SMC Board to consider library plan next week
by Pam Degnan

The final architectural drawings for a new library will be considered by the SMC Board of Regents next week.

Architect Evans Woolen yesterday confirmed construction of the library will cost the college an estimated $1-million dollars. The administration, in attempting to raise a large portion of the money, is undertaking an overall fund-raising campaign.

According to Woolen's drawings, the library will be situated next to the Science Building and across from the dining hall.

The building would be constructed in yellow brick with a slate roof. Woolen's plans attempt to preserve the traditional Gothic architecture of the older campus buildings.

Woolen, who designed the library at Marquette College in Indianapolis and is now engaged in designing St. Joseph's Seminary in southern Indiana, was chosen by the SMC Library Committee to submit its drawings.

The new building, according to students planning to occupy 70,000 square feet as compared to the 19,000 square feet of the old library.

Once completed, St. Bernece students will be allowed to expand plans to equip the audio-visual department and move the archives from Regina Hall to the new building.

Professor Kevin MacDonnell, chairman of the Philosophy Department and a member of the Library Committee, feels that Woolen's designs are perfect.

Governor will not give troubled Chrysler cash

INDIANAPOLIS (AP) - Gov. Otis R. Bowen said yesterday he has no plans to unite the state’s purse strings for the financially troubled Chrysler Corp., but has encouraged the automaker to bid on contracts to supply the state vehicles.

Bowen told reporters that he and three other governors met with top Chrysler officials during the Midwestern Governor’s Conference in Missouri this week, but received no specific requests for aid.

Fur flies over Carter’s rabbit run-in Bunny rabbits are soft and cuddly creatures. They wouldn’t hurt anyone, would they? The fur is flying over President Carter’s reported run-in with a rabbit. A longtime rabbit breeder says it’s never heard of a bunnt attacking, but adds, “Once in a while you do get a mean one.”

Judge okays canine search

HAMMOND (Ind. AP) - School administrators may use trained dogs to sniff out drugs in schools, a federal judge ruled yesterday.

However, U.S. District Judge Allen Sharp said a female student’s constitutional rights against illegal search and seizure were violated when she was forced to remain in a drug气味 after a dog indicated she might have marijuana in her possession. More evidence than a dog’s alert would be needed to justify a nude search, he said.

Sharp’s ruling came in a suit filed by the American Civil Liberties Union seeking $100,000 in damages for five unidentified highland students after dogs were used to locate drugs in a junior and a senior high school March 23. Sharp refused to reward any damages.

The ACLU contends there was no probable cause for the several weeks of reports of wide spread drug use. The suit also said that the students in classrooms during the searches constituted illegal detention.

The dog acted merely as an aide to the school administrator in detecting the scent of marijuana,” Sharp ruled. The atmosphere within the Highland junior and senior high schools was one of frustration... brought about by their officials inability to control or arrest the drug use problem.

In a public setting school officials clothed with the responsibilities of caring for the health and welfare of the entire student population may rely on such general suspicion tooccasion or authorize the police’s detection narcotic use.

In the Highland searches, lasting about 2 ½ hours, dogs were taken from room to room and walked up and down the aisles sniffing for marijuana. No one was arrested after the Highland searches, but three students were expelled, two other suspended, and 12 others withdrawn from school.

Dogs also have been used in drug searches at Crown Point, Lake Central, and Pendleton high schools.

Police charge IRA member in murder

DUBLIN, Ireland (AP) - Irish authorities charged an alleged IRA timebomb expert and another man with murder in the slaying of Britain's Earl Mountbatten, killed when his boat had blown up in Donegal Bay.

Police said they also rounded up an unspecified number of men for questioning in an overnight swoop through County Donegal.

Francis McGirl, a 24-year-old farmer, and Thomas McMahon, 31, an upholsterer - both alleged members of the illegal Irish Republican Army's Provisional wing - stood before a judge for just 4½ minutes in Dublin's special no-jury court for terrorist cases.

The charges accused them of murdering Lord Louis Mountbatten, 79-year-old cousin of Queen Elizabeth II, during his annual holiday at Mullaghmore.

McGirt, was regarded McNahon as an explosives expert on the IRA's military wing - stood judge for just 4½ minutes in Dublin's special no-jury court for terrorist cases.

Two members of Mountbatten's family and a local teenage boy band were also killed in last Monday's boat explosion for which the IRA claimed responsibility.

McGirll and McMahon, who were not charged in the other deaths, were ordered up for a hearing Oct. 2 for a hearing.

Security sources said they regarded McGirll as an acknowledged expert on timebomb mechanisms. McGirll's uncle, John Joe McGirll, was one of the top six men in the Provisionals' chief policymaking council.

McGirll and McMahon were picked up by police at an antiterrorist checkpoint along a road in northwestern Ireland several hours before the bomb blast spinned Mountbatten's boat. If they were involved, it apparently means either that others took part in the killings or the bomb - an estimated 50 pounds of explosives - was triggered by a timing device or by contact.

Police have theorized the explosives might have been planted in a locker on the boat or in one of the lobster pots checked regularly by Lord Mountbatten, 76-year-old cousin of Queen Elizabeth II, during his annual holiday at Mullaghmore.

Monday was the bloodied day in the 10 years of underground warfare by the IRA, fighting to end British rule in Northern Ireland. Later that day, 18 British soldiers were killed in two bomb explosions in Northern Ireland for which the Irish guerrillas were blamed.

Ship loses control; rams butane barge

GOOD HOPE, La. (AP) - A pickup truck coming down the Mississippi River veered out of control yesterday and rammed a big butane tank barge, setting off a huge fireball.

Officials said four crewmen died, three persons were missing and 20 were hospitalized.

The barge, torn from the Good Hope Refinery loading dock by the impact of the 54-foot Inca Tupacuy社会, drifted downstream, billowing flame. At the loading dock, the tug Captain Norman burned.

Last night, the fire-blackened ship was too hot for rescue teams to search it for the missing men.

"They just got the fire out, and I doubt that anyone will be going down in there tonight," said Alan Bark, a Coast Guard duty officer.

About 100 people living in riverside subdivisions three miles downstream were ordered evacuated when the barge drifted against the riverbank, burning like a runaway blowtorch.

They were taken to shelters.

Accounting for survivors at the chaotic scene took hours.

"A total of 48 people were involved - 43 on the ship, 1 on the barge, 3 on the dock, 1 on the barge, 3 on the tug, said Coast Guard Lt. Tom Pearson.

"Of that 48, we have accounted for 39, with 13 of them still in the hospital. The other 26 were treated and released, or were not badly injured."

Coast Guardians wearing fire coats and equipped with supply packs were assigned to search the ship for fear that some men might be trapped inside, shielded by fireproof bulkheads but unable to get out until rescuers pry open the hatchways.

Three of six butane tanks on the barge, each about the size of a railroad tankcar, were ripped from the barge and thrown into the river.

The desert table at St. Mary's picnic yesterday proved to be a popular spot.
21 years later
Police officer pleads guilty

MILWAUKEE (AP) — For the family of Daniel Bell, the news was welcome, even though it came 21 years later. "You hear that Danny, my boy?" the truth. Twenty-one years later, they known truth," Lawrence Bell shouted when informed that a former police officer had pleaded guilty to charges of perjury and homicide by reckless conduct in the 1978 shooting death of Bell's 22-year-old brother, Daniel. The former officer, Thomas F. Grady Jr., 49, of Pine, Colorado, was quoted in a report as having told his police partner at the time of the shooting that he would lie about the circumstances because "it was just a goddamnigger kid anyway." The guilty plea both cleared the name of Daniel Belland revealed what investigators called a police department cover-up of the facts of the case. Bell's relatives "have always known that Danny had not done anything wrong, that he was killed for nothing," Lawrence Bell said. "The black community knew. We rallied. We marched and nobody listened. Now the rest of Milwaukee knows."

The shooting touched off protest demonstrations by members of the black community, but Grady was cleared of wrong doings. An inquest was told the deceased victim was "A hold-up man" and had lunged at Grady with a knife. The case was secretly reopened last year, officials said, after Grady's former partner came forward with the information. Despite the plea, the murderer was shot while fleeing from a traffic investigation and that Grady planted a jackknife in the dead victim's hand. District attorney E. Michael McCann said two superiors who knew the truth and who persuaded partner Louis G. Krause to go along with a doctored report are now dead. McCann did not identify them. and said no other officer who may have known the truth is any longer with the department.

A complaint said Krause, now 49, disclosed that Bell was running with his back to Grady when shot.

Krause "has thought about the matter, and it has haunted him and deeply troubled him for many years," the complaint said.

It said he told his superiors the truth, at the time of the shooting, but that, "they convinced him to change his story to match what Grady had told them."

Grady flew to Milwaukee from Colorado with an attorney. He pleaded guilty to homicide by reckless conduct and to perjury.

Judge Ted E. Wedemeyer Jr. scheduled sentencing for Oct. 30.

Grady, who declined to talk to reporters, was freed on $5,000 personal bond.

Grady and Krause left the force a few months after the Bell incident. Krause was dismissed after being involved in a tavern scuffle while off-duty. Authorities said that Grady left the department during an investigation into allegations that he had dated a married woman.

Obud plans organization meeting

The Ombudsman Service will hold an organizational meeting Sunday, at 7 p.m., in the La Fortune Ballroom for anyone interested in joining the Ombudsman Service.

Friends of Museum

Notre Dame has announced the formation of the Friends of the Snite Museum of Art, designed to encourage participation in the programs that will become available when the new campus art facility is opened to the public in the fall of 1980. The Snite Museum adds some 32,000 square feet to the existing O'Shaughnessy Art Gallery and will be arranged to offer a chronological survey of 2,500 years of significant achievements in the visual arts, according to its director, Dr. Dean A. Porter. The principal benefaction behind the museum is a two million dollar gift from the Fred B. Snite Foundation of Chicago.

Several membership categories, ranging from 1 dollar for students and seniors citizens to 1,000 dollars for donors, will offer such services as invitations to previews, access to special lectures, recitals, seminars and other new programs; use of the museum library, and free subscriptions to museum publications and exhibition guides.

Groucho, Harpo, Chico... and sometimes Zeppo

Tom Hamel

If you’re one of those film viewers who lumps the Marx Brothers, the Three Stooges, and the Bowery Boys into one inchoate group with the labels “Comedy Teams,” then I beg you, read no further. There is about as much similarity between the Marx Brothers and the Three Stooges as there is between Buster Keaton and Pansy Lee.

During their peak Broadway and Hollywood good days, the Marx Bros. were the hottest comedy team known to civilization. Soon after they burst into the bigtime with tie 1924 hit, “I’ll Say She Is,” it became very chic to quote the words of their films. Even today, you can recount what new and naughty things Harpo and Chico did to Groucho’s lighting wit, sprinkled with puns, nonsensicality and double entendre, thatreaked the bowels, or left a room啸ing with laughter and sophisticated crowd; Chico’s musical talent, Harpo’s vociferousness, Groucho’s aphorisms, and Marx’s enveloped the admiration of all movie viewers, while the broader, more slickly, offended the Marx philosophy approv-ed by everyone.

After their first Broadway success, the brothers followed with The Cocoanuts in 1929, which broke all kinds of...
Choose the Texas Instruments calculator that's right for your major.

When you're working in a specialized field, you need a specialized calculator. That's why Texas Instruments designed the Business Analyst-II for business and finance, and the TI-50 for science and math. Each provides the tailored power and the reliability you'll need as you learn to solve the problems you'll face as a professional. And each has a price you'll appreciate as a student.

Slimline Business Analyst-II

Sleek LCD calculator with versatile business capabilities.

Solving financial problems with the Slimline Business Analyst-II can make working with your old calculator seem like pencil-and-paper arithmetic. The functions required to perform common business tasks—financial and statistical calculations are built in to help you make quick, accurate evaluations of many complex business situations. Special financial keys are used to handle time and money problems such as compound interest, annuities, amortization, sinking fund payments, mortgage loans, investment yields, and more.

Slimline TI-50

The Slimline TI-50 packs 60 powerful functions into a handsome, compact package.

The pocket-portable Slimline TI-50 is a remarkably powerful LCD slide-rule calculator. Yet it's as thin as a pencil and weighs only three ounces! Its 60 versatile functions can help you handle a wide range of college math problems. Capabilities include common and natural logarithms, six trigonometric operations that can be performed in three angular modes (degrees, radians or grads), two content memories that retain their contents even when the calculator is turned off, two memory systems which provide the power you'll need to boil down data and automatically handle two-year operations in normal use. And TI's APD automatic power-down feature helps prevent accidental battery drain.

The Business Analyst-II, with detailed owner's manual and slide-rule vinyl wallet with pockets for notes, $45.00.

The Slimline TI-50 includes a detailed owner's manual and a durable vinyl wallet, $40.00.

Make sure your next calculator has the specialized power to handle the problems unique to your major. See the Business Analyst-II and the Slimline TI-50 at your college bookstore or other TI dealer today.

Rabbi teaches Theo courses in Judaism

by Mary Fran Callahan

Rabbi Pincus Peli, a professor from Ben-Gurion University in Beer-Sheva, Israel, is currently teaching courses in Judaism for the Notre Dame Theology Department. Professor Peli is the first rabbi to be invited to occupy such a position.

The rabbi is offering two courses this semester, Prayer & Judaism and Religious Language. The courses will focus on Judaism rather than contrast or compare it with Christianity.

Professor Peli anticipated no problems in terms of interest for his course offerings. "In order to understand Christianity, one must go back to its source—the Judean roots. My courses will provide knowledge as well as sensitivity, so that a student of any religious preference stands to benefit."

On the first day of classes, Professor Peli did not have enough chairs to accommodate all the students interested in his course.

In addition to broadening the students' minds, the rabbi is confident that Notre Dame will enrich his own mind. "I came here because I felt it would be a great opportunity to learn as well as to teach," he said.

The rabbi received his basic education at the Hebrew University in Jerusalem and has been chairman of the Hebrew Literature Department for the last three of his ten years at Ben-Gurion University.

Carter urges Blacks, Jews to unite

TAMPA, Fla. (AP) - President Carter called on the nation's Blacks and Jews to put aside their differences yesterday and urged all Americans not to let "divisiveness...divide us into division." Carter has himself confronted later by a small, noisy group of protesters.

"In a time of trial we must not permit the legitimate contest of competing views to become a war of group against group, special interest against special interest, and finally each against all others," Carter told an audience at Emory University in Atlanta.

Later, in an appearance at a town meeting here, Carter was interrupted by chants and shouts for protest.

The shouting erupted as Carter was asked what plans he had to help poor families meet the rising energy costs.

"It's a free country," the president, in shirt sleeves, said as two members of a group calling itself the "Revolutionary Communist Party" were ejected from the high school gymnasium.

There was no indication that the protesters were connected with the man who asked the question.

During the protest, a young woman and man, apparently part of the Revolutionary Communist Party, interrupted the session by standing up and shouting chants. They stood up in the audience of about 2,000 and unfurled a banner, and shouted, "Stop the lies!"

Uniformed police escorted the protestors from the auditorium but apparently took them into custody when the shouting continued.

A White House spokesman said he did not know immediately whether the man and woman had been placed under arrest. There was no indication that the president was in any danger.

Carter was greeted with extensive applause when he asked the audience's help in getting Congress to approve his proposed "windfall profits" oil tax.

In Atlanta, Carter had said, "differing political views, when and if they do exist, must not become the occasion for deep and damaging division between citizens of our society."

Irish kicking game will enjoy Male, Unis two-footed attack

by Frank LaGrotta
Sports Writer

Most football experts will tell you that the key to winning in the NFL is having a difference between winning and losing, and a good, swift kick ...

Throughout the uprights, that is. With the war, the Cincinnati Reds hadn't won the National League since 1972 and it seemed grim. The Cincinnati Bengals used to do this a good deal when Chuck Male set to handle the kicking and he kicked plenty of three-pointers for the Fighting Irish as well as a kicking game that ranks among the nation's best. And no one is saying that he doesn't have a chance to do it again.

Having two kickers the caliber of Mike LaCoss and Chuck Male is another team, and no one is saying that we don't have a chance to do it again.

This will be the second consecutive season that Unis and Male will more or less share the kicking duties with both serving considerable action in 1978. Unis started last season as Notre Dame's number one placekicker before being benched late in the season, and Mike Thomas and Chuck Male are the kicking options for the Irish.

Both players are accomplished kickers. Male, a senior kicker, is the all-time leading field goal scorer in Notre Dame history with a career total of 129 points. Male's three field goals against Miami were the difference between winning and losing, and a good, swift kick ...

"I had a chance to help the team and I didn't let them down. They had worked so hard to come through and I just had to come through," Male said.

Which brings us to 1979 and a situation where the Irish have two competent kickers to depend on. But, despite competi-

"Oh, there's definitely competition," smiles Unis. "But it's friendly competition. Chuck and I coach each other in practice and we both want to see the other one do well."

"That's right," agrees Male. "The important thing is getting three points for the team, not worrying about who kicks it.

Both players insist that team victories mean much more to them than individual accomplishments. But, while their attitudes are similar, their kicking styles are totally different.

Male, a soccer-style kicker, describes the difference between that method and the conventional toe kick employed by Unis: "

The major difference," he explains, "is that with the soccer-style kicker he hits the ball off his instep. A conventional toe kicker hits it off his toe."

A toe-kicker gets his strength from the knee while a soccer-style kicker uses his entire leg. No wonder, then, that Unis adds both are convinced that there is no such thing as a "best.

"It's all in what you're used

Steelers, Dolphins to pace AFC

by Michael Orman

The Dolphins will have some big problems if they start following the star tailback has threatened to sit out the first quarter of the season.

1. Pittsburgh - The Steelers have the best defensive line in the league has ever seen with the likes of rookie Timmy Stabler plays, and plays out of his mind.

2. Miami - This is Pete Rose's dream division. His biggest goal as Commissioner was to achieve balance in the NFL. Boy, is this the place to do it!

Kansas City is the only team you can write-off from the start. They only have a 5-10 record. Los Angeles through 12 games.
