The Observer

Armed intruders hold OC students at gunpoint

By JOHN HIGGINS
Staff Reporter

Two Notre Dame students were robbed at gunpoint Monday night in their Portage Avenue home, bound and locked in a closet, and relieved of a $41,000 stereo and $4,000 in cash.

According to Michael McAlary, a senior, two gunmenApparently entered the wrong house looking for cocaine. The intruders held McAlary and a friend at gunpoint for 40 minutes while they searched McAlary's apartment, ending their siege by barricading the two bound victims in a closet.

The pair was released by McAlary's girlfriend who arrived less than one minute after the assailants left.

McAlary said one of the men came to the door and asked to use the telephone. "We sat and talked and called and called for about 10 minutes waiting for [another person in the house] to get off the phone," he said. "When he was off, I told 'The phone's all yours.' He walked towards the phone, pulled a gun out of his pocket and told us both to get on the floor.

He said they lay face down on the kitchen floor and the gunman placed pillows over their heads and threatened to kill them if they moved. McAlary said he explained another gun was outside and said if this guy saw us look up he'd kill us.

McAlary said, "Then he went to the room in the attic and asked us what we had. We told him that we did not deal in cocaine, that we did not have cocaine.

"He then said he was going to mess one of us up to get the other one to talk," McAlary continued. "At this point they decided to tie us up. The guy we didn't see ripped a cord out of the wall and tied me up pretty tightly. My hands started turning blue. Then he started asking me where the coke was and I told him we didn't have any, that we never had any.

The man with the gun then placed the gun against his temple and again threatened to kill McAlary, he said. The pair then began searching the house. When the second man went upstairs, McAlary said, "the guy with the gun came up to me and said 'I'm the only guy with the gun, don't worry about him.' Just play with me and you won't get hurt.

The second man came downstairs and the pair dragged the two students into a closet. "They cleared the closet out and threw it in," McAlary said. "They barricaded the door with a bar. One of them asked if anyone was coming home and I said 'Yes, definitely. My girlfriend is expected home within 15 minutes.'" just after the other guy inside. The second guy came into the room and started asking where we had any money. We told him that we did not deal in cocaine and that we did not have any money.

"The second man then placed the gun against his temple and again threatened to kill McAlary, he said. The pair then began searching the house. When the second man went upstairs, McAlary said, "the guy with the gun came up to me and said 'I'm the only guy with the gun, don't worry about him.' Just play with me and you won't get hurt.

The second man came downstairs and the pair dragged the two students into a closet. "They cleared the closet out and threw it in," McAlary said. "They barricaded the door with a bar. One of them asked if anyone was coming home and I said 'Yes, definitely. My girlfriend is expected home within 15 minutes.'"

just after the other guy inside. The second guy came into the room and started asking where we had any money. We told him that we did not deal in cocaine and that we did not have any money.

"The second man then placed the gun against his temple and again threatened to kill McAlary, he said. The pair then began searching the house. When the second man went upstairs, McAlary said, "the guy with the gun came up to me and said 'I'm the only guy with the gun, don't worry about him.' Just play with me and you won't get hurt.

The second man came downstairs and the pair dragged the two students into a closet. "They cleared the closet out and threw it in," McAlary said. "They barricaded the door with a bar. One of them asked if anyone was coming home and I said 'Yes, definitely. My girlfriend is expected home within 15 minutes.'"

just after the other guy inside. The second guy came into the room and started asking where we had any money. We told him that we did not deal in cocaine and that we did not have any money.

"The second man then placed the gun against his temple and again threatened to kill McAlary, he said. The pair then began searching the house. When the second man went upstairs, McAlary said, "the guy with the gun came up to me and said 'I'm the only guy with the gun, don't worry about him.' Just play with me and you won't get hurt.

The second man came downstairs and the pair dragged the two students into a closet. "They cleared the closet out and threw it in," McAlary said. "They barricaded the door with a bar. One of them asked if anyone was coming home and I said 'Yes, definitely. My girlfriend is expected home within 15 minutes.'"

just after the other guy inside. The second guy came into the room and started asking where we had any money. We told him that we did not deal in cocaine and that we did not have any money.

"The second man then placed the gun against his temple and again threatened to kill McAlary, he said. The pair then began searching the house. When the second man went upstairs, McAlary said, "the guy with the gun came up to me and said 'I'm the only guy with the gun, don't worry about him.' Just play with me and you won't get hurt.

The second man came downstairs and the pair dragged the two students into a closet. "They cleared the closet out and threw it in," McAlary said. "They barricaded the door with a bar. One of them asked if anyone was coming home and I said 'Yes, definitely. My girlfriend is expected home within 15 minutes.'"

just after the other guy inside. The second guy came into the room and started asking where we had any money. We told him that we did not deal in cocaine and that we did not have any money.

"The second man then placed the gun against his temple and again threatened to kill McAlary, he said. The pair then began searching the house. When the second man went upstairs, McAlary said, "the guy with the gun came up to me and said 'I'm the only guy with the gun, don't worry about him.' Just play with me and you won't get hurt.

The second man came downstairs and the pair dragged the two students into a closet. "They cleared the closet out and threw it in," McAlary said. "They barricaded the door with a bar. One of them asked if anyone was coming home and I said 'Yes, definitely. My girlfriend is expected home within 15 minutes.'"
Two new persons will sit on the University's Board of Trustees. President Rev. Theodore Hesburgh recently announced that John A. Kaneh and Andrew J. McKenna, both corporate executives, will assume board positions. Kaneh, who received a bachelor's degree in mechanical engineering from Harvard University, is executive of Northeast Petroleum Industries, Inc., a Minneapolis-based company, and McKenna received a bachelor's degree in commerce from Notre Dame and a law degree from DePaul University. He is president of the Swiss Paper Company. Morton Grove, Illinois. Thirty-four persons now sit on the Board of Trustees. — The Observer

Polish demands for an independent farmer's union and workday Saturdays fueled buses with placards and songs as Kania and Polanski met in Warsaw with the Soviet communism, Kania and Polanski, the leading Soviet military, the official Russian news agency PAP reported. In Racine, in the southeast corridor of Poland about 40 miles from the Soviet frontier, employees laid down their tools in a two-hour warning strike to support private farmers' demands for an independent of Communist Party control.

A Solidarity spokesman said the job action went peacefully with no interference by police. Asked whether another action was planned, he said, "I cannot discuss it. We shall inform you." Solidarity, which claims some 200,000 members, threatened new strikes over workweek issues. — AP

Prime Minister Menachem Begin's government, on the brink of collapse, prolonged its life yesterday by determining a decision on whether to call early elections until next week. Begin has openly supported early elections. But aides said leaders of his Likud Party were seeking to broaden their parliamentary base and allow the government to remain in power until November. Begin's government was left without a majority in Israel's 120-seat Knesset (parliament) when Finance Minister Yigael Yehuda resigned Sunday and pulled his three-man Raff Party out of the ruling coalition. A Labor-Communist coalition partner, the three-man Democratic Movement drafted a bill to dissolve the Knesset and hold elections June 15 in an apparent attempt to force Begin to introduce his own dissolution bill. The D.M. is led by Deputy Prime Minister Yigael Yadin. Housing Minister David Levy, the drive to salvage the government, said he had more as many as four more independents who would back the government if it decided against early elections, giving it more than the needed majority. But Begin's aides said the prime minister wants the results of his party's (government) vote on his leadership. The Knesset is the only body which can dissolve itself. The president then appoints a new prime minister. Although background readings,Begin wants the government to stay in power as long as possible in order to expand Jewish settlements on the Israeli-occupied West Bank. — AP

A $4 million bequest from the estate of a Chicago woman, Dagnan Concannon, will endow Notre Dame's programs in international law, according to University Pres. Rev. Theodore Hesburgh. The Concannon Program of International Law and Ethics was established in 1954 by the donor's late husband, Mr. Concannon. He wrote the program's current law, and the law, and scholarship in international law done on the campus of the Notre Dame Law School. A search for a distinguished scholar to hold the new position of Concannon professorship in international law has already begun. "The Concannon gift adds new strength to Notre Dame's international focus in the education of lawyers," Fr. Hesburg said. — The Observer

Canadian cold zapped Florida again yesterday, and the state's citizens had more fuel in their tanks than weathermen warned that a cold wave in the East is not going away anytime soon. At least 44 deaths in 14 states — not counting traffic fatalities — have been blamed on the frigid weather that swept down from the north. Neighbors in freezing weather for the past several days, they are well aware of the region's need for heated supplies. The weathermen in the state predict a repeat of the past several days, with temperatures dropping to 30 below zero. — AP

It's always amusing to observe the old men in blue blazers who are employed for "security" purposes at rock concerts at the ACC. When harddriving groups like AC/DC, Aerosmith and Ted Nugent roll in, it all seems evil to them: three clouds and a dark storm, long-haired and pot-smoke. With cotton balls from their ears, they chant a Catholic institution permit s such unabashed hedonism.

But it is a gut reaction to want to quickly lay the blame and right all wrongs, and making rock the heavy metal and it's criminal to take the laws that the laws are being fought out at present, rock is finally being taken seriously — not the music, of course, but its message and its impact.

Society is placing the blame for this tragedy on rock, and this is not just some Southern bible zealots burning Beatles albums in response to an off-hand remark by John Lennon. Concerts are being cancelled, musicians scorned and this raw, expressive musical form is being repressed. This is not good.

The complex refines gasoline, aviation fuel, asphalt and heating fuels, and is Texaco's largest refinery in the U.S. It is a member of the American Petroleum Institute. — The Observer

Don't blame rock

It's always amusing to observe the old men in blue blazers who are employed for "security" purposes at rock concerts at the ACC. When harddriving groups like AC/DC, Aerosmith and Ted Nugent roll in, it all seems evil to them: three clouds and a dark storm, long-haired and pot-smoke. With cotton balls from their ears, they chant a Catholic institution permits such unabashed hedonism.

Rock music's detractors were provided with ammunition yesterday by a crowd that was about to explode.

The Who in Cincinnati. In the year since then, up to the day this feature was written, there was a "stable minority" of rock's opponents. But rock was building a following of more and more people. And that group, the largest of all musical appreciation groups, should not be discriminated against simply because its tastes are not as refined as possible.

In this country, we can real or listen to whatever we like. When such a large portion of the populace has expressed a preference for this music, it needs to be heard. But if these preferences cause some type of conflict, then provisions must be made: Indeed, rock concerts are staged in massive, musically-inflatable hockey arenas to provide for the huge numbers who wish to see these shows. "Security" men are provided. Also, "festival seating" was devised to allow even more people to see the shows.

In fact, many unfamiliar with this "seating" policy were outraged that it even existed, and screamed that it be banned. It should be noted that any promoter or security chief worth his weight in TV dinners is properly police and control a crowd waiting for "first come, first served" seats. The ACU regularly has festival seating on the floor, and has experienced little difficulties.

Rock was responsible for the crush of people waiting outside of Riverfront Coliseum last December, but it was not responsible for the suction deaths of 11 Who fans. That was the fault of an inexplicable lack of cooperation between the promoter, and the fidelity and stupidity of Coliseum officials in failing to open enough doors at the right time. The current lawsuits will probably reach the same conclusion, and discover once again that policing a crowd is not all that difficult. They will also conclude, hopefully, that banning rock music is not the answer.

The Observer is always looking for new report ers — experience is totally unnecessary. If you like to write, and are willing to contribute a couple of hours a week, our news department wants you.

If we, so invite you to consider the Holy Cross Associates program, which will remain in effect until the next year in Oregon, California, Arizona, Chile and Kenya.

If you wish to explore further your ideals of Christian service and community as a lay person, please contact: Volunteer Services or call 4397

By the Observer and the Associated Press

Canadian cold zapped Florida again yesterday, and the state's citizens had more fuel in their tanks than weathermen warned that a cold wave in the East is not going away anytime soon. At least 44 deaths in 14 states — not counting traffic fatalities — have been blamed on the frigid weather that swept down from the north. Neighbors in freezing weather for the past several days, they are well aware of the region's need for heated supplies. The weathermen in the state predict a repeat of the past several days, with temperatures dropping to 30 below zero. — AP

Don't blame rock

It's always amusing to observe the old men in blue blazers who are employed for "security" purposes at rock concerts at the ACC. When harddriving groups like AC/DC, Aerosmith and Ted Nugent roll in, it all seems evil to them: three clouds and a dark storm, long-haired and pot-smoke. With cotton balls from their ears, they chant a Catholic institution permits such unabashed hedonism.

Rock music's detractors were provided with ammunition yesterday by a crowd that was about to explode.

The Who in Cincinnati. In the year since then, up to the day this feature was written, there was a "stable minority" of rock's opponents. But rock was building a following of more and more people. And that group, the largest of all musical appreciation groups, should not be discriminated against simply because its tastes are not as refined as possible.

In this country, we can real or listen to whatever we like. When such a large portion of the populace has expressed a preference for this music, it needs to be heard. But if these preferences cause some type of conflict, then provisions must be made: Indeed, rock concerts are staged in massive, musically-inflatable hockey arenas to provide for the huge numbers who wish to see these shows. "Security" men are provided. Also, "festival seating" was devised to allow even more people to see the shows.

In fact, many unfamiliar with this "seating" policy were outraged that it even existed, and screamed that it be banned. It should be noted that any promoter or security chief worth his weight in TV dinners is properly police and control a crowd waiting for "first come, first served" seats. The ACU regularly has festival seating on the floor, and has experienced little difficulties.

Rock was responsible for the crush of people waiting outside of Riverfront Coliseum last December, but it was not responsible for the suction deaths of 11 Who fans. That was the fault of an inexplicable lack of cooperation between the promoter, and the fidelity and stupidity of Coliseum officials in failing to open enough doors at the right time. The current lawsuits will probably reach the same conclusion, and discover once again that policing a crowd is not all that difficult. They will also conclude, hopefully, that banning rock music is not the answer.

The Observer is always looking for new report ers — experience is totally unnecessary. If you like to write, and are willing to contribute a couple of hours a week, our news department wants you.

If we, so invite you to consider the Holy Cross Associates program, which will remain in effect until the next year in Oregon, California, Arizona, Chile and Kenya.

If you wish to explore further your ideals of Christian service and community as a lay person, please contact: Volunteer Services or call 4397

The Observer

The Observer

The Observer

The Observer

The Observer

The Observer

The Observer

The Observer

The Observer

The Observer

The Observer

The Observer

The Observer

The Observer

The Observer

The Observer

The Observer

The Observer

The Observer

The Observer

The Observer

The Observer

The Observer
Pasquerilla West opens doors to 160

BY MARY FRAN CALLAHAN
Senior Copy Editor

One hundred and sixty women now live in the newly-constructed Pasquerilla West, a building which has virtually eliminated the crowded housing situation on campus.

The dorm's occupants include 34 freshmen who were housed last semester in Villa Angela plus transfer and off-campus students.

Pasquerilla's facilities are extensive, for the dorm includes spacious study lounges in every section, dining rooms on the first floor, a large kitchen, an entire floor of storage rooms, a glassed-in study lounge, as well as a large kitchen, a furnished typing room, and a furnished dining room on the second floor. The dorm's facilities are called the facilities "beautiful." Her quarters were tastefully furnished for her after the dorm was completed.

Pasquerilla West, the first of Notre Dame's two new women's dorms to open, is the new home for 164 students. See story to the left. (Photo courtesy Notre Dame Information Services)

Carter bids final farewell to nation

WASHINGTON-(AP) President Carter bid farewell to the nation Wednesday night with a solemn warning that the danger of nuclear annihilation is growing and the self-indulgent desires of special interests are assuming strong, but not necessarily desired, influence over American political life.

In his last scheduled speech from the Oval Office, Carter said "Democracy is an unfinished creation," offered an updated interpretation of the most oft-quoted passage from the Declaration of Independence: "For this generation," Carter said, "life, liberty, the pursuit of happiness is a planet whose resources arc the very limits of conscience and conviction. Therefore, I pledge to support him. He wished Reagan "success and Godspeed."

Army Reserve units within 50 miles of University of Notre Dame are currently recruiting for prior service personnel in the following specialties:

- Material Supply Specialist E-4, E-5
- Personnel Administration Specialist E-4, E-5
- Medical & Clinical Specialist E-6
- Field Artillery Meteorological Cmmn. E-6

For more information, contact your Army Reserve Recruiter, Sr. Young, 334-4187.

PRIOR MILITARY SERVICE? YOUR ARMY RESERVE NEEDS YOU!

NOTRE DAME AVE. APTS

2 bedrooms

completely furnished

complete kitchen

off-street parking

up to 4 students

$340-$360/month

call 234-6647

SALE: Thurs., Jan. 15
Fri., Jan 16

3:00 to 6:00

2nd Floor LaFortune

(Book Room)

Student Union

BOOK EXCHANGE
Shotgun accident

Man survives gun blast

EVANSVILLE, Ind. (AP) — A month ago, a shotgun discharged accidentally and doctors weren't sure that Joe Goodridge Jr. would survive. Now, he's back at work and feeling good.

Goodridge was wounded Dec. 13 when his shotgun went off, pumping nearly 100 pellets into his stomach and abdomen. Two pellets stopped just short of his heart, and another entered his intestines. It took four hours of emergency surgery at a Benton, Ky. hospital, to remove those and several other shot fragments.

"I guess it was really touch and go for awhile," said Goodridge. "I'm very, very fortunate," he added. "The good Lord was on my side."

"I'm not quite up to full power yet," said the former Evansville Reitz football star, "but I'm getting along real well."

Goodridge, 36, who has been active in Republican Party politics and local service clubs in recent years, even felt well enough to attend Gov. Robert Orr's inauguration Monday in Indianapolis.

Last week, his doctor gave him permission to begin working half time, and he was told Monday he could go back to work full time next week.

Goodridge is an investigator in the juvenile division of the Vanderburgh County prosecutor's office. He was visiting his parents when the accident occurred.

"I was checking myself to see if blood was spurting," Goodridge said. "I've handled guns all my life."

Goodridge was with a 14-year-old friend of the family when the accident occurred. They were going to shoot mistletoe out of a tree when the youth decided it would be easier for him to climb the tree and cut the mistletoe down. The gun went off as he set it down.

"I was checking myself to see if blood was spurting," Goodridge said. "I've handled guns all my life."

Goodridge was with a 14-year-old friend of the family when the accident occurred. They were going to shoot mistletoe out of a tree when the youth decided it would be easier for him to climb the tree and cut the mistletoe down. The gun went off as he set it down.

"I was checking myself to see if blood was spurting," Goodridge said. "I've handled guns all my life."

Goodridge was with a 14-year-old friend of the family when the accident occurred. They were going to shoot mistletoe out of a tree when the youth decided it would be easier for him to climb the tree and cut the mistletoe down. The gun went off as he set it down.

"I was checking myself to see if blood was spurting," Goodridge said. "I've handled guns all my life."

Goodridge was with a 14-year-old friend of the family when the accident occurred. They were going to shoot mistletoe out of a tree when the youth decided it would be easier for him to climb the tree and cut the mistletoe down. The gun went off as he set it down.

"I was checking myself to see if blood was spurting," Goodridge said. "I've handled guns all my life."

Goodridge was with a 14-year-old friend of the family when the accident occurred. They were going to shoot mistletoe out of a tree when the youth decided it would be easier for him to climb the tree and cut the mistletoe down. The gun went off as he set it down.

"I was checking myself to see if blood was spurting," Goodridge said. "I've handled guns all my life."

Goodridge was with a 14-year-old friend of the family when the accident occurred. They were going to shoot mistletoe out of a tree when the youth decided it would be easier for him to climb the tree and cut the mistletoe down. The gun went off as he set it down.

"I was checking myself to see if blood was spurting," Goodridge said. "I've handled guns all my life."

Goodridge was with a 14-year-old friend of the family when the accident occurred. They were going to shoot mistletoe out of a tree when the youth decided it would be easier for him to climb the tree and cut the mistletoe down. The gun went off as he set it down.

"I was checking myself to see if blood was spurting," Goodridge said. "I've handled guns all my life."

Goodridge was with a 14-year-old friend of the family when the accident occurred. They were going to shoot mistletoe out of a tree when the youth decided it would be easier for him to climb the tree and cut the mistletoe down. The gun went off as he set it down.

"I was checking myself to see if blood was spurting," Goodridge said. "I've handled guns all my life."

Goodridge was with a 14-year-old friend of the family when the accident occurred. They were going to shoot mistletoe out of a tree when the youth decided it would be easier for him to climb the tree and cut the mistletoe down. The gun went off as he set it down.

"I was checking myself to see if blood was spurting," Goodridge said. "I've handled guns all my life."

Goodridge was with a 14-year-old friend of the family when the accident occurred. They were going to shoot mistletoe out of a tree when the youth decided it would be easier for him to climb the tree and cut the mistletoe down. The gun went off as he set it down.

"I was checking myself to see if blood was spurting," Goodridge said. "I've handled guns all my life."

Goodridge was with a 14-year-old friend of the family when the accident occurred. They were going to shoot mistletoe out of a tree when the youth decided it would be easier for him to climb the tree and cut the mistletoe down. The gun went off as he set it down.

"I was checking myself to see if blood was spurting," Goodridge said. "I've handled guns all my life."

Goodridge was with a 14-year-old friend of the family when the accident occurred. They were going to shoot mistletoe out of a tree when the youth decided it would be easier for him to climb the tree and cut the mistletoe down. The gun went off as he set it down.

"I was checking myself to see if blood was spurting," Goodridge said. "I've handled guns all my life."

Goodridge was with a 14-year-old friend of the family when the accident occurred. They were going to shoot mistletoe out of a tree when the youth decided it would be easier for him to climb the tree and cut the mistletoe down. The gun went off as he set it down.

"I was checking myself to see if blood was spurting," Goodridge said. "I've handled guns all my life."

Goodridge was with a 14-year-old friend of the family when the accident occurred. They were going to shoot mistletoe out of a tree when the youth decided it would be easier for him to climb the tree and cut the mistletoe down. The gun went off as he set it down.

"I was checking myself to see if blood was spurting," Goodridge said. "I've handled guns all my life."

Goodridge was with a 14-year-old friend of the family when the accident occurred. They were going to shoot mistletoe out of a tree when the youth decided it would be easier for him to climb the tree and cut the mistletoe down. The gun went off as he set it down.

"I was checking myself to see if blood was spurting," Goodridge said. "I've handled guns all my life."

Goodridge was with a 14-year-old friend of the family when the accident occurred. They were going to shoot mistletoe out of a tree when the youth decided it would be easier for him to climb the tree and cut the mistletoe down. The gun went off as he set it down.

"I was checking myself to see if blood was spurting," Goodridge said. "I've handled guns all my life."

Goodridge was with a 14-year-old friend of the family when the accident occurred. They were going to shoot mistletoe out of a tree when the youth decided it would be easier for him to climb the tree and cut the mistletoe down. The gun went off as he set it down.

"I was checking myself to see if blood was spurting," Goodridge said. "I've handled guns all my life."

Goodridge was with a 14-year-old friend of the family when the accident occurred. They were going to shoot mistletoe out of a tree when the youth decided it would be easier for him to climb the tree and cut the mistletoe down. The gun went off as he set it down.

"I was checking myself to see if blood was spurting," Goodridge said. "I've handled guns all my life."

Goodridge was with a 14-year-old friend of the family when the accident occurred. They were going to shoot mistletoe out of a tree when the youth decided it would be easier for him to climb the tree and cut the mistletoe down. The gun went off as he set it down.

"I was checking myself to see if blood was spurting," Goodridge said. "I've handled guns all my life."

Goodridge was with a 14-year-old friend of the family when the accident occurred. They were going to shoot mistletoe out of a tree when the youth decided it would be easier for him to climb the tree and cut the mistletoe down. The gun went off as he set it down.

"I was checking myself to see if blood was spurting," Goodridge said. "I've handled guns all my life."

Goodridge was with a 14-year-old friend of the family when the accident occurred. They were going to shoot mistletoe out of a tree when the youth decided it would be easier for him to climb the tree and cut the mistletoe down. The gun went off as he set it down.

"I was checking myself to see if blood was spurting," Goodridge said. "I've handled guns all my life."

Goodridge was with a 14-year-old friend of the family when the accident occurred. They were going to shoot mistletoe out of a tree when the youth decided it would be easier for him to climb the tree and cut the mistletoe down. The gun went off as he set it down.

"I was checking myself to see if blood was spurting," Goodridge said. "I've handled guns all my life."

Goodridge was with a 14-year-old friend of the family when the accident occurred. They were going to shoot mistletoe out of a tree when the youth decided it would be easier for him to climb the tree and cut the mistletoe down. The gun went off as he set it down.

"I was checking myself to see if blood was spurting," Goodridge said. "I've handled guns all my life."

Goodridge was with a 14-year-old friend of the family when the accident occurred. They were going to shoot mistletoe out of a tree when the youth decided it would be easier for him to climb the tree and cut the mistletoe down. The gun went off as he set it down.

"I was checking myself to see if blood was spurting," Goodridge said. "I've handled guns all my life."

Goodrid
Altered text:

...Reds

continued from page 1

characterized as tragic,” Simon said.

State Police Lt. Norman Smith, who is supervising release of the files, acknowledged the state may face some lawsuits after the files are released, but he added that the Red Squad was within the law at the time of its activity.

State police said they have had problems finding many of the people named because addresses are outdated. The police published forms in several newspapers in late summer inviting queries from people who believe they may be in the files but have not been so notified.

Records released through a law-suit filed by Zoltan Ferency — a lawyer and profes sor who founded the state Human Rights Party — revealed that the Red Squad noted license numbers from cars parked near meetings of groups the squad considered subversive and put the vehicle owners on file, even though they were not at the meetings.

Crash

continued from page 1

Michigan City News-Dispatch. Confused probably suffered from shore because the low temperature prevents the chemical activity that finally raised.

High winds and bad weather hampered the plane before the lake froze for the winter.

To the surprise of investigators the bodies of the four men were not in the plane. “We were shocked. I felt confident the bodies would be there,” said Laporte County Deputy Coroner Roben Jackson in the plane.

Jackson said the cold water would not have escaped from the plane but the plane was in good condition and good weather slowed the trip until the lake froze for the winter.

Investigators found the escape hatch of the plane open and unlined and the plane indicating that the men did leave the plane after it had crashed in the lake.

“The passengers and pilot had to have escaped from the plane but probably suffered from exposure,” Jackson said. “It is possible that they were able to swim away, but became confused in the fog and swam in the wrong direction.”

Jackson said the cold water would prevent the bodies from floating to shore because the low temperature prevents the chemical activity that causes bodies to surface.

Using flotation devices, divers raised the plane to a few feet from the surface for the town to Michigan City. Bad weather slowed the trip and forced the plane to land a sandbar at the mouth of the harbor. The salvage crew was fighting time in its attempt to raise the craft before the lake froze for the winter. On Dec. 21 the aircraft was finally raised.

The plane, a Beechcraft King Air, was in relatively good condition and is new at the Kalamazoo, Michigan Municipal Airport being examined by National Transportation Safety Board investigators.

Proctor & Gamble invites you to

"True Confessions of a Brand Manager"

A discussion of career opportunities in advertising, brand management at Proctor and Gamble

Thursday, Jan. 15, 1981
7:00 pm
Lower Level — Center for Continuing Education
Editorials

El Salvador: Inconsistencies in U.S. policy

By WILLIAM PHELAN

On August 1, 1980, the Congressional Research Service of the Library published Issue Brief No. 182, "El Salvador: U.S. Interests and Policy Options." The brief cites Deputy Assistant Secretary of State for Inter-American Affairs John A. Bushnell, who, while testifying before the Appropriations Subcommittee on Amphibious Operations, stated: "...the policy of the Carter administration in Central America is based on two guiding principles. First, there is a recognition that military interventions, the traditional patterns are in many cases both unjust and unsan- suous at a cost, is inexcusable, and therefore the United States is committed to a broad-based social and economic reform and protection of human rights with all groups participating in the determination of a more equitable future. Second, although the U.S. government has views and will support local reform and initiative, it will not attempt to impose its will. Especially, it will not use military force in situations where only domestic groups can succeed."

As they stand, the two principles are commendable, especially in view of the long history of U.S. intervention in Central America and our tradition of supporting military dictatorships in that region of the world. However, recent U.S. activities involving El Salvador demonstrate that officially denounced foreign policy guidelines do not necessarily determine the actual implementation of foreign policy. U.S. policy in El Salvador has been mixed in an atmosphere of economic and military incentives to influence the creation of what it considers a more stable and secure environment.

The struggle in El Salvador is the result of profound structural and systemic inequalities that have existed within the country since the nineteenth century. Ever since the massacre of 1932 when Agustin Farabundo Marti led an uprising of the poor against the elite- supported military regime of General Maximiliano Hernandez Martinez, the oppressed people of El Salvador have desperately struggled for political autonomy, social justice, political equality, and socio-economic reform. After forty years of repressive military dictatorships (in alliance with the oligarchic coffee-elite), the popular forces have finally coalesced into a broad unified front to seek the fulfillment of their aspirations.

Yet the junta, besides lacking popular support and the means to control increasing political violence, is also unrepresentative of the diverse segments of Salvadoran society. In effect, in its attempt to alleviate the intense socio-political polarization in El Salvador, the U.S. has tried to create a center in a political system that has no viable center. As a result of its efforts, U.S. foreign policy in El Salvador has failed to prevent, and may even have prolonged, the inevitable struggle now taking over the Salvadoran people.

The struggle in El Salvador is the result of profound structural and systemic inequalities that have existed within the country since the nineteenth century. Ever since the massacre of 1932 when Agustin Farabundo Marti led an uprising of the poor against the elite-supported military regime of General Maximiliano Hernandez Martinez, the oppressed people of El Salvador have desperately struggled for political autonomy, social justice, political equality, and socio-economic reform. After forty years of repressive military dictatorships (in alliance with the oligarchic coffee-elite), the popular forces have finally coalesced into a broad unified front to seek the fulfillment of their aspirations.

At first the government opposition sought to realize its goals through a non-violent course of participation in the nation's electoral system. This strategy of establishing a reformist center between the reactionary right and the revolutionary left was abandoned in 1972 when the presidential candidate of the National Opposition Union (a moderate reformist coalition) was defeated by the governmental candidate in the notoriously fraudulent election of that year. The feasibility of a reformist-central government was further diminished in 1976 when military dictator Molina, proposing some minor agrarian reforms in an attempt to appease the masses, was immediately opposed by the traditional land-owning elite. Molina was subsequently replaced by the ultra-conservative General Humberto Romero.

Recognizing the futility of establishing a civilian central government through legal means (something the U.S. government had already recognized), the opposition, buoyed by the victory of the Sandinistas in Nicaragua, have now chosen a more revolutionary approach: paramilitary death squads responsible for an estimated 80 percent of those victims. Moreover, a recent reorganization of the junta, induced by U.S. pressures, has not changed the situation but may, in fact, worsen it because the reformist junta member, Colonel Adolfo Majano, was ousted from the junta while his more conservative class-supported counterpart, Colonel Jaime Gutierrez, was retained and even made commander of the military.

In the case of El Salvador, the United States has allowed political-study groups to overshadow its professed foreign policy objectives of social justice, democracy, the guarantee of human rights, and non-involvement in the internal affairs of a sovereign nation. It has done so because some experts in the State Department fear that El Salvador will become the battleground for the leftist forces of Nicaragua and the rightist forces of Guatemala. These analysts want that situation would dramatically increase the instability of Central America, lead to the spread of Communism, and detrimentally affect the oil supplies of Mexico and Guatemala.

Yet the biggest mistake of U.S. foreign policy analysts is their attempt to impose its will on the Salvadoran people. The forces of El Salvador as an amoral mass of radical leftist ideologies. In reality, the opposition forces are comprised of a broad coalition of the middle and lower class sectors of Salvadoran society — educators, small businessmen, labor unions, the rural and urban poor, and the Roman Catholic Church. These sectors, espousing diverse ideologies, while calling themselves "peaceful" and "humanistic" and striving for social and political reform, are fighting for a more equitable and humane society, represent the great majority of the nation's population. The current situation is that the U.S. citizens, notably the U.S. State Department, has only limited policy options in El Salvador. It must break its ties with the junta, recognize that that alliance is an impediment to the development of El Salvador. While the U.S. must recognize that it has only limited policy options in El Salvador, it must also support the efforts of the Salvadoran people to achieve these policies that will only prolong the struggles in El Salvador and subject the Salvadoran people to more social injustice and political repression.

In the final analysis, the U.S. must allow the democratic struggle in El Salvador to continue to come to a viable, just society. At the same time, it must work together with other members of the Organization of American States to prevent the internal struggle from escalating into an international conflict. By following these proposals, the United States will be dealing with a situation that is "all peace, all the time".
After The Fact

A Sugar Bowl Review

Photo Essay by John Macor

Even though the game itself was a disappointing loss, the New Orleans experience was nothing short of fantastic. That was the feeling of the contingent of Notre Dame students and alumni who trekked to this historical, diverse city to witness the 1981 Sugar Bowl Classic. The game itself became almost secondary since the city offered so much to the tourist.

The French Quarter, with its French Creole architecture and beautiful iron railings (seen at left), proved to be the center stage of this immense party. Bourbon Street on New Year’s Eve was a solid and slow-moving mass of human bodies. This was attributed to the fact that it is the most famous street in the French Quarter and its nightlife is unsurpassed.

New Orleans provided tourists with innumerable options since the city is saturated with history. Many buildings and monuments that have played a role in our country’s history were quite accessible to the tourist (for example, Jackson Square which is pictured left).

Although the football game itself was surrounded by a number of ifs, the entire event was one that will never be forgotten by those who participated.

John Macor
Tom Gibbons
receives scholarship

Tom Gibbons is one of 33 football seniors from around the country to receive a $2,000 NCAA postgraduate scholarship. Gibbons, a three-year starter in the Irish secondary, joins fellow senior Bob Burger as a recipient of an academic award for the 1980 season. Both Gibbons and Burger were first-team selections on the 1980 Academic All-America football team named by the College Sports Information Directors of America.

Gibbons boasts a 3.05 grade average in aerospace engineering, while Burger carries a 3.78 in chemistry. Gibbons eventually hopes to attend law school; Burger has plans for medical school.

CHARLES M. SCHULZ
FOR THE FIRST TIME IN MY LIFE, I BELIEVE IN SCHOOL PRAYER!

ARMY ROTC PROVIDES
merit scholarships - up to $20,000 !!!

leadership-development
management training adventure employment opportunity

Graduate from Notre Dame as an Army Officer

(219) 283-6264
Belles up record to 5-2

By KELLY SULLIVAN
Women's Sports Editor

A solid performance on defense carried Saint Mary's basketball team to a 66-51 win over Purdue-Calumet Tuesday night. The victory lifted the Belles to 5-2 on the season.

"Defense was the key to the game," explained Coach Jerry Dallesio. "We also rebounded very well—it was really the base we've played all year."

Gretchen Meyer pumped in a team high 14 points for Saint Mary's while teammate Maureen King chipped in 12 points; Lisa Stiez nabbed 8 rebounds. Purdue Cal was led by Hilda Taver's 18 point effort.

Although worried about how the three week layoff would effect his club, Dalleslo's fear were quieted when the Belles raced to a 33-25 halftime lead they never relinquished. "It was a great team victory," noted Dallesio. "We're actually ahead of where we were three weeks ago."

Saint Mary's travels to Depau tonight before hosting Taylor next Monday. Both games will be a struggle, according to Dalleslo. "They'll both be tough, but I think everyone has made a lot of individual improvement. I think we look good."

61-55

Kentucky tops Ole Miss

LEXINGTON, Ky. (AP) — Sam Bowie scored 18 points and Derrick Hord added 14 as third-ranked Kentucky overcame Mississippi's tenacious, pressing defense for a 64-55 Southeastern Conference basketball victory last night.

Kentucky improved to 11-1 overall and 4-0 in the SEC. Ole Miss fell to 6-7 overall and 1-4 in league play.

The Rebels' scrappy defense kept them in the ball game even after leading scorer Elston Turner was forced to the bench early in the second half with an apparent leg injury. Turner, who was averaging 21.3 points before Wednesday's game, finished the night with just four. In his absence, Carlos Clark took up the slack and led all scorers with 21 points. Ole Miss' Cecil Dowell added 10.

Kentucky used its superior height and depth to maintain an adequate cushion, but never got ahead by more than 15 points.

Kentucky then mounted a mild rally and appeared ready to make the game a rout. Fred Cowan hit an 18-footer, Dicky Beal scored from the corner and Melvin Turpin scored in the lane to give the Wildcats a 64-55 lead with 1:15 to go. Play was fairly even from that point.

RIVER CITY RECORDS announces the 1st annual SNOW WHAT SALE

nd/smc checks cashed up Bruce Springsteen tickets still on sale to $20,000 over at River City Records!

purchase amount for Notre Dame & Saint Mary's students, faculty & staff with i.d. — and only at the North store

ALL REGULAR ALBUMS AND TAPES $1.00 OFF! NO LIMIT!
no coupons necessary

River City Records is owned and operated by recent nd graduates... thank you for your continued support!

All blank tapes $1.00 off (tdk, maxell, memorex)

All posters $1.00 off (thousands of large & small posters for sale! We cleaned out the back room after 3 1/2 years)

$3.00 off discwashers

$1.00 off record crates

Oldie singles $.75/15 for $10.00

Selected cut-outs 2 for 1

RIVER CITY RECORDS
Northern Indiana's Largest selection of albums and tapes and at lowest prices!

SALE HOURS:

thurs, Jan 15 10-10

Fri, Jan 16 10-midnight

dsatur, Jan 17 10-midnight

sun, Jan 18 10-10

50970 U.S. 31 North

3 miles North of campus

next to a A's supermarket

277-4242
The Observer

Thursday, January 15, 1981 — page 10

Continued from page 11

Marquette 56, ND 52

MILWAUKEE. Jan. 10 — Marquette freshman Glenn Rivers took a page out of Notre Dame's book by hitting a desperation 35-foot running jumper at the buzzer to beat the Irish, 54-52.

The Warrior victory snapped an eight-game ND win streak that began after the Irish lost their opener to UC/IA, 94-51.

Marquette gained possession with one second left and the score tied 52 at 52 after Irish forward Orlando Woolridge lost control of a jump ball out of bounds. Guard Michael Wilson, rebounding the ball along the sideline in the Irish free zone, couldn't find either Oliver Lee or Dean Marquette open under the Warrior basket.

That's when Rivers, sneaking down the sideline, called for the ball as the safety valve on the play. Wilson hit Rivers near the left hash mark in the Marquette free zone, and in one lunging motion Rivers put up the bank shot that sunk the Irish.

"Every time I've ever seen Notre Dame play, I've seen someone like (Kelly) Tripucka or Austin Carr throw in 50-pointers at the buzzer," said Rivers. "Today we did it to them."

The Irish also helped do it to themselves. After Oliver Lee's jumper made it 51-52 with 3.29 left, the visitors looked for the last shot. But with four seconds left in the period, ND forward Tracy Jackson was tied up by Rivers.

That forced the jump ball that went out of bounds off Woolridge, setting up Orlando's last-second heroics:

"I think looking for the last shot is a good move when you're on the road and the score is tied," said ND coach Digger Phelps. "We just didn't execute it right."

Phelps first called for his spread-out offense with 9:26 left and the score tied, 42-42. Three point plays by Tripucka and John Paxson helped the Irish jump out to a five-point lead, 50-45.

With 7:48 left, a Rivers shot only drew iron, but Warrior forward Terrell Schlundt scored on the rebound, was fouled by Sluby, and converted the three-point play, making the score 50-48.

"That was the key to the game," said Phelps. "When you've got a five-point lead on the road, you've got to get the defensive rebounds. If you can't do that, it's awful tough to keep a lead."

Tripucka led all scorers with 18 points, despite suffering from a stomach virus which kept him in the locker room for a four-minute stretch late in the game. Paxson and Woolridge had 14 and 10, respectively.

Marquette, Lee and Wilson led Marquette with 15, 12 and 11 points.

The game was close throughout, with Marquette's 24-18 first-half lead marking the largest margin. There were 14 lead changes and eight ties in the contest.

Paul Mulalane

USF 66, ND 63

OAKLAND, Jan. 13 — Notre Dame suffered its second straight defeat within four days as the San Francisco Dons upset the Irish 66-63 in overtime.

Digger Phelps' squad suffered from an attack of cold shooting, hitting less than 50 percent from the field for the first time in the 1980-81 season.

The Irish were also hampered by USF's aggressive 2-3 zone defense, which not only kept the offense from penetrating the lane, but also forced turnovers when the Irish tried to force the ball down to Orlando Woolridge or Kelly Tripucka. Only Tracy Jackson's second half consistency kept the Irish in range, not just on offense but defense as well. Jackson spearheaded a full court press which led to several key USF steals during Notre Dame's late rally.

A three-point play by Woolridge with 4:54 left brought the Irish back from what had been a 11-point deficit, and shortly thereafter, with the game still tied at 54, Phelps directed his offense into its now familiar full-court press. However, the Irish never connected a basket until the final seconds, when Tripucka threw up an off-balanced shot and Varner missed a foul shot.

The lead changed hands often in the overtime period, with USF taking a one-point lead on two Ken McAllen free throws with 14 seconds left. The Irish won patiently for the final shot, and Tripucka had an open 12-footer with four seconds left, but bounced off the front of the rim. Guard Quinton Dailey grabbed the rebound and had the final foul shots assured USF's perfect record against Notre Dame in the Oakland Coliseum.

Continued from page 12

A 1 p.m. quadrangular meet on Saturday with Washington, Lincoln and host Millikin. Notre Dame owns an unblemished 5-0 record against the Irish at 6:35. In the last ACC season, the Irish defeated 5-3 in the ACC last year, and it holds a 12-1 advantage over Washab, including a 29-9 Irish victory during the 1970-80 season. Notre Dame has never battled Lincoln.

Mark Fisher (Buchanan, Mich.; 7-6-1/2) will anchor the Irish defense as well. Jackson spearheaded the 7-5-1) will anchor the Irish defense as well. Jackson spearheaded the 7-5-1) squad's efforts against the Irish for the Notre Dame wrestling team do not appear as bright as expected.

To say that the Irish are at a disadvantage would be an understatement. The squad, which had been ranked high in the country with five starters based on four years of work and the return of two All-Americans, is currently ranked 21st by the Associated Press.

That was the key to the game," said Phelps. "When you've got a five-point lead on the road, you've got to get the defensive rebounds. If you can't do that, it's awful tough to keep a lead."

The Irish travel to Decatur, Ill., for

Grappers face tough uphill battle

By BILL MARQUARD

Sports Writer

With its season barely at the halfway point and a more intensive slate of dual and tournament matches up on tap for the next month and a half, prospects for the Notre Dame wrestling team do not appear as bright as expected.

To say that the Irish are at a disadvantage would be an understatement. The squad, which had been ranked high in the country with five starters based on four years of work and the return of two All-Americans, is currently ranked 21st by the Associated Press.

That was the key to the game," said Phelps. "When you've got a five-point lead on the road, you've got to get the defensive rebounds. If you can't do that, it's awful tough to keep a lead."

The Irish travel to Decatur, Ill., for

ATTENTION PREMIED MAJORS

NEED FINANCIAL ASSISTANCE?

The Air Force needs doctors. So, we may help finance your college education with an Air Force ROTC scholarship.

We have three and two-year scholarships for qualified applicants. These scholarships pay full tuition, lab and incidental fees, books, plus $100 a month (tax free) during the school year. Undergraduate students with baccalaureate degree requirements, you'll be commissioned as an Air Force second lieutenant. When accepted to medical school, additional assistance for medical school expenses is guaranteed with an Armed Forces Health Professions Scholarship.

Contact
Cpt. Gottrich
(283-6635)
For More Information
Contact
Cpt. Gottrich
(283-6635)

For More Information
AIR FORCE
ROTC
Gateway to a great way of life.

Continued from page 12

left Notre Dame behind 17-10, and kept Irish hopes for a win alive.

"In 33 years I've never had a team quit on me," said Devine. And the Irish did not quit.

Sparked by defensive coordinator Joe Yonto's sharp reprimands at halftime, tri-captain Bob Crable and his fellow defenders held the talented Walker to just 26 yards in the final quarter.

It looked like the Irish still had a prayer to go in overtime, but a two-yard touchdown pass by Walker to Steve Roberts made it 150. Even some of the most diehard Irish fans moved up to a higher weight class. One man even made a big deal of the Irish lineup at 150 pounds. Of course, the Irish did not quit.
ND 68, Indiana 64

NOTRE DAME, Dec. 9

The headline read, "Notre Dame defeats Indiana," but they could have easily been written, "Digger defeats Knight." Because this game, a 68-64 Notre Dame victory, belonged to Digger Phelps as much as anyone.

"The game plan beat Indiana," announced forward Kelly Tripucka, who scored 16 points for the Irish. "We knew what we had to do to win and we did it.

The game was billed as a head-to-head clash between Indiana's Hall and Thomas and Notre Dame's John Paxson -- two of college basketball's better point guards. Thomas won the battle of the mat sheet with 12 points to Paxson's 10, but it was the closer contention of most who saw this game that had to satisfy the best of his Hoosier classmate.

"They are two of the best in the country," said Coach Bobby Knight afterwards.

"Beat him," he repeated when pressed, "I'd have to say John had a better game tonight.

"It was an important game for the 3-1 Irish who had dropped a tough one to UCLA on its home court before struggling through three games with opponents hardly worthy of seats on the bench.

"We had to win this one because it was important," said Coach Knight in a team, "commented Paxson afterwards. "It's still is that we had a way to go before the end of the season."

Frank LaGrotta

ND 67, Kentucky 61

LOUISVILLE, Dec. 27 -- It had to be one of the high points in Notre Dame basketball's long, illustrious history.

On this night in Freedom Hall, the Irish put to rest the nay-sayers that they could not beat the Kentucky Wildcats without the long-range help of the media and Kareem Abdul-Jabbar. In fact, a final score of 67-61 showed that Notre Dame's five-eighth Irish cager could manage for a long, long time.

Kelly Tripucka, winner of the Bernie Shively Award given to the game's most valuable player, hit 14 of 18 field goal attempts and 14 of 15 from the line for 30 points -- and nothing do the it. Hall and his band of weary Wildcats came up with little effect. Villa Nova finished 2-7.

"Our game plan was simple," smiled Digger Phelps afterwards. "We knew Notre Dame had fast and wanted to take advantage of it. So we got the ball to him whenever we could and hoped he would either hit his shot or get fouled.

"We played with a tremendous opportunities and what resulted was Notre Dame's first victory over the Wildcats since 1973. Classmates Orlando Woolridge and Tracy Jackson had 15 and 14 points, respectively, to ice a win that Hall was at a loss to explain.

"They did things that we should have stopped," he complained afterwards. "We just didn't play our game tonight.

"However, nothing anyone could say or write would adequately capture the feeling in the Irish locker room after this one.

"You guys are great and you worked hard and you believed in yourselves and each other," Phelps told the players. "You guys made it possible to celebrate Christmas away from home to accomplish this and it is something you will remember for the rest of your lives.

Frank LaGrotta

ND 87, Davidson 67

CHARLOTTE, N.C., Jan. 4 -- Kelly Tripucka connected his scoring spree in warmer climes and the victors in this game were the Davidson Wildcats who fell, 87-67, but for a much less than impressive victory this year, stomping the Notre Dame basketball's long, illustrious Wildcats.

Tripucka had 21 points on a 10-for-14 shooting performance that was complimented by Tracy Jackson's 15 points and Orlando Woolridge's 10.

Notre Dame shot 61 percent from the field as a team, prompting great optimism on the part of Coach Digger Phelps.

"We are right where we want to be at this point in the season," he said afterwards. "It gives the college a lot of confidence and giving a lot of people some playing time. That's what we were hoping for in the beginning.

ND 94, Villanova 65

PHILADELPHIA, Jan. 6 -- Digger Phelps' annual visit to the City of Brotherly Love turned into a romp as the Irish carried their most impressive victory this year, stomping the Villanova Wildcats 94-65.

Led by hot-shooting guard Tracy Jackson (20 points, mostly on soft touch inside 15 feet or more) and benefiting from an injury to Villanova forward Alex Bradley, the Irish led from the opening buzzer. As the game began there was an air of revenge in the sold-out Palestra, the Villanova panthers recapturing last year's Irish victory on Jackson's last-second, 30-foot game-winner without Bradley -- Villanova's leading rebounder and captains -- the Notre Dame from line of 6-9 Orlando Woolridge, 6-6 Kelly Tripucka, and center combination of 6'11 Joe Kleine and 6'10 Tom Andreu consistently limited Vil­lanova to a single shot each time that Cars came up the floor.

The outmanned Wildcats put up a magnificent man-to-man defense to avoid the taller Irish scaled the boards -- grabbing 19 rebounds in the first half alone -- and compelled the Cats to either stand by or commit a foul.

Unfortunately the Wildcats tried to work the ball inside to sophomore center John Pinone. The 6-7 Pinone was able to draw fouls from Woolridge and Tripucka, though not at the same rate he was forced to double them at the other end of the court. He fouled out with 6-55 left in the game with 11 points missing from the charity stripe.

Buckets fell for towers from the Irish starters, (Woolridge 16, John Paxson II, and Tripucka 17), reserves Tom Slaby and Bill Venture also had excellent games. Varner hit double figures with 10 points and the freshman Slaby captured more than his share of rebounds while lending a hand on defense.

An extra treat for the crowd was provided in the game's closing moments by the outside shooting of Notre Dame freshman forward Cecil Bucker. The 6-9 Bucker sank in two picturesque baskets, displaying superb outside shooting ability for a norm.

Mike Maklin led Villanova with 14.

Michael Ompong

Sec IRISH, page 10

Kelly Tripucka scored 21 points in his team's win over Bobby Knight's Hoyas. (Photo by John Macou)
Sugar proves not so sweet for Irish

By BETH HUFFMAN

NEW ORLEANS—Vince Dooley's Irish blood beat out the traditional luck of the Irish as his Georgia Bulldogs met the Little Rock Tolts in the 47th Sugar Bowl Classic. The Bulldogs, recently selected by both the AP and USA as the collegiate football champions for the first time in their history, defeated the Little Rock Irish 17-10.

After a first half that saw the Bulldogs rushing in rushing and passing categories, but it was the turnover and scoring results that gave the game to Dooley's squad. Georgia, which led the nation in takeaways, picked up a fumble, three interceptions (one from Mike Coeary and two from Blaine Kel) and a blocked kickoff return from the Irish.

The Irish also topped Georgia in first downs (17-10) and third down conversions (6-for-20 — 2-for-16). But as Dan Devine appropriately quotes, it's always tough for loyers.

Led by Phil Carr's 109 yards on 27 carries, the Georgia collected 190 yards on the ground. Georgia's freshman quarterback Greg McGhee was 11-for-23 for 265 yards and scored two touchdowns.

The Irish defense sacked Mcgee four times into the game with an empty net goal with just 20 seconds to play. Irish goalie Tevag Lawton, needing just four saves in the third period, totaled 26 for the game. Polman Tuan stopped 22 shots.

ND icers fall to 9-12-1

By BRIAN BEGLANE

HOUGHTON, Mich. — The Notre Dame hockey team pulled a Dr. Jekyll and Mr. Hyde caper last night in the ACC as the two schools met for the second time that has left Irish coach Mary DiStanislao's squad hitting .500 for good at 13:41 as the evening wore on. Notre Dame dropped to 7-7-0 record and is tied for the seventh place in the WCHA record (9-12-1 overall).

Coach Mary DiStanislao's club has played very well of late," says DiStanislao. "We're not as consistent as I would like us to be 10 games into the season," admits DiStanislao. "We played well against loss (a 69-65 victory) and had back-to-back strong efforts at Davidson and Villanova (a 70-57 loss), but four days ago Marquette, a team that I thought we should have beaten, handled us with ease."

"This is an interesting point in the season for us," DiStanislao says. "We have to regroup, and we're going to do it without Jan, which won't be easy."

One player DiStanislao is hoping to see fill the void created by Crowe's departure is forward Tricia McMans (Oak Ridge, Tenn.). A 5-9, 160-pounder, McMans has shown flashes of brilliance in the 5.2 points and 6.3 rebounds per game average. DiStanislao says she's a great athlete and impressive about other McMans's play. DiStanislao, who has played in 26 games and scored 101 points (44 assists), has played well against her.

"Hershel Walker is even greater when you see him in person than when you see him on the films," said DiStanislao, who ended his coaching career at Notre Dame with a 5-16-1 record and 7-17-5 in ACC.

DiStanislao also is looking for her team to switch the momentum to its side with the his Georgia Bulldog championship hopes. The only other Irish scoring came in a Notre Dame 3-0 ear-lier Georgia managed to close down Notre Dame's main scoring threats.

"I think we have a good chance of winning in New Orleans," DiStanislao says. "But as Dan Devine appropriately quotes, it's always tough for loyers.

DiStanislao also is looking for her team to switch the momentum to its side with the his Georgia Bulldog championship hopes. The only other Irish scoring came in a Notre Dame 3-0 ear-lier Georgia managed to close down Notre Dame's main scoring threats.

"I think we have a good chance of winning in New Orleans," DiStanislao says. "But as Dan Devine appropriately quotes, it's always tough for loyers.

The Notre Dame women's basketball team defeated Taylor 77-71 last night in the ACC as the two schools met for the first time ever.

Sophomore Shavon Marbury pumped in 21 points for the Irish as he led six players in double figures to set a new career scoring record of 606. Marbury surpassed 1980 graduate Jane Politzki's career scoring mark of 672.

Freshman Molly Ryan chipped in 14 points for Mary DiStanislao's Irish, going seven-for-nine from the floor.

We have to regroup, and we're going to do it without Jan, which won't be easy."

One player DiStanislao is hoping to see fill the void created by Crowe's departure is forward Tricia McMans (Oak Ridge, Tenn.), a 5-foot-9, 160-pounder. McMans has shown flashes of brilliance in the 5.2 points and 6.3 rebounds per game average. DiStanislao says she's a great athlete and impressive about other McMans's play. DiStanislao, who has played in 26 games and scored 101 points (43 assists), has played well against her.

"Hershel Walker is even greater when you see him in person than when you see him on the films," says DiStanislao, who ended his coaching career at Notre Dame with a 5-16-1 record and 7-17-5 in ACC.

DiStanislao also is looking for her team to switch the momentum to its side with the his Georgia Bulldog championship hopes. The only other Irish scoring came in a Notre Dame 3-0 ear-lier Georgia managed to close down Notre Dame's main scoring threats.

"I think we have a good chance of winning in New Orleans," DiStanislao says. "But as Dan Devine appropriately quotes, it's always tough for loyers.

The Notre Dame women's basketball team defeated Taylor 77-71 last night in the ACC as the two schools met for the first time ever.

Sophomore Shavon Marbury pumped in 21 points for the Irish as he led six players in double figures to set a new career scoring record of 606. Marbury surpassed 1980 graduate Jane Politzki's career scoring mark of 672.

Freshman Molly Ryan chipped in 14 points for Mary DiStanislao's Irish, going seven-for-nine from the floor.

"We're not as consistent as I would like us to be 10 games into the season," admits DiStanislao. "We played well against loss (a 69-65 victory) and had back-to-back strong efforts at Davidson and Villanova (a 70-57 loss), but four days ago Marquette, a team that I thought we should have beaten, handled us with ease."

"This is an interesting point in the season for us," DiStanislao says. "We have to regroup, and we're going to do it without Jan, which won't be easy."

One player DiStanislao is hoping to see fill the void created by Crowe's departure is forward Tricia McMans (Oak Ridge, Tenn.), a 5-foot-9, 160-pounder. McMans has shown flashes of brilliance in the 5.2 points and 6.3 rebounds per game average. DiStanislao says she's a great athlete and impressive about other McMans's play. DiStanislao, who has played in 26 games and scored 101 points (43 assists), has played well against her.

"Hershel Walker is even greater when you see him in person than when you see him on the films," says DiStanislao, who ended his coaching career at Notre Dame with a 5-16-1 record and 7-17-5 in ACC.

DiStanislao also is looking for her team to switch the momentum to its side with the his Georgia Bulldog championship hopes. The only other Irish scoring came in a Notre Dame 3-0 ear-lier Georgia managed to close down Notre Dame's main scoring threats.

"I think we have a good chance of winning in New Orleans," DiStanislao says. "But as Dan Devine appropriately quotes, it's always tough for loyers.

The Notre Dame women's basketball team defeated Taylor 77-71 last night in the ACC as the two schools met for the first time ever.

Sophomore Shavon Marbury pumped in 21 points for the Irish as he led six players in double figures to set a new career scoring record of 606. Marbury surpassed 1980 graduate Jane Politzki's career scoring mark of 672.

Freshman Molly Ryan chipped in 14 points for Mary DiStanislao's Irish, going seven-for-nine from the floor.