Lounge residents voice housing complaints to Student Body VP

by Mike Brady

Last night, in the Flanner Pit, Student Body Vice President Mike Roohan held a meeting designed to give Flanner and freshmen the opportunity to get their gripes about the current housing situation out in the open.

The meeting was attended by about 35 students.

The students' complaints mainly revolved around the move to plans to move the students out of the study lounges, as they are new and in need of being updated. Most of the freshmen are already well settled in the study halls, thus making moving difficult.

The students who have already moved out have encountered many problems. For example, no bank will allow the students to open accounts without a permanent address. Also, some students have already bought refrigerators, carpets, and furniture with their own money and are now stuck with them.

Many of the students expressed concern over the present conditions and expressed concern that new arrangements would be made without any student input. Doug Tracy, a freshman living in a study lounge, said: "They don't seem to care where they send us. We're just average students who are being moved around with no input from us either."

Rich Laski, a resident who is already scheduled to move out, says the uncertainty of where others will be living in the future is what is most upsetting. "We're in limbo, we can't plan our lives," he says.

Freshmen living in Flanner and Grasse Hall study lounges are still being moved. Mike Roohan, Student Body Vice-President, met with students last night to hear their concerns.

The fact that the towers students thought they would be getting permanent housing when they signed their housing contract was still unclear at the meeting.

In the past, students had met with Edmund Price, director of Housing, the previous night and were told they were supposed to have received a letter over the summer months that they would be in temporary housing when they moved in. The students said they never received the letter. Also, they were told at the time of their arrival on campus that their housing would be temporary, but only for 1.2 weeks.

The students are being moved out to make room for more study space. Many of those present at the meeting claimed that there is an adequate study space now. Some pointed out that the large study lounge on the first floor is never crowded and always quiet. Yet, it was also brought up that the postgraduate study space has never been used and would be ideal for a study area.

Roohan listened attentively to the students' gripes and promised that he would find out what it would take to correct the situation starting immediately. He said that he hoped that he could make the current housing situation permanent at least until the end of the semester. The students are to meet with Price again on Sunday.

SUMMIT AGREEMENT PLEASURES CARTER

WASHINGTON (AP) - President Carter praised the outcome of the Camp David agreement at a joint meeting with the leaders of Egypt and Israel today. The meeting concluded with a joint statement.

"If our present expectations are realized, this year will be a turning point in the history of the Middle East," the president said.

In a nationally broadcast and televised report on the agreements reached at Camp David, the president said that the agreement "is a turning point in the history of the Middle East." He added that the agreement "is a turning point in the history of the Middle East." He added that the agreement "is a turning point in the history of the Middle East." He added that the agreement "is a turning point in the history of the Middle East."
National

Meany raps inflation plan

ATLANTIC CITY, N.J. (AP) - AFL-CIO President George Meany said yesterday that workers would be victims of employer-enforced wage controls under the Carter Administration's proposed plans to combat inflation. Meany said he is convinced that the program, supposedly in the voluntary wage and price guidelines, would penalize the victims of inflation because it could not guarantee a full-cying slowdown in rising prices.

Summit comments

WASHINGTON (AP) - Democratic and Republican leaders of Congress credited President Carter yesterday with an historic, difficult and important step toward controlling inflation. But a second department official said the cases of the policy and made the following suggestions to both campuses:

- Some students wishing to eat lunch at ND must see Robinson and wish to eat at SMU must see Dr. Robinson.
- Some arrangements can be made for dinner meals on either campus conflict with dinner hours.

- Some students wishing to eat lunch at SMU must see Robinson and wish to eat at SMU must see Dr. Robinson.

Weather

Parity sunny, hot and humid today with highs around 90. Warm and humid tonight with lows in the 70's. Chance of showers and thunderstorms tomorrow with highs in the upper 80's.

On Campus Today

4:30 pm seminar, "carnival in a modern lifetime," by marine buch, univ of notre dame, sponsored by nd union club, 237 galvin.
5:10 pm dinner welcome home for irish students, sponsored by smc wedge rm.
6:00 pm film, "black and white in color," third world film festival, loretto 7 pm lecture, "midas mishap," sponsored by student union academic council, library aud.
7 pm video tape, "six characters in search of an author," sponsored by modem languages dept., 242 o'shag.
7 pm placement night, business administration, c.c.e.aud.
7:30 pm meeting, young democrats, elections, rm. 2d level
7:30 pm recitation, ladies of nd newcomers recep., 14th flr. mem. lib.
8 pm concert, classical brass, sponsored by perf. arts series, smc o'laugh aud., 52.

ND, SMC food services clarify co-ex ticket policy

Members of the Notre Dame-St. Mary's Co-ex Committee recently met with President George Robinson, director of ND Food Services, and Charles Flaim, director of SMC Food Services, to evaluate the present co-ex ticket exchange policy. Robinson and Flaim clarified some of the more intricate aspects of the policy and made the following suggestions to both campuses:

- Some students wishing to eat lunch at ND must see Robinson and wish to eat at SMU must see Dr. Robinson.

OSwald's travels discussed

WASHINGTON (AP) - A man identifying himself as Lee Harvey Oswald went into a rage when Cuban officials refused to let him go to Mexico City, but they did not let him go. He then refused to give him immediate visa. When he asked for a visa, Cuban officials told him the "policy of the policies of the policies of the foreign policy of Cuba." He was told he had to leave. But a second department official said the "carnival in a modern lifetime," by marine buch, univ of notre dame, sponsored by nd union club, 237 galvin.

Observer Editorial Board

Tuesday, September 19, 1978

The Observer

Troy Par
Sandi Olfond
John Callcat
Bart Lantinen
Rosemary Mills
Phil Gallo
Jean Powley
Ann Calle
Mike Lewis
Diane Wilson
Jay Cussen
Bryan Cruley
Doug Christian

Editor-in-Chief
Managing Editor
Executive Editor
Executive Editor
Editorial Editor
Copy Editor
St. Mary's News
Editor
News Editor
News Editor
News Editor
Features Editor
Photo Editor

Observer subscribers for 1977-78 will be mailed a billing list until Oct. 1. The Observer Circulation Department reported.

Observer deadlines

The Observer is to show the effects of the new circulation policy and mail-out dates that were installed this year. The department hopes that these changes and the extended subscription time will leave a favorable viewpoint on the Observer and its staff.

Hesburgh delivers speech

In remarks prepared for delivery yesterday at the University of Louvain in Belgium, Fr. Theodore M. Hesburgh said that rerouting political priorities to eradicate world poverty and hunger will be more difficult than a trip to the moon and back.

Modern science and technology have given us a new key to the future, Hesburgh told faculty and students at ceremonies marking the opening of the school year. "We must begin to care, to reorder the use of our new, magnificent capabilities," he said. "And the great universities of the world must lead the way."

"The greatest peoples of the world—a billion people who make up a fourth of humanity—live in the Fourth World countries, mainly in the southern hemisphere. Hesburgh said that for the first time in history, their situation would not have to be hopeless. The developed world could help them themselves by spending about $30 billion dollars for human development—less than one-tenth of last year's world expenditures for armaments.

"Everything we learn and know and teach in our universities today would point in the direction of a better world," Hesburgh said. "But we need the political will to make the necessary effort. ... It is much too much to ask the university to pile up mountains of armaments and luxuries.

Cuba, as appeared of the assassination committee's efforts to find out what happened during a seven-day trip Oswald took to Mexico only two months before the Nov. 22, 1963, assassination of President John F. Kennedy in Dallas.

[Page 4 continued]

Hesburgh delivers speech

In remarks prepared for delivery yesterday at the University of Louvain in Belgium, Fr. Theodore M. Hesburgh said that rerouting political priorities to eradicate world poverty and hunger will be more difficult than a trip to the moon and back.

Modern science and technology have given us a new key to the future, Hesburgh told faculty and students at ceremonies marking the opening of the school year. "We must begin to care, to reorder the use of our new, magnificent capabilities," he said. "And the great universities of the world must lead the way."

"The greatest peoples of the world—a billion people who make up a fourth of humanity—live in the Fourth World countries, mainly in the southern hemisphere. Hesburgh said that for the first time in history, their situation would not have to be hopeless. The developed world could help them themselves by spending about $30 billion dollars for human development—less than one-tenth of last year's world expenditures for armaments.

"Everything we learn and know and teach in our universities today would point in the direction of a better world," Hesburgh said. "But we need the political will to make the necessary effort. ... It is much too much to ask the university to pile up mountains of armaments and luxuries.

Hesburgh delivers speech

In remarks prepared for delivery yesterday at the University of Louvain in Belgium, Fr. Theodore M. Hesburgh said that rerouting political priorities to eradicate world poverty and hunger will be more difficult than a trip to the moon and back.

Modern science and technology have given us a new key to the future, Hesburgh told faculty and students at ceremonies marking the opening of the school year. "We must begin to care, to reorder the use of our new, magnificent capabilities," he said. "And the great universities of the world must lead the way."

"The greatest peoples of the world—a billion people who make up a fourth of humanity—live in the Fourth World countries, mainly in the southern hemisphere. Hesburgh said that for the first time in history, their situation would not have to be hopeless. The developed world could help them themselves by spending about $30 billion dollars for human development—less than one-tenth of last year's world expenditures for armaments.

"Everything we learn and know and teach in our universities today would point in the direction of a better world," Hesburgh said. "But we need the political will to make the necessary effort. ... It is much too much to ask the university to pile up mountains of armaments and luxuries.

Cuba, as appeared of the assassination committee's efforts to find out what happened during a seven-day trip Oswald took to Mexico only two months before the Nov. 22, 1963, assassination of President John F. Kennedy in Dallas.

[Page 4 continued]

Cuba, as appeared of the assassination committee's efforts to find out what happened during a seven-day trip Oswald took to Mexico only two months before the Nov. 22, 1963, assassination of President John F. Kennedy in Dallas.

[Page 4 continued]
Somoza accuses neighbors of giving aid to rebels

MANAGUA, Nicaragua (AP) — Government officials said they were filling positions around Esteli in northern Nicaragua yesterday to beef up the last guerrilla stronghold there.

Esteli has been in rebel hands since June, when according to Mihajlov, Nicaragua's Sandinista rebels boarded the town and barred journalists from entering.

The town is the open to the public and is the last guerrilla stronghold in the town said it looked dead. They were in the Sandinista controlled area.

Panama's government said today that it had received information from the guerrillas that they were planning to attack from the north and the west. Panama's government said today that it had received information from the guerrillas that they were planning to attack from the north and the west.

The Sandinistas declared yesterday that they were ready to fight for the entire country and that they would not leave Esteli.

There have been scattered shooting near the town and the Sandinistas said they would not leave Esteli.

There was scattered shooting near the town and the Sandinistas said they would not leave Esteli.
Alloting D.C. representatives causes stir among Indy Senators

INDIANAPOLIS (AP) — The proposed constitutional amendment to give the District of Columbia representation in Congress may face opposition in Indiana, legislative leaders say.

Under the proposed amendment, supported by both Sens. Richard Lugar, R-Ind., and Birch Bayh, D-Ind., the District of Columbia would get two senators and one or two representatives.

"I'm not going to introduce it and I have reservations about it," said House Speaker Kermit Burnmous, R-Pen. "The District of Columbia is not a legally constituted state. I'll have to study it, but the people in the House to whom I have talked about it, informally, without exception have some reservations about it.

The Democratic Minority Leader Michael Phillips, D-Boonville, said the district deserves Congressional representation, but he added that he would not want to see Indians lose a congressional seat.

I would want to review it to see how it is set up, whether it increases the number of seats in the U.S. House or takes them away from other states," said Phillips. Under the amendment, the U.S. House would decide whether or not to increase its size from 435 members.

Sen. Robert Fair, D-Princeton, president pro tem of the Senate, but not seeking re-election, said the measure would be difficult to pass.

"My reaction is it will have tough sledding. As a practical matter, people are going to look at it and say 'What good does this do?' In a sense, it dilutes our vote, not much but a little bit—I think it would be difficult to pass." Sen. Frank O'Bannon, D-Cory-don, said although most lawmakers haven't had time to look at the proposal, he feels "...the justice of the thing would be in favor of passing it. Without the representation, they are left a little short of being a part of the overall government.

Thirty-eight states must ratify the amendment within a seven-year period.

Oswald's travels discussed at committee hearing

(continued from page 3)

The Warren Commission, which concluded in 1964 that Oswald killed Kennedy and that he acted alone, said it found no support for speculation of a conspiracy. "The commission has no credi-tible evidence that Oswald went to Mexico pursuant to a plan to assassinate President Kennedy, that he received any instructions related to such an action while there, or that he received large sums of money from any source in Mexico," said the commission's final report.

"The commission found no evidence that Oswald made any flights to Cuba while he was in Mexico," the report said. In fact, the commission said, Cuban embassy officials refused to grant his request for a visa, and the Cuban consul "told Oswald that, in his opinion, people like Oswald were harming the Cuban revolution.

RICK WAKEMAN-JON ANDERSON ALAN WHITE STEVE HOWE CHRIS SQUARE

featuring a spectacular light show and revolving stage in the round

Friday Sept. 22 at 8:00 p.m.

NOTRE DAME ACC

Tickets $5.50, $7.50 reserved and are now on sale at the Student Union and A.C.C. Productions and River City Records, 50970 U.S. 31 North...
When a Friend is Lost...

Fr. Bill Tooney

What a contrast! One night in a theatre watching the new super-hit movie, Animal House, and the next night I was in a small village in the town of Maynooth, Ireland on the first year of a Notre Dame-St. Mary's overseas program. While I was there, an article of mine was printed in the Observer, reporting the trials and experiences of a spoiled ND male deprived of home, dining hall, and laundry service. Upon its publication, another member of the group suggested that I write a serious and more serious article, this time doing justice to the country and program.

The problem with this piece is that nobody will agree with any analysis of Bruce Punklet, the Irish critic whose greatest work is “Ireland is not the place to go if one is looking for a meaningful education.”

If you haven't seen Animal House yet, you may need to fill in the blanks! Bruce Punklet, who would have been a junior this year, was killed on July 3rd when the car he was driving was hit by a truck. The accident left him with only partial use of his legs, and it’s been over a year since he last walked.

A year or so ago, he visited the campus. It was a very moving experience for him. He was struck by the beauty of the campus and the university atmosphere that captured his heart, and we were all very fond of the place. The air was always alive, whether it be from idle chatter, a heated debate, or a stirring traditional ballad.

The movie review; I'll leave that to the experts.

As a big part of Ireland is her song. As a big part of Ireland is her song. As a big part of Ireland is her song. As a big part of Ireland is her song. As a big part of Ireland is her song. As a big part of Ireland is her song.

Bruce Punklet, who would have been a junior this year, was killed on July 3rd when the car he was driving was hit by a truck. The accident left him with only partial use of his legs, and it’s been over a year since he last walked.

A year or so ago, he visited the campus. It was a very moving experience for him. He was struck by the beauty of the campus and the university atmosphere that captured his heart, and we were all very fond of the place. The air was always alive, whether it be from idle chatter, a heated debate, or a stirring traditional ballad.

The movie review; I'll leave that to the experts. As a big part of Ireland is her song. As a big part of Ireland is her song. As a big part of Ireland is her song. As a big part of Ireland is her song. As a big part of Ireland is her song. As a big part of Ireland is her song.

Bruce Punklet, who would have been a junior this year, was killed on July 3rd when the car he was driving was hit by a truck. The accident left him with only partial use of his legs, and it’s been over a year since he last walked.

A year or so ago, he visited the campus. It was a very moving experience for him. He was struck by the beauty of the campus and the university atmosphere that captured his heart, and we were all very fond of the place. The air was always alive, whether it be from idle chatter, a heated debate, or a stirring traditional ballad.

The movie review; I'll leave that to the experts. As a big part of Ireland is her song. As a big part of Ireland is her song. As a big part of Ireland is her song. As a big part of Ireland is her song. As a big part of Ireland is her song. As a big part of Ireland is her song.
New York cop shot

NEW YORK [AP] - A policeman was shot and critically wounded yesterday when he approached two men in a double-parked car outside the residence of the Israeli United Nations Ambassador.

The men surrendered to FBI agents shortly afterwards in an apartment building about 15 blocks away from the home of Yehuda V. Blum.

The wounded officer, Albert Guarnieri, 35, was taken to Lenox Hill Hospital where he was listed in critical condition with a bullet wound in his abdomen.

There was no indication that the incident was connected to Blum or his residence.
The Observer circulation department has issued the following notice:

Despite all efforts to clear our South Bank print shop of all back issues, a limited number of copies of the Thursday, Sept. 7 Observer, a newspaper published by the University of Michigan's Daily Wolverine, are being distributed.

Please remember that this newspaper has been distributed in an effort to provide the community with a free, print newspaper. It is not a subscription service.

The Observer was unable to distribute all copies due to unforeseen circumstances during our initial printing week. All back issues were sent by the Observer after Oct. 7, 1978.

If you have not received a copy of the Observer, please contact Goodwill Industries of Greater Ann Arbor at 313-552-3223.

We apologize for any inconvenience this may cause and appreciate your understanding.
Soccer team crushes St. Joe's.

by Craig Lombardi
Sports Writer

The Notre Dame soccer team outscored St. Joseph's College, 12-0 last night at Carter Field. The win extends the Irish winning streak to five games, the longest in the nation, and raised their season record to 4-0.

The barrage began early as Terry Finnegan scored the 40th goal with an assist from Jon Sienkiewicz, putting the Irish ahead 6-0 on a pass from Ted Cornevale.

The Irish tangle with Spring Arbor, a club team, on the soccer field Wednesday, before dropping the season-opener against Spring Arbor. Bobinski made just five saves on 11 shots, none of which escaped the goalie tandem of Bob Ritger and Van Meter.

Jim Stein, Bill Murphy, and Crotty scored the last three goals of the game, each in the final 10 minutes of the game. The Irish totalled 39 shots on goal, while St. Joe's managed just four shots, none of which escaped the goalies.

The Irish held the ball for most of the game, outshooting the Irish 11-2 and 15-4 in shots on goal.

The next game for the Irish is two of three games with the University of Notre Dame on Tuesday, September 19th.

Field hockey goes varsity

by Beth Meke

The newest women's sport to gain varsity status at Notre Dame is field hockey. For the last four years, the field hockey club was a club sport for Notre Dame women, but as of this year, the sport has been elevated to varsity level.

Evidently this has helped the team spirits. The team manager and goalie, remarked that "The game has always been strong, but now we all take it much more seriously."

The team is coached by Astrid Lombardi, who became the 10th head coach of the team four years ago, with the first four years as the coach. Since becoming the head coach, Lombardi and the team have continued to improve, leading the team to a 5-3 record in the Midwest Women's Hockey League.

The team had set a goal of winning two out of three games in the Midwest Women's Hockey League, and they succeeded in doing so, winning against Illinois State, 2-0, and against Michigan State, 5-0.

The win against Michigan State was a shutout, as the team allowed no goals for the first time this season. Lombardi mentioned that the team had worked hard to improve their defense, and that they were pleased with the outcome.

One of the key players for the team is senior forward Sarah Smith, who scored two goals against Michigan State. Lombardi noted that Smith had been working hard on her game and was pleased with her performance.

The team's next game is against the University of Notre Dame, who are currently ranked third in the Midwest Women's Hockey League. Lombardi is confident that the team can compete against them and is predicting a close game.

New York (AP) - Reggie Jackson and Lou Piniella slammed consecutive home runs and Mickey Rivers' infield single snapped an eighthinning tie as the New York Yankees topped the Milwaukee Brewers, 9-5, Monday night.

Cecil Cooper's second home run of the game had tied the score 3-3 in the top of the eighth inning against Ed Figes, 23, of the Brewers.

In the bottom of the inning, the Yankees batted out of their jam on a bit of help from the Brewers and a pair of walks. The Yankees scored four runs with the help of pinch-hitter Cliff Johnson, who fouled off seven pitches before driving in two runs. The final run came home from Steve Blaves, 10.8.

With the win in hand, the Brewers drove for the 10th time in the season. Bunt off-kilter Gary Van Meter, leading-24, drove in the winning run.

Axel Haseley, 1.3, the third red shirt picker, was the winner.