Japan urges curb in exports

TOKYO (AP) - Government officials in Japan urged its auto makers for a seven percent voluntary cutback in exports to the United States Wednesday, as some of the world's top producers have left an oppositionist move in Congress, a respected financial newspaper reported yesterday.

But the auto chiefs were reported by Kyodo News Service to be resisting the 1.7 million-vehicle limit, a reduction of 120,000 cars and light trucks from 1980's record total of 1.8 million. Kyodo said they favored an agreement limiting exports to the 1980 level.

Government and auto company executives who met yesterday would not discuss their closed-door meeting with the economic daily Nihon Keizai Shimbun about progress on the issue, which is receiving much attention in Japan. The Ministry of International Trade and Industry confirmed it summoned the auto executives to separate talks, but officials refused further comment and auto industry spokesmen said they were pledged to silence.

The newspaper said officials from three automakers - Honda Motor Co., Mitsubishi Motors Corp. and Nissan Motor Co. - had talks Tuesday with executives of Japan's heavyweights in the industry here, and Toyota Kogyo, would be called in for the subsequent meetings.

Under the proposed voluntary cutback, exporters would be asked to hold exports to 1.82 million but go no farther. The company officials also were quoted by Kyodo as saying the limits should be for just one year.

In Washington, Sen. John Danforth, R-Mo., is pushing for passage of his bill to limit Japanese auto imports to 1.6 million units a year for the next three years. The Republican-controlled Senate could vote on the measure as early as next week.

President Reagan and Prime Minister Zenko Suzuki are scheduled for a summit meet, ing May 7 and 8. Officials in both governments are trying to resolve the issue so as not to cast a shadow over their meeting.

Japan automakers have said they believe the beleaguered U.S. auto industry brought about its own problems by failing to respond to rising gasoline prices and demands from American for fuel-efficient cars.

Japan last year captured 21 percent of the total auto sales in the United States. Eight of every 10 foreign-make cars bought by Americans were Japanese.

Supporters of protectionist measures argue Japan should have agreed to a huge share of the market because of lower labor costs. Last year, General Motors, Ford, Chrysler and AMC, the big four U.S. auto makers, reported losses totaling $4.2 billion and cutbacks in their history.

As of last week, 170,000 auto workers were on indefinite layoffs.

Solidarity collects signatures

Solidarity volunteers working for the El Salvador Solidarity group are gathering signatures from students this week in support of the U.S. bishops' position relative to the United States military aid for El Salvador.

The Solidarity group is the result of three separate committed that were functioning as Notre Dame-Saint Mary's, Notre Dame, the Justice and Peace Center in South Bend, according to activity coordinator Sr. Carolyn Burgholzer.

In groups that these three organizations initiated came together and formed the El Salvador Solidarity group, she said.

The collection of signatures on petitions supporting the bishops' position is an action of that group.

"This week, students will be working the dorms to get support. We will then approach the faculty and staff, both here and at Saint Mary's.

"Through this activity we hope to show the support of the Notre Dame-Saint Mary's community for the bishops' statement asking the American government to stop military aid to El Salvador.

"We are trying to show that a significant number of people from what we consider to be a significant Catholic academic community support the bishops in the leadership that they have taken in this situation.

"We will be sending a copy of the results to the United States Bishops' Conference showing that we support them. We are also sending a copy to President Reagan, and we hope to get to the media.

"We would like to get national exposure if we could, to show our support for the bishops in taking their stand against military aid," she explained.

Sr. Carolyn, Brother Rodney Snibbe, and freshman Elizabeth Brown are coordinating the activity for the Notre Dame Law School library, is the overall chairman of the Solidarity group.

We're assuming that most students know very little about the Church's position with regard to El Salvador, " she continued.

"We all know the bishops' position on Right to Life. With regard to other issues, such as Sunday collection, we all know their position. But regarding El Salvador, the people like the church - we know very little, other than what we read in the newspaper.

"As for the church's position - it doesn't always get front page.

"Our objective in this activity is to stir interest and raise awareness. This will be done by volunteers simply going around their dorms
Governors see familiar Reagan -
WASHINGTON (AP) - President Ronald Reagan, who is currently in the United States Congress to vote on his economic program, met privately with eight governors at the White House, all of whom later told reporters they support the administration's program of tax and spending cuts.

"We are very much ourselves," Gov. Robert Orr of Indiana said afterwards. His meeting with the governors was the first for Reagan since the effort to redraft the deficit is crumbling out of the White House while he recovers from a bullet wound in the left lung.

Chinese Ambassador Nixon -
GREENCASTLE Ind. (AP) - Citizens in the People's Republic of China would welcome President Reagan's appointment of former President Richard M. Nixon as U.S. ambassador to that country, a touring Chinese journalist and professor said yesterday. Hubert S. Liang said Nixon's visit would further improve relations between the two countries that have made him popular there. Liang made headlines during a lunch at DePauw University with the central Indiana college that he graduated from in 1926. Liang, who teaches English and journalism at the University of Wisconsin, said that Chinese believe Americans are unfairly judging Nixon solely on his role in Watergate.

Agnew accepts lion's share -
WASHINGTON Md. (AP) - A one-time head of the State Rights Commission described yesterday how former Vice-President Spiro T. Agnew allegedly accepted the lion's share of the bribes that Federal Bureau of Investigation agents, while he was governor of Maryland. The testimony came in the first day of cross-examination of the White House official who agreed to work for $29,810 to the state treasury as retribution for the alleged bribes, plus interest. Jerome L. Wolff testified in Court of Appeals for the District of Columbia on behalf of a friend and advisor to Agnew when he was governor in 1967 and 1968, when the state alleged that the bribes and kickbacks that have been awarded state contracts. Wolff said he and Hammerman would each get one-quarter of the money and that Agnew would get the rest.

Sexual harassment deepens -
WASHINGTON (AP) - The head of the Equal Employment Opportunities Commission said yesterday that sexual harassment in the workplace may be more widespread than his agency knows. "Sexual harassment in the workplace is not a figment of the imagination," said acting commissioner J. Clay Smitty Jr. "It is a real problem." Testifying before a Senate Labor subcommittee, Smith reported on results of guidelines published by the EEOC in November 1980 under which women may file complaints of sexual discrimination in the federal courts. He also cited a study by the Equal Employment Opportunity Commission, in which 42 percent of a group of federally-employed women surveyed said they had been victims of sexual harassment.

Students speak freely -
Students of the 1980s are assumed to be more conservative than their late 60s counterparts. But a recent survey by two Kent State University speech professors shows they may be more liberal on one issue — freedom of speech. The survey tallied reactions of 700 students and faculty members toward 11 different subjects, ranging from flag desecration and draft card burning, to dorm search and book censorship, says Dr. William Gordon, who with Dr. Dominic Infante conducted the survey. Results of this latest report were compared with those of a similar survey done in 1970, before four Kent State students were killed by National Guardsmen during a 1970 anti-war protest. The two professors found today's students substantially more tolerant toward draft card burners, protesters who occupy buildings and nudity in campus theatrical productions. In 1970, 14% of those surveyed thought the university had the right to search dorms, but that figure dropped to 23% in 1980. The number of students who thought the university was favorable to 6% in 1969 and by 4% in 1979. - Colgate Headlines

Irish rioting continues -
BELFAST (AP) - Rioting broke out in Northern Ireland from two different directions as 12 men in a Minivan Prime Minister James Chichester-Clark refused to make concessions to end the hunger strike by Bobby Sands, the jailed IRA guerrilla and member of the Northern Ireland Assembly, whom the government declared a comata. An estimated 100 young Roman Catholics attacked police and Brooklynite with sticks and bricks in Derry's Bogside quarter and set two mail trucks on fire. Student Union plans auction

By JIM McCLURE
News Staff

The Student Union Services Commission will be holding a furniture auction Thursday, April 30, at 6 p.m. in Stepan Center. Students will have the opportunity to buy and sell such items as chairs, sofas, tables and carpets. A professional auctioneer will be on hand, and there is no service charge.

Trucks will be available at the drop-off center to transport furniture to Stepan Center with specific times and locations for drop-offs outlined on campus posters to be distributed later this week. An off-campus drop-off center will be located at Campus View Apartments. Those wishing to drop off merchandise in person may do so at Stepan Wednesday, April 29 from 6 p.m. until midnight, and Thursday, April 30 from 1 p.m. until 6 p.m.

Items will be auctioned off in the order they are tagged or brought in with the merchandise open for inspection on April 30 from 4 p.m. until 6 p.m. Refreshments will be available from a concession stand during the auction.

"It turns out that there are computer applications in almost every field you can think of," said Kelly.

Johnson listed a few of the liberal arts fields where computers are used; these included linguistics, historical research and English.

"We expect a strong turnout, but we're really counting on a large number of sellers to make the auction a success," said Kelly.

The CAPP major serves as a supplement, rather than a substitute for a student's primary course of study, according to Johnson. "The liberal arts degree provides students with the flexibility to do a lot of different things. The CAPP program enhances that flexibility," he said.

Johnson also suggested that a computer applications major would aid students who might be insecure about the job prospects of a graduate with skills that they feel they can use in the job market," he said.

Johnson explained that in addition to improving one's marketability, a CAPP degree will aid applicants to graduate schools," he said.

The CAPP major will also give students a proficiency with statistics, which Johnson saw as important in the job market. "I can't think of a single profession where you don't have to deal with either the evaluation of some kind of statistical report that's been given to you, or your own evaluation of a program that you are running," Johnson explained.

Johnson termed the marketability of students with CAPP degrees "fantastic." "If you look at the Sunday want ads of any major metropolitan Newspaper, the need for people who are computer programmers or who even have some knowledge of statistical packages is just phenomenal," he said.

The Student Union Services Commission's John J. Kelly emphasized that no middleman is involved in the auction. Kelly stated that sellers "will get full value for their items. The advantage to buyers is that they will have the widest selection possible."

This is the first time an on-campus furniture auction is being held. "We expect a strong turnout, but we're really counting on a large number of sellers to make the auction a success," said Kelly.

Dear Editor:

After reading Anthony Walton's "The show that never ends" (April 1), I feel that this is indicative of the liberal mindset, the hate-America mentality, that breeds a horrid misconception. "We are unclean!" they chant monotonously as they flagellate themselves — and any Americans unlucky enough to be near. This is how the demeaned act of a lunatic is transformed into an accurate reflection of "the state of the American soul." It is truly the show that never ends. It is boring.

Are Americans inherently more violent and selfish than other human beings? I doubt it. (One imagines Mr. Walton, after examining the latest crime statistics, coming to the conclusion that black people are a race of criminals.) It's true that our country has yet to produce a selfish leader like a Hitler, or a Stalin, or a Mao, willing to slaughter millions of people in a quagmire for establishing a better world, but someday, perhaps, we'll be as civilized as the rest of the world.

We are not a nation of saints, but to suggest that we are a nation of John Hinckleys is not only absurd; it is perverse. Mr. Walton should attempt to control himself when near a typewriter: what he does to logic is itself an act of violence.

Notre Dame beckoned, "I was fortunate to be with Gerry when he got the job," said Higgins. "I came with him because I enjoy coaching and this was a very good opportunity. I don't have any aspirations to be a head coach right now. I just want to do the best I can, wherever I am."

While at moeller, Higgins was also a teacher of English Literature and Theology. Taking the position here at Notre Dame has meant that he will be forced to give up that part of his career, however. "I think I am going to miss reaching a little bit," he said, "but I think I will be able to make up for that by establishing a closeness with the players. I mean the season is longer, and you have weight training in the off season, and you have spring football — which is something you don't have in high school — so I think the close relationship with the players will kind of make up for my being away from the classroom."

Higgins added that these are the type of players that make the game enjoyable for him. "I don't think I would like to coach in the pros," he said. "I like the high school and college-aged players. I think you can have more of an influence on a person's life at that age, rather than at a later time. I also don't like to be working with the same players seven, eight years in a row, or whatever the case may be."

Irish Baseball takes four of six

Resuming action over the Easter weekend, the Notre Dame baseball team split their six game decisions. On Thursday, the Fighting Irish played host to the Bulldogs of Butler and swept their first three game doubleheader. This time it was the Irish pitching that led the way in 2-1 and 4-3 victories. Bob Bartlett (5-2) and Mike Deasey (4-2) were the pitchers of record as they were for the Notre Dame doubleheader win against Ball State on Monday. Bartlett won the 2-1 decision, and Deasey pitched the second Irish shutout, 8-0. Sandwiched between these victories, Notre Dame lost twice, 4-5 and 8-7, at U. of Delaware on Saturday. The Irish are tied at 15-12-1 and their home record is a sparkling 11-1. Today, Notre Dame faces Ohio State at home, to face St. Joseph's to make up a doubleheader which was rained out last Tuesday. This weekend, the Irish will play in the Rocky Mountain Invitational tournament sponsored by Northwestern University in Chicago. - The Observer

Although they outscored both opponents by two goals in the second half of each game, the Irish nonetheless managed only two goals in each of the sluggish first halves en route to 2-1 third and fourth quarter Assorted setbacks (all at home). Higgins' injuries launch career

It is because of an accident scenario in which Jim Higgins was playing collegiate football days that Higgins is now Notre Dame's offensive line coach.

Jim Higgins hit the ground, his helmet came off. When the defender's foot met the side of Higgins' head, it was for all intents and purposes, over. The injury to several of grandsire were suddenly blurred.

So were the rest of his vision.

When the brain hemorrhaging started, doctors said his playing days were over.

But he became the next best thing.
