Leader's slides highlight professors' interests

by Ann Gales
Senior Staff Reporter

A lecture and slide presentation on the treasures of King Tut's tomb given by Robert Lauter, professor of art, highlighted the First Annual Farley Professors' Night hour and evening in Farley Hall.

Debbie Birker, academic commissioner for Farley Hall and organizer of Professors' Night, explained that the event was intended "to get the professors into the hall and give them a chance to talk with students outside of the classroom."

"Hall fellows and other professors were specially invited, but all were welcome," she explained.

Approximately 100 professors, a group of whom brought their families, attended the open house and lecture.

Leader addressed an audience of approximately 100 students and professors, emphasizing in his presentation the importance of the discovery of Tutankhamun's tomb. "The great significance of the tomb, Leader pointed out, is that it is the only royal tomb ever been found with the burial chamber intact."

The tomb, which was excavated in the 1920's by Howard Carter and Lord Carnarvon of England, is located on the west bank of the Nile in the "Valley of the Kings." It was built some 3,500 years ago for Tutankhamun, a minor 18th Dynas­ty king who was only 18 or 19 when he died.

Approximately 5000 items were found in the tomb by Carter and Carnarvon.

About one-third of the items were part of the "Traveling show" which has attracted this past year "literally millions of Americans" who have stood in line hour after hour to see the collection.

Leader stated that the intrinsic value of the gold items found in the tomb was estimated at $25 million 15 years ago. "We have an old saying that you can't take it with you."

"The problem is that there is a false sense of security living in the dorms," McElroy noted, "and we really have to urge the people to lock their doors.

"In my three other years here, I've lived on Farley. I've never had to worry about doors." Lopez stated, "but you can be careful.

Kathy McElroy, another Farley resident, said, "I entered the dorms around 3 a.m. and noticed a guy outside. I remember thinking how strange it was that everyone wasn't just standing there, gazing into the hall.

McElroy said that the man, a resident of Farley, was "wearing navy sweat pants with white stripes, on the outside of either leg."

"He also had on a short dark jacket that didn't go with the outfit," he added. "He just didn't look like he belonged at Notre Dame."

The emphasis on mass merchandising techniques. As so many of today's newly-married couples stress quality in their purchases, there is also why many advertisers (such as those in mass merchandising techniques.)

Chapter 3: The Disadvantages of "Brand-Name" Diamonds

As soon as are newlyweds, you have probably anticipated the "initial purchase" of your "first diamond" about to incur. And as an enlightened consumer, you're certainly aware that nothing is more expensive than budget items. Let's face it: When you informally discuss dishware, silverware you buy, the onset of a marriage are expected to last long after memories and things are bought and sold into semesters exams and part-time jobs.

That's why so many of today's newly-married couples stress quality in their purchases. And also why many advertisers (such as yourself) are courting your buying power. If you doubt this, I invite you to look at any "new bride" magazine or newsletter in the newsworthy papers. The emphasis on "name brand" quality is truly staggering.

Now, the question remains: does "name brand" have any effect on the quality of your "first diamond"? (Note: They're also promoted in those same publications.)

At the risk of appearing blunt, my answer would be an unqualified No.

The reason? Simply that diamonds are one of nature's meanest supplies, and are not well suited to mass merchandising techniques. You may very well be paying for a "name brand" quality stone from a "name brand" manufacturer. But the quality of the diamond comes with a standardized table does not necessarily mean that it is a "name brand" and that the price is "name brand".

One complaint I've often heard from young brides concerns the "namelessness" of nationally known diamond brands. In fact, one young lady even mentioned to me that she felt like she was "wasting $3500" for her diamond in a catalog, and their engagement ring is a character of a fast-food restaurant. When you buy a "name brand" diamond, you are paying for a lot more than just the stone.
Pioneers keep Irish winless

Catholic clergy report five percent alcoholism rate

by Phil Russo

The National Conference of Catholic Bishops, in its recent report "Alcoholism among Clergy," states that 5 percent of Catholic clergy suffer from this problem. It is a study based on surveys of priests. The report states that alcoholism among clergy is a serious problem, and that 5 percent of them are considered to be alcoholics. The report also says that alcoholism among priests is a problem that is not well understood by the public. The report includes a statement that "alcoholism is a problem of the clergy." The report also states that alcoholism is a problem that is "often unacknowledged." The report notes that alcoholism among priests is a problem that is "often unrecognized." The report also states that alcoholism among priests is a problem that is "often unreported." The report notes that alcoholism among priests is a problem that is "often unaddressed." The report also states that alcoholism among priests is a problem that is "often untreated." The report notes that alcoholism among priests is a problem that is "often untreated.

John Borman, a Notre Dame University student, was given a slide presentation on the problem of alcoholism among priests. The presentation was given to a group of 30 Notre Dame students. It finally comes down to commitment. When you don't like a course, it's hard to excel. The class gets tedious. The texts get boring. The lectures get dreadful. Your work suffers. And so do your grades.

Compare that with the courses you really believe in. You care more. You try more. And without even noticing, you just naturally do better.

It's true in school. It's true outside of school.

For example, we believe there's just one way to brew Busch beer. The natural way. With natural ingredients. Natural carbonation. Natural ageing.

We believe that's the best way to brew a beer.

And when you believe in what you're doing, you just naturally do it better.

Taste a Busch and we think you'll agree.

BUSCH.

When you believe in what you're doing, you just naturally do it better.
Portuguese plane crashes

FUNCHAL, Madeira - At least 130 persons were killed or listed as missing after a Portuguese jetliner overshot the runway, crashed and exploded while landing on this Atlantic holiday island, officials said yesterday. The Boeing 727 of Portugal's national airline TAP skidded off the end of the Santa Cruz Airport runway and burst into flames during blistering weather Saturday night. It carried 156 passengers and eight crew members, TAP spokesmen said.

NEW DELHI, India - A cyclone that battered eastern India for two days, and caused tidal wave, has killed at least 679 persons officials said yesterday. More than 2,000 were reported injured. The storm cut across the Bay of Bengal and hit Andhra Pradesh state Saturday with heavy rains and winds of up to 95 m.p.h., causing widespread devastation and isolating many districts, officials said. The remaining tidal wave flooded or washed away entire coastal villages near Machilipatnam, about 850 miles south-east of here and 210 miles north of Madras, a spokesman at the state capital said. Parts of Machilipatnam were flooded by the wave.

TURKEY DAY at ND - at SMC

There will be a Thanksgiving celebration, including a mass and dinner, for the St. Mary's community tomorrow. According to Jeanette Ritter, spiritual commissioner, there will be a full mass at 4:45 p.m. in Regina Hall Chapel. The celebrant will be the Rev. Edward Krause, s.j., and the Mass will be offered for the Hunger Coalition. She added that it will give St. Mary's students a chance to give thanks together as a community.

Senior Betsy Bestwick organized a special Thanksgiving dinner featuring turkey, dressing, and a special desert bar. Krause will whip on hand following the mass to bless the meal. The dinner will be held at the St. Mary's Dining Hall from 4:30 p.m. to 6:15 p.m.

Darby's Place will open its door in Thanksgiving Day to members of the ND/SMC Community remaining at school during the upcoming break.

Munchies and refreshments will be available beginning at 2 p.m. The movie "The Last Tycoon" will be shown at 4 p.m. This is a 1977 release based on a novel by F. Scott Fitzgerald.

At 6 p.m. Fr. Robert Griffin, the University chaplain and co-proponent at Darby's Place, will celebrate mass at the Keenan-Stanford Chapel. Following the mass at 7 p.m. the main course will be available at Darby's, turkey, ham, and refreshments. Cookies, baked by the Ladies of Notre Dame, and a cake will complete the Thanksgiving Day menu.

At 8 p.m. the movie "Dr. Doolittle" will be shown followed by 40 p.m. by another showing of "The Last Tycoon." Darby's Place is located in the basement of the LaFortune Student Center. Admission is free.

The Fighting Irish basketball team opened up their 1977-78 campaign with a convincing 101-80 thrashing of the Soviet National Team.

The Irish had put the first Notre Dame points on the board with only 25 seconds elapsed in the season. The Russians fought back less than a minute later when Aleksandr Belostenny connected on a rebounded goal for the USSR.

Then, for the next ten minutes, the game was a seesaw battle, with each squad either exchanging points or turnovers. Finally, with 1:41 left before intermission, Bill Lisch finished the exchange of points, and the Irish took the lead, 49-41 with 4:32 remaining in the half.

The Russian revolted with a few points of their own, but the Irish continued to out-score their physical opponents. With one second left before halftime, Button gued the range on a 17 foot jumper from the top of the key to give Notre Dame a commanding 52-34 margin at intermission.

The second half was a constant exchange of points, with the Irish maintaining their 20 point margin. With 7:40 remaining in the battle, Buck Williams came up with a steal, then dinked the ball to give the Irish a 89-63 lead. Rich Brauning connected on a ten foot 1-4 from the right baseline, giving the Irish a 93-63 advantage. But, that was as wide as the Irish lead was to be as the Russians came back in the final margin to 21 points.

The story of the game was one of an unbelievable balanced attack by the Irish and one of turnovers for the USSR. Button led the Notre Dame cagers with 18 points, while Caldwell followed with 16 markers. Lisch, Baumer and Bruce Flowers each added 13 points. In addition, the Irish had 11 players who logged playing time in double figures. Notre Dame also used a multiplicity of defenses to barrage their largest competitors.

Yes, keeping the players fresh and agitated, we must monitor how the Irish overcome the Russians. The USSR gave up 35 turnovers, while Notre Dame suffered only 11. The Irish finished with 12 steals, while the large Russian team. Vladimir Schenkel, who led 411, grabbed 15 rebounds the night against Indiana, was only able to score 15 markers and register five caroms.

Leading the Soviet attack was Vladimir Deszny, who connected on 11 of 17 field goal attempts and six of seven free throws for 22 points. Tucherman was the only other Russian player who reached double figures.

Lambe led the Notre Dame cagers with eight rebounds, while freshman Orlando Woolridge became an instant crowd pleaser with his spectacular blocked shots and six caroms.

"I think the Notre Dame team is quite powerful," Russian Coach Aleksandr Gomelsky stated after the game. "They have a good overall technique, shooting, rebounding and physical strength.

The USSR coach agreed that his team may have been tired from all of their traveling and the difficulties caused by playing under collegiate regulations. But, he was quick to stress the strength of the Irish.

"I think we lost to a very powerful, strong and classy team," Gomelsky remarked. "Notre Dame does not only have good players, they have a good overall team.

"Notre Dame has led the nation in rebounding margin over their opponents in the past two seasons. However, the Irish were out-rebounded by their competitors, 41-38. But, Notre Dame Head Coach Digger Phelps witnessed several positive aspects in Friday night's contest.

"We're very happy with the balance we had," the Irish mentor commented. "We must have pressured them, and that made them look bad. We're just happy to have our depth. We have 13 or 16 guys and that's going to be our team.

The Irish's next clash will be this Saturday against the University of Mississippi at home. The Russians continue their U.S tour tonight when they battle Rutgers.
