Carter announces talks to end Rhodesian war

LAGOS, Nigeria (AP) - President Carter said yesterday the United States and Great Britain are calling all sides in Rhodesia's guerrilla war together with representatives of the United Nations in a new effort to bring peace and black majority rule to the strife-torn nation.

The president made the announcement at the conclusion of talks with Nigerian chief of state Obasanjo.

Carter said the meeting on Rhodesia will be held as soon as possible.

He said invitations to the new talks will go to white Rhodesian Prime Minister Ian Smith, moderate black leaders in Rhodesia and guerrilla chieftains fighting from bases in neighboring countries for political control of the breakaway British colony.

Representatives of the five neighboring "front-line" states also will be invited, Carter said.

The president met with Obasanjo for more than an hour after the two leaders attended church at a baptism service held here in Lagos.

Both men are Baptists.

Following the talks, the American president and his wife toured a new $325 million port facility on Tin Can Island, once a garbage dump in Lagos harbor. The Carter family was boarded an American freighter tied up at the island and shook hands with its captain and crew.

Carter wound up his stay in Nigeria with a state dinner last night. He leaves today for Libera and a stopover for lunch with President William Tolbert. The Carters, daughter Amy and top U.S. foreign policy advisers return to Washington later today after seven days in Latin American and West Africa.

In a brief meeting with reporters, Carter said he and Obasanjo found no disagreement over the three major African issues - Rhodesia, South-West Africa, or Namibia.

As a brief meeting with reporters, Carter said he and Obasanjo found no disagreement over the three major African issues - Rhodesia, South-West Africa, or Namibia.

Following the talks, the American president and his wife toured a new $325 million port facility on Tin Can Island, once a garbage dump in Lagos harbor. The Carters were boarded an American freighter tied up at the island and shook hands with its captain and crew.

Carter wound up his stay in Nigeria with a state dinner last night. He leaves today for Libera and a stopover for lunch with President William Tolbert. The Carters, daughter Amy and top U.S. foreign policy advisers return to Washington later today after seven days in Latin American and West Africa.

At a brief meeting with reporters, Carter said he and Obasanjo found no disagreement over the three major African issues - Rhodesia, South-West Africa, or Namibia.

As a brief meeting with reporters, Carter said he and Obasanjo found no disagreement over the three major African issues - Rhodesia, South-West Africa, or Namibia.

Friday...

Drinking in Michigan? Legal age to change to 19

by Jim Blaha

The drinking age in Michigan will change from 18 to 19 on Dec. 3, 1978. The State Senate, on votes of 28-3 and 29-3, approved minor house amendments to bills that change the drinking age. The bills must still be signed by Gov. William Milliken, but he has said he will sign the bills.

Under the legislation, teenagers who haven't turned 18 by Dec. 3 will have to wait until they are 19 to legally take a drink. Teens who are 18 when the laws take effect will be able to continue drinking.

The legislation was sponsored by Sen. James DeLana, D-Wyandotte, and a petition drive to raise the age to 21 is underway. If enough signatures are obtained, the issue will be on the November ballot.

The petition has collected 137,022 signatures thus far. This is half the number needed to put the issue on the ballot. The legislation, as well as the petition, was prompted by school administrators, who complain that students are coming to school drunk and are supplying liquor to their underaged classmates.

"Raising it to 21 will solve a lot of problems the schools have," said Sen. Alvin DeGrow, R-Pigeon, a supporter of the petition drive.

"There are a lot of parts to the problem...but one of the biggest issues on the ballot. The legislation, as well as the petition, was prompted by school administrators, who complain that students are coming to school drunk and are supplying liquor to their underaged classmates.

"Raising it to 21 will solve a lot of problems the schools have," said Sen. Alvin DeGrow, R-Pigeon, a supporter of the petition drive.

"There are a lot of parts to the problem...but one of the biggest issues on the ballot. The legislation, as well as the petition, was prompted by school administrators, who complain that students are coming to school drunk and are supplying liquor to their underaged classmates.

...Sunday

an independent student newspaper serving Notre dame and st. mary's

Vol. XII, No. 108

Monday, April 3, 1978

The Observer

[Continued on page 5]
House designated landmark

SOUTH BEND, Ind. (AP) - The Clement Sudekuder House, now known as Tippecanoe Place, was designated a National Historic Landmark by Interior Secretary Cecil D. Andrus, Rep. John Brademas, D-Ind., announced this weekend. Brademas said such status is only awarded to buildings with some historic significance. Sudekuder, the founder and first president of Sudekuder Manufacturing Co., built the home in 1866.

WEATHER

There is a 30 percent chance of rain today and with partly sunny skies forecast this afternoon. Highs mid to upper 60s. Variable cloudiness tonight and tomorrow. Lows upper 40s to around 50. Highs upper 50s to low 60s.

On Campus Today

12:15 pm lecture “alternatives to chalk and talk,” by dr. emile holton, sponsored by educational media office; fresh- man learning resource center, brownsen hall.
12:15 pm faculty forum “british industry & economy,” by david marston, london graduate school of business, sponsored by college of business administration, brownsen hall.
7 pm “a forum on the charismatic movement” by dr. ed o’connor, sponsored by howard and baird religious commission, howard hall, public invited.
7.6 & 10 pm film series, “the confessions of aman,” filmed in span, eng. aud.
7:20 pm duplicate bridge, ladies of nd, faculty & staff duplicate bridge, university club.
7:30 pm lecture, “photography & silkscreen,” sponsored by isis student art gallery and nd art gallery, speaker sam wong, nd art gallery in o’shag, public invited.
8 pm meeting, nd groundskeepers rights coalition meeting,afortune lounge.
8 pm philosophy perspective series, “the concept of justice,” by prof. kurt baier, u of pittsburgh, sponsored by philosophy dept. galvin aud.
8 pm lecture, “the christian woman in today’s world,” by mrs. patricia crowley, christian family movement, sponsored by women’s rights adv. room 105, law school.
8 pm second scene drama, “les parents terribles,” gene cocteau, directed by mark amenta: o’loughlin aud, no charge.
9-12 pm smoker, sponsored by pre-law society, senior bar.
10 pm meeting, knights of columbus, nomination of officers, k of c hall.
10:30 pm meeting, board of trustees, university police.

SMC Student Government

now accepting applications for the following positions:

social commissioner judicial commissioner sports commissioner public relations commissioner development commissioner spiritual commissioner election commissioner co-ex commissioner

Applications available at Student Activities Office

Questions: call Gail Durragh 4569

CUSS holds initial meeting

Consumers United to Stop Stevens (CUSS) held its initial meeting Friday night in the board meeting room at Indiana University-South Bend. CUSS is the South Bend area chapter of the nationwide coalition against J.P. Stevens & Co., the second largest textile manufacturer in the United States and a chronic violator of its workers’ rights.

In 1976 a boycott of J.P.Stevens products was called because of the company’s union busting practices. The National Labor Relations Board has found the company guilty in 16 separate cases involving violations of the National Labor Relations Act.

Unfortunately these convictions were levied for the firing of several hundred workers for union activity and the extensive harassment of thousands more. The company has also been convicted of tax avoidance, industrial piracy, price fixing, electronic surveillance and discriminatory employment practices. On six occasions the company has been cited for contempt in defying court orders.

The boycott was brought about due to the failure of legal sanctions in remedying the situation. One judge noted in a Stevens case that “neither the passage of time nor the admonishments of judicial tribunals have caused the company to alter its now all too familiar pattern of hostility and the rejection of unionization.” (J.P.Stevens v. NLRB 441 F. 6th, 514).

The intent of the boycott against J.P. Stevens is to force the company to deal with its workers in a legal and just manner. The company employs over 45,000 workers in 85 plants.

The national effort against the company has involved numerous religious and civic organizations as well as labor unions. The 25 people who attended the first meeting of CUSS represented a wide spectrum of the Michiana community.

At Friday’s meeting committees were set up to educate the community on the issues involved in the J.P. Stevens case. Plans for the near future include several film showings, group presentations and other public information activities. Anyone interested in the anti-Stevens campaign should contact Jim Miller at 239-3674. Joe Lawrence at 232-4716, 237-4325, or 237-4326, Tina Wagle at 674-8431 or Ed Gaffney at 283-2786.

The Observer is published Monday through Friday except during exam and vacation periods. The Observer is published by the Students of Notre Dame and Saint Mary’s Colleges. Subscriptions $3.00 per semester. From The University of Notre Dame, P.O. Box 1692, South Bend, Ind. 46614. The Observer is a member of the Indiana Collegiate Press Association. All reproduction rights are reserved.

St. Mary’s Jr. Class presents,

“Never On A Sunday”, a seminominal at Brother’s

Saturday, April 9

tickets on sale at 7pm --12:30

$13 a couple

open bar, snacks, boutonniere & dancing!

1979 Sophomore Literary Festival any freshman interested in applying for chairman or committee positions on the 1979 Sophomore Literary Festival Council should leave his/her name in the English Office

(309 O’Shag) by April 7.

HOWARD-BADIN RELIGIOUS COMMISSION

PRESENTS

A FORUM

on the

CHARISMATIC MOVEMENT

CONDUCTED BY FR. ED. O’CONNOR C.S.C

MONDAY APRIL 3

7:00 PM HOWARD HALL
We want to make Student Government a more service-oriented organization dedicated to the development of the South Bend community. Not only are we the voice of the students, we encompass and represent the entire student body. The more we work on behalf of all students, the more the students we can get involved. It's an inordinate amount of work to keep up with student needs and thoughts, but I'm afraid we have no choice but to get students involved in the government.

LAVERTY: She has encompassing more of the Saint Mary's community. Not only are we the voice of the students, we encompass and represent the entire student body. The more we work on behalf of all students, the more the students we can get involved. It's an inordinate amount of work to keep up with student needs and thoughts, but I'm afraid we have no choice but to get students involved in the government.

Rukavina: At a critical juncture in the peace process, and because "the halo of war veterans is demagogic in our country, where most men are war veterans," she said.

The way the young Israeli ex-soldiers tell it, their movement was born around a coffee table a few weeks ago when, in the words of one, Moshe Mordecai, "we felt we had a chance for peace following the victory over Anwar Sadat's visit here, and the chance was lost for us.

They gathered 300 signatures of fellow veterans on a letter to Begin urging him to relinquish more land to Egypt. Bender has taken an innovative approach to solving problems that are within the scope of student government. He has demonstrated the responsiveness of the university to acute problems of hall life,...

The administration, which is a huge campus media and the SBP, is very popular and well organized. It has attracted attention in more government circles.

"We've had more than enough. We have more than enough students who are interested in the government," she said. "But I think that's essential in order for students to be good leaders. And I'm certain that we have a good chance of getting more people into political positions. I want people who wouldn't be afraid to tell me what they thought of the government," she continued.

In serving the Saint Mary's community, the region in which the Rukavina administration made their mark, student government officials are aware of the expectations and goals set up during their campaign last April.

"We're always a complaint agency, work for a more equitable system of social space and increase student input into Student Government by having weekly forums conducted by campus media and the SBP and SBVP to hear students' complaints and suggestions. We can't help but succeed. All of the above the feeling of wondering if signatories were combat officers, hall judicial boards.

No one can gauge yet how the students perceive the Rukavina administration, but the community was the area in which the Rukavina administration made their mark.

"They just took the ball and ran with it," Rukavina said. "It's just an example of the terrific staff I had this year, which made my job a lot easier. I'm a firm believer in surrounding myself with people more qualified in certain areas than myself. You need a large group of people who will disagree with you and keep you honest."

"I think that's essential in order for a good leader. And I'm certainly trying to get the best people into political positions. I want people who wouldn't be afraid to tell me what they thought of the government," she continued.
Students co-author sports novel
by Jim Brennan

Three University of Notre Dame students, including All-American tight end Ken MacAfee, are co-authors of a new sports novel. Called "Crisis," the book is expected to be released tomorrow by the Juniper press, a senior English major from Indianapolis named J.C. Nelson, a January graduate in English from Indiana University at Bloomington, is also a co-author.

Congress faces pending business
WASHINGTON (AP) - Congress returns today from its Easter recess with the Panama Canal Treaty on the agenda and the pending business in the Senate and a bill to reorganize the postal service before the House.

The House ethics committee resumes its investigation of a possible Korean influence-peddling involving Tongue Park, and conference committees continue their effort to work out compromises on energy and emergency farm legislation.

Senate leaders already have an agreement that will bring the second of the two canal treaties to a final vote no later than April 26. But both proponents and foes of the pact anticipated it could come sooner.

Senate Majority Leader Robert C. Byrd, D-W.Va., is anxious to dispose of the treaty issue that has occupied the Senate since early February, because deadlines are approaching for action on budget legislation.

The Senate already has approved one of the canal treaties, guaranteeing the waterway's neutrality. The remaining treaty would give control of the canal to the Panamanian government by the year 2000.

The major issue on the House floor this week is likely to be the proposal to reinstate some government control over the Postal Service, specifically by denying the upcoming Congress veto power over any proposed change in mail service, and by allowing the president to choose the postmaster general.

Since 1970, the Postal Service has been a semi-independent agency. The plan to restore government control over it is expected to have a fight on its hands.

Less clear are the fates of the energy and farm bills.

Differing versions of plans to deregulate natural gas pricing are before a House-Senate conference committee, and some lawmakers have indicated they are not close to a final agreement on that issue.

President Carter has promised to veto the farm subsidy bill now in conference. It would boost price supports for major crops, pay farmers to idle additional acres and ensure producers of wheat, feed grains and cotton higher federal guarantees if they reduce acreages up to 50 percent.

Dave Bender

(Created from page 3)

from the Faculty Senate and the Vice-President for Student Affairs and the Dean of Students.

In keeping with his pledge to meet with the alumni, Bender and Representative Patty Dandridge began a series of meetings with members of the Board of Directors of the Alumni Association last September. Initial letters were sent to the 21 directors each month and such activities planned as the Alumni-Senior picnic, to be held May 6.

Finally, Bender's administration, an HPC committee proposed elimination to the Student Government Constitution, which were accepted this Spring; a student escort service began operating last October as a result of complaints about the campus parking by students and two new Student Government Cabinet positions were created, those of Internal and Social Coordinators, and Social Justice Representative.

Claws is a fictional account of a semi-pro football team, the Coonaman North Dakota War Eagles, that turns itself around after twenty-three straight losses to vie for the semi-pro Louisiana Farmhouse League championship.

The team has organizational problems, especially between the general manager and the quarterback-play-coach, who has a father-type image and is one of only three players that went to college on this team of mostly druggies who find themselves playing football in North Dakota. The general manager uses team funds to pay his personal debts and earlier had sold the team's home field, so now they must play all of their games on the road.

When the general manager finds out that he can win a free ticket into the Continental League if his team starts to win, he tells his player-coach who gets the impression that the whole team will go along with the general manager to this new league. This is the turning point for the team. Once they have this incentive, things begin to fall into place. The players, extremely character types, are high-spirited and very spirited. They get better with every win and eventually end up playing for the championship.

The book was co-written by the three co-authors at a weekly writing class at Notre Dame during the first semester. At the time, it was written for publication but as a project for the semester. It is not connected to any real team, play, or league. It is a humorous, fictitious writing for the purpose of entertainment.

Juniper Press is a student-operated publishing company which was started last year by Elizabeth Christian, associate professor of American studies at Notre Dame. Claus was selected from more than two dozen manuscripts submitted to the press. Co-author George Berry gave much credit to the writing course and especially to the Juniper Press which makes it possible for students to publish books which otherwise probably wouldn't be published.

Dave Bender

(Created from page 3)

[continued from page 3]

from the Faculty Senate and the Vice-President for Student Affairs and the Dean of Students.

In keeping with his pledge to meet with the alumni, Bender and Representative Patty Dandridge began a series of meetings with members of the Board of Directors of the Alumni Association last September. Initial letters were sent to the 21 directors each month and such activities planned as the Alumni-Senior picnic, to be held May 6.

Finally, Bender's administration, an HPC committee proposed elimination to the Student Government Constitution, which were accepted this Spring; a student escort service began operating last October as a result of complaints about the campus parking by students and two new Student Government Cabinet positions were created, those of Internal and Social Coordinators, and Social Justice Representative.

Claws is a fictional account of a semi-pro football team, the Coonaman North Dakota War Eagles, that turns itself around after twenty-three straight losses to vie for the semi-pro Louisiana Farmhouse League championship.

The team has organizational problems, especially between the general manager and the quarterback-play-coach, who has a father-type image and is one of only three players that went to college on this team of mostly druggies who find themselves playing football in North Dakota. The general manager uses team funds to pay his personal debts and earlier had sold the team's home field, so now they must play all of their games on the road.

When the general manager finds out that he can win a free ticket into the Continental League if his team starts to win, he tells his player-coach who gets the impression that the whole team will go along with the general manager to this new league. This is the turning point for the team. Once they have this incentive, things begin to fall into place. The players, extremely character types, are high-spirited and very spirited. They get better with every win and eventually end up playing for the championship.

The book was co-written by the three co-authors at a weekly writing class at Notre Dame during the first semester. At the time, it was written for publication but as a project for the semester. It is not connected to any real team, play, or league. It is a humorous, fictitious writing for the purpose of entertainment.

Juniper Press is a student-operated publishing company which was started last year by Elizabeth Christian, associate professor of American studies at Notre Dame. Claus was selected from more than two dozen manuscripts submitted to the press. Co-author George Berry gave much credit to the writing course and especially to the Juniper Press which makes it possible for students to publish books which otherwise probably wouldn't be published.

Dave Bender
FR. EDWARD O'CONNOR

Forum tonight on Charismatics
The Howard-Bardin Religious Commission will present a forum on the Charismatic (or Pentecostal) Movement in the Catholic Church tonight at 7 p.m. in Howard Hall. The principal speaker will be Fr. Edward O’Connor, S.C., professor of theology at Notre Dame.

Becky Fourns, a registered nurse in the medical school's cancer treatment section, told the American Cancer Society's weekly seminar for science writers that the new drug improves patients' attitudes and quality of life when used with the painful side effects of their treatment.

WSND radio announces '78-'79 department heads
WSND has announced the 1978-'79 department heads whose duties became effective this past weekend. Among the seven new department heads chosen, two women are filling positions that have previously been held by men.

Michigan changes drinking age
[Continued from page 1]
Of the participants have been FM Manager in the Charismatic (or Pentecostal) Movement in the Catholic Church weekend. Among the seven new department heads chosen, two women are filling positions that have previously been held by men.

HOUSTON (AP) - Cancer patients at the Indiana University School of Medicine are overcoming the pain of chemotherapy with a synthetic drug related to the active ingredient in marijuana, an IU researcher reported.

Beky Fourns, a registered nurse in the medical school's cancer treatment section, told the American Cancer Society's weekly seminar for science writers that the new drug improves patients' attitudes and quality of life when used with the painful side effects of their treatment.

The chemical, nabulone, was developed by the Indianopolis-based Elkins Kelco pharmaceutical and firm and has proved more effective in standard drugs taken to reduce the nausea and vomiting that child accompany chemotherapy.

Nabulone is chemically related to THC, the ingredient that produces the "high" when marijuana is smoked or eaten. But nabulone must be created synthetically. Miss Fourns explained, and it does not intoxicate cancer patients.

"Most cancer patients now would resist taking marijuana in any form," she told the science writers.

"They want to feel as normal as possible and don't want any 'high' from their treatment."

Miss Fourns said some of her own cancer patients complained of the effects of nabulone, which has an experimental dating from the federal Food and Drug Administration, and compares, the drug usually normal used to fight nausea in chemotherapy patients.

Thirty-eight of the 47 patients reported suffering milder side effects with nabulone, she said. The drug also reduced nausea on the second day of the five-day chemotherapy treatments, while compa- nies acted more slowly.

Miss Fourns said patients also reported they slept better, had better appetites, and were in better spirits when using nabulone.

It was discovered, however, that some patients suffered from de- creased blood pressure while using nabulone, and others found that it caused generally effectiveness.

Cancer specialists at IU are continuing their study of the drug, she said, and their results will be compared with studies done at the University of Arizona. The tests will be used by the FDA to decide if nabulone should be offered as a standard treatment.

The exhibition is open Monday through Friday, 9 a.m.-5 p.m.; Saturdays and Sundays, noon-5 p.m. at the Art Center, which is located at 120 S. St. Clair Street.

For additional information, please call the Art Center at 284-9102.

Related to THC
New drug helps chemotherapy pain
THC, the ingredient that produces the "high" when marijuana is smoked or eaten. But nabulone must be created synthetically. Miss Fourns explained, and it does not intoxicate cancer patients.

"Most cancer patients now would resist taking marijuana in any form," she told the science writers.

"They want to feel as normal as possible and don't want any 'high' from their treatment."

Miss Fourns said some of her own cancer patients complained of the effects of nabulone, which has an experimental dating from the federal Food and Drug Administration, and compares, the drug usually normal used to fight nausea in chemotherapy patients.

Thirty-eight of the 47 patients reported suffering milder side effects with nabulone, she said. The drug also reduced nausea on the second day of the five-day chemotherapy treatments, while compa- nies acted more slowly.

Miss Fourns said patients also reported they slept better, had better appetites, and were in better spirits when using nabulone.

It was discovered, however, that some patients suffered from de- creased blood pressure while using nabulone, and others found that it caused generally effectiveness.

Cancer specialists at IU are continuing their study of the drug, she said, and their results will be compared with studies done at the University of Arizona. The tests will be used by the FDA to decide if nabulone should be offered as a standard treatment.

He was in his twenties.
So was she.
Both were Catholic, unmarried, beautiful, creative.
Both cared about people and cared for them.

How come he never thought of the priesthood?
How come she never thought of being a nun?

"No one ever asked me," they said.

Is this your story?
No one ever asked you?
Well, we're asking.

Mail Coupon Today
Send this certificate to:

Mail Coupon Today
2-3

Address
City, State, ZIP

VOCATIONS COMMITTEE/SUPREME COUNCIL KNIGHTS OF COLUMBUS
New Haven, CT 06507
Looking Back

A Beginning

tom soma

My Turn

mery rukavina

Like all years, I had my ups and downs. I gained footage when and where I least expected it, and fell ill in areas where I thought I had made it. I learned a great deal about the world, and more and more I realized that I had to keep my own house in order, and to improve my own personal self. The words should have been flowing with ease and yet I didn't have the vaguest notion of how to appropriately sum up a year's activities.

Then I began looking at it in a broader term. I began thinking about what it was that I was really trying to evaluate. It was, after all, just my year of life. Did I do one evaluate a year of life? When I look back, I think it became easier for me to write.

DOONESBURY

CLOSE-UP AS CAI ANO THtN THE CAMERA CJJ75

by Garry Trudeau

WASHINGTON—"Hi, my name is Bert Lance.

"And I'm the Sheik of Arab.

"You're just the man I want to talk to. How much do you want to loan me $5 million?"

"What on earth?"

"Well, you see I owe the First National Bank of Chicago a bundle of money, and this bank in Ten-nessse, and I have to unload my stock in the National Bank of Georgia. If you let me have the loan, I'll be able to take over the bank."

"Of course not. But didn't the President give you a diplomatic passport?"

"Yeah, but gives everyone from Georgia one. Some Presidents give out tie clasps. Other Presidents, cufflinks. Jimmy likes to give people diplomatic passports. I gave mine back."

"Why?"

"I didn't want anyone saying I was using my White House connections to buy up banks with Arabs."

"Well, my people are always interested in loans $5 million to Americans, but at the same time it would be nice if I could say the President had taken the loan under those conditions. A man in my position has to stand on his record in the banking business, and not on what he knows in Washington."

"I respect you for that, Mr. Lance."

"Well, most people who come to us are looking for advice and not for our personal company."

"I respect you for that, President. Lance."

"Well, most people who come to us are looking for advice and not for our personal company."

"Lambelle tastes for me all the time."

"Yes, Bert. everybody here has to know the President intimately for private reasons."

"Why don't you, and low is what I tell her? I'm just a poor boy from Georgia, but if I can't put a bank deal together without using Jimmy's name. I'd rather pick peanuts."

"Since this deal you're talking about involves a great deal of money, my fellow sheiks would want some assurance that the U.S. government would step in if it gets out the ground."

"Trust me. Check me out. Look what I did in Calhoun. When you mentioned Bank of Georgia, isn't it true that you're right if it weren't for me?"

"Do you think I don't know how to take over a bank and put it immediately into trouble with the SEC?"

"You think I'm planning to take over, where is it?"

"The only place I'm going is the Oval Office."

"And when?"

"It's walking distance of the Treasury Department, but since I body, should feel nothing but walk there.

The only way we can assure that if we get involved, we won't be embarrassed because everyone thinks you're the President's best friend?"

"Trust me."

| '78, Los Angeles Times Syndicate |
The Absurder and Humorless Christians

fr. bill toohey

I'm writing this early on April Fool's Day. It's very early because I get up early; and I get up early in order to phone Greg Solman. I wanted to wake him up, get him out of bed, and wish him Happy April Fool's Day.

I also wanted to congratulate him on the piece he did on me in The Absurder. I tried to explain that it's not very comforting because I have no doubt that there is nothing more, but that the time the designer becomes aware of what he is doing through the gaffas with the director, so the main technician will understand that he is working very carefully before finding himself in laugh-tear. I don't think they could learn something from Lazarus. You see, Lazarus came out of the total darkness. Eugene O'Neill suggests, as much in Lazarus Laughed. Lazarus had no control over his laughter. Jesus knew that his mission and joke would only be misunderstood. The laughter of hope-dear hope in knowing that God's grace is being poured out on the world. Hope that what shall be shall be, in the knowledge that the future is not entirely in human hands, but in the hands of One who is the goal of Lazarus and called him forth.

I'm in the lights of hope-dear hope in knowing that God's grace is being poured out on the world. Hope that what shall be shall be, in the knowledge that the future is not entirely in human hands, but in the hands of One who is the goal of Lazarus and called him forth.

And things haven't gotten any better. Sometimes I have the horrible fear that the whole darn country may become like solemn Joe B. Solman. I wanted to wake him up, get him out of bed, and wish him Happy April Fool's Day.

And I'm not the only one who feels something is missing. Many of my dorm buddies would normally have immoduline in hand. They are doing their job well.

The Absurder and Humorless Christians

Jim Casurella

"Rush" Day in the Life of a Theatre Technician

I'm writing this early on April Fool's Day. It's very early because I get up early; and I get up early in order to phone Greg Solman. I wanted to wake him up, get him out of bed, and wish him Happy April Fool's Day.

I also wanted to congratulate him on the piece he did on me in The Absurder. I tried to explain that it's not very comforting because I have no doubt that there is nothing more, but that the time the designer becomes aware of what he is doing through the gaffas with the director, so the main technician will understand that he is working very carefully before finding himself in laugh-tear. I don't think they could learn something from Lazarus. You see, Lazarus came out of the total darkness. Eugene O'Neill suggests, as much in Lazarus Laughed. Lazarus had no control over his laughter. Jesus knew that his mission and joke would only be misunderstood. The laughter of hope-dear hope in knowing that God's grace is being poured out on the world. Hope that what shall be shall be, in the knowledge that the future is not entirely in human hands, but in the hands of One who is the goal of Lazarus and called him forth.

And things haven't gotten any better. Sometimes I have the horrible fear that the whole darn country may become like solemn Joe B. Solman. I wanted to wake him up, get him out of bed, and wish him Happy April Fool's Day.

I also wanted to congratulate him on the piece he did on me in The Absurder. I tried to explain that it's not very comforting because I have no doubt that there is nothing more, but that the time the designer becomes aware of what he is doing through the gaffas with the director, so the main technician will understand that he is working very carefully before finding himself in laugh-tear. I don't think they could learn something from Lazarus. You see, Lazarus came out of the total darkness. Eugene O'Neill suggests, as much in Lazarus Laughed. Lazarus had no control over his laughter. Jesus knew that his mission and joke would only be misunderstood. The laughter of hope-dear hope in knowing that God's grace is being poured out on the world. Hope that what shall be shall be, in the knowledge that the future is not entirely in human hands, but in the hands of One who is the goal of Lazarus and called him forth.
Sadaq calls for 'clear change in Israeli position'

[AP] - President Anwar Sadat estimates that Israeli Defense Minister Ezer Weizman would return to Egypt this week for further exploratory talks, but the Egyptian leader ruled out a resumption of full-scale negotiations "unless there is a clear change in the Israeli position." Syria, meanwhile, accused Israel of sending "terrorist" infiltrates to mine a key highway linking Syria and Jordan and said 12 Syrians, including nine soldiers, were killed in an attempt to defeat the mines.

An Israeli military command spokesman in Tel Aviv denied knowledge of the incident.

Sadat, in an interview published in Cairo's October Magazine, said the search for common ground between Egypt and Israel "should continue because we are parties to the Mideast problem." He said, however, that "severe differences" remain between the two countries on how to achieve peace.

Weizman, who met with Sadat in Egypt last week in a bid to restart further exploratory talks, but the Egyptian leader ruled out a clear change in the Israeli position unless there is a clear change in the Israeli position." Sadat was quoted as saying talks at the weekly meeting of the Safety council.

"It is impossible to resume the meetings of the military and political committees unless there is a clear change in the Israeli position," sadat was quoted as saying in the interview. Egyptian officials said Weizman's return to Egypt this week for talks was a sign of Israel's "clear change in Israeli position."
Oscars start furor—as usual

HOLLYWOOD (AP) - Controversy surrounds the Motion Picture Academy as Jewish and Arab activists plan to demonstrate at the 50th annual awards tonight over the appearance of nominee Vanessa Redgrave.

An estimated 500 Los Angeles policemen and sheriffs' deputies, as well as the academy's own security staff, will be on duty outside the downtown Music Center, with others stationed inside. The Jewish Defense League (JDL) says 400 persons will participate in a "peaceful but innovative" demonstration at the ceremony. The actress is nominated for supporting actress for her role of underground fighter against the Nazis in "Julia." The League is protesting the British actress' financing and narration of a documentary, "The Palestine." Supporters of the Palestine Liberation Organization, whose leader Yasser Arafat appears in the documentary, plans to counter with its own demonstration, with 200 people expected.

Miss Redgrave's film has clouded her candidacy for the Oscar. The JDL is demanding that 20th Century-Fox, producer of "Julia," promise never to hire the actress again and repudiate her alleged anti-Israel statements. Picketing of theaters playing "Julia" was threatened if the demands aren't met.

But the film company refused to accede, stating it would not sponsor a return of movie blacklists. Hollywood craft guilds supported the studio's stand.

A Fox official spoke to Miss Redgrave in London last week, suggesting that she come here as an artist and not a propagandist. She reportedly gave assurances that she would appear as an artist.

Controversy is nothing new to the Academy Awards. In recent years the event has been picketed by Vietnam War protesters, as well as blacks and Mexican-Americans seeking better representation in the film industry. In 1973 Marlon Brando used the awards to protest treatment of American Indians in films, sending a part-Indian actress to refuse his Oscar for "The Godfather."

Two years ago, producer Bert Schneider accepted a documentary award with praise for the Viet Cong. His comments riled Bob Hope, who wrote a disclaimer for Frank Sinatra to deliver later in the show.

Whatever happens outside the Music Center, the awards telecast will begin at 7 p.m. PST over the ABC network and is expected to conclude at 10 p.m. However the largest assemblage ever of Oscar winners is promised for the 50th anniversary show and the telecast could run long—well into the wee hours for East Coast viewers.

Sandeen to lecture, deliver poetry reading

Dr. Ernest Sandeen, professor emeritus of English and a member of the University of Notre Dame faculty 32 years, will present two public lectures and a reading of his poetry tomorrow night through Thursday. The programs are of the University and are open to the public.

Tuesday night at 4:30 p.m. in the Memorial Library Lounge. The topic for Wednesday in the same locations will be "Thoreau and the Transcendental Metaphor." The Notre Dame Press, publishers of a recent book of Sandeen's poetry, will use the English Department in sponsoring a poetry reading and reception in the O'Shaugnessy Hall Art Gallery at 4:30 p.m. Thursday.

Miss Sandeen will discuss "Emerson and the Transcendental Metaphor" tomorrow night through and the Transcendental Metaphor and are open to the public. She will join the English Department in sponsoring a poetry reading and reception in the O'Shaugnessy Hall Art Gallery at 4:30 p.m. Thursday.

ND grad ordained in Saturday ceremony

Fr. Andre E. Leveille, C.S.C., was ordained a Roman Catholic priest in the Congregation of Holy Cross during ceremonies last Saturday at Sacred Heart Church, University of Notre Dame in South Bend, Indiana. He entered the Congregation of Holy Cross at Watertown, Wisconsin in 1963 as a candidate for the brotherhood.

Fr. Leveille will offer his first mass at 11:30 a.m. next Sunday at St. Joseph's Catholic Church, where he has been serving as a deacon.
New Michelob Light. Maybe you haven’t been waiting for another light beer. But if the ones you’ve tried taste lighter than you’d like, we think you’re ready for Michelob Light. And now it’s ready for you. It has the taste you’d expect from a light beer with “Michelob” on the label.

Light. But not too light. With 134 calories per 12-ounce serving, approximately 20% fewer than Michelob. After all, taste is still what beer-drinking’s all about. And we didn’t forget it.

GOOD TASTE RUNS IN THE FAMILY.
Summer jobs to be offered

The Placement Bureau has announced the Columbia Realty Corporation of Indiana is looking for any students interested in summer employment.

Salaries are need to sell recreational and vacation lots in northeastern Indiana. Experience is helpful, but not necessary, and the company will provide all training and materials. Earning potential is unlimited and, for those students who do not already live in northeastern Indiana, housing will be furnished by Columbia Realty.

All interested students should submit a resume or a profile by Friday, April 7, to the Placement Bureau, Room 213, Administration Building. Interest on the part of students will determine an interview.

NOTICES

BUS FOR HIRE: 25 passengers — $6 per hr. 55-59 min. value. Info: 8022 or 8701.

TYPING

REASONABLE RATES

CALL 288-7894.

MORRISSEY LOAN FUND

May grants are no longer eligible for loans. The last day of all others is April 30.

NO EXCEPTIONS

SEND QUALITY TYPING Copy

Prof., Professional Typing, IBM Corporation, Chambers of Commerce with your grade page, millimeter. Call 227-9596. "When you want the last,"

ENVELOPE STUFFING SCHEMES EN-

POSED: a two page report free. Info. M. W. Filmore, Corvallis, OR 97734.

FOR RENT

Furnished, entirely carpeted: 4 bedroom house. $46 per person. Call and ask for

it. Not included: 436, Heritage one block south of Julia's on UNIV. Call 229-2994.

Fire house in a good neighborhood (Portage and Angeles area). Reasonable rate, $40 a month. Contact Joseph Gutt, 856-9988.

One bedroom apartment to sublet for summer. See the Columbia Realty ad in the Daily.

FOR SALE

Used golf bats like new, $20 per 100 and other prices. Call 273-9743.

Asia 9 spring bars. Excellent condition. Call at 2399.

Classic muscle guitar with hard shell out-

Case in good condition. Must play to fully appreciate. Call 296-6964.

Summer jobs to be offered

The Placement Bureau has announced the Columbia Realty Corporation of Indiana is looking for any students interested in summer employment.

Salaries are needed to sell recreational and vacation lots in northeastern Indiana. Experience is helpful, but not necessary, and the company will provide all training and materials. Earning potential is unlimited and, for those students who do not already live in northeastern Indiana, housing will be furnished by Columbia Realty.

All interested students should submit a resume or a profile by Friday, April 7, to the Placement Bureau, Room 213, Administration Building. Interest on the part of students will determine an interview.

NOTICES

BUS FOR HIRE: 25 passengers — $6 per hr. 55-59 min. value. Info: 8022 or 8701.

TYPING

REASONABLE RATES

CALL 288-7894.

MORRISSEY LOAN FUND

May grants are no longer eligible for loans. The last day of all others is April 30.

NO EXCEPTIONS

SEND QUALITY TYPING Copy

Prof., Professional Typing, IBM Corporation, Chambers of Commerce with your grade page, millimeter. Call 227-9596. "When you want the last,"

ENVELOPE STUFFING SCHEMES EN-

POSED: a two page report free. Info. M. W. Filmore, Corvallis, OR 97734.

FOR RENT

Furnished, entirely carpeted: 4 bedroom house. $46 per person. Call and ask for

it. Not included: 436, Heritage one block south of Julia's on UNIV. Call 229-2994.

Fire house in a good neighborhood (Portage and Angeles area). Reasonable rate, $40 a month. Contact Joseph Gutt, 856-9988.

One bedroom apartment to sublet for summer. See the Columbia Realty ad in the Daily.

FOR SALE

Used golf bats like new, $20 per 100 and other prices. Call 273-9743.

Asia 9 spring bars. Excellent condition. Call at 2399.

Classic muscle guitar with hard shell out-

Case in good condition. Must play to fully appreciate. Call 296-6964.
Notre Dame's baseball squad gave a classic illustration of the old maxim that the best lampooning comes on a good hitting Saturday afternoon on last weekend. In a game that split a doubleheader with St. Joseph's, the Irish passed Notre Dame 11-1 in the first game, but a sterling pitching performance by Eric Barth in the second game carried the Irish to a 2-1 triumph in the nightcap.

The identical St. Joe starting lineup had no such thing to show over the cover the ball with 10 hits, and the Irish, managed only four safeties against Irish righthander Mark Karpowicz. The senior righthander, who pitched to the first three Phillies hitters before giving advantage from watching the Puma hitters, tossed a two-hitter as he was "It's hard to compare the way two pitchers throw," explained Karpowicz. "You can't really know what is or isn't working for another."

Karpowicz, who has struggled physically throughout the year, has not permitted an earned run, won the first time in his first season. The victory came against the charging of their first big league, and although the Cubs were caught by the Phillies, the NL races lacked the dramatic flair that the junior circuit's races provide.

The key to the game, the most intensely analyzed by the Cubs, was the ability to take command of the division with a mediocre team last year. This year the NL East is reason enough to believe that the races at the back are that, in the absence of stiff competition, they will control their third division in this year's campaign.

PHILADELPHIA: The Phillies made no moves in the off-season, yet in a minor league division strengthened itself enough to make the race more competitive. The only man left, which became the center of attention to the team, is the team's second baseman. Larry Bowa.

The pitching, ranked fourth in the league last year, revolves around the bullpen of Todd McClure, Gene Garber, and Dave Riddle. The bullpen, which has been a problem for the team, is the team's second baseman. Larry Bowa.

Philadelphia: "You'd think the Phillies have some holes, they have enough raw talent to place second in this division. The talk around Pittsburgh this year is pitching with the acquisition of Bert Blyleven and Steve Sizemore, Larry Bowa and Mike Krukow. The threesome missed a total of 231 games in 1976, and the 1977 version of the Pirates has completely No. 114, run by the Cubs and the Pirates, and Pittsburgh, Oregon, and Tennessee.

3's frames before giving way to freshman Mike DeFeo. The right- hander was touched for four runs, two earned, in five innings. Tom Handrich mopped up in the seventh inning, yielding a pair of unearned runs.

The Pirates slimmed victory catcher Dan Voelinger by stealing an easy groundout. More often than not, however, Notre Dame pitchers pretended not to notice any runners. Freshman backstop Jim Montagana and Keith Gumpert combined for the Pumas in the base swiping department. The hits in the 1-0 loss to the Irish were scored successfully in one attempt, while Montagana rifled a strike- out to the Pittsburgh catcher Tag to end a bunt play.

Penn State's homecoming day at the plate,rapping up five runs off Notre Dame hurler to go the route in Phils for $2.25 million. The Cubs feel that Dave Kingman will give them a proven first baseman, and as the Bucs swiped 260, their first ever, and it's quite possible. The reasons are a pair of .284 average while staying virtually injury-free.

CHICAGO: This is the same team that refused to negotiate with a pressure. They have enough talent to win a division with some pitching, but a weak defensive player like Kingman does no good on a team without pitching.

The Cubs have found better ways to invest that much money, namely in some pitchers to go with their two-man staff of Rick Reuschel and Bruce Sutter. They have enough talent to win a division with some pitching, but a weak defensive player like Kingman does no good on a team without pitching.

The Cubs are also without a proven centerfielder. Dave Rader will be joining the coaching staff of the Chicago Bears of the National Football League. Hiring for a similar post at Notre Dame, Irish Coach Dan Devine announced Thursday. The 47-year-old Devine replaces Hank Kuhkman, who joined the coaching staff of the Chicago Bears of the National Football League in 1972. Devine, who has a master's degree in physical education from BI, coached our team for years at the University of Dayton before joining Coach Lee Corso's staff in the off-season.

Gruden named to football staff

SOUTH BEND, Ind. (AP) - Jim Gruden, who joined the coaching staff at Indiana University, has been hired for a similar post at Notre Dame, Coach Dan Devine announced Thursday. The 47-year-old South Bend native replaces Hank Kuhkman, who joined the coaching staff of the Chicago Bears of the National Football League in 1972. Devine, who has a master's degree in physical education from BI, coached our team for years at the University of Dayton before joining Coach Lee Corso's staff in the off-season.

Gruden named to football staff

Just for the fun of it!

NY's baseball squad boast spuds of solid hitting and pitching enabling them to take two of three games this weekend. (Photo by Doug Christian)

The weekend homestand, which opened with a game with St. Mary's (MN) was postponed, left the Irish with a 5-6 ledger. Notre Dame will host Valparaiso Wednesday afternoon.