Vol VI

Sr. Gerald talks to students...

by Ed Ellis

Four Saint Mary's students who spoke last night with Sr. Gerald Hartney, Treasurer of the Sisters of the Holy Cross and a member of the SMC Board of Trustees, concluded that the problem with the merger at this point "is not financial, but philosophical," and cannot be dealt with "step by step, in a rational manner."

The four juniors, Greta Andersoon, Ann Shoemaker, Cathy Hicks, and Regina Ivory, concluded from their two-hour talk with Sr. Gerald, that "we are up against a philosophy of education held at this college and at many other Catholic colleges for over 125 years."

"To combat this," said Ann Shoemaker, "each of us must act in our own way, but united in a purpose." Sr. Gerald concurred and said that they must act in their own way, but united in a purpose. "They emphasized that continued pressure must be brought to bear before the meeting of the Board of Trustees December 18, at which the students will present their demands to the Board."

The students said that they had asked for an immediate emergency meeting of the Board, saying that "if ever there was an emergency, this is it." Sr. Gerald, however, said that according to Sr. Olivette, chairman of the Board this would be impossible, since some members of the Board are out of the country and could not possibly be back until December 18, the date of the scheduled meeting.

Sr. Gerald did say, however, that Saint Mary's students taking their major courses at Notre Dame would get Notre Dame degrees. This was a point that had upset many SMC students, especially those in departments that did not exist at Saint Mary's.

In discussions Tuesday night, SMC students leaders had concluded that Sr. Gerald was the key to the entire merger question, since she was the Treasurer of the Order and a member of the Executive Board of the Board of Trustees. A demonstration had been planned for the front of Bernard Hall, the sisters' residence on the campus.

The four girls volunteered to try to talk to Sr. Gerald, who had reportedly rebuffed all previous attempts at communication on the part of the SMC student leaders.

Their attempt to talk to her was successful, and they were accompanied at 7 pm by a crowd of about 300 students to the door of Bernard Hall. All the lights in the hall were out when the crowd arrived. The four entered the building and the crowd left, except for a few who stayed waiting for their exit, at 8:30. At about 8:30, the door of the convent was opened and the sisters present invited a crowd of about twenty-five students inside for a statement.

At that time, Sr. Gerald said that she was concerned at the student response, and would personally take their recommendations to the Board of Trustees on December 18.

The four girls returned to the SMC Student Government offices in Holy Cross Hall and spoke to a crowd of several hundred at a meeting at 9:30.

According to Regina Ivory, the secretary of the group, "Everything in the merger will continue in the direction it has been going, it's just that the boundary limits of time were to be removed."

Also, the students said that the Board is studying the merger, and that Co-ex programs will be continued.

The reason for the interruption of the merger process was that the Board left things were going too fast, and so they wanted to slow things down by removing the time limits.

decision made jointly

As far as the decision-making process, Sr. Gerald said that "the decision was made jointly" by Notre Dame and St. Mary's, and that Notre Dame had asked for separate budgets for the coming year.

The group also said that in the voting of the Executive Committee, Sister reported that "the Executive Committee as a whole, voted."

The question had been brought up at the meeting the previous night of the student body with Sr. Alma, SMC Acting President.

As for the decision, Sr. Anderson reported that "At one member of the Board, she did not feel that she could give all the intricacies of the decision."

This was also said to be "the Alma's statement last night."

The demand for a meeting of the Board before December 18 cannot be met because of physical reasons, reported Miss Ivory.

(continued on page 6)

...students discuss next steps

by Marla Gallager and Mike Baum

Approximately 300 students and several faculty members discussed means of protesting the recent merger decision and exchanged information in Holy Cross Hall last night.

The meeting lasted over two hours and featured reports of interviews with deans and a member of the St. Mary's Board of Trustees.

Joe Schlouser and Marilyn Graves (OC Commissioner at SMC) opened the meeting. Schlouser remarked that the general consensus at Notre Dame seemed to be that this was just a "temper tantrum" on the part of the SMC students and remarked that although meetings were to be held in ND halls Thursday, "don't expect large things to happen."

SMC students Regina Ivory, Anne Shoemaker, Greta Anderson and Cathy Hicks reported on an interview held with Trustee Sister M. Gerald Hartney (Treasurer). Sister Gerald, they reported, had contacted other colleges which had considered co-education, Vassar, Smith, Radcliffe and Harvard to ascertain their problems and decisions. She noted that the students and faculty had moved faster than either of the two Boards, and said that the Boards "felt boxed in" by the 1975-76 deadline.

Sr. Gerald reportedly revealed that there would be a 5 per cent cut in co-ex funds by the 1975-76 deadline.

SMC students with Notre Dame degrees, according to Miss Ivory.

There is no plan to penalize girls for expense reasons, reported Sr. Gerald.

There was no plan to penalize girls for expense reasons, reported Sr. Gerald.

According to Regina Ivory, the secretary of the group, "Everything in the merger will continue in the direction it has been going, it's just that the boundary limits of time were to be removed."

Also, the students said that the Board is studying the merger, and that Co-ex programs will be continued.

The reason for the interruption of the merger process was that the Board left things were going too fast, and so they wanted to slow things down by removing the time limits.

(continued on page 8)
Mike Baum

Two former teachers of Indiana University at South Bend have won a decision against the University in a case contesting that the University denied them due process in refusing to grant tenure.

The case, involving Mr. William Fabrychy and Mr. Matthew Zivich, both of the Art Department, may well have important consequences in determining the rights of non-tenured instructors.

Both men had six years credit as teachers, and were denied further employ in their seventh year, the time when the University is required to either grant them tenure or terminate their contracts. Mr. Zivich had been an instructor at IUSB for all six years, his colleague, Mr. Fabrychy had taught his first three years at St. Mary's College, but was denied credit he went to teach at IU.

When further contract was denied, both men went before separate Boards of Review. In spite of favorable recommendations from the Boards, and without explanation the University refused to grant tenure, according to Fabrychy.

"Both our positions were upheld, that's a kind of generalization, ... however the Administration denied this, the recommendations of this Board of Reviews in both our cases.

"The Administration seems to consider this only a recommendatory body rather than a hearing body. The place in the faculty handbook does one find anything that says the Administration has to listen to the Board of Review. "In Zivich's case I don't believe the Administration could have given me the understanding they gave no explanation... We were never given reasons of decision at any time."

"As co-plaintiffs, Zivich and Fabrychy have gained a favorable decision from Judge Grant, of the United States District Court Northern District of Indiana (the suit being filed in Federal Court)," Their Attorney, Mr. Don Wirtzburger, explained the court's decision.

"The Court ordered Indiana University to give a statement of reasons why Fabrychy and Zivich were denied tenure and to provide a hearing wherein they could test those reasons and also to provide evidence in their own behalf. Now if the University does not comply with the Court's order giving a statement and hearing, then the University is compelled to reinstate them."

If this new hearing were to result in an unfavorable decision by the administration, the co-plaintiffs would ask the court to review the hearing, according to Mr. Wirtzburger. He also said that the case was new in recent law.

"There's a trend in the law, now, which generally favours public employees, or more accurately, probationary public employees."

Zivich and Fabrychy's case drew from an early 1960's case, Cafeteria Workers vs. McElroy, Ruth vs. Board of Regents and others. The two most recent decisions in the case were made in the last two fairly recent decisions. Mr. Wirtzburger noted that the Seventh Circuit has perhaps the most progressive history in this area. He observed, "It's just two competing versions of the law here, because the university maintains that it needs to have unbridled discretion in hiring and firing decisions to prune a faculty. On the other hand individual professors contend that they've got to have some assurance they won't be exposed to arbitrariness."

"The Seventh Circuit holds that a non-tenured faculty member, or teacher, either in a high school, college or university or elementary school, it doesn't make any difference as long as the teacher is a public employee, is entitled to a statement of reasons and a hearing... why the school proposes not to renew the contract."

Wirtzburger noted that the fact that the decisions rested on the teachers being state employees would affect the application of the law to private universities.

There have been a few cases which have sort of ignored the fact that a school is a private institution, but generally if it's a private institution the Constitution will not apply in quite so great an extent as if it were a public school. There is no question that a private institution can not openly and overtly violate someone's legal rights, but it can be done tacitly or silently, and probably they can get away with it..."

The present state of the case is unclear. The University did not meet the Nov. 22nd deadline to give a statement of reasons, but instead filled a motion to amend or alter the judgment thus delaying the final process said Wirtzburger. A major judicial decision on the

THE IMPACT OF NUCLEAR ENERGY ON SOCIETY

A course designed to introduce students in the Liberal Arts to a techhology that will substantially affect the world we live in and is about to come. Topics will include thermal pollution (is it necessary?), Radioactive Fallout (what has it done, what can it do?), Energy Shortages (which city will have a brownout next?), and Crime Detection (have you ever seen a nuclear finger print?).

SUNSHINE FESTIVAL

with ATLANTIS Nazgur

Greater North Bay Alchemical Co. Lightshow

Friday, Dec. 3 8:00 N.D. Fieldhouse

Sponsored By ND-SMC Social Commission $1.50

THE IMPACT OF NUCLEAR ENERGY ON SOCIETY

A course designed to introduce students in the Liberal Arts to a technology that will substantially affect the world we live in and is about to come. Topics will include thermal pollution (is it necessary?), Radioactive Fallout (what has it done, what can it do?), Energy Shortages (which city will have a brownout next?), and Crime Detection (have you ever seen a nuclear finger print?).

THE IMPACT OF NUCLEAR ENERGY ON SOCIETY

A course designed to introduce students in the Liberal Arts to a technology that will substantially affect the world we live in and is about to come. Topics will include thermal pollution (is it necessary?), Radioactive Fallout (what has it done, what can it do?), Energy Shortages (which city will have a brownout next?), and Crime Detection (have you ever seen a nuclear finger print?).

THE IMPACT OF NUCLEAR ENERGY ON SOCIETY

A course designed to introduce students in the Liberal Arts to a technology that will substantially affect the world we live in and is about to come. Topics will include thermal pollution (is it necessary?), Radioactive Fallout (what has it done, what can it do?), Energy Shortages (which city will have a brownout next?), and Crime Detection (have you ever seen a nuclear finger print?).
Washington—The United States today suspended licenses for all future arms shipments to India and revoked previously approved licenses. The State Department cited Indian incursions into Pakistan territory in recent days in moving to cut off the tiny flow of American arms. A larger flow of arms to Pakistan was cut off three weeks ago.

Peking—In a joint editorial apparently connected with the disappearance from public view of defense minister Lin Piao, Peking's leading publications charged that "cheiftains of opportunist lines" were plotting against communist unity in China. The editorial called for party unity to deal with problems of deviation from correct policies.

Washington—Overriding the Pay Board, the Senate voted 86 to 4 to grant retributive payment of most wages withheld during the 90-day wage-price freeze. The Administration had passed word that it would accept the provision, part of a bill extending the President's controls over the economy until 1977.

SMC Faculty voices support for the boycott

by Maria Gallagher

Joining a rising chorus of student dissent over the suspension of the merger, several SMC's faculty members voiced full support for yesterday's boycott of classes.

Sr. Franzita Kane, Professor of English at SMC, voiced full support of the student boycott. She was quoted as saying that she was "the only alternative the students could take to effect a response."

The proposals presented at the afternoon convocation showed a great deal of concern and intelligence on the part of the students, the nun noted, however, she said, that "there was no guarantee for their success."

"People should never stop trying," Sr. Franzita said, "but they should be realistic enough to see that there are limits to what one can accomplish."" Dr. Anthony Black, associate professor of history, held a more cautious viewpoint. He felt that the boycott "would not be effective, and in some instances would do more harm than good."

Dr. Paul Messbarger, chairman of the SMC faculty senate, released a statement in the form of a letter to students saying that no student or faculty member had any part in the decision to suspend unification.

"But a member of this faculty and student body has had any place among the 'we' of that (Sr. Olivette's) statement, just as no member of this faculty or student body was party to the initial decision to merge," Messbarger's statement said.

Elisabeth Noel, professor of English, was enthusiastic about the boycott, calling it a "good idea; a concrete expression of student solidarity."

"She cautioned, however, that it could succeed "only if the students are sincere."

Miss Noel lauded the students for "doing things that the administration can't ignore, making them aware of students' existence and their opinions."

Although she concurred with Dr. Black that the boycott was not necessarily the most effective part of the students. He agreed that they had many valid points to make in criticism of the administration's recent procedures, but doubted that their proposals would have any great influence.

Dr. Dr. Mark Bambanek, associate professor of sociology, suggested that the administration can't ignore, making them aware of students' existence and their opinions.

Dr. Bill Black declined to speculate whether the decision could be reversed by any action on the part of the students. He agreed that they had many valid points to make in criticism of the administration's recent procedures, but doubted that their proposals would have any great influence.

Dr. Paul Messbarger, chairman of the SMC faculty senate, released a statement in the form of a letter (see page 5) saying that no student or faculty member had any part in the decision to suspend unification.

"...a member of this faculty and student body has had any place among the 'we' of that (Sr. Olivette's) statement, just as no member of this faculty or student body was party to the initial decision to merge."

Miss Noel lauded the students for "doing things that the administration can't ignore, making them aware of students' existence and their opinions."

Although she concurred with Dr. Black that the boycott was not necessarily the most effective way or the other by the fact that you were or weren't in Western Civilization class today."

Black declined to speculate whether the decision could be reversed by any action on the part of the students. He agreed that they had many valid points to make in criticism of the administration's recent procedures, but doubted that their proposals would have any great influence.

Dr. Paul Messbarger, chairman of the SMC faculty senate, released a statement in the form of a letter (see page 5) saying that no student or faculty member had any part in the decision to suspend unification.

"...a member of this faculty and student body has had any place among the 'we' of that (Sr. Olivette's) statement, just as no member of this faculty or student body was party to the initial decision to merge."

Miss Noel lauded the students for "doing things that the administration can't ignore, making them aware of students' existence and their opinions."

Although she concurred with Dr. Black that the boycott was not necessarily the most effective way or the other by the fact that you were or weren't in Western Civilization class today."

Black declined to speculate whether the decision could be reversed by any action on the part of the students. He agreed that they had many valid points to make in criticism of the administration's recent procedures, but doubted that their proposals would have any great influence.

Dr. Paul Messbarger, chairman of the SMC faculty senate, released a statement in the form of a letter (see page 5) saying that no student or faculty member had any part in the decision to suspend unification.

"...a member of this faculty and student body has had any place among the 'we' of that (Sr. Olivette's) statement, just as no member of this faculty or student body was party to the initial decision to merge."

Miss Noel lauded the students for "doing things that the administration can't ignore, making them aware of students' existence and their opinions."

Although she concurred with Dr. Black that the boycott was not necessarily the most effective way or the other by the fact that you were or weren't in Western Civilization class today."

Black declined to speculate whether the decision could be reversed by any action on the part of the students. He agreed that they had many valid points to make in criticism of the administration's recent procedures, but doubted that their proposals would have any great influence.

Dr. Paul Messbarger, chairman of the SMC faculty senate, released a statement in the form of a letter (see page 5) saying that no student or faculty member had any part in the decision to suspend unification.

"...a member of this faculty and student body has had any place among the 'we' of that (Sr. Olivette's) statement, just as no member of this faculty or student body was party to the initial decision to merge."

Miss Noel lauded the students for "doing things that the administration can't ignore, making them aware of students' existence and their opinions."

Although she concurred with Dr. Black that the boycott was not necessarily the most effective way or the other by the fact that you were or weren't in Western Civilization class today."

Black declined to speculate whether the decision could be reversed by any action on the part of the students. He agreed that they had many valid points to make in criticism of the administration's recent procedures, but doubted that their proposals would have any great influence.

Dr. Paul Messbarger, chairman of the SMC faculty senate, released a statement in the form of a letter (see page 5) saying that no student or faculty member had any part in the decision to suspend unification.

"...a member of this faculty and student body has had any place among the 'we' of that (Sr. Olivette's) statement, just as no member of this faculty or student body was party to the initial decision to merge."

Miss Noel lauded the students for "doing things that the administration can't ignore, making them aware of students' existence and their opinions."

Although she concurred with Dr. Black that the boycott was not necessarily the most effective way or the other by the fact that you were or weren't in Western Civilization class today."

Black declined to speculate whether the decision could be reversed by any action on the part of the students. He agreed that they had many valid points to make in criticism of the administration's recent procedures, but doubted that their proposals would have any great influence.
From the Editor's Desk

The Third Day

"The third day he rose again, according to the Scriptures, and of his kingdom there shall be no end, God Forever and ever amen."

---The Apostles Creed

This is the third day after the death of the merger and there is no resurrection in sight. It's not in sight because the nuns of the Holy Cross have decided that St. Mary's, as a small, Catholic, Liberal Arts College has a future.

It doesn't.

St. Mary's, as it is, doesn't have a future because it does not fit in with the developing trends in American higher education. Co-ed schools—schools with 10,000 or more students, graduate programs and a superior faculty are the institutions of the future.

People are turning away from the small independent college, the college that is unacademic, lacks an adequate library and a graduate school.

The Holy Cross nuns, we are told, called a halt to the merger because they were afraid of being swallowed up by Notre Dame—because they were afraid that St. Mary's and all it has stood for will be swept aside by the megaversity that is developing on the east side of U.S. 31.

Maybe it will, but St. Mary's is going to be swept aside anyway. The very best students of above average intelligence will come to Notre Dame. They along with many other women are also writing for applications to dozens of other schools.

If the Nuns of the Holy Cross persist in their decision all their nightmares about St. Mary's being an irrelevant institution, drowned by Notre Dame and generally ignored by any student of average intelligence will come to pass—probably by next September.

Sr. Alma said the other day that the St. Mary's administration wasn't too concerned about losing women applicants to Notre Dame since the number that will be accepted is small.

There are other Catholic Universities in the nation though, most of whom admit women—a larger number of women than are being taken at ND next fall. Women won't apply to St. Mary's if they get turned down by Notre Dame, they'll go somewhere else.

The most grotesque irony of this entire fiasco is that the nuns of the Holy Cross honestly feel that what they are doing is in the best interests of the St. Mary's women. Somehow, some way the good sisters got the idea that St. Mary's girls want their school to remain a small, independent liberal arts college.

They don't.

Women attending St. Mary's were led to believe that they would be attending a school soon to be allied with a major university. They were led to believe that they would be attending a co-educational school. They were led to believe that they would receive their degrees from the most well known Catholic university in the country.

The actions of the past three days are solid proof that the St. Mary's students believe these promises to be true, and want them to be true.

If the decision not to merge becomes final, as it now appears, than there will be no winners—not the girls, who will be forced to transfer to other schools and not the nuns of the Holy Cross, who will find themselves scrambling around for dull, incompetent students to fill their school.
SMC students meet to try to save merger

by Ann McCurry and Jim McCurry

Over 100 students, mostly faculty and alumni of St. Mary's, attended a meeting in O'Laughlin Auditorium yesterday to prepare a coordinated move against the breakdown in the Notre Dame-St. Mary's relationship.

The meeting had originally been designed to allow students to meet with members of the College Board of Trustees to discuss with the members their feelings towards breaking off the relationship between the two schools.

The students and faculty who attended the meeting were invited as well as members of the SMC administration.

With the exception of Dr. Mary Alice Croteau, vice-president for student affairs, and Sister Jeanne Fincke, academic dean, no administrators or trustees addressed the students.

Dr. Cannon read the statement that Mother Olivette Whelan, chaplain of the St. Mary's Board of Trustees, had sent to the faculty of the college. In the statement, Mother Whalen said, "I realize that it was impossible to go forward until basic negotiations took place and agreement was reached."

Mother Whalen, in the statement, read the appointment of the faculty to totally re-orient the college as to be incapable of functioning as a community as to be incapable of reflecting its true interest. She also said that steps are now being taken to insure that St. Mary's students will not be unduly affected.

Commenting on the statement, that had been released to the faculty by the Father of the College, Dr. Paul Messbarger, chairman of the faculty assembly, that "before we can review our responsibilities in the integrity and the future of this college, we must have some assurance that the leadership of this institution will be changed, that men and women who have the confidence of the Board and to the executive offices of the college will have the confidence of the faculty and students."

Messbarger commented on the "absurd structure of authority" at SMC: noting that trustees and administrators are "so far removed from the life of this community as to be incapable of reflecting its true interests." He declared that there is the fact that college faculty and student body had no participation of the final considerations to breakoff the planned merger.

Messbarger had hoped for a united effort on the part of the students and faculty to totally re-orient the college. He called for a "review of the corporate relationship of the college and the Order of the Sisters of the Holy Cross."

Dr. Messbarger's letter to the SMC Board of Trustees

The following is the text of a statement I would like to direct to the Father of the College, the Board of Trustees, along with an account of the faculty support it enjoys. If you agree with the sentiments, would you please sign this document and send it to me. Be in my mailbox by Wednesday evening so I can list all of you actions I take it is necessary I inform the faculty assembly for an emergency session Thursday or Friday.

Dr. Paul Messbarger

Letter to Chairperson and Members, SMC Board of Trustees

Dear Sisters and Gentlemen:

The faculty (and student body) of St. Mary's College view the announced decision to suspend merger negotiations with the University of Notre Dame with great disappointment.

The statement of Mother Olivette, Chairman of the Board, to the College Faculty on Nov. 30, and her refusal to answer questions following the statement, only complicated our distress.

To say more than this is to assuage blame, to insist on redress - is to risk a judgment that may be rash. Yet that is the risk we have to take. Because there is no possibility that we shall ever know sufficient facts about the negotiations to make a perfectly reasoned judgment. Worse, even if we knew the fullest account of all sides to the negotiations, there is no way that we could know it to be true. That adds up to a description of our present situation even more desperate than what has occurred because of the failure of the merger.

In her statement, Mother Whelan said that "we made a mistake." No member of this faculty and student body has any place among the "we" of that statement. We, as member of this faculty or student body was partly to the initial decision to merge. Whether or not the negotiations can be resumed, or whether we withdraw into ourselves to rebuild this institution, the fact of the matter is that we have reached a point in our institutional existence where critical changes are necessary.

What has brought us to our present crisis and what will necessarily frustrate any effort to rebuild this school is an uncertain structure of authority. The men and women who direct the fate of this school (the Board and academic officers) are so far removed from the life of this community as to be incapable of reflecting its true interests.

We have been asked to accept a great deal of frustration, to absorb a great deal of pain. It seems to us that before we can accept this condition with any degree of willingness, before we can have confidence in the integrity and the future of this College, we must have some assurance that the leadership of this institution will be changed, that men and women will be named to the Board and to the executive offices of the College who have the confidence of the faculty and students. Moreover we feel that because of decided and inevitable conflict of interest, steps should be taken to review the corporate relationship of the college and the Order of the Sisters of the Holy Cross.

Along the same lines, Student Body President Kathy Barlow, re-emphasized Messbarger's disappointment that the students and faculty had not been consulted in the decision to stop the merger, and that they had expended on the Inter-Institutional teams.

Barlow re-emphasized the demands of the student body that were discussed on Tuesday.

It demanded: justification for the decision, reversal of the decision, and the appointment of outside experts to assess the situation between the two schools.

They felt that "a promise has been broken," and that voices in the Board or its decisions can exist at this time.

A PAULIST DOESN'T WANT TO BE ORDAINED TO GET INVOLVED.

If you think that you want to be a Paulist—and the time is right—

For instance, during the recent novitiate, novices work in such diverse fields as—

Co-rental projects or in the office, counseling centers and universities. They serve in assistant chaplains, co-rental ministries, student teachers and psychiatric roles.

Paulist Seminarians create recreational programs, direct "Days of Reflection" for CCD students, direct film series, experiment with the use of art forms in the liturgy as a preaching tool, originate and edit the Paulist Free Press, coordinate Lenten retreats and organize Home Masses, to mention just a few.

When you commit yourself to the Paulists, you're not committing one thing. It's now. Today.

For information about the Paulists write to: Rev. Don夸大, C.P., Vocation Director, Room 300.

Sisters of the Holy Cross Zorba the Greek Benefit of Parish Relief Fund

Thursday, Dec. 2 at 7 & 9:30 PM

Admission $1

Engineering Auditorium
The people of Notre Dame sound off...

About Ray

Editor:
Ray writes about what he does not understand and Ray writes about the Revolution. He does not know it, he has only a few shallow images. Has Ray ever gotten out into the streets?

Double-sight Ray only knows the Revolution through Time magazine. Ray does not know the Revolution. Ray does not understand that the Revolution does not run counter to the communication between the students.

Gerald Board of Trustees and the students.

"There aren't," Sister Gerald is concerned, she wished, however, that this could have been directed more to the Board and the students.

No pre-Christmas on the student demand for third-party arbitration of the suffering by the Notre Dame coeducation move, Sister Stella.

Editor:
Mary's takes the blame. There is no reason why they should suffer.

"I wish, however, that this may lead him to harmful frustrations."

"It will encourage him up "cute" phrases that will blow the top off your head later.

4. Avoid the use of the word "wrong". It may develop a guilt complex. This will condition him to believe later when he is arrested for stealing a car that society is against him and he is being persecuted.

5. Pick up anything he leaves lying around—books, shoes, clothing. Do everything for him so he will be experienced in throwing the responsibility to others.

6. Let him read any printed matter he can get his hands on. Be careful the silverware and drinking glasses are sterilized, but let his mind feed on garbage.

7. Quarrel frequently in the presence of the children. Then they won't be too shocked when the home is broken up.

8. Give the child all the spending money he wants. Never let him earn his own. Why should he have things as tough as you had them?

9. Satisfy his every craving for food, drink, and comfort. See that every desire is gratified. Denial may lead him to harmful frustrations.

10. Take his part against neighbors, teachers and policemen. They are all prejudiced against your child.

11. When he gets into real trouble, apologize for yourselves by saying, "I never could do anything with him.

12. Prepare for a life of grief— you will have it.

---From The Presbyterian Journal

Students listen to Sr. Gerald

(continued from page 1)

Sr. Gerald refused to comment on the student demand for third-party arbitration of the problems.

Directing herself to the question of SMC academically suffering by the Notre Dame coeducation move, Sr. Gerald reported said, "Then Saint Mary's takes the blame. There is no reason why they should suffer.

The four also reported concern on the part of Sr. Gerald that "there will be much closer communication between the Board of Trustees and the students."

How to Raise a Crook

1. Begin from infancy to give the child everything he wants. This way he will grow up to believe that the world owes him a living.

2. When he picks up bad words, laugh at him. It will encourage him up "cute" phrases that will blow the top off your head later.

3. Never give him any spiritual training. Wait until he is twenty-one and then let him decide for himself.

4. Avoid the use of the word "wrong". It may develop a guilt complex. This will condition him to believe later when he is arrested for stealing a car that society is against him and he is being persecuted.

5. Pick up anything he leaves lying around—books, shoes, clothing. Do everything for him so he will be experienced in throwing the responsibility to others.

6. Let him read any printed matter he can get his hands on. Be careful the silverware and drinking glasses are sterilized, but let his mind feed on garbage.

7. Quarrel frequently in the presence of the children. Then they won't be too shocked when the home is broken up.

8. Give the child all the spending money he wants. Never let him earn his own. Why should he have things as tough as you had them?

---From The Presbyterian Journal

News & Book Center

• You save 20% on all greeting cards, gift wrap, stationery, Christmas cards and Christmas boxes.

• 6,000 different paperback titles in stock.

• 600 different current magazines to choose from.

Open Sunday, noon to 6 p.m.

---From The Presbyterian Journal

SMC - ND PRE-CHRISTMAS RETREAT

an experience in Christian sharing

This Saturday, Dec. 4 9 A.M. - Midnight For info. call Fr. Roger (5389) or Tom Stella (1168) or Mary Gail Peterson (4494)

Sponsored by SMC - ND Campus Ministries

"The group that proved 'em at An Tostal" J. Brogan

TODAY in concert

The Siegall-Schwall Band

Also appearing:

Sound Street

Stepan Center 8:00 PM

Tickets in the Dining Halls and at the door $1.50

---From The Presbyterian Journal

Special prices to NOTRE DAME Students...

Just show your ID card at any of our stores.

---From The Presbyterian Journal
The Observer

Thursday, December 2, 1971

Michigan spoils Digger's opening

by Vic Duer '74

The scene outside the Notre Dame dressing room after last night's 80-43 loss to the Michigan Wolverines was an unusual one. "Mose" Krause, the University Athletic Director, and Roger Valdiserri, the Sports Information Director, were both smiling broadly and puffing on fat cigars as they headed to see the Irish ball club.

And inside the dressing room, in the dimly lit,isolette, the scene was just as unusual. Coach "Digger" Phelps' sentiment was that his team had just suffered an 18-point setback in its second season opener - a setback that wouldlisten.

"I'm pleased with these kids. I'm very proud of them. I couldn't have asked for more."

But perhaps this behavior wasn't so unusual after all. The Irish were beaten, but they were beaten fairly decisively. But the 161-41 final score was no indication of the kind of game it was, and it was certainly no indication of the kind of game as if you were reading it naturally.

defeat. Notre Dame, however, was unable to seriously threaten Michigan's superiority in this contest. This was due somewhat to their lack of movement on offense and their tendency to take too much on Brockman. A full court press was employed by Coach Frank McLaughlin with 11:22 left and Notre Dame trailing 66-47. However, Campy Russell continued to dominate the boards with what at times seemed to be excessive aggressiveness, which went unchecked by the referees. With 2.2 left on the scoreboard, Michigan was up 89-80. The Wolverines scored again, at 1:17, the Irish had their third consecutive point effort along with 14 rebounds and 14 rebounds. The Wolverines were headed by Johnson and Russell, who had 32 and 26 points respectively. Russell was the leading rebounder with 14.

The Wolverines had enough bodies, but the teams got off 7 more shots. The difference was that the Wolverines were quicker, heavier opponents, and they were beaten as well.

"Our kids earned a lot tonight," said the ND coach after the game. "But we got beat because they were quicker than we were. We got beat because we made too many mistakes on our defense and on offense.

"The two teams volleyed throughout the first period, and the Irish who had not been impressively on offense in the pre-season game against the freshmen, were able to grab the lead from the nationally-ranked Wolverines on two occasions - at 13:12, and again at 17:01. Other than this, the Wolverines made all three free throws, by Johnson and Russell, who had 32 and 26 points respectively. Russell was the leading rebounder with 14.

The two teams volleyed throughout the first period, and the Irish who had not been

Notre Dame hit on only 33 per cent from the field, while Michigan hit on 40.

The Notre Dame freshmen basketball team was the victim of some first half sluggishness last night as they were defeated by Michigan's frosh, 89-77. Down in the second half, the Irish came back to outscore Michigan in the final half. However, Michigan's early supremacy left the issue little in doubt.

The two teams volleyed throughout the first period, and the Irish who had not been impressively on offense in the pre-season game against the freshmen, were able to grab the lead from the nationally-ranked Wolverines on two occasions - at 13:12, and again at 17:01. Other than this, the Wolverines made all three free throws, by Johnson and Russell, who had 32 and 26 points respectively. Russell was the leading rebounder with 14.

The two teams volleyed throughout the first period, and the Irish who had not been impressively on offense in the pre-season game against the freshmen, were able to grab the lead from the nationally-ranked Wolverines on two occasions - at 13:12, and again at 17:01. Other than this, the Wolverines made all three free throws, by Johnson and Russell, who had 32 and 26 points respectively. Russell was the leading rebounder with 14.
Student protest continues

(continued from page 1) action, based on Freshman information bulletins promising more with Notre Dame, were also discussed. A boycott of pre-registration was discussed, but discarded by the majority as neither particularly useful nor desirable. Dr. Mark Bambenek noted that "with pre-registration you've got nothing to lose. You can pick courses now and pull out later.""Afro-American Society fights Sickie Cell • By Millard Arnold

Officials from the Afro-American society last night announced that proceeds from next Saturday's Black solidarity dance will go to the fight against Sickie Cell Asemia, a disease which primarily effects Blacks.
The Society asked for contributions of "at least fifty cents" for the benefit dance, which is scheduled to go on between ten Saturday evening and three Sunday morning. The Sound Service, a South Bend musical group, will be the featured artists.
The idea for the benefit grew from a letter which Rick Smothers, the Notre Dame representative to the Indiana advisory council of Black Student Unions, received from the foundation.
The letter stated in part that the Black Greek Council of Indiana University had contributed $800 to the foundation and inquired as to what could be accomplished at Notre Dame.
Olatemi Simms, who is helping coordinate the affair, immediately took to the idea when Smothers approached him with the proposal.
"We have already planned a party for Saturday evening," Simmons said, "it was just something to be doing. When N.D. asked about our giving the dance for sickle cell, I said 'yes, why not.' I see it as something that should have been done long before."

Niemann is one of the ten per cent of Blacks in America who carries the sickle-cell trait. The actual disease itself occurs in one out of every 500 Blacks in this country. It is a killer. Few who have the disease live past 30.

SBP Kathy Barlow stressed the need for widespread personal support, and both she and Fr. Yunita Kane (SMC English Prof.) spoke of the need for all students to be well-informed on the issues and facts. Students said that there was widespread interest in the story among national papers, and that teams from NBC news would be on the SMC campus Thursday. It was announced that activities Thursday would include the setting up of an information center, and the establishment of checkpoints in the SMC dining hall to poll students on whether or not they had sent letters to their parents or taken other recomnended actions.
The meeting was preceded by a silent march by a body of about 500 students to Bertrand Hall which served as an escort to the four representatives who were scheduled to meet with Sr. Gerald, and was an attempt to emphasize student support of them.

Cultural Arts Commission's Performing Arts series

Toronto Dance Fr. Dec. 3 8:30 PM

O'Laughlin Auditorium Admission $2 Performing Arts Series Patrons $1

Schlitz and the Senior Bar Present Sat: A Christmas Party with - Chapped Lips - An Appearance by Santa Claus 15¢ Schlitz Malt Liquor on Tap Bar Opens at 7:00 Also: 1 free drink for anyone dressed as a Reindeer

"Randy Newman is a phenomenon, one of a kind, probably the most authentic popmusic talent to come along in the last 20 years," Philadelphia Daily News.
"Randy Newman is a great songwriter perhaps the best songwriter now working," Los Angeles Herald Examiner
"Newman is one of the highest, most sophisticated rock people around."
- Cincinnati Enquirer
"The most original and consistently impressive songwriter to have evolved from the new popular music."
- Cosmos/People
"Randy has the deepest, most consistent, most original comic version to be found in pop music today."
- Rolling Stone

For Sale: 2 FREE MAKE UP LESSONS. Available only on college campuses. F.T. FREE MAKE UP LESSONS.
Mardi Grass '72 kick-off party, feb 4
THE WIZZ CIRCUS OF FANTASY
On the Mall-McKinley Town Country Shopping Center- Mishawaka, Indiana Phone 259-7355

THE PIT STOP

CATALOGUED ADS

For Sale: one pair Head Killy 80 skis. Brand new, perfect condition. Good price. 358 Howard, 836-2891.
NOTICES
Call Journal of SBT 2731 for Agents and late concerning Vincenzo Woodard's Excl. Concert. Check it out. Available only through indy. cosmatics. FREE MAKE UP LESSONS.
The Dairy Queen of Stokoe is still open. Enjoy your Cokes and ice cream. Stop in at Augusta 3306.
Fantastic offer to ski the Alps during the Christmas vacation 8721. Includes everything. Call 884-6985.
Need research aide for your term paper? Call Steve 234-6873.
Make extra money on an immediate commission basis. Call 259-0239.
Faculty: Why break your back? Let Waverly Services free overtake. Edensworth by low 86 510 monthly, driveway 325.
Need added income? Sell a needed family service. Call 225-6239.
Fly a 747 to Aspen with the Ski Club or drive... into 873. 843-7057, 47877.

THE OBSERVER
Thursday, December 2, 1971

Mardi Grass '72

Carnival, Feb 5-13
Concert, Feb 11

Clothes and things

Men's Boutique

THE PIT STOP

Sat: A Christmas Party with Chapped Lips

- An Appearance by Santa Claus

15¢ Schlitz Malt Liquor on Tap

Bar Opens at 7:00

Also: 1 free drink for anyone dressed as a Reindeer

FOR SALE:

Perfect personalized stationery, the perfect Christmas gift for that special someone. Inquire by call 727 or come over to our vast selection of all grace or 310 South Renew. Aug.

For Sale: Fisher stereo amp, FM, AM, cassette, Garrard turntable, Large Bell reflex speakers, $300.00. Call Tom 272-5241.

FOR SALE:

Men's figure skates, size 10, hardly used, $44. For Sale: One year old Sony stereo system containing 654 turntable and 45 watt amp. Also Sony stereo combosender receiver cassette player. Other. Pay $50.

Christmas giveaway. All 8 tracks now only 95. Cash special. Sold: Sony TC-8 track cartridge recorder. New $75.00. New only 69.50 or best offer. Frank 228.
Unworn man's watch. Value 55.00 will sell for $22. Original guarantee included. Call 3600.