
Anderson won Massachusetts.

In Stepan Center
Mock Convention opens tonight

by Michael Orendak
Senior Copy Editor

The 1980 Republican Mock Convention will open tonight when University President Fred Theodore Hesburgh delivers the invocation at 7 p.m. in Stepan Center.

Hesburgh will be followed by the speaker’s platform by Indiana Gov. Otis Bowen, who will deliver the welcoming address. and former Secretary of the Interior Walter J. Hickel, who will deliver the Mock Convention’s keynote address.

Hickel, a former governor of Alaska, will also address the Mock Convention at 12:15 p.m. and hold a press conference at 1:15 p.m. in the Morris Inn. Hickel is attending the Mock Convention in conjunction with the national campaign of former Texas Gov. John Connally.

Besides tonight’s speakers, reports of the Mock Convention’s Finance and Credentials Committees will be given. The convention will continue tomorrow night with the presence of the student-elected speakers.

Anderson wins Massachusetts

Back in the Republican field without a clear leader. This could make it easier for former President Gerald R. Ford to enter the competition before late-comers.

Anderson’s support is buoyed by strong centrist support from independent voters in the Republican primaries in both states. They will be chosen later at a state party convention.

The three GOP leaders there will be divided about equally among Massachusetts’ 42 Republican delegates.

Reagan said he was unhappy to be in a three-way tie in Massachusetts.

Reagan and Bush, who had struggled for the elusive mantle of Republican front-runner, left the Republican field without a clear leader. This could make it easier for former President Gerald R. Ford to enter the competition before late-comers.

Anderson’s support is buoyed by strong centrist support from independent voters in the Republican primaries in both states. They will be chosen later at a state party convention.

The three GOP leaders there will be divided about equally among Massachusetts’ 42 Republican delegates.

Reagan said he was unhappy to be in a three-way

Inflation signals prime rate increase

NEW YORK (AP) - With business still lining up to borrow money despite record-high interest rates, major banks yesterday raised their prime lending rates to a record 17.25 percent.

The increase, begun by Chase Manhattan Bank and matched by nearly every major bank, came in response to new signals the Federal Reserve System determined to tighten credit.

"The Federal Reserve is now telling us it is aiming for a recession," said William Gibson, an economist with the Wall Street firm of Smith Barney, Aariss Uphaam & Co. "It’s trying to do whatever it takes to slow down the economy.

"We’re on the brink of a credit crisis," said another Wall Street economist, David Jones of Hultry G. Lanston & Co. "It’s very important the cost of money will be prohibitive to a growing number of small and middle-sized companies.

Chase Manhattan, the third-largest bank in the nation, cited a "very strong" demand for business loans and rapidly rising interest rates as it pays to acquire funds as the reasons for the increase from 16 3/4 percent.

The prime rate is charged by banks on loans to their most credit-worthy corporate borrowers. It stood at 15 1/4 percent Feb 15 when the Federal Reserve launched its latest effort to tighten credit as a way of fighting inflation.

Other industrial and commercial borrowers pay more than the prime rate, in some cases more than 20 percent. But the demand for loans has grown in recent weeks, despite the high rates.

The prime rate does not directly affect rates on consumer loans, but is widely watched as an indicator of short-term interest rates.

The surge in rates this week came after the Federal Reserve acted to reduce the amount of reserves available to banks, and thereby reduce the amount of money available for lending.

The banks that posted rates for their presidential nomination.

Saturday’s Mock Convention highlights will include an address by the dean of the graduate California State University at San Francisco, Daniel Lungdren and the balloting for the vice-presidential nominee.

All convention proceedings will be held in Stepan Center, and will begin at 7 p.m. with the exception of Saturday’s session which will start at 2 p.m.

U.S. admits to foul-up on Israel vote

WASHINGTON (AP) - Secretary of State Cyrus R. Vance took responsibility yesterday for a "foul-up" in which the United States voted for a U.N. resolution critical of Israel’s actions in the Middle East.

The U.S. vote in favor of the resolution, which was cast by a diplomate and political flout and President Carter issued a statement earlier saying the vote was intended to reflect the mistaken belief that references to Jerusalem had been deleted.

Secretary Vance told the U.S. ambassador to the United Nations, "The Secretary of State accepts responsibility for the failure to communicate," spokesman Carter said.

Following Saturday’s U.N. vote the Israeli cabinet, meeting in Jerusalem, formally rejected the American resolution which called for dismantling Israeli settlements and for the return of occupied Palestinian territory.

The Israeli cabinet expressed disappointment with the U.S. vote.

The resolution’s repeated references to Jerusalem as occupied territory is particularly irritating to Israel. The U.S. was re-elected during the Six Day War of 1967 and is now the country’s capital.

In the "clarification" issued by the White House on Monday, President Carter assured Israel that the vote "does not represent a change in our position regarding the Israeli occupation of Arab areas not regarding the status of Jerusalem."

According to State Department spokesman Cerrone, before McHenry’s vote for the resolution the references to Jean independent student newspaper serving notre dame and saint mary’s

The observer

WEDNESDAY, MARCH 5, 1980

...SLF - Page 6
Thirteen year old tycoon rewrites NY tax law

ALBANY, N.Y.-Jody Gerard, the 13-year-old required to pay taxes on his finding worth sales, was met by tears when he confronted State Tax Commissioner James Tully. But Tully says he was only teasing as he tried Monday to convince Jody that he never meant to be an ogre. And Jody, in a similar spirit, presented the Legislature with a bag of red wriggler "just so you all remember me." "I'm glad you decided to help change this law," Tully. If you figure it out logically, it cost the state more to collect the whole $3 tax I paid than I could have on my childhood," said Jody in a brief speech he had prepared for the occasion.

CAB grants approval for service to Cleveland

WASHINGTON (AP) - Air Wisconsin received permission today from the Civil Aeronautics Board to begin providing non-stop service between South Bend and Cleveland. The airline was among 26 carriers allowed to add an additional route each under an automatic entry provision of the airline deregulation act. The permission permits an airline to apply for one new route a year for three years starting in 1979. The CAB must grant the request unless it finds that an award would substantially harm the national air transportation system, or if an incumbent carrier has successfully protected that route. On Dec. 31, 1981, the CAB will lose its authority over domestic routes and the airlines will have almost total freedom to fly where they want.

U.S. agrees to buy grain left from Soviet embargo

WASHINGTON - Agriculture Secretary Bob Bergland announced today plans to buy up to 13 million metric tons of wheat and corn, part of the grain that the Soviets embargoed from delivery to the Soviet Union. Officials said the purchases will involve up to 4.23 million metric tons of wheat and up to 9 million of corn. The purchases will be made "at prevailing market prices" from country elevators and, in some cases, farmers themselves. No costs were announced, but at current farm prices the purchases could total as much as $1.4 billion, including about $519 million for the corn and $582 million for the wheat.

Weather

Snow showers Wednesday, tapering off to flurries, with a possible accumulation of 1-3 inches. Temperatures falling into the mid-20s. Partly sunny Thursday. Highs in the low to mid 20s.

Weather

d'Antuono to sing tonight

Angela d'Antuono, soprano with several New York City opera companies, will be presented in recital by the University of Notre Dame Concert Series at 8:15pm. The program in the Memorial Library Auditorium is open to the public without charge.

The Observer

Night Editor: Ann Monaghan

News Editor: Mark Rust

Features Layout: Ann Gaines

Features Layout: K. Connolly

Sports Layout: John Smith

Typist: Carol Cornwall

Kat. Fessin, Katrina Bigane, Cathy Murray, John Smith, Ann Monaghan

EMT Mike Galvin

Proofreader: Paul Hurley

ND Day Editor: Washeronman

Campbell

Ad Design: Anne Fink, Mike Holtsinger

Photographer: Beth Prezio

Guest Appearance: Deirdre McElroy of Mike Barber, Tawn Schuster, Scoop, John "Lameduck" McGrath

last week's Paper

Steve Swonk

The Observer (ISSN 0880-9890) is published Monday through Friday except holidays by the University of Notre Dame. The University of Notre Dame, Notre Dame, Indiana 46556. For reprints, call 800-636-7414. The Observer is the official student organ of the University of Notre Dame. This is the one and only student organ. Submit all communications to the Office of Student Publications, Suite 2023, Main Building. Subscriptions are $15 per year in the United States. Send subscription orders to Subscription Office, The Observer, P.O. Box 1200, Notre Dame, Ind. 46558. No agent employed. The following are classified advertisements: The Observer reserves all rights to all material. The Observer reserves all rights to all reproduction rights. (Printed in the United States of America.)

ALUMNIAE SEMINAR

IS THERE LIFE AFTER
Note Dames?

Find out from those who know

Sat., March 8

1-3 pm Library Aud.

Reception to follow

HEPBURN WEEKEND

CARRIOL HALL SMC

THE PHILADELPHIA STORY

thurs., March 7 & 9

PAX AND MIKE

fri., March 7, 9 & 11

ADAM'S RIB

sat., March 8, 9 & 11

*SONG CLASS PRESENTS

*AMERICANLEGION PUILACE POST

25 BEERS

ALL NIGHT

$1.00 admission

1606 U. Washington Ave.

call 993 at 233-5525 for directions

AIR FORCE ROTC —

HERE ARE THE FACTS

When you're discussing something as important as your future, it's urgent that you get the straight facts and that you understand them. Air Force ROTC can be an important part of your future. We would like to outline some of the facts and invite you to look into gathering more.

It's a fact: The Air Force needs highly qualified, dedicated officers. men and women like Robert E. Gordon, Theodore C. Grovelo, Ronald A. Hellenblad, and Howard W. Greene, all of the Biology Department. The journal has also sponsored a hard-bound monograph series in the past. Only one edition is still in print; others are available as reprints. The only student participation has been occasional help with the mailing list, said Thomas. "I do most of the incidental work like unpacking, by myself," she explained.

Keeping low profile

ND publishes research journal

It features articles of biological interest, contributed by researchers primarily from the United States and Canada. Occasional entries have come from places as far away as India, according to Joanne Thomas, secretary of the publication.

Articles are unsolicited, but rather are research abstracts, whose authors use the Naturalist as a vehicle for exposure.

The editor of the American Midland Naturalist is Robert P. McInnose, professor of Biology at Notre Dame. Members of the Executive Committee in-Crane’s father to speak at ND

by B. Berry

Dr. George Crane will appear at the Republican Mock Convention tomorrow night, according to Tom Jackman, campaign manager of the campus Phil Crane for President Committee. According to the Sept. 11, 1978 issue of People magazine, Crane, the presidential contender’s father, has been a “case-moderately trumped of the right all his life.”

Dr. Crane is best known for his advice column, “The Worry Clinic,” syndicated in 300 newspapers. Dr. Crane and his wife, Cora, had four boys and one girl. The eldest boy, George, Jr., was killed in 1946 when his Marine jet crashed on an exhibition flight. Phil, Dan and David are, according to People, Fourth-generation Grant Old Party members whose political territory is to the right of Reagan’s.” All are actively involved in politics.

Three additional guests have announced plans to participate in the Mock Political Convention, according to Jay L. Kane, assistant director of Information Services.

Rep. Henry Hyde of Illinois will represent Ronald Reagan, Republican candidate for the presidential nomination, and the daughters of Howard Baker and John Anderson will speak for their fathers at the Stepan Center convention.

Hyde has been a member of Congress since 1974. He is the prime sponsor of a series of amendments to prohibit the use of Federal Funds for abortions.

Hyde will attend a 3 p.m. reception tomorrow in LaFortune Student Center. He is expected to make a brief appearance at the convention where a vote on the student platform is scheduled for later evening.

Cissy Baker, the youngest of the senator’s five children, will hold a news conference tomorrow afternoon and address delegates to the convention at 7:30 p.m.

Denise Anderson is scheduled to appear at the convention at 7:30 p.m. Friday. She will precede George Bush, Jr., and the traditional nominating talks and selection of a presidential candidate.

Jackman said that Bowen came out as a strong Ford supporter in a recent interview with Time magazine. He added that Hickel is a surrogate for his son Connelly. Lundgren will represent Reagan, Jackman concluded.

Aide sees April as last chance for Ford

WASHINGTON (AP) — Gerald Ford’s chief aide says that by April, Ford either will be in presidential politics up to his ears or he will be out of them forever.

“My first of April you are going to know where Jerry Ford is,” said Bob Barrett. “Jerry Ford is going to be blown off the scope politically or Jerry Ford is going to be formidable.”

“My first of April you are going to know where Jerry Ford is.”

Until last weekend, the former president maintained he is not interested in running and that he would accept a genuine draft from the Republican Party.

But he went a little further in an interview with the New York Times, saying Ronald Reagan cannot win because he is too conservative. Ford said he will decide by April 1 whether to jump into the race to provide a more moderate alternative.

Reagan’s response was that “we’d all like to see him pack his long johns and come out here on the primary trail with us.”

Gov. Richard Snelling of Vermont, a supporter of Sen. Howard Baker since Ford declared a spine on today’s ballot, said Monday that Ford would make the best president.

The mathematics of the situation, as well as the politics of it, dictate that Ford had better hurry with his decision.

Of the 16 states holding Republican presidential primaries this year, 17 already have closed their books to the entry of candidates or have held their primaries. That means 774 delegates already unavailable in Ford, except for a handful of uncommitteds.

Chemist to present lecture

Professor William J. Lennartz from the John Hopkins University School of Medicine and the University of Chicago, will present lectures today and Friday as part of the Reilly Lectures in Chemistry at Notre Dame. All lectures will be delivered in Room 123 in Nieuwland Science Hall at 4:30 p.m.

Lennartz, who earned his Ph.D. from the University of Illinois in 1959, became an assistant professor at John Hopkins in 1962 and became a full professor in 1971. Among his honors are included the Clayton Scholar Award, the Lederle Medical Faculty Award and the Distinguished Scientist Award of the Maryland Academy of Sciences. He is currently a member of the executive committee of the Division of Biological Chemistry of the American Chemical Society.

His two lectures are Glycoproteins: attachment and Modification of Oligosaccharide Chains and Glycoconjugates in Fertilization and Embryonic Development.

The lecture program, featuring over 130 distinguished scientists from the United States and abroad since it was established in 1948, was endowed by the late Peter A. Reilly. Reilly, born in Providence, R.I., in 1869, organized and honed the coal-tar distilling company now known as the Reilly Tar and Chemical Corp.

Summer...Army ROTC can help put yours into shape. With six weeks of challenging leadership training, Army ROTC offers the opportunity to gain college credits in addition to leadership skills.

Things are shaping up.

Start shaping up for summer. Find out more today about the Army ROTC 2-year program.
HPC announces plans for Women's Week

by Bruce Oakley

Plans for the third annual Women's Opportunity Week (Wow) at Saint Mary's were announced in an open letter to the ND/SMC community, circulated as last night's HPC meeting in St. Ed's. HPC chairperson Ellen Dorney read the text of the letter announcing the week's program of lectures, plays and movies centered on the theme of "Women of Inspiration." Extending from March 9 to March 14, Wow will feature Pulitzer Prize winning poet Gwendolyn Brooks, long distance swimmer Diana Nyad, and Jacqueline Means, the first woman to be ordained an Episcopal minister.

A proposed draft of new party guidelines to be discussed at Monday's CLC meeting was also circulated. The meeting lasted fifteen minutes.

SMC sophs hold parents' weekend

by Mary Agnes Carey

Over 300 Saint Mary's sophomores and their parents participated in the annual "Sophomore Parent Weekend" last weekend, establishing a new attendance record for the event, according to Nini Stoll, SPW chairman.

The turnout was excellent, the budget worked out, and everyone had an excellent weekend," Stoll said.

Events for students and parents included the sophomore class production, "If They Could See Us Now," a champagne reception, a faculty-administration panel, an academic open house, a dance at Century Center, and Sunday mass at the Church of Our Lady of Loretto with brunch at the SMC cafeteria.

Anita Ramker, producer and director of the sophomore class production, expressed her satisfaction with the cast, "I was very pleased that the girls worked so hard. They really had to dedicate themselves, since we've been rehearsing for six months for the show. Everything went as planned, if not better," Ramker said.

Colleen Murphy, a sophomore, explained, "The whole weekend was really very well planned and I think it was one of the best weekends I've had since I've been at Saint Mary's."

Mary Jo Schramm, another sophomore, agreed. "Sophomore Parent Weekend was a good way to bring us closer to our parents as well as to our friends," she said.

Dome names new editor

The editorial board of the Dome has announced the appointment of Meg Klingenberg as editor-in-chief for next year.

Klingenberg, a sophomore American Studies major from Fort Wayne, IN, edited both the dorm and campus organization sections of this year's Dome. In addition she wrote copy for the yearbook freshman year.

Klingenberg brings experience in both yearbook and newspaper journalism to her new position as editor of the Dome. She has also participated in several journalism summer workshops as well as a convention of the Columbia Scholastic Press Association.

"I would like next year's Dome to be a record of that particular year 1980-1981," Klingenberg said of her goals, "and cover specifically key events of that year."
Reagan fights for minorities

In his letter to The Observer, the Governor expressed the sentiments of many Who feel that Ronald Reagan has worked against the interests of the poor and minorities. Mr. Butler and those who agree with him have tried to create what Mr. Reagan's record as governor of California demonstrates they had they would have found that Mr. Reagan did more for minorities than any previous governor, and that his management of the state well prepared it for financial bankruptcy.

Reagan has run more banks for important state positions than all previous California governors combined. He appointed the first black to head a California department and selected numerous minority persons for community speaking positions on boards, commissions, and the judiciary. He hired more Hispanics, Americans, women for state positions than any previous California governor. Fully one-third of his first 100 appointments were minorities.

More importantly, he recognized the welfare problem and solved it successfully. By 1971, the welfare caseload was being handled at a rate of 40,000 people a month. Reagan's job program dropped the caseload by $200 million in 3 years, saved $1 billion, and showed how benefits can be increased for those in need, and the reform drew praise from throughout the country. Many people praised him.

When Ronald Reagan says he has the support of all individuals, he also has the record to back up his claim. Bill Howard

ERa provision incompatible with pro-life stand

Dear Editor:
The Mock Convention Platform contains a provision calling for the passage of the Equal Rights Amendment. I believe this provision must be replaced with a provision opposing the passage of the ERA. The reason for the provision change on the following factors:
1) Leading constitutional authorities agree that ratification of the ERA would unconstitutionally grant women a constitutional right to an abortion since the ERA disallows any distinctions on the basis of sex, and since all State anti-abortion statutes are designed on the basis of sex, such legislation under the ERA, is unconstitutional.
2) For instance, Hawaii is one of the states which is identical to the federal ERA of rights under the law shall not be denied or abridged by the State on account of sex.
3) In a case involving state taxation funding of abortions the American Civil Liberties Union presented to the Hawaii Court the following argument:
   "Abortion is a medical procedure performed only for women; withholding of funding for abortions until better, other medical procedures are sought by both sexes or by only men would be tantamount to a denial of equal rights on the account of sex."
   The ERA is essentially a pro-abortion amendment. The platform also contains a provision prohibiting abortion. It is inconsistent to both pro-life and pro-life, therefore, the pro-ERA provision must be changed.

The statement of the ERA claim that the ERA is necessary based on economic and social equality for women in the areas of education and employment. This argument is fallacious since the Equal Protection Clause of the 14th Amendment and existing State and Federal legislation already make discrimination in these areas illegal. Enforcement of existing laws in this area is necessary for more legislation.

The legislative history of the ERA reveals that all pro-choice groups are against abortion. The pro-choice effected of the ERA were defeated leaving the ERA as an anti-choice clause with no mandate without exceptions. The ERA permits passage of legislation for the following purposes: a) protection for combat duty; b) preservation of protective legislation; c) preservation of lawful support laws; and d) preservation of the right to privacy in public restrooms and segregation of the sexes in public schools.
2) Under Section 2 of the ERA only Congress and the Federal Courts will have power to make all final decisions about marriage, divorce, alimony, abortion, homosexuality and lesbian privileges and the sex segregation in police, city department, schools, sports, hospitals, prisons and public accommodations. This enforcement clause gives Congress and indefinite power over items traditionally within the power of the State.
   For these reasons a provision opposing the Platform is necessary.

Kathy Deane

Editor's Note:

This column, originally intended to preview a talk by Dean Raymond Tuesday night, was unreadable in Monday's Observer, due to production difficulties.

Dean Raymond of the College of Business Administration addressed freshmen last evening at 7:30 in the Hayes-Healy Center.

His talk versatile and was timely especially for those freshmen who are undecided about the college programs to which they are tending.

Although the scheduled talk was entitled, "Information for Freshmen Concerning Business Administration as a possible College Program," the associate dean had indicated that his remarks would not be limited only to those freshmen interested in the College of Business. As I understand it, the heart of the evening was not to unveil a particular college's program formally or permit the sake of recruitment, but to help the undecided student, indiscriminately, in clarifying interests and future goals.

The associate dean is an amiable and understanding man who knows that the freshman's world at this time can be all too readily perplexing. As confusing and intimidating Procedures, informational tests, registration, representatives and aptitude programs which in one's head.

Other peers and upperclassmen seem to have embraced a desire for the economy and marketing skills so vital to future independence. What side of the coin should college administrators advocate in such an instance? Skills or personhood?

Dean Raymond may not have been able to remove the uncertainties for undecided freshmen in last night's talk and discussion, but for those in this situation some of the tension varied at least eased. Dean Raymond is well aware that freshman year is a trying year, but a necessary one. It is a year that calls for courage and resolution.

In speaking with Dean Hofman, the work of the Freshmen Year of Studies promotes every effort to help students evolve toward a compatible career. Yet before one contacts the teachers, advisors and career counselors, be conscious with anyone...search your heart in straightforward honesty. It is the best prayer going. To choose the outside in of little value, unless one has already decided on the inside.

one's vocation in life is so inextricably attached to self-expression. Our interests, objectives and "Work goals" become a dimension through which we breathe, communicate and mature.

The problem which complicates this move toward career decisiveness is that before one can be comfortable with what one wishes to "do" in life, one must first be comfortable with what one can become in life as a person.

To this realization is added the question of what my motivation for attending college. Am I looking to be something or something like it? The image and likeness or this or that stereotype image? Or do I attribute value to those disciplines which elicit the beauty and uniqueness of my life?

The pressures of the working world can exert an overpowering influence on the goal-orientation of students to the point of eclipsing the quest for one's own personal discovery. One is thus in the process of bringing one's self to birth, the need for future financial success and fears of its elusiveness coerce one into the role of a competitive machine.

The problem of freshmen year college programs assists students to gradually focus interests, objectives and in this situation some of the tension was at least eased.

Dean Raymond is well aware that freshman year is a trying year, but a necessary one. It is a year that calls for courage and resolution.

In speaking with Dean Hofman, the work of the Freshman Year of Studies promotes every effort to help students evolve toward a compatible career. Yet before one contacts the teachers, advisors and career counselors, be conscious with anyone...search your heart in straightforward honesty. It is the best prayer going. To choose the outside in of little value, unless one has already decided on the inside.

Bob Bernsko

The plight of the freshmen

Editorial Board and Department Managers

Editor-in-chief......Rosemary Mills Managing Editor.......Diane Wilson

Senior Copy Editor.....M. Onufrak Executive News Editor.....Mike Lewis News Editor.............Mike Shields Sports Editor.............Mark Perry Features Editor...........Kathleen Connelly Photo Editor...........Doug Christians

Business Manager......Steve Oland Production Manager......John McGrath Advertising Manager.......M. Holzinger Circulation Manager......Kevin Mannon
Features

1980 Sophomore Literary Festival

John Auerbach

Reading - Monday March 14th
8:00 PM MEM LIB AUD

With neither malice nor charity towards his model, John Auerbach structures the silence of our lives in such a way that is both arresting and sympathetic. The person I stood on the poop deck watching Greek isles come out of the sea which was a silver panel, and disappeared already to give place to other islands...

In the same way an island will both appear and disappear when one stands viewing it from a ship, so to the stability of art and the wars of wandering. Auerbach writes of the disruptive presence of the Hebrew nation. He writes of a people tainted with a malevolent influence, a past which should not be forgotten.

In his works, Auerbach builds an interesting tension which can be described as "the living thing standing." His characters are convolved into situations in which they, albeit not by choice, command the inherent pathos of an unwitting companion. Auerbach is speaking... not the world but the words. His characters are written not to play, but to be acted upon. There is a sense that the world has a mind of its own and that man, the creature of necessity, is the slave.

He was born in Warsaw, has lived in Israel, and is presently working in Kiryat Gat. In his works, Auerbach builds an interesting tension which can be described as "the living thing standing." His characters are convolved into situations in which they, albeit not by choice, command the inherent pathos of an unwitting companion. Auerbach is speaking... not the world but the words. His characters are written not to play, but to be acted upon. There is a sense that the world has a mind of its own and that man, the creature of necessity, is the slave.

Louise Gluck

Reading Friday March 14th
8:00 PM RICH CHAS, SIMIC
POET'S WORKSHOP FRIDAY MARCH 14th
MEM. LIB. LOUNGE 11:00 AM

In Louise Gluck's work, exactly one of the most highly regarded members of the contemporary literary world; the critics agree that her distinctive style captures the essence of her experiences. In his recent book, she turns to the poem itself. While many of the works which appeared in Firstrun, her first volume of poetry, are vigorous and arresting, the unfamiliarity of the terrain that she is exploring makes it difficult to grasp the larger goal of the project. The poet's subjective style can mature to become even more effective. In the latter book, the reader finds her own identity entangled with the poet's at the end of the reading, just as Gluck herself has structurally the autobiographical and the universal.

Gluck was born April 22, 1945 in New York City. She attended Sarah Lawrence College and Columbia University. Her lengthy list of honors include: an Academy of American Poets Prize, a Rockefeller Foundation grant, a National Endowment of the Arts grant, the Eunice Tietjens Memorial Prize from Poetry, and a Guggenheim Foundation Award. In addition to her volumes of verse include: Correspondence, Matrix, and The Garden. Gluck her third book, is less personal and less accessible to a larger public. But it is also more pleasurable, more resonant, more satisfying.

She expresses the scene with a kind of intensity and passion which is only possible in the novel. The reader is more aware of the poet's presence, as if the world were just fine and quipping with the poetry of the moment. Her voice is that of the garden, the poet as person, the poet as a speaker, the poet as a language, the poet as a sound, the poet as a feeling, the poet as a thing. The poet is present as a sound, as a feeling, as a thing. And this presence is something that the poet has accomplished, something that the poet has brought into the world through the medium of poetry.

The poet's work is a collection of such poems (metamorphosis and The Tale of the Plum), but the most notable one is The Ship's Orchestra, a surrealistic collection of the poet's works that play that is not to play. The poet's work is a collection of such poems (metamorphosis and The Tale of the Plum), but the most notable one is The Ship's Orchestra, a surrealistic collection of the poet's works that play that is not to play.

Jayne Anne Phillips

Reading - TUES. MARCH 11
8:00 PM MEM LIB A U D
WORKSHOP FRIDAY MARCH 14
11:00 AM MEM LIB LOUNGE (TENTATIVE)

It is with a sense of urgency and anxiety that we see a scene for the first time in Jayne Anne Phillips' book Black Tickets. The scenes are brief, but they have the power to make the reader think of the point of view— which happens to be one of contempt. The scenes reflect Cage's aristocratic and intellectual diversity. Concert-goers, readers and students of art find Cage interesting and innovative, and, sometimes, shocking.

Peggy Glenville-Bluhs once wrote: "John Cage is one of the rarest people... not only he is endowed with an unworldly sense of beauty, as he is with a great sense of humor, but he brings with him, whenever he may be, the happiness and tranquility of an integrated personality and a mind of peace."
April Fool’s Day 1979 - the deadline for submitting your name if you want to take part in the unknown and truly spooky naming of one of the group of chairmen of the sixteenth edition of the Sophomore Literary Festival. The brand-new Cultural Arts Commission, David Hare, has issued a call for applicants for students of all majors. Somehow the freshmen-directed posters neglected to mention the book-reading, tail-biting, gambling, and sleeplessness that would await the prospects after selecting chairman and committee members. A mere day has passed since the deadline, and Hare has signed up as an April Fool’s joke soled, and were swept up into the excitement of him with that self-out interviews were conducted before a box of containing of the Cultural Arts Commission, a few English faculty members, and, most importantly, the chairman of the 1979 Festival. The applicants realized the responsibility involved in chairing the unique single-page advertising budget for the 1976 Festival was almost $13,000 to be spent by the inexperienced hands of mere sophomores. A few months after the announcement, he was appointed to the post of English faculty member. His bachelor’s degree in 1951, Barth remained at Hopkins University as the Great Tutor of the campus. Throughout his literary career, Barth has returned to that beginning: he is now a professor of English at the University of North Carolina in Greensboro. He was born in 1947 in Sussex, England, and was educated at Cambridge University before plunging headfirst into the dramatic subculture of the Founders Porch Theatre. While his first attempts at writing and direction resulted in an unsatisfactory collaboration entitled Inside Out, this proved of invaluable experience for the budding young writer. His next play, Slag (1971), was written, directed, and the literary awards necessary to launch his whirwind dramatic career.

Much of the political consciousness which developed in the 1960's time in which David Hare "came to be," has been boldly captured by this writer in his characters and dialogues. Whether it is the underly- ing criticism of the sexualism in 1950's Broghy Made God, his feminist stance in the 1960's, the depiction of the degradation and destructiveness of the rock 'n' roll era in the futurist post-apocalyptic society of Teeth 'n' Tongues, his absurdist sense of urgency, or the fervent satire of the imperfect society around us.

Hare's plays have been described as "disturbed, unsettling, and purposefully somber." It is his hope that "... these claims are valid. David Hare does not mind shocking or offending his audience as long as he succeeds in evoking from them a measure of emotional and intellectual stimulation..."

March 5, 1980 - page 7

Dismantling the Silence

John Barth

READING SUNDAY MARCH 9th
8:10 PM LIBRARY

WORKSHOP MONDAY MARCH 10th
MEM LIB LOUNGE 10-11AM

Wednesday, May 3, 1980

Jane Barber

David Hare

READING - MARCH 10th
8:00PM WASHINGTON HALL

WEEKLY TUESDAYS

MARCH 15
1:00PM LIBRARY LOUNGE

From a list of names of prospective directors, the committee will desk to a list of names of authors on the campus, the Sophomore Literary Festival is an education for those who attend the lectures but especially for those who create it. As Ellison said, "It is truly a creative experience, an amount of heart that goes into it."
RONALD REAGAN FOR PRESIDENT

Where Reagan Stands . . .

Ronald Reagan has been consistently forthright in addressing the issues.

☆ Inflation. Reagan supports a ceiling on Federal spending, a crackdown on wasteful programs and regulations, and significant incentive tax cuts to increase economic productivity.

☆ Foreign Policy. American military strength is vital to world peace. Ronald Reagan believes that this requires an increase in defense spending and preparedness, strengthening our allies and our alliances, and a recognition that American weakness is an invitation to crises like those in Afghanistan and Iran.

☆ Right to Life. Almost alone among candidates for President, Ronald Reagan has frequently stated his belief that abortion involves the taking of a human life. Reagan supports amending the Constitution to restore to the states their historical right to legislate in this area.

☆ Federal Regulation of Collegiate Athletics. Ronald Reagan is opposed to unnecessary bureaucratic interference in this as in other areas of American life, and has confidence that students, administrators, faculty and alumni can reach fair, responsible judgments about what best promote men's and women's athletic programs.

☆ The Draft. Ronald Reagan has opposed peacetime registration, the draft, and placing women in combat positions.

The Reagan Record of Achievement . . .

Ronald Reagan has a record of outstanding accomplishment as a chief executive unmatched by any other candidate. In eight years as Governor of California — which would be the eighth largest industrial nation in the world if it were an independent country — Ronald Reagan proved what better government can do.

☆ Fiscal Responsibility. When Ronald Reagan took office, California had a substantial deficit and faced bankruptcy. When Ronald Reagan left office, California had a $500 million surplus.

☆ Welfare Reform. When Reagan was elected, California's welfare program was unmanageable, expensive and plagued by fraud. In eight years, Ronald Reagan significantly cut the cost and overhead of the welfare system, saving millions of taxpayer dollars. At the same time, grants to the neediest recipients increased by 43%.

☆ Taxes. Governor Reagan was responsible for tax credits and rebates which gave California voters $5.7 billion in tax relief. In 1973, he pioneered the now-popular tax reform movement by sponsoring Proposition One, a forerunner of the successful Proposition Thirteen.

☆ Leadership Ability. Ronald Reagan accomplished these and other objectives in a legislature dominated by the other party. In a heavily Democratic state, Ronald Reagan was twice elected to the highest office with huge majorities.

The 1980 election is critical. We cannot accept continued inflation, erosion of our dollar, weakening of our defenses and decline in our leadership throughout the world. We cannot afford airless drifting from crisis to crisis.

Only Ronald Reagan has the clear thinking and proven experience to lead this country in the 1980s.

LET'S MAKE AMERICA GREAT AGAIN. RONALD REAGAN FOR PRESIDENT.
The siege at the embassy in Tehran, consenting to a meeting between the approximately 50 captives and a U.N. commission investigating the regime of the deposed Shah, President Abolhassan Bani-Sadr said.

The militants said earlier they would not let the five-member panel see the hostages, who began their fifth week in captivity yesterday.

The militants have followed Khomeini's directives in the past. A spokesman for them, contacted by telephone after the council meeting, said they had not been informed of Khomeini's decision and declined further comment.

Bani-Sadr, speaking to reporters after a council meeting Monday night, said Khomeini had been contacted and had given jurisdiction to the Revolutionary Council. Smiling and confident, he told reporters the council had decided the meeting should take place.

Tehran observers had said earlier that the panel members might leave Iran as early as today if they were not allowed to see the hostages.

In Washington, American U.N. Ambassador Donald McHenry reiterated the Carter administration's cautious position on the Iranian standoff, saying it should not be judged on the basis of any particular statement from the Iranians. He told reporters the scenario had been basically on track.

In another development, Iranian Foreign Minister Sadegh Ghotbzadeh rejected a request by the Iranian prosecutor-general that Victor Tomesh, one of three U.S. diplomats in custody at the Foreign Ministry in Tehran, be turned over to the revolutionary courts for questioning.

Documents found by the militants at the embassy allegedly show that Tomesh, 38, embassy political officer, had a connection with Forghani, an anti-clerical terrorist group that claimed responsibility for a half-dozen assassinations after Ayatollah Ruhollah Khomeini's clerically-dominated revolutionary takeover last year. The State Department denies there is a connection.

Tehran Radio said the militants told the Foreign Ministry they would allow a visit by U.N. team to the entire group of hostages as part of a three-stage plan. The militants would present the panel with documents proving some hostages were spies. Reportedly five hostages were killed.

The Commission could then question them as witnesses. If the commission, in its report to the United Nations, "manages to convey the will of the brave and oppressed nation of Iran" and "convince" the world body of U.S. crimes in Iran and wrongdoing by the deposed Shah Mohammad Reza Pahlavi, "then a meeting with all the hostages to inquire into their health and conditions will be possible.

At a two-hour meeting Monday night, Bani-Sadr and four other Revolutionary Council members told militant spokesman this plan was not acceptable because Iranian authorities already had promised the U.N. commission that it would be able to meet with all the hostages, the official Press news agency reported.
The Daily Crossword

ACROSS
1. Narrow
2. Must for
3. Dedicate to
4. Cover of
5. Dine with
6. Stumbling
7. The screen
8. Time
9. A farm
10. A river
11. Desegregate the Austin
12. Mucho
13. Has
14. Surgery
15. Disturb
16. Five
17. A lake
18. A gem
19. A place
20. A town
21. A run
22. A job
23. A ship
24. A tree
25. A bank
26. A man
27. A job
28. A river
29. A man
30. A state
31. A tourist
32. A city
33. A man
34. A man
35. A man
36. A plant
37. A man
38. A man
39. A man
40. A man
41. A man
42. A man

DOWN
1. Badminton at
2. Remarkable thing
3. A bird
4. The purpose
5. A man
6. A man
7. A man
8. A man
9. A man
10. A man
11. A man
12. A man
13. A man
14. A man
15. A man
16. A man
17. A man
18. A man
19. A man
20. A man
21. A man
22. A man
23. A man
24. A man
25. A man
26. A man
27. A man
28. A man
29. A man
30. A man
31. A man
32. A man
33. A man
34. A man
35. A man
36. A man
37. A man
38. A man
39. A man
40. A man
41. A man
42. A man

SAPB presents on Saturday March 8th

TOM CHAPIN
In concert

St. Mary's Little Theater
9:30 PM
unreserved seating $3.00
tickets through the smc programming office
284-4176

Attention ALL JUNIORS!!!
Make your appointment for your yearbook portrait today.
CALL 3557, or stop by 2C LaFortune, off the ballroom.

There will be a $1.00 sitting fee

It is important that ALL JUNIORS make their appointments immediately!!!
Please do it now
...Center ring

[continued from page 12]

risen. "This step is one. We have to win Saturday before we even think about Houston." And he seemed to need students to, in words, "get it done."

Ticket manager Busack thinks that students have been noticing more tickets available for opening and second round NCAA games. He suggests to digger's philosophy, there may be a correlation between that fact and Notre Dame's usually advance beyond the preliminary rounds.

In any case, there is a realistic possibility that Notre Dame does have the talent to lead the final four teams, and that the finals, played this year in Market Square Arena, will feature a Notre Dame-Rutgers spring break. A hell of a lot of people want tickets to that game.

But first, reminds Digger, there's step one.

And he says again that he needs the Associated Press 1979-1980 America team:

Rudy Woods, Texas A&M;

James Thompson, Connecticut; Ron Perry, Richmond; Corny Price, Kentucky; Larry Hill, Texas; Rudy Woods, Texas A&M;

(Kansas State; Tom Bailey, 514-234-0767.)

"He may be the best all-around basketball player ever to come to South Bend," Digger says.

Rutgers, he explains, "is a reverse dunk, which he puts over a lot of people."

"Dunk."

"Tom Bailey, 514-234-0767."

"Dunk."

Rutgers lead time. Special discounts on

March 14

Basement LaFortune 11:30-12:30 M-F.

Typing Plus

Typing in

March 14

To chuck Wood and

April 1980

Tom Bailey, 514-234-0767.

"Dunk."

"Dunk."

"Dunk."

"Dunk."

Rutgers lead time. Special discounts on

March 14

Basement LaFortune 11:30-12:33 M-F.

Typing Plus

Typing in

March 14

To chuck Wood and

April 1980

Tom Bailey, 514-234-0767.

"Dunk."

"Dunk."

"Dunk."

"Dunk."

Rutgers lead time. Special discounts on

March 14

Basement LaFortune 11:30-12:33 M-F.
Despise loss to Notre Dame, DePaul remains atop AP

(AP) - Ray Meyer claims the monkey is finally off DePaul's back. And that could spell trouble for the Blue Demons as they face the Blue Jays in the upcoming National Collegiate Athletic Association tournament.

Meyer and DePaul got rid of the monkey last Wednesday when the Associated Press football poll was released. But the Associated Press basketball poll was released on Saturday, and the Blue Demons are ranked No. 3 in the final eight weeks of the poll, only two votes behind No. 2 Notre Dame.

"We've relaxed quite a bit since my Notre Dame days," Meyer said after learning the Blue Demons had maintained the No. 3 position in the Associated Press Final College Basketball Poll for the 1979-80 season.

The loss of the monkey has all but faded, but Meyer knows the NCAA tournament is the start of another season for DePaul.

"What we did before makes no differences tonight because I've guided the Blue Demon since we were No. 18," Meyer said. "We're going to play every team in this tournament as if we were down 20 points. We're going to be emotionally ready for every game. And if we can get by that first one, we stand a good chance of going all the way.

DePaul collected 54 of 59 first-place votes out of a possible 1,173 points, with Notre Dame receiving 46 first-place votes and 533 of a possible 1,173 points. DePaul was ranked No. 3 in the final eight weeks of the poll, only two votes behind No. 2 Notre Dame.

Louisville, ranked fourth last week, edged Louisville State for the No. 4 position. The Cardinals got two first-place votes and machine crowd favorites points - 12 more than the Tigers, who picked up one first-place vote in the machine crowd favorites points.

Kentucky collected the final two first-place votes and 956 points in shipping from No. 2 to No. 4, while Oregon State moved up one place and took over the No. 5 position with 872 points.

Syracuse, ranked third last week but buried by George-town in the Big East Conference tournament title game, fell to sixth with 783 points. Indiana, unranked three weeks ago, now has 701 points.

This is an opportunity for our students to be a part of the challenge of the national championship," he said of Saturday's game. And in keeping with his personality, Digger has it all figured out.

"It's an easy eight or nine hour ride from here to Lincoln," he plots in the edition of the game. One almost gets the feeling that these plans are as important as the preparation going on behind him on the court.

"We need the students," he stresses. "You saw what they did to DePaul here last weekend. We need a packed house on Saturday they'll be playing in their own back yard. Nebraska is a Big 8 country and they're the crowd favorites. We need to turn them on.

"If you really want to get him mad, tell him you're saving your money for Houston or Indianapolis.

"Hey, there is no second round without winning on Saturday," he says, his ire visibly

Ticket sales

Digger : in the center ring

I never believed in reincarnation until now. It took a while, but I've finally decided that Digger Please excuse me sometime else. And I've even figured out who he was...

"Ever hear of P.T. Barnum? You know, the ringmaster who used to tell everyone he had the greatest show on earth? Well, listen to this. P.T. Barnum, the man who organized the N.C.A.A. tournament that he and his team will be starting in beginning Saturday.

"Every team in the country is on show on earth," he proclaimed after yesterday's practice. "There’s nothing but a national tournament going on here, and every game is going to be a part of the challenge of going after a national championship because it’s all or nothing.

"There’s just no second chance.

"This is an opportunity for our students to be a part of the challenge of the national championship," he said of Saturday's game. And in keeping with his personality, Digger has it all figured out.

"It's an easy eight or nine hour ride from here to Lincoln," he plots in the edition of the game. One almost gets the feeling that these plans are as important as the preparation going on behind him on the court.

"We need the students," he stresses. "You saw what they did to DePaul here last weekend. We need a packed house on Saturday they'll be playing in their own back yard. Nebraska is a Big 8 country and they're the crowd favorites. We need to turn them on.

"If you really want to get him mad, tell him you're saving your money for Houston or Indianapolis.

"Hey, there is no second round without winning on Saturday," he says, his ire visibly

All-American

Oberlo Woolridge was named...

Carroll heads All-America selections

NEW YORK (AP) - Once an awkward high school player in Denver, Joe Barry Carroll took his game to a new level after he transferred to Connecticut and became renowned.

"I can see him becoming an outstanding wing in the NBA," said his coach, Lee Rose. "I believe he'll be a good living at it. He's big and strong.

Rose's admiration is shared by many on Carroll's selection to the Associated Press All-America college basketball team for 1979-80.

The Purdue skyscraper was named yesterday to the First Team by a nationwide panel of AP voters along with Louisville's Darrell Griffith and Kyle Macy of Kentucky at the guard positions, and DePaul's Mark Aguirre and Maryland's Albert Battle II.

Carroll's arrival as a player in his junior year last season was the start of the best period of Purdue's basketball fortunes, transform-

This season, the 7'-foot, 215-pound Carroll averaged 21.0 points and 10 rebounds a game while leading the Boilermakers among the elite in scoring.

Griffith is one of the nation's... [continued on page 11]