Homecoming changes proposed; Charities would receive money

Tom Gara

Monday night the Home Principals' Conference discussed plans for the upcoming Homecoming decorations with particular focus on a proposal calling for a change in the traditional float content. The new plan, presented by Batlin Hall President Buzz Imhoff provides for the joint construction of two major floats instead of one float per hall.

In presenting the proposal that the money the halls would normally spend in float construction be given to a charity or charities in the South Bend area. The proposal is in provision for the creation of two committees, each to build a float, one for the North Quad area, and one for the main quad area. The funds for these two floats would come from the $3.50 appropriated as prize money each year by the Student Union. The money that each hall usually spent on construction costs for the individual floats would then be donated to charities chosen from a list drawn up by the HPC.

In stating his rationale for the proposal, Imhoff explained that only fifty or sixty percent of the halls would contribute to the float competition and the interest in building the floats usually comes from a few individuals. Imhoff feels that this is not representative of the student body as a whole.

Although the Council does not know exactly how many halls will be interested in the float competition, they are considering two major ideas: 1) the individual hall would be responsible for donating float money to a charity of its choice, or 2) the money would be collected by the HPC and given to one or more charities, as chosen by the HPC.

The measure passed unanimously in a vote taken by the Hall Presidents and awaits consideration by the full council. The presidents have met with representatives of all their halls.

The council also discussed a proposal designed to give concerned students the opportunity to offer their student government representatives an opinion on the issues. The results of this ballot will be used by the Student Senate to help students make decisions.

The measure passed unanimously in a vote taken by the Hall Presidents and awaits consideration by the full council. The presidents have met with representatives of all their halls.

The council also discussed a proposal designed to give concerned students the opportunity to offer their student government representatives an opinion on the issues. The results of this ballot will be used by the Student Senate to help students make decisions.

Tom Gara

Monday night the Home Principals' Conference discussed plans for the upcoming Homecoming decorations with particular focus on a proposal calling for a change in the traditional float content. The new plan, presented by Batlin Hall President Buzz Imhoff provides for the joint construction of two major floats instead of one float per hall.

In presenting the proposal that the money the halls would normally spend in float construction be given to a charity or charities in the South Bend area. The proposal is in provision for the creation of two committees, each to build a float, one for the North Quad area, and one for the main quad area. The funds for these two floats would come from the $3.50 appropriated as prize money each year by the Student Union. The money that each hall usually spent on construction costs for the individual floats would then be donated to charities chosen from a list drawn up by the HPC.

In stating his rationale for the proposal, Imhoff explained that only fifty or sixty percent of the halls would contribute to the float competition and the interest in building the floats usually comes from a few individuals. Imhoff feels that this is not representative of the student body as a whole.

Although the Council does not know exactly how many halls will be interested in the float competition, they are considering two major ideas: 1) the individual hall would be responsible for donating float money to a charity of its choice, or 2) the money would be collected by the HPC and given to one or more charities, as chosen by the HPC.

The measure passed unanimously in a vote taken by the Hall Presidents and awaits consideration by the full council. The presidents have met with representatives of all their halls.

The council also discussed a proposal designed to give concerned students the opportunity to offer their student government representatives an opinion on the issues. The results of this ballot will be used by the Student Senate to help students make decisions.

The measure passed unanimously in a vote taken by the Hall Presidents and awaits consideration by the full council. The presidents have met with representatives of all their halls.

The council also discussed a proposal designed to give concerned students the opportunity to offer their student government representatives an opinion on the issues. The results of this ballot will be used by the Student Senate to help students make decisions.

Tom Gara

Monday night the Home Principals' Conference discussed plans for the upcoming Homecoming decorations with particular focus on a proposal calling for a change in the traditional float content. The new plan, presented by Batlin Hall President Buzz Imhoff provides for the joint construction of two major floats instead of one float per hall.

In presenting the proposal that the money the halls would normally spend in float construction be given to a charity or charities in the South Bend area. The proposal is in provision for the creation of two committees, each to build a float, one for the North Quad area, and one for the main quad area. The funds for these two floats would come from the $3.50 appropriated as prize money each year by the Student Union. The money that each hall usually spent on construction costs for the individual floats would then be donated to charities chosen from a list drawn up by the HPC.

In stating his rationale for the proposal, Imhoff explained that only fifty or sixty percent of the halls would contribute to the float competition and the interest in building the floats usually comes from a few individuals. Imhoff feels that this is not representative of the student body as a whole.

Although the Council does not know exactly how many halls will be interested in the float competition, they are considering two major ideas: 1) the individual hall would be responsible for donating float money to a charity of its choice, or 2) the money would be collected by the HPC and given to one or more charities, as chosen by the HPC.

The measure passed unanimously in a vote taken by the Hall Presidents and awaits consideration by the full council. The presidents have met with representatives of all their halls.

The council also discussed a proposal designed to give concerned students the opportunity to offer their student government representatives an opinion on the issues. The results of this ballot will be used by the Student Senate to help students make decisions.

The measure passed unanimously in a vote taken by the Hall Presidents and awaits consideration by the full council. The presidents have met with representatives of all their halls.

The council also discussed a proposal designed to give concerned students the opportunity to offer their student government representatives an opinion on the issues. The results of this ballot will be used by the Student Senate to help students make decisions.

Tom Gara

Monday night the Home Principals' Conference discussed plans for the upcoming Homecoming decorations with particular focus on a proposal calling for a change in the traditional float content. The new plan, presented by Batlin Hall President Buzz Imhoff provides for the joint construction of two major floats instead of one float per hall.

In presenting the proposal that the money the halls would normally spend in float construction be given to a charity or charities in the South Bend area. The proposal is in provision for the creation of two committees, each to build a float, one for the North Quad area, and one for the main quad area. The funds for these two floats would come from the $3.50 appropriated as prize money each year by the Student Union. The money that each hall usually spent on construction costs for the individual floats would then be donated to charities chosen from a list drawn up by the HPC.

In stating his rationale for the proposal, Imhoff explained that only fifty or sixty percent of the halls would contribute to the float competition and the interest in building the floats usually comes from a few individuals. Imhoff feels that this is not representative of the student body as a whole.

Although the Council does not know exactly how many halls will be interested in the float competition, they are considering two major ideas: 1) the individual hall would be responsible for donating float money to a charity of its choice, or 2) the money would be collected by the HPC and given to one or more charities, as chosen by the HPC.

The measure passed unanimously in a vote taken by the Hall Presidents and awaits consideration by the full council. The presidents have met with representatives of all their halls.

The council also discussed a proposal designed to give concerned students the opportunity to offer their student government representatives an opinion on the issues. The results of this ballot will be used by the Student Senate to help students make decisions.

The measure passed unanimously in a vote taken by the Hall Presidents and awaits consideration by the full council. The presidents have met with representatives of all their halls.

The council also discussed a proposal designed to give concerned students the opportunity to offer their student government representatives an opinion on the issues. The results of this ballot will be used by the Student Senate to help students make decisions.
Cambodians bomb Moat Karsas

PHNOM PENH (UPI) - Cambodian air force T28 planes bombed the town of Moat Karsas on the west bank of the Mekong River Thursday while hundreds of residents of this capital stood on the eastern bank and watched the explosions and smoke.

Communist forces were believed to have moved into the town, six miles from downtown Phnom Penh, during the night in a maneuver that coincided with attacks against four towns on Highway 5 within 60 miles of the capital.

The commander of two Cambodian artillery batteries based alongside the rate swollen Mekong River outside the capital said he had received no orders to fire on Moat Karsas prior to the bombing strike. The raids drew many capital residents to the river bank from the annual religious festival, Pchum Ben, in honor of ancestors.

"As far as I know, the Communists are in Moat Karsas," said the artillery commander, Capt. Tang Toulong. "But they are unlikely to threaten Phnom Penh itself because the river is still very high."

To the northwest of the capital, Communist units attacked the provincial capital of Kompong Chhnang with mortars and automatic weapons and sent troops into three smaller towns - O Sandan, Ta3 Lask and Sali Lok Pram. All are located on highway 5, the only ground link between Phnom Penh and the country's rich rice fields in the north west.

A Cambodian military spokesman said air strikes were ordered against the three smaller towns and they resulted in the deaths of several Communist soldiers. But he declined to say whether Communists had occupied any of the towns along an 18 mile segment of the highway.

"We must keep the highways open if we hope to have any rice crops at all," said an Agricultural Ministry official, noting that the rice crop is to be harvested this month.

The Communists control segments of four of the six major highways in Cambodia, including Highway 4 that links the capital with the country's only deep port and oil refinery at Kompong Som.

Officials said U.S. aircraft were used Wednesday night against the Communist forces attacking along Highway 5, the first confirmation from high level Cambodian officials that American planes are being used outside normal military operational areas.

Airplane never signed - Postr

Jim Ponce, Student Union Social Commissioner, yesterday told the Observer that the Jefferson Airplane, rumored to be in concert here on October 10th "was never under any commitment to Notre Dame nor us to them."

In the beginning of September the Social Commission looked into the possibility of scheduling the Airplane and discovered that they had an open date on October 10th. "But," Ponce exclaimed, "there was no verbal or written agreement made." After the contract provisions were disclosed it was apparent that Grace Slick and crew would be a financial disaster if brought to Notre Dame.

The Airplane demanded a guarantee of $15,500 for the concert plus 60% of all profits over $16,700 as well as a minimum gross of $39,000. To reach this amount the tickets would have to have run from $6 to $7 apiece. The Commission decided "because of the lack of time to negotiate a better contract and other technical difficulties, it would prove to be unreasonable and unfeasible to bring the Jefferson Airplane on Homecoming Weekend to the A.C.C."

"It's Always Leather Weather" at:

Leather Ltd.

118 S. Main Street
South Bend, Ind. 46601

NOTRE DAME MINIATURES

A Special Gift - Reserved for Special People

"The Ideal Christmas Gift"

Miniature Notre Dame rings are available in a wide choice of jeweled or plain styles. These rings may be presented as engagement tokens to the girl of your choice, or to a feminine member of your family with whom you wish to share the prestige of your association with the University.

The miniature ring is identical with the official ring design, only more delicate in its modulation and construction.

Wedding bands to wear with the miniatures can be especially contoured to fit as an ensemble. These plain and contoured bands are illustrated above.

ORDER YOUR MINIATURE RING FROM

NOTRE DAME BOOKSTORE

Notre Dame, Indiana
Belgrade (UPI) - President Nixon and Yugoslav President Tito agreed Thursday that "further patient efforts" are needed to defuse the Middle East conflict. But in nearly two hours of talks, they failed to reach full understanding on how peace can be achieved.

Nixon and the 78 year old Communist ruler discussed their mutual concern over the "very grave and delicate situation" in the Middle East and other world flashpoints on the final day of Nixon's visit to Yugoslavia, the first by an American President.

The formal ceremonies came to a close Thursday night with a state dinner hosted by Nixon that featured Colorado roast prime sirloin and a performance by the U.S. Marine Band.

Nixon flies to Madrid, Spain, Friday, the third nation on his itinerary in a nine day European tour designed to emphasize the American presence in the Mediterranean in the face of growing Soviet involvement there.

Nixon combined private talks with public exposure Thursday. He shook hands with crowds in Zagreb, capital of the Yugoslav republic of Croatia, for a rain swept drive in an open car along street lined with an estimated 100,000 persons huddled under umbrellas. Then he drove through hills to Tito's birth place in the village of Kumrovac 22 miles northwest of Zagreb.

As on Wednesday, the crowds at Nixon's various stops were large and friendly, and Tito told Nixon at one point, "We can get people to come out. But you know, Mr. President, you cannot get them to smile or show the warmth that they have here."

White House officials said Nixon, in his talks with Tito, asked advice on how to get Middle East peace talks resumed despite the confusion caused by the death of Egyptian President Gamal Abdel Nasser. He also stressed, they said, that the America aim is to let the peoples of the Middle East live their own lives, without foreign interference.

Yugoslav officials described the talks, held at the imposing modern Federal Executive Building in New Belgrade, as "mutually beneficial." They said the two men agreed on the need for "further patient work and new efforts to create conditions for the peaceful solution of the crisis" in the Middle East, including a solution to the problem of Palestine refugees.

But they indicated there was less than full agreement between Tito, who strongly supports the Arab nations, and Nixon, who has given military and political support to Israel.

In addition to the Middle East, the talks touched on Southeast Asia and the Vietnam War, Africa and bilateral cooperation between Yugoslavia and the United States. Nixon was accompanied by Secretary of State William P. Rogers and Foreign affairs adviser Dr. Henry Kissinger. They faced Tito and his aides across a green haise table.
vote because we don’t have time, or we don’t want to bother because the damn thing isn’t speech and free choice, instead of the politicalization that kills a grad student and fools are notoriously impervious to reasonable arguments.
the polls close at five today, and cast a settled, too, advantage, however, is neatly counteracted by the vote we do not have. .
That is the nature of an election in a free society - things become politicized. It’s a University of Wisconsin or four kids at Kent State.
That much is settled.
There weren’t a great number of students who knew Monsignor McGrath personally. Almost everyone remembers his slight smile, or seeing him walk, Red-winged, his cat, Blue Terrier. But few actually came into close contact with him.
Ann Marie Tracy, SMC’s Student Body President, first worked with McGrath after her election to office last spring. She remembers him as a hard person to get to know, but one whom you always felt you could approach about an important problem.
Her most vivid memories of him centered around the Strike activities. She recalls that his attitude was one of awareness--of both the majority and the minority of the students, as well as the views of the faculty and administrative personnel. “He was really excited about the Community Unit and the academic atmosphere which arose during the strike.” Ann Marie said. But he was always hesitant about closing the college because he knew the right to attend classes had to be protected.
She continued, “Looking in retrospect, McGrath was truly educational. He spawned the need to see SMC as an integrated institution, not isolated entity, protected from the tensions, issues, and thought of the world.”
In what direction was McGrath leading SMC’s? Ann Marie feels that he was attempting to make SMC a “uniquely progressive Catholic liberal arts college.”
Senior Sue Korcs felt that administrative changed deserve top priority for the new president: “Ideally, I would choose a layman (religious denomination considered secondary important) whose business acumen and sincere interest in student aims and rights could (and MUST) pull this school together in terms of a working community of responsible administration, especially faculty, and campus. We need a complete re-evaluation of the role of administration in our communal atmosphere, and this MUST be done more cohesively with the new president.”
Chris Hayward, a sophomore, was concerned with future ND-SMC relations: “Ideally, I believe that we should be best friends, but we will have to avoid duplication in the respective departments of the two schools, and improve the educational system, utilizing the best aspects of both campuses. The importance of preserving SMC's identity seems over-emphasized. The stress should be placed in improving the education on both campuses as much as we can, using the things we have.”

THE OBSERVER

Rev. Robert Griffin

Nicodemus revisited

According to an ancient story, a man named Nicodemus once came to Jesus by night in search of the way of salvation. The Lord said to him, "You are of your age again." It was a good answer, well expressed, I think, and I've repeated it myself. But I wonder how the wisdom of Jesus would have handled the problem of the young Nicodemus of the Now Generation who come by, either at night or in the early hours of the morning, to knock on an open door and ask for help with problems that have little to do with the force of male power in the kingdoms beyond the sky.

What would He have said? — what am I to say — to the young heroin addict who comes in, suffering a bloody sweat for the need of a "fix"? All he has to offer is, "ten dollars at somebody else's door."

"What must I do to be saved?" — cried the original Nicodemus. The problem, as I hear it recorded, is too transzendental to be of everyday.

I remember another time when a fellow came in at three o'clock in the morning. He had dropped acid, he said, at eleven thirty, and now he was having a "bad trip."

He was afraid of losing his hold on reality; of slipping off on a far journey into the inner self where he might be marooned forever, without ticket or passport for the return trip of the mind. So he asked me, as someone he trusted, to talk to him, to keep his mind busy with the ho-hum trivialities of the rat race in order to keep his expanding consciousness from fountaining among the broken pieces of illusion. For two and a half hours, I chattered feebly, seemingly his only link with the world called real.

I felt very badly for him, this youngster's behalf, in order to stalemate temporarily the horror which threatens to overwhelm the beauty of his young mind and to blot out, perhaps, the true hope of his young heart.

As far as I know, a human from the juxtaposition of poli or who have read their scenarios, can only hope to receive visions ting and art (Godard's Tremendum..."

JOHN STU PP

"Everything leads me to believe that there is a certain point in the life of the film, and in the trans­ cendence of an idea and death, the real and the imagined, the past and the fu­ ture, the communicable and the in­ communicable, the exhilarated and the lowly, cease to be as contradictory." — Andre Breton

This brief paragraph is taken from the Second Manifesto of Surrealism and is probably an accurate appraisal of the energy behind the film. The film maker can only hope to receive visions ting and art (Godard's Alphaville..."

The celebrated short film Un Chien Andalou which was made by Bunuel and Salvador Dali in 1928 will also be presented. About the film Bunuel had this to say... "...when we were working on the script we had only one rule: keep only those sequences or series that we cannot explain rationally..." The film is a journey into the soul and the psyche of the individual unconscious.

The电缆 is not religious. Rather it is an explora­ tion of psychological and ethical proportions. Where it will lead, no one is certain. Each individ­ ual is his own pilot as it were. The course depends on the ac­ cessional solution of various situa­ tions, perceptions that by defini­ tion cannot be shared or passed on.

Tickets: $5.00, $4.00, $2.00 at sale on: Bookstore, Student Union Ticket Office (open 4-6 p.m.) and Dining Halls, Tues., Wed., & Thurs.

The Gladiators was the winner of the Grand Prize at the International Festival of Science Fiction Films, Trieste.

In the tradition of leather at:

Leather Ltd.

118 S. Main Street
South Bend, Ind. 46601

Friday October 2, 1970
Hippy quits commercial

(Continued from page 1)

"Besides, Hartke isn't against young people, so why should I be against him?"

"It just isn't the sort of thing I want to be involved in," Koch observed later, as he stood along U.S. 41 in south Lake County trying to hitch a ride back to Chicago. Koch said several of his friends in the troupe told him they also were disgusted by the commercial but stayed on because "they need the bread real bad."

Costar with the hippies was their car, a 1962 Chevrolet painted with gaudy red, white and blue stars and stripes. Several scenes, observed by a reporter, apparently were designed to show the hippies littering roadside rest areas. Also, according to Koch, the hippies were filmed smoking fake marijuana and drinking real wine.

Koch said the group was told several times that the commercial would end with a chase-and-arrest scene involving an Indiana state trooper. But that scene apparently was omitted at the last minute.

The film attracted much attention from travelers and residents in the area. Several near auto and truck collisions were observed during the filming.
No SMC’ers in the Rock

Saint Mary’s College’s recent request that they be allowed to use the Rockne Memorial facilities was denied. S.M.C. representatives brought the request before the university business manager, Fr. Jerome Wilson. He directed their attention to the ruling of the President’s Council which met last spring. The council revealed to consider a similar proposal by the Graduate Student Union. The union asked that female graduate students be permitted to make use of the Rockne Memorial. The council concluded that “equal opportunity be given all Notre Dame female students.”

Lockers were then built over the summer solely for female students and faculty. The women are now able to use all the facilities with no special times or privileges attached. During a physical education course they would, however, be prevented from using any facilities connected with it.

Father Wilson added, on a more pragmatic level, that the facilities are often being exercised to their fullest and permitting a few hundred more to use them would jeopardize the avanuance of the facilities for Notre Dame students.

The union has been working to “insure the equitableness” of the referendum in its presentation and administration said Lorimer. The G.S.U. has not taken an official stand on the issue.

Lorimer called for the graduates to give a “true representation of graduate opinion” by voting today. “Remember that the final decision will affect you and that the only way in which you can affect the decision is through your vote.”

The referendum will begin at 2 a.m. on the second floor of the Administration Building and continue through 6 p.m. this evening.

G.S.U. neutral on recess

A plea for all Graduate Student Union members to participate today’s referendum on the Princeton Plan was made yesterday afternoon by G.S.U. President Fr. Jerome Wilson. He directed their attention to the ruling of the President’s Council which met last spring. The council revealed to consider a similar proposal by the Graduate Student Union. The union asked that female graduate students be permitted to make use of the Rockne Memorial. The council concluded that “equal opportunity be given all Notre Dame female students.”

Lockers were then built over the summer solely for female students and faculty. The women are now able to use all the facilities with no special times or privileges attached. During a physical education course they would, however, be prevented from using any facilities connected with it.

Father Wilson added, on a more pragmatic level, that the facilities are often being exercised to their fullest and permitting a few hundred more to use them would jeopardize the avanuance of the facilities for Notre Dame students.

The referendum will begin at 2 a.m. on the second floor of the Administration Building and continue through 6 p.m. this evening.

The union has been working to “insure the equitableness” of the referendum in its presentation and administration said Lorimer. The G.S.U. has not taken an official stand on the issue.

Lorimer called for the graduates to give a “true representation of graduate opinion” by voting today. “Remember that the final decision will affect you and that the only way in which you can affect the decision is through your vote.”

The referendum will begin at 2 a.m. on the second floor of the Administration Building and continue through 6 p.m. this evening.

A plea for all Graduate Student Union members to participate today’s referendum on the Princeton Plan was made yesterday afternoon by G.S.U. President Fr. Jerome Wilson. He directed their attention to the ruling of the President’s Council which met last spring. The council revealed to consider a similar proposal by the Graduate Student Union. The union asked that female graduate students be permitted to make use of the Rockne Memorial. The council concluded that “equal opportunity be given all Notre Dame female students.”

Lockers were then built over the summer solely for female students and faculty. The women are now able to use all the facilities with no special times or privileges attached. During a physical education course they would, however, be prevented from using any facilities connected with it.

Father Wilson added, on a more pragmatic level, that the facilities are often being exercised to their fullest and permitting a few hundred more to use them would jeopardize the avanuance of the facilities for Notre Dame students.

The referendum will begin at 2 a.m. on the second floor of the Administration Building and continue through 6 p.m. this evening.

A plea for all Graduate Student Union members to participate today’s referendum on the Princeton Plan was made yesterday afternoon by G.S.U. President Fr. Jerome Wilson. He directed their attention to the ruling of the President’s Council which met last spring. The council revealed to consider a similar proposal by the Graduate Student Union. The union asked that female graduate students be permitted to make use of the Rockne Memorial. The council concluded that “equal opportunity be given all Notre Dame female students.”

Lockers were then built over the summer solely for female students and faculty. The women are now able to use all the facilities with no special times or privileges attached. During a physical education course they would, however, be prevented from using any facilities connected with it.

Father Wilson added, on a more pragmatic level, that the facilities are often being exercised to their fullest and permitting a few hundred more to use them would jeopardize the avanuance of the facilities for Notre Dame students.

The referendum will begin at 2 a.m. on the second floor of the Administration Building and continue through 6 p.m. this evening.

A plea for all Graduate Student Union members to participate today’s referendum on the Princeton Plan was made yesterday afternoon by G.S.U. President Fr. Jerome Wilson. He directed their attention to the ruling of the President’s Council which met last spring. The council revealed to consider a similar proposal by the Graduate Student Union. The union asked that female graduate students be permitted to make use of the Rockne Memorial. The council concluded that “equal opportunity be given all Notre Dame female students.”

Lockers were then built over the summer solely for female students and faculty. The women are now able to use all the facilities with no special times or privileges attached. During a physical education course they would, however, be prevented from using any facilities connected with it.

Father Wilson added, on a more pragmatic level, that the facilities are often being exercised to their fullest and permitting a few hundred more to use them would jeopardize the avanuance of the facilities for Notre Dame students.

The referendum will begin at 2 a.m. on the second floor of the Administration Building and continue through 6 p.m. this evening.

A plea for all Graduate Student Union members to participate today’s referendum on the Princeton Plan was made yesterday afternoon by G.S.U. President Fr. Jerome Wilson. He directed their attention to the ruling of the President’s Council which met last spring. The council revealed to consider a similar proposal by the Graduate Student Union. The union asked that female graduate students be permitted to make use of the Rockne Memorial. The council concluded that “equal opportunity be given all Notre Dame female students.”

Lockers were then built over the summer solely for female students and faculty. The women are now able to use all the facilities with no special times or privileges attached. During a physical education course they would, however, be prevented from using any facilities connected with it.

Father Wilson added, on a more pragmatic level, that the facilities are often being exercised to their fullest and permitting a few hundred more to use them would jeopardize the avanuance of the facilities for Notre Dame students.

The referendum will begin at 2 a.m. on the second floor of the Administration Building and continue through 6 p.m. this evening.
Smith's are an undefeated Notre Dame "Basement". The story is a close up look at the Irish captain by Jim O'Brien, a very fine sportswriter from the New York Post. Austin is picked as the most outstanding player in the country and if his performance this season equals that of last year there will be few people who will argue.

After a weekend of ups and a great deal of celebrating the choices for last Saturday equalled those of the previous week: Twenty-two of thirty have been the mark for both weekends.

The top thirty games for this weekend appear to have these results:

Notre Dame over Michigan State: Thanksgiving is in order for Austin and company for saving me from the depths of despair. Twenty-two of thirty has been the mark for both weekends. Wasting Virginia over Indiana: What was previously going to be a big test for the Hoosiers is now just an Emily T. quiz after California's destruction of IU last week.

Manassipi over Alabama: This is a top TV attraction and it may well turn into a football fans version of The Archie Comedy Hour. The Rebels should gain a measure of revenge for last year's defeat in the fourth quarter.

Texas over UCLA: After more close calls than "The Perils of Pauline," the Bruins will finally taste defeat. The Longhorns should roll up another impressive score in Austin.

Stanford over Purdue: The Boilermakers weren't really as bad as they looked in The Stadium. Jim Plunkett will have enough to go by the Boilers but he and his friends better not be looking ahead to USC next week's match with USC.

Minnesota over Nebraska: The Huskers should win in a tough, hard hitting ball game. The Gophers have not been living up to their potential. But NU certainly has a chance to upset the Gophers.

Penne State over Wisconsin: The Mount Nites will start a new win streak but it won't be in their traditional runaway fashion.

Oklahoma over Colorado State: After their big win over Missouri the Sooners should be flying high.

Tennessee over Army: The Cadets will find the tough going this week. Next week there will simply be no going for the West Pointers.

UPSET OF THE WEEK: Notre Dame over Michigan State; this is the game that put ND on the map in 1957. In the other top attractions the results will be:

Vanderbilt, Washington over Navy, Auburn over Kentucky; Mississippi over Alabama: This is a top game and it is important to us. It will give us a good base line for our optimism.

Friday October 2, 1970

Radio Distributing
Fantastic Truck Load Sale
Limited Time 2 Days Only
Oct. 2. 23...23

STEREO PRODUCTS
Model 1082 AM-FM FM STEREO SYSTEM
This basic Amstrond system, the 1082, is comprised of three units, each designed for the average speaker, all required connecting leads, and detailed instruction booklet. It is the thing you need to receive AM, FM or FM Stereo broadcasts. It has the capacity to add other external sources, such as a record changer or tape deck at any time. The entire system is packed in a single carton, ready to plug in and play.

MFG. SUG. RETAIL $119.95. NOW $99.95

Radio Distributing Co.
1212 High Street...288-4666

Radio Allian for scoring lead
INDIANAPOLIS (UPI) - Notre Dame's Dennis Allan and Rick Garrard are in the lead for the early 1970 college football scoring crown. Each has 24 points on 4 touchdowns. Allan scored 12 of his points in last Saturday's game. Allan has a 6-2, 235-pound junior from Auburn Heights, Mich., probably will get his first starting spot at a front line position of defense. He did well against Washington State.

Two brokers, McLe, and Van-Pelt, own some of the prize statistics in the Spartan camp. McLe, junior overrider from Uniontown, Pa., now has picked off four passes in two games and run them back a total of 96 yards, one for a touchdown. He got two in each game thus far. Van-Pelt just missed one against Washington but intercepted three against Washington State.

Seven sophomores are probably the biggest story here. Illinois is the only team with a lot of freshman in its lineup. Most of Notre Dame's scoring is coming from senior halfback Larry Brown and sophomores are probably running backs, including Bill Barz had 101 for 630, half I'd Gulyas has 125 for 50 and fullback Bill Barr had 101 for 45. The Irish senior in Irving is sophomore halfback Larry Park.

If you want to score on the Irish apparently the second half is the time to do it. Opponents have lasted 4 yards and touched down only one has been intercepted.

A Spartan problem will be trying to stop someone at every game in the Notre Dame offensive backfield. All three regular corners and one from Denver are running back.

Hutchinson is big with 5-5 on the team. The Irish junior in Miami is a top Cleveland product. They are the classic I formation.

Michigan products. They are the classic I formation. They are the classic I formation.

Michigan products. They are the classic I formation. They are the classic I formation.

Michigan products. They are the classic I formation. They are the classic I formation.