WASHINGTON (AP) — President Reagan said he was "courageously" alive in the chest Monday by a gunman who tried to assassinate him with a burst of 22-caliber bullets from a "Saturday night special." White House press secretary Mrs. Reagan was critically injured in the blast of gunfire.

Dr. Dennis O'Leary said a "really mangled bullet" was removed from Reagan's left lung. He said the president's condition was stable, the prognosis excellent.

But Brady was said to be fighting for his life, a bullet through his brain.

"His condition is critical," the doctor said. He was shot in the side of the forehead, the bullet passing through his brain. He obviously has a significant brain injury and he is in critical condition," O'Leary reported.

He would not speculate on Brady's chances of recovery, but said it is likely Brady, 42, will suffer permanent brain damage if he survives.

At 2:25 p.m., EST, six shots rang out, wounding Reagan in the left chest, others killing Brady, a Secret Service agent and a policeman. Secret Service agents and police seized John Warnock Hinckley, 25, of Evergreen, Colo.

He was wrestled to the ground outside the Washington Hilton, plunged without a trail and taken away. Hinckley was booked on charges of attempted assassination of a president, and of assault with intent to kill a police officer. He was in FBI custody Monday night.

There was no known motive, for the savage burst of gunfire that exploded in the president's face beside his limousine, ready to step inside for a courageous one-mile ride back to the White House.

One eyewitness said the assailant, standing ten feet from the president, "just opened up and continued spraying the air."

Anxious hours later, Reagan was pronounced in good and stable condition after surgery. — "I can honestly say the United States is facing a complicated political world that the American government is functioning fully and effectively," Vice President George Bush said at the White House last night. "We've had full and complete communication throughout the day."

O'Leary said Reagan might be hospitalized for as long as two weeks, but called that only a guess.

While Reagan was in the operating room, his aides made a point of emphasizing the danger with which he went to surgery, as reassuring evidence that he hadn't been given an easy task.

He winked, according to Nogier, but said he was all right.

The gunman leveled his pistol at Reagan from among ten feet of the president. "TheHilton," he said, "is going tohell."

The Seminole focused on justice issues in government, according to S.C. Carroll. Students met with representatives of organizations such as the Legal Services Corporation, the Select Committee on Aging, NETWORK, the International Office of Justice and Peace, the Center of Concern, the Religious Task Force on El Salvador, and the Department of the Navy at the Pentagon.

"S.C. Carroll and I designed the trip to help students learn how the political process works," Task Force Chairperson Therese Anne Brown said. "We organized it to enable them to see how Christian values can be reflected within the political system. Students looked at how NETWORK and other lobbying groups are solely committed to Christian values and ideals in influence the political process."

"The trip was a pilot project this year. I am really excited with the way that it went. My hope is that the seminar will be continued annually." S.C. Carroll also considered the seminar a success. "The first-hand exposure to the legislative process and the accessibility of the congressional leadership was an enormous impact," she said.

"Speakers such as Fr. Peter Nixey of the Center of Concern, Fr. Brian Heit of the International Office of Justice and Peace, Kathy Haferty of the Religious Task Force on El Salvador, and the NEFC was critical to many of the legislative issues as they related to social justice.

"Congressman Romano Mazzoli (D-Kentucky) provided a Notre Dame link, Mazzoli, N.D. 54, with the students and arranged for them to tour the Pentagon, the White House, and the Capitol. He also arranged meetings with Congressman Dan Lungren (R-California), N.D.M., and Principal Deputy Assistant for Legislative Affairs Mrs. Reagan.

But, the majority was 'made up of 51 Republicans and four Democrats. All the opposing votes were cast by Democrats." Southwardly afterwards, the Senate rejected a move by Sen. Ted Stevens, R-Alaska, to restore $800 million in spending to continue guarantees monthly by $122.

The majority was 'made up of 51 Republicans and four Democrats. All the opposing votes were cast by Democrats."

Southwardly afterwards, the Senate rejected a move by Sen. Ted Stevens, R-Alaska, to restore $800 million in spending to continue guarantees monthly by $122 minimum retirement benefits.

Sen. Donald Riegle, D-Mich., leader of the move to restore $800 million, said he would save the money elsewhere in the budget by allowing "junkyard dogs" to go after waste, fraud and abuse.

Social Security

WASHINGTON (AP) — Senate Republicans, intent on giving President Reagan the budget cuts he wants, ignored Democratic charges that they lack compassion Monday, and endorsed elimination of minimum Social Security benefit.

On a vote of 55-39, the Senate rejected a move to restore $800 million in spending to continue guarantees monthly by $122.

The majority was 'made up of 51 Republicans and four Democrats. All the opposing votes were cast by Democrats."

On a vote of 55-39, the Senate rejected a move to restore $800 million in spending to continue guarantees monthly by $122.

The majority was 'made up of 51 Republicans and four Democrats. All the opposing votes were cast by Democrats."

On a vote of 55-39, the Senate rejected a move to restore $800 million in spending to continue guarantees monthly by $122.

The majority was 'made up of 51 Republicans and four Democrats. All the opposing votes were cast by Democrats."

Social Security

WASHINGTON (AP) — Senate Republicans, intent on giving President Reagan the budget cuts he wants, ignored Democratic charges that they lack compassion Monday, and endorsed elimination of minimum Social Security benefit.

On a vote of 55-39, the Senate rejected a move to restore $800 million in spending to continue guarantees monthly by $122.

The majority was 'made up of 51 Republicans and four Democrats. All the opposing votes were cast by Democrats."

On a vote of 55-39, the Senate rejected a move to restore $800 million in spending to continue guarantees monthly by $122.

The majority was 'made up of 51 Republicans and four Democrats. All the opposing votes were cast by Democrats."

On a vote of 55-39, the Senate rejected a move to restore $800 million in spending to continue guarantees monthly by $122.

The majority was 'made up of 51 Republicans and four Democrats. All the opposing votes were cast by Democrats."

On a vote of 55-39, the Senate rejected a move to restore $800 million in spending to continue guarantees monthly by $122.

The majority was 'made up of 51 Republicans and four Democrats. All the opposing votes were cast by Democrats."

On a vote of 55-39, the Senate rejected a move to restore $800 million in spending to continue guarantees monthly by $122.

The majority was 'made up of 51 Republicans and four Democrats. All the opposing votes were cast by Democrats."

On a vote of 55-39, the Senate rejected a move to restore $800 million in spending to continue guarantees monthly by $122.

The majority was 'made up of 51 Republicans and four Democrats. All the opposing votes were cast by Democrats."

On a vote of 55-39, the Senate rejected a move to restore $800 million in spending to continue guarantees monthly by $122.

The majority was 'made up of 51 Republicans and four Democrats. All the opposing votes were cast by Democrats."

On a vote of 55-39, the Senate rejected a move to restore $800 million in spending to continue guarantees monthly by $122.

The majority was 'made up of 51 Republicans and four Democrats. All the opposing votes were cast by Democrats."

On a vote of 55-39, the Senate rejected a move to restore $800 million in spending to continue guarantees monthly by $122.

The majority was 'made up of 51 Republicans and four Democrats. All the opposing votes were cast by Democrats."

On a vote of 55-39, the Senate rejected a move to restore $800 million in spending to continue guarantees monthly by $122.

The majority was 'made up of 51 Republicans and four Democrats. All the opposing votes were cast by Democrats."

On a vote of 55-39, the Senate rejected a move to restore $800 million in spending to continue guarantees monthly by $122.

The majority was 'made up of 51 Republicans and four Democrats. All the opposing votes were cast by Democrats."

On a vote of 55-39, the Senate rejected a move to restore $800 million in spending to continue guarantees monthly by $122.

The majority was 'made up of 51 Republicans and four Democrats. All the opposing votes were cast by Democrats."

On a vote of 55-39, the Senate rejected a move to restore $800 million in spending to continue guarantees monthly by $122.

The majority was 'made up of 51 Republicans and four Democrats. All the opposing votes were cast by Democrats."

On a vote of 55-39, the Senate rejected a move to restore $800 million in spending to continue guarantees monthly by $122.

The majority was 'made up of 51 Republicans and four Democrats. All the opposing votes were cast by Democrats."

On a vote of 55-39, the Senate rejected a move to restore $800 million in spending to continue guarantees monthly by $122.

The majority was 'made up of 51 Republicans and four Democrats. All the opposing votes were cast by Democrats."

On a vote of 55-39, the Senate rejected a move to restore $800 million in spending to continue guarantees monthly by $122.

The majority was 'made up of 51 Republicans and four Democrats. All the opposing votes were cast by Democrats."

On a vote of 55-39, the Senate rejected a move to restore $800 million in spending to continue guarantees monthly by $122.
John W. Hinckley Jr., arrested in the wounding of President Reagan and three others yesterday, was carrying three handguns when he was arrested in Washington last October while thieves were robbing President Carter was in town, the FBI said. Rep. Bill Alexander, D-Ark., said the gun was found in Hinckley's possession, resident was arrested by Metropolitan Air-Port Police on Oct. 9 for carrying handguns. Former President Carter was conducting a town hall-style meeting at the Grand Ole Opry that day. FBI agents Richard Koons said confirmed that Hinckley, 25, had been arrested by airport police but declined to release details of the arrest, while the FBI referred all calls to the FBI. Koons said information on Hinckley was being sent to Washington and any further details would have to be released in Washington. Rep. Roy of the House who described as a "suspicious fight special" and said it was purchased in a Dallas gun shop. Hinckley was being held without bond in the Metropolitan Detention Center and a chance to view the winners and losers at the evening's extravaganza. - The Observer

Organizers of the Academy Awards considered conducting a town hall-style meeting at the Grand Ole Opry yesterday. "It was clear there was a demand,” said John C. Pollock, the project's research director, said recently. “Overall, there were 5,000 people at the meeting. They don’t represent the public.” The study of 3,780 respondents, made by Research and Forcastes, Inc., was commissioned by the Connecticut Mutual Life Insurance Company to measure American values of the 1980s and how much they are shared by leaders. Although there was no intent to focus on religion, it emerged as "the one factor that consistently and dramatically affects the values and behavior of Americans,” the report said. The report said the influence of religion “has penetrated virtually every aspect of American life and experience” and is "a stronger determinant of our values than” other factors such as age, sex, economic status, and education. The findings suggest that "the religious setting and the cultural influence of religion on our social and political institutions may be only the beginning of a trend that could change the face of America,” it said.

Spiking coal miners snubbed United Mine Workers President Sam Church in the union's largest district yesterday as he made a last bid to sell a proposed contract one day before it goes to the 160,000-member rank and file for a vote. Meanwhile, troubles flared in southern West Virginia, where UMWA pickets tried to stop non-union miners from reporting to work. A sheriff's deputy was struck in a riot that followed striking miners he wanted to reach stayed home. -The Observer

This time of the season is traditionally one of transition on campus. New student leaders and class officers will soon take office, and many clubs and organizations are also changing their leadership. The Observer is also going through such a period, but this year's transition warrants special mention. If you are a junior or senior, I don't have to tell you how much The Observer has changed during the past two years — you've experienced dramatic changes in both the appearance and content of the newspaper. During the 1979-80 administration of Editor-in-Chief Rosemary Kennedy, The Observer underwent a complete design overhaul. The result was a much more professional, established appearance. That process is in itself important, not to mention the improvements made in editorial content, could have made the job of the 1980-1981 editorial Board somewhat easier. That fear could not have been more completely dispelled and it was under the administration of Paul Mullaney.

Mullaney's 1980-81 Observer, in my opinion, moved further ahead in one year than any administration that has run this newspaper since its birth nearly 15 years ago. Why such a sweeping statement? The evidence to substantiate the view is impressive. Some points of particular importance:

In one year, The Observer has ...
Business program aids Arts and Letters majors

By TIM PETTERS
News Staff

The College of Arts and Letters plans to offer a supplemental program in business next year. The Program for Administrators, as it is called, seeks to prepare a major or a second major, will be available for current freshmen and sophomores beginning in the fall.

According to Dr. Kathleen Weigert, assistant dean of the college and director of the program, the program consists of eight courses. Requirements include four courses in general business — accounting, finance, management, and marketing — as well as elective courses such as Sociology of American Business History, and two economics courses.

“Our hope,” said Dr. Weigert, “is that the program will help the student understand the relationship of business to our society. It is meant to supplement whatever major the student is enrolled in.”

The program will be open to a limited number of students. Dr. Weigert stated. Interested students should attend a meeting on April 9 at room 104 O’Laughlin Hall at 7 p.m.

COMMUNICATION ARTS at NOTRE DAME

Practical skill-oriented communications courses designed for teachers and for prospective professionals. M.A. may be acquired in four summers, or in two summers and the connecting academic year. Also open to nondegree students. 11 day session from June 23 to July 7. 22 day session from July 8 to August 5. Courses also available for entire 32 day period. Special feature of 1981 session: An all-day Workshop on Writing and Designing Publications. Other 1981 courses: The Art of the Cinma, Television Production, American Short Fiction, Seminar in the Teaching of Short Fiction, Introductory and Advanced Non - Fiction Writing, and 45 Propositions about Mass Media, Photography, Film as Insight, Creative Writing, Design, Television in American Life, Publishing, Public Relations, Independent Projects. Write

Prof. Donald P. Costello, Chairman,
Department of Communication Arts,
University of Notre Dame,
Notre Dame, IN 46556.

STUDENT GOVERNMENT

Applications for the 1981-82
Student Government Cabinet Positions will be made available starting March 24 at the Student Government Offices
on the second floor of LaFortune.
Must be returned by March 31...
Robbins' "Woodpecker" still great

Robbins, a young author with several books already to his credit, leads the reader through some slightly absurd episodes in the life of the expatriate Princess Leigh Cheri, and the "Woodpecker"—an outlaw dynamiter.

As a law student, I was subjected to a particularly scathing—albeit accurate—attack. Robbins observes that all law students are put tongue squarely in check—and get set for some real ad-

Features

Chautauqua:
Has blues, will succeed

World’s smallest circus performs today

T he all new 1980-81 edition of The Royal Lichtenstein Circus includes an expanded menagerie, an aerial act, jugglers, acrobats, magicians and clowns. Now on its ninth annual national tour of over forty states, the world’s smallest complete circus features the acrobatic and juggling antics of Steve Yach from Lincoln, Nebraska, the rola bola skills and single trapeze act of Albuquerque’s Stephen Desaulniers; illusions by Chris French of Sacrament; and sleight of hand and eccentric juggling by John O’Laughlin of Denver. The menagerie, including five different species of trained animals, will be under the direction of ringmaster Corder, Nick Webber.

Also in the unique Royal Lichtenstein Circus format will be two narrated mime fables. "Neighbors" recounts the adventures of a resident odd couple as they practice the Golden Rule, while "The Impossible Steam" pits an extremely altruistic and idealistic switch-engine against the challenges of work-a-day reality. There are over fifteen acts in the full hour performance.

English, History, Music, or American Studies majors interested in creative writing, music, restaurant, or book reviews are invited to a meeting at The Observer

Wednesday, April 1, 7:30 p.m., or call Rick at x1715.

Paul Bertolini

David Knight

But just concluded my interview with the well-known blues saxophonist and vocalist Eddie Shaw. When I first met him he was half asleep on a couch in Lafayette. I’m afraid that by the time I concluded the interview, he was considerably closer to the real thing. I did manage to learn, in the course of our discussion, that Eddie Shaw toured with blues great Howlin’ Wolf for fifteen years. "When Wolf died, I went out on my own," he said. Shaw is roughly translated into being on the road touring for 46 weeks a year. With Shaw’s summary that he plays “old blues, classic tunes revitalized,” I walked away feeling content, if not quite knowing myself.

On stage, the show opened with Ellen McIlwaine. McIlwaine and her guitarist employed open tunings, bottleneck slide, electronic gimmicks, and an incredibly powerful voice in her attempt to make the concept of solo rock work. The result was often loud, energetic, and interesting, but seldom musical.

Her repertoire, consisting of mainly original tunes (four on acoustic, four electric) simply did not include enough variety to keep the crowd very interested.

To her credit, McIlwaine appeared poised, professional, and fully in charge. This I would assume is the direct result of 16 years of experience on the road. All in all, McIlwaine was certainly different, not very musical, but certainly different.

After a short intermission, Eddie Shaw and the Wolf Gang, sans Shaw, appeared on stage. The Wolf Gang consists of Earl Howlin’ Wolf’s old bassist, and Eddie Shaw, Jr., on guitar. This trio played two moderately paced blues tunes before being joined onstage by Eddie Shaw. My earlier interview with Mr. Shaw in no way prepared me for what I was to see. Eddie came on stage "cookin’ and poppin’ and burning.”

Eddie Shaw and his Wolf Gang proceeded to show those in attendance what blues and swing are all about. From slow Chicago blues to fast boogie tunes, Shaw and his band displayed an ability to communicate which is all too infrequently encountered.

One of the most well-received tunes was something off of their latest album called “My Woman is Ugly.” Last year this song was nominated for a Grammy award. This should provide the reader with some indication as to the overall quality of the group.

The rhythmic feel of the group was excellent. They played with remarkable sensitivity, and intensity as well as precision. Whenever minor rhythmic discrepancies between the guitar and drums threatened to destroy the groove, Gilber’s bass intervened to pull everything back together again. In short, if Eddie Shaw and his Wolf Gang had swung any harder, they would have been crossing state lines into Ohio and Illinois.

The great blues guitarist T-Bone Walker was once heard giving this advice to a young aspiring blues musician: “Swing the blues, put a little life into it, a little pep, rock into it.” It was very evident to everyone at Chautauqua Friday night that Eddie Shaw and his Wolf Gang took this advice to heart.
Half-century later, Rockne still lives

There is little doubt that Knute Rockne was one of the best known sports figures of his era, if not the best known. If the great Fighting Irish coach had any competition in that department it might have come from football's Pop Warner or baseball's Babe Ruth. At left, Rockne is flanked by these two contemporaries, Warner (left) and Ruth in December, 1925. Fifty years ago today, the nation was jolted to mourning when the popular 43-year-old Rockne was killed in a plane crash near Bazaar, Kan. Six of his outstanding players were pallbearers at the funeral (right). All-America quarterback Frank Carideo and 1930 captain and end Tom Corley are at the head of the casket as it left the Rockne home. The others are halfbacks Marty Brill and Mervyn Schmidt, fullback Larry (Moon) Mullins, and center and captain elect for 1931 Tommy Yarr.

Over 100,000 people lined the streets of South Bend to pay their last respects to Rockne. The city's population at the time was only 77,000. Those who couldn't get into Sacred Heart for the funeral, bid farewell from outside.

A liturgy of Christian burial was celebrated by University President Fr. Charles L. O'Donnell (above). The mass was attended only by family, players and close friends. Each year since, Rockne's players and friends have returned to nearby Highland Cemetery (on Portage Avenue) for a memorial service. (Sports Special photos courtesy of Notre Dame Sports Information.)

continued from page 8

That was enough for the members of that 1928 squad who were 4-2 going into a game with undefeated Army. Everyone knew Gipp played his greatest game against Army he never lost to Army and Rockne used the deathbed tale to win a game: 12-6 that he could have never won any other way.

Or maybe he could have. Maybe it really didn't make any difference in the outcome of that game. Maybe he never really said it. But the important thing to remember is that it worked then. And it undoubtedly works today.

Numerous stories have been told of the stunned reactions to this tragedy that struck fifty years ago this day. In Atlanta, one well-authenticated story tells of a newsboy who stood on a corner waiting for his afternoon papers. They were dropped from a truck and he grabbed the top paper from which screamed the headlines proclaiming Rockne's death. Tears streamed down the newspaper's face as he tore up the paper and threw the rest into a gutter.

"I can't deliver them," he muttered. "I don't want nobody to read about Rock."

Knute Rockne...the personification of a feeling that runs deep through the Notre Dame campus, through Notre Dame men and Notre Dame women who can add their own stories to the thousands that circulate whenever these people congregate. Stories of valiant come-backs and unbelievable blow-outs, of memorable victories and once-in-a-lifetime performances that have become the trademark of this university.

Incidents it seems, that have become the rule rather than the exception. All of which started with Knute K. Rockne. A man and a myth whose influence is still undeniably present at the little Catholic college that sits on the bank of Saint Mary's and Saint Joseph's lakes.
The annual Blue-Gold game, marking the start of spring football practice, is scheduled for Saturday, May 2 at 1 p.m. in Notre Dame Stadium. Notre Dame and Saint Mary's students will be admitted at no charge upon presentation of their student ID cards at Gate 15 only. General admission tickets for the public are available for $50 at the ACC's Gate 10 box office from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m., Monday through Friday. Prices for these tickets are $2.50 for adults and $1 for those 17 and under. Ticket sales will also be available at the stadium on game day for $3.50 and $1.50 respectively. There will be no reserved seating. The game is sponsored annually by the Notre Dame Alumni Club of Saint Joseph Valley and supports the club's fund which currently sustains sixteen area students at the University.

The Ultimate Triscibe Club of Notre Dame and Saint Mary's is looking for a white male as a Raymond of Security. They are responsible for the safety of all area students. The job involves a lot of paperwork and a lot of late night hours. The salary is $500.00 per month. For more information please call the main office at 234-6293.

NOTICES

INSTANT CASH PAID FOR CLASS FINGS 3000 OR MORE WE MAKE HOUSE CALLS FOR YOUR CONVENIENCE TO ENABE YOU TO SELL WITHOUT WORRY OR TROUBLE.

ASSASSINATE Tell your Arkansas friends. Check the address and phone. CALL 577-3000 TODAY.

FARMERS MARKET WEDNESDAY 5:00 - 7:00

OPEN TO THE PUBLIC

410 Highwood Road, Highland Park, IN

Sunday, May 16

DANJEAN, MOBY, PETER T., and the rest of you who might have a cow over your promise, do you think we won't see the light of day? We are not going to let you pull the wool over our eyes. Do not give up the ghost. Do not give up the building. Do not give up the ship. Do not give up the post. Do not give up the watch. Do not give up the clock. Do not give up the sword. Do not give up the pen.

LARGE PIZZA $1.00 OFF

TUES. THRU THURS.

Classifieds

NOTICES

INSTANT CASH PAID FOR CLASS FINDS 3000 OR MORE. WE MAKE HOUSE CALLS FOR YOUR CONVENIENCE TO ENABE YOU TO SELL WITHOUT WORRY OR TROUBLE.

ASSASSINATE Tell your Arkansas friends. Check the address and phone. Call 577-3000 TODAY.

FARMERS MARKET WEDNESDAY 5:00 - 7:00

OPEN TO THE PUBLIC

410 Highwood Road, Highland Park, IN

Sunday, May 16

LARGE PIZZA $1.00 OFF

TUES. THRU THURS.
The game was given the go-ahead, which the Hoosiers had been all but basketball-crazy to pause in order to buy him some playing time. Snow had fulfilled a life-long dream to attend Notre Dame — it took me 20 seconds to decide whether to accept the scholarship offer," he says now — but prior to his senior season, he had played sparingly, catching a career total of only ten passes to that point.

They came here, the first year of the "era of Ara," and the year Notre Dame defeated Georgia Tech for the Heisman Trophy. And for Jack Snow, it was the year that all the pieces fit together, when the Notre Dame football team was second in Knight's second season. Like other players, Snow had played sparingly, catching 353 passes and gaining All-Pro status in numerous occasions. He retired in 1976 and went into the real-estate business in Orange County, California, with his college roommate where he was a resident of Cavanaugh St. Edwards and Sunni Hill.

He now lives with his high school sweetheart and wife of 16 years, Janice, a former Notre Dame Cheerleader born in "Born on Christmas Day," says Snow, in Seal Bay, Calif. The Snows have three children, two sons and an daughter. Love, Mitchell, 15, 11, and Stephanie, 12.

But football once again came a-callin', and Snow jumped at the opprtunity. "I called Coach Faust and congratulated him on the game, got the job," related Snow, "and I offered my services if the need arose. I was going to try out, do my best, and see what happened, so I was available."

During that time his record was 105-12-5 for an .897 winning percentage. Young Knute received an informal introduction to the game as a sundial fielder and was skilled in college coaching — in the marketing aspect, especially. Ara Parseghian (9-1 in 1964) was a combination of both — he was low-key, a tactical genius.

When asked whether he had a preference among the three, Snow rejoined jokingly, "Well, 9-1 beats the hell out of 2." Snow, a Gerry Faust wouldn't argue with that. Coach Faust hopes that Jack Snow can help the Fighting Irish towards that type of record next season. Oh, and 66 receptions for Tony Snow's wouldn't hurt, either."

Flash: Rockne dead

"Since his death there have been longings at Notre Dame for the touch of a vanished band and the sound of a voice that is still." Edward McGuire

Transcontinental Western's Flight 399 was scheduled to depart Kansas City for Los Angeles on March 31, 1931 at 9:30 a.m. A one-year-old, eight-pound baby, son of the Rocknes who was a resident of a Cottage, an Architecture article appeared in a newspaper.

"Since birth there have been longings at Notre Dame for the touch of a vanished band and the sound of a voice that is still."

Edward McGuire

"When asked whether he had a preference among the three, Snow rejoined jokingly, "Well, 9-1 beats the hell out of 2." Snow, a Gerry Faust wouldn't argue with that. Coach Faust hopes that Jack Snow can help the Fighting Irish towards that type of record next season. Oh, and 66 receptions for Tony Snow's wouldn't hurt, either."

Knight, Knute take national crown

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Irish Thomas, Indiana's All-American guard, broke North Carolina's frontcourt and led the Hoosiers to a 53-50 victory over the Tar Heels last night for the 1981 NCAA basketball championship.

The championship, the second for Indiana Coach Bob Knight, was marked with a somber note following the shooting of President Reagan earlier in the day.

As the NCAA division I basketball committee listened to reports on the President's condition, game time was delayed until 11 o'clock because the game was to be played at the time. The game was delayed due to the shooting of President Reagan earlier in the day.

It started only 15 minutes later and 6-1 Indiana guard, the President's condition, game time was delayed until 11 o'clock because the game was to be played at the time. The game was delayed due to the shooting of President Reagan earlier in the day.

It started only 15 minutes later and 6-1 Indiana guard, the President's condition, game time was delayed until 11 o'clock because the game was to be played at the time. The game was delayed due to the shooting of President Reagan earlier in the day.

It started only 15 minutes later and 6-1 Indiana guard, the President's condition, game time was delayed until 11 o'clock because the game was to be played at the time. The game was delayed due to the shooting of President Reagan earlier in the day.