Resolution hits unmerger

SMC AAUP to vote today

by A.T. Darin

The St. Mary's chapter of the American Association of University Professors (AAUP) will begin voting today on a resolution denouncing SMC's "abundance" of community government in the recent merger decision reversal.

The AAUP will consider four resolutions concerning the merger postponement.

The thirty-five members will have a 24-hour deadline, said Dr. Donald Hornung, AAUP president, to return their ballots to the AAUP Executive Committee.

With twenty-five members present at a meeting Monday night, the campus chapter approved in general the four resolutions, by a voice vote.

Requests negotiations

As written by the Executive Board: Hornung, Sr. Pranutta Kane, Stephen McNally and Sr. Rosalene Dunleavy, last Sunday the first resolution urgently requests merger negotiations between SMC and ND be resumed, with faculty and student representation on the committees.

The second resolution comends the student body of St. Mary's College for its forthright, decisive and responsible protest of the recent actions of the Board of Trustees."

In addition, the AAUP would resolve to lend its support and commend the student government leaders of St. Mary's College for their forthright, decisive and responsible leadership in attempting to effect constructive change aimed at reestablishing the concept of shared governance of the academic community.

SMC girls comprised only a fourth of the group despite extended hours for freshmen that St. Mary's student body president Kathy Barlow issued.

The meeting was "sharing of frustration," according to assistant dean of students, Robert Ackerman. He contended that it was "hard to rally around a cause you couldn't define."

The teach-in itself was designed to "educate both Notre Dame student as to how the unmerger is very disadvantageous to the life at ND both academically and socially," according to SMC student assembly representative, Jim Clarke.

Mooney said that he felt the sleep-in would "basically test" the Notre Dame administration. It was an opportunity for ND students to show some sort of reaction - pro or con. "It showed that the Notre Dame student is concerned," contended Mooney.

Eric Andrus, the event's other organizer, called the meeting a "show of force designed to place pressure on the ND administration."

Neither Mooney nor Andrus have any future plans or long term organization, and expressed the hope that "Student Government would carry the ball."

Sleep-in draws 100; petition gains support

by Jim Roe

Anti merger organizers drew one hundred people for last night's sleep in and teach-in at La Fortune Student Center.

Notably absent at press time were ND student body president, John Barkett, and ND student body vice president, Orlando Rodrigues.

A petition asking for a "re-evaluation of the recent decision to reverse the merger of Notre Dame and St. Mary's" highlighted the early portion of the meeting.

The petition, which was signed by a majority of the students present, will be presented at the Dining halls tonight, according to Don Mooney, who organized the demonstration. It said in part that "members of both communities have been done serious injustice," and that "this decision was made unilaterally by the Board of Trustees violates the avowed respect for the opinions of all members of the community...in the decision-making process."

"The present secrecy regarding the reasons for the decision is an insult to the majority of the students present, will be presented at the Dining halls tonight, according to Don Mooney, who organized the demonstration. It said in part that "members of both communities have been done serious injustice," and that "this decision was made unilaterally by the Board of Trustees violates the avowed respect for the opinions of all members of the community...in the decision-making process.

The petition demanded that "negotiation will resume in January 1972": "and that students and faculty be accepted as members of the ad hoc committee convened for making final decisions in such negotiations, with representation equal to that of the trustees and administrators."

Washington—United States Steel was given permission by the Price Commission to raise the prices of its products by an average of 3.6 percent. Rather than grant the increase on a product-by-product basis, the Commission said that the company could vary the price increases so long as they averaged 3.6 per cent.

Washington—The House gave final approval to a bill creating a large new program of day care and other services for children of all income levels. The program, which President Nixon has said he will veto, would give day care, medical, nutritional and social services to poor children without cost and would charge other children based on their parents' ability to pay.

Frosh write protest letter

The Freshman Council, last night, decided to send an official class letter to Rev. Theodore Hesburgh, the ND administration and the ND Trustees. The letter, according to Dave Yates, the Freshman Class president, is to "explain freshman dissatisfaction with the confusion of the merger."

Kathy Barlow, SMC student body president, addressed the meeting of the Freshman Class Officers and their advisory committee. She explained some of the facts and the implications behind the recent decision to suspend the ND-SMC merger.

The class letter will be circulated in the Freshman classrooms Friday. Yates said, "We urge all freshman to read all the information we will pass out and sign the letter in class Friday."

"We want our class to express its dissatisfaction and concern. We are the most affected by the decisions being made," said Sue Schneider, freshman class secretary. The officers said that they were not going to demand the reversal of the decision. The council will distribute the information about the merger in the residence halls Thursday night.

Register to vote

If you are part of the 45% of the student bodies of Notre Dame and St. Mary's who have not yet registered to vote, then we, the members of the Notre Dame - St. Mary's Voter Registration Drive STRONGLY urge you to register to vote while you are at home during this Christmas Vacation because: 1) the state of Indiana has not yet decided whether to allow students from out of the state to vote at where they attend school; a ruling on this issue though, is expected in the near future;

2) even if the state of Indiana did rule in favor of allowing students to vote at where they attend school, on-campus students would still not be allowed to vote in city elections in South Bend because the campus is not inside the city limits;

3) although almost every state allows absentee voting, in nearly half of the states registration in person is MANDATORY because only 27 states allow absentee voter registration;

4) the dates for the 22 national primaries are quickly approaching.
SMC alumnae favor merger

by Jack Kelly

A former Milwaukee Alumnae Club President of St. Mary’s is in favor of the merger and feels "the only way for co-education at Notre Dame is with St. Mary’s." Mrs. Angela Murphy, president of the Milwaukee Alumnae club during 1969, said that she couldn’t “imagine Notre Dame going co-ed on its own,” in an interview with the Observer.

A graduate of the class of ’38, Mrs. Murphy said “because I was a drama major, I had to take my classes at Notre Dame, I can fully realize the loss to the girls if they can’t take classes at both ND and SMC.

In support of her argument for the merger, Mrs. Murphy, who now lives in New Canaan Conn., cited several letters recently printed in the SMC Courier, the Alumnae magazine.

... "if the merger is to succeed it should in my mind, be completed, anything else would be like dying a slow death for St. Mary’s,” said one letter, pointed out by Mrs. Murphy.

"I am very much in favor of the merger, I just wish it would have happened before ’64," another letter said.

Mrs. Murphy also cited a letter she received yesterday from Mrs. Alma Peter, Acting President of St. Mary’s, which officially notified her and other alumnae of the suspension of the merger.

"The trustees have decided that St. Mary’s will continue as an autonomous women’s residential college with a strong liberal arts core...”the letter said in part.

"I hope that the merger is not dead and that it will occur in the future, but if it does, I hope that Notre Dame realizes the need for St. Mary’s to retain its unique identity," Mrs. Murphy commented.

Soviet Mars landing

by Theodore Shako

(C) 1971 New York Times

Moscow, Dec. 7-The Soviet Union’s announcement of the landing of the Mars 3 spacecraft had released a television-equipped descent capsule that made a soft landing on the surface of the planet and briefly transmitted signals before contact suddenly ceased.

The landing of the Mars 3 spacecraft announced by Tass, the soviet press agency, is the normal channel of information on the soviet union’s secrecy-avoided space program.

According to the announcement, the spacecraft released the descent capsule as it was about to swing into orbit around Mars after a six-month, 290-million-mile journey from Earth.

The capsule was said to have descended by parachute through the low-pressure atmosphere of Mars and to have made a soft landing in the southern hemisphere of the planet.

The site was defined as being between the Elecytris and Phaethonias regions, in an area with the coordinates latitude 45 degrees south and the longitude 158 degrees west.

The Soviet announcement was vague on the period of time during which the landing capsule transmitted signals to its orbiting mother craft, which then relayed them to earth.

"The signals from the craft, which landed on the surface of the planet at the designated time, were received and recorded on board Mars 3 and later, during radio communication sessions, transmitted to Earth from Dec. 2 to 5," the Tass announcement said.

SMC students plan Christmas action

"The kids are involved enough in this so they won't forget about it," Miss Underman said. "We are attempting to keep the enthusiasm about the merger decision which was unanimously optimistic."

"I don't think the enthusiasm will die out," commented Barlow. "The girls will come back from vacation and will probably feel the same way," Miss Gallina said. "We have to hope that these people are determined that they will feel the same way." Miss Seymour remarked, "I hope that the enthusiasm will not disappear, but it's hard to tell, I don't think they'll forget about it."

Student World Concern decides on Pakistan aid

by Mike O'Hare

An emergency strategy conference was held this past weekend in East Lansing Michigan to decide on an international strategy to aid the refugees of East Pakistan. Tom Hamilton, head of Student World Concern at Notre Dame cited one result of the conference as the adoption of a people's peoples campaign. This consists of being responsible for the life of one person in East Pakistan for six months, at a cost of less than a dollar a month.

The conference also established Notre Dame as the conference's representative to the North American House for information and action concerning the refugees of East Pakistan.

A full time worker, formerly a Peace Corp volunteer in India, will be aiding the efforts here on-

St. Mary's Hallway last night decided that she had made "no definite plans" for student activities during Christmas vacation. However, many suggestions have been made.

"We haven't had our meetings yet," she said of the committee formed to determine what actions are to be taken, "but many proposals have been brought up."

"The main thing we're going to concentrate on is to get the girls to talk to their parents," Miss Harlow stressed. The principle area they wanted covered, she said, is the tuition withholding action.

"Darlene Galena, St. Mary's Student Government Public Relations Commissioner, affirmed this point. "We want to give the girls something to do over Christmas, and the best thing we can do is get them to talk to their parents and get them to withhold the tuition," she said.

Everyday Christmas

"Out of the pool
"Where love the slain with love the slayer lies.
"Bubbles the wan mirth of the mirthless fool."

Yeats

Christmas as usual. The walls and floor of the streets wet and cold like a goat's coat. South Bend decked in artificial refugees; wins U.S. condemnation and a bucketful of threats.

South Bend decked in artificial refugees; wins U.S. condemnation and a bucketful of threats. Here at the Notre Dame - St. Mary's community, a string of broken promises sweetened by official and unofficial lies and silences.

The really great thing about Christmas is that it gives you time to reflect on your blessings. If it's not easy to be of good will, it's easy to fake good will. Nobody investigates too closely this time of year.

During the month of prepackaged joy and good ol' Christmas syrup, it might be prudent to consider the fooling things:

That these two campuses have been the showplace for national Catholic dishonesty over the past two weeks. That most of the four hundred St. Mary's freshmen will be denied the Notre Dame degree they were promised. That the real reasons for the unmerger are all shrouded in the grim Christianity.

Furthermore, that nine-tenths of the Notre Dame student Body doesn't care enough to register to vote, since that and similar moves won't directly effect them.

More things to consider:

That the resultant bloodshed turned millions of East Pakistani refugees into temporary hosteaders in India, and as a result India has joined battle against Kahn's military forces. That as a result of that move, the United States has condemned India and cut off aid.

Furthermore, that nine-tenths of the Notre Dame student Body doesn't care enough to register to vote, since that move and similar moves won't directly effect them.

News flash, unconfirmed frm the New York Times: China has committed troops to the fray. What the hell. It's only people burning.

Merry Christmas.
causes are God's causes, then who is responsible for the deaths, the suffering, the ruined cities?

Soldiers and Sailors who serve the Lord in battle or on the frontiers of a troubled peace, I am not quarreling with your courage or sacrifice, and I do not question your commitment to mercy. But in the season that celebrates the birthday of the Prince of Peace, I wish that the Church had been a more faithful witness to a Gospel that reveals the Son as helpless as an infant, as gentle as a lamb, exposing Himself to the rage and terror of the world. I would apologize to young people, if I could, for a Church that has forgotten, for long centuries, the lesson taught by Christ, imprisoned in the hands of His enemies, to the followers who would defend Him: 'Those who draw the sword shall perish by the sword.' I am profoundly sad for a boy like Tom—

Barlow: Unity is 'progress'

by Bob Cosentino

No matter how the merger issue is resolved, St. Mary's SJP Kathy Barlow, is confident that the recent protest at SMC has gained "considerable progress" articulating student opinion. Miss Barlow said that if nothing else has been achieved by the protest of the SMC women, at least the girls themselves have felt "the unification that comes from handing together to achieve a common goal.

"I think our protests have obtained considerable progress," Miss Barlow commented. "Of course, we've received no official word that the trustees have budged in their position to call off the merger. However, there has been a considerable change in the girls, themselves. They are realizing how much they want to be who they are.

"Also," Miss Barlow continued, "I think that this education is not what they want, they will go elsewhere. It's not a love it or leave it viewpoint. It's just that they want to be who they are. They're realizing how much more important the people are instead of the institution, and I think that's very important."

Statement by ND-SMC Ministries on merger

The recent breakdown of negotiations for the unification of St. Mary's and Notre Dame has caused serious repercussions in the lives of many persons. The Campus Ministries of both institutions are concerned for the well-being of those whose lives have been so disrupted and whose trust is severely shaken. The honesty, integrity, and dedication to genuine Christian values on the part of our institutions are at stake. Legitimate questions must be answered, responses heard, and proposals entertained.

We ask, therefore, that each individual and every segment of the St. Mary's/Notre Dame community examine its concerns. Further, we urge all parties to assess their capacities to act and their willingness to bring about an acceptable resolution or this crisis. The Campus Ministries believe that steps should be taken immediately to reopen negotiations between the two institutions so that the primary source of frustration and disillusionment can be removed.

and that students and faculty have a voice in making final decisions in the negotiations.

SMC Student Affairs Commissioner Jean Seymour urged students to put pressure on the trustees by writing letters and asking parents, alumni and other influential people to try to put pressure on the two schools.

Miss Barlow also said that student government has asked SMC women to withhold tuitions for next semester as part of the protest. Barlow estimated that about 600 girls at St. Mary's have already requested transfers.

"I think we've shocked a lot of people from our demands," Miss Barlow said. "They've seen our strength and I'm confident they'll listen to us.

"You see, we're not asking them to renew negotiations, we're asking them to start negotiations," she commented. "We don't think that any real negotiations have ever taken place. Our ultimate goal is to give the students, faculty, administration add trustees a chance to make a better decision."

No "wedding"

Editor:
It seems that Rev. Hesburgh thought he could win a large dowry by "wedding" Mother Olivet, whereas Mother Olivet hoped to find a rich "husband" who was going to support her in the manner in which she was accustomed. Hence the broken engagement.

Hope from Kent

Editor:
Even though I am not personally a student at Notre Dame University and I feel I have a stake in what transpires there, I have many close friends attending both Notre Dame and St. Mary's. For this reason I am emotionally tied to this present situation.

From what I understand, the administration at St. Mary's has attempted to affect the lives of their so-called community without even considering the community itself. Has not authority realized that within its bounds of jurisdiction there are also responsibilities that they (authority) MUST meet with, concerning the lives of the students?

Dacca airport bombed twice

by James P. Sterba

Dacca, Pakistan—Indian jet fighters strafed and bombed Dacca airfield Monday night after several dozen women and children were kept for a United Nations plane to evacuate them to Bangkok, officials here said. None of the evacuees were reported hurt in the attacks.

The Indian jets made two strafing and rocket-firing runs over the East Pakistani airfield shortly before 2 a.m. U.N. officials here said that the Indians had agreed to halting the attacks before 9 a.m. to allow evacuation aircraft in. One plane turned around and flew back to Bangkok.

U.N. officials said shortly after 1 p.m. that Indian warplanes struck the airport again, this time dropping two bombs on the runway, blasting out a large crater that Pakistan ground crewmen operating a bulldozer began to fill immediately.

Meanwhile, a high-ranking West Pakistani army general said at a news conference here that the command reported tonight that ten Indian divisions had pushed 30 miles into East Pakistan and that Indian warships had set up a blockade in the Bay of Bengal. He said that his forces, numbering about 80,000 troops, were completely cut off from the West.

"We will fight on," said the officer, Major General Farman Ali Khan, who is the military adviser to the governor in East Pakistan.

"We have been fighting a defensive battle," he told journalists. "By the nature of the operation, we are likely to lose territory. Therefore, whatever you hear on Indian radio about our taking this and that—they are insignificant."

Farman said that Pakistani forces continued to hold Jessore city on the west and were fighting at Feni, near Comilla. He said that the biggest Indian thrust appeared to be from near Adakura, directly east of Dacca, the capital. He added that the Indians were also attacking in force toward Mymensingh in the north and toward Rangpur in the northwest.

Farman said that the Indian aircraft carrier, vibrant, and four destroyers were blocking the Bay of Bengal. Chittagong Port was shelled on Sunday, he said, but the Pakistan Navy and Air Force had driven the Indians ships off.

Non of the Indian ships have been reported hit by Pakistani planes, he said, adding, "It's very difficult to hit ships on the high seas."

Half of E. Pakistan falls

Indians take 2 cities

Calcutta, Dec. 7—The Indian Army reported a victory in Jessore tonight that virtually insured it of control of about half of East Pakistan, and the army chief immediately issued a call to arms before it.

Pakistani defenders—estimated at about 5,000 men—were fleeing in disarray to Jessore, the military lynchpin of East Pakistan, after the Indian jets made two strafing and rocket-firing runs over the East Pakistani airfield Monday night while several dozen women and children were kept for a United Nations plane to evacuate them to Bangkok, officials here said. None of the evacuees were reported hurt in the attacks.

The Indian jets made two strafing and rocket-firing runs over the East Pakistani airfield shortly before 2 a.m. U.N. officials here said that the Indians had agreed to halting the attacks before 9 a.m. to allow evacuation aircraft in. One plane turned around and flew back to Bangkok.

U.N. officials said shortly after 1 p.m. that Indian warplanes struck the airport again, this time dropping two bombs on the runway, blasting out a large crater that Pakistan ground crewmen operating a bulldozer began to fill immediately.

Meanwhile, a high-ranking West Pakistani army general said at a news conference here that the command reported tonight that ten Indian divisions had pushed 30 miles into East Pakistan and that Indian warships had set up a blockade in the Bay of Bengal. He said that his forces, numbering about 80,000 troops, were completely cut off from the West.

"We will fight on," said the officer, Major General Farman Ali Khan, who is the military adviser to the governor in East Pakistan.

"We have been fighting a defensive battle," he told journalists. "By the nature of the operation, we are likely to lose territory. Therefore, whatever you hear on Indian radio about our taking this and that—they are insignificant."

Non of the Indian ships have been reported hit by Pakistani planes, he said, adding, "It's very difficult to hit ships on the high seas."

At about 6:30 p.m. tonight, just after Jessore had fallen to the Indians, the army chief of staff, Gen. Sam H. F. J. Maneckshaw, issued a message to the Pakistani forces in the country to surrender to save their lives.

With Indian forces pushing in from all sides toward the center of the country, slowly tightening a noose around the retreating Pakistanis, the army's eastern command reported tonight that Jessore, the military lynchpin of East Pakistan, had been taken in a fierce 24-hour battle and that its Pakistani defenders—estimated before the battle at about 5,000 men—were fleeing in disarray to the south.

Beechwood Ageing could be an "advertising gimmick."

But it isn't.

(For instance, last year we bought almost 2½ million pounds of Beechwood strips...enough to fill 67 freight cars.)

Irish face tough Kansas quintet

Will meet St. Louis Billikens Sat. at 2 in Convoy

by E.J. Rinkopf

The Notre Dame basketball team invades Kansas University's Allen Fieldhouse tonight to take on the triple-ranked Jayhawks.

The Jayhawks enter the game sporting a 2-0 record, identical to ND's, with victories over Xavier and Boston College. Notre Dame's lone loss was to Bob Knight's Indiana Hoosiers, 59-56, Monday night.

Kansas, the second winningest school in basketball history behind Adolph Rupp's U of K Wildcats, is coming off a 27-3 season, and a fourth place finish in last year's NCAA tourney.

Despite losing three front liners from its 1971 Final Four team, Dave Rozich, Roger Brown and Pierre Russell, and returning only two starters, the Jayhawks still expect to give the Irish lots of trouble near the basket.

Bud Stallworth, 6-4 and 19.2 points per game, has been moved back to his original forward position, after playing at a guard spot last year. Randy Canfield, a 6-9 junior pivotman who saw only reserve action last year, is slated to open at center, and Wilson Barrow, a flashy 6-4 junior college transfer, who averaged 29.8 points per game with Clec, Tex., last year, rounds out the Jayhawk front line.

At the guard spots will be Aubrey Nash, a 6-4 senior who played high school ball with former Irisher Sid Catlett at DeMatha high in D.C., and Tom Kovisto, the most promising of the Jayhawk sophes.

Kovisto, 6-3 with a 24.4 average as a freshman, spent the past summer playing with the Olympic development squad.

The head coach of the Jayhawks is Ted Owens, in his seventh year as top man on the KU basketball staff.

Owens has compiled a 149-20 record in those seven years for a .440 winning percentage.

The Irish will most probably counter with its all-season starting line-up of Tom O'Mara, Gary "Goose" Novak, Chris "Hawk" Stevens, Tom Hansen and Bob Valiben. But it is also expected that Coach Pregel will continue to substitute freely.

Leading the Irish into Allen Fieldhouse is Gary Novak, top Irish scorer with a 23 point, and nine rebound per game average.

The Irish hold the edge in the series with the Jayhawks three games to one.

While most of the Notre Dame student-athletes are taking a month's relaxation after final exams, there won't be much of a vacation for the Fighting Irish basketball and hockey teams.

Digger Phelps' club will play five games during the holidays, all on the road, and Leuty Smith's team will be twice as busy, playing ten games, including four in tournament competition.

The Irish cagers face Bob Knight's classy Indiana squad Dec. 18 and then take on the defending national champion UCLA Bruins on the 22nd. After Christmas, the Irish meet Kentucky in Louisville on the 26th and then are idle for over two weeks before going South to play Tulane (Jan. 15) and Georgia Tech (Jan. 17).

Notre Dame does play at home Saturday afternoon, against St. Louis, but won't have another game in the ACC after that until Jan. 20, when Duquesne comes to town.

The Irish hockey team has an impressive slate of games scheduled during the break.Appearances in the ECAC tournament on Dec. 29-31 in Madison Square Garden and the Motor City Tournament Dec. 28-29 in the Detroit Olympia highlight the irs agenda.

Brown, Boston College and St. Lawrence are the other participants in the ECAC Tourney while Michigan Tech, Michigan State and Dartmouth will compete in the Motor City event.

Notre Dame plays six WCHA games, all away from home, over the holidays, traveling to Colorado (Jan. 7-8), Michigan State (Jan. 14-15) and Minnesota (Jan. 21-22). The Irish also play a couple of eastern powers, meeting Boston College on Dec. 18 in Chicago Stadium and taking on Cornell in the ACC, Jan. 16.

AFRAME OF MIND GAME

by Gene Sullivan

Former Asst. Basketball Coach at Notre Dame

Basketball is much more than a chess game between X's and O's. Of any team sport, basketball is a frame of mind game. Basketball players think, feel, act and react to almost every kind of external stimuli. Now, Gene Sullivan, Notre Dame Assistant to John Dee, captures the human interest and drama that takes place behind the scenes. Watch as Sullivan takes you into the coaches' inner sanctum at game time - from strategy, into the locker room for player-coach relations, and on the court for the effects of game pressure in a language and style that is both readable and enjoyable to FANS, COACHES, and PLAYERS. Filled in on one of the behind the scenes activities that don't show up on the scoreboard but often have great influence on victory and defeat.

SMC AAUP eyes unmerger

Resolution Two would also have AAUP representatives "support and comment on the work of the Officers of the Faculty Assembly and members of the Academic Council for aggressively representing members of their deliberations with members of the administration and with the Chairman of the Board of Trustees."

"Principle abrogated"

Paul Menbarger, president of the faculty assembly; Bruno Schlesinger, Clarence Dineen, and William Hickey comprise the Academic Affairs Council faculty representation.

Key to the AAUP sentiment is Resolution III. In tentative form, before today's ratification by the AAUP members, the proposal read:

"Be it further resolved that, the Saint Mary's College Chapter of the American Association of University Professors denounces the failure of key members of the administration and Board of Trustees to adhere to the principles of shared governance which they have endorsed and publicly acknowledged in the manual: The Governance of the College. In endorsing the 1966 AAUP Statement on Government of College and Universities, the Saint Mary's College Board and Administration committed themselves to the concept of shared governance. This principle has been seriously abrogated in their failure to maintain effective participation in community government among the members of the Saint Mary's College cademnic community - students, faculty, and administration."

SMC censured

Presently St. Mary's College is technically censured by the National AAUP for a similar action last winter. The American Association and the Board of Trustees restructured the reponsibilities of the dean of students. In the move, they created an office for a vice-president for student affairs to which the dean of students would answer and a Proctorian Year Office, without consulting the students or faculty.

As a result, the dean of students, Sr. M. Immaculata Drinnell resigned and it was later exposed that the only members of the Executive Board voting on the decision were allegedly Sisters of the Holy Cross. Bad weather kept the laymen on the Executive Board away from the meeting.

Resolution Three could also request the governing board and administrative officers of SMC to take firm and decisive action to officially rectify their failure to maintain the principles of shared governance by making provisions for representatives of students, administration, and faculty assembly to serve as members of the board.

National AAUP help

Resolution Three also offers "its good offices to assist in procuring the services of the National Office of AAUP - especially those of Jordan Rutland, Associate General Secretary, to assist in reestablishing a climate for renewed negotiations."

To garner support from the Notre Dame AAUP chapter, Resolution Four would request that chapter to consult with the full implications of the break-down in the current system of shared governance.

Commenting on the resolutions, Horning said, "What is important is that they address themselves to the issues that really confront us, meaning the concept of shared governance."

"Nobody really knows anything because the faculty and students have not been involved," he added.

The campus chapter of AAUP has 90 faculty members out of 90 SMC faculty members on its roster.
