Protesters arrested in Capital

day Lamers

Special to the Observer

Twelve thousand war protesters were arrested and kept in detention in the nation's Capitol on Monday and Tuesday and kept in outdoor compounds and the R.F.K. Coliseum. The majority of the protesters were loaded onto buses designed for transport of portable toilets, and Army tents were brought into the compound, though most persons spent the night standing around makeshift campfire-grapeme在过去。About twenty Notre Dame students who were arrested during Monday and Tuesday. A 71 year old woman was among my group. And Robert Sam Amos, a Notre Dame student, was in the prison exercise yard after being arrested.

The major bone of contention among the D.C. prison-yard group was whether to submit to the arrest process when it was said they were being fingerprinted and photographed for such illegal acts.

This writer, who did not participate in the Monday morning disruptions of traffic, was picked up at 10 M. walking down Pennsylvania Avenue. No explanations were given as we were booked on to a waiting bus, and the bus load of long haired youths—singing "America the Beautiful"—were transported to the oriented compound.

A thousand cheering demonstrators awaited our arrival at the prison yard. Regular convicts looked down disinterested, and that the charges would be near chaotic scene. Five C's were arrested in the nation's Capitol on Monday.

Police spent Monday herding demonstrators that walked around the Pennsylvania Avenue between to bears that were kept in their respective city." Police at the Coliseum said Monday that they had arrested 1,900 demonstrators, apparently attending a wildcat strike, as they attempted to block Washington's Carmoner's traffic as hopeless, rallied their forces in a park and marched eight blocks to the Justic Department.

They had been jammed on the Pennsylvania Avenue and 10th Street sides of the block square building for three hours, chanting slogans and demanding an end to the war. When the police moved in and an officer declared over a bullhorn clearly to this area immediately or you are subject to arrest

About 2,000 of the youthful protesters, leaving behind a knot of about 1,000 who sat down on the pavement, most of them on 10th Street, outside the police building, refused to leave.

With the pipe smoking Mitchell looking down on the scene, police then executed a scat, clashing demonstrators with police on Pennsylvania and Constitution avenues. At least one canister of tear gas was fired and a half hour later, police broke up the demonstration on the area where a thousand more demonstrators, awaiting the arrival of our busload at the Capitol. As the demonstrators continued the march, police began to make arrests.

Several thousand war protestors were dispersed from the intersection of Pennsylvania Avenue and Constitution Monday morning was gassed and arrested. Several as the demonstrators were dispersed from the intersection, and he was then picked up by riot police four hours later as he walked down 19th street. No arrest forms or explanations were given to demonstrators reporting to the Washington police department. The demonstrators were fingerprinted or photographed for such illegal acts.

But the violence was quickly over as police began arresting demonstrators, photographing them and placing them in buses to be taken to the Justice Department. The protesters looked for very little resistance.

The attempt to disperse the protesters was not a concerted effort to repeat Monday's traffic disrupting tactics. For Tuesday, there were several incidents throughout the city and District of Columbia. The Department reported 468 persons arrested.

Police called in to back the police had 685 arrests.

As for the demonstrator's announcement made Tuesday, the Pentagon announced that 10,000 persons were arrested in a demonstration called to back the police had been withdrawn from the city.

For the as for the demonstrator's announcement made Tuesday, the Pentagon announced that 10,000 persons were arrested in a demonstration called to back the police had been withdrawn from the city.
The Student Senate chose yesterday to consider a constitutional amendment which would give Saint Mary's students representation on that body while postponing consideration of a proposed new constitution until next year.

Steadfast Senator Bob Reafo cited the amendment as a move to preserve Saint Mary's residence halls and off campus student representation on the Senate according to the principals for Notre Dame's senators.

Frank Devine, Dillon Senator, said that if Saint Mary's had senators, they could obtain money without necessarily appropriating any of their student activities fee to the combined student government. The Notre Dame student body would be "talking on greater services without increased fees," he said.

Off Campus Senator Don Money felt that the Saint Mary's government would be more willing to provide funds if they had representatives in the Senate to control them.

There were feelings that the matter shouldn't be considered until the Coeducation Coordination reports on student government. However this delay would also put off the union of governments until the year after next while the constitution specifics for presentation of the amendment to the student body.

The new constitution was introduced and read by Senior and Vice President and Steve Novak, Off Campus Senator, later explained that this constitution would merge student governments, there being one student body president and representatives from Saint Mary's on the Senate.

The new constitution also proposes determining the budget on a semi-annual basis which, Super said, would allow government to fix the student activities fee after it knew what its plans were, and holding senate elections in the spring on the same day as the SIB elections. The SBVP would chair the Senate, the Finance Committee and the SAG Senators would be eliminated, there would be changes in judicial review and the election committee, and the number of signatures needed for a constitutional amendment would be decreased.

Novak said that the constitution was drafted with the approval of the Saint Mary's student government and that Saint Mary's Senate would be invited to read it. He also said that their Student Senate meeting tonight might take up the finished proposal.

The general attitude of the senators was that since the constitution would not go into effect until January, there was no reason to rush a decision when there was so little time left this year for public debate or for a student referendum. Although Novak, argued that the new constitution would be beneficial it was a transition period to co-ed, the matter was postponed until next year.

The new constitution provides for a bicameral legislature, with the student body divided into two houses. The Senate would be composed of representatives from both Saint Mary's and Notre Dame, and the House of Representatives would be made up of representatives from Notre Dame only. The Senate would have the power to initiate legislation, while the House would have the power to propose constitutional amendments. The constitution also provides for a system of checks and balances, with the Senate having the power to veto bills passed by the House, and vice versa.

There were feelings that the matter shouldn't be considered until the Coeducation Coordination reports on student government. However this delay would also put off the union of governments until the year after next while the constitution specifics for presentation of the amendment to the student body.

The new constitution was introduced and read by Senior and Vice President and Steve Novak, Off Campus Senator, later explained that this constitution would merge student governments, there being one student body president and representatives from Saint Mary's on the Senate.

The new constitution also proposes determining the budget on a semi-annual basis which, Super said, would allow government to fix the student activities fee after it knew what its plans were, and holding senate elections in the spring on the same day as the SIB elections. The SBVP would chair the Senate, the Finance Committee and the SAG Senators would be eliminated, there would be changes in judicial review and the election committee, and the number of signatures needed for a constitutional amendment would be decreased.

Novak said that the constitution was drafted with the approval of the Saint Mary's student government and that Saint Mary's Senate would be invited to read it. He also said that their Student Senate meeting tonight might take up the finished proposal.

The general attitude of the senators was that since the constitution would not go into effect until January, there was no reason to rush a decision when there was so little time left this year for public debate or for a student referendum. Although Novak, argued that the new constitution would be beneficial it was a transition period to co-ed, the matter was postponed until next year.
Co-ex tickets stolen Monday

Appropriately 260 co-ex tickets were stolen Monday night from the Student Union offices in LaFortune Student Center, according to the project Director Bob Ohlemiller.

The tickets are numbered and dated, and a list of validly distributed tickets has been given to the dining hall checkers. Ohlemiller said that up to 275 tickets could be invalidated if the tickets are not returned. Ohlemiller said that "no questions will be asked" if the tickets are returned voluntarily. However, he added that those who are responsible will be in serious trouble if they do not bring the tickets to the Student Union office or to room 715 Grace Hall.

They may be returned at any time.

Ohlemiller expects the thief to spend the tickets among his or her friends. He said four tickets were recovered last night at St. Mary's. He asked that the rest be returned in time for this evening's evening event. The tickets were stolen sometime after 5 p.m. after the Student Union secretary left her desk, where they are stored. Ohlemiller asked that the office was reportedly occupied throughout the evening and that it is not known how the thief avoided detection.

Met Club
Baggage Truck
Final Sales

Thursday May 6 7-8 p.m.
LaFortune LaFortune Rathskellar
$5 deposit required

Moratorium Events

8:00 STOP! - Stop business as usual - stop classes and work as usual. Spend a day in remembrance and thought - THE WAR HAS NOT ENDED - think about the protesters in Washington, the Kent and Jackson killings, and those killed in Vietnam.

9:00-12:00 - MUSIC! - Music is free all morning. Live bands, etc. This is not a day of mourning only.

12:00-1:00 - LUNCH! - Outside lunch period. Bring your own food, sit and talk, listen to the music.

1:00-3:00 - MASS-R.A.P. Mass in memoria of those killed in Vietnam and the killings at Jackson and Kent State.

3:00-3:30 - SPEECHES - An hour of speakers with ND faculty, veterans, and people from South Bend.

3:30-6:00 - ACTION GROUPS - The most important business of the day. Organize into small groups that can plan action for stopping the War. All activities will be held on the Main Quad. In case of rain, they will be moved to the Main Ballroom of LaFortune Student Center.

The one book every couple should read before marriage.

It's sort of a manual. It tells you how to buy fine diamonds for less. It's the latest edition of the Vanity Fair Diamond catalog.

Vanity Fair has been selling the finest diamonds to dealers across the world since 1921. Now these same diamonds are available to you at the same low prices (95¢ of retail).

Our secret?

We handle the whole process of making a ring ourselves, from having the rough stone in Antwerp or London, to selling the finished ring to you on your campus or in our Chicago showrooms. There are no middlemen.

You're thinking about engagement and wedding rings, you need Vanity Fair. Visit our showrooms at 55 E. Washington, Chicago. Or send for our 36-page, full color catalog. We'll send it to you free if you send us this coupon.

Vanity Fair Diamonds

55 E. Washington • Chicago, Illinois 60602 • (312) 554-5588

Please send a copy of the Vanity Fair Diamond Catalog.

Name ____________________________
Address ____________________________
City ________ State ________ Zip ________

The observer

THE OBSERVER

Page 3

It's sort of a manual. It tells you how to buy fine diamonds for less. It's the latest edition of the Vanity Fair Diamond catalog.

Vanity Fair has been selling the finest diamonds to dealers across the world since 1921. Now these same diamonds are available to you at the same low prices (95¢ of retail).

Our secret?

We handle the whole process of making a ring ourselves, from having the rough stone in Antwerp or London, to selling the finished ring to you on your campus or in our Chicago showrooms. There are no middlemen.

You're thinking about engagement and wedding rings, you need Vanity Fair. Visit our showrooms at 55 E. Washington, Chicago. Or send for our 36-page, full color catalog. We'll send it to you free if you send us this coupon.

Vanity Fair Diamonds

55 E. Washington • Chicago, Illinois 60602 • (312) 554-5588

Please send a copy of the Vanity Fair Diamond Catalog.

Name ____________________________
Address ____________________________
City ________ State ________ Zip ________

Met Club
Baggage Truck
Final Sales

Thursday May 6 7-8 p.m.
LaFortune LaFortune Rathskellar
$5 deposit required

Is There Life After Commencement?

If you are looking for the adorable whimsy which has made this column such a popular favorite among my wife and my little dog Spot, you will not find it today. For this is my last column of the school year and therefore a leave-taking, an occasion of sweet solemnity. I will not try to be funny in this final column. (I've been told I often achieved this goal in earlier columns, but those were only lucky accidents. Today it's on purpose.)

But I digress. As I was saying, there will be no commercials today for my sponsor, the brewers of Miller High Life Beer. In this decision the brewers of Miller High Life concurred readily, convincingly, joyfully! -no act of industrial statesmanship totally typical, you would say, if you knew the brewers of Miller High Life as I know the brewers of Miller High Life; I mean here are gentlemen gray in the temples and heavy with honors who still rush to the brewery as eagerly every morning as if they were youngsters only just beginning; I mean all they care about in the world, the brewers of Miller High Life, is to put the best of all possible beers in the best of all possible cans and bottles and then go, heads high, into the market place with their wares, confident that the inborn ability to tell right from wrong, good from bad, meritonishes from shoddy, which is the proud heiracht of every American, will result in a modest return to themselves, the brewers of Miller High Life, for their long hours and dedicated labors—not, it goes without saying, that money is of any consequence to the brewers of Miller High Life; all these simple men require is plain, nourishing food, plenty of Miller High Life, and the knowledge that through their efforts the lives of beer drinkers everywhere have become a little more relevant—an attitude which I, for one, find heart-wrenching. Indeed, so moved am I that I wish to state right here and now—I declare it publicly and proudly—that as long as there is breath in my body, I shall have only the highest regard for the brewers of Miller High Life, no matter how my lawsuit comes out. (I am only having my little joke. Of course I'm not suing the brewers of Miller High Life for back wages. They have always paid me in money, and I'll bet you never met anyone who's got as many Miller bottle caps as I do.)

But I digress. As I was saying, there will be no commercial today for Miller High Life because of the solemnity of the occasion. This is good news for many of you, especially those who are unable to avoid grieving. To these unfortunate I say, be of good cheer. It will accomplish nothing to slink home and assume the fetal position. Remember, there are other good things in the world besides going to college. I admit they don't spring to mind at the moment, but there must be. And if not, here's an easy solution: just dye your hair, shave your beard, change your name, and start over again at some other college.

And so in these last lambent moments, let me say to all of you, my gentle readers, it has been a great pleasure writing this column through the school year. Believe me, pleasure is not a commodity in the life of a writer. There are an appalling number of basrets in this world; enough of them: for one: catching your necktie in the roller of your typewriter, for another: so when a writer is blessed, as I have been, with an audience as alert and intelligent as you, he must take his hat in hand and his necktie out of the typewriter and make a thankful bow. This I now do.

As you read, gentle reader, Stay happy. Stay loose. And as you travel down life's highway, remember these lines from Shakespeare's immortal Pajamas Game:

Up your beer enjoyment, fellow.
Raise your pleasure quotient, neighbor.
Switch to Miller, bright and mellow.
You'll enjoy its groovy neighbor.

* * *

Now that the year is over and the brewery has survived, we at Miller High Life would like to say that we have thoroughly enjoyed bringing you this column, no matter how Mr. Shulman's lawsuit comes out.
Anne Tracey Must Be Allowed on the Council

Method of Election: The students shall conduct a general election from the entire student body. Those six students receiving the largest number of votes of all votes cast shall be the elected representatives.

—from the “Plan for Student Life Council at the University of Notre Dame,” passed unanimously by the Board of Trustees, August 22, 1968.

When the Student Life Council meets to decide the legislative fate of Anne Marie Tracey, (North Quad, 435 votes), it will presumably find a way to ignore the candidacies of Gary Caruso (South Quad, 342 votes), Jerry O'Connor (North Quad, 223 votes) and others in order to seat Dave Tushar (Off-campus, 59 votes). Well they should, as a candidate for the Off-campus SLC seat (a position not recognized by the Executive Committee of the Board of Trustees which originally formed the council) Tushar garnered more votes than any of his off-campus opponents, and he is that district's representative.

In a not dissimilar manner, Miss Tracey is the North Quad's elected representative. She won easily, and convincingly. The students of the North Quad have ringingly endorsed her—out as a St. Mary's representative to the Notre Dame Student Life Council—but as their representative.

When the Student Life Council meets to determine whether or not Miss Tracey may represent the North Quad, it clearly must be to determine what precisely, the letter of the law that says, "six representatives... shall be elected by all their respective constituents," means. In the largest sense, of course, Miss Tracey is elected by her constituents by definition. It would be unwise of the council to connotate "residency" from "constituency," because historically the two have always been distinct. This document, unlike most, establishes no such requirement.

No, the Council would be well advised to interpret their "Method of Selection" section as loosely as they have interpreted their "Method of Election" section in the past. The students on the North Quad are certainly entitled to whatever representation they select. The Council could regain a lot of its lost good will and respect if it kept in mind and quietly seated Ann Marie Tracey.
becky minter

living, smiling

STRIKE—it's one of those words that if you look at it long enough and hard enough, it begins to look odd and your chance you've got it wrong. For the past fifteen minutes I have looked at it long and hard. Merely a full spring come and go; I can feel the frown on my face as I try to remember all the events that did follow, especially within myself. A quick flash forward to that day in May when he was running from table to table in theSaint Mary's cafeteria just as possible that Dave Krashna intended to call a strike in protest of the Cambodian invasion. (In particular) and the Viet Nam war as a whole. The presence of BOYCOTT on campus was on issue and I recall arguing earnestly but uselessly with a freshman girl about the day. The progressed, David began to chip speech, He spoke even there complete with a statement of his own. The strike work began. The long, tedious hours of talking. Always talking. To friends that agreed with you and to those who were venemently opposed, to enthusiastic people who thought this was the best way to handle the whole thing while others were busy with that, to teachers who were wholeheartedly sympathetic (despite or because of their personal views) and to those who were not, to the townspeople who were approached to sign the Hesburgh petition. To be sure, there were a lot of platitudes coupled with the same old rhetoric, but there was also the sense of doing the right thing that produced original, personal thoughts and words. It was a time of stale ideas infused with the newness of active participation, to the extent that group of ideas were even fresh form and vigor. But the work continued. People partially part into a tiny room for a steering committee meeting, where everyone voiced an opinion or just listened. Somehow plans were made and somehow they were carried through. South Bend was assailed by cameramen armed with cameras and leaflets. Schedules for teach-ins, lectures, rallies, and marches were constantly being printed and had to be passed out. Letters were written to Congressmen. I can particularly remember spending one whole night transcribing from a tape an interview with Dick Gregory, the Hurricane. But what went on in the minds of the students who had furiously thrown themselves into the strike? Was it all worth it? Were they accomplishing something, anything? Without a doubt, many became disillusioned or bitter and throughout the entire course of the strike. Because of the first group I felt sad but at the same time I always understood; because of the second I received some of the angers that were deeply calming. Because of the second group of people, small as it was, I learned that quiet determination, and action maintained in an everliving sense of spirit, were so much more effective in the formation of any worth than all the trash, rash, and hatched vocalizations of many so-called revolutionaries. So now, a year later, although it's difficult to fully bring back all that occurred, some of the actions, sensations, and emotions it still are there. Even the disillusioned or bitter must admit, I think, that at least a short time the Notre Dame-Saint Mary's community was concerned and involved. No one can deny, of course, that the strike died but it would also be hard to disclaim the sincerity of all who participated in the strike. As for myself, I am grateful that the strike is a strange one, when I stop to think about it. Mentally and physically exhausted, I was sitting on the sidewalk while people who were standing around a makeshift altar. While I felt I couldn't participate in the Mass I sat there and watched and listened. As my thoughts began to go unconsciously pulling up grass and putting in a little pile. I became aware of a strange, clicking sound and saw that a guy was walking around muttering to himself. At first I was a little embarrassed, I asked him why. He shrugged, smiled, and went on. I thought, but there's a sense of being alive. Yes, you're alive.' I could only smile.

rick smith

love faileth not

I remember painfully well sitting in a friend's room a year ago watching the evening news. Watching films of Kent State. Watching the people chaotic there. There were probably eight or nine people in the room then. The dad of one of the dead people was shown reading some kind of statement. It was less asking why. Television is a strange medium still for me, not having stomach anything like that. You can remain so scientifically detached while watching others assume a lesser importance. The world end in living color. It's always hard, I guess, to pull yourself into another's shoes since there are no questions that requires imagination. But if you're ever going to get anywhere, I think that you have to somehow get out of yourself. Which is a definite problem in an ego-maniac culture. So being the television news was over I think we all were crying, or close to it. I was pretty sick. I still got light in the stomach thinking about it. Heavy times. I felt the same way yesterday walking to friends over the phone in Washington. My best friend had been arrested and would spend the night in a football field, where it was freezing, to fantasize and satisfaction and so on. But that's what he went there for. And those crazy kids should have known better than to charge those troops. They were asking for it and get it and that's life. And death. You can't dwell on that kind of thing. Because there doesn't seem to be much that you can really do about it. Somebody said something about it. And same goes for an elephant's back. Or on an elephant. Sign petition. Kill all fences. Copy minigraff things till kingdom come. March till the sun rises in the west. And all you get is frustration, if you're lucky. A lot of pesky anger and so I'm not in this government of by and for the people. Which this kind go to do some illogical, irrational thing that leads to a backslash and a police state and everybody saying how they knew they didn't mean it when you said peace and love. So having been presented with all this, people being murdered, physically and spiritually, what is one's reaction. Seeing the world one lives in such as it is, how does one pattern one's life to bring it into accord with observed phenomena. Experience wisdom. I can't pretend to have any answers. Hardly knowing the questions. You have to retain your sense of humor about these things, you know. Take everything most seriously, and at the same time take nothing seriously at all. Alan Watts talked about how good and evil, being polarities, like the north pole and south pole, were just part of one big reality, not opposing but connected. And I talk about how some people, small as it was, I learned that quiet determination, and action maintained in an everliving sense of spirit, were so much more effective in the formation of any worth than all the trash, rash, and hatched vocalizations of many so-called revolutionaries. So now, a year later, although it's difficult to fully bring back all that occurred, some of the actions, sensations, and emotions it still are there. Even the disillusioned or bitter must admit, I think, that at least a short time the Notre Dame-Saint Mary's community was concerned and involved. No one can deny, of course, that the strike died but it would also be hard to disclaim the sincerity of all who participated in the strike. As for myself, I am grateful that the strike is a strange one, when I stop to think about it. Mentally and physically exhausted, I was sitting on the sidewalk while people who were standing around a makeshift altar. While I felt I couldn't participate in the Mass I sat there and watched and listened. As my thoughts began to go unconsciously pulling up grass and putting in a little pile. I became aware of a strange, clicking sound and saw that a guy was walking around muttering to himself. At first I was a little embarrassed, I asked him why. He shrugged, smiled, and went on. I thought, but there's a sense of being alive. Yes, you're alive.' I could only smile.

May 8, 1970

photo by Gary Cosimini, from the Scholastic.
Ruggers 4th in Va. tourney

by Greg Einboden
Observer Sports Writer

Notre Dame's rugby team traveled to Charlottesville, Virginia, this past weekend and participated in the Virginia Tournament, where they managed fourth place finishes in the eight team field. The Irish were hurt by a rash of injuries, clearing stock, and unseasonable conditions as they dropped two of the three games.

Saturday morning, the ruggers took on Bruton Saxton and escaped with an overtime 22-17 verdict. The win proved costly, however, as Bruton Saxton's Hagenbarth, who scored twice in the early going, broke his shoulder late in the game and sat out the remainder of the tournament. Bill Berry was also hurt, sustain a broken nose, but stayed in the game.

On Saturday afternoon, the ruggers played against the University of Virginia, the eventual tournament runners-up, and lost 5-10. Club president Charlie Blum was disappointed with the team effort, noting that it was by far the team's worst season of the year.

On Sunday, the Irish took an early 5-3 lead but couldn't hold it as Army whipped them 9-5. Chuck Peterson was the individual star of the contest, scoring NU's only try of the game. Phil Claudina followed Peterson's score with a beautiful conversion kick that gave the Cadets their short-lived lead. But the Cadets rodeared back on three penalty kicks to deny the Irish a third place finish. The Irish, playing without the services of a number of their veterans, were hurt by several costly penalties.

Blum praised the work of Hagenbarth, Chad Zisk, and Tom Loth. The injury situation did allow some of the underclassmen to pick up some needed experience.

The ruggers will travel to Chicago this Saturday for the season finale against the Chicago Union.

Soccer team romps past John Carroll

Led by Jaraf Moghadam and Amir Zirari, who scored two goals apiece, and the staunch goalkeeping of Carl Straub, the Notre Dame soccer club thrashed John Carroll 7-4, last time in Cleveland.

Mike Fitzgerald, a freshman, opened N.D. scoring by booting home a shot from the left wing, Moghadam and Gary Zerly also scored goals in the first half, to give the Irish a 3-0 advantage at halftime.

Notre Dame continued to dominate the action in the final stanza. Zirari, who had picked up an assist in the first half, scored his two goals and added another assist in the second half. Jaraf and Charlie Blum continued to impress, putting the ball into the John Carroll net to give Notre Dame their fourth goal.

The game was highlighted by the excellent passing and shooting of the Irish and by the tight defense shown by backfieldmen Bruce Graves, Dick Seryak, and Mike Farrell.

The Irish booters will be in action again this Saturday, facing the U. of Cincinnati in a game which will be broadcast on local Cincinnati TV and radio.

Night Editor: Jerry Lukitus
Trusty Staff: Mary Chris Morrison, Jim Jo, Dan Barrett, Ken Kempan
Compugraph: Bill Clemency
Copy Editor: Jim McGrath, Mark Neelderse

The Observer

Wednesday, May 5, 1971
The Fighting Irish baseball team, led by the hot hand of freshmen slugger Bob Schmidt, reeled off their eight-game losing streak with a 7-5 win over the University of Michigan on Monday and then continued their winning ways by posting a sweep of a doubleheader against Hillsdale College yesterday, 4-1, and 16-4.

The Notre Dame Lacrosse team's season record to 19-6.

Schmidt, a right-handed hitting outfielder, went three for four against the Hillsdale nine as the Irish bunched up five hits in seven trips to the plate in the second inning.

In the third, Schmidt hit a two-run single as Notre Dame scored twice in the top of the fourth as Jim Panicil and Hrabosz rapped out RBI singles.

The Irish took the field Saturday afternoon, following an 8-1 victory over Ohio State, and defeated Columbus 10-3 on Sunday in games behind Stempel Center. The games were part of a four-game tournament sponsored by the Notre Dame Club. Also included in the tournament was the Chicago Lacrosse Club.

The Irish took the field Saturday afternoon, following an 8-1 victory over Ohio State, and defeated Columbus 10-3 on Sunday in games behind Stempel Center. The games were part of a four-game tournament sponsored by the Notre Dame Club. Also included in the tournament was the Chicago Lacrosse Club.

The Irish, who have played seven games in the last five days will play at Ohio State this afternoon and Saturday when they host Cincinnati in a 3 p.m. contest.

The golfers will try to halt their slide this Friday, when they head to West Lafayette for the Purdue Invitational. The team will then return home Monday to wrap up the season with an invitational match on the NC course.

The Irish took the field Saturday afternoon, following an 8-1 victory over Ohio State, and defeated Columbus 10-3 on Sunday in games behind Stempel Center. The games were part of a four-game tournament sponsored by the Notre Dame Club. Also included in the tournament was the Chicago Lacrosse Club.

The Irish, who have played seven games in the last five days will play at Ohio State this afternoon and Saturday when they host Cincinnati in a 3 p.m. contest.

The golfers will try to halt their slide this Friday, when they head to West Lafayette for the Purdue Invitational. The team will then return home Monday to wrap up the season with an invitational match on the NC course.

Dr. Colip succumbs

Dr. George D. Colip, 39, of 200 David St., South Bend, team physician and medical director at the University of Notre Dame, died yesterday in St. Joseph's Hospital after an extended illness.

A specialist of obstetrics and gynecology, Dr. Colip received his B.S. and M.S. degrees from Loyola School of Medicine and did graduate work at the U. of Pennsylvania. He completed his internship at Epworth, now Memorial Hospital.

Dr. Colip is survived by his wife, Phyllis, a son, George D. Jr., and three daughters, Mrs. Richard Richards of Muncie, Ind., a stepson, Mark F. Colip, at home, and six grandchildren.

The Irish, who have played seven games in the last five days will play at Ohio State this afternoon and Saturday when they host Cincinnati in a 3 p.m. contest.

The golfers will try to halt their slide this Friday, when they head to West Lafayette for the Purdue Invitational. The team will then return home Monday to wrap up the season with an invitational match on the NC course.

Dr. Colip succumbs

Dr. George D. Colip, 39, of 200 David St., South Bend, team physician and medical director at the University of Notre Dame, died yesterday in St. Joseph's Hospital after an extended illness.

A specialist of obstetrics and gynecology, Dr. Colip received his B.S. and M.S. degrees from Loyola School of Medicine and did graduate work at the U. of Pennsylvania. He completed his internship at Epworth, now Memorial Hospital.

Dr. Colip is survived by his wife, Phyllis, a son, George D. Jr., and three daughters, Mrs. Richard Richards of Muncie, Ind., a stepson, Mark F. Colip, at home, and six grandchildren.
12,000 war protesters arrested

(Continued from page 1)

The same libertarian terms apply. The thousands that refused to be processed, fearing criminal records, sat on the basketball floor and hymned the Buddhist "Om" as police and military police filed down to the floor, club in hand. Lawyers interrupted by attempting to explain the legal situation for those that agreed to be processed and the consequences of refusing to be fingerprinted.

A half-dozen Notre Dame students were among those in the Coliseum. Several slipped past police lines to freedom, convincing M.P.'s and police with different stories, and thereby avoid disclosing the potentially incriminating arrest information. Other Notre Dame students went through police processing, paid the ten dollar collateral, and received July trial dates.

The police action was clearly intended to round up all persons with long hair in order to prevent Tuesday morning's planned demonstrations on the streets. The District of Columbia Omnibus Crime Bill allows for such preventive detention, though legal arrest procedures must be followed according to the law.

The mood of the 44 thousand demonstrators was overtly bitter and angry. Police announcements were greeted by prolonged anti-war chants that reached mass-frenzy at several times. A flat was burned at one point. Many spoke of the impossibility of non-violent change, and some pointed to the police actions as cause for violent actions in the future. Military police--many of whom I spoke to--were sympathetic to the anti-war movement but extremely tired of standing guard at the Coliseum.

In retrospect, the five days in Washington were not shut down, and many at the Capitol agreed that massive non-violent action could never achieve such a goal. Whether the mass arrests in Washington by militant and angry youths will re-energize more legal means of war protest around the nation remains an open question as thousands of youths struggle home or remain in the Washington jails.

Continental Hair Styling, Inc.
1321 E. McKinley Hwy.
Mishawaka, Ind.
259-7679

Wishes to extend their thanks to the ND Men for continuing patronage. As part of our Grand Opening of New Shop to ND students on Mondays and Tuesday's all Hair Styles only $2.00.

Serving ND Students in all Hair Needs for over 3 years!

specializing in all lengths of hair

ANNOUNCING!

LADIES'

SPORTSWEAR

CORNER

It's true, now the Campus Shop has a very special corner devoted to pleasing the gals...the "Old" and the "New" in slacks, tops, blouses, short shorts, party hose and much, much more. Shop in browse. The same liberat terms apply.

Have a great summer

LIGHTWEIGHT
SUITS AND SPORTCOATS

Our stocks have never been larger...you can select the style, color and fabric (even the new knits) and you'll find the price right, too. We also have the rest of your summer apparel and accessory needs. Justteen knit shirts, swim wear, etc., etc.

PAY JUNE, JULY, AUGUST
WHEN IT'S MORE CONVENIENT

No interest or service charge added.

THE OBSERVER
Wednesday, May 5, 1971

AYER'S

INC.
52577 U. S. 31 NO.
272-2966.

Who is the first girl in your life?
Mom

Don't forget Mother's Day this Sunday.

Have a great summer

ANNOUNCING!

LADIES'

SPORTSWEAR

CORNER

It's true, now the Campus Shop has a very special corner devoted to pleasing the gals...the "Old" and the "New" in slacks, tops, blouses, short shorts, party hose and much, much more. Shop in browse. The same liberat terms apply.

Have a great summer

LIGHTWEIGHT
SUITS AND SPORTCOATS

Our stocks have never been larger...you can select the style, color and fabric (even the new knits) and you'll find the price right, too. We also have the rest of your summer apparel and accessory needs. Justteen knit shirts, swim wear, etc., etc.

PAY JUNE, JULY, AUGUST
WHEN IT'S MORE CONVENIENT

No interest or service charge added.

THE OBSERVER
Wednesday, May 5, 1971