Etienne elected SBVP

by David Rust
Observer Staff Reporter

Ed Gray resigned as student body vice-president and Dennis Etienne was elected to the vacant post during last night's Student Senate meeting in the student government offices at LaFortune Student Center.

By an 8-1 vote the Senate also ratified a new student government constitution, thereby dismantling the Senate and replacing it with a Board of Commissioners as the government's legislative branch.

According to the new constitution, the Board will consist of the six student members of the Student Life Council, the chairman of the Hall Presidents Council, and the student body president and vice-president.

The election of Etienne to the vice presidency places him with SLC members Fred Gafffrida, Frank Devine, Anthony Abowd, Floyd Knebel, Matt Cavanaugh and Jim Hunt, HPC chairman William "Butch" Ward and Student Body President Bob Kersten on the board.

The creation of the board was the only major innovation characterizing the new Notre Dame undergraduate student government constitution. All legislative duties and powers assigned to the student senate were given to the new board.

In the future, according to the new constitution, the six on the board not serving as president or vice-president of the student body of HPC, chairman, will be elected to the spring by the student body as members of the Board. The board members will be appointed to the SLC after their election.

The amendments in which each election will take place are set by the new constitution and are the same as those used in this year's SLC election, with the addition of Old College to District 3.

Three amendments were proposed during the meeting to the draft prepared by a student government constitutional committee last year.

The section requiring a constitutional convention was deleted. Stay Senator T.C. Treanor sponsored the amendment.

An amendment calling for a "majority of 50 percent plus one of the votes cast" to vote and elect a commissioner in each district passed.

By a 5-4 vote an amendment to require that no Board of Commissioners member be a "member" of the campus media was tossed out.

Arguments offered by those opposed to the amendment, including Etienne, reasoned that the amendment was vague, unfair and unnecessary. President Kersten labeled its failure "a damn shame."

After the call to order by chairman Kersten, the chair asked for opposition from the floor to setting the quorum at the number of senators present (nine). No opposition was noted.

Later in the meeting, during discussion of the constitution itself, St. Ed's Senator Frank McLaughlin raised objection to having the Senate vote on the new constitution, suggesting that the constitution be brought before the student body for their consideration.

"I object to having this constitution passed by a body like this," said McLaughlin. "I don't think it's fair to the student body; I don't think it's fair to us."

Student Government Treasurer Mike Margel answered that the matter was one of "expediency." Citing specific examples from the past, he told the Senate he believed that 50 percent of the student body, the percentage required by the old constitution, would not show up to vote.

Kersten called the decision a choice between the lesser of two evils, favoring the Senate's ratifying the constitution.

McLaughlin held to his objection and cast the only dissenting vote.

Lobby proposal clears second committee hurdle

Twenty four hour open lobbies at Saint Mary's came one step closer to becoming a reality last night as the SMC Student Affairs Committee unanimously passed the proposal "with minor amendments," according to Student Body Vice-President Sue Welte.

Welte emphasized, however, that the changes did nothing to change the context of the original statement, which was published in full in the Observer two weeks ago upon its passage by the Student Assembly.

"The only point of note was the insertion of a clause in the appendix which would provide for a firelock on the back door of the Reignbeaux in LeMans," Welte explained.

Dean of Students Kathleen Mulaney noted that it was "significant that the proposal passed the tri-partite committee unanimously."

The committee is comprised of the hall presidents, five representatives from the student assembly, three faculty members (Dr. John McDonagh of the psychology department, Mrs. Pat Pilger of the sociology department, Rev. Bernard Facione of the history department), three administrators (Dean of Students Kathleen Mulaney, Director of Placement Janice Wheastman, Sr. Bettina, Director of Holy Cross Hall), and Fr. Roger Cormier, representing campus ministry.

Mulaney recalled that the subject of open lobbies had come up in discussion at the Board meeting last spring and at that time there appeared to be no opposition to it, but she also noted that "it's a new Board now," and no one could speculate on their reception of the proposal.

The proposal faces its next test when it comes before the Student Affairs Council within the next two weeks. If it is approved there, it will then go before the Board of Regents at their November 4 meeting for the final decision.

In other business, the committee elected Student Assembly Representative Janet Ryan chairperson for the year.

That's a lot of...
Washington-The Senate confirmed the appointment of Gen. Creighton W. Abrams as Army Chief of Staff. But the 4 to 2 vote did not end the controversy over the unauthorized bombing of North Vietnam. Two Democratic Senators, Harold E. Hughes of Iowa and William Proxmire of Wisconsin, threatened to delay future promotions of senior officers unless the Pentagon took immediate steps to improve its command and control procedures.

Washington-Stymied by a filibuster of Northern senators, who defeated three attempts to shut off debate, the Senate voted to set aside a bill aimed at preventing cross-town busing of students to desegregate public schools. The bill, which had passed the House, had the support of a majority of the Senate and the backing of the Nixon Administration. But supporters of the legislation could not muster the two-thirds majority required for closure.

Washington-Sources close to the Watergate bugging investigation say that a former assistant attorney general obtained confidential information from the Justice Department after he resigned to work for the Committee for the Re-Election of the President. But the sources, who reported that the information was used in committee reports, said there is no evidence that the former official had any advance knowledge of the allegations to bog the Headquarters of the Democratic National Committee.

Washington-Henry A. Kissinger flew home from Paris Thursday to report to President Nixon on his four days of private talks with North Vietnamese negotiators. As usual, no details of the talks were disclosed.

Chemical reactions involving "excited-state intermediates" will be the focus of three Holy Lecture series in Chemistry Monday through Friday (Oct. 16-20) at the University of Notre Dame. Dr. Anthony M. Trozzolo of the Bell Telephone Laboratories will discuss these reactions, important in such diverse problems as smog formation and lasers.

The "excited state" is reached when chemical compounds absorb energy, particularly in the form of light. These compounds then may be excited to a higher energy level. The "ground state" changes and may result in the formation of new compounds, or "ground state." Trozzolo's three talks are on the general topic "Creation and Detection of Unstable Organic Intermediates." They include: "Photochemistry in Three-Membered Heterocycles" at 4:30 p.m. Monday in Room 123 Nieuwland Science Hall. "Singlet Molecular Oxygen" at 4:30 p.m. Wednesday in Room 123 of the Nieuwland Science Hall. "The Chemistry of Eye Lasers" at 3 p.m. Friday in the Conference Room of the Radiation Research Building.

The day's events will begin with a morning coffee and the meeting called in order by the Chairman of the Board of Directors Parents' Council, the Honorable Daniel J. McNamara, Chicago. Dr. Edward L. Henry, President, Saint Mary's College, will welcome the parents and brief them on the College's Planning Process. Dr. William Hickey, Vice President for Academic Affairs, will discuss with the group Academic Developments.

Council meet.
The Board of Directors of the Saint Mary's College Parents' Council meet at the College on Friday, October 13, 1972. The objectives of the Parents' Council are to strengthen the bond between the College and the parents of the students; to keep them informed of the College's policies, plans, activities; to assist the Hanover Triangle last Friday show Otis Bowen with a com­ mending lead in the race for Governor. The survey was made in conjunction with a registration drive. The results of a college-wide poll released in O'Laughlin Auditorium.

Seven hundred thirty-five of a total 980 were interviewed in an effort made repeated at­ tempts to reach every student. Each was contacted on an in­ dividual, person-to-person basis, using the same set of questions in every case. These precautions and the large survey indicate a high degree of reliability in reflecting the views of Hanover students. Results which were printed in the Hanover Triangle last Friday show Otis Bowen with a com­ mending lead in the race for Governor, receiving the support of 41 per cent of the Indiana residents, with 25 per cent un­ committed and 24 per cent for Matthew Welsh.

Bradley wins presidency

Freshmen officers elected

by Lee E. Klenzinski
Observer Staff Reporter

Culminating a week of robust campaigning, freshmen elections were held yesterday. Sophomore class president Dave Yates announced that Jim Bradley will serve as president, Mary Donlanville as vice-president, Sheila Elsner as secretary, and Pat Dore as treasurer.

After exploring some technical problems which prevented some halls from voting at the posted times, the results were given. 965 students, about half of the class, gave it one of the highest voting percentages in recent years.

President winner Bradley polled 191 votes; his closest opponent was Carl Bitler with 185 votes. In the vice-presidential race, Donlanville took 220 votes to Ed Reilly's 165, who was her closest rival.

Newly elected president Jim Bradley thanked all of the students who "voted, because it is what we need to understand the time that I sacrificed. By May I'm sure that the class will be happy with their choices." Pat Dore, the class's new treasurer, stated that this year's class will get off to a firm financial start. He also emphasized that "this class will do more than any that has preceded it." Due to a mix-up in time schedules, Donlanville and Elsner could not be reached for comment.

SMC plans 'experiments'

On the recommendation of Dr. Edward L. Henry, President, Saint Mary's College, the Office for Experimental Programs has been created. This new program will be headed by A. Hickey, Vice President for Academic Affairs.

The purpose of this program is to encourage faculty to unleash their creativity and to become immediately and effectively involved in curriculum reform. This program will allow for experimentation on a "trial period". The College administration supports the program, emphasizing the great need for education in innovation.

The procedure is such that a proposal is submitted to the Office of Experimental Programs. An ad hoc committee reviews it and if it is given the approval for adoption, the proposal is given a two-year experimental trial period. During this time, no full commitment is made, rather an opportunity for creativity, correction and evaluation. After the two-year period, the proposal is presented to the College for consideration to become an integral part of curriculum.

One example of an experimental program is the new Fall course "The Culture of Youth", Department of Education. This is offered to freshmen and sophomores, in helping them familiarize with the youth culture (12-18). Visits are made to many local agencies who work directly with that age group. Each student makes a commitment of volunteer service in the second quarter of the semester to one of the agencies. A text is required, Daedalus' Twelve to Sixteen.

Students will lead seminar discussions, keep a log of their experiences, and write an in-depth case report of one experience. The entire course experience is to assist the student in determining her future study in education and community services opportunities in other related disciplines: sociology, Psychology, political science.

Steering committee proposal

Female SLC seat asked

by Jim Gresser
Observer Staff Reporter

The Steering Committee of the Student Life Council proposed the creation of a seat specifically for a female student. SLC Chairman Fred Devine and Vice-Chairman Robert Ackerman asked special SLC and Walsh Hall Council meetings last night to draw up the specifics of that proposal.

Ackerman cited the need for a female point of view on the SLC.

He also noted that at the time SLC elections "neither Badin nor Walsh were organized enough" to provide the opportunity of a fair female candidacy. The halls had "no tradition so the girls were left to provide their own system without foundation." The women, therefore, were too involved with their internal hall affairs to give proper attention to the "opportunity" for female representation, he said, "is the concern because there was no real opportunity before.

Favour Proposal

Giuffrida said that the proposal could take various forms. It could create a completely separate seat for a woman, give half of a vote to the newly elected woman while the other half could go to the regular district representative of the Devine, or take one of the two seats and put the newly elected woman into the student position. Other possibilities include electing two women for a total of a vote each. Giuffrida said that this "may prove for the better" because it would add the amount of female opinion on the council.

Devine responds

Responding last night to a rumor that he was planning to resign his seat in the Student Life Council in favor of a woman from Badin-Walsh, District 5 SLC member Frank Devine answered a firm "No."

"I have told the student government that I would be very much willing to give up my commissionership on the Board of Commissioners, the new government legislative arm, to a woman," said Devine. "But I refuse to give up my place with the Student Life Council, while they have an already vacant seat available which should be given to a woman."

There were no women candidates in the running for Devine's seat when elections were held in his district, including halls Badin and Walsh, Sept. 12. Two female seats were available for each hall, and there were no female candidates. Devine was unopposed.

However, at that time SLC members were not being elected to the Board of Commissioners, a body which did not even exist until the now defunct Senate Student peeved life into it last night.

"If a woman is to be given a seat on the SLC, it would be the extra one (new student body vice-president Dennis Etienne has left)," said Devine. "He refers to the seat vacated when Etienne, who was sitting for student body president Bob Kersten on the SLC, was elected to the vice-presidency to replace resignee Ed Gray, that is Etienne's own seat and leaving an open spot.

"Besides, it's not true to say that I cannot represent Badin and Walsh not as well as any woman," claims Devine, "I'm terribly proud to be representing Badin and Walsh, and I know their problems."

Possible Administration Vote

"The most important function of the new proposal," Giuffrida said, "is not the vote but rather the speaking privilege and getting the girls idea." Floyd Kezele, SLC Steering Committee member said that he would prefer to give the new member a vote that "snacks tokenism."

The question of a new voting seat is subject to vote by the University President, Dr. Theodore Heschung, and the Board of Trustees. Citing possible admission objection to upsetting the balance between the eight faculty seats, the eight administration seats and the eight student seats, Giuffrida said women were necessary on the Council "whether they could vote or not."

Tokenism and preferential treatment

The Badin and Walsh council meeting was opened with an attempt to prepare a joint resolution before the Monday SLC meeting. Ackerman repeatedly stressed the need to consider the thirty-three seats for Notre Dame women students will vote in this election.

At the Walsh Council meeting last Wednesday afternoon, Giuffrida's appearance, some students, led by Judy Offerle said that the whole proposal was "pure tokenism." She also stressed the fact that the SLC came to the women and that the women were not complaining for special attention.

SLC issues and women

Asked why it was important to have women's opinions at the Council, Ackerman pointed to the issues which need femal perspectivity. "For example," he said, "the dorm situation. Should we have co-ed dorms, who's going to move off campus next year... which dorms will be turned into female residences next year?"

He noted that last year that decision "was made with very little student input and more will be needed this year.."

Only for this year

Ackerman and Giuffrida both stressed that this would probably be a one year seat, and "next year," Giuffrida said, "we'll go back to the regular districts.

Peace group polls ND-SMC students

Telling to focus public attention on the effort to end the Vietnam war, the national organization Peace Alert USA is publishing a poll today in the Observer. The full-page ad encourages members of Notre Dame-O. Mary's to respond to the question: "Are the Candidates You plan to Vote For pledged to End the War?"

The poll being published as a full-page ad in the October 24 issue of The Observer is part of an ad campaign initiated by Peace Alert USA on May 28 of this year. The purpose of the series, in essence, is to determine the opinion of the American public with regard to ending the Vietnam war.

Responses are tabulated and reported to the decision-makers in Congress.

The on-campus representative of the Peace Alert USA, a Women's based organisation is Patrick Dechant, former of Senator Harold Hughes (D-Iowa) staff and now a first-year student at Notre Dame law school. He said that the movement is currently preparing for the fall session of Congress, and is concentrating its efforts on fund-raising activities while Congress is in adjournment.

Dechant said he feels that a good response from the readership of the Observer would be very helpful to their cause of peace.

National co-chairmen of Peace Alert USA are Senator Harold Hughes (D-Iowa), Congressman Paul McCluskey (R-Calif.), Senator Alan Cranston (D-Calif.), and Congressman Donald B. Stringfellow Jr. (R-Mich.). Its membership also includes University President Dr. Robert Ackerman. Powers.

SMC celebrates 128th birthday

by Colleen Freehan
Observer Staff Reporter

Students and faculty sang their Happy Birthday to Saint Mary’s yesterday celebrating Founder’s Day, 1972. St. Mary’s College was founded in 1844 in Bertrand, Michigan by the Sisters of the Holy Cross. Ten years later the school was transferred from Bertrand to Notre Dame, Indiana, and was the first Catholic Women’s College empowered to grant degrees. Since that time the college has expanded tremendously in size and in academics.

A 128 years of existence and progress was commemorated Thursday by three women-oriented seminars, a Mass, and a cake cutting ceremony.

The seminars, held informally in Stapleton Lounge, examined the role of woman in society from three perspectives: the professional view, led by faculty wives Renee Horning and Hilda Romer, the psychological view, presented by Penny Jamieson of Saint Mary’s psychology department; and the political view, offered by Dr. Alan Nasser of the philosophy department, sociology doctoral candidate Lucy Perry, and SMC English major Marion Lusardi. Perry is also chairman of the South Bend Women’s Political Caucus.

Some of the issues discussed yesterday:

—Jamieson claims women’s I.Q.’s are superior to males before puberty but begin to decline thereafter. The psychology professor added that males are more capable of handling abstract ideas while women show better performance in verbal subjects.

—the male tendency is to overrate himself while women tend to underestimate themselves on intellectual abilities, according to Jamieson.

—Nasser’s claim that the “most advantageous” aspect of the Women’s Liberation movement is its ability to point out the many different lifestyle options that women have.

—most minority women are not concerned as much with Women’s Lib because they are still striving to be recognized in their race or creed.

Following the discussions and Mass, President Edward Henry cut the huge birthday cake displayed at SMC’s festively-decorated dining hall. Hays, noise-makers, and party paraphernalia were distributed to all, and a group of Notre Dame students with a lasoo provided songs and entertainment.

The college archives were also opened to the public in the Angelicum (260 Moreau Hall), Bertrand Hall, and the Chapel of the House of Loreto. The Moreau-Hammes Galleries presented an exhibit of historical photographs of the college.

Why hear Shriver?

‘Cause he’s Shriver

by Greg Rowinski
Observer Staff Reporter

A warm crowd, estimated as equal to the group which greeted Senator Ted Kennedy last week, welcomed Sargent and Eunice Shriver back to Notre Dame campus.

The audience more than filled the chairs set up in Stepan Center. Many arrived just before the vice-presidential candidate, prompting one student to remark as he came in at 1:20, “There aren’t very many people here.” But the more rarely filled the center.

Patriotic marches blared as the students patiently awaited the candidate. Signs in the lobby welcomed “Sarge and Eunice” and called for the freeing of Martha Mitchell. McGovern supporters said $25 worth of silk-screened “Nepoleon Waterloo Nixon Watergate” t-shirts, which will also be sold at the dining halls. An independent button salesman reported that sales were “good.”

The crowd came for various reasons. One spectator anticipated a “big announcement, but even if he doesn’t say anything new, I’d like to hear what he has to say.”

Many came just to “hear what Shriver has to say,” including Bill McDermott, a St. Joe’s freshman. Junior Jennifer Johnson from McCandless said she came “because he’s Sargent Shriver,” but added that she would also see the Republican vice-presidential candidate if he came to campus.

Many came out of curiosity, including Mary Dolan, a McCandless senior and Freshman Kevin McGraw of St. Joe’s. Off campus junior Kevin Graham came, not expecting anything new but to keep up with the general currents of political thought. “Bobby Carroll, a Walsh junior, came as the result of the impression Kennedy made on her last Friday. Obama came to see Eunice Shriver, “a great campaigner” according to Fr. Heneghan who introduced the Shrivers, and “because it’s a class requirement.”

Shriver entered to strains of the National Victory March which was dropped upon by ap...
A time for irony

Yesterday was just loaded with irony. So much that it was virtually impossible to pick out the biggest one. First, Bob Kersten, the supreme non-manipulator, has moved to secure the adoption of the new student government constitution in a SLC director fight to become the next Student Body President. It is simply not true that Etienne does not have the same political candidates in last February's own race for a seat on the Body Vice-President for Dennis Etienne, the candidate that came in third in his own race for a seat on the Student Life Council.

Secondly, since Etienne can now legally succeed Kersten (if one works from a loose definition of the word legal), the King has set up this same man who could not win election in a single swift move secured the biggest of these changes is that all the legislative powers of the centum adopted last night make it so that the Poobah is black. The obvious is no so much the dark shades of the skool but that the portrait of Kersten which one works from a loose definition of the word legal, could not win election in a single swift move secured the biggest of these changes is that all the legislative powers of the centum adopted last night make it so that the Poobah is black. The obvious is no so much the dark shades of the skool but that the portrait of Kersten which was almost entirely written by the very people he has belittled throughout his entire campaign and tenure. It may well be the ultimate in egomania but it's not the ultimate irony.

Now the Kersten administration would like the duly elected representative from SLC district five, Frank Devine, to resign his seat so that a woman can be elected to replace him. Devine has a better idea. If Kersten is really concerned about female representation on the SLC why doesn't he appoint a woman to fill one of Etienne's two seats. There really is no good reason why a man who was not even elected to the SLC once should now have two votes.

Re redeeming value

Yesterday's performance should eliminate any doubt that the Kersten administration is playing the same game everybody else plays--politics. And the final measure of success in the game is still winning.

Fortunately for the student body the new constitution represents a long overdue modernization of student government. As hard as it might be to admit, Kersten is the only person who could have possibly brought about this revision. The point is that the final method of passage, and the concomitant maneuvering, is no more or less legitimate than the long doledgged poobah.

It's time to inject just a small measure of public accountability into the Kersten administration. As important as female representation is on the SLC, Devine should not be railroaded out of his seat. Kersten has two appointed seats on the SLC. As Acting Student Provost, Etienne held an appointed seat but was granted voting privileges by the SLC. As Student Body Vice-President, Etienne also holds an appointed position--he is replaced by nine people to replace Ed Gray.

There are two ways to secure female representation without permitting any further chicanery with appointed positions. If Kersten resists to allow Etienne to become the SLC, the Board of Commissioners should elect a female Vice-President. If the King stays put, then the SLC should seat the winner of a special election in Badin and Walsh in the post formerly held by the "Student Provost."

Now that Kersten has come into the ballpark someone should call his foul balls too.

John Abewd

It takes a while for freshmen to adjust to all the facets of life at Notre Dame. Classes take usually a half semester to adjust to. A few week suffices for ball life. But student politics is something one never does understand. After four days of Da Lec, though, I have been granted one important insight on student government, namely that I know that nothing about student government.

In order to bring the reader to a similar socratic state of wisdom I will present a brief orientation on past student politicians. Due to the spans of time of the subject and the lack of interest in the subject, this will only be a sketch, but that the Vice-President in the lower left comes at least, John, the signs, "Gee, I'm progressivv," won't let you forget. Everything else should be left for the poet and the football pros. The point is that Kersten is no half as tragic as Mcenna. Instead our portrait of Krashnak will ask the question, "Does a large majority mean that the students like me?" or "What's the Observer?"

Portrait number four is a grotesque caricature of the Mountache that are Cleveland. It concerns a political warlock who suffers political death, only to rise from his grave to haunt his killers. The following story is an eerie tale of revenge and gives a new meaning to the term socially-whipped is entitled Thresher. In this macabre tale you will encounter weird little ghosts called senators, summoned by Thresher to haunt his opponents, reducing to diabolical impotence.

The Machine And The Flame

Portrait number four is not of a man, but a machine named Barkett. The story is a realization that Frankenstein's impression that Elst Richardson modelled for the portrait. The story to follow is of how a student body was threatened with death by boredom, and should put you to sleep in four minutes flat. The story does ask two important questions, "Did Mr. Stepan write a letter?" or Which way is the Harvard Law School?"

The reason why I am wearing an asbestos suit is the strange medium of portrait number five. The picture is, as you see, composed of thermocuclear flames and vaporized tsuman hidden together by a force field. The portrait is an of immortal flame swallow who decides to run for student government as a clown. The story has a tragic end, even though the impression of the student body has a realistic, and believability is what you desire from the plot, switch channels. This tale of the babe and the pin-up girl is entitled "Did we try Morney?" or Why isn't Barkett a prawn?"

Our final portrait is in another kind, but instead of being the Platonic Flamingo is titled "King, be in the Aristocracy." The music you hear in the background is But what. The plot appears promising including such foolish things as an In-Man, raddle, olistarchy and a SBVP who can transform himself into a cat.

No Tragic Ending

But frankly follow lovers of the arcane and insane, none of the Lovecraft scenarios happen to our students. The scenarios offered early in the story, nothing has happened. The Trustees have never done anything without thinking twice, the school has not been suddenly thrust into a social and cultural grave. Student organizations are not suffering a hideous death. In fact, we tried to write a normal macabre, offbeat plot, but we just couldn't get a tragic ending. I mean all our writers assumed that a student government without rhetoric, divorced from self-righteousness, was doomed to a tragic ending. We all assumed that a SBVP could laugh at himself, I mean the Hindenburg, if not the Titanic. But damn him, the King has not only survived, he's prospering. An SBP who doesn't fight windmills, succeeding! A student government which doesn't wish to mobilize student support, working! Even my warped perverted mind, could not have conceived of such a paradox.

Western Canada is a beautiful place. It’s also very strange and isolated. Which is why it was with great joy that I heard of the new album by The Guess Who. The album, featuring straight middle-of-the-road rock, was damn good. Nothing more needs be said.

A friend of mine once told me that when he felt depressed or homesick, he went back to his room and played something "raunchy." He said he didn’t really care that some of his friends might not approve of it; the raunchy music was his escape, and it was enjoyable. He simply wasn’t interested in it, so he just ignored those who didn’t like it.

The Guess Who started their career as a garage band in the early 1960s with the song "Share the Love," which features a bass line and drums with a strong beat. Their music has changed over the years, but the band has always remained true to their roots. They have released many albums, and their music has been featured in various films and TV shows.

The Guess Who's most popular songs include "Nights in White Satin," "Share the Love," "Share the World," and "Share the Feeling." Their music has been described as "euphoric" and "joyful," and it continues through Saturday, along with many other albums.

One of the most popular songs by The Guess Who is "Share the World." It features a bass line and drums with a strong beat, and it has been featured in various films and TV shows. The song's lyrics are about sharing love with others, and it has been praised for its positive message.

The Guess Who's music continues to be enjoyed by fans around the world, and it shows that despite changes in the music industry, some things remain constant.

The 1975 model car you may be planning to buy after graduation will cost you $300 more due to federally required pollution controls.

According to Fraser Hilard, assistant general counsel for General Motors, the standards set by the 1970 Clean Air Act will necessitate this price increase. Sponsored by the Law School Advisory Council, Mr. Hilard was guest speaker for the Young Voters for the President last Tuesday evening at the Republican headquarters, 103 N. Michigan Ave., South Bend.

Hilard then added that the provisions of the 1970 Clean Air Act, as enforced by the Environmental Protection Agency, require ninety percent of all these pollutants to be eliminated by 1975. He warned that the cost of such control, if it is achieved at all, would add about $300 to the cost of the 1975 model car.

He questioned whether "the small additional pollution control was worth the resulting increased customer cost." Describing the complexity of the technical problems in further reducing automobile pollution, the counselor stated, "If General Motors doesn't meet the federal pollution standards by 1975, it won't be because we didn't try."

In an effort to meet these federal standards, G.M. is experimenting with several new devices. Among these is a new catalytic converter that will result in more efficient and rapid combustion. Research is also being done in reducing nitrogen oxide, the most dangerous of the pollutants.

In concluding his address, Mr. Hilard wanted to destroy what he termed "the Washington myth, the belief that the regulations are the captive of the regulated." He termed this accusation "as pure unadulterated baloney."

Word to the wise...

Hilard: better start saving your money—all the new anti-pollution devices will jack up car prices almost 300 bucks.

Response 'poor'

SMC ignores United Way

by Beth Wille
Observer Staff Reporter

Saint Mary's forty dollar response to this year's United Way Campaign was termed "poor" by senior Julaine Brophy, who is in charge of the contest.

"I can only imagine the Soviet Union read a letter from President Nixon to the young people from South Bend," said Fr. Stephen Stills, presenting the contest.

The forty dollars is in private contributions from the student body.

A total of thirty groups receive funds from United Way. Many students never received the information because of overload duties on R.A.'s and apparently many of those who did receive it ignored it.

"I feel that many students did not give the money to United Way because they were not told about it," said Brophy.

"I feel that people don't contribute because they don't feel it is important. How do we make them feel it is important?" She added.

There is one week left for St. Mary's students to contribute to the drive by either calling Julaine Brophy, 4722 or by contacting her in room 422 Lemans.

Rally, hot dog stand are planned by YVP

A rally was held by the Young Voters for the President last Tuesday evening at the Republican headquarters in downtown South Bend.

Young people from South Bend high schools, I. U. S. R., Notre Dame and St. Mary's College came together to celebrate their support of President Nixon and to recruit more workers for the campaign. A band donated its music while refreshments were served and a raffle held.

Andy Nickle, chairman of the Young Voters for the President in St. Joseph County, read a letter from President Nixon to the young people of the county. In the letter the President expressed his gratitude for the efforts of young campaigners.

Nickle stated that the outlook of the campaigning is very favorable in St. Joseph County as it is throughout the state. But he also warned against complacency.

Nickle also announced another rally to be held this Sunday at 3:30 p.m. at the Republican headquarters, 103 N. Michigan Ave., South Bend.

Bruce Callner, co-chairman of the Y.V.P. chapter at Notre Dame, announced a hot dog sale in front of the Law building at N.D. before this Saturday's football game. Callner also invited N.D.-SMC. Nixon supporters to attend the Y.V.P. meeting on Tuesday, at 7:30 p.m., in the hallway of the LaFortune center.

For many Americans, the crucial issue in the coming election is ending the war in Vietnam.

This is the third in a series of ads published by Peace Alert USA in newspapers from coast to coast to permit hundreds of thousands of Americans to vote on the single question: “Should Congress end the war by cutting off the funds?”

Your peace votes have had their effect in Congress. We have not yet won but we have made clear headway.

For the first time in history, the U.S. Senate voted to cut off funds for the war. (July 24)

For the first time in history, the House Foreign Affairs Committee reported out an end-the-war amendment. (July 26) Other recent votes in Congress have shown growing strength for peace.

It is important now to make sure the candidates you vote for in November are pledged to peace in Vietnam.

Write or visit your Congressman. Write or visit your candidates, both national and state. Make sure they are right on the war.

The National Peace Poll and other actions of Peace Alert USA are working to turn the tide. We ask again for your vote and your help to raise the money needed to get these ads into local newspapers.

Send your contribution to Peace Alert USA to keep this current effort going.

And make sure the candidates you vote for in November are pledged to peace in Vietnam.

Notre Dame chapter AAUP sponsors membership drive

by Kim Kittrell
Observer Staff Reporter

A membership drive, the plans for the fall chapter meeting, faculty manual revisions, and the topics discussed at the American Association of University Professors Executive Committee meeting Wednesday.

During the lunch meeting, Professor Denis Dunag, chairman of the Executive Committee, reported on the membership drive now in progress.

Dunag heads the drive and points out that last year the total membership in the group was 255 professors. This year the organization has over 500 members, and hopes to reach over 500.

The fall chapter meeting has not been finalized, but the meeting will probably be held in November or December.

The final major order of business was a report by Chairperson Susan Tubb, Assistant Professor of Psychology, on the plans of the Committee on the Status of Women in Academic Professions.

The Committee plans to conduct a survey to investigate the relative status of men and women faculty members at Notre Dame.

McLean receives Legion of Merit

One of the nation's highest awards, the Legion of Merit, was presented Thursday by the University of Notre Dame to William McLean, U.S. Navy, for his contributions in deterring nuclear holocaust.

Professor McLean is Professor of Naval Science and Commanding Officer of the Naval ROTC Unit at the University of Notre Dame. The presentation was held in the Regan Center at the university Thursday afternoon, October 12. The ward was presented by Father Theodore Henegh, P.V.D., president of the university, before the brigade of midshipmen and guests.

The Legion of Merit is a U.S. Presidential award. It was earned by Capt. McLean for his distinguished and meritorious service, and for the recently completed Strategic Arms Negotiations between the United States and the Union of Soviet Socialist Republics.

Mishawaka Raquet Club to host ND, SMC students

Tennis, anyone? For Ned Redy of Saint Mary's campus ministry is organizing weekly excursions to the Mishawaka Raquet Club, for those of you who have had it with the short Regina courts or the problems on the McCandless courts.

Starting this Sunday night, four courts will be reserved for Notre Dame and Saint Mary's students from 8:00 p.m. to 10:00 p.m. Redy has offered to reserve the courts for two hours if enough persons wish to use them.

Cost for the excursions will be 75 cents per person, since it is a $1.00 per hour charge for court rental.

Transportation will be provided by Redy, a Notre Dame student, and two Saint Mary's students with cars.

Redy mentioned the possibility of forming a tennis team from Saint Mary's, which would complete with surrounding colleges. He also hopes to offer tennis lessons with student instructors to both ND-SCMC students and underprivileged children from the South Bend area on Friday nights and Saturday afternoons.

Anyone wishing further information about the program may contact Redy at 3182.

The Legion of Merit is given in recognition of outstanding service to the nation. It is second only to the Distinguished Service award for non-combat service.

Capt. McLean earned the Legion of Merit as a full-time member of the U.S. Strategic Arms Limitation talks in 1969. He contributed significantly in his role as delegate and as chairman of a joint US-UBSS committee to the consummation of both the Anti-Ballistic Missile Treaty and Intermediate Offensive Agreement.

The treaty and agreement were negotiated in Helsinki, Finland and supplemented by delegations from the U.S. and Soviet Russia. Both were signed in Moscow by President Richard Nixon and Secretary General Leonid Brezhnev in May 1972.

They were recently ratified and accepted by the nations. The results of the SALT negotiation are considered by many to constitute the most significant strategic arms limitation and deterrent to large scale, this century, in history.

This is the second time Capt. McLean has received the Legion of Merit. He previously received the award for his contributions in analyzing the capabilities of America's offensive and defensive weapon systems. This analysis was performed for then Secretary of Defense Robert McNamara.

The presentation of this second award took place at a ceremony which also commemorated the 200th birthday of the U.S. Navy. The birthday of the Navy is considered to be October 13, 1776. On this date the Continental Congress approved funds for the construction of the first Naval ship. Capt. McLean is a native of Illinois and entered the Naval service in March 1945. He is a Naval Aviator and specialist in Naval weapon systems.

plause. His standing ovation lasted more than he intended, but he seemed to increase in intensity and volume. The applause that accom­ dpanied his speech was steady rather than ra­ his. His "warm cerebral speech" was well­ received by a "warm but not fanatic" crowd, as described by Governor Shriver.

Post-speech reactions were enthusiastic. One observing student, Wendell McCourt, reportedly could only say, "I think it's great." Another student especially noted Shriver's use of "technical stuff." Shriver made references to incidents dating back as far as 1952, before many members of the audience were born. Another optined that Shriver's "hagging away on the administration and urged that he continue doing so. A couple equated Shriver's own charisma with that of Kennedy, while another said that Shriver's speech was political, while Kennedy was more "personal persuasion." A observer thought that Shriver should have expanded on his references to the Victorious Issue, though he felt that the corruption "should be made more explicit." He felt that the speech was negative in only attacking the present situation, without offering a very tangible alternative. Another student said she was "glad that he left students free to open the speech. She felt that this was a planned act.

A McVeigh "bucked-passer" disagreed, saying that a number of students had said that they would have to leave early, as a result of a class conflict. The intent of the mass move was to minimize the disturbance. Since the students were 'suspicious of the polls, there seemed to be grounds for this theory.

The best bit of Shriver's reception, according to a McGovern supporter, was "the outstanding, more than expected collection "taken up during the speech. The collection netted "close to $300," he said.

At Cranmer, the campus coordinator for the McGovern-Shriver campaign, was "happy with the large, but not phenomenal" turnout. He felt that the inclement weather had an adverse effect on the audience. He was pleased with the crowd's reception of the speech, but noted a "certain criticism of the present administration."

Senate dissolves

The session began at 8:15 p.m. and lasted one­ half hour. Senate members present were chairs­ men, Elinagh, residence, gray, senators Trusa, John, and Smith, with Bob and Gi­ frida, and senators McGloughlin, Frank Pilots, (Flanner), Rick Lain (Dillion), Philip Reilly (Brenkop), Paul, Brian, Robert (Gorder) and Don Ferris (Keenan).

Copies of the mimeographed resolutions, with amendments, should be made available to students soon.

At the conclusion of the Senate's meeting, Elinagh announced student body president Kenneth's appointment of Mike Antolino as Executive Coordinator. This makes Elinagh an effective third-in-command in the governing hierarchy.

Unbeaten Irish host winless Pitt

by Vic Dorr

The first week of the 1972 college football season has not been good ones for the Pitt Panthers.

Coach Carl DePauw's squad began the season with a 38-6 victory over Army, but three straight losses have slipped steadily since. The Pirates, kicked out of the Football National, and last Saturday the Panthers were punished by a 27-10 defeat by Temple.

Tonight, Pitt will bring its 9-5 record into St. Stefan's Convocation Center to face the unbeaten, seventh-ranked Panthers. The game paper is an inhumane, but ND coach Ara Parseghian will not play the same game.

"Pitt is not enjoying the best possible season," he said, "but I learned long ago that anything can happen as long as the game is a good one. Pitt is a better team than most people think, and they've had some injuries that have set them back in Stan Ossman's. Their problem this season has been questions of defense."

The Panther defense has been porous—it has allowed 146 points in five games. But Pitt is one of the few teams to hit them worse besides. Turnovers and poor coverage on kick returns put Pitt in the midst of a losing streak. It's just pointless etiquette.

Tonight's rally for the Pittsburgh game will be held in the Breslin Center of the Gilbert Center. (St. Stefan's is being used for the Homecoming festivities.)
