Bad breaks for domers; O-C Crime wave continues

By Mary Fran Callahan
Senior Copy Editor

Crime did not take a holiday this past Thanksgiving weekend, for two incidents reported, thefts and break-ins at their off-campus residences.

A Notre Dame Avenue resident who asked to remain anonymous said a thief forcibly entered his home Saturday and stole a stereo and clothes valued at $800.

An apartment slanted a window Saturday night at a Sorin Street residence, but fled when one of the house's occupants discovered him, according to a resident of the house. Though he escaped, the assailant did not have time to steal anything.

An occupant of the Notre Dame Avenue residence said a thief apparently tried to enter through the back door. After breaking a glass storm door, the thief was unable to break the back door's lock. He then shattered the front storm door, but failed to unlock it from the inside and entered.

Two students were staying at the house over break but were not at home or the time of the burglary. When they returned home Saturday evening, they discovered their house had been burglarized and promptly called the police.

"This is the second time it's happened," the student said. "I think we should just hang a sign in front saying there's nothing left.

Although the student said the police were cooperative, he expressed a helpless attitude saying, "They just filled out a report. You know there's nothing they can do."

One of the house's residents found a comb in his bedroom which the thief apparently dropped. The students turned the comb over to the police. They have not, however, received any word from the police.

"Things must really be tough. We don't have anything left," the student concluded.

In the second incident, an occupant of the Sorin Street house stated that an assailant broke into his house Saturday evening. The student said one of his housemates was sleeping upstairs when he heard some glass smash downstairs.

According to the student, his housemate ran downstairs and to review their policies and make
[continued on page 4]

Supreme Court ponders female draft

WASHINGTON (AP) - The Supreme Court is expected to decide whether women may be required to register for the military draft, or draft registration, as a part of the United States military draft, or draft law.

In a case likely to become the Supreme Court's decision whether a separate policy of not assigning female enlistees to combat duty.

Oral arguments are expected to be heard by the justices sometime in March. The legal challenge that led to the Supreme Court's decision whether a separate policy of not assigning female enlistees to combat duty.

The court's eventual decision will establish the legality of draft registration, the three-judge panel's decision struck down the entire Military Selective Service Act, which includes induction as well as registration.

The case does not involve the separate policy of not assigning female enlistees to combat duty.

The court's eventual decision will not be announced until next May or June. Oral arguments probably will be held sometime in March.

The legal challenge that led to the July 18 ruling was filed in 1971 by three Pennsylvania men as a protest to the Vietnam War. The case went through the federal courts for years but was revived last December when President Carter reinstated draft registration in the wake of the Soviet Union's intervention in Afghanistan.

On July 19, Justice William J. Brennan Jr. allowed the government to go ahead with its July 21 registration of all 19- and 20-year-old men. He predicted correctly it turns out, that the government's appeal of the three-judge court's ruling would be accepted for review by the full Supreme Court.

At "first," McCready explained, "I thought he was giving the car a ticket, but he just kept walking around the car. He pulled an unbent coat hanger from his security guard attempt to stick it in the driver's side door of the parked car, but he took it out, left the car alone and drove away.

"He knew we were watching him. It didn't look like a complete effort," she said. "It was definitely a SMC security guard driving a SMC security car. To me it seems unethical for a security guard to do this. Actually, it stinks."

Mitch Pesek, a Notre Dame senior and owner of the parked car, stated he had not requested Saint Mary's security to enter his automobile. The vehicle, which did not have a ND sticker, was illegally parked in the Madeleina lot.

"They (SMC) security put a notice on the car -- not a traffic violation. They just put a printed sticker that said I do not have a permit there again. I've gotten a couple of those notices before, but when I'm in a hurry I do park there," Feikes said.

In the incident described above, SMC security actually entered a parked car when persons lock the keys inside the car and need assistance or if they are asked to protect an automobile parked across from the student's dormitory.

"I'm in a hurry I do park there," Feikes said.

Feikes stated that Saint Mary's security only enters a parked car when persons lock the keys inside the car and need assistance or if they are asked to protect an automobile parked across from the student's dormitory.

"I see no reason why they can deny in one word what I saw in fifteen minutes."

"I'd like to make sure that Saint Mary's security takes steps to review their policies and make sure their officers know what the policies are," Feikes stated.

SYRIA, JORDAN step up warmongering
Warren Christopher, deputy secretary of state under the Bush administration, wrote to Iran's request for clarification on terms for freeing the American hostages, the State Department said. There, Christopher, a former Algerian Foreign Minister Mohamed Benyahia and Algerian officials who have been serving as intermediaries between the United States and Iran. The Americans will be prepared to answer any questions the Iranians might have regarding the U.S. position, David Nall, a department spokesman, said. — AP

Police have seized 12 dogs, most of them badgered, and arrested 11 people in San Ysidro Calif., yesterday. Officers said they also seized $30,000 and trophies, apparently from staged dog fights in Tijuana, Mexico. Ten men and a woman were arrested at the Mexican border on Sunday and booked in San Diego County for investigation of felonious possession and transport of fighting dogs. Police said the group apparently was returning to this country from weekend dog fights in Tijuana. Steve Crane, an animal control officer, said some of the English bulls and Staffordshire terriers were "so badly chewed up veterinarians couldn't find veins to administer medication." — AP

Polish Communist Party

Chief

standards Kania said yesterday that militant independent labor union activities are undermining communist rule in Poland and threatened to exert greater pressure addressed opening of a two-day plenary session of the party's central committee and promised to warn against what he described as "prestige or downward political strikes." In his nationally broadcast speech yesterday, Kania acknowledged the existence of the fledgling independent trade union movement and offered cooperation with labor leaders who show restraint. But he added, "It is high time to sober up, to understand that the basic condition and chance for a further favorable development of the nation is an immediate halt to activities weakening and undermining the functioning of the state." He said such activities "threaten to eventually destabilize the peaceful order of Europe." — AP

French president

Valery Giscard d'Estaing's supporters lost two seats to the opposing Socialists in special elections last weekend that French commentators yesterday called "a warning" five months before presidential elections. The neo-Gaulist party, still the strongest component of the government coalition but which constantly snaps at government policy, also picked up one seat at the expense of the president's group, the Union for French Democracy, or UDF. The independent daily Le Monde, while warning of election consequences, quoted government officials as saying with polls which since September have shown more French voters displeased than pleased with the performances of Giscard d'Estaing and Premier Raymond Barre. — AP

Soviet dissident Andrei D. Sakharov and the current chief of Moscow's "Helsinki" human rights group addressed a joint appeal yesterday to the Moscow Security Council, in a conference on behalf of imprisoned Soviet physicist Yuri Orlov. In an open letter, Sakharov and the Helsinki group leader, Naum Meiman, noted reports that Orlov was placed in solitary confinement for six months for attempting to smuggle a research paper on quantum logic out of his prison camp and that he has been deprived of meetings with his wife. Orlov was an early member of the Helsinki group, formed to monitor Soviet compliance with the 1975 Helsinki agreements. He was sentenced in 1978 to seven years' imprisonment and five years of internal exile on charges of anti-Soviet activity. The Madrid conference is reviewing compliance with the Helsinki agreements by the 35 states that signed them. — AP

Acumulations of three-five inches of snow possible by early this morning. Heaviest accumulations are expected to fall tonight in the southwestern part of the state before a cold front moves in and cold today with snow changing to flurries by afternoon. Highs in the mid to upper 20's. Mostly cloudy and very cold tonight. Lows in the mid to upper teens. Cloudy with a chance of snow tomorrow. Highs in the upper 20's to low 30's. — AP

Inside Tuesday

If Ralph Jaccodine never does another thing as Student Union Concerts, would one probably mind? And if Student Union doesn't bother to contract any more concerts for this school year, no one will probably mind.

That's because Bruce Springsteen is coming to the ACC — with the E Street Band, of course.

It's finally official — the contract is finally signed. This week, Springsteen sets rock tour with stop at Notre Dame on Monday evening, Jan. 26. The announcement ended months of speculation. And for Jaccodine and Student Union Director Rich Coppola, it ends months of finger-crossing.

"We've been negotiating and renegotiating over and over," said Jaccodine. "We're just so lucky to get him."

The concert is being put on by ND's Student Union, in association with Sunshine Productions of Indianapolis. Ticket prices have yet to be announced, but one would safely bet a packed ACC seat will sell for at least $11.25. All of which shouldn't make any difference to Notre Dame and Saint Mary's students. While most students are currently having a tough go of it in these times of economic instability, Springsteen is, for the most part, living it up as this year's top draw.

Additionally, Springsteen was said to have been quite pleased with previous ACC performances — the most recent of which was September 9, 1978. Most of those students who attended the '78 concert would, one would think, take performance as the best show they have seen at ND.

"Since he's been here before, he's kinda loyal to Notre Dame," said Jaccodine. "I think that had a lot to do with the decision to come back. You know, he can make more money in other places. He is, in effect, losing money by coming here."

Jaccodine and Coppola have been struggling throughout the past few negotiations with the Springsteen people. They have had to make significant concessions, primarily monetary — for this second ACC performance. Nevertheless, they persisted in their efforts.

"When we first took over in April," said Coppola, "we set Springsteen as the concert goal for the school year. And we've been working on bringing his band here."

"For over a year they kept postponing the release of his new album (River, The River) — kept getting put on hold."

When the album was finally released in October, Springsteen and the tour finally started, things didn't necessarily fall into place out all over, sell out an arena that is very difficult to get to. But Jaccodine said that Springsteen had been very cooperative.

"We didn't give up, and the first leg of the tour finally Will Bruce Springsteen, in the process of selling out Madison Square Garden sold out in a matter of a few hours, and the flame spread rapidly — and rampant.

Springsteen was getting top dollar in the last few months before presidential elections. He was sent to prison to save from a potential conflict with his political and personal need to sacrifice guaranteed revenue from large civic deals for smaller campus audiences? (At the beginning of his tour, Springsteen did stop at the University of Michigan.)

"I really don't know," Jaccodine shrugged. "He's one of the few groups making money this year on tour. He picks and chooses his arenas. He goes wherever he wants. I guess he just was really happy in his previous visits here."

It would seem obvious that Jaccodine and Coppola had to sweeten the pot some for Springsteen to come to ND. In other words, Student Union won't be making the profit it would like to make on a concert of this magnitude.

"Student Union usually gets a good percentage of the gross — usually four to five for the ACC, but they have to make barely anything with this concert. We just wanted to get him."

One thing that helped Jaccodine and Coppola come to terms with Springsteen and the E Street Band was that they were able to offer numerous open dates at the ACC.

"We got together with the people from the ACC and offered virtually a whole month full of open dates to them," said Jaccodine. "That's when we've got to do to get Springsteen."

With the speculation over Springsteen finally committed, the questions will now turn to the distribution of tickets. "How much will they charge? Where will they be sold? How much? etc."

"We still don't know when the tickets will go on sale," said Jaccodine. "It looks good that we'll have a lottery before everyone goes home for the holidays."

"And we're going to do everything possible to get a ticket for every student who wants one. We want this to be a Notre Dame show — a show for our students. We know people from Chicago, New York, all over will also be trying to get tickets for this show. We just want as many students to see it as is possible."

While the vital ticket information is shortly forthcoming, one interesting question remains. Will Bruce Springsteen, in the process of selling out all over, sell out an arena that is very difficult to get to? Will he sell out the ACC, like never before?

Springsteen was booked at major city arenas exclusive ranks of Johnny Cash, the Fifth Dimension, Frankie Valli and the Four Seasons. But Bruce Springsteen is the "Boss." Springs will try to do anything, apparently. As one of the few performers ever to completely fill the facility.
The Observer
A problem?

SMC analyzes drinking habits
By Anne Jane Dragula
Staff Reporter

"Thinking About Drinking at Saint Mary's College has been a major focus for this year as a result of a report published last year by the College Alcoholism Education Council. The report is a result of a 1979 survey taken at Saint Mary's. In drinking patterns, it was reported that "roughly 94 percent of the students at SMC drink," although the national average for college women is 75 percent. "Heavy" drinking, the area of most concern, is defined by alcohol researchers as "five or more drinks per sitting at least once per week." The percentage of Saint Mary's students classified as "heavy" drinkers is 15 percent, opposed to a national average of 4 percent. These are numbers which have caused the campus widespread concern. However, the Alcohol Education Council believes the important issue is not the numbers but "whether the quality of drinking is responsible, irreversible and problematic." Many students, though, seem to be questioning not only the validity of that survey, but the overall emphasis on the drinking "problem" at SMC, along with the activities of the Alcohol Education Council.

In reference to the survey, Susan Tamborini, Residence Director at Saint Mary's and a veteran member of the Council says she believes the survey to be "highly acceptable." She referred to the fact that "Dr. Levey (former professor in charge of the survey) would not do a sloppy job, I saw the computer print-outs myself and I surveyed the staff. Those staff reported back and I did not include in the survey." Sr. Karol Jackowski, director of the Alcohol Education Program, believes the survey had a sound design in itself, though a small number of students was sampled. It was a class project it was designed to survey a small group.

Sr. Jackowski also said a sample was taken from each class, although no off-campus students were surveyed. "It gave us a good profile, the information was very valid. We do intend, however, to do another survey next spring with a larger sample. Sr. Jackowski recognizes that there seems to be a "big deal" attitude among the students at SMC and feels, "our biggest problem is that people don't think it's a problem. Drinking is not accepted by parents, society, the Administration, it has become the norm. I would say some of the Faculty and Administration also share this "big deal" attitude. Our push this year is to make people think about their drinking experience and that of their friends. We're finding that the more they think about it, the more they think there may be a problem." Tamborini also feels the problem is not overstated, "previously, when alcohol and problem drinking was talked about on this campus people laughed, then they woke up and realized it was a problem. No, it's not overstated, the difference is just talked about more." A point that Kay Martin, a Peer Assistant in the program, emphasizes in her survey which states that a majority of the heavy drinkers on campus are freshmen and sophomores. This parallels the "big deal" attitude which is found mostly among upperclassmen according to Miss Tamborini. Debbie Cook, a freshman Peer Assistant, agrees the problem is not overemphasized. She is a resident of Regina Hall, a 70 percent freshman dorm, and says she encounters alcohol problems often. The Alcohol Education Council, composed of students, faculty, staff and administration, has stated its purpose "concerned with the irresponsible use of alcohol at Saint Mary's, and encouraging responsible drinking." They emphasize prevention of alcohol abuse and assistance to students with drinking problems through their programs of education and intervention. The Council has instituted the following services to fulfill their goals. Alcohol Education Workshops, designed to increase drinking awareness. These workshops are to be given in each section with the RA as instructor. The program includes a copy of the Council's survey publication, a twenty-minute film on responsible drinking, another publication on throw- a party, and finally, section discussion. The Peer Assistance Program, which has been instituted under the training and supervision of the Counseling Center, offers an intervention service to provide direct help to intoxicated students and their roommates and friends. This service is available each Thursday, Friday and Saturday nights from 9 p.m. to 12 midnight by calling the office located in Regina. Help is also available from the Peer Assistant on call in her room until 2 a.m. The list of Peer Assistants is posted on a bulletin desk. The point the council is trying to impress in this area is that drinking is not a discipline problem, it is a health problem. This program is a health service. The Peer Assistants help remain confidential and is not reported to the school counselors until repeated incident proves a serious problem. The office in Regina is also staffed from 7 p.m. to 12 midnight Sunday through Thursday as a question and resource center.

Other projects of the Council include three credit academic courses, an Al-Anon group and special programs including

SMC spiritual survey: a guide to the future
By Mary Leenatt
Saint Mary's News Editor
Saint Mary's Spiritual Commissioner Kathleen Hackett has just finished conducting an interesting survey among students' level of interest in spiritual activities. Ms. Hackett hopes to use the information to tailor the spiritual activities to each particular dormitory on the campus and to incorporate these programs into the Personal Growth Series. "What we're trying to do this year is offer something for everyone," Ms. Hackett said. "Our students can talk to each other about any spiritual activities they wish to discuss common problems and their possible solutions.

The Spiritual Commission has also funded several spiritual activities this year. A dinner was held on October 6th at the Social Justice Commission, the World Hunger Coalition and the Spiritual Commission. From this meeting, a support group developed. The group meets periodically to discuss common problems and their possible solutions.
(continued from page 1)

Saadi Arabia attempted mediation and U.N. Secretary-General Kurt Waldheim urged restraint in the confrontation that has arisen between Jordan and Syria following outbreak of the Iran-Iraq war on Sept. 22. Jordan, whose King Hussein is considered among the most trusted Arab allies of the United States, said it would turn Jordan into a "flaming inferno to burn every aggressor." Jordan strengthened its forces on the border to counter the Syrian deployment.

At Ramtha, the Jordanian border crossing post, a young Jordanian colonel told AP reporter Alex Effy yesterday, "the situation is very dangerous and anything might happen any minute." He said thousands of troops were massed on both sides of the border and "fighting may break out by accident in a situation like this."

Chaplin film fest continues

The Charlie Chaplin film festival will continue tonight and tomorrow night with a showing of City Lights at 7 p.m. in the new Snite Gallery's Annenberg Auditorium. The festival will conclude Sunday and Monday at 7 p.m. with screenings of Modern Times. Donation for all showings, $1.

(continued from page 3)

Saadi Prince Abdullah Bin Abdul-Aziz, deputy prime minister and head of the national guard, ended talks with President Hafez Assad of Syria and flew home. Jordan had expected him to visit Amman.

Shortly after, Abdullah's departure from Damascus, Vasily V. Kuzeinov, Soviet first vice premier, arrived at a red carpet welcome in the Syrian capital to sign ratification documents of a new Soviet-Syrian treaty of friendship and cooperation. Kuzeinov was expected to discuss the Syrian-Jordan situation in addition to participation in a ceremony ratifying the treaty signed Oct. 8 in Moscow by Assad and Soviet President Leonid I. Brezhnev.

At the United Nations, Waldheim called in Jordanian and Syrian diplomats to urge restraint on both sides. "The secretary-general is following the situation. He has assured Jordan and Syria with the utmost concern," U.N. spokesman Rudolf Stadthauer said.

Drinking

(continued from page 4)

Some people will stop at nothing to lure the attention of an Observer photographer (photo by Joel Annabelle).

Corby's

½ Price for Ladies All Night!

Thursday Night

Ladies Night

This Wednesday and Every Wednesday...

ND/SMC: SPECIAL

Pitcher of Beer $2.00
Pitcher of Pop $ .75

with purchase of a large pizza

Tuesday & Thursday

$100 Off

Any Large Pizza

Thursday

$100 Off

Any Pitcher

PIZZA KING

NORTH

U.S. 31 North
Roseland
Across From
Big "C" Lumber

CarryOut Dial 272-6017

OPEN EVERY DAY

MON. — THURS. 11:00 - 12:00
FRI. & SAT. 11:00 - 1:00
SUN. 4:30 - 11:00

Help others while you help YOURSELF...

to a wide selection of hand crafted articles from the THIRD WORLD

ST. FRANCIS SHOPPE

Non Profit Organization

Behind Fatima — Opposite St. Mary's
10-6 Mon. thru Sat.
Phone 233-7467

Student Legal Services

BASEMENT NOTRE DAME

LAW SCHOOL

LEGAL AID AND DEFENDER ASSOCIATION

Room B-12 283-7795 9-4:30

— other times by appointment

Crime

(continued from page 1)

encountered "a pair of townies." Seeing that the house was occupied, the pair fled.

"I guess they took off because they didn't know how many people were home," the student said. He added that his housemate was not amazed.

The housemate reported the break-in to the police.

... Crime

... Jordan-Syria

... Drinking
Urban sprawl?

Wyoming experiences growth

By Dennis E. Carus
Associated Press Writer

CHYENNE, Wyo. — After years of trying to lure people to its wide open spaces, Wyoming now struggles with a new problem — the nation's third fastest growing state. It's full of promise, but it's also full of problems.

An influx of energy workers has made Wyoming one of America's richest reserves and many of Wyoming's 475,000 inhabitants, the state's subdivisions are offering amenities not found in the cities — magnificent views, spacious acres, simple serenity. But Wyoming's new subdivision is also bringing new problems to a state that still ranks 49th in population, a team of reporters from The Associated Press and AP member newspapers and radio stations has found.

New subdivisions are springing up willy-nilly on urban fringes, sometimes without benefit of planning and often without zoning.

Some merely are eyesores, but others have spawned road and water problems, sewage system failures, pollution and rising municipal costs. Sprawl has set neighbor against neighbor in zoning battles and taken some of Wyoming's best farmland out of production.

Urban sprawl is most striking in the energy boomtowns, but the reporters also found it in resort communities and quiet ranching towns.

"If that's happening anywhere, you have rapid growth and where there hasn't been a strong policy of planning and trying to guide that growth," said Gillette city administrator Flip McDonaugh.

Gillette, which sits on top of one of America's richest reserves of coal, almost doubled in population in the last decade but said McDonaugh, "I think we have a much better handle now on our growth than we did before.

Other communities are still looking for that handle.

Evaston expects to double its population of 6,650 in the next few years because of oil and natural gas development in the Uintah Basin.

Wyoming's growth and urban sprawl between Cody and Powell is "encouraging" farmers and ranchers to keep agricultural land in production.

Still, said former Gillette city planner Joe Racine, some things are going wrong.

"Comparing to the states back East," he said, "Wyoming will always be Wyoming."

FBI adds new confusion to Kennedy assassination

WASHINGTON (ap) - the FBI on Monday disputed the work of acoustical experts who said the House Assassinations Committee to conclude that there was a high probability that two gunmen fired at President John F. Kennedy in Dallas in 1963.

The FBI forwarded to the Justice Department a review performed by its Technical Services Division.

The new defunct assassinations committee had recommended in its final report in 1979 that the Justice Department's FBI lab experts review the acoustics research on which its conclusions had been based.

The FBI report concluded that analysis of the evidence by the committee's experts "did not scientifically prove that a gunshot was fired by a second gunman from the grassy knoll area of Dealey Plaza during the assassination of President Kennedy on Nov. 22, 1963."

"Therefore, the House Select Committee on Assassinations finding that 'scientific acoustical evidence establishes a high probability that two gunmen fired at President John F. Kennedy is invalid,' " the report said.

The House committee report in 1979 was the first official study of the assassination to dispute the conclusion of the Warren Commission that Lee Harvey Oswald acted alone in the killing of Kennedy.
New era of justice

Thurmon reverses course

WASHINGTON — Unlike Ronald Reagan, whose recent appointment of Thurmond needs no transition period. Less than two days after he announced his decision to withdraw from the Senate, the one-time racist from South Carolina, who now fashions himself as a friend of the blacks, announced that as the new chairman of the judiciary committee, he will be pushing for the death penalty.

As Strome the Scoundrel fearlessly lifts the nation’s vision to a new age of racism and hatred, Thurmond, with his one-time racist Southern heritage, he is well known for his long history of support for racist policies. He has been a vocal proponent of the death penalty, and his appointment as the new chairman of the judiciary committee is seen as a significant move in this direction.

Before wondering how bleak it may become once the Senate actually sits down to deal with the hard right like Jeremiah Denton of Alabama, Don Young of Alaska, Alfonse D’Amato of New York and Paul Hawkins of Florida, it’s worth looking at some of their bedfellows already in the Senate.

The most prominent of the ultra rights is Sen. S.J. Hayakawa, the Californian who gained quick notoriety for his ability to sleep at least 30 hours a week. In the overwhelming moments, Hayakawa said the poor shouldn’t worry if gas prices rise to more than three dollars a gallon, as he urged: “The poor don’t need gas because they’re not working.”

Then there is Sen. Gordon Humphrey, the former airline pilot from New Hampshire. Like Hayakawa, he also has a subtext of turn around, as when he told an interviewer last year that one of his foreign policy priorities was to establish “military superiority over those Russian bastards.” Impressed by Humphrey’s grasp of international affairs, the reporter asked what books or individuals had moulded his view of the world. The new senator replied: “I can’t think of anything that stands out, to tell you the truth.”

With bombast and illiteracy already entrenched in the Senate, Thurmond is an enemy that the hard-core right may be forced to oust themselves. For sure, they will.

Alfonse D’Amato, a low-level and inexperienced machine politician from Long Island, is eager to revive the Nixon days. He has an enemies list. “We know who they are and we are going to get them,” D’Amato said of opponents who worked for the defeated Elizabeth Holtzman. Determined to show the winner’s grace that puts him in line to replace the former Robert Byrd Award for Kindness, D’Amato slashing at Holtzman for her “intimitatice.”

Dentlon of Alabama, a booster of the Moral Majority with an opponent who favored the “separation of church and God,” took to the campaign trail to denounce pornographic sex and adultery. The Senate already has a chaplain, but Denton qualifies to be the new one, if ever he wants.

Nickles, the Oklahoman, is an again-the-government politician from Long Island, eager to revive the Nixon days. He has an enemies list. “We know who they are and we are going to get them,” D’Amato said of opponents who worked for the defeated Elizabeth Holtzman. Determined to show the winner’s grace that puts him in line to replace the former Robert Byrd Award for Kindness, D’Amato slashing at Holtzman for her “intimitatice.”

Dentlon of Alabama, a booster of the Moral Majority with an opponent who favored the “separation of church and God,” took to the campaign trail to denounce pornographic sex and adultery. The Senate already has a chaplain, but Denton qualifies to be the new one, if ever he wants.
Excuses, Excuses!

The end of the semester is here, with all of its psychological traumas, nightmares, stomach aches, sneezes, and daybreak depressions. Students are drooping in papers that were due a month ago and exams not yet crammed for. Something's got to give! Excuses and alibis are desperately needed.

But many excuses and alibis are so outworn that they no longer do the trick. They are like tires whose treads have rubbed smooth. "I got a new job," for example, is utterly unconvincing. From having been used through grade school and high school, it won't gain you an ounce of mercy from any Notre Dame professor.

To assist students in these tormented times, I've made a survey of Notre Dame professors to see what excuses they will and will not accept. By studying these results, students may be able to arrange the right kind of catastrophes and mishaps to get them through the coming weeks.

Excuses for failure to produce term paper:

- Dog chewed it up, or small brother tore it up: Weak excuses which will not get you off the hook.
- Vacuum cleaner ingested it: Too bizarre.
- Xerox machine ingested it: Stylish. Might work.
- Blown away by local tornado or burned up in uncontrolled brush fire: Effective if you visited correct geographical area during Thanksgiving Break.
- Stolen by jealous fellow student: Intriguing. Good for a week's extension.
- Stolen by agent for term paper company to put in its catalogue: The sheer bravado of this will get you an extension.

Explanation of substance spilled on term paper, rendering it illegible:

- Coffee: Weak explanation.
- Overdue: You'll have to retype.
- Booze: Very weak explanation.
- Sun tan oil: Almost worse than no explanation.
- Blood: Effective explanation if accompanied by gruesome details.
- Sweat and/or tears: Sometimes effective with gullible professors.
- Radioactive waste: Good for an instant A.

Excuses for not being at exam:

- Alarm didn't go off: Worthless.
- Wedding of brother or sister: Overused. Ineffective.
- Wedding of brother and sister: Unusual enough to be effective, especially in courses on Greek myth or Freudian psychology.
- Wedding of parents: Extremely effective.
- Death of close family member: Ineffective unless details are unusually grisly. (Death of close family member by murder or suicide is almost foolproof.)
- Death of parent: Effective. Is used no more than twice with any professor.
- Went on retreat: Occasionally effective with emeritus professor who knows what a retreat is.
- Audience with the Pope: Effective if supported by airline ticket stub, and accompanied by gift of specially blessed rosary for professor.

Illnesses or accidents which cause you to miss classes:

- Mononucleosis: A worthless excuse, even if true.
- Diarrhea or vomiting: Sometimes effective with gullible professors.
- Radioactive waste: Good for an instant A.

In closing, let us assure you that within your subject, how is it determined what questions are worth investigating? Am I satisfied that the questions I encourage you to deal with are the ones most important to humankind? If you are seeking assistance or direction concerning your involvement in the JUSTICE-TEACH-IN, there are individuals within each college who have agreed to act as resource or contact people. Please fill out the attached sheet and we will be happy to provide whatever assistance necessary.

Sincerely yours,
Justice Education Subcommittee of University Education for Justice Committee
Theodore Anne Brown
Bob Clemens
Jack Gordon
Paul Knapp
Elena Maltes
Ken Mohr
Julian Plessant
Bob Rodes
Tom Thiry
Helen Volkemener
The Observer

Today

Tuesday, December 2, 1980 — page 8

Campus

1:10 p.m. — ladies of notre dame, christmas tea, stapleton lounge, mco.
7 p.m. — baccalaureate, first floor lemans, everyone welcome.
8 p.m. — film, "city lights," charlie chaplin, the white aud., sponsor: english dept., donation.
6 p.m. — basketball, nd vs montana state, acc.

Molarity

RECENTLY, notre dame announced gerry faust as their new head football coach. with more on how that decision was made, ineditorial news, glider watson.

The position of headco at notre dame is one of extreme importance. the man who coaches football here must have what it takes to win.

But wait, that is doesn't rest solely upon father joyce or prieur rehoboth, father, a brief bit of expertise were called in to the decision making process. a decision begun.

Peanuts

ALL RIGHT, GO AHEAD! GO INTO TOWN, AND DISCO ALL NIGHT!

WHAT DO I CARE IF YOU WEAR YOURSELVES OUT? YOU'LL LEARN!

AND DON'T WORRY ABOUT ME! I CAN TAKE CARE OF MYSELF...

The Daily Crossword

ACROSS
1. Rig (12)
2. Diplomatic agent, abbr. (10)
3. Computer input (6)
4. Seasonal visitor (9)
5. Dining chair (7)
6. Baking chamber (4)
7. Dinner course (6)
8. Sleeveless garment (7)
9. Obligated (t) (9)
10. Gutter (4)
11. State (5)
12. Flowers (8)
13. 24-acre park (9)
14. In addition (10)

DOWN
1. Long (12)
2. Pilot (6)
3. Dagger (7)
4. Paper (5)
5. Madison Avenue (9)
6. Disposition (9)
7. Flight deck (7)
8. Fils (5)
9. State (7)
10. State (5)
11. Bar (7)
12. Sun (5)
13. Church area (9)

The Peanut Connection

1. Jackknife (4)
2. Simpology (8)
3. Legal profession (4)
4. Distressed (8)
5. Treeless plain (7)
6. Doorway (5)
7. Overcoat (4)
8. Standard of perfection (6)
9. Pirates (9)
10. Garment (8)
11. Character (7)
12. Gonk (5)
13. Number (4)
14. Units (6)

Juniors —

Sign-up for Senior Bahamas Trip:
7 night — $450 package

When: Dec. 9, Dec. 10
Where: LeFortune Lobby, 11-2
LeMans Lobby, 11-1, 8-9

Bring $25 Deposit to Sign-up
Additional $75 Deposit Next Semester

Both Deposits are NON-REFUNDABLE!

Any Questions?

Nick: 6275
Jim: 1783
Nancy: 41-4826
Colleen: 41-4563

Michael Molinelli

WHEN ON NOVEMBER 7, 1980, THE CONCLAVE OF CARDINALS ARRIVED SECRETLY AT MICHAEL REGIONAL AIRPORT.

Charles M. Schulz

I'LL SIT HERE BY THE FIRE, AND PORK OUT ON MARSHMALLOWS!

Tonight at Lee's

$2.00 Pitchers

with Purchase of Dinner

GOOD BAR-B-QUE

AND BREWS, AT

LEE'S!
Paxson: lone star vs. UCLA

LOS ANGELES — John Paxson's ability to do things basketball-wise with a basketball when he was secret before last Saturday's game at Pauley Pavilion.

Notre Dame people had seen his work on numerous occasions — including last year's game against Stanford and Washington, when he hit a three-pointer and then a three-pointer; and the team lost, he walked to the road line and hit his four throw threes to win yet another big game before older old Notre Dame. John was Paxson on that particular occasion that one could hardly tell whether he was back home in Ohio shooting around before dinner or actually beating the Bruins on national TV.

There was more of course. His first college game against Valparaiso with 12 points on four-of-five field goals.

Flash of brilliance... Against Davidson with 19 points and seven assists.

Flash of things to come.

And all of it came together Saturday when John Paxson added his "super-sub" tag (probably in a phone booth behind Pauley Pavilion) and became a leader. You see, before Saturday, there was Branning and there was Hanslik and there was very little pressure on Paxson. The good things he did were known and they should have been known. And rightfully so.

He was only a freshman.

Like the little kid who can go out to the playground and do whatever he wants because he knows his big brothers will protect him. Paxson was extra pleasures, but mistakes and losses were never his fault.

How could they have been?

Blame the old guys for those things. After all, he was young and they had been there and how could anyone say a leader was young and they had been there and how could anyone say he was out of their league.

"We could have easily fallen apart out there," Digger Phelps pointed out at the airport Sunday. "Kelly and Tracy did not have good games and John was in foul trouble so we relied on John and he got the job done."

The little kid grew up to become the biggest bully on the block.

Certainly his statistics merit mentioning: 21 points, five assists, three steals — the picture perfect boxscore for a point guard. However his most important contribution to God, Country and Notre Dame was the way he handled the pressure.

The pressure of playing in Pauley Pavilion where you best keep one eye on the rafters in case one of those national championship bed-sheets falls on your head. The pressure of playing in front of a crowd that shut him up, but mistreated and loathed were never his fault.

The pressure of playing on a team that wasn't playing well in a game that was very important. "John took control out there," Phelps commented. "He did exactly what we know he is capable of doing."

Of course, the Irish did lose. "Hey," Phelps added. "He can't do it alone."

But it was not his stats or his glittering performance that Paxson cared about afterward. Accepting numerous compliments from well-wishers, his only response was, "I wish we could have won."

Which is, perhaps, the real indicator of his value to this team.

Frank LaGrotta

Hanslik in Seattle and Kelly Tripucka and Tracy Jackson having the worst game that anyone could remember was given the ball — in more ways than one.

"We wanted to keep that announcement until we made the others, but somehow the story got out. Lichtenberg will be our offensive co-coordinator at Notre Dame. We'll announce that officially when we name the rest of the staff next week."

Despite his hectic schedule in December, Notre Dame plans to start recruiting immediately.

"Lichtenberg and I are going to Tennessee this weekend to see the state high school championships. There is a young man playing in that game that we are very interested in seeing come to Notre Dame."

Paxson put aside any speculation on the status of Irish quarterback Tim Koegel. Campus rumor-mills are running wild with the thought that Koegel may return to Notre Dame for a fifth season, after missing virtually all of the present campaign due to injury.

Faut, Koegel's high school coach, had no comment on the matter.

"I have not had time to get involved with any of the players at Notre Dame at this point. I've just been too busy. That is a decision that the young man will have to make on his own. At this time, I'm not the man to talk to about that situation, I don't know enough about it. Fr. Joyce is the person to speak with on matters like that," he says without questioned about the rumors.

Faust is finishing up the last of his duties as a high school coach, but he is anxious to get on with his new responsibilities.

"I can't wait to get up to South Bend. I am really anxious to get to work. This job is something that I have always dreamed of, and it can't start soon enough for me."

Georgia No. 1 Fighting Irish remain No. 2

By Herbel Nitzkon

Associated Press Writer

Georgia, Notre Dame, Florida State and Pittsburgh are all in the top four in The Associated Press college football poll Monday.

The Georgia Bulldogs completed their first perfect regular season since 1946 with a 38-20 victory over Georgia Tech and ranked 52 of 60 first-place votes and 1,187 of a possible 1,200 points from a nationwide panel of sports writers and sportscasters.

Notre Dame and Florida were idle one weekend. Both wind up their regular seasons Saturday, Notre Dame visiting Southern California and Florida State hosting Florida. Notre Dame received four first-place votes and 1,116 points while the other four first-place ballots went to Florida State, which totaled 1,092 points.

The final regular-season poll will be taken following Saturday's two games while the Sugar Bowl championship will be decided after the post-season bowl games.

Georgia coach Dooley may resign

The Observer learned early this morning from the Atlanta Bureau of Associated Press that Vince Dooley, coach of the University of Georgia, is considering the possibility of accepting the coaching job at the University of Tennessee.

According to the Atlanta Bureau, Dooley has been offered either a five-year contract for $1 million or an eight-year pact worth $1.8 million. Speculation was centered on Dooley after Doug Barfield, Auburn head coach resigned yesterday. Those posts indicate Dooley might resign to take the Auburn job before Georgia's Jan. 1 game with Notre Dame in the Sugar Bowl. That game will be billed the showdown for the national championship, should the Irish defeat Southern California this Saturday. If Dooley does resign before the Sugar Bowl game, reports say Earl Russell, Georgia's associate coach, would be at the helm against the Irish.

While Dooley has declined comment, the Associated Press has learned Dooley may issue a statement later today.

The Atlanta Bureau said Dooley has two years remaining on his current Georgia contract.

Bruce's

Any Drink in the House for $1

Wednesday Night: No. 1 Night

EXHIBITION AND SALE OF ORIGINAL GRAPHIC ART

LaFortune Center
December 2, 1980
Tuesday 10 a.m. - 5 p.m.

Arranged by Mason Graphics, Inc.
and the Notre Dame Student Union
Services Commission

NATR DAME JUNIORS!

SKI TRIP to BOYNE MTN. Feb. 20, 21, 22
$117 Package includes transportation, lodging, 2 meals per day and lift tickets.
$25 Deposits will be taken on Wednesday, Dec. 3 at 7 p.m.
In LaFortune Ballroom

FIRST COME, FIRST SERVE

ONLY 78 SPACES AVAILABLE
It was early yet on this Saturday evening at the northern end of Notre Dame Avenue. Hundreds of students and assorted nuts were just beginning to reve in the wake of Notre Dame's already memorable victory down in Birmingham a few hours before.

When the team buses pulled into the Main Circle through the Christian-like sea of white that engulfed every tree in sight, one of the first to make his appreciation for the homecoming left was Dan Devine.

The 55-year-old head coach ascended the WNDU-TV sat and celebrated the way any good Irishman would—with a jig, accompanied by the band. Devine was just beginning a personal celebration, of sorts, with his final home appearance at Notre Dame just seven days away. To say that Air Force weekend was just another emotional moment which happened to fall somewhere in between Devine's arrival and departure from Notre Dame gives no justice to the milestone in his career.

Dan Devine's life as a coach has never been an easy one. The stories that have made the press, the rumors which have circulated in Ireland would—with a jig, accompanied by the band. Devine was just beginning a personal celebration, of sorts, with his final home appearence at Notre Dame just seven days away. To say that Air Force weekend was just another emotional moment which happened to fall somewhere in between Devine's arrival and departure from Notre Dame gives no justice to the milestone in his career.

Dan Devine's life as a coach has never been an easy one. The stories that have made the press, the rumors which have circulated in various other circles have not missed their mark. But the memories Devine and his family will take from their life in and about this campus are by no means nightmares—perhaps a shade scarred—but most assuredly the kind of things that one can gather from the job.

No memories—perhaps a shade scarred—but most assuredly the kind of things that Devine will long remember.
Sports Briefs

The USC pep rally will be held tomorrow at 7 p.m. in Steppan Center. Possible speakers include Coach Ron Turner, Karen Smith, Dave Diemer, John Sweeney, Pat Kramer and Pete Buchanan.

Sugar Bowl ticket allocation for Notre Dame. Notre Dame's student body is expected to receive 2,000 tickets to the game. Approximately 3,000 tickets will be allotted to students. Students attending the game should report to the second floor ticket window of the ACC on the following days: Monday, Tuesday, Wednesday, Thursday, or Friday between the hours of 9 a.m. and 4 p.m. Students who plan to attend the game should complete the form attached to the ticket window.

NOTICES

HOSMC PHOTOGRAPHERS: I need a model. If you do not own a model, please call 416.7512.

Classifieds

HURRY! FOR SALE

$300 FOR ROAD TRIP TRAILER, POWER STEERING AND BRAKES. COMES WITH EARLY SEASON TICKETS ON BACK. NICE COLOR SEER. STUDENT SECTION.

SPECIAL TOPIC TIPS

FOR SALE:

- 11:30. 12:30. M·F.
- 92625.
- Alia. All Attached. $500·$1200

Violence: a part of hockey?

T.J. Prister

"A funny thing happened to me the other night," quipped comedian Rodney Dangerfield, "I went to the fights and a hockey game broke out." Approximately one of the many one-liners in Dangerfield's repertoire. Unfortunately, the violence in professional hockey has reached such a catastrophic level that Rodney's famous one-liner is now a tragic reality.

In a recent encounter between the Philadelphia Flyers and the Detroit Red Wings, the Flyers' Ed Olczyk and the Red Wings' Al Adamson were involved in a heated altercation. The core of the ticket is $17.00 and checks should be made payable to the Notre Dame hockey team.

"How did Clarke react after the game?" I just wanted to rip these two out. He said to me near the eye... I figured anybody but him should hit him back. Naturally, the radicals announce renewed both individuals for both behaviors.

"(Bryan) Maxwell is no schluch. He likes to fight and can handle his dudes quite well," he proclaimed proudly.

A few years ago, pro hockey was a weekly feature on Sunday afternoon television. However, the numerous alterations associated with nearly every drop of the puck soon resulted in disappointing point low ratings. The majority of the people were simply not interested in the constant interruption of the flow of the game with stick-slinging, fist-fighting frays. Yet, not everyone seems to be disenchantment with the brutal style of play.

One hockey fan recently wrote to The Hockey News and praised hockey weekly, and exclaimed the necessity of violence. "I think myself fighting is an exciting and necessary part of the game. I say it is necessary broadside. The Blues defensemen interpreted to land a few more punches than his opponent. Naturally, the radio announcer reiterates both individuals for their behavior.

"(Bryan) Maxwell is no schluch. He likes to fight and can handle his dudes quite well," he proclaimed proudly.

A few years ago, pro hockey was a weekly feature on Sunday afternoon television. However, the numerous alterations associated with nearly every drop of the puck soon resulted in disappointing point low ratings. The majority of the people were simply not interested in the constant interruption of the flow of the game with stick-slinging, fist-fighting frays. Yet, not everyone seems to be disenchantment with the brutal style of play.

One hockey fan recently wrote to The Hockey News and praised hockey weekly, and exclaimed the necessity of violence. "I think myself fighting is an exciting and necessary part of the game. I say it is necessary broadside. The Blues defensemen interpreted to land a few more punches than his opponent. Naturally, the radio announcer reiterates both individuals for their behavior.

"(Bryan) Maxwell is no schluch. He likes to fight and can handle his dudes quite well," he proclaimed proudly.

A few years ago, pro hockey was a weekly feature on Sunday afternoon television. However, the numerous alterations associated with nearly every drop of the puck soon resulted in disappointing point low ratings. The majority of the people were simply not interested in the constant interruption of the flow of the game with stick-slinging, fist-fighting frays. Yet, not everyone seems to be disenchantment with the brutal style of play.

One hockey fan recently wrote to The Hockey News and praised hockey weekly, and exclaimed the necessity of violence. "I think myself fighting is an exciting and necessary part of the game. I say it is necessary broadside. The Blues defensemen interpreted to land a few more punches than his opponent. Naturally, the radio announcer reiterates both individuals for their behavior.

"(Bryan) Maxwell is no schluch. He likes to fight and can handle his dudes quite well," he proclaimed proudly.

A few years ago, pro hockey was a weekly feature on Sunday afternoon television. However, the numerous alterations associated with nearly every drop of the puck soon resulted in disappointing point low ratings. The majority of the people were simply not interested in the constant interruption of the flow of the game with stick-slinging, fist-fighting frays. Yet, not everyone seems to be disenchantment with the brutal style of play.

One hockey fan recently wrote to The Hockey News and praised hockey weekly, and exclaimed the necessity of violence. "I think myself fighting is an exciting and necessary part of the game. I say it is necessary broadside. The Blues defensemen interpreted to land a few more punches than his opponent. Naturally, the radio announcer reiterates both individuals for their behavior.

"(Bryan) Maxwell is no schluch. He likes to fight and can handle his dudes quite well," he proclaimed proudly.

A few years ago, pro hockey was a weekly feature on Sunday afternoon television. However, the numerous alterations associated with nearly every drop of the puck soon resulted in disappointing point low ratings. The majority of the people were simply not interested in the constant interruption of the flow of the game with stick-slinging, fist-fighting frays. Yet, not everyone seems to be disenchantment with the brutal style of play.

One hockey fan recently wrote to The Hockey News and praised hockey weekly, and exclaimed the necessity of violence. "I think myself fighting is an exciting and necessary part of the game. I say it is necessary broadside. The Blues defensemen interpreted to land a few more punches than his opponent. Naturally, the radio announcer reiterates both individuals for their behavior.

"(Bryan) Maxwell is no schluch. He likes to fight and can handle his dudes quite well," he proclaimed proudly.

A few years ago, pro hockey was a weekly feature on Sunday afternoon television. However, the numerous alterations associated with nearly every drop of the puck soon resulted in disappointing point low ratings. The majority of the people were simply not interested in the constant interruption of the flow of the game with stick-slinging, fist-fighting frays. Yet, not everyone seems to be disenchantment with the brutal style of play.

One hockey fan recently wrote to The Hockey News and praised hockey weekly, and exclaimed the necessity of violence. "I think myself fighting is an exciting and necessary part of the game. I say it is necessary broadside. The Blues defensemen interpreted to land a few more punches than his opponent. Naturally, the radio announcer reiterates both individuals for their behavior.

"(Bryan) Maxwell is no schluch. He likes to fight and can handle his dudes quite well," he proclaimed proudly.

A few years ago, pro hockey was a weekly feature on Sunday afternoon television. However, the numerous alterations associated with nearly every drop of the puck soon resulted in disappointing point low ratings. The majority of the people were simply not interested in the constant interruption of the flow of the game with stick-slinging, fist-fighting frays. Yet, not everyone seems to be disenchantment with the brutal style of play.

One hockey fan recently wrote to The Hockey News and praised hockey weekly, and exclaimed the necessity of violence. "I think myself fighting is an exciting and necessary part of the game. I say it is necessary broadside. The Blues defensemen interpreted to land a few more punches than his opponent. Naturally, the radio announcer reiterates both individuals for their behavior.

"(Bryan) Maxwell is no schluch. He likes to fight and can handle his dudes quite well," he proclaimed proudly.
In Pauley
Bruins dump Irish, 94-81
By Frank LaGrotta

LOS ANGELES— UCLA head coach Larry Brown prepared his players well. He showed them how to shoot and how to rebound. He taught them how to run and how to pass. He even reminded them that it wouldn’t hurt them to see the three Pac-10 officials who would be calling the game.

But he saved the most important lesson for last.

"Right before game time we gave these guys a refresher course on the home court advantage," Brown revealed. "I told them that the crowd was ours and that Notre Dame had to come in and beat us, not the other way around.

It must have done the trick as Notre Dame’s four-year hold at Pauley Pavilion vanished in a cloud of dust— most of which was raised by Notre Dame’s four-year hold at Pauley Pavilion.

Brown, however, knew if we used our

"We didn’t start off very far behind. You looked down our bench and no one was worried," Brown commented Saturday. "We weren’t scared," said Frank "Faster" Tripucka, who scored 17 of Notre Dame’s 10 points on the way to his collegiate basketball game at Pauley Pavilion.

Forward Mike Sanders had a game-high 24 points for UCLA that resulted from 12 trips to the free-throw line. In fact, UCLA’s margin of victory came on the free-throw stripe as they hit 26 of 32 foul shots while

"Our defense allowed our offense to get moving," said Brown.

The Bruins continued to rely on Foster’s outside shooting and the unexpected frontcourt play of forward Darren Daye and took a 46-40 lead into the lockerroom at halftime.

"I think they’re a very talented team," complimented Coach Digger Phelps afterward. "They do a lot of things on the court, but I thought we played well in the first half. It just got a little too careless, which was, in part, a five-point deficit the next night for a 7-6

"It was the Bruins’ play under the basket that allowed them to extend their lead to 65-

15 with 10:39 remaining. UCLA’s 10 of 16 free throws led to the larger, more physical Irish, 21-

14, in the second stanza. Notre Dame never got over nine points after that and even fell behind by 18 in the game’s waning moments.

"UCLA picked up right from the final game last year," said Phelps. "They obviously want to play in Philadelphia this year. They have seven good people who should get them to the Final Four again this season.

All in all, in the biggest little city to cheer about— with the exception of John Paxson, who hit nine of 13 shots for 21 points to go with five assists and three steals on the night—

"Paxson is a tremendous play-" said Brown, who scored that it was Paxson’s defense that helped limit UCLA guard Michael Holton to only four points. "He does everything very well and it seems to me that he has tremendous poise at this stage of his career. The scary thing is, he can only get better.

Paxson’s 21 points were a team high, followed by Rogers’ 19, which resulted from 12 trips to the free-throw line. In fact, UCLA’s margin of victory came on the free-throw stripe as they hit 26 of 32 foul shots while "No wonder you have the program you do at Notre Dame," he says. "I met all of the assistants, and every one of them is a great person. As a person, I was very impressed with them all. They are a terrific group of people with a lot of class.

But Faust says that he really hasn’t finished his evaluation of the present staff, nor made any definitive plans for a staff of his own. He plans to meet with Dan Devine’s assistants again next week, and announce his plans sometime after next Wednes- day’s football banquet.

One of the appointments that Faust will have made has been reported. The wide receivers, who were sold, reported to Coach Tom Lichtenberg of Morehead State.

NEW YORK (AP) — George Rogers, who put the University of South Carolina on the college football map while becoming the fourth leading rusher in NCAA history, won the 1980 Heisman trophy yesterday as the nation’s outstanding player.

Rogers, a 6’2”, 220-pound senior from Delaware, Ga., leads the nation in rushing with 1,781 yards and 26 touchdowns. He gained 64 yards per carry, won by a comfortable margin over defensive end Alex Karras of Iowa’s 1,779 yards and 16 touchdowns. Nebraska’s Johnny Rodgers is second with 1,626 yards and 17 second-place votes, won by a comfortable margin over defensive end Alex Karras of Iowa’s 1,779 yards and 16 touchdowns. Nebraska’s Johnny Rodgers is second with 1,626 yards and 17 second-place votes, won by a comfortable margin over defensive end Alex Karras of Iowa’s 1,779 yards and 16 touchdowns.

Rogers carried four of the six regions into the country which is divided — the mid-Atlantic, South, Southwest and Far West. Green captured the Northeast, while Purdue quarterback Mark Herrmann, who finished fourth overall with 405 points, won the Midwest.

Rounding out the top 10 Heisman finalists were: Michael Mohlman of Brigham Young, quarterback; Art Schlichter, Ohio State quarterback; Neil Lomax, a quarterback from small college Portland State University and college football’s all-time passing leader; Jarvis Redwine, Nebraska running back; Kenny Easley, UCLA safety; a three-way tie for 10th among Anthony Carter, Michigan wide receiver, Mike Singletary, Baylor linebacker, and Dave Wilson, Illinois quarterback.

Rogers became the eighth consecutive running back to win the Heisman and the 31st in the 45 years of the award. Green was only the third Lineman to finish as high as second without doubling as a pass-catcher. The others were Alex Karras of Iowa in 1957 and John Hicks of Ohio State in 1973.

Rogers received much public attention this season not only for extending his string of 100-yard games to 21, but also because of his background. He left home and lived in several Georgia towns during his teen-age years, and also made headlines when his father was released from jail in June. On October serving almost eight years for the fatal shooting of a girl friend.