Irish refuse all bowl bids!

For story see page 7

The Observer

serving the Notre Dame-St. Mary's community

Thursday, November 18, 1971

Irish refuse all bowl bids!

by Null Kane

The Observer learned yesterday that the Morrissey-Dillon interhall game, originally scheduled for the Notre Dame Stadium, has been relegated to Cartier Field instead.

The players learned of the decision Wednesday from Interhall football director Tom Kelly. According to Director of non-varsity sports, Dominic Napolitano, the move was made because workmen just fertilized, aerated and resod the field this week.

"No one wants to keep the kids out of the stadium," Napolitano said, "it's just a case of not contacting the proper officials in time."

“good substitute”

Re seeding and fertilizing is "quite a proposition," according to Napolitano. He would not make an estimate of the job's cost, but he did say that he expected the cost of fertilizing and seeding the club sports fields behind Stepan Center alone to reach $800.

When the bleachers are set up, Cartier Field will be what he considers a "good substitute." But he added, "I've been in it (football) for forty years and I know what it means for them to play in the stadium."

Members of both teams expressed disappointment at not playing in the stadium. "Even though it is a myth, it's a little kid's dream to play in the Notre Dame stadium," one player said.

Another said that "lots of parents and friends were coming to see the game" and that it was a "general letdown."

However, competition between Dillon and Morrissey promises to be just as keen in Cartier field as the stadium.

Rivalry between the two squads traces back to last year's championship game in which Dillon defeated Morrissey because Dillon had more first downs after a non-scoring game. Morrissey had been unseated upon for the entire season.

Financial problem stalemates merger

by Ann Therese Davis

Some Notre Dame and St. Mary's Inter-Institutional Teams for Unification have suspended meetings until the financial problems are settled.

The Observer learned yesterday that unification has blocked the Business Affairs team, while completion of most of its assigned tasks halted the Public Relations and Development team.

According to Fr. Ferdinand Brown, associate provost, the Academic Affairs team intends to continue meeting. Some members have speculated on future Student Affairs team meetings, claiming finances have stalemated their proposals.

Fr. Thomas E. Blantz, student affairs vice-president, affirmed there would be another meeting of the committee.

work is hampered

"I think there must be some misunderstanding about our next meeting," he confirmed.

"One of the questions we had begun to consider was the use of precise residence halls after the unification was completed," he recalled, "and at our meeting on Nov. 1, I simply felt that we could postpone any further discussion of this until further progress had been made in other areas: finances, legal considerations, academic allocation of space, and so on."

Many committee members hoped the weekend's Board of Trustees Ad-Hoc Committee meeting could solve the financial puzzle and spur them on to rapid unification timetable again.

Analyzing the work stoppage by the business affairs team, Rev. Jerome Wilson, financial affairs vice-president, explained, "We've gone about as far as we could go."

gone as far...

"At the present time, since the budgets at both places will be separate for next year, our work is hampered."

"We wanted to combine the personnel departments and student aid departments at this time. But, some of the administrators at St. Mary's just don't want that until the budgets are unified," he divulged.

As a solution to the monetary mess, Fr. Wilson termed a suggestion by the St. Mary's Faculty Assembly that Notre Dame issue Notre Dame contracts to SMC faculty with SMC funding that part of the university budget possible.

In meeting last spring the business affairs team, Rev. Jerome Wilson, financial affairs vice-president, explained, "We've gone about as far as we could go."

Richard Connolly: "most of the work has already been done."
St. Mary's student government officials last night "expressed their determination to press on with the SMC parietal proposal in spite of Sister Alma Peter's veto, although one Notre Dame student government representative called any further effort "beating a dead horse."

St. Mary's SBP Kathy Barlow and SBVP Missy Underman are both in favor of continuing to press the issue. Referring to her first reaction as "angry upset and really discouraged" Miss Underman said "I was about ready to give the whole thing up, but we can't do that."

Both Barlow and Underman said that the decision they are now facing is "where to go with the issue."

Miss Barlow claimed that the usual hand-in-hand parietal hours, that's only a small part of it. We're talking about the right of the women at SMC to make decisions for themselves and to determine their own life style."

"The action that Sister Alma took in vetoing the proposal was in effect saying "you won't be able to determine your own life style on this campus," Miss Barlow contended.

Miss Barlow said that there were four possible alternatives to the problem but she rejected them as "compromise" solutions. "If we were pushing for parietals, to create a social atmosphere, there might not be a compromise. Better social atmosphere is not the basis of the issue. Either you live your own life style or you don't there is no in between and it can't be compromised," she said.

The alternatives she offered were: Dropping the issue entirely, a possibility both that Miss Barlow and Miss Underman opposed. Notre Dame SBVP Orlinda Rodriguez felt that his was the best alternative, saying that SMC government should "drop the issue and move on to bigger and better things."

"I'm afraid that any further action would be beating a dead horse" Rodriguez commented. "The issue could be cut up and represented as experiments in the various dorms. Miss Underman suggested the possibility of resubmitting the LeMans experiment. Miss Barlow felt that any experiment based on the vetoed proposal would meet with much the same result. Notre Dame SBVP Orlinda Rodriguez thought that the idea of experimental open houses could work at the present time.

Barlow also contended that the present St. Mary's room selection system ligated against the proposal's success.

"At present, the turnover of people from year to year destroys the bond and spirit of a hall community which builds upon itself," Barkett said. "If a stay hall system or some version of one could be implemented, perhaps SMC hall governments and halls would reach the point of self determination and self government that we all strive for."

Barlett then contended that the hall and student response to a parietal hours proposal might be more vocal and the bill might obtain administrative approval.

"The student government officials generally disagreed with the suggestion to submit the proposal to the Trustees over Sister Alma's head."

"I won't rule out the trustees but I think they have already made their decision," Miss Barlow said. Both Miss Underman and Barkett felt that action of this sort would not work.

"Miss Barlow rejected the idea of dropping the self determination philosophy of the proposal and pushing the parietals. "Philosophy is more important to me."

The officials were leery of suspension if students ignored the veto. "I see open violation as a last resort Miss Underman stated, adding that to be effective this would require the support or a majority of the student body."

Rodriguez stated that "disobedience is out of the question at St. Mary's."

Miss Barlow advocated "challenging every woman on this campus to make the decision for herself."

"For myself, this is the only part acceptable as a resident of this campus."

---

Teams collect merger details (continued from page 1)

"Since it is still quite early," Fr. Blantz said last night, "expressed his feeling that we are still collecting information, discussing it with others, drafting what seems to be feasible, alternative proposals, and really trying to determine what the financial implications of each and costs of each alternative might be."

The Student Affairs Team has established no definite time table. Its goal, the vice-president defined, is to be prepared to unify student affairs as soon as other areas seem ready to merge. Other than Fr. Blantz, the student affairs team roster lists: Dr. Mary Alice Cannon, Rev. Thomas E. Chambers, Miss Mary Martucci, Miss Kathleen Mullaney, Mrs. Diana Petrovich, Rev. James Riehle, Miss Jane Shively, Rev. James Wilke, and Rev. William Toohey.

Last fall the team divided into smaller committees to investigate particular areas, select issues from other university and college staff members, and to draft proposals for team consideration. Fr. Blantz catalogued some of the team's interests as campus ministry, counseling services, student residence, medical services, offices of the dean of students and vice-president for student affairs.

Speaking for the Public Relations and Development Team, Richard Conklin, director of public information, reported, "Most of our work has already been done" in the areas of public affairs, alumni organization and development.

Substantiating the team's progress, he cited unification of the two offices of public information effective last Sept. 1. Now his office handles all SMC publicity, including the Christmas annual giving brochure for alumni.

With alumni-alamnae organization mergers, Conklin announced both groups agreed to proceed at the same pace as the institutions.

In early June, Fr. Hesburgh and Sr. Alma announced an appointment of these teams to work out the details of unification.

---

Urban Studies Evening

Sunday, November 21

7:00 PM Room 103

O'Shaughnessy

1. Work study for academic credit
2. Urban studies seminar
3. Urban studies double major
4. Urban studies certificate

---

Cultural Arts Commission

Cinema 72 European Festival

Nov. 18-

Intimate Lighting

Nov. 19-

Cranes are Flying

Engineering Auditorium

times: 7 & 9 PM every night

Adm. $1

Cinema '72 patrons free

---

ANHEUSER-BUSCH INC • ST LOUIS
Benefit game for needy of South Bend area. The varsity freshman I-P-counter will be open to all fans who bring standing room crown Monday when Coach Richard "Digger" Phelps presents his 1971-72 varsity basketball squad to the public in a benefit game for needy families of the South Bend area. The varsity freshman I-P-counter will be open to all fans who bring standing room crown Monday night when Coach Richard "Digger" Phelps presents his 1971-72 varsity basketball squad to the public in a benefit game for needy families of the South Bend area.

Washington—President Nixon announced that he would disregard as not binding on him a provision of a bill he was signing setting a policy that American troops should be withdrawn promptly from Indochina as the House rejected, 228 to 164, a move to cut off funds for all military operations in or over Indochina after June 1.

Bangkok—Citing "the dangers that have been threatening Thailand," Premier Thanom Kittikachorn and a group of Thai leaders organised themselves into a "revolutionary" council, abolished the constitution, dissolved parliament, disbanded the cabinet and instituted martial law. The seizure of full power in Thailand came without violence.

United Nations, N.Y.—A spokesman for the United States mission to the United Nations referred at a news conference to cite specific examples of what the chief American delegate, George Bush, called Tuesday "intermediate" language by the Chinese in their first speech to the General Assembly. A member of the Chinese delegation, asked about Bush's statement, said it was "not worth commenting on."

on campus today

7:00-meeting, students wishing to become big brothers, 303 engineering bldg.
7:30-lecture, dr. emil t. hoffman, keenan-stanford chapel
8:00-lecture, robert byrnes, the diplomatic revolution of the 1970's, architecture auditorium
8:15-lecture, walker brum, the implication of sociology for history, library auditorium
8:30-drama, blithe spirit, washington hall

Freshmen to meet varsity in benefit game

Notre Dame athletic and students leaders are hoping for a standing room crown Monday night when Coach Richard "Digger" Phelps presents his 1971-72 varsity basketball squad to the public in a benefit game for students leaders are hoping for a standing room crown Monday night when Coach Richard "Digger" Phelps presents his 1971-72 varsity basketball squad to the public in a benefit game for Coach Phelps has given support to the project.

 Benefit game for needy of South Bend

Notre Dame athletic and students leaders are hoping for a standing room crown Monday night when Coach Richard "Digger" Phelps presents his 1971-72 varsity basketball squad to the public in a benefit game for

The Observer
Local Insert Price List
per 1000 (10,000 must be printed)
2 page ............. $16.00
4 page ............. $12.00
6 page ............. $14.00
8 page ............. $16.00
12 & over pages .... $20.00

Pamphlet
8 page ............. $12.00
16 page ............. $15.00
24 page ............. $18.00
30 & over pages .... $25.00

Pre-payment Required.

Call 7471 for further information.

AQUINAS BOOK SHOP
GIFTS * BOOKS
POSTERS
LOVE NOTES
GREETING CARDS
RELIGIOUS
EDUCATION
MATERIAL
ONE BLOCK EAST
OF NOTRE DAME
CAMPUS OFF JUNIPER ROAD
BROWSERS WELCOME
FREE PARKING
OPEN MONDAY & THURSDAY
TIL 7:00 PM

AQUINAS BOOK SHOP

BETTER QUALITY DIAMOND FOR LESS MONEY!

Security police, parking lot attendants, ticket takers, ushers and scores of other personnel have volunteered their services so that 100 per cent of all gifts will go to the needy.

let your spirit soar!

TAKEN TIME TO VISIT THE NEW AQUINAS BOOK SHOP

GIFTS * BOOKS * POSTERS

LOVE NOTES
GREETING CARDS
RELIGIOUS
EDUCATION
MATERIAL
ONE BLOCK EAST
OF NOTRE DAME
CAMPUS OFF JUNIPER ROAD
BROWSERS WELCOME
FREE PARKING
OPEN MONDAY & THURSDAY
TIL 7:00 PM

AQUINAS BOOK SHOP

18717 BULLA ROAD
SOUTH BEND, IN 46637
PH. 272-1704
Interhall loss

It wouldn’t have been too difficult to play the game in the stadium. It would have called upon a little foresight, a little concern, a little intelligence on the University’s part, but the University has demonstrated those qualities in the past, during emergencies. It would have meant that the sod would have been deprived of seed for another week, but that’s happened before in Notre Dame history. It wouldn’t have been too difficult.

Put a hundred people of diverse backgrounds, interests, and lifestyles together in one building and make them live there. Room a horse rider from Oklahoma—an Engineering Major who plays the bongos—with a blueblooded son of Massachusetts who sits around reading Sarte all the time. Duplicate the matchup a dozen times. Then tell the building that it is to produce that intangible, “spirit”, and that it is to use that “spirit” not only to help students make the hall a livable place but to extend it such a way that when they come back as alumni they sing hoannah to the bookstore every time they pass it.

There may be two or three things that could bind those hundred people together. One might be dismay at Notre Dame, but there’s no way to institutionalize that. Another might be a predilection towards the grape, but there’s no way of institutionalizing that, either. A third is football. The better the teams are, the more serious the players get.

The better the teams are, the more serious the players get. Some of the Morrissey and Dillon players had invited their parents to the game they had been promised since the beginning of the year. All the University would have had to do was to hold off four days on their resodding schedule. It’s really too bad.

A Thrice - told Tale

Some stories, once told, should never be told again, either because they give offense, or more often because they are just bad stories. Others, however, once told, should be told again, and if they hold up under public scrutiny, should be told yet a third time. The following is such a thrice-told tale.

Once, as the story goes, there was a thirty-nine year old man, a plumber by trade, who contemplated divorce from his bride of three months, a sparsely blonde twenty years his junior. The honeymoon had ended in flying frying pan and threats of eviction, in addition to the customary screaming and hollering.

Finally, after two weeks of particularly difficult tension, the wife arose one morning at 4 a.m., tiptpted past the plumber’s makeshift bed on the living room sofa, tiptpted out the front door, pushed the family Chevy halfway down the block, and left. When our hero awoke, he found his suitcases, $190.00 of his racetrack money, his wife, and most of her possessions gone. She left only a jewelry box (without jewelry, of course), two bars of facial soap, and her frying pan, a wedding present, with a note attached saying “Cook your own eggs Benedict from now on.”

A bit surprised, but not too distressed, the man threw out the note, the soap, and the jewelry box, cooked his own eggs, and went to work as if his loss was nothing more than the eighth race at Aquaduct. After two weeks of holy unwedded bliss, the man returned from work one day to find police officers searching his house and digging in his wife’s flower garden in the back yard. At a depth of six feet they found a Neanderthal skeleton and the man was arrested for first degree murder.

At the trial, neighbors testified to the “violent quarrels” between the newly weds, and the strange disappearance of both the car and the bride. Someone later discovered the car in a clump of bushes near the local train station. The accused testified that the blood on the front seat was from a cut on his leg suffered while he was at work, and apparently the jury disagreed.

The coroner said that the skeleton in the backyard was “that of a female, time of death uncertain.”

Anyway, our hero was sentenced to life imprisonment. After nineteen years in Sing Sing, he was paroled, but since the town still remembered his crime, he moved to the West Coast to resume his plumbing trade.

One day shortly after he reached the Los Angeles area, he went to the home of a wealthy Hollywood producer to fix a leaky faucet. A maid met him at the door and took him to the kitchen. He soon saw the problem with the sink, and when he turned to pick up a wrench from the table, he saw the lady of the house, his bride of 19 years ago, standing on the other side of the table. Recognition was instantaneous on both sides, and she immediately broke out in a shrill Hollywood giggle.

“Boy did I sure screw you?” she laughed. Our hero grabbed the wrench from the table and began to beat her over the head, screaming, “Where? You pig!” and other nineties.

The maid, of course, called the police, but by the time they arrived, the wife was quite dead, and the producer quite astonished.

The question I now pose to you is this: Can a man be tried and sentenced for the murder of his wife when he was convicted of that crime 19 years ago?
big brother-ing

The Big Brother program on campus is a small and active group, in the midst of recruiting new members for the spring semester. The first of four training sessions will be held for those interested in becoming Big Brothers, with the others ranging from 8 to 17, the Big Brother sessions. I don't think you feel you would have case of the mange ... but Miss Petretti had received a Big Brother is expected to meet with the children are from varied socio-economic groups, including blacks, Mexican Americans, Indians, whites, and children from poverty stricken homes to those of higher income groups, according to Prof. Dascbach. A student can also stay with the same child for as many years as he is in the program. With only about 30 Notre Dame students participating in the program, there is a waiting list of children to receive Big Brothers. Among these on campus who are active in the program is Clarence Ellis. Ellis says, "I've been with Big Brothers ever since the beginning of last year. There are a countless number of young boys who are looking for a big brother. It is a very rewarding experience, one that you and the young man will always cherish forever. If you feel you would like to help some young man please attend the Big Brother sessions. I don't think you will regret it. I haven't." Those interested can also contact Prof. Dascbach in 319 Engineering.

doing a good thing while having fun

Mardi Gras has been called one of the best collegiate weekends in the nation. Whether or not an actual survey was conducted or this acknowledgment led us out of the inner walls of the Social Commission office is of little concern to those involved in its planning - because we believe it. We have to believe it or else it would never get off the ground.

Upwards to $30,000 is handled in the production and what seems like 30,000 man-hours is spent in the five months of preparation.

This year's 'Fat Tuesday' celebration will take us from wintry South Bend to the warmer climate of California. The Disneyland of Fantasy will take shape in the Stevens Center Carnival which opens Saturday night, February 5. The Carnival perhaps is more than the Mardi Gras was initially begun to help fill the social void in the football off season and most important to aid the Notre Dame Charities. While such traditional social happenings on campus as Homecoming and the proms have lost interest, our program has persisted only because of the spirit of charity which is inherent in Mardi Gras.

The common effort in the Carnival is made easy because it is fun. The major part of the Mardi Gras program is something which is not very much fun for anyone - yet it is this part that pays the bills and makes the profit - its the Annual Mardi Gras Raffle. It is the raffle which made it possible to profit better than $10,000 for some Notre Dame Charities last year. In yesterday's article I talked a little about the various charities that received donations from the Mardi Gras Fund last year.

So come February everyone will be able to judge for themselves whether or not the Kick-Off Party, Concert and the Carnival Festivities add up to one of the best collegiate weekends in the nation, however the real measure of our weekend will be made by those who potentially can benefit from a small but important effort from our entire community.
Letters to the Editor

Thanks

Editor: We would like to thank Merry Franklin for her letter as it pertains to the Navy game. We had a good time, and we hope we can come again next year.

Dan Smith
Bobby Shaw
Ted Solomon
Dewon Washington
4th grade Harrison School

Ben and Don

Editor: I found the following in my course readings. Perhaps you would like to print the excerpt as a column article for Daniel Elisher's action.

Jim Thunder

Possible title for article: Benjamin Franklin and Daniel Elisher

(1) Franklin went to London in 1757 as agent of the assembly in its dispute with the proprietor over taxation Franklin, if he was known for anything, was known for frankness.

These experiences helped prepare him for his more important and more trying agency in London which he began in 1761. The position of colonial agent was by definition partisan, but its success depended on his ability to remain upon not seeming so... As the course readings. Perhaps you can prepare him for his more important and more trying agency in London which he began in 1761. The position of colonial agent was by definition partisan, but its success depended on his ability to remain upon not seeming so... As the Franklin had often been more human decency than the mask. He had always been more human decency than Franklin. The mask was a very personal one, Franklin, and I, would hope, in the future, if you that at an impasse I can make you feel. I can't express your feelings or look for explanations in case of personal conflict. I may exist, of course - in person rather than relying on quotes in a newspaper or in the contact with the person. Personally... Glenn, you generalized quite often in your letter and, since you are a Senator, I suggest you attend the next Senate meeting to air some of your views to see what the rest of the campus representatives in the Senate feel. Since you sound so vocal in this regard, I wish you we would have attended the first two Senate meetings, or the HPC meetings, or the first two... Glenn, you generalized quite often in your letter and, since you are a Senator, I suggest you attend the next Senate meeting to air some of your views to see what the rest of the campus representatives in the Senate feel. Since you sound so vocal in this regard, I wish you would have attended the first two Senate meetings, or the HPC meetings, or the first two...
Irish say "no" to bowls

by Vic Dorr '74

The Notre Dame football team in a sense has put together a season apparently voted not to take part in any post-season action. No official decision was announced, but it would appear that the Irish would prefer not to accept any bowl invitations for the near future.

Reasons, of course, were not revealed either, but there was speculation at the time of the decision that Notre Dame was not likely to be ranked in the top seven teams in the nation, which is generally considered the minimum requirement to make a bowl appearance.

In coming here, Eric had to leave his father's behind, and face up to a new era that was less than philosophic toward married students. But those who have known Eric's girl is now Mrs. Peggi Dan, who is affectionately known as "Teddy". She is from Michigan, but the two are in love, the other child on the way.

Patton has figured prominently in Notre Dame's defensive plans, as co-captain of his freshman squad, sophomore substitute for virtuous Bobo Olsen and Larry Schumacher, and, for the last year, the team's other halfback. Interestingly, Patton referred to the linebacking position as the "right position", and "the right position on the front face, too slow for the back") with the line's qualifications as the job: speed, size, agility, and lateral movement.

In coming here, Eric had to leave his father's behind, and face up to a new era that was less than philosophic toward married students. But those who have known Eric's girl is now Mrs. Peggi Dan, who is affectionately known as "Teddy". She is from Michigan, but the two are in love, the other child on the way.

Patton has figured prominently in Notre Dame's defensive plans, as co-captain of his freshman squad, sophomore substitute for virtuous Bobo Olsen and Larry Schumacher, and, for the last year, the team's other halfback. Interestingly, Patton referred to the linebacking position as the "right position", and "the right position on the front face, too slow for the back") with the line's qualifications as the job: speed, size, agility, and lateral movement.

In coming here, Eric had to leave his father's behind, and face up to a new era that was less than philosophic toward married students. But those who have known Eric's girl is now Mrs. Peggi Dan, who is affectionately known as "Teddy". She is from Michigan, but the two are in love, the other child on the way.

Patton has figured prominently in Notre Dame's defensive plans, as co-captain of his freshman squad, sophomore substitute for virtuous Bobo Olsen and Larry Schumacher, and, for the last year, the team's other halfback. Interestingly, Patton referred to the linebacking position as the "right position", and "the right position on the front face, too slow for the back") with the line's qualifications as the job: speed, size, agility, and lateral movement.
Thursday, November 18, 1971

THE OBSERVER

WANTED

- Need ride to or from Grays
  - Colorado for Thanksgiving, Call Cell 682-4588.
  - Please, call me the day before.

- Needed: Ride to Pittsburgh Nov. 30. Call Carol 3748.

- Writers needed to Eastern Pennsylva-
  - nia for Thanksgiving. Call Linda, and a
  - points East on interstat. 83.

- Leave Friday or Saturday, Reasonable rates! Call Bob 3463.

- Need ride to Baton Rouge for LSU game this weekend. Call lightly
  - anyone near after noon Friday. Call 790-4859. Will share expenses and provide a place to stay and costs.

- Need ride to Columbus, Ohio Nov. 19. Call Jean 201 4855.

- Need to Florida 1ST. Leave Nov. 19. Call Thanksgiving. Call Mike 1650.

- Need ride to Dayton, Ohio on Nov. 19. Call Nancy, 232 4855.

- Need ride to Madison - Fri. Nov. 19. Call Carol 322 4852.

- Seen a white teenage 4 mo. dog. Call Mike & Sue? Lost near the

- Last Lost: Green ring. Newward Hall, Reward, Call 322.

CLASSIFIED ADS

FOR SALE

- For Sale: Champion Gold GTO. All cards, Pioneer stereo and
  - tires. Has title, looks like a 76. Good car. Call 290-1832.

- Unique perverted cheating, the perfect Christmas gift for that
  - special someone. Call 790-1234 or come see our vast selection of
  - 411 Grinch toys. Also, a variety of Blows. Blues 11. Arin's Magic
  - Salad. Please don't HALT the game. Pee! Collectors and others. One week only.

- See inventory on latest LPS. Student Record sales executed!
  - Lot 85.96, 3.45, 5.34, 9.15. 313 Marmory or ph. 3375.

- For Sale: Sony Tape Recorder portable radio/cassette stereo, built in amplifier, 3 speakers, ac
  - controls. Bernard S.L.K. Turn tine. 280 7277. Will trade for
  - magnetic cartridge. Make offer.

- For Sale: Full size refrigerator. FREE cute, playful kittens. 222 48b No. 1527.

- Sale: Round trip ticket to D. C. Thanksgiving. Call John 4888.

- For sale: Key to Katie Ryan's room, includes details talk to the truck driver.

NOTICES

NEED MONEY?

- Marquetry Fund
  - Building of La Fortune
  - 11-12-71
  - Cell Joanna at 207-2725 for Alp's and
  - others. St. Louis Woodlore. Cosmetic Line. Available to
  - students, couples, others.

- Need money as you want. 687.

OVERSEAS JOBS FOR STUDENTS:

- Australia, Africa, etc. All
  - professions, students, blue collar. Wife or
  - earning, nightshift, farming. Form
  - Wards, Box 302, Omaha. 305-5023.

- St. Louis Christmas Thanksgiving Bus Sales
  - reservations and information. Call 4871. Sign up this week. 79 in Room 168
  - 3:00-5:00 Monday.

- Married Couples
  - Great opportunity to start a business, part time, and
  - thrilling with your present in come.

- Students, check out our pre-
  - winter brake overhaul.

- Students, we need new shows, build all 4 drums, rebuild all 4 cylinders,
  - reback tires, and adjust Smokey Bear's
  - Ride to Temple College! Call 6729.

FARTHER AFFORDABLE DOUBLE

- Comfort No Wrinkles
- Machine Washable
- In a selection of colors

PAY NEXT SUMMER

- Pay next June, July, August and
  - No service or carrying charge.

NEW AD RATES

- Words. $4.50 10 x 12 size
  - $7.00 10 x 15 size
  - $9.00 10 x 18 size
  - $11.50 10 x 21 size
  - $14.00 10 x 24 size
  - $16.50 10 x 27 size
  - $19.00 10 x 30 size
  - $21.50 10 x 33 size
  - $24.00 10 x 36 size

LOST

- I lost a man's gold pocket watch
  - black leather band. Any help in returning to call 289-8703.

NEW

- Eyes in glasses box for cases like this.
  - 1153.