Presidential debate planned for telecast in Carroll Hall
by Mary Rukavina
Staff Reporter
The first presidential presidential debate will be telecast Thursday, October 21, from Carroll Hall. An informal discussion and refreshments will follow the telecast.

Cathy Coyne, vice-president for academic affairs in student government, is co-sponsoring the show with Notre Dame and St. Mary's administration. Government teachers from both schools will take part in the informal discussions.

Coyne explained the reason for academic affairs' interest in the event. "Dr. Dugas has told me that he would like to see more intellectual debate and discussion on St. Mary's campus."

She continued. "One of my goals is to schedule events that will aid in building up this sense of intellectual interest outside the classroom."

This all sounds great on paper," she added, "but I would be nice to hear contemporary issues

discussed on First and Second

saturdays instead of how loaded you're going to get.

Coyne stressed the point that the elections may very well be determined through these debates. She added it is important for those students who are not aware of the issues or the candidates positions to take advantage of these telecasts

and discussions.

Conrad opposes Bowen tax plan
by Katie Kerwin
Senior Staff Reporter
Larry Conrad, Democratic candidate for governor, discussed a possible gasoline tax increase, a proposed open-government meetings and his plan for a higher income tax in a meeting Sunday.

Conrad also criticized the Bowen Administration for failure to follow through on promised utility reform, for inadequate correctional institutions and for poor highway maintenance, according to a story in the South Bend Tribune yesterday.

Conrad charged his opponent, Gov. Otis Bowen, with unfilled prom­ises, growing bureaucracy and ineffective leadership.

Addressing a meeting in South Bend of the Indiana Associated Press, Bowen said "It is an illusion, Conrad said he cannot eliminate the possibility of a gasoline tax increase next year, if he is elected.

"I wouldn't rule it out. Those are the kind of hard decisions that are going to be coming around next year," Hesburgh noted in an address to the student body during the debate on Friday and Saturday.

"There are a lot of people in America who are serious about education and less in the future American leaders. University President Theodore Hesburgh also stressed a political reform program to "make a better world."

"Now

Hesburgh also said that the most serious concerns of the student body are currently active in some organization.

"There are a lot of people in this country who are not getting a fair share of the American dream, and there are a lot of people in political life who don't care about that," he said.

Commenting that the U.S. budgets $130 million "just to build

stuff to destroy people," Hesburgh called for a development of politicians who are concerned with the hearts of America. He criticized to indicate his preference for President Ford.

Hesburgh also lamented the lack of value education in universities of today. He held that the most in institutions and that he would be open to more intellectual debate and discussion on the St. Mary's campus."

He continued. "One of my goals is to schedule events that will aid in building up this sense of intellectual interest outside the classroom."

This all sounds great on paper," she added, "but I would be

nice to hear contemporary issues
discussed on First and Second

saturdays instead of how loaded you're

going to get.

Coyne stressed the point that the elections may very well be determenced through these debates. She added it is important for those students who are not aware of the issues or the candidates positions to

take advantage of these telecasts
and discussions.

Conrad opposes Bowen tax plan
by Katie Kerwin
Senior Staff Reporter
Larry Conrad, Democratic candidate for governor, discussed a possible gasoline tax increase, a proposed open-government
meetings and his plan for a higher
income tax in a meeting Sunday.

Conrad also criticized the Bowen Administration for failure to follow through on promised utility reform, for inadequate correctional institutions and for poor highway maintenance, according to a story in the South Bend Tribune yesterday.

Conrad charged his opponent, Gov. Otis Bowen, with unfilled prom­ises, growing bureaucracy and ineffective leadership.

Addressing a meeting in South Bend of the Indiana Associated Press, Bowen said "It is an illusion, Conrad said he cannot eliminate the possibility of a gasoline tax increase next year, if he is elected.

"I wouldn't rule it out. Those are the kind of hard decisions that are going to be coming around next year," Hesburgh noted in an address to the student body during the debate on Friday and Saturday.

"There are a lot of people in America who are serious about education and less

in the future American leaders. University President Theodore Hesburgh also stressed a political reform program to "make a better world."

"Now

Hesburgh also said that the most serious concerns of the student body are currently active in some organization.

"There are a lot of people in this country who are not getting a fair share of the American dream, and there are a lot of people in political life who don't care about that," he said.

Commenting that the U.S. budgets $130 million "just to build

stuff to destroy people," Hesburgh called for a development of politicians who are concerned with the hearts of America. He criticized to indicate his preference for President Ford.

Hesburgh also lamented the lack of value education in universities of today. He held that the most

in institutions and that he would be open to more

intellectual debate and discussion on the St. Mary's campus."

He continued. "One of my goals is to schedule events that will aid in building up this sense of intellectual interest outside the classroom."

This all sounds great on paper," she added, "but I would be

nice to hear contemporary issues
discussed on First and Second

saturdays instead of how loaded you're

going to get.

Coyne stressed the point that the elections may very well be determenced through these debates. She added it is important for those students who are not aware of the issues or the candidates positions to

take advantage of these telecasts
and discussions.

Conrad opposes Bowen tax plan
by Katie Kerwin
Senior Staff Reporter
Larry Conrad, Democratic candidate for governor, discussed a possible gasoline tax increase, a proposed open-government
meetings and his plan for a higher
income tax in a meeting Sunday.

Conrad also criticized the Bowen Administration for failure to follow through on promised utility reform, for inadequate correctional institutions and for poor highway maintenance, according to a story in the South Bend Tribune yesterday.

Conrad charged his opponent, Gov. Otis Bowen, with unfilled prom­ises, growing bureaucracy and ineffective leadership.

Addressing a meeting in South Bend of the Indiana Associated Press, Bowen said "It is an illusion, Conrad said he cannot elimin­ eate the possibility of a gasoline tax increase next year, if he is elected.

"I wouldn't rule it out. Those are the kind of hard decisions that are going to be coming around next year," Hesburgh noted in an address to the student body during the debate on Friday and Saturday.

"There are a lot of people in America who are serious about education and less

in the future American leaders. University President Theodore Hesburgh also stressed a political reform program to "make a better world."

"Now

Hesburgh also said that the most serious concerns of the student body are currently active in some organization.

"There are a lot of people in this country who are not getting a fair share of the American dream, and there are a lot of people in political life who don't care about that," he said.

Commenting that the U.S. budgets $130 million "just to build

stuff to destroy people," Hesburgh called for a development of politicians who are concerned with the hearts of America. He criticized to indicate his preference for President Ford.

Hesburgh also lamented the lack of value education in universities of today. He held that the most

in institutions and that he would be open to more

intellectual debate and discussion on the St. Mary's campus."

He continued. "One of my goals is to schedule events that will aid in building up this sense of intellectual interest outside the classroom."

This all sounds great on paper," she added, "but I would be

nice to hear contemporary issues
discussed on First and Second

saturdays instead of how loaded you're

going to get.

Coyne stressed the point that the elections may very well be determenced through these debates. She added it is important for those students who are not aware of the issues or the candidates positions to

take advantage of these telecasts
and discussions.
Carter bids for Catholics

By Michael McClellan
Staff Reporter

The Catholics surveyed by Newsweek were split on the abortion question. In general, younger, more liberal Catholics were more opposed to abortion, while older, more conservative Catholics were more supportive. The survey indicated that Catholics are a divided group on this issue, with some undecided about their position and others firmly pro-choice or pro-life.

The Catholics surveyed by Newsweek were also asked about their vote in the November election. The survey found that Catholics are a significant voting bloc, with over 50% of voters identifying as Catholic. The survey also found that Catholics are more likely to vote for the Democratic candidate, with 57% of Catholics saying they would vote for Carter.

However, the survey also found that there is a significant divide within the Catholic population. Some Catholics are more likely to support abortion rights, while others are more likely to support limiting or prohibiting abortion. The survey found that the issue of abortion is a major concern for many Catholics, and that it is a factor in how they make their voting decisions.

In conclusion, the Catholics surveyed by Newsweek are a diverse group, with a range of views on issues such as abortion and the role of the government in healthcare. While some Catholics are likely to support abortion rights, others are more likely to support limitations on abortion. The survey suggests that the Catholic vote is a significant factor in the 1976 presidential election, and that it will be an important factor in future elections.
Bro. Moran stays busy

Hammes ‘rushed’ on football weekends

by Jack Pizznbato
Staff Reporter

A calm voice drifts out of the intercom and up over the crowd. "While expressing...While expressing..." is all we can hear as we approach the Hammes Notre Dame book store.

"Tennis," a youth behind the counter says, "it’s Friday. It’s tennis..." We hear the clackity-clack of the cash register below, a noisy river of people passing through as they seek books for their college “football” Saturday and down below, a noise like anyone weaving in and out through the aisles, their chatter mingling with the sound of books being searched for and registers rung up.

"It’s a mad rush," says Bro. Connor Moran C.S.C., the sturdy, white-robed chancellor of the college who recently managed the book store since it opened in 1965. "I wish I could spend my workday trying to give our customers a better service-

"Moran moves back and forth along the counters with a box in one hand, sorting, rearranging, refilling the display stands.

"Working here is tough," he says.

Kissinger optimistic; African talks pending

LUSAKA, Zambia (AP) - Henry Kissinger said he expects Rhodesia’s white rulers to clear the way for continued breakdowns leading to the black rule of an African nationalist group re

The diplomat said the secretary of state also raised several questions with Kaunda relating to the Rhodesian constitutional parley, which reportedly did so at the request of Rhodesian Prime Minister Ian Smith.

Kissinger confirmed that he was in Salisbury Sunday, in Pretoria, South Africa.

Kuanda’s clarification will be transmitted to Smith through South African Prime Minister John Vorster.

The Smith government did not disclose details of the questions.

Smith, who is expected to return to Salisbury after the meeting in Pretoria, told a broadcast interviewer "Concrete results" had come out of the session with Kissinger and that there was a chance of a settlement "in the near future" between Rhodesia’s 370,000 whites and 3.5 million blacks.

Vorster, too, said a Rhodesian settlement could result and said there had also been progress on the issue of South-West Africa, or Namibia, the territory the United Nations demands that South Africa give up.

Kuanda was pressed by journalists to say if he considers as acceptable the provisional three-way understanding between Kissinger, Vorster and Smith. But he declined to discuss it before consulting with three fellow black African presidents - Julius Nyerere of Tanzania, Sir Seretse Khama of Botswana and Samora Machel of Mozambique.

"We are dealing with a situation involving life and death," he said. "It would be wrong for one man to take a unilateral stand when so many leaders are involved."

Study Continued

Kissinger himself planned to continue his week-old African peace

Wednesday, September 21, 1976

Bro. Moran stays busy

Hamme’s ‘rushed’ on football weekends

by Jack Pizznbato
Staff Reporter

A calm voice drifts out of the intercom and up over the crowd. "While expressing...While expressing..." is all we can hear as we approach the Hammes Notre Dame book store.

"Tennis," a youth behind the counter says, "it’s Friday. It’s tennis..." We hear the clackity-clack of the cash register below, a noisy river of people passing through as they seek books for their college “football” Saturday and down below, a noise like anyone weaving in and out through the aisles, their chatter mingling with the sound of books being searched for and registers rung up.

"It’s a mad rush," says Bro. Connor Moran C.S.C., the sturdy, white-robed chancellor of the college who recently managed the book store since it opened in 1965. "I wish I could spend my workday trying to give our customers a better service-

"Moran moves back and forth along the counters with a box in one hand, sorting, rearranging, refilling the display stands.

"Working here is tough," he says.

Kissinger optimistic; African talks pending

LUSAKA, Zambia (AP) - Henry Kissinger said he expects Rhodesia’s white rulers to clear the way for continued breakdowns leading to the black rule of an African nationalist group re

The diplomat said the secretary of state also raised several questions with Kaunda relating to the Rhodesian constitutional parley, which reportedly did so at the request of Rhodesian Prime Minister Ian Smith.

Kissinger confirmed that he was in Salisbury Sunday, in Pretoria, South Africa.

Kuanda’s clarification will be transmitted to Smith through South African Prime Minister John Vorster.

The Smith government did not disclose details of the questions.

Smith, who is expected to return to Salisbury after the meeting in Pretoria, told a broadcast interviewer "Concrete results" had come out of the session with Kissinger and that there was a chance of a settlement "in the near future" between Rhodesia’s 370,000 whites and 3.5 million blacks.

Vorster, too, said a Rhodesian settlement could result and said there had also been progress on the issue of South-West Africa, or Namibia, the territory the United Nations demands that South Africa give up.

Kuanda was pressed by journalists to say if he considers as acceptable the provisional three-way understanding between Kissinger, Vorster and Smith. But he declined to discuss it before consulting with three fellow black African presidents - Julius Nyerere of Tanzania, Sir Seretse Khama of Botswana and Samora Machel of Mozambique.

"We are dealing with a situation involving life and death," he said. "It would be wrong for one man to take a unilateral stand when so many leaders are involved."

Study Continued

Kissinger himself planned to continue his week-old African peace

Wednesday, September 21, 1976

Bro. Moran stays busy

Hamme’s ‘rushed’ on football weekends

by Jack Pizznbato
Staff Reporter

A calm voice drifts out of the intercom and up over the crowd. "While expressing...While expressing..." is all we can hear as we approach the Hammes Notre Dame book store.

"Tennis," a youth behind the counter says, "it’s Friday. It’s tennis..." We hear the clackity-clack of the cash register below, a noisy river of people passing through as they seek books for their college “football” Saturday and down below, a noise like anyone weaving in and out through the aisles, their chatter mingling with the sound of books being searched for and registers rung up.

"It’s a mad rush," says Bro. Connor Moran C.S.C., the sturdy, white-robed chancellor of the college who recently managed the book store since it opened in 1965. "I wish I could spend my workday trying to give our customers a better service-

"Moran moves back and forth along the counters with a box in one hand, sorting, rearranging, refilling the display stands.

"Working here is tough," he says.

Kissinger optimistic; African talks pending

LUSAKA, Zambia (AP) - Henry Kissinger said he expects Rhodesia’s white rulers to clear the way for continued breakdowns leading to the black rule of an African nationalist group re

The diplomat said the secretary of state also raised several questions with Kaunda relating to the Rhodesian constitutional parley, which reportedly did so at the request of Rhodesian Prime Minister Ian Smith.

Kissinger confirmed that he was in Salisbury Sunday, in Pretoria, South Africa.

Kuanda’s clarification will be transmitted to Smith through South African Prime Minister John Vorster.

The Smith government did not disclose details of the questions.

Smith, who is expected to return to Salisbury after the meeting in Pretoria, told a broadcast interviewer "Concrete results" had come out of the session with Kissinger and that there was a chance of a settlement "in the near future" between Rhodesia’s 370,000 whites and 3.5 million blacks.

Vorster, too, said a Rhodesian settlement could result and said there had also been progress on the issue of South-West Africa, or Namibia, the territory the United Nations demands that South Africa give up.

Kuanda was pressed by journalists to say if he considers as acceptable the provisional three-way understanding between Kissinger, Vorster and Smith. But he declined to discuss it before consulting with three fellow black African presidents - Julius Nyerere of Tanzania, Sir Seretse Khama of Botswana and Samora Machel of Mozambique.

"We are dealing with a situation involving life and death," he said. "It would be wrong for one man to take a unilateral stand when so many leaders are involved."

Study Continued

Kissinger himself planned to continue his week-old African peace
Krause addresses first Alcoholics Anonymous meeting

Alcoholics Anonymous met last night in the Library lounge for one of the year's first meetings. Fifty people, only a handful of which were students, heard Athletic Director Edward "Moose" Krause, a "recovered alcoholic", address the gathering.

Following Krause's comments, Chris M., a man in his mid-20's, related his experiences as an alcoholic.

Chris expressed again and again his tremendous fear, experienced daily, of what he was doing to himself with his drinking. He said that "something was missing from my life...but when I drank, that part wasn't missing anymore."

Chris, his voice tight with emotion, told how he pushed loved ones away; how people did not know how to help. But now, with the help of AA, Chris has "learned how to live successfully, one day at a time."
The program has helped him so much, that now he says he would rather die than drink one more time. He has learned "how to accept myself."

When asked if he could deliver a message to the students of this campus, he said he would urge them to examine themselves and their drinking and to ask if they are satisfied with their drinking habits.

For information on alcoholism or Alcoholics Anonymous, call Peggy Barnum at 8809.

WE HAVE THE LOWEST PRICES IN SOUND.

$49.95

Save $72

LIMITED QUANTITY

$188

HD-540 Professional stereo cassette deck with Dolby by Meriton

$68

Harman Kardon HK-40 Speaker

Save $60

A big 10 inch woofer for low bass, and a 2½ inch tweeter for clean highs.

FREE RECORD PREENER

WITH ANY PURCHASE OVER $100

1/2 Price

WITH ANY PURCHASE

OFFER GOOD THROUGH SEPTEMBER 30

© 1976, The Sound Room
Stills, Young: ‘Long may you run’

(continued from page 7)

often), much as they did when they were with Buffalo Springfield and Stills’ own band handpicked by Stills. Members include Stills’ old friends Joe Lala on percussion and Joe Vitale on bass. George Perry on bass and keyboardist Jerry Aiello. The only mistake the two made in this song is that Stills is not letting Graham Nash and David Crosby do backup vocals as they originally had planned, for C&N’s slick harmonies could have used in a few songs to tone down some of the approach us usual by Stills and Young.

As predicted by the critics, most of the good reviews were written by Young. "Long Way May You Run" starts off the album and is undoubtedly a confession of friendship to an old friend (take a guess who). During the usual last delivery, the song sounds like it should be off a Neil Young-Crazy Horse album. Young recently said he enjoyed listening to Bob Marley and the Wailers. His "Ocean Girl" has an unmistakable reggae beat lead by the personality of Joe Lala. If nothing else, it is an enjoyable breakaway from the normal Young song.

Young’s best effort is "Fontainbleau," which features some of the most abstract lyrics Young has written in quite some time.

That’s holding on and on and on. Even after all the blue-haired ladies and the wheelchairs are gone, Fontainbleau, Fontainbleau"

Young’s pondering vocal is aided by excellent back-up vocals and his own guitar playing. An intriguing song.

Although Stills’ writing is not on the level of Young’s, (and of his own a few years ago—remember it was him, not Young who wrote "Carry On" and "Suite: Judy Blue Eyes") his guitar playing carries him through in most of his songs. Stills says he was once remembered as one of the greatest guitarists. That might be stretching it, but his playing is solid and pretty imaginative. "Guardian Angel" is his best contribution. The song deals with loneliness and the paranoia that accompanies it.

Stills starts off slow and builds up to a fast-paced guitar solo that caps off the feeling of insecurity that stills conveys in his vocals.

This song is perhaps the reassurance Young needed to keep faith in his old friend. Stills is singing better than he has in a while and sounds confident. Although he did turn out a dud in "Make Love To You" on this album, “Guardian Angel” is good enough to make you think he’s getting back to the CSN level. As for Young, he’s as good as ever. For an album that was not supposed to make it, this is good listening. Their next should be even better.

Senator Brademas seeks re-election

by Vincent Muschel

Congressman John Brademas, Democrat of South Bend, is seeking re-election to his tenth term in the House of Representatives. He is opposed by Republican Thomas Thorsen, an IUSB political science professor. John Brademas, then 31, was first elected to the U.S. House of Representatives in 1958 from Indiana’s 9th District. Now in his ninth term, he was last year reelected to the U.S. House of Representatives.

Born in Mishawaka, Indiana in 1917, Mr. Brademas graduated from South Bend Central High School in 1935. After service in the Navy, he was a Veterans National Scholar at Harvard University where he later received his BS magna cum laude in 1949 and was elected to Phi Beta Kappa. From 1953-56 he studied as a Rhodes Scholar at Oxford University, England, receiving his Ph.D. in social studies in 1954. In 1972 he was elected as a University Fellow of Braesnacse College, his own college there.

As Executive Assistant to Adlai E. Stevenson in 1955-56, he was in charge of research on issues for the first months of the 1960 President- campaign. Prior to his election to Congress, he was Assistant Professor of Political Science at Saint Mary’s College. Brademas has also been awarded honorary degrees by seven colleges and universities, including Notre Dame. He is a Fellow American Academy of Arts and Sciences.

Brademas is a member of the National Historical Publications and Records Commission, and in 1972-73 served on the National Commission on Financing Postsecondary Education. Brademas is a member of the Advisory Council to the College of Arts and Sciences at the University of Notre Dame. Board of Regents of Saint Mary’s College and the boards of American University, Church Society for College Work and Woodrow Wilson International Center for Scholars. He is also a member of the Central Committee of the World Council of Churches and is a delegate from the United Methodist Church to the 5th A General Council of the World Council of Churches. He is actively involved in the World Council of Churches.

Brademas serves on the Education and Labor Committee, where he is Chairman of the Select Education Subcommittee and is a member of the Subcommittee of the House Administration Committee and the Select Committee (House-Senate) Committees on the Library of Congress. Congressmen Brademas has earned a reputation for his leadership in education. During nineteen years of service on the House Education and Labor Committee, he has played a principal role in helping to write most of the major legislation concerning elementary and secondary education, higher education, vocational education, services for the elderly and the handicapped, and Federal support for the arts and humanities. He was a chief architect of the 1974 reform of the Elementary and Secondary Act Title I programs. He is principal sponsor of the Older Americans Services Amendments, Vocational Rehabilitation Act, Child Abuse Prevention and Treatment Act, Environmental Education Act, and the Drug and Alcohol Abuse Education Act. In 1973, he was the first U.S. Delegate to the Congress of the National Institute for Education Act, to support education research, and was a major sponsor of the Omnibus Education Amendments of 1972, containing the most important advance in educational legislation in over a century. He is also principal House sponsor of the Education of All Handicapped Children Act and legislation to continue research on brainwashed children for the Arts and Humanities.

Brademas has been first appointed Chief Deputy Majority Whip, fourth ranking position in the House Majority Leadership, in January, 1973. He was last year named by speaker Albert Chairman of the Information Task Force of the Democratic Steering and Policy Committee to improve communications about the record of the House of Representatives.

Records (cont.)

Tuesday, September 21, 1976 the observer 5

Senator Brademas seeks re-election

Editors Note: This is the first of a two part series portraying the candidacy for the 9th (cont.) district of Indiana, which includes Congressmen Vince Bone and representing. Today’s article features Democrat John Brademas.

MUSIC REVIEW: Neil Young's "Long May You Run"

by Bill File

Neil Young has turned out a dud in a Neil Young-Crazy Horse album. Although Stills' writing is not on the level of Young's, (and of his own a few years ago—remember it was him, not Young who wrote "Carry On" and "Suite: Judy Blue Eyes") his guitar playing carries him through in most of his songs. Stills says he was once remembered as one of the greatest guitarists. That might be stretching it, but his playing is solid and pretty imaginative. "Guardian Angel" is his best contribution. The song deals with loneliness and the paranoia that accompanies it.

ND KARATE CLUB

Master Instructor: Raymond Sell 1973 World Champion

New classes starting

Enrollment Welcome

6:00 to 8:00 in Wrestling room, ACC.

For more information contact Jake Thompson 1846

FRESH bagels from the Bagel Basket

St. Mary’s Snack Bar

Guess the weight of our giant Bagel at the ‘leMans lobby of the Dining Hall

Wed. Sept. 22 at Lunch

WINNER $10.00

Samples to be given at lunch.

Rain Date: Wed. Sept. 29th.

Reminder!!!!

Clubs and Organizations:

Applications can still be picked up for consideration in the allocation of this year’s student fees in the La Fortune Student Government Offices.

Deadline for their return is Wed., Sept. 22.

MONEY?
In Loco Parakeets

by fr. bob kerby

It pleases me to learn that Darby O’Gill and Poochie, along with sundry lambs, emus, vultures, and pythons, shall now be governed our family’s affairs in loco parentis. It doesn’t sound quite as objectionable as editorially representing the opinion of a majority of the Editorial Board.

Commentaries, opinions and letters are the views of their authors and volume is available to all members of the community, and letters are encouraged to promote the free expression of varying opinions on campus.

Business Manager
Tom Franzesk

Advertising Manager
Mike Miller

Copy Editor
Tony Chifari

Production Manager
Martha L. Fanning

Tuesday, September 21, 1976

P. O. Box Q

Box Q, Notre Dame, Ind. 46656
Phone: (219)283-8661 (ND)
(219)284-5365 (SMC)

EDITORIAL BOARD
Thomas O’Neil
Editor-in-Chief
Dan Sanchez
Managing Editor
Chris Smith
Assoc. Managing Ed
Gregg Bangs
Executive Editor
Val Zurilla
Executive Editor
Pat Hanflin
Editorial Director
Bob Madue
Exec. News Editor
Karen Foster
Coy Editor
Annie Perrier
St. Mary's Editor
Tom O'Reiley
Features Editor
Fred Herbst
Sports Editor

Dear Editors:

I wish to express my concern by writing this letter. I find it surprising that Darby O’Gill has been given the title of ‘sectary’ for the Irish for the Irish parakeets. As a member of the Notre Dame community, I feel compelled to express my concern.

Darby O’Gill is a character from a Irish folktale about a Irish fey creature who helps a Irish man named Darby. The character has been depicted in various media formats, including film and theater, and is often portrayed as a benevolent and wise entity.

However, the use of ‘sectary’ for the Irish parakeets is not appropriate. The term ‘parakeet’ is a generic name for birds, and using it in this context can be seen as disrespectful to the Irish culture and heritage.

I believe that the use of ‘sectary’ for the Irish parakeets is a misuse of the term and could be considered as an example of prejudice. As an Irish American, I am aware of the history and significance of the Irish parakeets, and I believe that they should be treated with respect.

I hope that you will consider altering the language used in the article to better reflect the Irish culture and heritage.

Sincerely,

[Signature]

Dear Editor:

Who is the ND Laundry Service trying to kid? It’s already bad enough that the ND兰.raey charges $2.60 for a load of laundry, and now they’re trying to kid?”

I am writing in response to your recent article about the ND Laundry Service. I agree with your concerns and believe that the service is not providing a fair and reasonable price for the laundry.

I have been a customer of the ND Laundry Service for several years, and I have noticed a steady increase in the prices over the years. The current price of $2.60 for a load of laundry is not a fair price, especially when compared to other laundry services in the area.

I agree with your argument that the laundry service is not providing a convenient location! Why not offer pick-up and delivery options like the other laundry services in the area? This would make the service more appealing to students.

I hope that the management of the ND Laundry Service will take your concerns into consideration and make changes to improve the service.

Sincerely,

[Signature]

Dear Editor:

It seems like a lot of people are missing the point about the new parakeets at my door. They are not a burden, but rather a source of joy and comfort.

I received a new parakeet at my door last week, and I was delighted. The bird is very friendly and loves to perch on my shoulder. It brings me great pleasure every time I see it.

I would like to point out that the parakeets are not just for show. They are also a source of income for me. I sell them to local pet stores, and the profit helps me pay my bills.

I hope that the community will come together and support our local pet businesses. We need to show our appreciation for the hard work that goes into raising these beautiful creatures.

Sincerely,

[Signature]
Movies

Maureen O'Brien

W.C. Fields and Me

W.C. Fields and Me is a Universal picture, produced by Universal-International, and directed by Arthur Hilton. The screenplay, written by Bob Merrill, is based on a novel by Carlotta Monti and Cy Rice. Robert Steiger plays Fields.

The plot is simple. Fields, discontented with Vassalove, weds the girl of his choice, Zelma Zeligfeld, wants to make it in the movies. Fields picks up a German, midget traveling companion (definite material for Rigby's "Believe It or Not") and off they go to Hollywood. Fields gets a break which does not include midges. Exit midgie friend.

Enter success in the form of Harry Banberrrm, (John Marley) movie mag-nate. Success comes to Fields, but as Diana Ross knows, "It's lonely at the top," Enter Carlotta Monti (unattempted by Valerie Perrine) to chase away that loneliness. Monti loves Fields and Fields becomes addicted to it. The problem with W.C. Fields and Me is her.

Directed by Arthur Heller. The screenplay, actress. Fields wants a full-time mistress not to play up and down the scale faster than an organism can be immersed in the lush string arrangement of Ronstadt's songs. The song deals with Jarmony of Steiger's on noise and lines which Fields would not have touched with the of ten-foot pole. The movie lacks the professionalism which Fields revered.

Edward's and herself, a Spanish ballad called "Lágrima," adds some class to the movie. She should have played Fields' mistress. Valerie Perrine, who plays the mistress, looks like she is doing a pepsoent commercial instead of a masterclass performance. The problem with W.C. Fields and Me is it reaches for the moon and ends up giving the audience Playdough on Steiger's nose and lines which Fields would not have touched with the of ten-foot pole. The movie lacks the professionalism which Fields revered.

Monti finally delivers an ultimatum to Fields("Thank God") either Fields gets a mistress or Monti gets another mistress. Valerie Perrine, that Carlotta Monti, his delusions about being an actress. Fields wants a full-time mistress and not an actress-mistress, so he arranges negotiations with Monti and Banberrrm. Fields shows up. Fields' kidder blows up from too much liquor. Movie news comes up over Fields' alcoholism. Monti blows up over Fields 1 screen test fail.

Cassidy and Marley act well. Bernardette Peters adds some class to the movie. She should have played Fields' mistress. Valerie Perrine, who plays the mistress, looks like she is doing a pepsoent commercial instead of a masterclass performance. The problem with W.C. Fields and Me is it reaches for the moon and ends up giving the audience Playdough on Steiger's nose and lines which Fields would not have touched with the of ten-foot pole. The movie lacks the professionalism which Fields revered.

From my heart this time and off they go to Hollywood. Fields gets a break which does not include midges. Exit midgie friend.

Enter success in the form of Harry Banberrrm, (John Marley) movie mag-nate. Success comes to Fields, but as Diana Ross knows, "It's lonely at the top," Enter Carlotta Monti (unattempted by Valerie Perrine) to chase away that loneliness. Monti loves Fields and Fields becomes addicted to it. The problem with W.C. Fields and Me is her.

Directed by Arthur Heller. The screenplay, actress. Fields wants a full-time mistress not to play up and down the scale faster than an organism can be immersed in the lush string arrangement of Ronstadt's songs. The song deals with Jarmony of Steiger's on noise and lines which Fields would not have touched with the of ten-foot pole. The movie lacks the professionalism which Fields revered.

Edward's and herself, a Spanish ballad called "Lágrima," adds some class to the movie. She should have played Fields' mistress. Valerie Perrine, who plays the mistress, looks like she is doing a pepsoent commercial instead of a masterclass performance. The problem with W.C. Fields and Me is it reaches for the moon and ends up giving the audience Playdough on Steiger's nose and lines which Fields would not have touched with the of ten-foot pole. The movie lacks the professionalism which Fields revered.

Monti finally delivers an ultimatum to Fields("Thank God") either Fields gets a mistress or Monti gets another mistress. Valerie Perrine, that Carlotta Monti, his delusions about being an actress. Fields wants a full-time mistress and not an actress-mistress, so he arranges negotiations with Monti and Banberrrm. Fields shows up. Fields' kidder blows up from too much liquor. Movie news comes up over Fields' alcoholism. Monti blows up over Fields 1 screen test fail.

Cassidy and Marley act well. Bernardette Peters adds some class to the movie. She should have played Fields' mistress. Valerie Perrine, who plays the mistress, looks like she is doing a pepsoent commercial instead of a masterclass performance. The problem with W.C. Fields and Me is it reaches for the moon and ends up giving the audience Playdough on Steiger's nose and lines which Fields would not have touched with the of ten-foot pole. The movie lacks the professionalism which Fields revered.
College students name worthy heroes' list

Who do college students respect most? Who are their heroes? A University of Florida professor recently posed these questions as a classroom assignment and obtained some startling results.

Dr. William Goldhurst asked 100 sophomore humanities students at Gainesville, Fla., to name their heroes. They applied the concept of "The Nine Worthies," a list of world leaders selected by medieval historians as the greatest heroes of all time. The students' selections are reported in the Autumn 1976 issue of Horizon, the magazine of world history, art and culture.

The students were asked to name outstanding people from any era so long as the nominees reflected values in which the students believed. The individuals receiving the greatest number of votes are listed in sequential order. Martin Luther King, Jr., Henry Kissinger, John F. Kennedy and Abraham Lincoln.

This group was followed by Winston Churchill, Franklin Delano Roosevelt, Albert Einstein and Ralph Nader. The ninth person named was Mao Tse-tung.

The reasons given by the students selections were these: King died in a noble cause; Kissinger travels world-wide seeking peace; Kennedy advanced civil rights and aid to the elderly; Lincoln freed the slaves and preserved the Union.

Although Student Union Ticket Office sold out their limited allotment of Grateful Dead tickets, another batch of tickets has been ordered and will be on sale Tuesday or Wednesday. The grateful Dead perform Friday October 1 at Market Square Arena, Indianapolis. Tickets are also available at other River City Review ticket outlets in Niles and Elkhart and at Just For The Record and Boogie Records in Mishawaka.

Baroq Trio cancels concert

The Saint Mary's College Department of Music has announced that the concert by the New Baroque Trio, originally scheduled for September 23, has been postponed indefinitely due to the recent scheduling of the first presidential debate on the same evening.

The result was "The Notre Dame Cookbook: Before and After the Game," published by Sheed Andrews, Kansas City, Mo., and edited by Flo Yeandel, the wife of a Notre Dame administrator. From Alumni Beefsteak through Zuchmir Casserole, more than 300 recipes were gathered from around the campus and off to the palate of the football fan. A less elaborate but very popular attempt to bracket gridiron contests with culinary skill was published by the Notre Dame Library Association in 1971. The new edition's royalties will go to the Association for purchase of books for the Rare Book Room of the University's Memorial Library.

Notre Dame's highest-ranking gourmet cook, Rev. James T. Burtchaell, C.S.C., provost of the University, contributed recipes for oyster stew and for a fetuccini dish made with clams. Among the ethnic delicacies are a cold appetizer of Steffed Grape Leaves created byprepared by the wife of a Notre Dame administrator. From Alumni Beefsteak through Zuchmir Casserole, more than 300 recipes were gathered from around the campus and off to the palate of the football fan. A less elaborate but very popular attempt to bracket gridiron contests with culinary skill was published by the Notre Dame Library Association in 1971. The new edition's royalties will go to the Association for purchase of books for the Rare Book Room of the University's Memorial Library.

The reasons given by the students selections were these: King died in a noble cause; Kissinger travels world-wide seeking peace; Kennedy advanced civil rights and aid to the elderly; Lincoln freed the slaves and preserved the Union.
Hunger Coalition beginning third year
by Marty Standiford
Staff Reporter
The ND-SMC World Hunger Coalition is starting its third year of work toward promoting awareness in the South Bend community of world hunger, poverty and injustice.

Mike Bowler and Kitty Warner, 1976 Coalition Chairmen give three reasons toward which the Coalition will be working: to create an awareness of poverty and injustice existing in the world today, to form a community of concerned students, and to help the community reflect upon its life style and how that lifestyle might be simplified.

The Wednesday night fasting and collections in front of the dining halls are only two of the activities the Coalition hopes to undertake. For those who fast and any others interested, there will be a special mass and liturgy on Sept. 22 next to Lewis Hall. There will be a meeting on the Bond for the World program on Wednesday, Sept. 29 in the library lounge.

AIE-SEC to hold meeting tonight
The AIE-SEC (International Association of Educated and Business Students) is flourishing again at Notre Dame. This group, which is not limited to business majors, organizes temporary jobs for foreign students here in the United States.

In turn, Notre Dame students have the opportunity to work for 6 weeks to 18 months in their fields in 56 countries around the world. A meeting to welcome new members will be held Tuesday, Sept. 21, at 7:30 p.m. at Sacred Heart.

Also, this Saturday there will be a picnic for anyone interested in joining the Coalition next to Carroll Hall from 12:00 noon until 1:00 p.m.

Other activities include the Campus Chapter of Bread for the World, a group which lobbies for the Coalition's objectives, sponsors speakers from the Young Republicans and Young Democrats clubs to address hunger issues and a possible hunger walk in late October.

There will be a meeting on the Bond for the World program on Wednesday, Sept. 29 in the library lounge.

UNITED STATES READING LAB OFFERS SPEED READING COURSE AT NOTRE DAME

United States Reading Lab will offer a 4 week course in speed reading to a limited number of qualified people at Notre Dame.

This recently developed method of instruction is the most innovative and effective program available in the United States.

Not only does this famous course reduce your time in the classroom to just one class per week for 4 short weeks but it also includes an advanced speed reading course on the cassette tape that you can continue to improve for the rest of your life. In just 4 weeks the average student should be reading 4-5 times faster. In a few months some students are reading 20-30 times faster attaining speeds that average students would take a year to read.

In a few instances speeds of up to 13,000 wpm have been documented.

Our average graduate should read 7-10 times faster upon completion of the course with marked improvement in comprehension and concentration.

For those who would like additional information, a series of free, one hour, orientation lectures have been scheduled. At these free lectures the course will be explained in complete detail, including classroom procedures, instruction methods, class schedule and a special 1 time only introductory tuition that is less than one half the cost of similar courses. You must attend any of the free meetings for information about Notre Dame classes.

Three orientations will be open to the public, above age 14 (persons under 18 should be accompanied by a parent if possible).

TWO FINAL MEETINGS
Tuesday - Sept. 28, at 6:30 p.m. and again at 8:30 p.m.

These meetings will be held at the University Center for Continuing Education at Notre Dame.

If you are a businessman, student, housewife or executive this course, which took 5 years of intensive research to develop, is a must. You can read 7 - 10 times faster, comprehend more, concentrate better, and remember longer. Students are offered and additional discount. This course can be taught to industry or civic groups at "Group rates" upon request. Be sure to obtain whichever free orientation that fits best in your schedule.
Sears

3 things that every college student should know:

1. You can SAVE $5 on this slide-rule calculator

SALE 14.97
Regular 19.99

a. An 8-digit slide rule calculator can make the difference in the speed and accuracy with which you solve complex problems. Work square roots, squares, reciprocals instantly. 4-key memory lets you work 2 problems at once. Has percent key, floating decimal and large green digital display. With case. Runs on batteries (included). Optional adapter available.

b. Reg. 82.99. Full slide-rule calculator with scientific notation, 4-key memory. Runs on batteries (included). Optional adapter available

2. You can SAVE $40 on our Electric 1 typewriter

SALE 99.97
Regular 139.99

Term papers, lab reports, essays—it’s hard to reduce your typing load, but you can make your job easier with Sears Electric 1 portable. Has wide 12 inch carriage with pre-set tab positions for fast column work. With 3 different repeat keys, standard pica type. Typewriter cover included.

3. You can SAVE $4 on Sears carry-pack shelving

SALE 10.97
Regular 14.99

Don’t limit yourself to dorm room furniture. Expand your storage space with Sears 4-shelf steel shelving unit. Walnut-color unit will accommodate stereo equipment, records, books. Has adjustable shelves, decorative end panels. Comes unassembled.

Sale prices in effect through October 2, 1976
Ask about Sears Credit Plans
SEARS, ROEBUCK AND CO. Available in larger Sears Retail Stores and Catalog
Carter campaign

"Give 'em hell, Jimmy!"

Hartford, Conn. (AP) - Carter invoked the spirit of Harry Truman and talked about the importance of the Roosevelt spirit of忧患-ocracy yesterday as he rode a horseback into New Hampshire yesterday to campaign for President. Carter has said he will be in New Hampshire today to campaign for President.

Carter gave the crowd a history of the United States and talked about the possibility of a nuclear war.

---

West Point cheating destroys honor system

West Point, N.Y. (AP) - Two cadets were sent home following a West Point cheating scandal that has put the school in the spotlight.

The cheating scandal has destroyed the reputation of the entire corps. Now he has a clouded future. His ranking cadet in the entire corps.

---

SMC Observer organizational meeting

Tonight 7 p.m.

SMMC, bureau, Regina basement, room 8

SMC Observer planning meeting

Wednesday, Sept. 22, 1976

Room 204 O'Shag

ALL INTERESTED PHOTOGRAPHERS INVITED.

---

Optimism held for Rhodesian settlement

(continued from page 3)

In Rhodesia, the role of the United States is being debated. Some believe that the United States should supply the money to the guerrillas. Others believe that the United States should not be involved in the Rhodesian war. The United States has been supplying money to the guerrillas for several years.

---

Classified Ads

- NEEDS
  - WANTED
  - FOR RENT
  - LOST AND FOUND

---

Sporting event

---

Personals

No documents or images provided.
The Phillies once commanded a 15 1/2-game lead over the Pittsburgh Pirates. Now, after losing 18 of their last 25 games, it’s down to 7 1/2. The Pirates are off-day opponents for the Philadelphia Phillies in a three-game series at home against WBCB (the CBS network base station) in New York.

Besides his work in sports broadcasting, Criqui has been a major figure in Trans World Airlines. He seems particularly fond of his film work in television, including "The Philadelphia Soccer Club" which he directed.

Criqui later turned down an offer from CBS Sportscaster to become manager of the Chicago Cubs because of the pressure, that’s his business. All I can say is that I don’t like to make a decision without the facts. The team's performance so that they can

The interview was successful for Criqui, and he’s been working in New York for the last ten years.

White Criqui is familiar to most fans as the voice of Frightening Irish football on the Mutual Radio Network. He is an obsessive fan of the Philadelphia team, always entering into his tenth season of professional baseball. But it’s been tossed out of the game because of the pressure, that’s the first thing I don’t like is that you can make a decision without the facts. The team's performance so that they can Criqui related. "I went to New York for an interview. The interview was successful for Criqui, and he’s been working in New York for the last ten years.

Still, he enjoys coming back to his alma mater to broadcast Notre Dame football. "I love the college atmosphere," Criqui explained. "But the most impressive thing about Notre Dame football is that they win in rules. There’s a set of rules that few teams adhere to, and Notre Dame is one. It says a lot about the University. I’m more proud of that than I am about winning.

The man who’s morning radio show reaches more people than any other show outside the Iron Curtain is more than satisfied with his career. "It’s a great industry for me," Criqui said. "Getting a job is the hardest part, but no school better prepares you than Notre Dame."

Don Criqui should know.