halls. Secondly, they contended that the cutback would not have any affect on the work of the student government.

The motion to table the bill until a future meeting was passed by a 13 to 7 vote. Presented which would have banded the sponsoring of queen contests in the spring.

The argument in favor of this motion was that such contests are "contrary to the spirit of human sensitivity since they place an unnecessary emphasis on the female on the basis of physical appearance alone." Not all of the senators were convinced, since the motion failed by a 13 to 7 vote.

In the line of new business, Senator Tom Miganielli presented a proposal for this year’s Student Affairs Committee.

The proposal was to remove the Student Body President from such Committees as the S.C.C., the University Forum, and the Student Affairs Committee of the Board of Trustees. Miganielli’s rationale was the involvement by the S.B.V. in such bureaucratic structures detract from his ability to relate back to the students, especially in the headquarters, where the bridge would still be maintained by the SBV.

The senator’s second proposal was to effect abolishment and oratory buying of mealcards by on-campus students. Hopefully a meal ticket system could be implemented soon.

Prior to adjournment, Senator Jim DeSipio made a motion that would support reading the use of student government funds to support recreational activities. Marks assured the body that the fund itself would be sufficient to cover all of the expenditures of the strike.

This motion was passed by a unanimous consent of the Senate.

The meeting adjourned. The next Senate meeting will take place on Tuesday of next week.

Students tables fee cut

by Charles Myers

The Student Senate engaged in a lengthy debate last night over a motion presented by senator Pat Weber to cut the Student Activity Fee by two dollars for the upcoming year.

All the senators were able to agree that a motion to table the bill until a clearer study could be made was necessary. The committee supported the cutback by a 10 to 1 vote. The rationale behind their decision was that if first, the cutback would allow the halls to expend their original amount of funds in spending, an, make it easier for them to collect a half tax. This would eliminate the problem of having student government allocate funds to the various halls. Secondly, they contended that the cutback would not have any affect on the work of the student government.

The motion to table the bill until a future meeting was passed by a 13 to 7 vote. Presented which would have banded the sponsoring of queen contests in the spring.

The argument in favor of this motion was that such contests are "contrary to the spirit of human sensitivity since they place an unnecessary emphasis on the female on the basis of physical appearance alone." Not all of the senators were convinced, since the motion failed by a 13 to 7 vote.

In the line of new business, Senator Tom Miganielli presented a proposal for this year’s Student Affairs Committee.

The proposal was to remove the Student Body President from such Committees as the S.C.C., the University Forum, and the Student Affairs Committee of the Board of Trustees. Miganielli’s rationale was the involvement by the S.B.V. in such bureaucratic structures detract from his ability to relate back to the students, especially in the headquarters, where the bridge would still be maintained by the SBV.

The senator’s second proposal was to effect abolishment and oratory buying of mealcards by on-campus students. Hopefully a meal ticket system could be implemented soon.

Prior to adjournment, Senator Jim DeSipio made a motion that would support reading the use of student government funds to support recreational activities. Marks assured the body that the fund itself would be sufficient to cover all of the expenditures of the strike.

This motion was passed by a unanimous consent of the Senate.

The meeting adjourned. The next Senate meeting will take place on Tuesday of next week.

Students tables fee cut

by Dave Lammers

A book of readings on Christian attitudes towards war, conscient, the draft, and other related topics, is being planned for the spring. The book of readings is to be written by Notre Dame and St. Mary’s students and is intended to inform the high school age audience about various attitudes towards war.

The topics planned include such things as women and war, selective conscientious objection, the just war theory, the New Testament and war, and articles by Korea students from Notre Dame.

The planners of the book envision about twenty topics, with each topic being approached through prose, fiction, pictures, and cartoons. We neutral writers, artists, cartoonists, typists, people who would look through already published materials, perhaps could help with the organization of the topics,” said Dave Johnson. Students interested in contributing to the book are urged to attend an organizational meeting tonight at the University of Notre Dame at 9:00 PM.

"Publishers have been contacted and have expressed a definite interest in the book," reported Dave Johnson. Most of the publishers asked that samples of the materials be prepared before a contract could be signed. "Most of the work would be done over the summer" said Johnson, "but we have to spend some time this spring getting things organized, which is why this meeting tonight is so essential to the success of the book.’’

SMC frosh select Welte

by Ann Therese Darin

SMC freshmen sailed the ship of experience yesterday as they elected the team of Sue Wele, Mary Jo Fellini, and Pat Haffey as officers for their frosh class.

Ten thirty voters abstained. "It was a fair election," claimed Molly Metzler, Miss Welte’s campaign manager. "I counted every vote with Lolo Ryan, who canvassing. Both Hartke and Brademas asked that sample materials be prepared before a contract could be signed. "Most of the work would be done over the summer" said Johnson, "but we have to spend some time this spring getting things organized, which is why this meeting tonight is so essential to the success of the book.’’

Convassers get many signatures

(from continued page 1)

"Notre Dame has been asked to act as regional (Midwest) headquarters of this drive," Dedrick said.

Dedrick went on to announce that Vance Hartke and John Brademas, Indiana candidates for the U.S. Senate and House respectively, have asked that 10 Notre Dame students be appointed to organize their student canvassing. Both Hartke and Brademas are anti-war candidates.

SMC will canvass in LaFortune ballroom at 2:00 before going out to get more signatures.

In other canvassing news, Dedrick said historian Staughton Lynd is scheduled to speak at 1:00 on Friday afternoon. It is still unannounced as to where he will appear.

The Observer is published daily during the academic year by students of the University of Notre Dame.

From your booksore

W. H. FREEMAN AND COMPANY

600 Market Street, San Francisco, Ca. 94104
The mayor of Ypsilantii, Michigan, declared at 5:30 a.m. curfew for a second night in the wake of disorders in which students of Eastern Michi­ gan University threw rocks, set fires at barricades and overturn­ ed a truck. At least 76 persons were arrested Monday night and early Tuesday. A firebomb was tossed into a cafeteria at Ohio University in Athens, causing an estimated $122,000 damage. John Froines, a member of the “Chicago Seven,” told students Monday night the deaths of four Kent State Students were a “second Boston massacre.” Two fires believed set by anonymous callers resulted in $100,000 damage to a music building at Illinois Wesleyan University in Bloomington.

COMMUNITY

The Community Programming Committee met last night with representatives from South Bend, local high schools, I U.S., Notre Dame and St. Mary’s. The purpose of the meeting was to establish summer and fall extension of Community Program, to provide for community participation and communication, and to expand and consolidate its present organizational structure.

An economic committee was instituted to plan a youth employment agency, day care centers, free food programs, and home delivery service. They will add a new organizational meeting at 807 Donald Avenue at 7:30 p.m. Friday. He also said that rides will be available, leaving from the circle at 7:00 p.m.

The Program Committee, Kahn said, extends an apology for its reached scheduling of the film In the Year of the Pig. All future discrepancies in programming will be published in the Observer which will carry a daily up-to-date schedule of events. In the Year of the Pig will be shown again at Notre Dame next week due to its enthusiastic reception at the showing yesterday afternoon.

WEDNESDAY MAY 12

8:00 p.m. Panel: Economic Boycott
Panelists: John Hrkak,
Fr. Louis Exhibit Hall, S.M.C.
10:00 p.m. War and Environmentalism
Richard Yeomans, Fr. Bartell Hall, S.M.C.
7:00 p.m. The University as a Creative Factory Richard Yeomans, Exhibit Hall, S.M.C.

Windsor Program approves shift in Black community

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Judge Harry A. Blackmun could weight the voting balance in the Su­ preme Court to the way Arthur J. Goldberg did in 1962, but in the opposite direction.

Goldberg, who resigned to become ambassador to the United Nations but in the opposite direction, did heavy property damage. John Froines, a member of the “Chicago Seven,” told students Monday night the deaths of four Kent State Students were a “second Boston massacre.” Two fires believed set by anonymous callers resulted in $100,000 damage to a music building at Illinois Wesleyan University in Bloomington.

Blackmun approval

President Nixon favors what he calls “strict constructionists” of the Constitution in his Su­ preme Court nominations. He has explained that he means justices who would give Congress greater leeway to write the laws and who would be “very conser­ vative in overthrowing a law passed by the elected representa­ tives at the state or federal level.”

Burger already has spoken out in dissent from what he calls the court’s tendency to reach out for solutions to social problems beyond its concern. Justice John M. Harlan has always deplored what he thought was undue overreaching of the congressional will.

The votes of Justices Potter Stewart, Byron R. White and probably Hugo L. Black could be corrugated in many cases for a philosophy more in keeping with the Nixon concept than has been evident in the past few years. For instance, states may have things more their own way in areas like obscenity and some phases of criminal law.

Only Justices William O. Douglas, William J. Brennan Jr. and Thurgood Marshall of the Warren voting bloc are left. Black has been drawing away from it for several years.

LOST

Contact Lens in case
If found call John 1285

ATTENTION ALL

New Sophomores may start placing ring orders now

New Sophomores may start placing ring orders now

Hours: 1:30-4:30 Monday thru Friday

in office on second floor of ND Bookstore
Letters to the Editor

Illinois from other campuses

Jim Senyszyn

Students don't have to wait for some other organizations to pick up the slack. They can create their own campus correspondents. In this way they can report on events to their folks back home—they can become self-made campus correspondents. There is no law that says one has to get a university degree to practice journalism. Let's start small—can there be a campus newsletter? We could invite people to contribute to it. The newspaper is the most important medium there is. It's where people find out what's happening, where they can express their opinions. It's also where they can learn about local events. Let's start small and see if it grows.

The following was submitted to Campus Opinion by John Gaither Jr. who is the chairman of the Notre Dame Young Republicans. It is a statement of his personal opinion on President Nixon's recent action, and is not meant to be indicative of the sentiments of the members of the Notre Dame Young Republicans.

Student Opinion

A school strike is very different from a factory strike or a strike for economic reasons. Those strikes are based on economic factors. A school strike is based on political factors. It is a protest against what is happening in the country. People are angry. They feel that the government is not doing enough to stop the war. They are not only protesting against the war, but also against the way the government is handling it. They are trying to express their dissatisfaction with the government's policies.

The following was submitted to Campus Opinion by John Gaither Jr. who is the chairman of the Notre Dame Young Republicans. It is a statement of his personal opinion on President Nixon's recent action, and is not meant to be indicative of the sentiments of the members of the Notre Dame Young Republicans.

Back Home, Editor

If the U.S. military effort in Cambodia is not to deteriorate in this time, we should not wait to put all the pressure we can muster on Congress. But I see no evidence of deterrence. If the Communist bloc were to threaten South Vietnam with massive support, their reaction would have been immediate. We are now doing what they have been doing for years. It is the North Vietnamese we are fighting in Cambodia. They have no more right there than we do.

Another consideration is how the military effort is going in Cambodia. So far it has apparently been a success. Tons of food supplies have been captured. Arms for thousands of troops have also been discovered. The South Vietnamese are carrying a large part of the burden.

At the end of eight weeks, everyone in the world will be able to tell if the invasion was a wise decision. If it forces the North to commit their reserves to no avail or if it drives the enemy troops from their sanctuaries, the mission will have been a success from a military point of view. If war casualties are reduced at the end of the action to levels below those prior to the invasion, Mr. Nixon will have been proven correct. If the invasion brings no significant military or political result, no public relations man in the country could save Mr. Nixon. The doors in the House will be able to collect the necessary votes to cut off funds to Southeast Asia and collecting signatures for petitions to the President is easy.

Meanwhile the nation should keep a watchful eye on foreign policy and pray that Mr. Nixon is right. He does not want war. It can only mean his downfall; indeed the nation's downfall. He made a judgment, which was not wise, after a year of careful study. The more one year of study he inherited. In doing so he put his head on the chopping block. If nothing else it took courage. Give Mr. Nixon his eight weeks; that is all he asked for after that, if he has not produced results, his time has run out. Let the ax fall where it may.
A review by Jim E. Brogan

Petula Parades undiminished

This is Jim Brogan’s swan song as a concert reviewer for the year and throughout his career here he has reviewed concerts fairly, objectively, and unobtrusively. In spite of Socialism, paramus, he has reviewed them in spite of attacks from some of Notre Dame’s more notable illiterates. And he has reviewed them well. Brogan has never made any pretense of being a professional critic. He claims no special expertise in the various forms of music he has reviewed. His criticism has been based on the free kind of pretentiousness that has on the question of whether the bass guitar captures the soul of a woodpecker in the third movement of Haydn, at a result, it has sparkled with honesty and a dash of common sense. Brogan was a man with a ticket going to a concert, just like everyone else. That’s why he was able to capture the brilliance and the mockery that this concert season evoked.

Only a persistent group of quasi-critics who wished they could do the same couldn’t see that. It was really too bad.

“You are going to get your money’s worth” announced spirtied Petula Clark. And we did.

Last Friday night the Athletic and Convocation Center presented Petula Clark in concert; and this time they meant just Petula Clark, not Petula Clark and a bunch of half-baked, never-going-to-make-it-on-their-own semi-entertainers to dully fill in the first half of the show. The show was Petula Clark, and Petula Clark was a show in itself. She carried the whole concert on her own strength (with help of course from a back-up orchestra) and did an admirable job. She is undoubtedly the best single performer that Notre Dame has seen this year, and fits somewhere between Ray Charles and Dionne Warwick on the best of the last 4 years list.

She sang her hits, she sang her non-hits, and she sang other people’s hits. But that’s an understatement. She did more than sing, she gave what Peter Townsend of the Who would demand of a concert—a theatrical performance. Petula Petula was lively on stage, she animated each song, she acted out the moods and emotions of each to such an extent that they came alive both visually and vocally.

The second one of the few performers who uses playing in the round to her advantage. While most singers and storytellers continually and rather tritely fight in a futile attempt to expose themselves to as much of the audience as they can, she glided with the grace and effortlessness of a breeze carpet around the rectangular stage.

This stage was constructed in such a manner that the orchestra was concealed in a sunken pit in the center of the stage, allowing peppy Petula to joyfully float around them. An ideal setup for such a concert. Petula, the star, set on a higher plane than the orchestra, while at the same time surrounding them with her voice and her presence.

This, of course, should not take away anything from the orchestra, the members of which were roundly applauded for “accompanying me so very beautifully.”

This orchestra, which we have heard before with Henry Mancini during his Midwest tours, and with Andy Williams at the opening of the ACC, richly deserved such acclaim. The band leader, Frank Owens, especially showed great versatility in his conducting and his performance on the piano.

Her studio-perfect renditions included her hits, Don’t Sleep in the Subway, Darling, This is My Song, Sign of the Times, Color My World, I Couldn’t Live Without Your Love, and Downtown.

She also performed medley-type numbers, such as hits from My Fair Lady, a diva called My Name is Petula in which she showed that she is talented in any language; music from the vastly over-rated Hair; and a brief anthology of musical styles called appropriately The Impossible Dream.

The remainder of her material was equally strong with what should have been last year’s song of the year Joe South’s Games People Play, the sentimental classic My Funny Valentine, and three of the Beatles’ most famous numbers, Yesterday, Fool on the Hill, and Hey, Jude.

“Maybe my lucky star at last has started to shine,” she sang. But we all knew she had a lot more to offer than just luck. She was a complete performer.

A review by Mike Lenahan

McCartney: all wrong from the beginning

(Socialism please note: I am about to purity this album. To the best of my knowledge, the Notre Dame Student Union Socialism in no way connected with the recording, production or distribution of this thing new letter with 47 signatures on it, I’ll ask for one.)

The gospel thing was bothering me weeks before it ever came out. The McCartney album, I mean. First there was the whole thing of “Billboard”, that I could find a bowl of cherries, except that all the cherries were spitted out. That’s all, just one cherry of a few cherries—bothered me for days. What it turned out to be, but nobody knew that then was the cover of Paul McCartney’s new album McCartney.

That’s the way the new review by some cat from the Chicago Tribune more fortunate than I (He got the first album, I mean). He wrote more or less, McCartney couldn’t do it all by himself because he’s not a solo genius like Al Kooper (wrong—Kooper has unhandlessly wasted enough performing power to erect a 4-mile statue of himself, which is all he’s been trying to do lately anyway.)

What I mean to say is that this guy is kind of almost right, but not quite (every hanger, even small ones, has one of these) the McCartney album does fail, but I think there is another reason for this, besides the fact that Paul McCartney can’t play no drums. This I will correspondingly explain as soon as I have fulfilled the compulsory figures of album reviewing.

Mr. Lenahan, speaking, McCartney has some problems. The most obvious is that Paul McCartney can’t play no drums (on my friend from the Trib points out). Apparently he thinks he can get away with a night, funky style; which he thinks (wrong) is easy to do. It is used to be easy to understand the talents of Ringo Starr no more.

McCartney’s lack of ability on the drums, which reaches almost unbelievable proportions by the time we get to the first cut on side two (GOO YOU) serves to point out another problem, namely that the cat has no imagination. He’s at a loss for interesting ways to get into and out of songs, which is more important or difficult until it heard it done so badly. It seems as though he starts every song with drum, is a high school rock band, group. Especially in light of his intro when the album and the poor sound he manages to get out of them, this is a no-no. McCartney turns to the drums whenever he needs something, but he never gets that something out of them. McCartney has always been an interesting change of direction in Morning Max America is aborts by a bit of playing on the drums.

McCartney also shows a lack of creativity in the use of sounds. Often his choice of instrumentation does a potentially good song any chance of success. As he says, was the rhythm guitar (there’s name for it, but I can’t, remember it) on Ooh You, for instance, kills any possibilities the song may have had. As if my artistic sensibilities haven’t High flying legalized in D.C.

WASHINGTON (UPI)–House members Sunday legalized kite flying in the nation’s capital. The bill, which has been under discussion for months, was introduced by Congressman Lamborn of the Midwest, however, with other ancient restraints on local public behavior, including the playing of the national anthem by any trees.

“If we’ve got a thing to do,” said Rep. Andrew Jacobs, D-Ind., sponsor of the bill to repeal a kite flying ban dating from 1871. “But as has been said, the journey of a thousand miles begins with but a single step. I promised members I will be back with bills to repeal some of these other measures if you help me get this one off the ground.”

Michael Kelly, presently under investigation by the Army Security Agency as a dangerous subversive, raps with revolutionary leader William F. Stokely, Jr.
Letters to the Editor

Free ROTC

Editor:
Isn't it rather hypocritical that the vast majority of those who support the Academic Free Dom proposal would be the same ones who would have ROTC discontinued on campus? I have signed this proposal because I believe that those who so wish should have the freedom to make choices implicated in it. But I wonder how many of this vast majority would sign such a similar proposal allowing me to make a choice about whether or not I would like to continue my studies in ROTC? I doubt that it would be more than a handful, if any at all.
Sincerely,
Donald J. White
405 Keenan
United for Peace

Editor:
I am writing this letter because I believe a wave of mass hysteria is sweeping this country. From the provinces comes the echoes of harsh rhetoric and indelent language.
Everyone is either a communist or a fascist. Is it any longer or a fascist. Is it any longer possible to be an American, "to love my country and still love justice," as Camus said?
Not since the Civil War has we been so torn apart.
What we are witnessing today is a politics of polarization. It issues from the White House and from the streets of Kent, Ohio.
It is a politics of manipulation on both ends--and the fate of the republic stands in the balance. We must not make the victim. For there have been too many victims already.
The question now is what we are called upon to do. For some, the madness of an escalation abroad calls for an escalation of violence at home, which is equally as mad. We must call for an excitation, but of a different kind. Confrontation

Cuba no paradise

Editor:
As I attended the Rally on Monday, May 4, I was deeply disturbed by the shocking naiveté of some of the speakers, and, judging from their reactions, a large portion of the crowd. I personally feel that our country's history is full of similar scenarios. The"crime punishable by imprisonment. No protests at all are permitted at the Castro government seeks to

to get total control over the lives of the people. Even mass coercion is practiced. For example, compulsory labor and the imprisonment of those who refuse to work is mandatory for all workers.

The United States is committed to the preservation of the campus radicals, and this action should be to demonstrate that justice is demonstrated through democratic rule.

I believe that a policy of confrontation and defeat must not be our guide, especially in this community. A disassociation of problems and aims is a first step.
But action must be taken and although this action should be to effect representatives to Congress and the Senate who will act to terminate the Indo-China War.

For this purpose, a national bipartisan committee to obtain support for such candidates might be a

The Dome needs Photographers

If interested call J.J. Cottrell
8761 AFTER MIDNIGHT

IT'S YOUR STORE...

M Igora
KNIT SHIRTS

Cool in comfort, cool in appearance... these famous McGregor cotton knits are indispensable for warm weather action. Choose now from a good variety of colors and stripes at your Campus Shop. Use your account, it's open.

The Observer
WEDNESDAY, MAY 13, 1970

Economist Kelso to lecture on system

(continued from page 1)
claims that until he came alone economists-Mark incuded--based all their theories on one factor only-labor.
Kelso's solution: emancipate wage earners from the false reward of wages and give all of them a share of capital ownership. The system can be sensibly changed, says Kelso, not by redistributing the capital owned by 5 percent of the population, but by expanding the economy so radically that the 95 percent of the population can also become owners.

Kelso recognizes an ever-widening gap between the very rich and the very poor. He solves it this way: "New capital formation in the American economy is taking place at the rate of about $60 billion a year, which is enough new capital to allocate about $4,000 to each

15 million families each year, or $20,000 in five years. The 15 million families are one-quarter of all households in the United States and almost all of the poorest ones."

By Kelso's timetable, the switchover would be accomplished without falling costs, because the treadmill

N.D. BOOKSTORE

Record Sale
Starts May 11
India and West is Khera lecture topic

by Mike Chapin

"Non-violence is being fol­lowed to an exact extent but now India has just about forgotten Mahatma Gandhi. Now that the object of his non-violence (peace), non-violence has become the object of the Prime Minister. The new religious to save India and the rest of the world is "Dev Saam," said Professor Pran Dal Khera, founder and president of Dev Saam College for Women in Ambyala, India.

Professor Khera spoke in the Noble Hall Library Auditorium yesterday, on the topic, "India and the West: What can we do for the campus and our country?" I have a very simple solution for mankind. What does one man need? Happiness. But the more men have run off to happiness, the more they have invited misery," he said.

Khera explained that feelings with which he agreed are very sad. These feelings can bring harmony among persons and among nations.

We must cultivate one of the other higher feelings. If you are able to make another person happy, you will have that happiness which everyone aims at.

Professor Khera explained that this religion was formed by a man called Bhagwan Dev Ahu who was born in 1850.

The religion is quite small and that is why member number is in hundreds, he said. However, the divine influence has converted many people according to Khera.

One man who was in the process of murdering his invalid mother by locking her in the house wandered into Khera's duty and called on the House to carry out the amendment which the separation of powers in the United States is expected to come in early June.

The amendment is to be conducted at Notre Dame next Tuesday, May 30th noon at and 2 p.m.

Two students were named to the Space Allocation Committee, Barb Connelly and Ann Muellman received the Health Committee of the Student Affairs Council meetings as a non-voting member.

AUGUSTA Ga. (UPI) - Hundreds of blacks gathered in eerie silence on their doorsteps in the rest scarred section of Augusta last night, sealed off from the rest of the town by National Guard roadblocks.

Darkness brought massive tension and unnatural silence to the 130 block area where police swept six Negroes, 60 blocks and a Schedule vote on Wednesday

A national student referendum is planned to determine study support for the President's-McGovern amendment which would cut off funds for Vietnam, Cambodia, and Laos, by December 31, 1970.

The referendum is to be completed by May 22 and the vote on the amendment is expected to come in early June.

The referendum is to be conducted at Notre Dame next Wednesday, May 30th noon and at 2 p.m.

Two students were named to the Space Allocation Committee, Barb Connelly and Ann Muellman.

Steve Novak

Dave Krahn said the signing was "a big decision on my part." I was going it for myself," he said, not only because of the war but because of the state of the economy and Nixon's "poor position on civil rights." Nixon should be studying the situation," and this statement "would allow people to see exactly what's going on," Krahn said it was "unfortunate" that they (the NSA) could not face student body presidents because of the misere-

Steve

President Nixon's annex proposal the United States and said that our sky-scrappers would be a good way to habituate such a large number of people in one place. Khera also expressed his thanks for the foreign aid his country had received.

"I want to express my very grateful thanks to your country for coming to our aid. We were facing famine." "People of America are very polite, very reasonable, and extremely cooperating. Our people are not as hard working."

Quiet settlers over troubled Augusta

Krasha supports impeachment

by John Powers

Student Body President Dave Krahn on May 1 signed a statement calling for the impeach-ment of President Nixon for ordering United States troops into Cambodia April 30. The two-page statement was drawn up by the National Student Association in Washington and signed by 70 college students from across the nation.

The statement finds the inva­sion "a direct disregard of the Constitution of the United States," and calls on the House of Representatives to "carry out its constitutionally dedicated duties and begin impeachment proceedings against Richard Mil­house Nixon.

"We have been told," the statement says, "that the strength of our country depends on law and order. The keynote of this law is the Constitution, in which the framers of the framers have said that separation that -- and the means to enforce that separation -- was clearly outlined by the rise of a monarch or despot. We see the latest example of that separation of power, dues­garding the constitution of the United States.

The NSA and the student body presidents plan "to rally students throughout the coun­try, urging them to enlist the support of their campus and community to urge their con­gressmen to take action and assure their constitutional re­sponsibility to check the Pres­i­dent's use of power.

This is AMERICA'S LAST WEEK END

And we're going out with a TRULY GREAT SHOW

FRIDAY: ROCK SATURDAY: FOLK

Be There: 9:00 PM

NaACP chapter, reported the group had changed its mind after Mayor Millard Beckum boldly committed himself "to do all he can to get those kids out of jail, to set up working policies for hiring numbers of minority groups and to investigate the existing jail facilities.

Beckum would only say that these things are "under discussion.

Col. Edwin Staten, deputy commander of the Georgia Guard, said the troops had been instructed to fire only in self defense, and then to shoot to main rather than to kill.

Assembly initiates board

(continued from page 1)

Standing Committee. Sue Dorn and Barb Connelly received the academic appointments of student representatives on the committee with admissions.

Cathy Eglet will fill one of the two academic appointments, the Health Committee of the Student Affairs Committee. The other position remains to be filled.

Two students were named to the Space Allocation Committee, Barb Connelly and Ann Muellman received.

A motion was also passed by the Assembly to give the Student Body President the option of attending Academic Affairs Council meetings as a non-voting member. The rationale of this motion is to help bridge the gap between the student and academic affairs. This motion will now be sent to the Student Affairs Committee for consideration.

Elections today

Class elections will be held today in South, Alumni and Fisher halls. Elections were not held in these halls last Friday because ballot boxes were not delivered. Off-campus students may also vote today. Voting will be from 11:30-1:00 and from 5:15 until 7 in the halls. Off-campus students will vote during the off-campus office hours.

Five

4 Foot Black Lites and Fixture

FOR SALE

$15.00

Used only once at Tri-Prom

Call 6967

Happy 20th Birthday.

Janet.

Steve
by J.W. Findling
Observer Sportswriter

The Notre Dame Rugby Club, although weakened by injuries again, fought its way to the final game of the Commonwealth Cup Tournament and came very close to capturing the crown. The ruggers humbled North Carolina 24-3 and Michigan 25-3 on Saturday before losing a heart-breaking, overtime defeat to Brown 6-3 in the final game on Sunday.

Playing in the 95 degree heat of Charlottesville, Virginia, the Irish ruggers played brilliantly against the best rugger teams in the East and the South. Top-seeded, Yale, who was Berry was the best player in the East and the undefeated and Ivy League tourney, and certainly.

Top-seeded, Yale, who was Berry was the best player in the East and the undefeated and Ivy League tourney, and certainly.

The ruggers humbled North Carolina 24-3 and Michigan 25-3 on Saturday before losing a heart-breaking, overtime defeat to Brown 6-3 in the final game on Sunday.

Playing in the 95 degree heat of Charlottesville, Virginia, the Irish ruggers played brilliantly against the best rugger teams in the East and the South. Top-seeded, Yale, who was Berry was the best player in the East and the undefeated and Ivy League tourney, and certainly.

Top-seeded, Yale, who was Berry was the best player in the East and the undefeated and Ivy League tourney, and certainly.