Advice available for students charged with rule violations

SBP hopefuls open campaign

by Tom Russo
Staff Reporter

Notre Dame students charged with university infractions can obtain advice from each hall's Judicial Supervisor, who will help the student prepare a case to go before the University's Judicial Board. He or she will be assisted at the hearing by the Legal Aid and University Referrals Division, directed by Joe McGinty. For others it would be advisable to consult with the University's Judicial Board, composed of three students and three non-students.

The student receives advice on what to expect. For some cases the student would be better off to go before the University's Judicial Board, composed of three students and three non-students. If a student chooses to go before the University's Judicial Board, he or she will be assisted at the hearing by Joe McGinty, who will help the student prepare a case to go before the University's Judicial Board.

One of the most difficult problems which the students face is the lack of communication between the student and the University. One of the most difficult problems which the students face is the lack of communication between the student and the University. One of the most difficult problems which the students face is the lack of communication between the student and the University. One of the most difficult problems which the students face is the lack of communication between the student and the University. One of the most difficult problems which the students face is the lack of communication between the student and the University. One of the most difficult problems which the students face is the lack of communication between the student and the University. One of the most difficult problems which the students face is the lack of communication between the student and the University. One of the most difficult problems which the students face is the lack of communication between the student and the University. One of the most difficult problems which the students face is the lack of communication between the student and the University.
world briefs

COLUMBIA, S.C. (UPI) - Inmates wielding homemade knives and other weapons fought at the Central Correctional Institution Sunday until guards finally brought them under control with clouds of tear gas.

None of the inmates were injured, three seriously enough to require hospitalization.

SHIPPOCK, N.M. (UPI) - Two television newsmen filming an electronic plant occupied by armed members of the American Indian Movement were beaten Sunday in the first outburst of violence in the six-day-old siege.

Authorities at the plant on the Navajo Reservation said Harold Cook and Jim Terraras of KGGM-TV, Albuquerque, N.M., were not seriously injured. No arrests were made.

HAITI (UPI) - "Scared, really scared," was the way security guard Roy Ranno summed up his feelings after being kidnapped by three men claiming to be revolutionaries, who then destroyed the factory where he worked. Ranno, guard Al Hanley and factory manager John Cullinan, were taken handcuffed and blindfolded from the Sponge Rubber Products Co. factory about an hour before explosions set it ablaze around 11:30 p.m. Saturday.

GRAITEFRIDER (Pa. (UPI) - Graterford Prison inmate Vaughan Jowser, a convicted murderer selected Saturday as an Episcopal deacon, could become a priest if he meets the qualifications.

Smith-Hinds said he has no hard feelings about the controversy over the statement, which calls for a moratorium on all new abortion cases.

Austgen said he hopes the committee's plans will not meet the same fate as cancellation this year. "We're trying, really trying," he said. "I want everyone to know that we are really sincere in our efforts."

The committee, which has also provoked lists of off-campus housing to graduate students, has asked for the University administration, the graduate student organizations, and the graduate student organizations and the graduate departments. In addition to these groups, guests who have some connection with graduate student problems are present at each meeting to give advice.

Smith-Hinds said he has no strong emotional feeling against the University, but noted that discrimination needs to be improved.

On campus today

3 p.m. meeting, academic council, rooms 100-104 center for continuing education.

7:30 p.m. lecture, "some legal protections and problems" by J.S. Crumpacker, Carroll Hall.

8 p.m. sophomore literary festival, James Purdy, Lib. Aud.

JAMES PURDY arrived on campus last night in time to attend the opening ceremony, a reading by Joseph Brodsky.

Friday, March 7, 7 PM O'Laughlin Auditorium

Update available Speech and Drama Dept.

NO-D-SMC STUDENTS

MICHIGAN STREET

ADULT THEATRES

★ 2 FILMS

★ BOOKSTORE

★ LIVE FLOOR SHOW

1316 SOUTH MICHIGAN STREET

CALL 282-1206 FOR INFORMATION

NICKIE'S

PRESENTS

60 HOURS

OF THE LOWEST BEER PRICES IN THE COUNTRY!

MON, TUES, WED: NOON - MIDNIGHT

THURS, FRI, SAT: NOON - 8:00 P.M.

PLUS THE BEST HALF-POUND CHARCOAL GRILLED HAMBURGERS IN TOWN

Convicted Boston doctor discussed in statement

CHICAGO (UPI) - Dr. Kenneth Edlin, the Boston physician recently convicted of manslaughter in an abortion case, arrived in accordance with the principles upheld by his profession, the American College of Obstetricians and Gynecologists, said Sunday.

The college's executive committee met in an all-day session Friday to review a statement on the Edlin case. It read in part:

"The most serious medical problems, obstetrician-gynecologists attempt to act in the best interest of their patients and society in general. In this effort, they must practice in accordance with medical ethics and their patients' individual convictions, and within the legal guidelines that exist." "From the information available to the committee, it is the opinion of the executive committee that Dr. Edlin's statement is not in accordance with these principles."

The statement called for more specific legal and ethical guidelines to assist the profession in making and acting on such decisions as abortion cases.

"The adversary system of criminal justice is not necessarily the best forum for the development of these guidelines," the statement said.

A spokesman for the college, Robert Mander, said the statement, which now becomes the official position of the college, would be sent in the college's newsletter to its 14,000 members in the United States, Canada and Puerto Rico.

Ullman proposes energy package

WASHINGTON (UPI) - Rep. Al Ullman, D-Ore., chairman of the House Ways and Means Committee, said Sunday his panel has drafted a "solid, tough" energy program that could be the basis of a compromise between conflicting programs proposed by President Ford and congressional Democrats.

The Ullman plan was the third major energy program in a month.

Ullman criticized the Democratic package, which was unveiled Friday, as being "watered down to the point where the Ways and Means Committee doesn't believe that it will adequately do the job."

A 34-page Democratic report drawn up by "task forces" compromised of members of Ullman's committee, also fairly rejected Ford's program, which is based on controversial oil import fees, as "running the real risk of deepening both the inflation and recession pressures existing today."

The Observer is published daily during the college semester except holidays by the students of the University of Notre Dame and St. Mary's College. Subscription rate is $4.50 per year. Second class postage paid, Notre Dame, Ind. 46556.
Faculty reacts to Worland-Cushing letters

by Erica Deyo
Staff Reporter

Faculty members contacted this week about Gallo's decision appeared unanimous in their opinions concerning the vital issue of university governance. The professors line up on different sides of the debate with full-page newspaper ads. There needs to be greater input into deciding such decisions. It's not that they should be made more public, Professor Worfod's objection that the Budget Priorities Committee consisting of six faculty members would detract from the teaching performance of those teachers and would occupy a great amount of their time, Barrett said. Otherwise it would be difficult to respond with their demands. The Administration must make a decision on which are the faculty appear to be with the present role of the faculty in university governance. Professor Otto Bird, instructor in the General Program, said that the administration is already giving greater consideration to faculty opinion. Apart from that, the faculty should not be overly involved in university administration. Teaching and research are our primary responsibilities," Bird said. Faculty members contacted this week about Gallo's decision appeared unanimous in their opinions concerning the vital issue of university governance. The professors line up on different sides of the debate with full-page newspaper ads. There needs to be greater input into deciding such decisions. It's not that they should be made more public, Professor Worfod's objection that the Budget Priorities Committee consisting of six faculty members would detract from the teaching performance of those teachers and would occupy a great amount of their time, Barrett said. Otherwise it would be difficult to respond with their demands. The Administration must make a decision on which are the faculty appear to be with the present role of the faculty in university governance. Professor Otto Bird, instructor in the General Program, said that the administration is already giving greater consideration to faculty opinion. Apart from that, the faculty should not be overly involved in university administration. Teaching and research are our primary responsibilities," Bird said. Faculty members contacted this week about Gallo's decision appeared unanimous in their opinions concerning the vital issue of university governance. The professors line up on different sides of the debate with full-page newspaper ads. There needs to be greater input into deciding such decisions. It's not that they should be made more public, Professor Worfod's objection that the Budget Priorities Committee consisting of six faculty members would detract from the teaching performance of those teachers and would occupy a great amount of their time, Barrett said. Otherwise it would be difficult to respond with their demands. The Administration must make a decision on which are the faculty appear to be with the present role of the faculty in university governance. Professor Otto Bird, instructor in the General Program, said that the administration is already giving greater consideration to faculty opinion. Apart from that, the faculty should not be overly involved in university administration. Teaching and research are our primary responsibilities," Bird said.
A sense of frustration...
No candidates...no endorsement

This year's Student Body Presidential race is perhaps the strangest of its kind in recent memory. There are no clear divisions between the candidates, either in personality or in platform. Nor are there clear-cut issues on which to judge the stance of the candidates.

As was made evident in Pat McLaughlin's remarks at last Wednesday's meeting, which opened active campaigning, this year has been one marked by frustration.

Frustration has arisen from confrontations over the calendar, drinking rules, the sexuality code, changes in co-educational attitudes on campus, and off-campus problems.

The sense of frustration has been shared by Student Government and the student body. The potential for student leadership on this campus has been spoken of frequently. Why, then, have no new leaders emerged in the Presidential race?

The new leaders have remained out of the main action because of the frustration that has been witnessed in Student Government activity this year.

Those who have chosen to run do not fit the leadership qualities that the office of Student Body President now requires.

The Student Body President

A Student Body President must know what he is saying and be able to defend that statement when it is challenged. At the same time, he must remain open to ideas that can enhance his original position.

The Student Body President must be able to enlist the support of students. He must be able to enlist their trust and their faith in his basic sense of reason and judgement. He must have a personality that is aware, responsive and forceful. Only then will students have the confidence to support his action on issues.

The Student Body President must act upon and channel student response, rather than simply react to and remodel it. He must have the ability to innovate, to be able to find the most direct route through which to conduct student energy.

He must be fully aware of the situation on campus, ranging from the tone of student sentiment to their specific proposals for issues.

He must be able to recognize necessity and realize accomplishments.

The office of Student Body President is characterized by the concept of the President as focal point. He must provide the students with a center of organization which will be receptive enough to engender their trust in its ability to represent student sentiment.

This Year's Candidates

None of the candidates for Student Body President have come close to meeting the demands of the office.

As evident from their platforms and statements, none of the candidates have fully researched the situations at this University. Few are aware of the intricacies and complexities of its workings.

As an example of this lack of awareness, a discussion of the Committee on Undergraduate 'Life at yesterday's Keenan-Stanford forum revealed that a number of the candidates had no idea of the existence of such a committee. Most, in their plat-
March 3, 1975

Dear Chris, the trouble is, as you must know, getting over there, the getting in. Into the States, I mean. They probe past your skin, then your clothes, then your shoes, then your dentures, until you think of rats along with neglect and starvation. These figures, and others like them, are up and dancing through the darkness. As if you were one of their rooms, they are either the innocent, stoned, and delirious, or those on whom living off, and speaking to them will only be paraded in a world devoid of love.

To see this, is to be drunk among whispers: by Mr. Silvero. With caving hands, the victors simply go and walk all night in the next room.

This nightmare world Purdy's characters inhabit, is only possible when they are the innocent, stoned, and delirious, or those on whom living off, and speaking to them will only be paraded in a world devoid of love.

Everyone has a hero that he has long admired who, like movie star, athlete, political figure, or member of any other admirable profession. To carry on a personal correspondence with any of these people is a fact that most people can only dream about.

To help one student at the University of Notre Dame, this fantasy has become a reality. For the past few months, he has talked with, written to, and even received letters from some esteemed literary writers, such as Anthony Burgess, James T. Farrell, Kurt Vonnegut, John Updike, Robert Bly, Tillie Olsen and Lawrence Ferlinghetti.

Sophomore Chris Mahon has communicated with these reputable authors in his capacity as chairman of the 1975 Sophomore Literary Festival. This year, the Festival will be held from March 2 to March 8.

The Sophomore Literary Festival is an annual event which brings some of the finest living novelists, playwrights and poets to Notre Dame to address classes, workshops and Pvt. Mahon sieht an, that the SLF has even helped launch some major literary names. For instance, Anthony Burgess, who was a participant in the Festival in 1967, has also recorded various novels and short stories.

Purdy is a major figure in the world of contemporary literature. His works, including 'The Last Land,' 'The Last of the Indians,' 'The Last Man,' 'The Last of the Indians II,' and 'The Last of the Indians III,' have been translated into twenty-two languages, and have also been translated into Spanish.

Purdy is a major figure in the world of contemporary literature. His works, including 'The Last Land,' 'The Last of the Indians,' 'The Last Man,' 'The Last of the Indians II,' and 'The Last of the Indians III,' have been translated into twenty-two languages, and have also been translated into Spanish.

Purdy is a major figure in the world of contemporary literature. His works, including 'The Last Land,' 'The Last of the Indians,' 'The Last Man,' 'The Last of the Indians II,' and 'The Last of the Indians III,' have been translated into twenty-two languages, and have also been translated into Spanish.

Purdy is a major figure in the world of contemporary literature. His works, including 'The Last Land,' 'The Last of the Indians,' 'The Last Man,' 'The Last of the Indians II,' and 'The Last of the Indians III,' have been translated into twenty-two languages, and have also been translated into Spanish.

Purdy is a major figure in the world of contemporary literature. His works, including 'The Last Land,' 'The Last of the Indians,' 'The Last Man,' 'The Last of the Indians II,' and 'The Last of the Indians III,' have been translated into twenty-two languages, and have also been translated into Spanish.

Purdy is a major figure in the world of contemporary literature. His works, including 'The Last Land,' 'The Last of the Indians,' 'The Last Man,' 'The Last of the Indians II,' and 'The Last of the Indians III,' have been translated into twenty-two languages, and have also been translated into Spanish.

Purdy is a major figure in the world of contemporary literature. His works, including 'The Last Land,' 'The Last of the Indians,' 'The Last Man,' 'The Last of the Indians II,' and 'The Last of the Indians III,' have been translated into twenty-two languages, and have also been translated into Spanish.

Purdy is a major figure in the world of contemporary literature. His works, including 'The Last Land,' 'The Last of the Indians,' 'The Last Man,' 'The Last of the Indians II,' and 'The Last of the Indians III,' have been translated into twenty-two languages, and have also been translated into Spanish.

Purdy is a major figure in the world of contemporary literature. His works, including 'The Last Land,' 'The Last of the Indians,' 'The Last Man,' 'The Last of the Indians II,' and 'The Last of the Indians III,' have been translated into twenty-two languages, and have also been translated into Spanish.
Outlook for An Tostal optimistic

by Roe Parkins
Staff Reporter

The An Tostal Committee may have run into problems along the way, but it doesn’t seem to deter them from the task at hand — preparing a fun-filled festival to help the university through some financial problems for one wonderful weekend in April.

For the uninitiated, An Tostal is a Gaelic phrase which stands for “Any field or place of work.” The An Tostal Committee, comprised of students from both Notre Dame and St. Mary’s, develops ideas and events for the enjoyment of all. The Hall Presidents Council pays for the affair.

And what events! There are pie-eating contests and talent shows, trivia games — the Shalom knows — and a plethora of concerts and dances and maybe romances.

One of the top draws every year is the Bookstore Basketball Tournament played for the coveted Bookstore Basketball championship. Over 100 five-man teams complete in a single elimination journey on the campus outdoor courts for over a week prior to An Tostal — regardless of the weather. Though known as the Iron Man Tournament, it’s usually the team that doesn’t rust in the April rains that wins all the glory.

Strong challengers for the audiences last year, however, proved to be the Ben-Hur chariot race and the Mud Volleyball tournament. Brave charioters ride in makeshift chariots drawn by four horsemen from Notre Dame in the former while volleyball teams which can afford a lot of bleach compete in the latter.

More than athletics But athletic events aren’t the only An Tostal attractions which delight the revellers. The Personality Contest and Original An Tostal Amatur Hour — both of a suitable field on University grounds — which anyone is welcome to perform in — are tremendous examples. And for the know-it-alls on campus, there’s always the chance to prove it in the Trivial owl.

Problems seen But getting back to the 1975 An Tostal Committee, they’ve been working for the last few weeks perfecting old events and dreaming up bigger and better ones for this April’s festival. And unfortunately, there are problems to be dealt with.

“We are working really hard on finding a site for the Irish Wake and Sunny Saturday’s events,” says Tom Porter, this year’s chairman. “We’ve investigated several locations for the Wake — some of them north of campus — and a couple of days ago we found one that looks very promising.”

“As for a field for Sunny Saturday, usually we use what’s come to be known as the An Tostal field, the one that lies between Notre Dame and St. Mary’s. But the Congregation of Holy Cross priests, who own the field, has invested a great deal of money in reseeding the field since last April, so they had to be informed of our intentions. As for Sunny’s event, it will be an indoor event — and make the efforts worthwhile.”

The Student Affairs Office is working with the committee to find a suitable field on University grounds.

In fact, Bob Quakenbush, assistant chairman, admits the university had recommended a field which looked perfect while snow-covered.

“But when the snow melted last week, Tom, Mary Siegel, Vinnie Mouchella and I went out to re-examine the field,” he continued, “and we’re or less decided our events would be hazardous on that field. Half of it is a gravel parking lot and the other a swamp. Thus, the committee is still looking for a site to build their mudpits and volleyball courts and chariot race arena.

Innovations As for innovation, it wouldn’t be An Tostal without innovations. For instance, the Mr. Campus contest (name tentative) will select a Mr. Campus from the likes of Mr. Morrissey, Mr. Kosen, Mr. Sorin, Mr. Planner ... you get the idea. Each hall will be requested to elect their own handsome — and for the first time may be open to anyone in the university. Usually, the party has been limited to the first 500 couples to buy tickets.

The official dates for the weekend are April 17, 18 and 19. Hopefully, all events will be held under sunny skies and the absence of wacky winter weather.

... Continued

Students protest John Dean talk

ATHENS, Ohio (UPI) — If the Watergate conspirators had not been caught, there would have been another scandal and it would have been worse, convicted conspirator John Dean III said Sunday night.

"There would have been another Watergate and it would have been far worse for us, for the Democratic party leader, and for the government, making him in effect a martyr," said Dean.

He said he did not think that former President Nixon had any advance knowledge of the attempt Watergate break-in but he felt the prevailing atmosphere in the White House at the time lent itself to the attempt.

"What Richard Nixon did not want to happen just did not happen," Dean said.

About 40 students protesters carrying placards and chanting "Boycott John Dean!" paraded outside the gymnasium where Dean spoke.

Dean said what he did in regard to Watergate because "I got blinded by my own ambition and I can’t say I am very proud of it."

Kidnap victim tops Berlin polls

BERLIN (UPI) — West Berlin voters, apparently angered by the knowledge of Christian Democratic party leader, Sunday gave his party an electoral plurality and mandate to form a government, making him in effect mayor-elect.

A television network computer projection based on returns available one hour after the polls closed showed the Christian Democrats, led by the kidnaped Peter Lorenz, won about 45 percent of the vote.

The Social Democrats led by incumbent mayor Klaus Schütz lost just the majority they won four years ago, dropping to around 32 percent of the vote.

The surge in favor of the Christian Democrats apparently reflected voter anger at the abduction Thursday of Lorenz, 52. In Berlin, 53 kidnappers have said they will execute him Monday morning if last week's last-minute truce by four horsemen from Notre Dame in the former while volleyball teams which can afford a lot of bleach compete in the latter.

The Student Affairs Office is working with the committee to find a suitable field on University grounds.

In fact, Bob Quakenbush, assistant chairman, admits the university had recommended a field which looked perfect while snow-covered.

“But when the snow melted last week, Tom, Mary Siegel, Vinnie Mouchella and I went out to re-examine the field,” he continued, “and we’re or less decided our events would be hazardous on that field. Half of it is a gravel parking lot and the other a swamp. Thus, the committee is still looking for a site to build their mudpits and volleyball courts and chariot race arena.

Innovations As for innovation, it wouldn’t be An Tostal without innovations. For instance, the Mr. Campus contest (name tentative) will select a Mr. Campus from the likes of Mr. Morrissey, Mr. Kosen, Mr. Sorin, Mr. Planner ... you get the idea. Each hall will be requested to elect their own handsome — and for the first time may be open to anyone in the university. Usually, the party has been limited to the first 500 couples to buy tickets.

The official dates for the weekend are April 17, 18 and 19. Hopefully, all events will be held under sunny skies and the absence of wacky winter weather.
BELLEVILLE, Ill. (UPI) - Cancer victim Heidi Biggs, 14, died Sunday en route home from a Hawaiian vacation, a wish fulfilled last winter.

The frail child was heavily drugged when she left Honolulu on a nonstop flight to St. Louis, according to the family's increasing concern during the flight.

At Lambert-St. Louis Airport, she was taken by stretcher to a waiting ambulance, and to her Belleville home. Heidi's mother, Lucille Biggs, had decided to keep her daughter out of any more hospitals because doctors told her there was nothing more they could do.

On the way to Belleville, an ambulance attendant noticed Heidi had stopped breathing. The ambulance rushed to Memorial Hospital, where she was pronounced dead of a respiratory arrest. Her mother and stepfather were at her bedside.

"Her bravery had touched the hearts of many people. I'm sure," Mrs. Biggs said.

ERA ratification shifts to Illinois Senate Tuesday

SPRINGFIELD (UPI) - The fight over ratification of the controversial Equal Rights Amendment shifts to the Illinois Senate Tuesday, and ERA supporters are saying this may be the year.

ERA backers and opponents are also preparing to take their campaigns by the North Carolina legislature slated for Tuesday and again next week, with a ratification vote expected in spring.

If ERA backers are satisfied by a vote of 34 states. Four more are needed to trigger the proposed part of the Constitution. Only one state has ratified the ERA since this year, and both Illinois and North Carolina are considered crucial.

Illinois Senate leaders planned to put the proposal to its fourth Senate vote for the fourth time this year.

ERA backers are armed with two more court rulings and a crop of fresh lawmakers who favor the amendment.

The proposal has been voted on six times in the Illinois General Assembly since 1972. Despite continuous action, a majority of votes in both houses, ratification has been blocked by leadership revisions that the measure requires three-fifths approval.

In 1973, both the speaker of the House and the Senate president, at that time both Republicans, ruled that the Illinois Constitution requires a three-fifths majority to ratify amendments.

That year, 44 House members voted for ratification, six more than the majority but 16 less than the three-fifths required. The proposal next year passed both houses but failed to get a Senate committee in 1973.

Last year, the bills tabled and the Senate gave the ERA 30 votes—exactly a majority. But it was declared defeated and the House never voted on it.

ERA supporters took the matter to federal court seeking to have the three-fifths rule struck down and the 1974 vote declared sufficient for ratification.

Last week, a three-judge federal panel ruled that the Illinois General Assembly is not bound by the constitutionality of the state constitution and that it is up to the lawmakers to set up their own majority requirement.

ERA supporters called the ruling a victory for the measure, with President Civil Partee, D-Chicago.

ND K of C Clubs seek volunteers

The Notre Dame Knights of Columbus is looking for volunteers to help fold contribution bags for the Goodwill adult and children's clothing drive.

There are 96,000 bags which may be folded for distribution through the Goodwill Adult Clothing Drive by Thursday, March 7. Folding will take place from 7 p.m. to 9 p.m. Wednesday and Thursday.

All students wishing to help should call Tom Dechant, Dan Specter, Steve Lucero or Dan Mellett at 708-1 so that trans- portation can be arranged.

Hawaiian dream vacation

Cancer victim gets last wish

"We heard from people who said they had strayed away from God, but hearing about Heidi's courage and faith in God put them back on the right path," Mrs. Biggs said.

Heidi had been confined to her Honolulu hotel room the last week of her two-week vacation when her condition suddenly worsened. She was wheeled to 50 pounds, she was under heavy sedation and barely conscious in recent days.

During the flight, Heidi, apparently realizing she did not have to live long, asked her mother to have her body flown back to St. Louis.

But the plucky little girl lived the first week of the vacation to the fullest on the sand and beneath the palms of Hawaii. She went horse- riding, swimming, sight-seeing and walking on Waikiki Beach.

"She was on top of the world," Mrs. Biggs said.

Heidi's return to the St. Louis airport was in stark contrast to her departure 15 days before. Wearing a long brown wig to cover her bald head—she lost her hair during her illness—she laughed and smiled at well-wishers who saw her off.

She told her reporters that her dream had been to visit Hawaii because "I could make the regular 20 mile trip to a St. Louis hospital for treatment." Heidi had been told she had terminal lung cancer last summer.

Peeny heard of Heidi and came to visit her in Belleville. When he learned of Heidi's dream to go to Hawaii, he donated $1,000 to begin a fund. Donations began to pour in from across the world. When the fund reached $300,000, Heidi and her mother were able to make the journey. Peeny and Hillman later joined them.

Her wishes were realized in Hawaii. Penny said, "Heidi told her mother "she was ready when God wanted her.""

The family took Heidi to see the sights they felt she had received God's forgiveness and was at peace with herself."
The Irish Eye

The crow and Crotty

Last games of the season always seem to encourage a special effort from the Notre Dame student body. And perhaps the proximity of the game scene, that glory, and that oneMEA's ane are a lifeline for hundreds of pounds of special pads creates a more emotional one in basketball.

"And it's a game of emotion and the crowd can really do it for us," said assistant coach Dick DiBiaso after the Dayton game Saturday. "They were really with us.

Of course the Notre Dame crowd is typically an added attraction in itself, with its hilarious chanters, the haka woodwind players, the frisbees, the boos and cheers for opposing cheerleaders, the boos and cheers for opposing players, and Saturday chants like, "We want Varga!" and "We want Clay.

In the second half of Saturday's game, the ND student section showed its appreciation for two of the three graduating seniors by requesting their respective appearances in the ball game. And Digger Phelps, never one to disappoint a partisan home crowd, readily obliged.

"It really inspired me," said Dwight after the game. "I loved it. This game was just one of those games you can really do it for. But even before Dwight was summoned, the students asked for Varga, the popular blue team captain, who has seen all of 12 minutes playing time for the Irish.

"It was different, that's for sure," offered Tommy, "but I didn't want Digger to feel he had to do the singing about it. I wasn't embarrassed and I wasn't actually elated over it. I guess you could say I was kind of pleased by it.

Fortunately, Peter Crotty, the third senior had fouled out at this point, for had the students not shown equal appreciation for Peter's efforts, it would have added insult to the already unfair injury he received all year. Crotty may perhaps be the hardest working member of this year's squad, something most of the fans hardly recognize since the arena is seldom packed for daily practice. He's an unsung individual and genuinely concerned with the team as a team. Peter's biggest contribution this year was his concern for the team, the way he treated all the guys like teammates, the way he treated all the guys like teammates. He's the man Digger uses to tutor Banot. He shows them the ropes and the philosophy.

Yet Peter is the only one of the starting five who bears bosom when he's introduced. He's the brunt of caustic insults from the student section, the same section that so gleefully cheers when Adrian Dantley scores 49 points, at times. How can they expect something most of the fans hardly recognize since the arena is seldom packed for daily practice? People have to expect more from Peter, it's the only way.

"How do I feel when I hear the boos? Well, not too good," answered Peter. "It's pretty demoralizing. I go out there and give it everything I got and to be boxed in and I feel bad. I just can't figure it out. I'm not actually elated over it. I guess you could say I was kind of pleased by it.

Fortunately, Peter Crotty, the third senior had fouled out at this point, for had the students not shown equal appreciation for Peter's efforts, it would have added insult to the already unfair injury he received all year. Crotty may perhaps be the hardest working member of this year's squad, something most of the fans hardly recognize since the arena is seldom packed for daily practice. He's an unsung individual and genuinely concerned with the team as a team. Peter's biggest contribution this year was his concern for the team, the way he treated all the guys like teammates, the way he treated all the guys like teammates. He's the man Digger uses to tutor Banot. He shows them the ropes and the philosophy.

"How do I feel when I hear the boos? Well, not too good," answered Peter. "It's pretty demoralizing. I go out there and give it everything I got and to be boxed in and I feel bad. I just can't figure it out. I'm not actually elated over it. I guess you could say I was kind of pleased by it.

Fortunately, Peter Crotty, the third senior had fouled out at this point, for had the students not shown equal appreciation for Peter's efforts, it would have added insult to the already unfair injury he received all year. Crotty may perhaps be the hardest working member of this year's squad, something most of the fans hardly recognize since the arena is seldom packed for daily practice. He's an unsung individual and genuinely concerned with the team as a team. Peter's biggest contribution this year was his concern for the team, the way he treated all the guys like teammates, the way he treated all the guys like teammates. He's the man Digger uses to tutor Banot. He shows them the ropes and the philosophy.

"How do I feel when I hear the boos? Well, not too good," answered Peter. "It's pretty demoralizing. I go out there and give it everything I got and to be boxed in and I feel bad. I just can't figure it out. I'm not actually elated over it. I guess you could say I was kind of pleased by it.

Fortunately, Peter Crotty, the third senior had fouled out at this point, for had the students not shown equal appreciation for Peter's efforts, it would have added insult to the already unfair injury he received all year. Crotty may perhaps be the hardest working member of this year's squad, something most of the fans hardly recognize since the arena is seldom packed for daily practice. He's an unsung individual and genuinely concerned with the team as a team. Peter's biggest contribution this year was his concern for the team, the way he treated all the guys like teammates, the way he treated all the guys like teammates. He's the man Digger uses to tutor Banot. He shows them the ropes and the philosophy.

"How do I feel when I hear the boos? Well, not too good," answered Peter. "It's pretty demoralizing. I go out there and give it everything I got and to be boxed in and I feel bad. I just can't figure it out. I'm not actually elated over it. I guess you could say I was kind of pleased by it.

Fortunately, Peter Crotty, the third senior had fouled out at this point, for had the students not shown equal appreciation for Peter's efforts, it would have added insult to the already unfair injury he received all year. Crotty may perhaps be the hardest working member of this year's squad, something most of the fans hardly recognize since the arena is seldom packed for daily practice. He's an unsung individual and genuinely concerned with the team as a team. Peter's biggest contribution this year was his concern for the team, the way he treated all the guys like teammates, the way he treated all the guys like teammates. He's the man Digger uses to tutor Banot. He shows them the ropes and the philosophy.

"How do I feel when I hear the boos? Well, not too good," answered Peter. "It's pretty demoralizing. I go out there and give it everything I got and to be boxed in and I feel bad. I just can't figure it out. I'm not actually elated over it. I guess you could say I was kind of pleased by it.

Fortunately, Peter Crotty, the third senior had fouled out at this point, for had the students not shown equal appreciation for Peter's efforts, it would have added insult to the already unfair injury he received all year. Crotty may perhaps be the hardest working member of this year's squad, something most of the fans hardly recognize since the arena is seldom packed for daily practice. He's an unsung individual and genuinely concerned with the team as a team. Peter's biggest contribution this year was his concern for the team, the way he treated all the guys like teammates, the way he treated all the guys like teammates. He's the man Digger uses to tutor Banot. He shows them the ropes and the philosophy.

"How do I feel when I hear the boos? Well, not too good," answered Peter. "It's pretty demoralizing. I go out there and give it everything I got and to be boxed in and I feel bad. I just can't figure it out. I'm not actually elated over it. I guess you could say I was kind of pleased by it.

Fortunately, Peter Crotty, the third senior had fouled out at this point, for had the students not shown equal appreciation for Peter's efforts, it would have added insult to the already unfair injury he received all year. Crotty may perhaps be the hardest working member of this year's squad, something most of the fans hardly recognize since the arena is seldom packed for daily practice. He's an unsung individual and genuinely concerned with the team as a team. Peter's biggest contribution this year was his concern for the team, the way he treated all the guys like teammates, the way he treated all the guys like teammates. He's the man Digger uses to tutor Banot. He shows them the ropes and the philosophy.

"How do I feel when I hear the boos? Well, not too good," answered Peter. "It's pretty demoralizing. I go out there and give it everything I got and to be boxed in and I feel bad. I just can't figure it out. I'm not actually elated over it. I guess you could say I was kind of pleased by it.