NIPSCO cancels nuclear power plant

CHICAGO (AP) — The board of directors of the Northern Indiana Public Service Co. yesterday voted to cancel its planned Bailly Nuclear Power Plant on Lake Michigan, 1979. Chairman Edmond Schaefer in a statement released yesterday.

Opponents have stalled the proposal for 10 years during which time the estimated cost has risen from $187 million to $1.8 billion. NIPSCO had said July 31 that the project was not feasible because it continued to face legal and regulatory problems. However, the company had been seeking approval from the Nuclear Regulatory Commission to resume its construction permit, which expired last year.

"this is the first time a nuclear plant has been stopped (by public pressure)."

The proposed Bailly plant, located 15 miles northwest of Gary, has been opposed for a decade by environmental and other interest groups who feel that it is too close to the metropolitan area. The Bailly site was also contended to the site, which abuts the Indiana Dunes National Lakeshore between Gary, Ind., and Michigan City, Ind., was an environmentally sensitive one on which to locate a nuclear plant. Although construction began in 1974, the project is reported to be only about 1 percent complete. Work at the site, said Provost Timothy J. Beilman, has ceased. Federal officials ordered a halt so they could examine plans for the plant's foundation. Construction work never resumed at the site.

A single boiling-water reactor was planned for the facility, which would have been part of a NIPSCO network which serves the northern third of Indiana.

James G. Keppeler, the highest-ranking NRC official in the Midwest, said cold water on the project by recommending that it be stopped.

In a Jan. 8 letter to NRC officials in Washington, Keppeler said he thought the nuclear reactor site was too close to Chicago. "We did not believe it was appropriate," Keppeler wrote, "with today's public and political attitudes to build a new plant this close to a major city.

Vollen said the plant failed to comply with any of six siting criteria that has been proposed by an NRC task force — but not yet adopted by the agency — for nuclear power plants. 10 of those criteria relate to the proximity of the project to people, Vollen said. "I have been told this is the first time a nuclear plant will be stopped by public pressure," said Vollen. "Other plants have been can-celled for other reasons."

The proposed Bailly plant took 9,271 man-years of work from completion.

The coalition of groups also opposed to the Bailly plant this close to a major city. The city's Arab sector, holy land, musicology under Ruth B. Metzger, and Intercultural and Religious studies.

Wildfire threat is lifted in northeastern United States

WASHINGTON (AP) — Amtrak, threatened earlier this year by President Reagan's budget cuts, announced yesterday a route network that eliminates some un-profitable trains but keeps most of the system intact.

Amtrak President Alan S. Boyd said 90 percent of service now provided will continue after September, when the 1982 fiscal year begins.

A number of trains that previously failed to attract enough passengers to meet congressional requirements will be eliminated, however, and trips along some successful Northeast Corridor as well as between Chicago and Milwaukee will be cut.

Boyd said the new routes and other cost-cutting efforts will allow Amtrak to operate with the $755 million subsidy provided by Congress for the 1982 fiscal year, although it already had asked for $860 million and said it could run the full system on $643 million.

The Amtrak trains that will stop running Oct. 1: are — the "Shanandoah," which runs from Washington to Cincinnati — the "North Star," an overnight train running bet-Weinstein. Amtrak will introduce daily service on the "Empire Builder" to replace the "North Star.

The "Pacific International," will run between Seattle and Vancouver, B.C.

In addition, Amtrak announced that two state-supported trains, run by Amtrak — the commuter line "Buenos Aires," between New Haven, Conn., and Boston, and the "Black Hawk" between Chicago and Dubuque, Iowa — will be discontinued because the states did not want to pick up the costs.

The reduction in trip frequencies center the Northeast Corridor between Boston and Washington but also affected a number of other trains around the country.

The Amtrak Metroliners will be reduced from 27 to 24 a day between Washington and New York and from 10 to 10 a day between Boston and New York. Boyd said the change will save Amtrak $13.4 million.

Boyd, who predicted earlier that service would have to be cut by 15 percent to cope with the budget cuts, said yesterday that costs had been cut by a variety of means in addition to route changes, saving $87 million.

Previous cost-cutting programs announced by Amtrak included a 25 percent reduction of headquarters staff and changes in food services.

As a news conference after the Amtrak board of direc-tors approved the route changes, Boyd said he expected the new routes to remain the same at least for the next two years.

Egypt's President Anwar Sadat (right) and Israel's Prime Minister Begin exchange words shortly before their joint press conference announcing that Israel and Egypt would resume the halted autonomy talks (AP)

Second summit

Sadat, Begin discuss PLO

ALEXANDRIA, Egypt (AP) — President Anwar Sadat and Israeli Prime Minister Menachem Begin said yesterday they will restart long-stalled talks on Palestinian autonomy. But their two-day summit left unresolved key differences between them, indicated.

Meeting reporters at Sadat's summer home in this Mediterranean port, the said the talks will resume Sept. 23 and between their foreign ministers. No location was given and neither would say whether any promises of concessions were exchanged in the meeting.

The leaders of the once warring nations said that during their sum-mit they discussed Israel's June 7 bombing of an Iraqi nuclear plant and the Israeli bombing of Palestine Liberation Organization targets in Beirut July 17 that killed at least 500 civilians.

Both said they would not comment on these talks, though Begin told one reporter who breached the sub-ject, "Israel never harmed, beaten, my friend. You said rightly, the PLO headquarters, not Beirut."

Begin and Sadat said they differ over how Palestinian representatives would be attracted to the negotiations for the 1.2 mil-lion Palestinians living on the West Bank of the Jordan River and Gaza Strip, which Israel seized in the 1967 Arab-Israeli War.

Begin rejected contacts with the Yasser Arafat's PLO, which is fighting for a Palestinian state on Israeli-occupied land. The Jewish state says the PLO is a terrorist group bent on Israel's destruction.

"We can and have to distinguish between the Palestinian Arabs and an organization called the PLO," Begin said.

Sadat told President Reagan in Washington this month that the United States should open a dialogue with the PLO. Reagan refused.

Sadat said he is not insisting autonomy talks immediately include Palestinians. He also said he would not recognize the PLO as the sole represen-tative of the Palestinians on the West Bank and the Gaza Strip.

The sharpest difference came up when the leaders asked if they believed Palestinian self-rule was possible without the PLO.

Sadat said, "There may be problems here and there."

Begin said it was "not only possible, but it is necessary to achieve peace with-out the PLO."

Egypt will file full judicial, execu-tive and legislative powers extended to the Palestinians, in ef-fect a state, Israel, fearing its security will be endangered, wants less say granted.

The summit was the second in three months between the leaders. They have pledged to work with the 1978 U.S.-sponsored Camp David accord to widen peace with other Arab nation opposed to Israel's exis-tence.

Sadat angrily called off the talks in early August of 1980 in response to Israel's annexation of Arab east Jerusalem as its eternally undivided capital. The city's Arab sector, holy to Christians, Jews and Moslems contains the Dome of the Rock mosque, one of Islam's most sacred shrines.

Roger Baldwin, founder of the American Civil Liberties Union and one of its guiding lights over six decades, died in his sleep early yesterday in New Jersey, the ACLU said. He was 97. Baldwin had been admitted to Valley Hospital in Ridgewood, near his Oakland home, on Sunday. He died of heart failure at 5:30 A.M., his son, Richard Baldwin, said. He had both emphysema and heart disease, but was active up to his death, holding meetings as recently as last week, said Trudi Schutz, a spokeswoman for the ACLU. "Roger Baldwin was one of the titans of American history," said Ira Glasser, executive director of the ACLU, and Norman Dorson, president of the group's board. In a statement, "His stamina and persistence in pursuit of liberty was a model for those of us who follow. He thought these times were the most dangerous he had seen, but he remained relentlessly optimistic about the long-range future of liberty. He liked to describe himself as 'traveling weekly.' Certainly his life and his journey must encourage us all." As he requested, he will be cremated and no funeral will be held. A memorial service will be scheduled at some later date. Ms. Schutz said. South Africa Prime Minister P.W. Botha said yesterday his troops were engaged in combat in Angola against black guerrillas for control of a general mobilization of its armed forces in response to what it has termed an invasion and attempt by the South Africans to occupy the southern part of its country. In New York, a spokesman for U.N. Security General Kurt Waldheim said Waldheim was cutting short his Australian vacation because of the developments which brought condemnation by Western powers on yesterday. The U.S. State Department in Washington, through spokesman Dean Pfeifer, said the Reagan administration "deplores" the attack but added the South African viewpoint must also be considered. The South African Press Association said Botha acknowledged the military action in a speech yesterday to the House of Assembly, but that reports about a large-scale invasion were exaggerated. Botha said South Africans had periodically mounted strikes against them there as well as in other African states. — AP

Reagan is expected to visit the city on Labor Day to present the check, Ann Putnam, a spokesman for Mayor Ed­ward L. Koch, said Thursday. The check, representing the federal down payment on construction of the Wetway roadway, will demonstrate the government's "clear commitment" to the project, Ms. Putnam said. The construction plans call for a 4.2-mile roadway on the city's West Side along the Hudson River, much of it on landfill. The federal government will pay for 90 percent of the project and the state for 10 percent. Estimates are on the highway range from $1.7 billion to $2.3 billion. — AP

Reagan stands by budget cuts

WASHINGTON (AP) — In a new drive to save additional billions in 1982, the Reagan administration is ordering federal agencies to stick to leaner budgets proposed by the president last spring rather than higher spending ceilings approved by Congress.

Ed Dale, a spokesman for the Office of Management and Budget, said the budget office will try to make sure Congress honors the administration's spending requests for the fiscal year beginning in October.

Toward that end, departments have been instructed to draft budgets based on the president's figures, said Dale.

The administration also is challenging Congress to accept the reduced spending plans by raising the prospect that Reagan may veto appropriations bills exceeding his original spending plans.

In what may turn into a second showdown over the budget, administration officials said they still hope to salvage up to $30 billion in spending cuts that Congress has already embraced, when the session begins Sept. 1, and to net even larger savings in programs that await action in the Senate.

Although Congress approved major new programs in the fall of 1981, when it adopted a new budget, and to net even larger savings in programs that await action in the Senate.

The budget bills enacted into law so far this year set ceilings on federal spending for different programs, but the appropriations bills will provide the actual money.

The Education Department, for example, will ask Congress to appropriate $1.5 billion for the fiscal year, as requested in March, even though Congress approved a $1.5 billion ceiling in the budget bills enacted into law.

The department's budget would reduce cuts, such as in aid programs for disadvantaged inner-city children and the handicapped — that Congress would not go along with during the first time.

Other examples of deeper cuts the administration wants include $600 million in railroad program, $500 million in energy assistance payments for low-income people and $300 million for the Comprehensive Employment and Training Act.

The budget office spokesman said the administration "has no intention" of seeking further cuts for 1982 in so-called "entitlement" programs, such as Medicaid and food stamps.

In the mammoth budget resolution it passed July 31, Congress reduced projected spending for the new fiscal year by $35 billion, according to its own calculations. The administration estimates the cuts fell some $6 billion short of what the president asked for.
Prisons necessitate more state taxes

INDIANAPOLIS (AP) — The citizens anti-crime lobby, Protect our Innocent, said yesterday it would support an increase in the state income tax to build more prisons.

"The question isn't whether the cost is going to be paid, it's by whom," said Henry C. Karlson, a professor at Indiana University School of Law in Indianapolis and PPI's legal adviser. "When you don't incorporate these people, the state is going to extract the cruelest tax of all and that is the tax of random crime."

Karlson made his statements during a hearing before the Legislature's interim study committee on corrections.

Karlson and PPI president Ros Stovall said the current criminal code is strict enough when it comes to sentences, but the problem is that judges often suspend punishments or grant probation instead of ordering the offender to spend time in jail.

"We're not asking for the criminal code to be changed," Stovall said. "Perhaps what we're suggesting is that it should be carried out.

Karlson added: Lerry Spencer of Rockville, who was injured and whose four sons were killed in a 1977 and bludgeoning in their Hollandale home, suggested that the state could afford to raise eyed scientists worked yesterday to fix a jammed camera platform on Voyager 2, but they said the robot ship's sweep past Saturn was a residually success that revealed a "tacky" new ringlet and a peculiarly kinked eye.

Voyager 2 camera jams in space

Scientists said the malfunction, which occurred shortly after Voyager skimmed 63,000 miles above the giant planet, might have been caused by a collision with debris from one of Saturn's rings.

Despite the problem, chief scientist Edward Stone said he was happy.

"We have accomplished most, if not all, of our major scientific objec­tives," told a news conference. "We were fortunate that it didn't stop a few hours earlier."

Mission director Richard Laeser said emergency actions were taken at Jet Propulsion Laboratory, nearby a billion miles from the ailing spacecraft, to protect the two television cameras and three other instru­ments on the disabled platform.

"The spacecraft is perfect (otherwise)," said JPL spokesman Frank Britstow, and was in two-way communication with mission con­trollers.

Voyager's quick dip past Saturn, which came late Tuesday after a four-year journey, all but buried scientists in an avalanche of pictures and data.

Photography team leader Brad­ford A. Smith said one intriguing item was a ringlet that seems pecu­liarily kinked. Since sister ship Voyager 1 buzzed Saturn last November, scientists have been trying to explain the narrow "F-ring" to be made up of braded rings, and assumed the formation was the result of gravita­tional tug from the planet and other satellites.

But Voyager 2's photos of such satellites have been found, he said.

Larry Soderblom, deputy photog­raphy team leader, said Voyager's examination of Saturn icy moon En­tanna showed empty plains, fields of craters, wrinkled ridges and val­leys, suggesting a rather recus his­tory of activity, perhaps the flow of water long since frozen.

The moon's surface, bright as fresh snow, "has turned out to be ex­otic," he said.

The platform became stuck while radio signals to Earth were blocked as Voyager was dipping behind Saturn.

The spacecraft dove through a sparse region of the rings during that period, and champagne corks popped here when signals were received at 11:59 p.m. (PDT) Tues­day.

This close-up view of Saturn's rings was taken before Voyager II's camera jammed. If it is not fixed before the ship reaches Uranus, scientists plan to turn the ship so the camera may be used. (AP)

Groups rally against O'Connor

NEW YORK (AP) — A vast coalition of conservative Christian organizations, meeting in a mass protest against abortion and, barring some clear signal that she sides with them, against confirmation of Sandra Day O'Connor to the U.S. Supreme Court, began yesterday.

This is a serious outrage to increasing numbers of people. We're going to raise a loud and clear public outcry against it. Americans don't like to be in the same league with Nazis and Communists, promoting genocide. We're concerned about God's judgment on America.

Rowe, executive director of Religious Roundtable, one of the rally's sponsors, said it appears unlikely the movement could stop Senate confirmation of Reagan's nominee to the high court, but that the question needs aired.

We are simply raising our voices.

Wilkins' health worsens

NEW YORK (AP) — Former NAACP leader Roy Wilkins, who was hospitalized with heart problems last week, slipped back into critical condition yesterday "due to complications of the kidney," a spokeswoman for New York University Medical Center said.

Wilkins, who had been transferred to a private room over the weekend and was listed in fair condition as recently as Monday, was returned to the intensive care unit early yesterday, said spokeswoman Judith Glass.

"His age is working against him," she said of the 79-year-old patient. Wilkins, whose birthday is today, was hospitalized with cardiac problems a week ago Tuesday. He had previously been a patient at New York University Medical Center for two weeks in March 1979 and subsequently had a pacemaker implanted.

Mental hospital closes down

INDIANAPOLIS (AP) - State Mental Health Commissioner Dennis Jones said Wednesday he hopes it will take no more than two days to relocate the 116 mental patients transferred by the closing of the St. Ann's facility at Hammond.

About 90 patients were transferred Tuesday to the Tri-City Mental Health Association Center at East Chicago. Others were sent to homes of relatives or to nursing homes.

The patients are temporarily housed on cots in a gymnasium and a yet-to-be-finished in-patient center at Tri-City.

Jones said some of the patients will be moved into nursing homes in the area and "other acute care psychiatric beds. A few do have families or independent resources to fall back on temporarily. We will admit as many as we can into Logansport State Hospital."

Tri-City director Glenn Kuipers said St. Ann's was closed after an agreement for a temporary state subsidy to keep it open fell through.

He called the transfer of patients from the nursing home Tuesday night a "human nightmare" and said the state's refusal to provide additional money to the nursing home "amounts to a decision that the mentally ill should be served in the streets."

Kuipers said he thought an agreement for temporary funding from the state had been reached during the weekend.

Nursing home director Art March said that in order to stay open, the facility must receive a minimum of $75,000 a month.

Jones said the St. Ann's situation came to his attention more than a week ago and he understood the facility planned to close about Sept. 1.

"Their rationale (for closing) is I understood it is they are losing money and for that reason did not want to operate," Jones said. "We agreed to provide them with funds to offset any said losses in operating. Basically the intent was to solve the crisis and keep the place open during the next 90 days.

The owners turned down the offer and said "We are going to close it and move the patients."

Jones said the "point of disagreement" during weekend conferences was that "St. Ann's wanted to find a longer term solution. We said we are not prepared to make any long term commitments, but we are not closing any doors and want to keep communications open."

Kuipers said a Red Cross kitchen has been set up in the center to feed the patients and that local churches are providing volunteers to prepare food.

"We really can't handle these people for much more than a week, however," he said.

The patients were sent to St. Ann's in mid-1978 when the Beatty Memorial Mental Hospital was closed at Westville. That facility now is used by the state Department of Correction.

NEW YORK — To get to their clubhouse, the New York Yankees have to walk though a narrow corridor where three air conditioning ducts hang on a wall almost 6 feet high. Since Yankee Stadium was remodeled five years ago, scores of players have walked that corridor, but the sharp edges of those ducts never seemed to bother George Frazier, all-6-foot-5 of him, rabbit Chalk up one more modernization in the old ballpark courtesy of Frazier, a 26-year-old relief pitcher who ranked three times with the St. Louis Cardinals (3-11, 3.86 ERA) but has made the most of his opportunity with the Yankees, who acquired him in a minor league deal in June and brought him up two weeks ago to help an ailing bullpen. The mishap that cost Frazier a lock of his hair — the front of his scalp was shaved so six stitches could be taken — occurred last weekend as he headed toward the clubhouse. He reached into his pocket to get some money, lowered his head as he did so and ... "ouch!" That's almost as embarrassing as what Frazier has done to rival batters in his latest big league trial. In seven appearances, he has yielded only one run in 14 innings while saving three games. Goose Gossage and Ron Davis could hardly have done better. "It's unbelievable that I've been able to come here and do what I've done," says Frazier. "I know as soon as Gossage and Davis are ready I'll be pitching long relief, but that's fine with me." Until this year, about the only thing Frazier had proved was that he was an accident looking for a place to happen. Pitching for Springfield in the American Association in June, he broke off the mound for a soft liner and came face-to-face with his shortstop, who fielded the ball and fired it toward Frazier's head. This all started back in the fourth grade when Frazier leaned back too far on a swing one day, cracked his head on a rock and had to walk around for a week or so with metal clamps holding the gash together. The next week, being chased by his brother, he put his hand through a glass door, causing a jagged cut on his left wrist. He still has the scar from that one, along with nicks on the side of his neck, his chin and the corner of his mouth where he went through a car windshield his freshman year in high school for "a bunch of stitches" worth. "I stayed pretty clean until last November, when I had an appendicitis attack and had to have my appendix out," Frazier said. "I have zippers all over my body. Just what he's been throwing at opposing batters.

Coach confronts linebacker

CINCINNATI (AP) — Cincinnati Bengals Coach Forrest Gregg spent with the defensive performance last week against the Chicago Bears, tangled with defensive end Gary Burley during practice. It was Gregg's second wrangle with defensive lineman this summer. He had an earlier spat with Wilson Whitley over play during practice. Wednesday's encounter started midway through the defensive drill when Burley took an outside pursuit on a play and raised his back cut inside him for a big gain. "It's the same thing every week. You mess up because you don't know what you're doing," shouted Gregg. They ran the same play and Burley moved inside to stop it. Burley was taken out after the play, threw his helmet and walked behind the offensive huddle. Gregg followed and the two had a discussion while practice continued. "I made a mental mistake and I was just mad at myself," Burley said of throwing his helmet. "I was hot, irritated and tired and I got lazy on the play. I didn't want to do it. He jumped down my throat. Ask him if he could give me my tonsils back."

was the loser.

At howle drove in five runs with two doubles and a sacrifice fly as the Houston Astros stopped a four-game losing streak with 9 3 win over the Minnesota Twins.

Dave Winfield drew a one-out walk from Dave Stieb and scored when Murcer lined a single to left-center. The victory went to New York relief ace Rich Gossage, 5-0, who surrendered a tying run in the top of the eighth on singles by Dave Justice and pinch-hitter Heken Powell plus Rob Willfong's grounder to third, on which Engle beat the throw to the plate.

New York played with a patchwork lineup that saw shuffling Reggie Jackson benched and Winfield dropped to sixth in the batting order and two other regulars — outfielder Lou Piniella and second baseman Willie Randolph — sidelined with injuries.

Cesar Geronimo, a last-minute replacement for the injured Amos Otis, had two hits including a two-run homer, and left-hander Larry Gura pitched a seven hitter Wednesday day as the Kansas City Royals beat the Detroit Tigers, 6-1.

Kansas City broke open the game with five runs in the fifth inning. Darrell Motley led off with a walk and came home on Geronimo's second homer of the season. Singles by Willie Wilson and Frank White chased Detroit starter Aurelio Lopez, 5-2, and George Bleetreet greeted reliever George Carrasquelo with a run-scoring single.

An RBI single by Hail McRae and a bases-loaded walk to Motley produced the Royals' other two runs.

Gura, 8-5, struck out four and walked four in winning his fourth straight game since play resumed following the players' strike. Otis had a strained back. In the only other scheduled American League contest, Chicago was raised out in Milwaukee.

Players of the Pittsburgh Pirates and the Los Angeles Dodgers confronted each other in the ballparks under the stands in the sixth inning of Tuesday's game in Pittsburgh. No bloopers were exchanged, and the Dodgers won the game, 9-7, in eleven innings. (AP)

Aragon runs toward Olympics

By EARL RIX
Sports Writer

Chuck Aragon, Notre Dame’s first sub-four minute miler, continued to make Notre Dame track history this summer.

Aragon, who started medical school at the University of New Mexico just two weeks ago, represented Notre Dame on national television three times this summer. He became a three-time All American by finishing fifth in the NCAA 1500 meters. In doing so, he lowered the school record in the 1500 meters by 0.06 seconds to 3:58.4, which is roughly equivalent to a 3:55 mile.

On May 24 at the ICAA’s Aragon finished second to Sidney Maree in the 1500.

Aragon won the Central Collegiate Conference Championship in the half-mile on May 30.

The NCAA’s were held in Baton Rouge, La., June 4-6. The Las Lunas, N.M., native won his qualifying heat in the 1500 and then finished fifth in the finals with a blazing 3:38.4 that would have set the NCAA record a year earlier. Only one one-hundredth of a second separated third from fifth place.

A week later Aragon competed against a world-class field that featured 10 sub-four minute milers including former world record-holder John Walker, American record-holder Steve Scott, Ray Flynn and Sidney Maree. The race was a tactical one, and Chuck finished fourth with a 4:02 mile.

At The Athletics Congress National Championship Aragon finished second in his qualifying heat and ninth in the finals, in which he probably made a tactical mistake by making a premature run at the leaders, according to Notre Dame track coach Joe Piane. Chuck ended his season and Notre Dame career by finishing fourth in the 1500 at the National Sports Festival in Syracuse, N.Y. He had a great track season,” said Piane. “He can continue to train he can run 3:51 or 3:52 in the mile and become world class in the 5000 meters.”

Ovett sets mile record

KOBLENZ, West Germany (AP) — Steve Ovett of Great Britain set a new world record in the mile Wednesday, covering the distance in 3 minutes, 48.40 seconds to break Sebastian Coe’s world mark.

Coe, Ovett’s countryman, had run a 3:48.53 mile in a meet in Zurich, Switzerland earlier this year.

Ovett’s dazzling performance was the highlight of the meet, which brought together leading track and field athletes from the United States, West Germany, the Soviet Union and other countries.

Steve Scott of the United States won the 1,500-meter race in 3:31.94 — an American record, the fourth best in history and close to Ovett’s world record of 3:31.36. The old American record of 3:35.1 was set by Jim Ryun of Kansas in 1967.

Meanwhile, world record-holder Henry Rono of Kenya posted the year’s best time in the 5,000 meters, finishing in 13:52.5.

Ovett, performing before 22,000 fans on the same track where he set the world record in the 1,500 meters a year ago, outdistilled James Robinson of the United States in the mile.

The 25-year-old Briton saved his strength and passed Robinson in a spectacular finish.

American Renaldo Nehemiah came close to breaking his world mark in the 110-meter hurdles. His winning time of 13.05 seconds was only 0.12 short of the record of 12.93.

Other American winners were Stephanie Bradley in the women’s 100-meter hurdles in 13.09, national record holder Pam Spencer in the women’s high jump at 6-2, Mel Lawton in the men’s 100 in 10.24, Walter McCoy in the men’s 400 in 45.9, Larry Myricks in the men’s long jump at 27.7, and Jan Merrill in the women’s 3,000 in 8:51.9.9.

There is a new look to the Notre Dame offense this year. The Irish have abandoned the newly decorated offices, the redesigned uniforms, and the fresh personnel. It is expected to be the key to the offense's success.

Traditionally, the Notre Dame offense has been known for its balanced attack. This year, the Irish have turned to a more aggressive style, focusing on the run and the short pass. The offense has been rejuvenated by the addition of several key players, including quarterback John Stabler.

Stabler, who had been the starting quarterback for the last three years, announced his retirement on the day of the game. He had helped lead the Notre Dame offense to three CIAA championships and was considered one of the top quarterbacks in the country.

The Irish offense has been transformed under the leadership of head coach Gerry Faust. He has brought in new offensive strategies and a more aggressive style of play. The offense has been rejuvenated and is expected to score more points this year.

Rutgers coach Joe Paterno has said that he expects the Irish to be more balanced this year. "They have a lot of speed and a lot of talent," said Paterno. "But they also have a lot of depth and a lot of experience. They have a lot of weapons on offense."
