Beverage bottles, cans prohibited in stadium

By Terry Keeney
Editor-in-Chief

James Roemer, dean of students, yesterday directed athletic department officials to prohibit students from bringing beverage bottles and cans into Notre Dame stadium.

In a directive to Robert Cahill, athletic department business manager, Roemer noted that local police be stationed at each student entrance to turn away students carrying bottles and cans.

The purpose of the directive is to improve student conduct at home football games by limiting the amount of alcoholic beverages taken into the stadium by students. Roemer said.

Roemer said he was concerned about incidents of can- and bottle-throwing at Saturday’s football game. Although the directive applies to all cans and bottles, whether alcoholic or not, it will serve to enforce the University regulation which requires the drinking of alcohol to the private dorm room.

Police are being instructed before Saturday’s game to turn back students with cans or bottles,” Roemer said.

No searches

He emphasized that students will not be searched as they enter the stadium. Fr. Terrence Lally, assistant vice president for Student Affairs, agreed.”I think the directive is pretty ordinary,” Lally said. “Obviously, we are not looking for a frisk job or a pat-down.”

If anyone is asked to remove a beverage, they will be told to return to the car.”

Cahill emphasized that the directive is not an “emergency measure.” He pointed out that about 50 South Bend police are normally assigned control crowd duties during the football game. Cahill said stadium regulations prohibit alcoholic beverages anyway.

In the decision of the dean of students want to enforce the regulation more rigidly, I told him we’d help him,” Cahill said.

Applies only to students

Roemer explained that his directive will have no effect on non-students who may bring beer or wine into the stadium. Roemer said he has no jurisdiction over the conduct of non-students and cited the difficulty in placing police at all stadium entrances.

Arthur Pearls, director of security, said his force ordinarily confiscates any alcoholic beverages that are taken into the stadium.

“As far as liquor and beer go, the ushers watch that very closely,” he said. “Bottles and cans are confiscated and returned at the end of the game.”

Cahill said that fans receiving general admission tickets through the mail are warned that alcoholic beverages are prohibited on stadium property.

Difficult to enforce

Cahill foresees potential problems in enforcing Roemer’s orders. “The stadium environment “a jungle,” Cahill cited the problem of stopping students who have been drinking.

“If someone is already drinking, it’s likely to be a hassle.” Cahill predicted.

Because of the large crowd, guards at the gate may have difficulty stopping all students with bottles or cans. “It’s hard to give individual attention,” Cahill said.

Women’s Athletic Association Program

In a provision of the 1964 Civil Rights Act, the federal government could cut off financial support to educational programs that involve discrimination. Title VI of this act defined that there be no discrimination of race, color, or national origin. It did not include sex discrimination.

Title IX of the 1972 Educational Amendments was first proposed in 1972, but the federal government did not enforce it until 1974 when the proposed regulations were published.

Nearly 10,000 public comments were received during a four month period in 1972. It is no way to satisfy all of the people all of the time.

The issue most under attack was the athletic provision. The original provision was modified several times, but the basic requirement remained—namely, that schools must be compliant with the law.

Women’s Athletic Program

Astrid Hotvedt was hired last year for the physical education department, and was made coordinator of women’s athletics this year. Prior to this, no one was in charge of coordinating women’s sports at Notre Dame.

Hotvedt is very enthusiastic of the prospect of women expanding their sports program at the University. “There is plenty of interest around to have an athletic program, and Notre Dame has good facilities so it is not necessary to duplicate expensive equipment or build separate courts,” Hotvedt stated.

She added that Dominick Napolitano, director of non‐ varsity sports, was good about helping the women get their own equipment. “We don’t get hand-me-downs - we get new equipment out of our money,” she said.

Added this year to the established women’s club sports of tennis, golf, basketball, and fencing, was field hockey. Hotvedt coaches this team, which is an outgrowth of an interest group started last year.

So far there are 30 women on the squad, ranging from freshmen to seniors with highly developed skills to the novice level. “There were 50 spectators at our first game, and they all seemed to like it,” commented Hotvedt.

Napolitano also sees the women’s program coming along. “It started slowly, but the interest has gone up,” he said. “I want the best for the girls.”

Napolitano sees no real problems, and he doesn’t anticipate any difficulty in placing police at all stadium entrances. But the issue most under attack was the athletic provision. The original provision was modified several times, but the basic requirement remained—namely, that schools must be compliant with the law.

WASHINGTON (AP) — Domestic oil price controls were extended to Nov. 15 on Monday when President Ford signed the energy bill, which would have forced Congress to vote on new oil price controls for the next few years.

The move, which was supported by the National Petroleum Council, is designed to limit the impact of rising oil prices on the U.S. economy.

However, some lawmakers have expressed concerns about the potential for the measure to lead to higher inflation and reduced economic growth.

In other news, the U.S. Department of Energy announced that it would provide $2 billion in loan guarantees to support the construction of new oil refineries in the United States.

Former mental patient describes patient abuse

WASHINGTON (AP) — Former mental patient whose legal rights were not protected by court proceedings, Iafortune has been released from a mental hospital after being held for 15 years.

The patient, who is a former college student, was held in a mental hospital for nearly 15 years, during which time he was confined to a wheelchair and was given medication that left him unable to function normally.

The case has gained attention in recent years as it highlights the need for improved mental health care and protection for individuals with mental illnesses.

The patient, who is now a college student, has spoken out about his experiences in the mental health system, calling for greater awareness and support for mental health issues.

In other news, the American Psychological Association announced that it would be increasing its funding for mental health research and supporting initiatives to improve mental health care.

Homecoming dance plans set

by Ken Bradford
Copy Editor

Tickets to the Oct. 24 Homecoming Dance will go on sale this week, according to plans released yesterday by Homecoming Chairman, Bobi Furlong.

Also highlighted Homecoming Week will be the Southern California football game and the homecoming ticket packages including: dance, concert and football tickets were sold out Friday morning.

The homecoming theme is "World of Fantasy," according to Shaheen, who cited decoration plans for the Stepan Center dance. "Music for the dance will be Sahara, a group from Chicago. In the refreshment plans are cheese, apples, bread, pretzels and soda," Shaheen said.

Beer Garden Double

Efforts to provide a beer garden at the dance are in the negotiation stage, according to Student Union Director Tom Biricx. He termed the chances of such a facility "still doubtful."

"The dance will be for couples only and dress will be semi-formal. "That means a jacket and tie are not required but are certainly acceptable," Shaheen noted. "Long gowns or regular skirts will be acceptable for women."

"This is not supposed to be a blue-jeans dance," he added.

"Tickets for the dance will be sold at the dining halls at Notre Dame and St. Mary's. Tickets will not be available at the ticket offices, Shaheen said.

There is no limit on the number of tickets to be sold. "There will be ample food for 1,300 people," Shaheen said.

"Dance to Lose Money"

Bursic and Shaheen agreed that the dance will lose money for Student Government. Bursic estimated the loss will be $500.

"The committee decided not to raise the ticket price to six dollars for the dance because they thought a higher price would hurt attendance."

"Now it's not as expensive as a formal, but it will be much better than a mixer," Shaheen said. "It won't be just another dance."

"We'll be using a lot of rareness at this dance. We'll spend hundreds of dollars in decorations."

"We believe that people who come to the dance will get their money's worth. There will be good decorations, good music and good food," he said.

Hopes for Unique Week

Lea Garonski, assistant homecoming chairman, said the more elaborate dance is indicative of the committee's desire for a unique homecoming week.

"The homecoming celebration has faltered in the last few years," Garonski said. "We hope this year's homecoming will receive an enthusiastic response."

"The dance will follow an outdoor pep rally on the South Quad, Bursic said. Also featured during the weekend is a hall-decorating contest, with a first prize of $100." Biricx said some bleacher tickets are still available for the Beach Boys concert. All football tickets have been sold, he added.

"Ticket Sales Went Well"

Friday's sale of homecoming ticket packages in Stepan Center went extremely well, he noted. Two-hundred and thirty packages, each containing two football tickets, two concert tickets and a dance ticket, were sold in less than 90 minutes, Bursic said. The Student Union has received few complaints about the handling of this year's homecoming ticket sales, Biricx said. In 1973, the student union director, Jim Rybak, was fired after his administration kept 24 of the 350 football tickets allotted for homecoming sales.

This year, the Student Union kept only 16 ticket packages -- 20 football tickets, 23 concert tickets and 16 dance tickets -- Biricx said. He said four of the packages have been kept for various dignitaries who tentatively plan to be on campus during homecoming weekend. The other packages were distributed to Student Union officials whose parents are coming down for the game, he added.

St. Mary's new infirmary boasts many improvements over last year's outdated medical facility. The new seven-room facility, located on the ground level of Holy Cross Hall, includes a kitchen, two modern examination rooms and four treatment rooms complete with coffee tables and magazines.

The infirmary also has a bed capacity of eight and is fully carpeted.

Last year the infirmary was located on the third floor of LeMans but was separated by a few rooms from the actual nurses' station. Meals had to be brought from the dining hall on trays. The entire facility was much smaller.

This new infirmary treats minor illnesses 24 hours a day. Serious cases are handled by a doctor, from 8 a.m. through Friday or referred to either St. Mary's or St. Joseph's Hospitals.

"It's larger," explained Mrs. Cichak, the registered nurse on duty. "There's much more space. The infirmary rooms are larger and the physical surroundings are much nicer than in the other." She added, and I think the girls are much more aware of health services."

While having a sprained finger examined, junior Donna Usher commented, "Compared to last year's infirmary this one is unbelievably good."

It's huge, and even has a kitchen, she added. I think it's much more pleasant to come to when you're sick."

"Everyone agrees it's a lot better," observed Cichak. "It's not that last year's was bad, just that the new one is nicer."

She added, "It's easier to find and the girls are much more willing to check in when they're sick."

Fights blindness virus

NEW YORK (AP) — A new virus-hunting drug shows promise of knocking out the virus that causes both blindness and a hereofore incurable venereal disease, a Harvard scientist said Monday.

The virus is Herpes simplex, also the cause of "cold sores" and fever blisters.

When Herpes Type One infects eyes, it can cause blindness by damaging the cornea or window of the eye.

Herpes Type Two is a leading cause of genital herpes, especially painful in women and threatening death or damage to their babies who may become infected during birth. It's been called incurable in the sense that no drug has been able to penetrate deeply enough into body tissue where the virus "hides" between attacks or outbreaks.

The new drug can penetrate deeply into tissues and in rabbits has proved very effective against herpes infections of the eyes and genitals, said Dr. Deborah Pavan Langston, 35.

Dr. Langston received the Research to Prevent Blindness-Weil Foundation Award on Monday. She said she would use the $25,000 award to begin human trials of the new drug for eye infections.

She indicated tests for venereal infections are planned, too.

The new drug is named ARA-AMP and was developed by Dr. Langston and biochemists of Parke-Davis Co. in Detroit.

She termed it an improved version of another which is expected to be approved soon by the Food and Drug Administra tion under the name Vidar base.

DETOUT (AP) - Contact was not established Monday with a mysterious underworld informer who says he knows where the body of ex-Teamsters boss Jimmy Hoffa is buried, investigators said.

Officials of police and FBI agents spent the weekend digging in a swampy field 25 miles north of Detroit for the remains of Hoffa after receiving new information about Hoffa's death, although his son said there was no proof that Hoffa had been assassinated.

William B. Garlinaro, a Senate Crime Committee investigator, said he re-established contact with the informant Monday after being cut off last week.

Investigators say they gave the informant a list of questions relating to the exact location of Hoffa's body and were waiting for answers before proceeding.

Ali and Frazier set to tangle in Manila

MANILA (AP) - Muhammad Ali vs. Joe Frazier, one of boxing's greatest rivalries, is set to close here Wednesday morning, 41 years after former heavyweight champion Joe Louis knocked out Max Schmeling miles away.

Ali, 73, is the only two-time heavyweight champion. He knocked out ex-champion George Foreman in 1974, setting the stage for his final showdown. Frazier, 57, fought to a draw with Ali in 1971 and is coming off a loss to Larry Holmes in 1980.

Frazier's 1971 victory was a turning point in Ali's career. It marked the first time he had been knocked down in a professional fight. Ali, 34 at the time, was downed on the final bell and was assumed to have lost the fight to Frazier, 28 at the time. However, seconds later, the referee reversed his decision, giving Ali the win.

GLENDALE, Calif. (AP) -- Casey Stengel, 96, was admitted to Glendale Memorial Hospital two weeks ago, had his position as baseball Hall of Fame great, was reported gravely ill Monday with cancer of the lymph glands. The illness was described as probably terminal.

A family spokesman said Stengel, 96, who was admitted to Glendale Memorial Hospital on June 30, was in hospice care in his home in Glendale, Calif. Stengel was a player before becoming a manager and a coach in the major leagues. He managed the New York Yankees to seven World Series championships and seven American League pennants and seven World Series championships. Later he was the manager of the New York Mets.
