Hesburgh cites universities' role

In the annual faculty address, University President Fr. Theodore Hesburgh stated that universities are obligated to prepare people so that they can face today's problems.

"Universities have the center of the growth of knowledge, culture, and civilization. Moral judgment is one area where responsibility is needed," stated Hesburgh.

"To understand the need for those problems," stated Hesburgh.

Professor Terry Toddy, who has been teaching for almost 30 years at Harvard University, said that he was glad that if there was something wrong with the previous election that it was going to be corrected.

However, she commented that she was unsure of how to go about campaigning a second time, especially when the rules are unclear.

Joan McDermott, SMC Student Body President, has called for new freshmen elections because of alleged campaign violations.

Rules Not Clear

Debbie Spangler, another presidential hopeful, said that she knew nothing about the rules.

"That's why I'm running," she said.

Another candidate, Jill Plumb, felt that the new rules were fair and just because they seemed to reflect the campaign rules.

She also felt that the rules had been explained well enough.

"I have read them over and over," she said.

Another student felt that the rules should have been made clearer from the beginning. Yet another student felt that the rules "were organized and the rules weren't made clear.

President George Meany said the International Longshoremen's Association dropped its embargo on loading grain for Soviet ports.

"This is a good news for American consumers and farmers," Meany said of the deal.

The terms provide for the following:

1. The U.S. government will buy a minimum of six million metric tons of wheat and corn each year with an option to buy an additional two million tons without government-to-government consultation.

2. The U.S. government would amount to more than seven million metric tons since the Russians have been buying from other sources during the American moratorium. He said the overall impact on bread prices would be negligible, amounting to about one penny on a 45-

The current U.S. feed grain crop, which does not include corn and wheat, is 136.6 million metric tons. Corn production is at a record 167.2 million metric tons with wheat also at a record 58.2 million tons.

At faculty address

Hesburgh cites universities' role

by Valerie Zarebinski
Senior Staff Reporter

FR. HESBURGH predicted that changes will come and contrast mankind with moral challenges in his annual faculty address. (Photo by Tony Chilari)

Five-year grain deal set by U.S., Russia

WASHINGTON (AP) - The White House announced Monday a five-year grain deal with the Soviet Union providing for the purchase of at least six million metric tons of wheat and corn annually at prevailing market prices.

Officials estimated the deal's worth at about $1 billion a year. It was hailed by President Ford as "a positive step" in relations between the two superpowers and one that would benefit American workers and consumers.

In a parallel move, the Soviet Union agreed to offer for sale 200,000 barrels of crude oil and other petroleum products a day over the five-year period. Negotiations on final terms are to be completed later this month.

There was no immediate indication on whether the oil would be sold below the cartel price fixed by the 13-nation Organization of Petroleum Exporting Countries (OPEC) and that is not very much lower than a 90-

The new deal has an option to buy an additional two million tons without government-to-government consultation.

The U.S. government reserved the right to reduce the quantity to be sold in any one crop year if the estimated total U.S. grain stockpile is less than 220 million tons.

The U.S. government promised to try to space their purchases and shipments as evenly as possible over each year and to pay any additional sales undertaken from the current crop out of any surplus to disrupt the U.S. market.

Secretary of Agriculture Earl Butz estimated additional grain sales this year would amount to no more than seven million metric tons since the Russians have been buying from other sources during the American moratorium. He said the overall impact on bread prices would be negligible, amounting to about one penny on a 45-

Butz estimated the additional grain sales this year would amount to no more than seven million metric tons since the Russians have been buying from other sources during the American moratorium. He said the overall impact on bread prices would be negligible, amounting to about one penny on a 45-

The current U.S. feed grain crop, which does not include corn and wheat, is 136.6 million metric tons. Corn production is at a record 167.2 million metric tons with wheat also at a record 58.2 million tons.

W. The new deal has an option to buy an additional two million tons without government-to-government consultation.

The U.S. government reserved the right to reduce the quantity to be sold in any one crop year if the estimated total U.S. grain stockpile is less than 220 million tons.

The U.S. government promised to try to space their purchases and shipments as evenly as possible over each year and to pay any additional sales undertaken from the current crop out of any surplus to disrupt the U.S. market.

Secretary of Agriculture Earl Butz estimated additional grain sales this year would amount to no more than seven million metric tons since the Russians have been buying from other sources during the American moratorium. He said the overall impact on bread prices would be negligible, amounting to about one penny on a 45-

The current U.S. feed grain crop, which does not include corn and wheat, is 136.6 million metric tons. Corn production is at a record 167.2 million metric tons with wheat also at a record 58.2 million tons.
world briefs

NEW YORK, NEW YORK (AP) - Gov. Hugh L. Carey, meeting Monday with the state board that controls New York’s finances, said the panel is striving to cut the city’s deficit-ridden budget while fending off the possible number of municipal employees.

Carey said members had reached “substantial agreement” on how to get thousands of persons off the payroll as painlessly as possible.

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) - Spain asked the Security Council on Monday to call urgently upon King Hassan II of Morocco to hold up a proposed march of 350,000 unarmed civilians into mineral-rich disputed Spanish Sahara.

Gsta Rata offered a resolution supporting the Spanish request, but Moroccan Ambassador Driss Slabout urged the council to postpone indefinitely to await negotiations among the parties to settle the problem.

WASHING TON (AP) - President Ford is suffering from a sinus cold and slight fever that kept him from the Oval Office Monday for the first time since he became president.

Press Secretary Ron Nessen, who announced Ford’s illness, said the President “generally feels good except for nasal congestion and coughing,” and gave assurances there was nothing more seriously wrong.

on campus today

3:30 pm - computer course, “CSPM IBM’s continuous simulation modeling prog., rm. 115, computer cent.

5:15 pm - vespers, evensong vespers, log chapel.

7:30 pm - meeting, charismatic prayer, latorfune rathskeller.

7:30 pm - movie, “up the sandbox,” streisand festival, o’laugh, aud., sec. soc. comm., $1.25.

8, 10 pm - movie, “wild strawberries,” borgman festival, eng. aud., etc., $1.25.

8 pm - discussion, “the chilean experience: a round table discussion,” room 1201, library.

8 pm - discussion, energy conference, lib. aud., u.s. academic comm.

Collective bargaining to be discussed Thursday

by Joe Gill
Staff Reporter

Fred Huepp, a professor at St. John’s University, will address members of the faculty on the pros and cons of collective bargaining Thursday evening at the University Club.

James Cashing, chairman of the Faculty Senate committee on collective bargaining, said “Professor Huepp was it in the beginning process of the fewest collective bargaining at St. John’s and is very active in it.”

“Professor Huepp will be given the opportunity to present what processes are involved, and what is good and bad about them,” he stated.

The meeting is sponsored by the American Association of University Professors (AAUP) as a result of the bill passed at a Faculty Senate meeting last month.

The bill provided that two speakers from campuses which participate in collective bargaining and one speaker from the National chapter of the AAUP would address the Faculty Senate.

Huepp is the first of these speakers.

The meeting will begin at 7:30, and the format includes Huepp’s speech; a panel discussion and a general question period. Cashing explained that the panel is “prepared to ask questions that are both pro and con collective bargaining.”

John Houch, one of the members of the panel, pointed out, “The purpose of the meeting is informal, and each faculty member will later have to decide for himself about what choice is best for this university, as opposed to St. John’s.”

United Way auction held to be tonight in SMC dining hall

by Kathy Byrne
Staff Reporter

St. Mary’s College will hold its third annual auction for the United Way Fund tonight during dinner in the Dining Hall.

“I can’t say enough about the success of the cause” said Cathy Coyne, student chairperson of the event.

Some of the items to be auctioned off are steak dinners for two at the Library, Ponderosa, The Mark and Albert Pick; an antique beer tap from the Rathskeller Center; gift certificates from Pier One, Dainty Maid, Jenifer’s and McDonald’s.

Mark Blambeneck, chemistry professor, will serve as auctioneer.

There will be many other items auctioned including several cases of beer.

Only administration and faculty members are eligible to bid on the beer.

“The prospect of faculty fighting over the beer will hopefully induce some excitement,” Coyne commented.

A goal of $5,000 has been set by St. Mary’s this year. Although the auction is the major part of the drive, administration and faculty members have signed pledge cards for the drive.

Instead of asking the student body to contribute a dollar each, we have the auction,” Coyne explained.

A short movie explaining various United Way projects will be shown at ten minute intervals during the auction.

Many of the United Way projects

THE POSTER PLACE

100 11x17 POSTERS only $10.00

insty-prints

203 N. MAIN ST.

SOUTH BEND 289-6977

Notre Dame-Saint Mary’s Theatre

Tickets for:

Anna Cora Mowatt’s “FASHION”

Oct. 20, 21 at 7:30 in Moreau Little Theatre (St. Mary’s). (Call backs Oct. 22) Open to all ND-SMC students. Copies of play available in speech and drama offices in Moreau and Washington Halls.

ENERGY CONFERENCE

TUES. OCT. 21 8:00 PM

LIBRARY AUDIT.

Mr. C. Hollis
“Introduction and Economic Energy”

Mr. J. O’Connor
“Solar Energy”

Dr. T. Cashman
“Wind Energy”

WED. OCT. 22 8:00 pm

WASHINGTON HALL

Dr. H. Degraff
“Human Energy”

Dr. J. Albert
“Reclaimed Resources”

THURS. OCT. 23 8:00 pm

LIBRARY AUDIT.

Mr. C. Hullwolfe
“Free Enterprise Approach to Public Policy”

Mr. D. Morris
“Systematic Approach to Public Policy”
In the courtroom

Murder suspect shot by victim's daughter

INDIANAPOLIS - A man charged with murder in his father-in-law's death was shot to death in a crowded courtroom Monday by the dead man's daughter, police said— it was a "family feud." The victim, Kathleen Sanders, 34, Indianapolis, was shot once in the lower back as he and a brother stood with relatives and witnesses awaiting arraignment on first degree murder charges. He died about an hour later in a hospital emergency room.

"Police charged Sanders' sister-in-law, Harriette Roberta Jones, 26, Indianapolis, with murder." (continued from page 1)

Doctor opposes euthanasia

MIDDLETOWN, S. J. (AP) — Karen Ann Quinlan's doctor testified Monday that the comatose young woman "reacts to sound, smell and pain," and is "possibly competent to discontinue artificial respirator that has kept her breathing for the past six months." Dr. Robert J. Bruce was the first witness in a trial to decide whether Miss Quinlan's parents can remove the respirator and allow her to die "in a vegetative state with dignity." The Quinlans have said there is no hope for recovery.

In his opening statement, Bruce's attorney, Ralph Perino likened the Quinlan suit to the Nazi atrocities and gas chambers of World War II. He then said that a respirator has been asked to "predicate a death sentence on the quality of life and death." Whether does it show the time" in deciding if a person's existence is futile that life should be ended.

The trial in this northern New Jersey city is expected to last about two weeks. Superior Court Judge Robert Muir is presiding.

Morse testified: "I would not discriminate her from the respirator. She is not dead by any medical criteria."

Morse, who has been Miss Quinlan's doctor for all but the first three days of her coma, characterized her as a person whose body acts as a vegetative state who has no idea of what is happening around her.

"When you go to a zoo and see the animals, food it comes over by instinct — Karen doesn't move. I have never seen her recognize me. Except for an art of food, she can't live a functional life."

However, Morse said that by current medical definitions of death, Miss Quinlan is alive and that there are times when she can breathe without the respirator fastened to her throat.

"No research I've done has shown any reason to stop treatment," the doctor said. "Mr. and Mrs. Joseph T. Quinlan, the girl's adoptive parents, were in court accompanied by three Roman Catholic priests. An attorney who has described himself as devout Catholic Miss Quinlan has been in a coma in St. Clare's Hospital since April. Dr. and Mrs. Joseph T. Quinlan have described themselves as devout Catholics. Miss Quinlan has been in a coma in St. Clare's Hospital since April. Dr. and Mrs. Joseph T. Quinlan have described themselves as devout Catholics. Miss Quinlan has been in a coma in St. Clare's Hospital since April. Dr. and Mrs. Joseph T. Quinlan have described themselves as devout Catholics.

All sides in the case agree that Karen is alive, and for that reason the court is clear as the cause of death. Doctors say she is alive by all medical standards, including brain activity as shown by electroencephalogram monitoring.

Because Miss Quinlan is comatose and therefore mentally incompetent, the court is being asked to let her adoptive father decide to remove the respirator that is keeping her in a vegetative state with dignity, the attorneys said.

Hesburgh: coedulation elevates student quality

Concerning ethnic student body, Hesburgh said that this year there are over 400 minority students attending Notre Dame. Twenty-five percent are women and 35 percent are in the top ten of their grade close.

Notre Dame also gave some statistics on the incoming freshman. Not all students were found that 51 percent of the class as 44 percent of the women, giving a total of 20 percent, "We also have the largest pool of students ever in the top 10 percent, stated Hesburgh.

Notre Dame added that 82 percent of women and 91 percent of men are in the top 20 percent.

Co-Education

"The outcome will be that we will diversify the student body and elevate the quality of the students," remarked Hesburgh.

Notre Dame recounted that Notre Dame has a relatively smooth passage into the co-educational status. But is it more civilized now" joked Hesburgh.

"Notre Dame, which is named after a woman, will graduate a well-educated woman who will nourish our society even more than any of them have in the past," stated Hesburgh.

Hesburgh wants to raise Notre Dame to a higher performance in the future. In the future, enormous financial challenges and spiritual problems are to be faced. "I pray that all of us may meet this challenge and fulfill the promise of this place," stated Hesburgh.

Hesburgh had been beaten by Nathaniel".

The "New York Times" quoted a witness in the courtroom Monday, who asked not to be identified as saying, "Mrs. Jones was extremely nervous" before the ar- raignment began. "She kept saying we should do something about these people getting out on bond," the witness said.

LIBRARY ANNOUNCEMENTS

PRE-ST. CALL WARM-UP TUESDAY NIGHT

MIXED DRINKS $.50

ALL PIZZAS $2.00

ALSO: 100 SHORT SLEEVE JERSEYS TO BE GIVEN AWAY

Compliments of The General Store. Where fashion is keynote.

TUES. "Wild Strawberries" - 8 & 10
WED. "The Silence" - 8 & 10
FRI. "Cries & Whispers" - 7 & 10
ENGINEERING AUDITORIUM ADMISSION FREE CINEMA 76

A career in law—without law school.

What can you do with only a bachelor's degree? Now there is a way to bridge the gap between undergraduate education and a challenging, responsible career. The Lawyer's Assistant is able to do work traditionally done by lawyers.

Three months of intensive training can give you the skills—the courses are taught by banks, and corporations in over 80 cities.

If you are a student of academic standing and are interested in a career as a Lawyer's Assis- tant, we'd like to meet you.

Contact your placement office for an interview with our representative.

We will visit your campus on WEDNESDAY, NOVEMBER 12

The Institute for Paralegal Training
230 South 17th Street, Philadelphia, Pennsylvania 19103 (215) 732-9600

-CHIMES-

NOW ACCEPTING Fiction, Non-Fiction, Poetry, Photography and Art for Spring Publication.

DEADLINE is December 1st.

SUBMIT TO: Chimes c/o Max Westler 311 Madison SMC

All Work Will Be Returned.

WE WILL VISIT YOUR COLLEGE ON

WEDNESDAY, NOVEMBER 12

The Institute for Paralegal Training
230 South 17th Street, Philadelphia, Pennsylvania 19103 (215) 732-9600

-CHIMES-

NOW ACCEPTING Fiction, Non-Fiction, Poetry, Photography and Art for Spring Publication.

DEADLINE is December 1st.

SUBMIT TO: Chimes c/o Max Westler 311 Madison SMC

All Work Will Be Returned.
Dear Editor:

On October 1, 1975, the Notre Dame Student Government denied L.I.F.E. the funds for its activities. This action is a denial of the right of the students to organize and express their ideas.

L.I.F.E. is an organization that has been active on campus for several years. We have been successful in raising money for our activities and have been granted funds by the Student Government in the past. However, this year, our request for funds was denied.

The denial of funds is not an isolated incident. In fact, this is the third year in a row that we have been refused money. In the past two years, we have been refused money as well, and we have been refused money again this year.

We are an issue-oriented group, and we believe that our organization is necessary for the students to express their views and to participate in the decision-making process on campus.

The denial of funds is not about money, but about the right of the students to express their views. We believe that the denial of funds is a violation of our rights as students.

Yours sincerely,

Joseph Vitale
Corporal
Gregg Bangs

"Professional" is a fitting description for the Chicago concert last night at the A.C.C. From a stylistic and format to a good-natured rapport with a very enthusiastic audience, the well-seasoned group put on a slick performance. Playing two sets of roughly one hour each, Chicago mixed new and old material with posturing aplenty. After opening with a newer piece, the group proceeded into "Does Anybody Know What Time It Is?" which was of course a very popular song. This latter was followed by a new composition of lead guitarist Terry Kath which was then another familiar song. This format was adhered to throughout the show and proved to be successful. Not only did it mix old with new, but it kept the audience in touch throughout the performance.

Another aspect of the show that kept the audience in touch was the stage presence of the group. Collectively and individually, Chicago was a very interesting group in both watch and listen. When performing their better known songs, the attention generally shifted to the lead vocalists who were either guitarist Kath, bass player Peter Cetera or keyboard man Robert Lamm. Lamm, who along with Kath writes most of Chicago's material, handles the middle range of Chicago's vocal harmonies as well as singing leads in such songs as "Does Anybody Know..." In addition to his singing, Lamm was competent on several keyboard instruments he played throughout the night. The addition of a synthesizer to his repertoire added a different, but interesting approach to Chicago's usual jazzy brass sound.

If Lamm supplied the middle range vocals, then Kath was the lower end of the scale. His leading vocals was the ever familiar "Colour My World," and he delivered a strong lead guitar solo in the show closing "25 or 6 to 4." Cetera is in the high strata of the trio and sang to the lead vocal in most of their newer hits which included, among others, "Old Days" and "Feelin' Stoned Every Day." Cetera played a steady bass throughout and zoomed around every corner of the stage, seemingly making sure everybody in the audience got to see some part of the band.

The group also made sure they got to show off their instrumental talents, particularly in the second half of the show. One of the first songs in this set was "Hypertone" a song designed to let each member of the band take a solo. Walter Parazaider, who all too often is just known as the flutist in "Colour My World," gave a fine sax solo which gave way to the high strained trumpet of Lee Loughnane.

Loughnane has some kind of endurance—he went the whole show at full blast playing generally hard notes and didn't falter once. However, the song was stolen by drummer Danny Seraphine who gave an incredibly fast, clean and interesting solo that never came close to lapsing into boredom. The solo is one of the reasons that Chicago is so sure, especially in the collaboration with percussionist Lamm. Seraphine's ample jazz-rock drumming was successful throughout. In the middle of all this was John Pankow who not only played trombone and quite well at that, but also acted as encase and crowd cheerfuler. To say the least, he was successful in all three roles.

The show was not completely perfect. The wind instruments missed a few notes in the beginning and the sound mix was such that Pankow's trombone came out very strongly at first, while Cetera's base was too loud over the large speakers. However, these small details did nothing to dampen the performance which was strong throughout.

Two other plus points for the show were found in its stage and sound set-up. The stage was set up so practicly everybody sitting in front of or to the side of had a good view of the performance. This was, in part, achieved by the raising of the vast majority of column speakers. The raising of the speakers also seemed to project a much clearer sound (especially to the bleacher sections) than the standard.

Chicago knew what the audience wanted to hear. They gave them that and a little more along with a touch of class which added up to fine evening at the A.C.C.

--W.D.

Tuesday, October 21, 1975
the observer

Wilson's, Jardine, Love...here come the beach boys

"When I grow to be a man, Will I dig the same things that turned me on as a kid?" "I'll bet it's back and say that I wish I hadn't done...what I did..."

The Beach Boys

"When I Grow Up (To Be A Man."

"Beach Boys music suspends their own lyrical question about what will things be like...I grow and dig and cherish groovy times listening to Beach Boys grooves."

Beginning with their earliest efforts that certainly were responsible for the worldwide surfing phenomenon—they are at one time made the Fender Telecaster a household word and every boy group necessary—"Carl and the Passions" from Hawthorne, California have been innovators. Their influence in mainstream, "California Girl" is obvious; their recording of "concept" albums set a precedent that has affected many albums of other groups.

"California Girls," which The Beach Boys sang about circa early sixties are now California women. The Beach Boys themselves could be regarded as The Beach Boys but their musical repertoire of hit records re-creates a timeless, a universal, not just yesterday or today, but always. Beach Boys music suspends their own lyrical question about what will things be like...I grow and dig and cherish groovy times listening to Beach Boys grooves.

Naturally, as individuals The Beach Boys have pursued their separate interests ranging from a dedication to the principles of Transcendental Meditation, to acting, and, typically, the energies invested in such endeavors as these are of the same intensity with which The Beach Boys approach their music.

As in any evolving creative effort, there have been changes; and the personnel is as an example. But The Beach Boys of today are the same Beach Boys that changed the sound and shape of American music. Brian Wilson now concentrates his energy in the recording studio and on his writing, while Carl, Dennis, Alan and Michael, along with other carefully selected musicians, devote a large part of their time to playing music on the road.

Capitol Records recently released another LP of Beach Boys timeless tunes aptly called "Spirit of America," which could also be interpreted as the musical heartbeat of America, that is the provocative character that takes the hands off of the clock and makes them clap to the beat of good vibrations, of good times.

That last lyrics line of "Will I Look back and say that I wish I hadn't done what I did," is answered with a rhetoric "No!" from both The Beach Boys and their brigade of faithful followers. This was particularly evident last year when The Beach Boys experienced the biggest growing concert year of their career. The H.G. Wells Time Machine or rather the Wilson Jardine Love machine is as magical, as rejuvenating, and as fresh and energetic as it ever was.
Crime issue highlights S.B. mayoral race

by Cathy Cannon
The observer

The three candidates for mayor of South Bend disagreed on police programs to reduce crime and improve the downtown area in the city.

Development of a citizen’s crime patrol and campaign to attract new business to South Bend are the chief issues being discussed by the Republican candidate for mayor of South Bend.

“The chief problems in South Bend are crime and economic instability,” he explained. Slafkosky added.

Slafkosky, a graduate of Columbia Law School, served as Deputy Prosecuting Attorney for St. Joseph County for four years. He is a former member of the South Bend Common Council and Committee on Economic Development.

Eliminate Patronage

The elimination of patronage politics and a reduction in the city’s budget are the aims of Ronald Kronewitter, Independent candidate for mayor.

“The elimination of patronage appointments will make the city government more efficient,” Kronewitter maintained.

“More efficient government means a budget cut will be possible. I will take a 10 percent cut in salary if elected to demonstrate my good faith on this issue,” he pointed out.

He added, “I want to continue efforts to implement the merit system in the fire and police departments.”

Slafkosky mentioned the election of fire and police chiefs by the respective departments as one possibility.

Kronewitter said he will investigate the possibility of setting up police substations around the city as part of his crime prevention program.

He also said he wants to increase the salaries of policemen and firemen to attract more people to the force.

The improvement of the quality of the police department is a main concern for citizens, Slafkosky said.

Kronewitter opposed the formation of the Neighborhood Assistance Bureau, saying, “I’ve said before specialists should handle special jobs. The police should handle crime.”

Kronewitter does not think the appointment of school board members is a problem.

He said it’s not whether the members are elected or appointed, but that it is who they are.

“I would try to appoint people with recent teaching experience who know what is going on in the schools,” he added.

Kronewitter said he sees no improvement in the quality of life in the downtown area, according to Nemeth.

Kronewitter said he sees no improvement in the quality of life in the downtown area, according to Nemeth.

“I’ve worked to improve my city since the day I decided to run,” he explained.

Slafkosky added he would work for an elected rather than appointed school board.

He added, “With $20 million a year, the school board should be directly accountable to the voters since the money comes from their property taxes.”

Slafkosky criticized his Democratic opponent Peter Nemeth for wanting to eliminate the office of Public Safety Director.

He observed, “Since the police and fire departments receive 40 percent of the city’s budget, they need someone to plan and coordinate their activities.”

Slafkosky served as city GOP chairman and as a precinct committeeman for the past three years. He graduated in 1960 from Notre Dame, and played professional football for two years before retiring to become a sales representative.

Crime, underdevelopment of the downtown area and urban blight are South Bend’s major problems according to Peter Nemeth, Democratic candidate for mayor.

Nemeth’s Proposals

Nemeth’s program for fighting these problems includes upgrading the efficiency of the police department, providing free parking downtown, attracting new business to the area and developing laws such as the fast track for abandoned buildings.

Nemeth served as city attorney and as a precinct committeeman for the past three years. He has been a member of the police department since 1960.

He also criticized the Neighborhood Assistance Bureau, saying the money spent on improving the police department.

He explained where similar programs were implemented elsewhere, the event was high, but fell off.

He added the danger exists that the event will turn into an illegitimate group.

Nemeth defended his proposal to eliminate the office of city Public Safety Director.

He stated, “It is a useless layer of bureaucracy. With 50 percent of the city’s budget going to the fire and police departments, they should deal directly with the mayor, not go between.”

Nemeth favors appointed school boards over elected ones.

However, he added, “I do think the appointment process should be upgraded so that a larger cross-section of the community will be represented.”

If the citizens want an elected school board, there is a legal process they can follow to get one.

If this happens I would certainly support it,” he added.

Nemeth, a graduate of Columbia Law School, served as Deputy Prosecuting Attorney for St. Joseph County for four years.

Newspaper is the construction of a new Juvenile Detention Center.

Kronewitter opposed the formation of the Neighborhood Assistance Bureau, saying, “I’ve said before specialists should handle special jobs. The police should handle crime.”

Kronewitter does not think the appointment of school board members is a problem.

He said it’s not whether the members are elected or appointed, but that it is who they are.

“I would try to appoint people with recent teaching experience who know what is going on in the schools,” he added.

Kronewitter said he sees no improvement in the quality of life in the downtown area, according to Nemeth.

Kronewitter said he sees no improvement in the quality of life in the downtown area, according to Nemeth.

“I’ve worked to improve my city since the day I decided to run,” he explained.

Slafkosky added he would work for an elected rather than appointed school board.

He added, “With $20 million a year, the school board should be directly accountable to the voters since the money comes from their property taxes.”

Slafkosky criticized his Democratic opponent Peter Nemeth for wanting to eliminate the office of Public Safety Director.

He observed, “Since the police and fire departments receive 40 percent of the city’s budget, they need someone to plan and coordinate their activities.”

Slafkosky served as city GOP chairman and as a precinct committeeman for the past three years. He graduated in 1960 from Notre Dame, and played professional football for two years before retiring to become a sales representative.

Crime, underdevelopment of the downtown area and urban blight are South Bend’s major problems according to Peter Nemeth, Democratic candidate for mayor.

Nemeth’s Proposals

Nemeth’s program for fighting these problems includes upgrading the efficiency of the police department, providing free parking downtown, attracting new business to the area and developing laws such as the fast track for abandoned buildings.

Nemeth served as city attorney and as a precinct committeeman for the past three years. He has been a member of the police department since 1960.

He also criticized the Neighborhood Assistance Bureau, saying the money spent on improving the police department.

He explained where similar programs were implemented elsewhere, the event was high, but fell off.

He added the danger exists that the event will turn into an illegitimate group.

Nemeth defended his proposal to eliminate the office of city Public Safety Director.

He stated, “It is a useless layer of bureaucracy. With 50 percent of the city’s budget going to the fire and police departments, they should deal directly with the mayor, not go between.”

Nemeth favors appointed school boards over elected ones.

However, he added, “I do think the appointment process should be upgraded so that a larger cross-section of the community will be represented.”

If the citizens want an elected school board, there is a legal process they can follow to get one.

If this happens I would certainly support it,” he added.

Nemeth, a graduate of Columbia Law School, served as Deputy Prosecuting Attorney for St. Joseph County for four years.

Newspaper is the construction of a new Juvenile Detention Center.

Kronewitter opposed the formation of the Neighborhood Assistance Bureau, saying, “I’ve said before specialists should handle special jobs. The police should handle crime.”

Kronewitter does not think the appointment of school board members is a problem.

He said it’s not whether the members are elected or appointed, but that it is who they are.

“I would try to appoint people with recent teaching experience who know what is going on in the schools,” he added.

Kronewitter said he sees no improvement in the quality of life in the downtown area, according to Nemeth.

Kronewitter said he sees no improvement in the quality of life in the downtown area, according to Nemeth.

“I’ve worked to improve my city since the day I decided to run,” he explained.

Slafkosky added he would work for an elected rather than appointed school board.

He added, “With $20 million a year, the school board should be directly accountable to the voters since the money comes from their property taxes.”

Slafkosky criticized his Democratic opponent Peter Nemeth for wanting to eliminate the office of Public Safety Director.

He observed, “Since the police and fire departments receive 40 percent of the city’s budget, they need someone to plan and coordinate their activities.”

Slafkosky served as city GOP chairman and as a precinct committeeman for the past three years. He graduated in 1960 from Notre Dame, and played professional football for two years before retiring to become a sales representative.

Crime, underdevelopment of the downtown area and urban blight are South Bend’s major problems according to Peter Nemeth, Democratic candidate for mayor.
Bayh to declare ’76 presidential candidacy

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Birch Bayh declared Monday he will seek the Democratic presidential nomination in 1976, a move that could mean an end to the sometimes bumbling political career of New Hampshire Sen. Robert F. Kennedy.

The 50-year-old senator, who is already a political veteran, said he has long been interested in running for the presidency and that his decision was based on a series of political events that have altered the political landscape in recent months.

Bayh’s announcement comes just days after President Johnson announced his intention to seek re-election, and as several other prominent Democrats have declared their candidacy or are expected to do so soon.

Bayh’s campaign will begin immediately, with the senator scheduled to make a formal announcement in early December.

He plans to visit key primary states and to meet with party leaders to discuss his plans for the future.

Bayh, a moderate Democrat who has often been seen as a moderating influence in Congress, has been a strong supporter of President Johnson’s domestic programs, including Medicare and Medicaid, and has been a vocal advocate for civil rights.

His decision to run for the presidency is likely to reshape the political landscape in the Democratic Party, with several other prominent figures expected to join the race in the coming months.

In other political news, the White House announced Monday that it would release all presidential records related to the Watergate scandal, including documents that were previously secret.

The move comes as the Justice Department is investigating possible charges related to the scandal, which is the subject of a major movie currently underway.

The records release is expected to provide a wealth of information about the extent of the Watergate cover-up and its impact on the presidency.

Bayh is one of the few prominent Democrats who have not yet declared their candidacy, and his decision to enter the race is likely to draw attention to his campaign and make it a major player in the primary contest.

Bayh’s campaign will face stiff competition from several other candidates, including former Vice President Hubert Humphrey, who is expected to announce his candidacy soon, and Sen. Ted Kennedy, who has been seen as a likely contender for the nomination.

Despite the crowded field, Bayh is seen as a viable candidate, with a strong record in Congress and a long history of working with both parties.

His campaign is expected to focus on issues such as healthcare, education, and the economy, and to appeal to a broad base of voters.

Bayh’s decision to run for the presidency is likely to have a significant impact on the political landscape in the country, and his campaign is expected to draw a lot of attention in the coming months as the primary season approaches.
The Irish Eye

Falcons fast facts

One can hardly blame the Cadets that packed Falcon Stadium Saturday for singing, "Na Na Na, Hey Hey Goodbye" at the beginning of the fourth quarter Saturday, but future Irish opponents will know better. The Falcons supporter's also came up with another first, chanting "here comes nepalm, here comes nepalm," but in the end it was the Falcons who got burnt.

"What matters is the team," said the senior from Shawnee Mission, Kansas, "and that never should have happened today. We gave it away." He was really bumming the ball in there, more than Slager. We were near the receivers, but he threw strikes.

The Air Force coach concluded his comments by turning to the crowd of reporters that surrounded him, lifting his hands and asking "weren't any of you guys praying out there? We needed a couple of touchdowns there.

"We were leading, but the Falcons came up with a couple of plays in a row," said Keenan's quarterback Terry Welch. "We were behind, but those two plays really hurt us."

"In the Notre Dame locker room after the game someone suggested a solution for the Irish's nerve-shattering fourth quarter finishes. Why not..." Keenan Coach Ben Martin used anguished generalizations in his comments after the game, but did manage to pinpoint what he thought hurt Keenan. "The ball of this game was obviously not-so-thrilled."

"The ball of this game belonged entirely to the Keenan defense," said their front line. "We were really physical, but it was called back because of a holding penalty."

"A lot of the ball of this game belonged to the Keenan defense," said their front line. "We were really physical, but it was called back because of a holding penalty.

 Lyons, Lewis win women's interhall football contests

by Eileen O'Grady

With an extended schedule, the Women's Interhall Football season opened last play. Lyons beat Women's Interhall 19-0 in a scheduled victory game on Thursday. Lyons swept past Walsh Interhall 27-0 in the first play. Lyons have not lost a game since Keenan defeated Farley 19-0.

The women's schedule has been tough, with 12 points in the final score. Lyons were favored, but the Falcons were able to score a touchdown on a 2 yard run. Lyons have no points on a deep pass to Berges. Lyons converted for the extra point.

Berges, a senior, has not scored in the first half, but in the second half, halfback Kstra Sullivan initiated the second touchdown drive with a 20 yard rush. Three plays later she ran 6 yards for the touchdown. Farley was able to prevent the conversion.

Farley's only touch down came in the second half. Quarterback Maria Choca threw a 5 yard pass to Behnke who ran it in for the score. On a quick slant pass to Berges, Lyons converted for the extra point. After Behnke kicked the field goal which was just inches wide, Farley scored two touchdowns on a 2 yard run.

The present standings of Women's Interhall Football were: Lyons 4-1, Lewis 4-1, Walsh 3-2, Farley 1-4.

Lewis and Lyons were winners in women's interhall football contests.

Rain and the wet surface hampered play over the weekend.

One can hardly blame the Cadets that packed Falcon Stadium Saturday for singing, "Na Na Na, Hey Hey Goodbye." At the beginning of the fourth quarter Saturday, but future Irish opponents will know better. The Falcons supporter's also came up with another first, chanting "here comes nepalm, here comes nepalm," but in the end it was the Falcons who got burnt.

"What matters is the team," said the senior from Shawnee Mission, Kansas, "and that never should have happened today. We gave it away." He was really bumming the ball in there, more than Slager. We were near the receivers, but he threw strikes.

The Air Force coach concluded his comments by turning to the crowd of reporters that surrounded him, lifting his hands and asking "weren't any of you guys praying out there? We needed a couple of touchdowns there.

"We were leading, but the Falcons came up with a couple of plays in a row," said Keenan's quarterback Terry Welch. "We were behind, but those two plays really hurt us."

"In the Notre Dame locker room after the game someone suggested a solution for the Irish's nerve-shattering fourth quarter finishes. Why not..." Keenan Coach Ben Martin used anguished generalizations in his comments after the game, but did manage to pinpoint what he thought hurt Keenan. "The ball of this game was obviously not-so-thrilled."

"The ball of this game belonged entirely to the Keenan defense," said their front line. "We were really physical, but it was called back because of a holding penalty.

"A lot of the ball of this game belonged to the Keenan defense," said their front line. "We were really physical, but it was called back because of a holding penalty.

 Lyons, Lewis win women's interhall football contests

by Eileen O'Grady

With an extended schedule, the Women's Interhall Football season opened last play. Lyons beat Women's Interhall 19-0 in a scheduled victory game on Thursday. Lyons swept past Walsh Interhall 27-0 in the first play. Lyons have not lost a game since Keenan defeated Farley 19-0.

The women's schedule has been tough, with 12 points in the final score. Lyons were favored, but the Falcons were able to score a touchdown on a 2 yard run. Lyons have no points on a deep pass to Berges. Lyons converted for the extra point. After Behnke kicked the field goal which was just inches wide, Farley scored two touchdowns on a 2 yard run.

The present standings of Women's Interhall Football were: Lyons 4-1, Lewis 4-1, Walsh 3-2, Farley 1-4.

Lewis and Lyons were winners in women's interhall football contests.