Hearst's thought that the management had adopted a tougher attitude toward student employees, and were less concerned with student problems. Last month, four North Dining Hall employees were fired by the management for various dining hall rule violations. One student was fired for lending his meal card to a friend, another for bringing in a guest not allowed to eat in the North Dining Hall. The third and fourth students were let go because one student punched out the other's time card 55 minutes late. One student who had been an employee of the dining hall for four years stated, "I think all four were wrong, but I think they should have been given fines or suspensions instead of being fired. Two of the students are friends of mine and I know they were dependent on the jobs to pay for their room and board." Another employee agreed that the students involved should be penalized but not fired. Laurence Aronson, manager of the North Dining Hall, responded that he did not want to fire the students, but had no choice. "I feel like a failure if I have to fire somebody," said Aronson. "But in essence they were stealing. Some students may not interpret it as such, but it is." Director of Food Services, Edmond Price, stated, "I feel I am a Trustee of the students' money for food, and feel a deep responsibility for seeing that money go as far as it can." He went on to ask how he could allow his employees to waste that money wrongly.

At a gripe session attended by Price, Aronson, and some twenty-five student employees, one of the students fired said he had been caught in a previous year lending out his meal card, and Price had simply fined him. Price said he did not remember the incident.

A number of the students felt the management had become tougher with the student employees since a previous article was published in the October 9, 1975 issue of the Observer. The article dealt with alleged mismanagement in the North Dining Hall. Aronson said that there had not been any changes in management's attitude toward the students since the article as far as he was concerned.

Another problem, according to the students, is that the increased amount of supervisors in the past few years reduced communication between the students and the management. Aronson said one employee, "In past years the student coordinators acted as a kind of go-between for the students and the management." He elaborated on this idea of the establishment celebrating a revolution appeared hazzard. "Here we are 200 years after the American Revolution where radicals were running around rock throwing, and now we have President Ford, the establishment of today, celebrating a revolution.

Predicts a revolution in 1980's

Howard believes there will be a revolution in the 1980's because there is a great anger sweeping below the surface in America, similar to the situation 200 years ago. The American people, however, do not understand this similarity because it is an important idea of what really happened in events such as the Boston Tea Party. He likened the East India Tea Company, towards whom the revolution against taxation without representation was directed, to the International Telephone and Telegraph (IT&T) and Lockheed. The East India Company had become the most powerful trading company in the universe as a result of help from Parliament in gaining a monopoly over world trade. The patriots rose up, and once they did, tea parties occurred throughout the colonies. "Most of us don't know what this country stood for 200 years ago," Howard said. He continued saying that the Declaration of Independence seemed weak when it was written. The Declaration also causes shock today. This was exemplified when the FBI wrote a portion of the Declaration into a petition and brought it around to key government agencies. Sixty-eight per cent of these agencies refused to sign it because they claimed it was anti-government.

He elaborated on this idea of radical view toward the students since the article as far as he was concerned. He declared, "Maybe they don't understand this condition where wealth is power. Benjamin Rush, a founding father who wrote in 1783 that the American war is over, but this is far from the case in the American Revolution for this is only the first chapter of the story. The idea that another part of this drama is coming.

Corporations becoming Multinational

The big corporations are looking abroad and are becoming multinational; they don't need America he commented. For example, Ford has announced for jobs here, 32 cents is being invested abroad. With the big companies moving abroad the U.S. tax base is eroding and there are fewer U.S. jobs.

The final irony, he stated, is our government is rewarding and encouraging these companies to move overseas... He quoted from P.T. Barnum, "A sucker is born every day," and concluded, “we haven't learned our lesson from history. We can't even name the London (AP) — Eileit Russian author Alexander Solzhenitsyn said Monday he is at the "verge of a collapse" because of "capitulations" in pursuing detente with the Soviet Union.

"I wouldn't be surprised at the sudden and imminent fall of the West," Solzhenitsyn told interviewer Michael Charlton of the British Broadcasting Corp. on the weekly television news program "Panorama."

"I would like to make myself clear: the situation at the moment is such that the Soviet Union's economy is in such a war footing that, even if it were the unanimous opinion of all the members of the Politburo not to start a war, this would no longer be in their power.

"To avoid this," the author went on, "would require an astonishing change from a monstrous war economy to a normal peace economy."

The situation now is such that one must think not of what might happen unexpectedly in the Soviet Union, because in the Soviet Union nothing will happen unexpectedly...

"One must think of what might happen unexpectedly in the West. The situation now is on the verge of a collapse created by its own hands."

Solzhenitsyn, visiting his publishers in England, said he has noted a particular decline in the strength and resolution of the West during the two years since he was expelled from his homeland.

He attributed the decline to an illusionary detente and cited the success of Soviet-backed mines in Angola as the latest indication of the Soviet Union's long-range goals.

Solzhenitsyn, 57, who was awarded the Nobel prize for literature in 1970, said he was not against East-West detente but against the way it is being conducted.

"Detente is necessary, but detente with open hands," he said.

"Show that there is no stone in your hands. But your partners with whom you are conducting detente have a stone in their hands and it is so heavy that it will kill you with one single blow. Detente becomes self-destruction, that's what it is all about.

Management-oriented Sales Trainees

Ed Fleming Chevrolet, located in Aurora, Illinois (soon to be the second largest city in the state of Illinois), will be on campus Tuesday, March 9, 1976 to recruit management-oriented sales trainees who would be interested in a career opportunity with outstanding growth potential in the retail automobile business. We are interested in young, aggressive sales personnel who will have the knowledge and ability to grow with the future plans of the company, who will be able to move on into management positions and become leaders of men.

The personnel we are seeking should have the desire for an ambitious career which would lead them to dealership management-ownership.

Ford proposes $3.5 billion fund for educational aid program

WASHINGTON (AP) - President Ford said Tuesday that the government should promise a $3.5 billion education aid program that would grant the states, mainly to aid poor and handicapped children.

The program for fiscal year 1977 would replace 24 separate education funds now in effect and the President emphasized that no state would get less money than it did before.

The aim is to end the heavy burdens of regulations and red tape that spell death for the child who has to live in the 1970s and to give them more control over the program.

The main focus would be "on improved education opportunities for the very special need, the handicapped and the educationally deprived."

Ford said, "with a minimum of federal regulation and a maximum of local control."

Ford's program would give the states almost $1.3 billion to aid elementary and secondary schools and education for the handicapped, adult education and vocational education.

To assure that students with special needs, such as those in poverty areas, "receive proper attention to proposed legislation that provides that 75 percent of a state's allocation be spent on educationally deprived and handicapped and that vocational education programs continue to be supported," Ford said in a message to Congress.

For the next three fiscal years, Ford said, he proposed increasing education aid from $2.7 billion in each year from 1976 through 1980. He proposed that the funds be made available before the start of the school year.

Under the present separate categorical grants, the student aid to the handicapped, the handicapped, the deaf and blind, special education of children, school libraries, research and other programs, the federal government provided $2.24 billion in fiscal 1975.

A White House fact sheet estimated that the federal government supports about 7 percent of the total cost of elementary and secondary education, most of it through numerous narrow categorical programs.

Pushing his philosophy that education needs can be transferred to state and local governments, Ford said, "it is time that we reconcile our good intentions with the recognition that we value at the federal level cannot know what is best for each schoolchild in every classroom in this country."

He added: "My proposal is based on the conviction that education needs can be most effectively and creatively met by allowing states greater flexibility in the use of federal funds."

He told Congress, in seeking their prompt and favorable action on his proposal that "this legislation will allow people at the state and local level to stop worrying about entangling federal red tape and turn their full attention to educating our youth."

The Mock Political Convention will debate a platform which advocates greater government control of the economy, state aid to private and parochial schools and a constitutional amendment to prohibit abortion.

The 43-page document, adopted by the Platform Committee for consideration by the entire Convention beginning tomorrow night, also favors decriminalization of marijuana, stricter licensing of firearms and an end to court-ordered busing for school desegregation.

The platform also is representative of the political beliefs of the Notre Dame student body, Mock Convention organizers claim.

"It's an interesting document," said Vince Moschella, co-chairman of the Mock Convention. Moschella said that the platform could not be classified as either liberal of conservative, but he termed it "cautious."

Platform seen as conservative

Although many of the economic proposals are similar to the classic Democratic New Deal tradition, Moschella noted that much of the platform reflects the conservatism of the students. He cited the plank against abortion which passed the Platform Committee by a two to one vote over the anti-abortion plank, which passed almost unanimously.

The platform was actually written by a small group of students, but represents the input of over 100 students, according to Moschella. Platform hearings were open to the public and included reports from the Women's Caucus and the Black Caucus.

The most heated plank on the platform was its anti-abortion stand. In a debate lasting two and a half hours, the Platform Committee rejected a proposal from the Women's Caucus to permit government-regulated abortion. This plank appears as a minority report in the formal platform and is expected to be brought to a vote on the Convention floor Thursday night.

Some provisions uncontroversial?

Some planks of the Convention platform may be uncontroversial. The plank on campaign financing advocates maintenance of "reasonable ceilings" on individual campaign contributions. The Supreme Court last month struck down limits on individual contributions as unconstitutional.

Platform proposals to provide financial aid to parents of students in private schools may also conflict with Supreme Court decisions which have struck down similar state plans to aid private schools.

The Convention is scheduled to begin consideration of the platform on Wednesday and conclude Thursday. Much debate is expected on items for which minority planks have been submitted: abortion, busing, family planning, labor relations and health care.

Important planks of the Mock Convention Platform include the following:

The Economy
- Government should consider becoming "the employer of last resort," with responsibility for creating jobs at the community level.
- The Federal government should encourage corporate planning for future needs.
- Tax reform to index the rate of progressive tax to individuals to the rate of inflation and to raise the tax rate on incomes over $30,000.
- Provide greater assistance to farmers in the form of subsidy for crop parity.

Foreign Policy
- Greater cooperation with the NATO countries of Western Europe and promotion of the Western Europe Common Market.
- Continuation of détente, but not at the expense of American interests abroad and at home.
- Opposition of troops with China to maintain pre-West-Tsing with the New Chinese leadership.
- Reduced support of overseas military forces, but the strengthening of the navy.

Defense
- Reduce the number of military personnel stationed overseas.
- Reduce Federal spending on the military by controlling "white elephant" defense projects.
- Improvement of the navy.

Funding of Education
- Urge states to adopt programs to aid in financing private education on the primary and secondary level. The Platform urges the states to adopt state-wide or outright stipends to parents of private or parochial school students.

Abortion
- Constitutional amendment.

The platform recognizes the fetus as a life with the right to existence. Because no person of law should be allowed to deny human life, the platform calls for the extension of the 14th Amendment rights to the unborn by all legal means, including a constitutional amendment to prohibit abortion.

Busing
- Greater control of the sale and use of handguns. Provisions include firearm registration and licensing, greater enforcement of existing legislation and increased penalties for crimes involving firearms.

The platform proposes alternatives to court ordered busing of school children to achieve racial integration in the schools. The proposals seek to improve the quality of education in poorer schools and allow greater neighborhood control of the schools and campuses on which students attend.

Health Care
- The platform recognizes health as a necessary and necessary right of every person to ability to enjoy life and liberty. It proposes and supports the government-funded programs for depressed areas where medical personnel are lacking. Comprehensive National Health Care Insurance is also advocated to help relieve the financial burden of skyrocketing medical costs.

Energy
- The platform advocates strict safeguards on the use of nuclear or fossil fuel energy in the same manner as alcohol or tobacco.
- Greater control of the sale and use of firearms.
- More research for environmental effects of energy and renewed search for new sources of energy.

Crime
- Decriminalization of marijuana.
- Marijuana users should be treated in the same manner as alcohol users.
- Greater control of the sale and use of handguns.
- Provisions include firearm registration and licensing, greater enforcement of existing legislation and increased penalties for crimes involving firearms.

Encouraging Words

Dear Delegates:

This is a time of intense national debate concerning the decisions that we should choose as a nation as we begin our third century. I know that the Democratic Party and the concerned citizens across the country will join me in following closely the results of the 1976 National Convention. The diversity of your backgrounds and the thoughtfulness and vigor of your debates will combine to make your decisions instructive and essential.

But perhaps even more important to our nation's future is the practical experience that you as individuals will gain from participating in a national party convention. I am hopeful that many of you will use the skills that you develop here to continue your involvement in the political process at the local, state and national levels.

I deeply believe that our nation's greatest strength will be its ability to explain the two hundred years that have been the widespread approval and faithfulness in the political system. Activities such as this convention, bringing together a well-informed young people, is an important part of the present and future of our country. I hope that you will edit the initiative to participate in our system and inspire my confidence in the basic strength of this republic in the century ahead.

Sincerely,
Robert J. Strauss
Democratic National Committee Chairman of the Watergate-related prosecutions.

2. The national level, Beinken said that if Carter can be stopped, Udall has a good chance as the third major candidate. Since his strong showing in the New Hampshire primary there has been a renewed interest in the Udall campaign.

3. According to Robert O'Brien, who operates a farm in the Town of Groton, he expects that after the Massachusetts primary there will be even more interest in Udall.

George Wallace

When asked what George Wallace's chances were at the N.D.
Mock Political Convention, Martin
Kenyon, campaign manager for Wallace's friend in Washington, said:

"I am a fair amount of support for the Udall campaign, but it is my belief that after the Massachusetts primary there will be even more interest in Udall.

Jimmy Carter

Ascertaining Jimmy Carter's chances in the upcoming N.D. Mock Political Convention, Marta Spodala, Campaign manager for Carter, stated: "We think he has a really good chance to win, probably the best chance of any of the delegates."

Carter's native of Georgia, graduated in 1946 from the U.S.
Naval Academy and did graduate work on the development of the world's first atomic submarines. He was elected to the Georgia Senate in 1962 and in 1970 was elected Governor.

While Governor, he sponsored legislation to equalize education funds between the rich and the poor, raised teachers' salaries, unity government agencies. His administration bills, which were passed, included environmental protection laws and prison reform legislative packages.

On the national scene, Spodala said that "he is one of the prime contesters," but "right now it is hard to say." After the Mass. and Florida primaries, "we'll be able to have a better idea," she noted.

According to Spodala, Florida, particularly, will be an important state. If he can gain support in this traditionally pro-Wallace state, he will be that much more effective in the Democratic Convention this summer.

Spodala stated that the Carter campaign on campus is "going real well."

Shriver

Sargent Shriver, who was the Vice-Presidential candidate on the unsuccessful McGovern campaign in 1972 and is doing better on campus than any other candidate, is now considered a strong contender for the nomination.

Shriver was a social activist for years, and looked on campus with the endorsement of the candidate Black Caucus.

"He is really not a big gong-bo guy," Capadano commented, but people interested in Shriver's campaign have found out what they wanted to know. Capadano added that he would like to see more interest though.

Shriver is presently short of money, Anderson noted, but he is still very serious about his campaign.

Edward Kennedy

Although Senator Edward Kennedy of Massachusetts is not a declared candidate, he has included environmental protection as the first ballot at the Democratic Convention, a summer, a similar draft may occur.

Senator Humphrey

Of Georgia, graduated in 1946 from the U.S.
Naval Academy and did graduate work on the development of the world's first atomic submarines. He was elected to the Georgia Senate in 1962 and in 1970 was elected Governor.

Monday, March 2
MOSCOW (AP) - Flushed by the victory of Soviet-backed forces in Angola, the Soviet Communist party convention praised Monday to leftist-revolutionaries abroad and vowed continued support.

There was also an attempt to tone down the chief problem confronting the two - ideological differences with Communist parties in the West. Party chief Leonid I. Brezhnev sought with his outspoken Italian counterpart, Enrico Berlinguer, in his speech to the congress last week, decided not to give the right of largest Communist party in the West to forge a path of detente and Marxist movements throughout the world. The Soviet Union believes that supporting so-called national liberation movements in Third World countries is not contrary to its policy of detente with the United States and other Western countries.

Delegates also unanimously approved Brezhnev's report of last year's successful progress and ordered the release of all political prisoners.

The congress expresses its full support for the martyrs and heroes of the revolutionary liberation movement and sends them its fraternal greetings." The resolution adopted Monday, it gave no specifics on what kind of help would be given.

In great part, the resolution dealt with "persecution and discrimination against Communists" and expressed special regret for jailed Chilean Communist leader Luis Corvalan and Communists in Uruguay, Paraguay, Guatemala, Brazil, Argentina and Haiti.

Italian delegates interpreted the wording of the Brezhnev-Berlinguer statement as a concession to the sovereignty of their party that would not go so far as to suggest that Brezhnev had backed down from his oft-repeated criticism of ideological revisionism within Communist ranks.

Other Western observers tended to regard the meeting and commune as no so much a Soviet concession as a peace gesture at a time when the congress is striking a theme of Communist cohesion.

Berlinguer, in his speech to the congress last week, decided for the right of the largest Communist party in the West to forge a path independent of Moscow and to cooperate with non-Communist Latin American parties. The Communists are the second most powerful party in Italy and have been gaining on the Christian Democrats.

DOUBLE AGENT FOUND DEAD HOURS AFTER PAPER EXPOSED ESPIONAGE

DALLAS (AP) - The Dallas Times Herald said Monday it published a report on the spying activities of retired oil company engineer Norman John Rees despite telephone threats by Rees that he would commit suicide if the story were printed and his identity was revealed.

Rees was found dead at his home in Southbury, Conn., Sunday, hours after the newspaper reported his espionage activities.

"In this instance it was decided that the story could not be suppressed," said the Times Herald, in a statement Monday.

The newspaper said in a copyedit story Sunday that Rees passed petroleum industry secrets to an agent for the FBI in 1967.

BOSTON (AP) — While the din of campaign loudspeakers echoed through narrow downtown streets, Democrats waged their election-eve speech war in Massachusetts, a presidential primary where the results could change the political complexion of the nation.

With eight major candidates and a no-preference line carving up the vote, Massachusetts will produce a majority winner, but it will do so without dividing its 104 national convention delegates in proportion to the popular vote share each gets. So Monday is a day of endorsements, speeches, leaflets, final efforts to sway the 188,000 people who cast their ballots in a context so divided it won't take many ballots to alter the order of finish.

Vermont voters Tuesday, too, in a primary that will rank candidates but will not commit delegates. Former Georgia Gov. Jimmy Carter, 1977 Democratic vice presidential candidate Sargent Shriver and former Oklahoma Sen. Fred Harris are on the Democratic ballot there. President Ford is unopposed in Vermont, but former California Cranberry picking, ferry obstruction finally legalized

OBITUARY
Irish nip Broncos in overtime 95-88

by Bill Besh

Western Michigan. Pretenders to glory, right? Tyrants of the MAC (Mediocre American Conferences), right? Western Michigan, who opened their season with Grand Valley St., Wisc.-Parkside, Wisc.-Green Bay and Northern Iowa, who coasted into the top twenty on a wave of nameless optimism.

Well, last night this same Western Michigan team shed a different light. It was the 13th night the Irish met these lions, and the 13th time the Irish have mopped up the Western Michigan Wolverines. For once, the Irish held a team and didn't let it slip away. Western Michigan took a 39-37 lead in the first 12 minutes and hasn't been in it since. For 29:34, Notre Dame controlled the game and Western Michigan didn't even have a faint breath of a chance.

The two teams outdistilled themselves in the throttling of the Irish. Notre Dame's Duck Williams piled up the classic hero's feat when he bashed 7-7 in the fourth quarter after a 3-10, and was one of the three Irish who contributed to the exciting seven-game series. Elson M.J.'er's Brockles called out time with 5:04 remaining and Jeff Tyus worked the final miracle of the game when he hit a desperation 20 footer at the buzzer to send the game into overtime.

"I couldn't believe it," said Danley of Tyus's shot. "But it made the game better, it was a great game."

The Irish came out in the second quarter and were down 52-36 after a fourth quarter 36-22. The Irish outscored Western Michigan 36-19 in the second half and overtook the Wolverines to win the contest.

Bradley by a score of 62-51. For the Irish it was their tenth loss of the season and their first game with 11,345 in the Notre Dame A.C.C.

Interhall basketball powers gain playoff berths as season ends

by Ray O'Brien

Notre Dame's varsity swimmers wrapped up their dual meet schedule from last night as they lost to Bradley by a score of 62-51. For the Irish it was their tenth loss against two victories by the Irish.

Varsity records were set by Gordon Cosimano who won all the 200-yard breaststroke and by Bob Reilly in the 200-yard medley. Reilly was not only the fastest man in the race, but the Irish were not close to the talented Bradley. Bradley took the first five events, setting three meet records while doing so.

It was fresh-enman Fritz Shadley who put Notre Dame back on the winning streak as he won the 1000-yard medley with a 1:45.55, also a meet record. The next event, the 200-yard butterfly was won by Bradley's Tim Harris but Bob Reilly's second place was an Irish victory by 0.02 seconds, also a meet record.

Notre Dame captured the remaining eight events on the evening. The combination of Gordon Drake, Bob Ebel and the relay team of Bob Reilly, Peter Pete, Riessla, Bob Wardell and Jim Severson. Drake swam his best time of the year in the breaststroke while Ebel set a meet record in the three-meter diving.

The Irish take to the road for the Motor City Invitational in Detroit where they will swim Mar. 4-6.

The tournament will have two winners this year coming from Division I and II. Division I consists of the top four teams in each of the five intercollegiate leagues. Division II has eight teams competing from the top four teams in Leagues IV and V.

Division I

Fisher captured League I with a perfect 7-0 record. They own one of the four first round byes in the playoffs. Morsesey finished one half a game out of first with a 7-1 record. This has earned them a second place in the second place to the team with the best record. Liverpool finished a 6-2 world and owns the third playoff spot in League I. Alumnus I finished the season without a speck of dirt on their record with a 7-0 record. This has earned them a third round bye in the playoffs.

Keenan I clutched 8th place, securing the division's only first round bye in the playoffs. St. Ed's this week to capture sole possession of second place with a 7-2 record. Grace II also ended up 7-2 by way of a win over Pangborn I but had lost to Keenan I earlier in the season. St. Ed's 1st trapped Dillon II by a score of 55-38 to capture the fourth playoff spot in the division.

Division II

Alumni II completed a perfect 7-0 record and earned their way into the W.S.U.-Off Campus VII. There are no byes in this tournament sport-wise. Baltimore finished the season with a 6-1 record and owns the second place spot given to the second best place team. Grace III grabbed their fourth spot while finishing with a 3-4 record.

Division III

Alumni III completed a perfect 7-0 record and earned their way into the W.S.U.-Off Campus VII. There are no byes in this tournament sport-wise. Baltimore finished the season with a 6-1 record and owns the second place spot given to the second best place team. Grace III grabbed their fourth spot while finishing with a 3-4 record.

Women lose to Marquette

by Eileen O'Grady

Not even the women's basketball team could pull off a win against Marquette Saturday, as they were blown out by the Golden Eagles by a score of 60-40. Once again they played a tight game, both their offense and defense were faulty, but they were unable to score the points when they needed them the most.

The first half went in streaks. Notre Dame took an early 6-0 lead on two outside jumpers by Mary Clements at 1:15. But this was nullified by the other team's baskets. Keenan then finished the half with a 56.7 percent from the field, Tyson hit 13 of 22, and 3 of 3 from the foul line for 29 points. Cutter was 7 of 9 from the floor for Western. For Notre Dame, which boasted a .887 field percentage, Danley ended up with 33 points on 12 of 18 from the field and a perfect 9 for 9 from the foul line. Flowers had a perfect game on the go for Notre Dame with his field goal attempts and his only foul shot.

Bradley took 11 rebounds. Bill Paterno's late surge earned him 18 points while Adrain Danley joined Flowers with 11 rebounds for the Irish in a losing cause.

The loss set the Broncos record at 22-2 as they look forward to an important conference game at Miami (Ohio) on Wednesday. The Irish finish the regular season with a 22-5 record. They will take this week off and await the expected NCAA tournament bid, due out later this week.

Irish track team wins tri-meet

Senior sprinter Jim O'Brien and junior middle-distance runner Larry Keenan paced the Notre Dame track team to an impressive triangular triumph over Northern Illinois and Wisconsin this past weekend at Sterling, Illinois. The Irish amassed a total of 87 points as compared to Northern Illinois' total of 63% and Wisconsin which was tied with 111 points. Notre Dame covered the 440 in 50.4 seconds and the 600 in 1:12.2, to win both of the events. Meanwhile, Miranda managed to score in a pair of races, winning the 1,000 yard run and helping a victorious teammate Bill Alleninger in the 880. Winning the rest of the array of Notre Dame runners were football star Luther Bradley in the 99 yard dash with a 6.65 clocking, Jim Reinhart in the mile at 3:22.12,2, Todd Kandol who crossed in 6'2" in the high jump and pole vaulter George Matteo with a clearance of 14'6".

The Fighting Irish return to the ACC this Saturday for a home meet with Louisville, Loyola and Kentucky State. The meet is scheduled for 2:30 and will be the final home event for Notre Dame this year.
