Flames sweep Hilton; eight die in Las Vegas

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP) — Arsonists set the four fires that swept through the giant Las Vegas hotel and casino, starting a window and pouring out the side of the hotel, authorities said yesterday. Eight people died and 194 were injured.

"The hotel MGM Grand Fire hotel which claimed 84 lives Nov. 21, "building codes were not a factor in either point of origin or spread of fire," Las Vegas Fire Chief Roy Barnish told reporters.

Parish said fire hoses on the ninth floor were severed, stuffed with flammable material and set afire.

Hilton-House Corps. Vice President. Henri Lewin offered a $100,000 reward for information leading to the apprehension of the arsonists.

"This is a horrific investigation. This is one of the worst investigations," Gov. Bob List said as hundreds of fire

Reagan, Cabinet debate budget

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Reagan gave three Cabinet secretaries a chance yesterday to make direct appeals before he finally decides where his budget cutting will fall.

But Deputy White House press secretary Karol M. Smith said there were no fundamental disagreements on spending reductions and that when the meeting broke up, the president, his aides and the Cabinet members "were looking for additional cuts."

"With one week to go before he unveils his plan to slash as much as $50 billion from proposed 1982 budget increases, the president is focusing almost entirely on the economy."

Reagan met in the White House Cabinet Room with Agriculture Secretary John Block, Interior Secretary James Watt and Richard Schieffer, secretary of the Department of Health and Human Services. He will hold several such sessions with Cabinet members.

Energy Secretary James Edwards was present, but his budget had not been taken up when the 90 minutes allotted for the meeting elapsed.

Reagan, with a red plastic, bushel-sized binder open on the table in front of him, posed for pictures with his advisers at the start of the meeting, but made no public comments.

Ms. Smith, who did not attend, would only describe the target area for additional budget cuts as that of "administrative overhead."

"They did conclude that some more cuts were possible, and still protect the truly needy," she said.

"The administration's catchword to defend itself against suggestions that those dependent on good faith assistance will suffer under the president's budget cuts."

Ms. Smith defined the "truly needy" as "those people who have a very difficult time surviving without the benefit of the programs."

In their search for further budget cuts, the Cabinet members were conferencing with budget director David A. Stockman, who sat next to Reagan at the meeting yesterday.

"They were told to go back and work out the details," Ms. Smith said.

Stockman said Tuesday that big business and upper-income individuals will not escape the Reagan's budget reductions, which he said will cut federal spending on health and welfare programs by $100 billion, as well as such social programs as food stamps, unemployment assistance and Medicaid.

His comments came at a Cabinet meeting Tuesday that no cuts would be made in seven social assistance programs representing about $120 billion in spending, or be tween one-fourth and one-third of the $759.3 billion budget proposed by former President Jimmy Carter for the fiscal year that begins Oct. 1.

Sponsors...Continues boycott

ANAD offers help to anorexia victims

Anorexia Nervosa and Associated Disorders (ANAD) offers helper to anorexia victims. The group, which has an additional conference program, is a support group for anorexia nervosa and associated disorders.

ANAD offers counseling and guidance for individuals and families of those with anorexia nervosa and associated disorders, and assists the group in finding appropriate treatment for those with the condition.

Editor's Note: Anorexia Nervosa is a disease that affects thousands of college students, mostly aged 15 to 25. The disease is characterized by a persistent desire to be thin, often accompanied by extreme fear of weight gain. The disease can be fatal, and ANAD encourages those affected to seek immediate medical attention.

Anorexia nervosa is a disease that affects thousands of college students, mostly aged 15 to 25. It is characterized by an intense fear of weight gain accompanied by a loss of appetite and an increased desire for food. It can be caused by a variety of factors, including stress, low self-esteem, depression, or trauma.

The disease can be treated with medical supervision and therapy, but recovery is difficult and often requires a long-term commitment.

Anorexia nervosa is a disease that affects thousands of college students, mostly aged 15 to 25. It is characterized by an intense fear of weight gain accompanied by a loss of appetite and an increased desire for food. It can be caused by a variety of factors, including stress, low self-esteem, depression, or trauma.

The disease can be treated with medical supervision and therapy, but recovery is difficult and often requires a long-term commitment.

Anorexia nervosa is a disease that affects thousands of college students, mostly aged 15 to 25. It is characterized by an intense fear of weight gain accompanied by a loss of appetite and an increased desire for food. It can be caused by a variety of factors, including stress, low self-esteem, depression, or trauma.

The disease can be treated with medical supervision and therapy, but recovery is difficult and often requires a long-term commitment. The disease can be treated with medical supervision and therapy, but recovery is difficult and often requires a long-term commitment.

Anorexia nervosa is a disease that affects thousands of college students, mostly aged 15 to 25. It is characterized by an intense fear of weight gain accompanied by a loss of appetite and an increased desire for food. It can be caused by a variety of factors, including stress, low self-esteem, depression, or trauma.

The disease can be treated with medical supervision and therapy, but recovery is difficult and often requires a long-term commitment. The disease can be treated with medical supervision and therapy, but recovery is difficult and often requires a long-term commitment.

Anorexia nervosa is a disease that affects thousands of college students, mostly aged 15 to 25. It is characterized by an intense fear of weight gain accompanied by a loss of appetite and an increased desire for food. It can be caused by a variety of factors, including stress, low self-esteem, depression, or trauma.

The disease can be treated with medical supervision and therapy, but recovery is difficult and often requires a long-term commitment. The disease can be treated with medical supervision and therapy, but recovery is difficult and often requires a long-term commitment.
The power of the polls

Political opinion polls have become one of the most important decision factors in the modern electoral process. Yet, we actually know very little about them. These polls determine how millions of dollars will be spent in the campaign, whether up until the last day some candidates will or will not be run, and whether the losers will be in fact defeated. It is often said that the winner is not determined by the poll, but in fact, by the factors behind the poll. This is an important point to consider when evaluating the impact of polls.

Synthetic marijuana pills

Political polls are used to measure public opinion and predict election outcomes. They are considered to be an important tool for political campaigns and elections, as they provide insights into the preferences and attitudes of voters.

Electric rates are going up

The effect of synthetic marijuana pills on public opinion is not a new phenomenon. In recent years, synthetic marijuana pills have become increasingly popular among teenagers and young adults. These pills are often advertised as a safe and legal alternative to marijuana, but their effects can be just as dangerous.

Adopting a management tool

The first scientific poll was conducted in 1936 by the Associated Press and the New York Times. The poll asked voters to indicate their preference for either Wendell Willkie or Franklin D. Roosevelt. The results showed that Roosevelt was leading by a significant margin.

Deadly winds push heavy thunderstorms

The poll was important because it was the first time that a scientific method was used to measure public opinion. This method involved a random sample of voters, which ensured that the results were representative of the overall population.

Sunny and cold today.

In 1948, the first Gallup poll was conducted, and it showed that the winner of the election was not decided until the last few days. This poll was a turning point in the study of public opinion, as it showed how much the outcome of an election could be influenced by polling data.

The Observer

The Observer is a student publication that covers local news and events. It is published weekly and is distributed to students, faculty, and staff on campus.

Starkweather meddles in Associated Press story

The Associated Press (AP) is a news wire service that provides news and information to newspapers, television stations, and other media outlets around the world.

Montgomery

Montgomery is the largest city in Alabama and the county seat of Montgomery County. It is located in the south-central part of the state and is known for its rich history and culture.

Observer Note:

The Observer is a student publication that covers local news and events. It is published weekly and is distributed to students, faculty, and staff on campus.

Montgomery Elevator Company

Montgomery Elevator Company is a manufacturer of elevators, escalators, and other vertical transportation systems. The company was founded in 1899 and is headquartered in North Carolina.

Wed. Feb. 12

Wednesday, February 12, 1981 — page 2

Cynthia Dwyer, who said she likes Iran and its people and "would return if possible" despite a nine-month stay in an Iranian prison, returned to the United States today to be greeted by her husband and three children. Airport police hustled them to a nearby conference room. She was met at the airport gate by her husband and three children. Airport police hustled them to a nearby conference room. She was met at the airport gate by her husband and three children.

Records for low temperatures were set or matched in at least a dozen places, including Wyoming, New Mexico, and Arizona. A weather station in at least a dozen places, including Wyoming, New Mexico, and Arizona. A weather station in Wyoming reported a temperature of 42 degrees Fahrenheit, while a station in New Mexico recorded a temperature of 35 degrees Fahrenheit.

"I love Iran and its people, I would return if possible," she said.

AP

Electric rates are going up

Electric rates are going up 50 to 70 percent across Massachusetts this year because of price increases for the fuel oil the utilities burn. The average rate increase for the largest electricity distributor, Massachusetts Electric Co., said it will charge customers about 50 percent more, while other smaller companies are raising rates between 70 and 80 percent.

"It's un­

A firey explosion

A firey explosion occurred inside a chemical plant yesterday, buckling surrounding walls, crumbling roofs, and burning debris into the sky. One man was killed and 24 people were injured in the blast. The plant, located near Boston, is owned by Dupont, a chemical company. The explosion was caused by a chemical reaction that produced toxic fumes.

Adopting a management tool

A company that is adopting a management tool is the Massachusetts Institute of Technology (MIT). The company is using a computer software program that helps employees to manage their daily tasks.

Deadly winds push heavy thunderstorms

Deadly winds pushed heavy thunderstorms out of the Great Lakes yesterday after durn­

Sunny and cold today.

The temperature is expected to reach the mid-teens today, with mostly sunny skies and a high of 40 degrees. The chance of precipitation is low, with only a 20 percent chance of rain or snow. The wind is expected to be calm, with light winds from the east.

The Observer

The Observer is a student publication that covers local news and events. It is published weekly and is distributed to students, faculty, and staff on campus.

The Observer

Cynthia Dwyer, who said she likes Iran and its people and "would return if possible" despite a nine-month stay in an Iranian prison, returned to the United States today to be greeted by her husband and three children. Airport police hustled them to a nearby conference room. She was met at the airport gate by her husband and three children.
McNeal cites inconsistency

By SUSAN KING
News Staff

Patricia McNeal, a history professor at Indiana University at South Bend, delivered a lecture entitled, "Living with Catholics and Peace," last night in Carroll Hall at Saint Mary's.
The lecture was one in a series sponsored by the Justice Education Committee.

Ms. McNeal began her lecture by stating her stance on peace. She said, "I am an optimist and one of those other radical terms one identifies with the peace movement." McNeal went on to explain the history of American Catholics and how there has been little opposition to wars. Emphasizing most Catholics' apathetic stance on peace issues, Ms. McNeal said, "Catholics have always been very good people, they want big guns."

When asked what she was personally doing in the movement, Ms.
McNeal replied, "I haven't been doing very much lately. I'm conscious­ ing about it and have made a commitment to the cause." She added, "My kids aren't going to go to war."

The professor concluded her lecture by saying, "There is some­thing in all of us that says we must be the strongest. We are the only ones to use a nuclear weapon because no one else had one at the time."

Ms. McNeal has a Ph.D. from Temple University and was an adiministrative assistant on a program for non-violence at Notre Dame.

"If you survey them, they want big guns," Coppola said. "And if you survey them, they don't want big guns."

"We did it this way in which the students had a practical, challenging and rewarding career in just three months—as an Employee Benefit Specialist."

Benefits today amount from 30 to 35 percent of wages and salaries. Recent pension legislation has created even more demand for trained specialists. As an Employee Benefit Specialist you'll be called upon to exercise your own judgement, initiative and intelligence in a challenging, professional environment with progressive responsibility.

The Institute for Employee Benefits Training is the first and most prestigious school in the United States, training Employee Benefits and Pension Specialists. This is a dynamic, growing career field in which advancement does not require an advanced degree. Our graduates are in demand by law firms, pension consulting firms, insurance companies, banks, and personnel and benefits departments of corporations. The Institute's Placement Service will place you too. If not, you will be eligible for a substantial tuition refund.

Furthermore, you will earn graduate credit towards a Master of Arts in Legal Studies through Antioch School of Law for all course work completed at The Institute.

If you're a senior of high academic standing and looking for a meaningful career, contact your Placement Office for our catalog and arrange to have an interview with our rep­resentative.

We will visit your campus on:

FRIDAY, FEBRUARY 27, 1981

recruitment will take place on

St. Mary's campus

The Institute for Employee Benefits Training

235 South 17th Street
Philadelphia, Pennsylvania 19103
(215) 732-6600

Approved by The American Bar Association

Programs Earn Full Credit Toward M.A. in Legal Studies through Antioch School of Law.

---

GOOD TIME PIZZA

formerly Pasquale Rulli

232-1883

$2.00 off large pizza

DELIVERED IN HEATED CONTAINERS TO CAMPUS

---

NOTRE DAME STUDENT UNION'S SPRING BREAK IN DAYTONA BEACH

THINK ABOUT IT! GUARANTEED TO BE A GREAT TRIP

LAST FEW DAYS TO START SIGNING UP
Denies connections

Sinatras wins casino license

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP) — Frank Sinatra won an enormous approval from a hearing board yesterday for a limited license to become a casino executive again, after a little help from his friends, including actors Robert Mitchum, Gregory Peck and Kirk Douglas.

The Nevada Gaming Control Board recommended the state Gaming Commission approve his application, which it probably will do, based on its Feb. 19 meeting with Sinatra’s request for a license as a “key employee” at Caesar’s Palace hotel-casino.

The decision suggested by the board was a six-month license to see whether Sinatra can keep his temper under control and avoid problems that led to the revocation of his license last year.

“Maybe he has changed a little bit,” said board member Dale Auken. “But a little before I could put the stamp of approval on Mr. Sinatra, he would have to condition it on a limited period for monitoring.”

After the ruling, Sinatra rose and shook hands with each member of the panel, then hurried from the hearing room as if to feel very happy.

In three hours of testimony, Sinatra denied he was a member of the Mafia or ever received illegal kickbacks.

Sinatra conceded that he had met the late Chicago Outfit leader Sam “Momo” Giancana on several occasions and had played golf with him at Palm Springs, Calif., but he said there had never been a business deal between the two.

The clinician insisted that any perceived anorectic be given a complete physical, and that the clinical decision is the symptom because it is physically dangerous. Psychiatrists denied he was fronting for Giancana.

In announcing the decision, Board Chairman Richard Banker said there had been some unresolved issue on Sinatra’s part.

“I am not suggesting he has been a sinner by any means, but in the areas we have investigated, I have not found any substantive reason he should not be granted a license. In the gaming business, we are not going to have a group of choir boys,” Banker said.

The hearing was conducted at city hall in downtown Las Vegas, far from Sinatra’s home, and dissatisfied Sinatra people died in the Tuesday night fire at the Sands Hotel.

“Sinatra auditorium,” he said, “I believed he was in Los Angeles making a movie at the time.”

Women highlight BCAF

Actress Cicely Tyson and Marva Collins, Chicago’s ‘miracle teacher,’ highlighted the 1981 Black Cultural Arts Festival at Notre Dame.

Ms. Tyson will deliver dramatic readings and dialogue next Wednesday in the Memorial Library Auditorium. Ms. Tyson will speak on Wednesday, Feb. 25 at 7 p.m. also in the library.

The Tony award winning actress is currently making a movie about Mr. Griffin, a Chicago elementary school teacher, for the Warren Preparatory School. Both Ms. Tyson and Mr. Griffin are featured in the February issue of Ebony magazine.

Several other nationally-known entertainers will make appearances during the month-long festival, a celebration of Black History Month. The goal of the annual festival is to provide an awareness of the Black cultural experience, an understanding of various aspects of Black life, and to focus on the achievements and talents of Black Americans.

Rev. Theodore M. Hesburgh, Notre Dame president, will attend the opening event, a gospel song program entitled “Gospel: A Musical Prayer,” on Sunday, Feb. 15. Several South Bend area churches will perform during the program in the Memorial Library Auditorium beginning at 7 p.m.

On Saturday, Feb. 25 entertainer Gil Scott-Heron, who featured in a solo performance of music and poetry in the Library last year, will perform. The unique sounds of the Jazz Tatum Trio will also be performed in Washington Hall.

Notre Dame students will make their debut performance on Sunday, Feb. 27 at 5 p.m. in the Student Union. The students’ inclusion of the festival events will be a student fashion show with the theme: “Welcome To My World.” The fashion show will be on March 7 in the Monogram Room of the Athletic and Convocation Center at 8 p.m. Ticket prices will be announced.

Events other than the fashion show are free. All events are open to the public.

Chairpersons of the thirty-seventh annual festival are students Darlene Sowell, senior, Columbus, Ohio, and David Terrence, junior, from New Orleans, Louisiana.
General heads government

The appointment of Jaruzelski, who has been minister of defense for 12 years and appeared before Parliament in full uniform, was seen as a message of reassurance to the Soviets and other Warsaw pact allies. They have been sharply critical of the independent trade unions formed after last summer's strikes and have accused some union leaders and dissident advisers of staging a "frontal attack" on the Polish Communist party.

The criticism and the massing of Soviet troops along Poland's borders have raised fears in the West that the Kremlin might signal a moment of reassessment toward social organizations and in exercising constitutional rights of the state's power.

Meanwhile, leaders of the independent union Solidarity prepared for a meeting today in Gdansk to discuss recent party attacks against the union and the Supreme Court's decision Tuesday rejection of private farmers' demand to register a nationwide Rural Solidarity as a trade union.

---

SU sponsors contest

The coffeeshop is in a near reality but it needs a catchy name and emblem. The Student Union is sponsoring a logo design contest with a $25 prize for the winning selection. All designs should be submitted on 9 x 12 paper to the secretary in the Student Union office on the 2nd floor of LaFortune. Deadline for all entries is Monday.

---

McBrien wins award

Catholicism is a two-volume work treating the development and continuity of theological thought in the Roman Catholic Church. has won a Christopher award for its author, Rev. Richard McBrien. Chairman of the Theology Department at the University of Notre Dame, Father McBrien, a priest of the diocese of Hartford, Conn., also holds the Crowley-O'Brien-Walter chair at the University. Catholicism was published in May, 1980, by Winston Press in Minneapolis and has sold more than 25,000 copies in hardcover. A paperback edition will be issued this summer.

Christopher awards are given annually for books, films, and television programs that affirm the highest values of the human spirit, exhibit artistic and technical proficiency, and gain significant public acceptance. Father McBrien and other award winners will be honored at a reception February 26 in New York City.
WASHINGTON — Every "C-" and "D" student in America should be made a charter member of the William F. Clark Fan Club. President Reagan's nominee as deputy secretary of state, the second highest position in the department, has demonstrated that he knows less about foreign affairs than any college freshman who regularly scans the pictures in Newsweek.

Clark told the Senate Foreign Relations Committee that he didn't know the most elementary facts about American foreign policy. In confirmation hearings, he declared that "I don't know what you know but you know that I don't know any views on foreign policy." Clark's ability to work well with his opposite number on the Security Council, a fellow Democrat, has been seriously compromised.

Dr. Adolph Hitler felt that he was the "right stuff" — the "proper outlook on life." He was wrong. He didn't have the proper outlook on life. He certainly did not have the proper outlook on American foreign policy.

Clark's ability to work well with the president far outweighs his incompetence. But is a top policy-making position at the State Department the place for a novice?

I am surprised that in his years of Service, Clark has not yet happened upon the notion that there is little a candidate can do in the way of world policy that is going to hurt the American people. I am glad to see that Clark didn't know anything when I started on the Senate Agriculture Committee. He couldn't have been worse in a job of which he didn't know anything.

Chairman John Glenn, a former astronaut, asked Clark how many times he had traveled to Russia. Clark said he had traveled there only once. "At the ceiling for an answer," I thought, "like any school kid does when in trouble."

Chairman Glenn then asked Clark about the Middle East. "We've been at war in the Middle East 14 times," replied Clark. "I don't know what you know but you know that I don't know anything." But his ignorance of even the most elementary facts is a disgrace to the Reagan administration.

I am glad to see that Clark's confirmation hearing was like the one on "The Hollywood Squares." Over the years, we've seen a number of candidates for top policy-making positions of the federal government respond to questions about their lack of knowledge with the following question: "I don't know what you know but you know that I don't know anything."

When asked to define strength, Clark offered a textbook answer: "Strength can be a lot of things — economic, military and political."

At day's end, Sen. Glenn summed up the committee's mood: "This has been one of the most unenjoyable days I've spent in the Senate."

Surely, Justice Clark's testimony proves one thing to every student in America: It's not what you know but who you know that counts.

Clark's history is a testiment to the weaknesses of the U.S. foreign policy. "It has been that there might not be any agreement about what a "realistic" assessment of human nature is."

My experience has been that there are few people who consciously act against their own conception of the way the world is. In Adolf Hitler's case, he had trouble looking at the world in a realistic manner, and he had strong support from his countrymen and other leaders in the world. I do not believe that the prime minister of South Africa, who doesn't know everything, has been tricked by any of the less-than-ideal conceptions of the presidential elections by The Observer. However, the assumption of rectitude which underpins the "realist" view is weakened by the inability of the prime ministers of either South Africa or Zimbabwe. He was also unaware of the

I am not surprised that in his years of Service, Clark has not yet happened upon the notion that there is little a candidate can do in the way of world policy that is going to hurt the American people. I am glad to see that Clark didn't know anything when I started on the Senate Agriculture Committee. He couldn't have been worse in a job of which he didn't know anything.

Chairman John Glenn, a former astronaut, asked Clark how many times he had traveled to Russia. Clark said he had traveled there only once. "At the ceiling for an answer," I thought, "like any school kid does when in trouble."

Chairman Glenn then asked Clark about the Middle East. "We've been at war in the Middle East 14 times," replied Clark. "I don't know what you know but you know that I don't know anything." But his ignorance of even the most elementary facts is a disgrace to the Reagan administration.

I am glad to see that Clark's confirmation hearing was like the one on "The Hollywood Squares." Over the years, we've seen a number of candidates for top policy-making positions of the federal government respond to questions about their lack of knowledge with the following question: "I don't know what you know but you know that I don't know anything."

When asked to define strength, Clark offered a textbook answer: "Strength can be a lot of things — economic, military and political."

At day's end, Sen. Glenn summed up the committee's mood: "This has been one of the most unenjoyable days I've spent in the Senate."

Surely, Justice Clark's testimony proves one thing to every student in America: It's not what you know but who you know that counts.

Clark's history is a testiment to the weaknesses of the U.S. foreign policy. "It has been that there might not be any agreement about what a "realistic" assessment of human nature is."

My experience has been that there are few people who consciously act against their own conception of the way the world is. In Adolf Hitler's case, he had trouble looking at the world in a realistic manner, and he had strong support from his countrymen and other leaders in the world. I do not believe that the prime minister of South Africa, who doesn't know everything, has been tricked by any of the less-than-ideal conceptions of the presidential elections by The Observer. However, the assumption of rectitude which underpins the "realist" view is weakened by the inability of the prime ministers of either South Africa or Zimbabwe. He was also unaware of the

I am not surprised that in his years of Service, Clark has not yet happened upon the notion that there is little a candidate can do in the way of world policy that is going to hurt the American people. I am glad to see that Clark didn't know anything when I started on the Senate Agriculture Committee. He couldn't have been worse in a job of which he didn't know anything.

Chairman John Glenn, a former astronaut, asked Clark how many times he had traveled to Russia. Clark said he had traveled there only once. "At the ceiling for an answer," I thought, "like any school kid does when in trouble."

Chairman Glenn then asked Clark about the Middle East. "We've been at war in the Middle East 14 times," replied Clark. "I don't know what you know but you know that I don't know anything." But his ignorance of even the most elementary facts is a disgrace to the Reagan administration.

I am glad to see that Clark's confirmation hearing was like the one on "The Hollywood Squares." Over the years, we've seen a number of candidates for top policy-making positions of the federal government respond to questions about their lack of knowledge with the following question: "I don't know what you know but you know that I don't know anything."

When asked to define strength, Clark offered a textbook answer: "Strength can be a lot of things — economic, military and political."

At day's end, Sen. Glenn summed up the committee's mood: "This has been one of the most unenjoyable days I've spent in the Senate."

Surely, Justice Clark's testimony proves one thing to every student in America: It's not what you know but who you know that counts.

Clark's history is a testiment to the weaknesses of the U.S. foreign policy. "It has been that there might not be any agreement about what a "realistic" assessment of human nature is."

My experience has been that there are few people who consciously act against their own conception of the way the world is. In Adolf Hitler's case, he had trouble looking at the world in a realistic manner, and he had strong support from his countrymen and other leaders in the world. I do not believe that the prime minister of South Africa, who doesn't know everything, has been tricked by any of the less-than-ideal conceptions of the presidential elections by The Observer. However, the assumption of rectitude which underpins the "realist" view is weakened by the inability of the prime ministers of either South Africa or Zimbabwe. He was also unaware of the
Dear Editor,

For as far as I know, the only 100 percent effective method of birth control is abstinence. If the Church would give the go-ahead to this method, it would only increase sexual activity amongst "single" Catholics and, therefore, due to the fallibility of modern contraception, increase our number of abortions, an increase which Ms. Daley seems to think that birth control can prevent.

I would like to comment on Ms. Daley's pointed finger towards the "Black & White" Church not being "gre" enough for society. May I point out that it is in the Church's duty to supply concrete guidelines, and it is our conscience which is to make the final decision from these black & white directives, and thereby, act as our "gray" matter. The Church is not reaching in a popularity contest, but is attempting to give the best answers to today's problems, regardless of what "most Americans" feel.

In closing, may I refer to Ms. Daley's comment that it is "easy to attack," that abortion is immoral and unjust. But no one is listening.

Michael Daprata
Brian Crouch
Features

Blondie

Autoamerican (Chrysalis)

Since its inception, Blondie has been an innovative and influential band in rock music. Its members, Debbie Harry and Chris Stein, have always sought to push the boundaries of the genre, blending punk, new wave, and other styles to create a unique sound. The band's debut album, "Blondie," was released in 1977 and included hits such as "Heart of Glass" and "In The Flesh." Their subsequent albums, such as "Autoamerican," expanded their sound and accessibility, making them a major force in the punk rock scene.

Duke Tumatoe: a South Bend Favorite

The average Doomer, rock music means Bruce Springsteen, Lynyrd Skynyrd, and ZZ Top. But if one were to ask the average South Bend resident who his/her favorite rock artist was, Duke Tumatoe's name would be mentioned. You haven't heard of him? Don't worry, you're not alone. Duke Tumatoe is known for his sincere performances and his ability to connect with his audience. The Tumatoe crowd is happy to oblige Duke with hoarse growls and enthusiastic participation.

Quiz Twelve: One-Hit Wonders

Monday's quiz was interesting in that there were a couple of questions that almost anybody could answer — numbers 4, 5, and 6. But for those who really wanted to test their knowledge, this quiz had a few surprises. Question 10 was particularly tricky and required some research.

---

Tim Neely

Features Writer

Music trivia

---

Michael Onufrauk

Thursday, February 12, 1981 — page 8

---

Blondie

Autoamerican (Chrysalis)

Since its inception, Blondie has been an innovative and influential band in rock music. Its members, Debbie Harry and Chris Stein, have always sought to push the boundaries of the genre, blending punk, new wave, and other styles to create a unique sound. The band's debut album, "Blondie," was released in 1977 and included hits such as "Heart of Glass" and "In The Flesh." Their subsequent albums, such as "Autoamerican," expanded their sound and accessibility, making them a major force in the punk rock scene.

Duke Tumatoe: a South Bend Favorite

The average Doomer, rock music means Bruce Springsteen, Lynyrd Skynyrd, and ZZ Top. But if one were to ask the average South Bend resident who his/her favorite rock artist was, Duke Tumatoe's name would be mentioned. You haven't heard of him? Don't worry, you're not alone. Duke Tumatoe is known for his sincere performances and his ability to connect with his audience. The Tumatoe crowd is happy to oblige Duke with hoarse growls and enthusiastic participation.

Quiz Twelve: One-Hit Wonders

Monday's quiz was interesting in that there were a couple of questions that almost anybody could answer — numbers 4, 5, and 6. But for those who really wanted to test their knowledge, this quiz had a few surprises. Question 10 was particularly tricky and required some research.

---

Tim Neely

Features Writer

Music trivia

---

Michael Onufrauk

Thursday, February 12, 1981 — page 8

---

Blondie

Autoamerican (Chrysalis)

Since its inception, Blondie has been an innovative and influential band in rock music. Its members, Debbie Harry and Chris Stein, have always sought to push the boundaries of the genre, blending punk, new wave, and other styles to create a unique sound. The band's debut album, "Blondie," was released in 1977 and included hits such as "Heart of Glass" and "In The Flesh." Their subsequent albums, such as "Autoamerican," expanded their sound and accessibility, making them a major force in the punk rock scene.

Duke Tumatoe: a South Bend Favorite

The average Doomer, rock music means Bruce Springsteen, Lynyrd Skynyrd, and ZZ Top. But if one were to ask the average South Bend resident who his/her favorite rock artist was, Duke Tumatoe's name would be mentioned. You haven't heard of him? Don't worry, you're not alone. Duke Tumatoe is known for his sincere performances and his ability to connect with his audience. The Tumatoe crowd is happy to oblige Duke with hoarse growls and enthusiastic participation.

Quiz Twelve: One-Hit Wonders

Monday's quiz was interesting in that there were a couple of questions that almost anybody could answer — numbers 4, 5, and 6. But for those who really wanted to test their knowledge, this quiz had a few surprises. Question 10 was particularly tricky and required some research.

---

Tim Neely

Features Writer

Music trivia

---

Michael Onufrauk

Thursday, February 12, 1981 — page 8

---

Blondie

Autoamerican (Chrysalis)

Since its inception, Blondie has been an innovative and influential band in rock music. Its members, Debbie Harry and Chris Stein, have always sought to push the boundaries of the genre, blending punk, new wave, and other styles to create a unique sound. The band's debut album, "Blondie," was released in 1977 and included hits such as "Heart of Glass" and "In The Flesh." Their subsequent albums, such as "Autoamerican," expanded their sound and accessibility, making them a major force in the punk rock scene.

Duke Tumatoe: a South Bend Favorite

The average Doomer, rock music means Bruce Springsteen, Lynyrd Skynyrd, and ZZ Top. But if one were to ask the average South Bend resident who his/her favorite rock artist was, Duke Tumatoe's name would be mentioned. You haven't heard of him? Don't worry, you're not alone. Duke Tumatoe is known for his sincere performances and his ability to connect with his audience. The Tumatoe crowd is happy to oblige Duke with hoarse growls and enthusiastic participation.

Quiz Twelve: One-Hit Wonders

Monday's quiz was interesting in that there were a couple of questions that almost anybody could answer — numbers 4, 5, and 6. But for those who really wanted to test their knowledge, this quiz had a few surprises. Question 10 was particularly tricky and required some research.

---

Tim Neely

Features Writer

Music trivia

---

Michael Onufrauk

Thursday, February 12, 1981 — page 8
Thursday, February 12, 1981 — page 9

Molarity

PSYCHOLOGY ALLOWS US TO IDENTIFY AND CATEGORIZE CERTAIN BEHAVIORAL TENDENCIES. MAY I MAKE THE ADJACENT SLIDE PLEASE?

PIA EXAMPLE, FROM TESTS, WE CAN DETERMINE THAT THIS PERSON EITHER...

SUFFERS FROM A STRANGE PROCEDURE WHICH MANIFESTS ITSELF IN INNATE AND PERVERSE ACTS OF PREJUDICE-VIOLENCE OR...

Michael Molinelli

[Image of a crossword puzzle]

Molarity Crossword

ACROSS

1 Fast planes
2 Strike
3 John
4 Passos
5 Donovan
6 Split
7 Land
8 Square
9 Top drawer
10 Top drawer
11 Desire
12 Desire
13 Desire
14 Desire
15 Desire
16 Desire
17 Desire
18 Desire
19 Desire
20 Desire
21 Desire
22 Desire
23 Desire
24 Desire
25 Desire

DOWN

16 Mouth and house
17 Gambling
18 Villag
19 Gar.
20 News Sp.
21 Charlotte
22 Charlotte
23 Charlotte
24 Charlotte
25 Charlotte
26 Charlotte
27 Charlotte
28 Charlotte
29 Charlotte
30 Charlotte
31 Charlotte
32 Charlotte
33 Charlotte
34 Charlotte
35 Charlotte
36 Charlotte
37 Charlotte
38 Charlotte
39 Charlotte
40 Charlotte
41 Charlotte
42 Charlotte
43 Charlotte
44 Charlotte
45 Charlotte

Yesterday's Puzzle Solved:

48 Mouth and house
49 Gambling
50 Villag
51 Gar.
52 News Sp.
53 Charlotte
54 Charlotte
55 Charlotte
56 Charlotte
57 Charlotte
58 Charlotte
59 Charlotte
60 Charlotte
61 Charlotte
62 Charlotte
63 Charlotte
64 Charlotte
65 Charlotte

Michael Molinelli

12:4 p.m. — government career day: Lafortune student center ballroom.
12:15 p.m. — meeting club
11:45 a.m. — meeting club

GET INVOLVED!

GET INTO NDSU!

Shoe

Jeff MacNelly

© 1981 by Chicago Tribune N.Y. News Synd. Inc. All Rights Reserved

The Daily Crossword

ANNOUNCING THE '81 SELECTION OF STUDENT UNION DIRECTOR AND COMPTROLLER

* Mon., Feb. 2 Applications available in the SU Offices
* Mon., Feb. 16 Applications due 5 p.m.
* Sat., Feb. 21 Interviews and final selections

Flowers will say it lovingly to your Valentine.

Let Judy Blue and lay Davis-Reed help you pamper your Valentine this year.

The Blue Jays Nest

Your florist in UNIVERSITY CENTER 6502 N. Grape Rd. Mishawaka 227-6776

Flowers will go anywhere • Visa • Master Card

Pre-pros plan happy hour

A happy hour for preprofessional students will be held Friday in the Atrium Hall party room. The cost will be $1. Signups for the happy hour take place today and tomorrow in preprofessional office.

Career Day offers jobs

Notre Dame's Placement Bureau is sponsoring its fourth annual Government Career Day today from noon until 4 p.m. in the Lafortune student center. Representatives from agencies in both the federal and state government will be in attendance to discuss the job opportunities available in their departments, both permanent and temporary, with students of all majors.

Enrollment cards due

All present freshmen, sophomores, juniors and seniors in the fourth year students in five-year undergraduate programs should have received information on advance enrollment through campus or regular mail, according to the office of Student Accounts. Students who have not received such a mailing should stop in at this office before Friday.

Friday is the deadline for all advance enrollment cards and deposit checks to be mailed in, and is a required procedure so that students may advance register in April for fall semester courses, and so requests for on-campus housing may be honored. Students must use regular mail, not campus mail, in returning their advance enrollment cards.
CONSIDERING A LAW CAREER?
A representative of
SOUTHWESTERN UNIVERSITY SCHOOL OF LAW
ABA/AALS
Los Angeles
will be on campus on
MONDAY, FEBRUARY 16
1-3 p.m.
ND Placement Bureau
213 Administration
283-8342

Underclassmen welcome, as well as seniors and graduate students. Applications will continue to be accepted during the spring. If you would like to learn more about the profession, the law school experience, and the application process, please arrange to meet with our representative by contacting the Placement Bureau.

Northwestern University School of Law has served the public since 1859 as a moderately, moderately disciplined institution. Northwestern University has had a long tradition of being a model of excellence, innovation, and leadership in the preparation of students for successful careers in law.

We believe that legal education should be challenging but also rewarding. Our goal is to provide students with the tools they need to succeed in their chosen fields of endeavor.

Blue Wave takes tourney

By BETH HUFFMAN
Sports Editor

The Blue Wave, a United States Volleyball Association club consisting of nine Saint Mary's students, took first place at the Leydon Invitational in Chicago last weekend.

"They played the smartest game I've ever seen them play," said Erin Murphy, head coach of the Blue Wave and Saint Mary's varsity volleyball team. "They have really improved. Talented-wise you are not going to win on power and muscle because everyone has it, you win on your knowledge of the game.

The Blue Wave remained undefeated in five straight matches to win the Division A, six-team tournament. In the championship match of the round-robin, single elimination playoff tournament, the Blue Wave soundly defeated the Suburban Volleyball Club of Chicago 11-4 and 11-6. Tournament matches were determined on the best of three games to 11 points.

"A couple of players had an outstanding tournament," said Murphy, who coached the club last year. "Rose Whalen completely dominated the net both offensively and defensively -- she was phenomenal. Whalen, a freshman from Tampa, Fla., will be announced as the Most Valuable Player of Saint Mary's varsity fall team at an upcoming banquet. "Mary Dempsey set for the majority of the tournament and did the best job I've seen her do for the whole year. She was terrific," continued Murphy. This weekend the Blue Wave will compete at the Mathis Invitationals to be held in Turner's gym in South Bend. The club will then host its own 15-team USVBA women's tournament on February 21 in the Angela Athletic Facility at Saint Mary's.

"Last year our team tied for third in the conference lead, which in our region of the USVBA includes Indiana and Michigan, but our goal is to take this year." The Blue Wave members include Megan Helle, Mary Dempsey, Rosie Whalen, Julie Krumdieck, Amy Skerry, Heidi Scholl, Amy Morris and Denise Drake.

Big Ten race tightens

By JOE MOOSHIL
AP Sports Writer

There's little hope of completely unscrambling the jumbled Big Ten basketball race, but keep an eye on Indiana's Hoosiers who have made a habit of strong finishes in recent years.

Indiana dropped a 68-66 decision Saturday at Purdue, and that knocked the Hoosiers out of sole possession of the Big Ten lead and into a three-way tie for first place with Michigan and Iowa.

There are eight games left in the conference race, and Indiana takes on last place Northwestern tomorrow before traveling to Wisconsin on Saturday. The Hoosiers will be favored in both contests and a double victory could get Bobby Knight's charges rolling again.

Last year Indiana won its last six games to capture the Big Ten title. In 1979 Indiana won four of its last five and then won four more to capture the National Invitation Tournament crown. In 1978 Indiana won its last eight conference games.

Four of Indiana's final eight games are on the road, but only two are against contenders. The Hoosiers' next two games are at Iowa Feb. 19 and at Illinois March 5.

And the Hoosiers are on target statistically. They lead the Big Ten in scoring defense, allowing only 57.7 points a game, and are ahead in field goal percentage, hitting on 55 percent of their shots.

While Indiana figures to retain its share of the conference lead fought against visiting Northwestern, Iowa may come back and tie Minnesota, who is now two points in the Big Ten, must win to keep alive their hopes of gaining a berth in the NCAA tournament. Michigan is at home, but the surprising Wolverines, ranked 15th nationally, face a tough Ohio State team. Everyone should keep their eye on the Big Ten.

Ohio State, with its 14th-ranked team, will have to come up with a win to take the conference race, and Indiana takes on last place Northwestern tomorrow before traveling to Wisconsin on Saturday. The Hoosiers will be favored in both contests and a double victory could get Bobby Knight's charges rolling again.

Last year Indiana won its last six games to capture the Big Ten title. In 1979 Indiana won four of its last five and then won four more to capture the National Invitation Tournament crown. In 1978 Indiana won its last eight conference games.

Four of Indiana's final eight games are on the road, but only two are against contenders. The Hoosiers' next two games are at Iowa Feb. 19 and at Illinois March 5.

And the Hoosiers are on target statistically. They lead the Big Ten in scoring defense, allowing only 57.7 points a game, and are ahead in field goal percentage, hitting on 55 percent of their shots.

While Indiana figures to retain its share of the conference lead fought against visiting Northwestern, Iowa may come back and tie Minnesota, who is now two points in the Big Ten, must win to keep alive their hopes of gaining a berth in the NCAA tournament. Michigan is at home, but the surprising Wolverines, ranked 15th nationally, face a tough Ohio State team. Everyone should keep their eye on the Big Ten.

Indiana, Michigan and 14th-ranked Iowa all have 5-3 records to share first place, but they are only one step ahead of Ohio State, Illinois and Purdue who are bunched at 6-4.

continued from page 12

ICAA's a turning point

"I told myself that after I broke 48 seconds, I'd consider myself a good runner," says Eady. "He ran a 47.7 fully automatic time in the quarterfinals against some superb runners," says Kelley. "He came back an hour later and ran a 47.7 in the semis and finished fifth, but only the top four make it to the finals. That was the day that really boosted his confidence."

Jacques finished fourth, fourth behind his past. Says Aragon, "I think everyone's eyes on Jacques Eady, because he's going to be a great one." Just don't expect to hear it from him.

...Eady

nd student players present...

PIPPIN

12 & 13 - 8:00 pm
feb 14 - 2:00 pm

tickets:
general admission...$3
students, faculty and staff...$2

tickets can be purchased at the door or at the student union ticket office.

SIDelines Sports and News
Wrestlers prepare for regionals

Having cancelled the remainder of its dual meet slate, the Notre Dame wrestling team entered competition for this year's NCAA Western Regionals, to be held at Indiana State University on Friday and Saturday, Feb. 21 and 22.

The Irish travel to Wharton, Ill., March 17th for its 11th annual Wharton Invitational wrestling tournament. Preliminary action is slated for Friday, Feb. 13, with quarterfinal, semifinal and final matches scheduled for Saturday, Feb. 14.

The Irish lineup has been further reduced to only three regular wrestlers, sophomore 126-pounder Mark Fisher (Buchanan, Mich.; 13-9-1) and junior Brian Frank (Bremo, Va.; 7-3-1) at 154 and 134 pounds respectively.

We have few regulars left in the lineup that it doesn't really worth it for a team to wrestle us in a dual meet," remarked butterfly wrestler Brian Bruno, currently completing his first year as Irish coach. "We will have it in two meets this week, with quarterfinal, semifinal and final matches scheduled for Saturday, Feb. 14.

The Irish lineup has been further reduced to only three regular wrestlers, sophomore 126-pounder Mark Fisher (Buchanan, Mich.; 13-9-1) and junior Brian Frank (Bremo, Va.; 7-3-1) at 154 and 134 pounds respectively.

We have few regulars left in the lineup that it doesn't really worth it for a team to wrestle us in a dual meet," remarked butterfly wrestler Brian Bruno, currently completing his first year as Irish coach. "We will have it in two meets this week, with quarterfinal, semifinal and final matches scheduled for Saturday, Feb. 14.
The Beginning of the End

Brian Beiglmeister
Sports Writer

The Beginning - of the End

In Sports Writer experienced a less than successful couple of times, but they're few and concluding without advancing to had six points for a weekend and a winger Kevin Humphreys. It's going to be close. It's Humphreys immediately made the starting lineup up as a freshman and appeared in every game while collecting 21 points. The following year he switched to left wing and responded with 36 points. At one point in the season, he tied a league record by scoring two shorthanded goals in one period.

The Irish, who collected a disappointing 31 turnovers, trailed 33-18 at halftime. The Cardinals then broke the game wide open during the second half, leading by as much as 26 at one point. Notre Dame got its first hat trick in an Irish win, as Kevin got his first hat trick in an Irish victory.

Versatile Eady remains unbeaten

By EARL RIX

Eady has won the most coveted races, he won't dwell on them or any other of his past performances. "They aren't that important to me, they represent where I've been. Where I want to go most is much more important," says Eady. To the 6-3 junior marketing major from North Babylon, N.Y., where he wants to go doesn't just mean winning races. "My main priority right now is to get my first experience in public relations. I like working with people," says Eady.

Former Irish fullback Jerome Howeann embraces his former coach, Dan Devine, at last night's testimonial dinner for Devine and his wife, Jo, (photo by Rachel Blount).