Conclave elects Cardinal Wojtyla

VATICAN CITY (AP) - Cardinal Karol Wojtyla of Poland was elected pope of the Roman Catholic Church yesterday in a historic ballot that began Saturday evening and stretched into the early hours of Sunday morning.

The conclave of cardinals, which had been deadlocked for more than 24 hours, finally reached a decision when Wojtyla was elected on the 10th ballot by a vote of 122 to 11.

Wojtyla, 57, is the first pope from outside Italy in 453 years and the first from a country under communism in its history.

He is expected to begin his papacy as early as Wednesday, with cardinals voting on his name.

The election of a Polish Pope, the immediate reaction of concern issues of communism.

Since Wojtyla comes from a communist country, his first hand experience with communism will help him deal effectively with the communist party in Italy as well as in Eastern Europe," Dolan stated. "He is a gifted man and a very sensitive man who they selected a man who they thought was a very spiritual person." he said.

He went on to describe Wojtyla as socially progressive but religiously conservative. He said, "Wojtyla has a great family and several kids. He has a lot of enthusiasm for the poor and religious liberty." Egan added, "I'm very happy with the cardinal." However, the selection of a non-Italian pope was not a surprise to Egan. "I expected it, it's a big surprise," he said. "It was inspired by the communist party in Italy as well as the dwindling number of Italian cardinals." State Catholic leaders were also pleased and surprised at Wojtyla's selection as pontiff.

Bishop William McManus of Fort Wayne stated he was the "only one of the new pope. He's surprised and delighted. I think the new pope has a well deserved reputation of being a priest of immense faith." Egan added, "I'm happy with the new pope, I knew he was a good man. He's a very good man." Egan said that because of the dwindling number of Italian cardinals, "the selection of a non-Italian pope was not a surprise to Egan. "I expected it, it's a big surprise," he said. Saint Mary's will have a new library within the next five years, if the necessary $6 to 7 million is successfully raised, said College President John M. Duggan.

The College's Board of Regents, which met this weekend, started the ball rolling by approving a fund-raising plan for the new library and by forming an ad hoc building committee which will review future needs and interview prospective candidates.

The fund-raising plan calls for appeals to corporations, foundations, alumni, friends and parents. Duggan said the $6 to 7 million figure includes endowment for most of the facility.

Although no location has been chosen, Duggan added that only two plans have been given serious consideration. Removal of the Parking lot parking lot and building the library on this location, in the center of the campus, is the one which has met with the most favor.

We could then remove a parking lot parking lot and building the library on this location, in the center of the campus, is the one which has met with the most favor.

The other location receiving consideration is the area immediately south of Madonna Hall, where the field hockey field is located, he said.

...Church wants to reach beyond the Iron Curtain...

"It gives hope," Dolan continued, "to the communist countries knowing there will be a Polish Pope, the first communion in Italy was very important in Wojtyla's being selected." Dolan continued, "I think the selection of a non-Italian pope was not a surprise to Egan. "I expected it, it's a big surprise," he said. When built, the new library will encompass 75,000 square feet of space, as opposed to the 17,700 square feet of the present library, which was built in the early 1950's. Calcium library contains 500,000 volumes and 1000 periodicals. The College's library will be one of the largest in the Midwest.

In commemoration of the 1985 signing of the Austrian State Treaty, the document which awarded Austria its independence, the German Honor Society has declared today Austrian Night on the Notre Dame campus.

Activities will include a night of Austrian atmosphere and cuisine at both dining halls, a lecture, and film presentations concerning Austrian history and culture.

For Tuesday's dinner, the dining halls will be festooned with Austrian decorations, including a pair of Austrian Bags which will be displayed during the course of the meal. The German cooks will join the food service staff expressly for the purpose of preparing the evening's "special menu of wiener schnitzel, apple strudel, black bread, and imported cheese.

At 4:30 p.m., professor Klaus Langenig, an Austrian native and South Bend resident, will present a lecture concerning the history and heritage of Austria in the Special Collections room of the Memorial Library. In addition, a film from the Austrian Institute of Notre Dame entitled "50 Years of Our Republic" will be shown at 7 p.m. in the LaFortune Theater. The film depicts the struggles and triumphs of the first half-century of the independent Austrian Republic, and features commentary by such prominent figures as Kurt Schuschnigg, a leading Austrian historian.

Austrian Day is sponsored by Delta Phi Alpha, the German Honor Society composed chiefly of students who have been or will be involved in the foreign study programs at Innsbruck, as well as those who share an interest in German languages and civilizations.

The day's activities specifically continue on page 3.

Dorm security increases over break

By John McGurth

Notre Dame security is preparing to implement routine measures for the October break while off-campus students are bracing themselves for the rush of vacation burglaries.

Security Director Joe Wall explained that the general procedure that is followed each year includes the complete lock-up of some campus buildings with partial closing of some dorms. "Flannel and Grace will remain completely open, but some other halls will be equipped with "vacation locks,"" he said. "But not a reveal, however, which buildings will be equipped with these locks."

He explained that the vacation locks are placed on certain doors of a hall while all other entrances to the building are locked for the duration of the vacation. Students are provided with keys to those locks by the rectors of their hall. Whole families and guests people as well as security personell will be making special checks of buildings on the night before leaving, because there is a greater chance of robbery than usual due to the decreased number of students present.

John Fitzpatrick, Student Government Off-Campus Co-coordinator, stressed that students living off-campus should take special measures to avoid the possibility of being robbed during the break. "Especially if they live in the Northeast neighborhood, there is a very good possibility that they will get ripped off during the break."

Fitzpatrick said, "The best way for students to prevent a robbery is to leave the appearance that there is someone home."

"Students shouldn't let the newspapers get stacked up, and if possible, get a timer to regulate lights in the house," he added. "Frost said that the South Bend police really are concerned with the students' welfare."

Johnson commented, "The main problem is the fact that the students are not concentrated in any small area and as a result, the police can't always be sure where the students are living."

Johnson did stress that although the police may not be aware of the students' departure, potential burglars very well might be. "The professional thief is out there right now, and he knows what valuable items the students have and who is and is not leaving," he said.

Board of Governance chooses charity, discusses shuttle pass

by Margie Brussell

St. Jude's Children's Research Hospital was chosen by the Board of Governance last night as the Saint Mary's charity for 1978-79. The Board also discussed plans for the shuttle bus, College Career Days, and the results of the basketball ticket lottery, at the meeting held in Regina Hall.

The fund, chosen from several suggestions, will raise money for various causes, such as leukemia, cancer and malnutrition. Susie O'Keefe, who has been involved in rating money for St. Jude's, said that the money was going to be used to stress the benefits and services the hospital provides for children.

For the month of October, there will be a temporary lay off for some staff members.

The Board, vice president for Academic Affairs, although all the funds were worthy of consideration, the Board agreed that St. Jude's was especially important since it did involve the care of children and all the money went toward research.

Johnson said that the benefit of shuttle bus passes becomes an issue of the possibility of shuttle bus passes. Although the details have not yet been worked out with Notre Dame, Frost believes a temporary plan will be in effect after October break.

The pass will be valid for 20 rides and will cost $3. The pass would be complimentary for students who might not have enough money for bus fare.

"The Board hopes that students will be able to purchase the passes twice a week, although it reiterated the details have not been worked out. The passes will be used until Christmas if Frost will assess the project and decide whether or not to continue the program during the second semester.

Another issue was the possibility of re-routing the shuttle so it could pick up and drop off students twice nightly at the Notre Dame Campus View apartments. This project is very tentative, but the entire board was enthusiastic about it.

The re-routing would make it easier and safer for off-campus students to get back and forth in the evening. Frost asserted.

Suggested times were 7 p.m. and midnight. Although this will mean missing a stop at three times, at Notre Dame and Saint Mary's there will be no cost increase or any other inconvenience involved, Frost explained.

Frost said that ticket work needs to be done to co-ordinate the schedule and it could be some time before it goes into effect.

Carden discussed the plans for College Career Days which will run Nov. 7-9. The purpose of the program is to provide information on careers available to Saint Mary's graduates. The main speaker on Nov. 7 will be Denise Kavanagh, '81. In her position as the secretary of the Student Employment Center, Kavanagh is familiar with many aspects of the job market.

You were down to half a jar of peanut butter. Then Dad's check arrived.

Now comes Miller time.
When Nothing Is the Same

Fr. Bill Tooley

Last summer I visited a former student at the famous Menninger Clinic, where she was being treated for drug addiction and mental depression. It was a totally heart-rending experience. Each a beautiful person, each of them loved by a parent, a boyfriend, a daughter; as talented, with so much to offer, as anyone else. They were each about to slip away."

The second statement expresses truth about the present and its dark side, the hidden realities of our world. I am not saying that evil and danger are no longer with us, nor that the world is a better place than it used to be. But I am saying that the potential for good is greater than we have realized in the past. And I am saying that we must act now to ensure that this potential becomes a reality.

The third statement is the most unforgettable of all: it is the message that calls us to action. It is the message that tells us what we must do if we are to have any hope of making a difference in the world. It is the message that reminds us that we are not alone in our struggles, that we are part of a larger community of believers who are working together to achieve a common goal.

For this reason, I urge you to join me in this effort. We must work together to create a world that is filled with love, compassion, and understanding. We must work together to create a world that is free from hatred and division. We must work together to create a world that is worthy of the sacrifices that we have made.

Thank you for your attention. And may God bless you all.
Bayh accused of involvement in Korean buying scandal

WASHINGTON (AP) - The Senate ethics committee said yesterday it found "substantial credible evidence" that either Sen. Birch Bayh or one of his aides broke the law in the Korean influence-buying scandal and asked the Justice Department to consider prosecution.

However, the committee also said it found no evidence that South Korean gifts to senators ever succeeded in influencing a single senator. A member of the committee said the report "exonerates members of the Senate from any wrongdoing" in the scandal.

The ethics committee in its final report said it is asking the Justice Department to determine whether perjury charges would be justified in connection with payments to Bayh and two former senators and whether Bayh or an aide broke the law by taking $1,000 in the Capitol.

A 1948 law, apparently never enforced, prohibits congressmen from accepting contributions on federal property. Bayh has denied he took the money in the Capitol.

The committee said it is turning over possible "perjurious testimony" in connection with alleged payments made or arranged by Korean dealer Tongsan Park to Bayh, D-Ind.; former Sen. Jack Miller, R-Ohio; and Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey's 1972 presidential campaign.

The committee said Park gave Humphrey's campaign at least $5,000 but said there is no evidence Humphrey knew about it.

The committee said in a final report that Humphrey's campaign and the late Sen. John L. McClellan, D-Ark., broke laws failing to report 1972 contributions. But it said it found no evidence of violations run out in 1974, meaning they cannot now be prosecuted.

The committee said it found "substantial credible evidence" that either Bayh or an aide, Jason Berman, took $1,000 from a lobbyist friend of Park's during a meeting in the Capitol on Oct. 8, 1974.

It said Park testified he personally contributed $1,500 to $5,000 to Bayh's campaign possibly at the same meeting before Bayh arrived.

"Either contribution was received at that meeting, then a crime was committed," the committee said.

"Moreover, if Mr. Park's contribution was accepted, then a second crime may have been committed because contributions were not publicly reported," the committee report said.

Bayh and Berman denied either of them got any money from Park and said the $1,000 was legally received through the mail and not in Bayh's Capitol office.

SMC prepares for College Bowl

by Joan Powley
Saint Mary's and Editor

"College Bowl," the academic competition each fall sponsored by the Association of College Unions International (ACUI), is coming to Saint Mary's. The college has decided to participate in the contest this year.

Referred to as the "varsity sport of the mind," College Bowl involves two teams of students competing to answer questions on subjects ranging from algebra to zoology. The emphasis, however, is on the arts.

The initial step in choosing a team to represent Saint Mary's is for students to form their own four-person teams and sign-up in the office of the Director of Student Activities Mary Lavery. The teams must also choose Saint Mary's faculty or administrator to coach them.

"We want students to join in and get a lot of well-rounded students competing. Quick recall is the important thing. The ideal team would be one English major, one science major, one music or art major and one other major, maybe history," Lavery explained.

Teams may sign up to Oct. 31.

They will then have from Nov. 1-6 to train with their coach. Actual competition in either Carrol Hall or the Little Theatre will take place between Nov. 7 and 19. It will be a double elimination competition.

Lavery said that the representative for Saint Mary's in the regional competition will be the winning intramural team, plus four alternates.

The regional competition will be held in March.

Registration forms for the competition are now available in Laver­ry's office, 168 LeMann.

NBA west

MIDWEST

Denver Nuggets - Denver management made forward David Thompson one of the richest players in the league last spring during playoff time. Thompson was bothered by the presence of the contract and did not perform well in playoff competition. Hopefully, he'll return to form this season.

Chicago Bulls - The Bulls have the most dependable center in the league. Artis Gilmore has not missed a game since he was in high school. His consecutive game streak is now approaching 600. Gilmore is in shape and can have the scoring last needed this season, but he may have it in his best season.

New coach Larry Castello is installing a running offense. That's quite a switch from the old, patient pace of the Bulls.

Scott May and Mickey Johnson are the Bull forwards. May has been hampered by injuries in his first two seasons. Johnson came out of nowhere to average 17 and 18 points in his last two years.

Norn Van Lier has been waived. That leaves Wilbur Holland, John Mengelt, and Tate Armstrong in the backcourt. Rookie Reggie Theus, a 6-6-4 swingman, should be able to help out. Those will be Castello's running game because he comes from Jerry Tarkanian's Runnin' Rebels at Las Vegas.

Student, the Bulls should reach the playoffs.

Milwaukee Bucks - If they only had a center. John Gianelli is a journeyman and Kent Benson has yet to show any of his collegiate prowess. If either of them play well, however, look out! The rest of this team is young and ready to go places.

Marcos Marquez and Dave Meyers are two fine forwards. Johnson broke into the NBA with a bang. He averaged 19.5 points per game and was in double figures most of the time. He should be the next basketball superstar. Seyerra is a very aggressive player who has had more than his share of injuries. If he can stay injury free, the Bucks should improve.

Quinn Buckner and Brian Winters are the Buck guards. Buckner is a good playmaker and defender, but can't shoot. Winters is a fine outside shooter. Junior Bridgeham and Lloyd Walton are in reserve.

This team is one of the youngest in the NBA. If the Gianelli/Benson center combination comes through, this team will be hard to beat.

Indiana Pacers - Coach and G.M. Bobby Leonard changed personnel quite often in 1977, but the Pacers seem to be a better team because of it.

Jim Edwards will be a good center for his long game experience. He averaged 15.2 points per game in his debut.

Alex English, signed as a free agent, will be at one forward and Mike Bostain will be the other.

English is untested; Bostain is a steady player. Top draftpick Rick Robey will help on the front line.

Ricky Roberts is the backcourt leader. He proved he should start in the NBA after the Pacers acquired him from the Phoenix Suns.

Johnny Davis, acquired from Portland, should be his running mate.

The Pacers are another young club in this division. Unlike the Bucks however, they still need time to come around.

Kansas City Kings - The Kings have some young talent, notably Richard Washington, Otis Birdsong, rookie Phil Ford and Scott Wedman. But they lack a dominant center and there is little team depth.

Ford and second-year man Birdsong could become the best guard tandem in the league with some experience.

Washington and Ford, as is, should be able to help this club in the playoffs.

The Kings are a very good four man team, if they could only come up with a center.

Mike Mai closed out the scoring, as he found the net on a high drive into the upper left corner of the goal. The final home game for the Irish was a victory by a score of 2-0 over Xavier. Mike Mai, who scored the first goal, added a second from 25 yard shot over the goalie into the net. The Irish play in the second half was not as strong, but luck seemed to be in their favor. It was learned after the game that the NCAA representatives decided to get out cold and left after the first half, apparently already happy with what they had seen on the field.

Only twenty-nine seconds into the first half, Xavier destroyed Notre Dame with its new star, Bob Wetterer got the goal back a few minutes later, as he launched a 2-0 lead, his 7th goal of the season.

After an overtime of two minutes, the Irish emerged victorious. Bill Wetterer got the goal back a few minutes later, as he launched a 2-0 lead, his 7th goal of the season.

Playing in conditions more suitable for hockey, the Notre Dame hockey team eased defeated Bethel College, 8-1, on the icy turf of Carter Field, Tuesday, boosting their record to 13-1-1.

Coach Rich Hunter started his team on a three-on-three formation from behind after taking a perfect pass from Murphy and used his quick shot past the unprotected goaltender into the left side and lined a low shot into the opposite corner of the net.

The starters came back at the start of the second half, and quickly added to the Notre Dame lead with three goals early in the half.

Los Angeles Lakers-Any team with a healthy Kareem Abdul-Jabbar will be in contention for the NBA West.
The Western conference of The National Basketball Association has produced some fine teams in the recent past and the Western division has been the most competitive group in the league. Any one of five teams could win that championship. The Midwest is dominated by the Denver Nuggets, but the Chicago Bulls are a close second. Abdul-Jabbar's supporting cast in L.A. is superb and the Lakers should have a very productive season.

Former Notre Dame star Adrian Dantley and Jamaal Wilkes are the Laker forwards. Both are all-NBA caliber players, although Wilkes didn't have an all-star season in '77. Kenny Carr, who went with Abdul-Jabbar to the Lakers also has two premier rookies in Mychal Thompson, the overall top pick and the San Francisco Warriors-Portland Trailblazers.

Portland Trailblazers-Portland, Oregon.
The familiar chill that invades the Oregon campus with the coming of fall hit the Portland Trailblazers in the first few weeks of the season.
