Donahue entertains overflowing crowd

by Mark Rust
Staff Reporter

An overflow crowd of approximately 1100 last night heard syndicated talk show host Phil Donahue, a Notre Dame graduate, discuss an assortment of concerns ranging from feminism to campus issues in a two hour talk in Washington Hall.

Donahue was interrupted throughout his speech by the applause of a standing room only crowd that did not appear to thin out until the closing minutes of the talk.

Donahue reserved the largest part of his allotted time for a spirited question and answer session, during which students asked him to respond to such current campus issues as parietals, co-ed dorms, equal rights in a similar vein by students, and make Donahue of a paternalistic attitude that is prevalent in his Chicago studio today.

Donahue. Ellen Dorney, Badin Hall resident and HPC member, asked Donahue to respond to such questions as, "Is it okay to have a car and a six-pack of beer?" Today," he continued, "I understand that it is not the appropriate time for a question like that..."

An interviewer celebrated by TV critics for his outspokenness on controversial issues, Donahue did not lack for pithy aphorisms.

Of the church hierarchy Donahue said, "I think a lot of what the Church does today is unfair to God," and on the financial mismanagement of Cleveland, his hometown, Donahue observed, "That a lot of insecure macho men are running around spreading a lot of bull, that does them absolutely no good."

When questioned about his divorce and his relationship with actress Marlo Thomas, Donahue, who said that he is "not a practicing Catholic," gave a reflective response. "The church's attainment of things was a burden, I've thought about it since then and probably still do." [Continued on page 4]

HPC discusses rights

by Aileen Lazen
Staff Reporter

The HPC met with members of Carroll Hall last night to discuss the possibilities of fighting for student's rights through the issue of parietals.

"We picked parietals because it was an issue that affected everybody," explained Tim Coonan, a representative from Carroll Hall.

"The idea was to get other halls to do something - it was up to them to make their own decision," Coonan continued.

Andy Herring, representing Student Government, was also in attendance at the meeting.

"We felt that a meeting between Student Government and HPC was in order...to discuss campus issues in a more personal manner...to see what we could do to help one another," Herring continued.

The HPC met with members of Carroll Hall last night to discuss current campus topics as well as to assess the effectiveness of the session. There was an overwhelming positive response to the weekend and hopes were that the students would continue to be active throughout the year.

Coordinator Flynn terms exchange 'a success'

by Ann Hesburgh
The Notre Dame-Toronto Exchange was officially proclaimed a success by its coordinator Norman Flynn at both the Brunswick Pub and Musical Jam Party that was held Sunday night in the library of the South House, a student dormitory.

"This is the best exchange that we have ever experienced," said Norman. "The Notre Dame people are just great."

Four bus loads of Notre Dame students entered the beautiful city of Toronto at 5:45 Friday evening. After a short accidental tour of downtown, the students arrived at the University of Toronto, where they unloaded their luggage, met their hosts for the weekend, and attended a pre-arranged dinner that was served in the Great Hall of the Hart House.

The activities that began Friday night did not end until Monday afternoon. Friday after dinner, the Notre Dame students and their hosts attended a "get acquainted" party that was held at the Vic Pub on campus and which lasted until 1:00 a.m. There the students were able to dance and meet all those involved in the exchange.

Saturday's schedule was one of the busiest, as the day's activities began at 10 a.m. with tours of the CN (Canadian National) Tower, the tallest free-standing structure in the world. Other activities included sightseeing of historic Toronto, a luncheon at City Hall, and a tour of Queen's Park, which included a talk given by Alderman Gilbert and tours of both Parliament Buildings and the Provincial Legislative Chambers.

Two social activities maintained the spirit of the day. The first of these team activities was a "boat racing" contest that took place at the Brunswick Pub between four members from each school. Much to Notre Dame's dismay, both the women's and men's teams were overcome by the Canadians.

The second team activity was the Pub Crawl. Co-ed team members from both the Universities of Toronto and Notre Dame were given a map and five and a half hours to visit 16 pubs throughout the city. At each pub participants collected paraphernalia to prove that in fact all 16 were visited. The winners of this contest were the Manitoba Flying Beavers.

Robert S. Bodwell discussed Canadian-American Relations Sunday. The day also included sports activities such as water polo, swimming, basketball, and volleyball.

A mass honoring the Notre Dame students was held at 8 p.m. Sunday, and was well attended by the students from both universities. The mass ended with a talk given by Fr. Robbin, the celebrant.

Following the mass, students from Toronto as well as Notre Dame displayed their musical talents in a jam session that was held in the library of the South House. After the session, students again danced and socialized until the early morning hours.

The students were free to do as they pleased Monday. Some chose to attend university classes with their hosts, while others made a last attempt to see as much of the city as possible in the time that remained.

Tom Taege, who worked on the exchange committee, credited the success of the program to the exchange chairman. "The value of this trip and its lasting memories can to a large extent be attributed to the very hard work of both Chuck DelGrande and Norman Flynn," he said. "The entertainment and the last evening dinner at the Hotel Toronto were a success."
Court orders cultist to stand trial for murder

GEORGETOWN, Guyana [AP] - Stephan Jones, 19, son of the Rev. Jim Jones, walked out of a courtroom yesterday a free man, but his brother Charles said yesterday that Mr. Jones would be ordered to stand trial for murder in April. Beikman, 42, will be tried for the March 17 slaying of Sherry Ames, a top aide to Jones. She and her three children died in the Temple's headquarters here last Nov. 18, the same day that more than 900 other cultists died in a mass murder-suicide in the Temple settlement of Jonestown. After Magistrate Prem Persaud read his ruling, Beikman grabbed Jones by the hand and then elbow and congratulated him on his release. Beikman was not charged with the deaths of the three children, but under Guatamalan law he could be later. At the conclusion of the preliminary inquiry last week, defense lawyers argued that there was no case against either Jones or Beikman.

Butz blasts farmers for Washington protest

TOPEKA, Kan. [AP] - Former U.S. Agriculture Secretary Earl Butz said yesterday that the farmers demonstrating in Washington have so turned off the American people that their efforts are counterproductive. "When you see the television shot of someone driving a $50,000 tractor down Pennsylvania Avenue, or blocking traffic, it doesn't impress the -- -south driver, or the government; clerk, or the housewife," said Butz, who was in Topeka to address a dinner meeting of the Kansas and Pork Club. "I'm in sympathy with their objectives, and I'm sure Secretary (Bob) Bergland is too. But he can't countenance their methods, and neither can I. It's very unfortunate, and it's very counterproductive for them at this point." He said the American Agriculture movement served a very useful purpose a year ago in calling the people's attention to farmers' economic problems. "But it's got to the point where it's strictly counterproductive."

Now collectors items

SALSBURY, Rhodesia [AP] - Police are watching street signs bearing names of Rhodesian pioneers lest they be lifted as souvenirs. And flags, old books, anniversary beer mugs, stamps, medals, coins -- even T-shirts -- are bringing big prices.

With Rhodesia's white colonial history fast fading, its relics are suddenly collectors' items.

A Salisbury businessman recently went to court to force the registrar-general to supply him with 100 copies of Prime Minister Ian Smith's marriage certificate and the records of other prominent Rhodesian whites.

John R. Lessell told the court he wanted the documents as 'speculative investments' since he believed the political situation -- in which the black majority is expected to take over the reins of government in April elections -- placed a collector's value on them.

A related demand has developed for souvenirs of the colonial life-style and the vicious bush war, with shops peddling products ranging from zebra-hued bush hats to pens and bottle openers fashioned from spent cartridge shells.

The buyers include white Rhodesians hankering for a tangible piece of a land and life they may soon have to abandon, speculators hoping to cash in on what they see as future collectors' items, and foreign tourists simply succumbing to a morbid desire for a chunk of a world they believe may soon be swallowed up in civil and racial war.

Among the current bestsellers: Full-size, official Rhodesian flags -- the country's arms set in green and white -- are sold out, and shops report long waiting lists of customers who have already paid up to $40.

-Beer mugs with Ian Smith's portrait and quotes from his 1985 unilateral declaration of independence from Britain, put out on the 10th anniversary of teh declaration, cost $3.50 a year ago. The few remaining ones go for 10 times that.

Iran's government shows 'force'

TEHRAN, Iran (AP) - Waves of jet fighters and helicopters flew in tight formation over Tehran yesterday in a new show of government force as supporters of a rival government named by Ayatollah Ruhollah Khomeini marched through the city.

The thousands of demonstrators supporting Khomeini defiantly waved their fists at the aircraft, shouting: "Allah Akbar!" (God is great).

The flyover punctured the resolve of Prime Minister Shahpour Bakhtiar to stay in power until elections can be held.

A top aide to Khomeini claimed the threat of a military coup had passed and that the ayatollah now has some military support.

But he hedged broadly that more violence was likely before Iran's crisis eased.

The aide, Dr. Ibrahim Yazdi, formerly of Houston, Texas, said many elements of Iran's 430,000-man army had swung over to Mehdi Bazargan, Khomeini's choice as prime minister of a provisional revolutionary government.

Yazdi also claimed yesterday's flyover was a display of backing for Bazargan. He did not elaborate.

Residents of Isfahan, Iran's second largest city, said Khomeini backers had assumed police functions and administration of city departments there.

The police for a coup has come and it has failed," Yazdi told reporters at Khomeini's command post in Tehran. "We have very good reason to expect no problem in this regard."

Referring to clashes yesterday between pro- and anti-Khomeini groups at Zahedan, near the Pakistani border, in which three people died, Yazdi said: "We are at a very critical and sensitive stage. It is one as rosy as one might expect. There are remnants of the old regime (of Shah Mohammad Reza Pahlavi) still operating and seeking to cause violence."

The exodus of foreigners continued with the departure of 400 Americans and 50 Canadians from Tehran aboard military transport planes. A U.S. Embassy spokesman said the number of Americans in Iran is 5,000, down from a peak of 50,000 before political strife began a year ago.

Among those leaving yesterday were George Van Vildricken and his Iranian wife Lida. Van Vildricken, a New York, has a pilot for Bell Helicopter International in Isfahan.

"Everybody feels good about going, although most people will have to find new jobs when they get back and there are worries about that," he said.

He said death threats and abrasive notes were common and anti-American feeling was high but not universal.

"Mildred Tyler of Fort Worth, Texas, also a Bell employee, said: "I have enjoyed Iran and I like Iranians. If possible I would like to return sometime.""

Bakhtiar resorted to partial law by approving to all peaceful marches.

Carter asks for beefed-up drafting

In its present plan is to set up draft offices in three days and within 15 days use state election machinery to conduct a mass one-day registration of more than 4 million young people. It would conduct a draft lottery in 20 days and make mail outs in 28 days.

The Carter's federal reorganization experts say test runs last fall showed it would take Selective Service employees 78 days to do that — and at least eight to 10 months to supply the 650,000 draftees.

The president's Reorganization Director, Alexander Polikoff, says the system needs a computer 10 times larger than the one to handle the load and a simpler draft machinery than that could be set up rapidly.

Aiding Selective Service Director Robert E. Black, who says he thinks he needs only four times as much computer capacity as his study is under way to determine the actual needs.

Members of the Saint Mary's College faculty met yesterday in Carroll Hall to discuss the Compulsory Retirement Law which was approved in 1977. That piece of federal legislation prohibits the voluntary retirement of any employee below age seventy, except college and university professors who are exempt from mandatory retirement until July 1982.

In October of 1978 members of the American Association of University Professors (AAUP) supported SMC faculty assembly's proposal requesting that the employed personnel of Saint Mary's College of tenured professors, who should they choose to go on, who would otherwise retire in the year 1979 and June 30, 1982 before reaching age seventy. In October of 1978 an ad hoc committee was appointed to look into the faculty assembly's proposal to extend the protection offered by the legislation to currently retired faculty members who have not yet reached age seventy.

At yesterday's meeting a modification of the proposal was suggested. This resolution would include SMC faculty members who turned sixty-five before 1979. This proposal was voted on and approved by the faculty assembly in favor of a request to modify the college retirement policy which concerns professors who turn age sixty-five between 1979-1982. As a result, contrary to federal legislation where an employer cannot be required to retire until age seventy, college and university professors who are exempt from mandatory retirement on university demand, at the request of the president of the Saint Mary's College faculty assembly intends to recommend a change in college policy and to move forward with the administration and request action as soon as possible.

A report was made by the Personal Welfare Committee regarding a decrease in faculty salaries, a percentage of which to be distributed to the retiring Teacher's Insurance Annuity Retirement fund. A letter to the ad hoc committee about the study of proposals regarding changes in the Rank and Tenure Committee and its procedures.

The meeting also included the election of the ad hoc committee to serve for 1979. The committee will consist of: Mary Lenard, John Kathryn, Carl McQuarrie, Martin Dull, Barbara Cappel, and Rita Cassidy.

Announcements were reported by Dr. Anthony Black, chairman, concerning the continuation of positions for the College Bowl, CPR organization, and SMC faculty members, and proposed arrangements of faculty use of classrooms.

Dr. James D. Donahue, SMC faculty member, was meeting adjourned at 12:15 p.m.

Senior Club to have Welcome Miller Night

The Notre Dame Senior Club is having a "Welcome Miller Night," tonight, to officially announce the addition of three new beers to the line of products currently being offered by the bar. The new beers are Miller, Miller Lite and Lowenbrau.

According to Senior Bar manager Mike Schraget, "The new drafts offer club members an expanded line of beers at the cheapest prices in town.

"Most of the surveys we've read have reported that Miller is the top three," Schraget said.

The new additions are all distributed by Michiana Beverages of South Bend. This marks the first time this year that Senior Bar has worked with two distributors. The club's other beers, Michelob, Michelob Light, Stroh's, Anheuser Busch Light, and Budweiser are all handled by United Beverages.

"We are really looking forward to serving the students' needs in the upcoming semester," says Tom Gryp, campus representative for Michiana Beverages.

"We're going to work with Senior Bar throughout the semester and we are confident that our product will be very well accepted by the club's members." In addition to "Welcome Miller Night, "the Eagles and Gryp are also planning to establish a Senior Bar Bucket Brigade using Miller and Miller Lite buckets.

Students will be offered an opportunity to purchase a bucket which will then be engraved with the student's name and hung above the Miller bar. Students will then be able to have their buckets filled at discount prices.

Students who have not declared a major or want to change the one that they have, Faculty members from each department will be available at information tables in the LeMans lobby to answer questions and supply brochures to interested students.

Finance Club to present forum

The Finance Club will present its Annual Finance Forum, today and tomorrow, in Hayes-Healy Auditorium. The forum is a program designed to inform students about the proceedings in the financial field. To achieve this objective, various corporate executives have been invited to share experiences or emphasize related topics in the financial environment.

In addition to the forum, one of the speakers, Mr. William H. Darrow, Vice President of Commercial Bank, will be holding an informal discussion on career opportunities with Commercial Bank at 7 p.m. tonight in the Hayes-Healy Auditorium.

The opening speaker for the forum was Frank T. Allerti, senior vice president and chief financial officer of Clark Equipment Company. Allerti recently came to Clark from ITT Europe where he was ITT's vice president and comptroller to take over all of Clark's financial operations. He spoke on "Financial Controls in a Multinational Corporation" this morning in the Hayes-Healy Auditorium.

Frank A. Potenziani, a '67 Notre Dame graduate, followed Allerti. Potenziani is the director of Mountain States Financial Corporation from Albuquerque, New Mexico. He spoke on "Financial Controls in a Multinational Corporation" this morning in the Hayes-Healy Auditorium.

Petro's Irish women defeat Marquette, 60-57

By Mark Hanneskold, Sports Writer

When the Marquette Warriors walked into the floor of the ACC Saturday, Coach Sharon Petro's women's basketball team was unprepared. After all, they had been up against tall teams before. Then Kathy Andrykowski walked out. At 6-4, Kathy had the makings of a dominant basketball figure. But Petro took it all in stride. "We'll just have to deny her the ball," she decided.

And deny Petro did. Andrykowski scored just 9 points and had only six rebounds in a 60-57 Irish win. But it was last second basket by Andrykowski that made the difference in the outcome. Marquette jumped out to early 20-6 lead as Baskets by Pat Meyer, Jayne Poliak and Maggie Piane made the score 2-0.

Statistically for the Irish, Carol Lally hit a bucket off the line on 7-14 (50% shooting from the floor) and 1-4 (25% 3 point field goal percentage). The second half opened with the Marquette defense holding the Irish without a shot in the first five minutes of play. Marquette made the score 18-10 at the 2:00 mark, but Andrykowski and Kaylyn Sievert, who cleared 6 feet, 4 inches in the high jump, were the makings of a winning team.

A knee ailment hastened my departure from football. Nevertheless, I will always remember that game at the end of the season, when we lost to Notre Dame in the first round of the NCAA tournament if it had been played. Also placing in the high jump was 6-2 forward Kendall Pinder (13.9 ppg.) and Maggie, who cleared 6 feet, 2 inches.

Several members of the Notre Dame team turned that game into performances last Saturday, as Notre Dame leads the nation with 56.2 percent field goal accuracy and 32.1 percent 3 point field goal accuracy.

Face Wolfpack tonight

By Lou Senior

The top ranked Notre Dame basketball team, 16-2 after Monday night's win, travels to Raleigh, North Carolina tonight to meet the North Carolina State Wolfpack. This will be the second contest between the two schools with the Irish having posted 79-70 win at the ACC.

North Carolina State has an unusual 15-7 record with a mark of 1-6 in the ACC, and 14-1 in non-conference play. But that record is deceivng since five of the seven ACC losses were by three points or less. This past weekend State captured both ends of the North-South doubleheader at Charlotte defeating Virginia Tech, 97-88, and topping Florida State 73-65.

Wolfpack trademark is depth with 12-12 players seeing action in every game. Norm Sloan's club has an unbalanced scoring last season with five players in double figures, but this year 6-1 forward Charles (Hawkeye) Whitney has taken over as top scorer. Whitney, has come into his own this year drawn after shedding twenty pounds in the off-season, and has found himself as a top-notch hurler. I have compiled a 2.30 scoring average.

The Wolfpack quarterback on the floor is 6-5 Cycle "the Glide" Austin who led State with 6 points in late loss in South Carolina. The Irish have not reached that mark point lead with a 14.9 average and leads in assists with 1,000 1.2.

5 Also placing in the high jump was 6-2 forward Kendall Pinder (13.9 ppg.) and Maggie, who cleared 6 feet, 2 inches.
