Brademas comments on election

Rep. John Brademas (D-Ind) has represented this congressional district since 1958, and in that time has risen to the position of House Majority Whip, the third most powerful man in the House. Yet, he still finds himself unable to play our part in the international economy, we can’t.

we have to rebuild our local economy, and I’m confident we operate it and over increase in the market for farmers’ corn every year. That corn will be sold to make high protein feed for livestock, and a manure that could have some influence in city matters,” Nacheff said. According to Nacheff, a project such as this one will create permanent jobs, and the local farmers to take notice. Student Body President Paul Riehle, the originator of the plan, also expressed this sentiment. “We will show the administration that if they don’t take the lead, then we will,” Nacheff stated. It is also the hope of the student government that if they don’t take the lead, then we will.

The projected date of occupancy of the first house is the beginning of the spring semester. Nacheff is unsure of the process that will be used to select the first group of house residents. Nacheff is unsure of the process that will be used to select the first group of house residents.

Also scheduled for the American Association of University Women is a presentation by John Leavitt. Leavitt, a science teacher at South Bend Central, will speak on the subject of sex education. The presentation will be held in the Little Theatre in Moreau Hall at 4:30 p.m. Brademas will also speak on the subject of sex education.

Memorial Library since it opened in 1963. "We knew what they were breaking into, but not what they were going to take," said Leslie Griffith, assistant to the director. Griffith said the thieves "were going after the glitter," since many of the items taken were of little collectable value. Items of a higher value were left untouched by the intruders.

The burglar alarms went off at 6:24 a.m. and security arrived on the scene at 6:26 a.m., making the theft one of precision timing. "They knew what they were breaking into, but not what they were going to take. Notre Dame security didn’t even know what was there. It had to be inside,” Mason said.

Mason commented that the thieves were “going after the glitter,” since many of the items taken were of little collectable value. Items of a higher value were left untouched by the intruders.

The total collection is worth $100,000 according to Mason. Janet Mull, director of the Library Monitor Staff, commented, “We were pleased with the way the alarm system worked and the performance of N.D. security.” Mull added that at the present time no new security measures will be adopted. According to Mull this is the first major theft to occur at the Memorial Library since it opened in 1963. The 13 missing coins dated from 1979 to 1914 and ranged in value from $75 to $5,500. A U.S. $10 Eagle gold piece minted in...
News-Briefs
by The Observer and The Associated Press

Buffeted by 25-foot waves for an entire day while bouncing around in life boats after a fire forced them to abandon the cruise liner Prinsendam, passengers said yesterday they had nearly given up hope of being rescued in their boats off the coast of Iran. "We were so cold," one said. "I don't believe we could have survived a night in the boat," said Sophie M. Fox, 48, of Portland, Ore., who was on a cruise. I don't know what else to call it." The ship was left burning 120 miles off the Alaskan coast. At a news conference in New York, the captain of the Prinsendam, surrounded by reservations and tours for Holland America Cruises, said all passengers had been accounted for. But the Coast Guard still hunted the stormy waters yesterday among the 438 passengers and crew members forced to jump ship early Saturday.

Iranian jets attacked Baghdad and the Iraqi capital city early yesterday, breaching an Iraqi cease-fire moment after it went into effect. The Iraqi high command announced the war would go on into a third day. In Tehran, the Iranian Parliament which had been deadlocked take up the issue of the $2 million American hostages in their 337th day of captivity yesterday, cancelled a public session. Iraq, which says it has achieved its main military goals in the Persian Gulf War, tried to impose a unilateral cease-fire and appeared to refuse Iran's revolutionary accords. Iraq, which vowed to fight until Iraqi troops are driven from Iranian territory, announced an announcement two Russian raids on Baghdad and attacks on other cities. The revolutionary Command Council, Iraq's ruling body, then announced that it would continue "irrespective of Iran's own response/no cease-fire that began at dawn."

Another bomb explosion rocked Paris yesterday as French police, faced with the discovery of fascists within their own ranks, questioned right-wing members of a group of anti-Semitism and a deadly explosion at a synagogue. Police said a female Dutch tourist was seriously injured when a bomb ripped apart her car. At least twenty people were injured in the Latine Quarter. They said Cemelka Van Pusselen, 33, of Brussel, may lose her leg. The police said the family had driven to Paris from the Netherlands for a weekend holiday to celebrate his birthday and that they were not Jewish. An anonymous telephone caller told the French news agency France-Presse the bombing was the work of the Revolutionary Nationalist Movement, an extreme-rightist group whose leader was one of 13 people arrested after Friday night's explosion in front of a Paris park. Synagogue. The death toll from that blast rose to four today when two 17-year-old men died from his injuries. He, like the other three victims, had been passing by the synagogue when the bomb went off.

Chancellor Helmut Schmidt's left-liberal coalition was returned to power by German voters yesterday, defeating his conservative opponent, Bavarian Premier Franz Josef Strauss after one of the nation's bitterest campaigns. The day ended in a deadlock as neither of the two leaders could form a government, elections, telling a national television audience he had "failed to achieve" his goal of the chancellorship. "I will still have a place in the German Army," Strauss said yesterday, ballotting ended in a bitter political campaign in which the candidates accused each other with often vicious personal invective and were the verbal targets of other political groups. Preliminary, unofficial results showed Schmidt's Social Democratic Party would keep power. The surprisingly close between the vote it claimed the 1976 election.

Of the research awards accepted by the University of Notre Dame for the month of August, nearly three-quarters were for projects in the College of Engineering, accounting for $393,687 of research awards totaling $534,345. Atotal of $701,365 in awards also included $83,275 in for facilities and equipment and $83,755 for instrumentation, according to Dr. Robert E. Gordon, vice president for advanced studies. Awards for fellowships and faculty research projects included a $139,500 grant from the Department of Energy for hydrodynamic and chemical modeling of heavy metals in ash pond leachates. In addition, an award of $38,380 was made for research training in mental retardation.

Six honorary degrees will be awarded by the University of Notre Dame at an academic convocation on Nov. 1, according to the Annen Auditorium as part of the Snite Museum of Art dedication. Sherry Lee, director of the Cleveland Museum of Art and an authority on Oriental art, will speak at the convocation and receive an honorary degree of Fine Arts degree. Other degree recipients are Walter J. Kirby, a former U.S. Ambassador to the United Kingdom, Livingston L. Biddle, bestselling author, Rev. Anthony Lauck, former faculty member and department head of History, Bethany College, Rev. Art, Agnes Morgan, consultant to the William Hayes Fogg Art Museum and Norton Simon, founder of the Norton Simon Museum in Pasadena.

Party sunny and warm today, high in the mid to upper 70s. Clear and sunny tonight, low in the upper 50s to low 60s.

Inside Monday
A Form of Patriotism

Whenever our country is comfortably at peace, patriotism always reaches a high in our people's emotions at the same time sympathy with the conscientious objector diminishes. It's curious how many people equate patriotism with military service.

The CO has his own form of patriotism to the state. He believes in preserving the state by questioning and dissent he becomes a conscience that pricks society into seeing the injustice that is being committed. The method the CO chooses for his non-agression; to find a peaceful alternative to what would otherwise be a violent means of getting a wrong.

No one uses war or violence, yet it is all around us, because it is an easier solution and seems to be more active than an alternative. The attempt to build a peaceful world takes more time, sacrifice, thought, cooperation than the attempt to wage a war, but it works quickly and easy solutions. The progress of history has been a cycle - build, destroy, ad infinitum. But, when an individual or several individuals stop and say, have we enough, won't continue, that cycle can be broken. Sure, it's idealistic, but to think that people all over the world would ever lay down their arms voluntarily - but if it doesn't start sometime by someone, the chances of peace are all that more remote. If one refused to fight, then the chances of war become more probable.

There is a difference between saying "I don't want war" and "I will not fight." It's the difference between a peaceful man and a bullhorn. If a government had no one, or not enough people willing to fight in a war, this would be more incentive for them to do all they can to avoid a war. And the time to avoid a war issue when we are at peace, because when we back come up against the wall the chance to avoid war and violence becomes that much harder, and peace that much more remote.

Attempts are made by governments to avoid war. But they don't work unless it acts on the will of its people. Government, whatever type it is, is only tool. It is the individuals that make up a country and a pull of effects of a peaceful individual can have over a government one only has to look at the work of Gandhi and King Jr. They objected to the unjust laws and actions of their countries and found a peaceful alternative to bring about changes in those laws.

The CO's message to our country is simply says "This is an injustice." The CO, by his actions, by disobeying a civil law when it is unjust, attempts to change the injustice. "If the injustice has been carried as a pulley, or a rope, or a crank, exclusively for itself, then perhaps you may consider whether the remedy will not be worse than the evil; but if it is of such a nature that it requires to be the agent of injustice to another, then say, break the law," wrote Thoreau in his essay "Civil Disobedience." "The authority of government," he wrote, "can have no pure right over my person or property but what it concede to it. The rights of the individual to live and follow his own beliefs. That is what our government was set up for, and when the conscientious objector chooses to disobey the government when he believes it is acting unjustly, he is preserving that right of the individual.

What our choice will be in the next war no one can say. If you look at it rationally, the chance of another world war is slim - face it, such a war with the highly destructive weapons every nation has today would annihilate us. With the sophistication of our tracking systems, there isn't even a way to stop an attack. But the alternative without our knowing in enough time to set off a bomb or two of our own. What is left? Another Korea or Vietnam? Another war to which Congress sends us in order to "protect our vital interests" They tried that before with Korea and Vietnam, and look at the results.

War has always been inhuman, but with the present strategies of war its atrocity is even greater. We outlawed germ warfare after WWI only to create napalm for Vietnam - who knows what they'll come up with for the next war, but we can surely bet they'll come up with something worse.

But we're at peace now so we don't really have to pay attention.

If we're not vocal in our protests and desire for peace now, peace won't last long. There is an alternative to violence, an alternative to war, let's all stop and say, think to question and object and disobey the choice of violence. And that choice must be constant, loud, clear and now.
... Brademas

(continued from page 1)
do business the old way. We've got to put together new building debts for a new economy. And I've mentioned one—ergy. We've got to move in the direction of playing a more important role with it, and the gasses that go with it are probably Q: Do you see a trend of federal intervention in the economy developing?
A: As I indicated, I voted for the deregulation of the railroad industry, to aid airlines, local banks and small business.

"I didn't enjoy having to vote for the Chrysler bail-out deal, but Indiana is second only to Michigan..."

But at the same time, what the government does will have a great effect on the industries of our lives—through tax policy.
Now I don't think anybody likes the idea of having to bail out failing industries, but I've voted to have the Chrysler bail-out deal, but Indiana is second only to Michigan in the number of employees dependent on the help of Chrysler. So we had a very difficult short-term problem. And we are right now facing the problem of building our future.

I think we are having to find our way. On one hand, we are reluctant to see the government get involved in the private sector of our economy, but on the other hand, we see some profound economic problems—that are not going to go away if we don't face up to them.
What I'm trying to do is take the impact of the recession right now while looking down the road.
Q: Do you think the National Conservative Political Action Committee is going to attack you the way they're attacking Birch Bayh?
A: I wouldn't be surprised. I haven't run across them, but there are some more right-wing political action committees targeting different parts of the country. Corporate tycoons are sitting

... Housing

(continued from page 1)
that a lottery is a possibility.
Dwellings in the $16-20,000 dollar price range are the target of Nafteh's search for a first home. Rent for the student houses will be determined in accordance with the amount of repairs that had gone into the house.
At the present time, there has been no reaction on the part of the administration concerning this project, according to Kiehele. Fr. Michael Heppen,
the director of University Housing, declined to comment on the plan.
This is not the first time that students have rented homes to other students. Last December a group of four men, two students and two alumni, began to purchase homes in the area, two of which have been rented to other students. Tim Mannix, one of the student landlords, reported that "there have been no problems, just the usual repairs." He did, however, advise the student government "to be very careful in what they buy."
Blood drive schedule announced

A tentative schedule for Notre Dame student blood donations has been announced by Brian Konzen and Matt Flaherty, co-chairmen of the effort. Students from the following halls will give blood in the Student Health Center from 1 p.m. to 5 p.m. on the days indicated:

- Keenan and Stanford - Oct. 7, 8, 9; Fisher and Lyons - Oct. 11, 12, 13
- Lennix and Cavanaugh - Nov. 18, 19, 20; Zahm and Pangborn - Dec. 2, 3, 4

Last year's contributions by ND men and women were part of a record 12,600 units of blood drawn by the Central Blood Bank for use by the sick in St. Joseph County hospitals. Contact your hall representative to sign up.

Philosopher to give three lectures

Professor Carl Hempel, a noted philosopher of science now at the University of Pittsburgh, will present three lectures during the week of Oct. 6 at the University of Notre Dame's Memorial Library Auditorium.

The Daily Crossword

All Rights Reserved
Irish women finish second in tourney

Notre Dame women's tennis team coached by Sharon Petrow finished second in the University of Illinois Chicago-Circle Tournament over the weekend. Northern Illinois won the round-robin event over the Irish on total matches won. The Irish defeated Chicago Circle 8-1, Illinois 3-4, Northern Iowa 8-1, and lost to the winners 5-4. Notre Dame's dual match record is 11-1 for the season.

Junior Carol Shukis, who last year set a Notre Dame record with an overall winning percentage of .880, set another record by notching her 16th singles victory. Shukis surpassed 1980 graduate Patty Mulhen's record of 34.

Pam Fishette, in her first season, set a season mark for doubles winning her 17th match. Before the weekend was over, however, Fishette did lose her first doubles match of the year. In singles competition, Fishette upped her record to 11-0. She has lost just one singles set this season.

The Irish did beat Northern Illinois earlier in the year. This time the Irish were hurt by the absence of junior Mary Leagney and senior Cindy Schuster due to injuries, and junior Tina Stephans was at her brother's wedding.

... Irish

(continued from page 6)

confidence, "I simply have a great feeling," he said. "I'm looking for one of the best assaulats on the Burke ever." Obviously O'Sullivan has a great deal of confidence in his players, especially on his home course.

Six golfers will compete for Notre Dame today, and the five low scores will determine the team score. Leading the Irish will be their co-captains Tom McMahon (West Allis, Wl.) and Tim Sacke (South Bend, Ind.).

McCarthy finished seventh in the State Championship last week with a 135 (79-74). Sacke, at 64-210, is probably the longest hitter on the squad.

Jim Falvey's doubles partner, Tim Noonan, was 2-0 in singles. Noonan opted to rest him during the Purdue match Saturday morning, replacing him with Tom Robison. The strategy paid off as Robison won in straight sets and Noonan returned later to post a crucial victory in the 5-4 win over Indiana State.

"I think our team experience from last year served our players well," said Fallon of his starting lineup which returned seven of eight players from last spring's 20-3 squad. "That was an experience that we had out there, and it showed."

... Golf

(continued from page 6)

Hopperwood and Mark Hoyer wasted little time in doing away with Jeff True and Jim Curran 6-2, 6-2. The match lasted less than an hour.

Meanwhile, Mark McMahon and Tom Hartzall were defeating Bill Funk and Tom Lockhart by an identical score. At 5-7, 7-5, 6-3, the Indiana twosome had suffered in four matches. At number-two doubles, Jim Falvey and Tim Noonan increased the Irish margin to 5-0, coming from behind to defeat Mike Dickinson and Tom Rogers 5-7, 7-3, 6-3. The singles matches were played with the understanding that as soon as a team clinched the match (with five team points), play would be suspended so the Indiana team could get back to Bloomington. Rain delays already had put the tournament almost three hours behind schedule.

McMahon, Notre Dame's number-one singles man, then ripped by Indiana's Jeff True in straight sets. It marked the second win for McMahon over the South Bend native in as many meetings.

Then as the theme from "Star Wars" swelled at the neighboring ice rink, Hoyer polished off Curran at third singles, 5-7, 6-3, 6-3, giving the Irish the winning 5-0 margin.

Both teams had gone through a grueling day of tennis Saturday as they tried to make up for time lost to rain on Friday. With a few exceptions, each player had played two doubles and three singles matches.

"Our team is much better conditioned than I thought," admitted Fallon. "It was obvious that they were in better shape than most of the other teams and that made a big difference."

Hoyer played the most, completing a total of 13 sets (three three-set singles matches and two straight-set doubles won) between 9 a.m. and 7:30 p.m. on Saturday alone. A few Irish players recorded unblemished slates for the two days of competition. Jim Falvey was 4-0 in doubles play and 3-0 at number-four singles. He was leading Indiana's Tom Rogers, 2-1 in the first set when Hoyer clinched the Irish victory.

Falvey's doubles partner, Tim Noonan, was 2-0 in singles. Fallon opted to rest him during the Purdue match Saturday morning, replacing him with Tom Robison. The strategy paid off as Robison won in straight sets and Noonan returned later to post a crucial victory in the 5-4 win over Indiana State.

"I think our team experience from last year served our players well," said Fallon of his starting lineup which returned seven of eight players from last spring's 20-3 squad. "That was an experience that we had out there, and it showed."

Juniors

Junior Parents Weekend

Dates have been changed from Feb. 13, 14, 15 to

Feb. 6, 7, 8

Anyone desiring a committee chairmanship or committee position, there will be a meeting

Thursday, Oct. 9, 7 p.m.

Lafortune Ballroom

In shape... for books, business or boogie.

Our precision cut now sale-priced. *12

REGIS HAIRSTYLISTS

UNIVERSITY PARK MALL

NEXT TO PENNY'S

372-1168

WANT CHANGES?

YOUR Student Government

Needs Your Help!

Pass the new constitution:

Vote "YES" on October 14

OPEN FORUM

On New Constitution

7:30 p.m. Wednesday

in Walsh Hall

COME FIND OUT

WHAT IT'S ABOUT!

Phil Carter rushed 40 times for 254 yards against MSU. (photo by Phillip Johnson)
by Matt Hoffman
Sports Writer

The favored Michigan Wolverines captured the title from the Notre Dame Invitational Cross Country Meet this past Friday.

Michigan won the title with a score of 79. Indiana and Illinois at 84 and 88 respectively, won the second and third place honors. The three Big Ten squads outdistanced the rest of the field in the Blue Division. Notre Dame College was fourth with 18 points.

In the Gold division for small schools, the Irish, who had established first place honors with an effort of 50 points. Northern Illinois and Ohio State placed second and third.

Notre Dame finished sixteenth in the field of nineteen. The Irish competed in the Blue Division of the meet, which was run in cool temperatures and a slight drizzle.

Notre Dame coach Joe Piane, who picked Michigan to win the team title, graded accurate in choosing the individual winners also. Piane named Hoosier Jim Spivey and Michigan standout Dan Hinnekan as pre-race favorites. Spivey finished first with a time of 23:58 for the mile course. Hinnekan, beaten in the final 200 yards by Spivey, finished 23:37. Brian Diemer, also of Michigan, finished a distant third with a time of 23:55.

Piane, won the Gold Division with a time of 24:13. Mark Luther of Luther College placed second, while Dan Shamiey of champion Eastern Michigan finished third.

The Open Division, for unattached and club runners, was won by Bob Bossates of the Saginaw Valley Track Club. Steve Stiney and John Ronco placed on the second and third place hopers.

Notre Dame's first finisher, for the second consecutive year, was senior captain Chuck Aragon. Aragon placed 27th in the field with a time of 24:42.

Coach Piane, who had hoped for a finish in the top third of the field, was not greatly surprised with Irish performance.

"We had hoped to do better," said Piane "but we didn't, so that's that. Speaking in terms of our times, we did o.k."

The next action for the Irish cross country squad will be the Big State meet. It is scheduled for Oct. 17, here, at the Burke Memorial Golf Course. It will include teams from Indiana, Purdue, and Indiana State.

Golf team to host Notre Dame Invite

by Bill McCormick
Sports Writer

When asked about his team's chances in today's Notre Dame Invitational, Irish golf coach Noel O'Sullivan didn't even pause for a second. "I'm sure we're going to win it," he said. "And I'll predict a team score no higher than 650."

These are strong words, especially considering that Purdue will be one of the many teams competing in the 18-hole tournament on Notre Dame's Burke Memorial Course.

Purdue might possibly be the class of the Big Ten this year. The Boilermakers walked away with the Indiana State Championship last week by fifteen strokes, causing O'Sullivan to comment that "it looks like Purdue could have one of their best teams ever."

Notre Dame, though managing third place in the State Championship, finished thirty five shots behind Purdue. Yet, when asked if Purdue's victory predicted "a win and possibly a record by Notre Dame on Monday," the record in the Notre Dame Invitational of 359 was set by the Irish in 1974. O'Sullivan found it easy to explain the reason for his great

[continued on page 3]
Chuck Male outscored something that long helped my single game. Thomas booted Oliver winning boot two weeks ago western, connecting on four.

Bob Thomas' stats of 13 points came on his fourth field goal, as his holding in place of the injured Bill.

Holding in place of the injured Bill. All fields $500-$1200 monthly. EXPENSES BOOKS, South Bend 937.

WANTED: 2 GA Miami. Call 53-8555.
Irish take men’s tennis title

by Michael Ornstein
Sports Editor

Notre Dame's men's tennis team made it quite clear this weekend that it would be a power to be reckoned with during the regular season, as well as the NCAA tournament. The team dominated Western Michigan (8-1), Purdue (8-3), Indiana State (5-4) and Indiana (5-0) to win the Notre Dame Invitational.

The two-day, eight-team tournament was plagued by rain from start to finish, but it did not seem to bother the determined Irish as they regained the title which Miami (Ohio) held for four of the last five years. Notre Dame had won the coveted Olens Park Cup only twice before in the seventeen-year history of the tournament (1959 and 1974).

Everything seemed to be going right for Coach Tom Fallon and his team, from their high quality play to the blind draw which determined groupings and schedule of play.

The team's performance surprised many people, including Fallon. "I saw this weekend that every guy on the team has improved over the summer," he said. "That doesn't always happen."

"I knew we had a determined team, but they showed me a few things. I thought the loss of Carlton (Harris, last year's captain) would hurt us more, but it appears to have helped. Herb (Hopwood) has taken over as the leader, and I think we're better for it."

The draw put the Irish in the 'Blue' Division with Purdue, Western Michigan and Indiana State, three teams Notre Dame had beaten last spring. The other four teams, Miami (Ohio), Oral Roberts, Indiana and Illinois State (the team that eliminated the Irish last fall), fought it out in the 'Gold' Division.

After coasting through their preliminary matches by a combined score of 23-1, Notre Dame faced Indiana, undefeated in Division play, in the championship final Saturday evening. A late afternoon shower forced the final match from the Courtney Tennis Center into the ACC. It also persuaded the other six teams to waive their final matches, settle for positional ties, and head home.

The Irish and the Hoosiers paired off in doubles first, and the host team went right to work. Notre Dame's top duo of seniors (continued on page 3)

Irish take men’s tennis title

by Michael Ornstein
Sports Editor

Notre Dame's men's tennis team made it quite clear this weekend that it would be a power to be reckoned with during the regular season, as well as the NCAA tournament. The team dominated Western Michigan (8-1), Purdue (8-3), Indiana State (5-4) and Indiana (5-0) to win the Notre Dame Invitational.

The two-day, eight-team tournament was plagued by rain from start to finish, but it did not seem to bother the determined Irish as they regained the title which Miami (Ohio) held for four of the last five years. Notre Dame had won the coveted Olens Park Cup only twice before in the seventeen-year history of the tournament (1959 and 1974).

Everything seemed to be going right for Coach Tom Fallon and his team, from their high quality play to the blind draw which determined groupings and schedule of play.

The team's performance surprised many people, including Fallon. "I saw this weekend that every guy on the team has improved over the summer," he said. "That doesn't always happen."

"I knew we had a determined team, but they showed me a few things. I thought the loss of Carlton (Harris, last year's captain) would hurt us more, but it appears to have helped. Herb (Hopwood) has taken over as the leader, and I think we're better for it."

The draw put the Irish in the 'Blue' Division with Purdue, Western Michigan and Indiana State, three teams Notre Dame had beaten last spring. The other four teams, Miami (Ohio), Oral Roberts, Indiana and Illinois State (the team that eliminated the Irish last fall), fought it out in the 'Gold' Division.

After coasting through their preliminary matches by a combined score of 23-1, Notre Dame faced Indiana, undefeated in Division play, in the championship final Saturday evening. A late afternoon shower forced the final match from the Courtney Tennis Center into the ACC. It also persuaded the other six teams to waive their final matches, settle for positional ties, and head home.

The Irish and the Hoosiers paired off in doubles first, and the host team went right to work. Notre Dame's top duo of seniors (continued on page 3)

Irish take men’s tennis title

by Michael Ornstein
Sports Editor

Notre Dame's men's tennis team made it quite clear this weekend that it would be a power to be reckoned with during the regular season, as well as the NCAA tournament. The team dominated Western Michigan (8-1), Purdue (8-3), Indiana State (5-4) and Indiana (5-0) to win the Notre Dame Invitational.

The two-day, eight-team tournament was plagued by rain from start to finish, but it did not seem to bother the determined Irish as they regained the title which Miami (Ohio) held for four of the last five years. Notre Dame had won the coveted Olens Park Cup only twice before in the seventeen-year history of the tournament (1959 and 1974).

Everything seemed to be going right for Coach Tom Fallon and his team, from their high quality play to the blind draw which determined groupings and schedule of play.

The team's performance surprised many people, including Fallon. "I saw this weekend that every guy on the team has improved over the summer," he said. "That doesn't always happen."

"I knew we had a determined team, but they showed me a few things. I thought the loss of Carlton (Harris, last year's captain) would hurt us more, but it appears to have helped. Herb (Hopwood) has taken over as the leader, and I think we're better for it."

The draw put the Irish in the 'Blue' Division with Purdue, Western Michigan and Indiana State, three teams Notre Dame had beaten last spring. The other four teams, Miami (Ohio), Oral Roberts, Indiana and Illinois State (the team that eliminated the Irish last fall), fought it out in the 'Gold' Division.

After coasting through their preliminary matches by a combined score of 23-1, Notre Dame faced Indiana, undefeated in Division play, in the championship final Saturday evening. A late afternoon shower forced the final match from the Courtney Tennis Center into the ACC. It also persuaded the other six teams to waive their final matches, settle for positional ties, and head home.

The Irish and the Hoosiers paired off in doubles first, and the host team went right to work. Notre Dame's top duo of seniors (continued on page 3)