At Saint Mary's
SBP Murphy discusses role

Saint Mary's College Student Body President SBP Murphy discussed his position of Saint Mary's student government with Observer news staffer Stajan Murdock.

Q: What is the purpose of St. Mary's student government?
A: We see ourselves as a liaison between the administration and students. We are trying to steer away from the stereotype of only providing social activities. Basically, we are the student voice elected by the students, for the students. We are frustrated, though, because we haven't heard much from the students. We want to hear their opinions. Our voice is only as good in the students who use it. For example, we've had three student forums where we tried to actively seek student opinion and no one came.

Q&A

Eileen Murphy

Q: What are your general plans and goals for the year?
A: Your number one priority is to lobby for student space in the old library. I want to make sure students are represented when space is allocated in the spring. The building is really up for grabs and I think it's more of a problem than the administration may see. It's self-evident that the students need the social space, and it's being taken for granted that they'll get it. There are several other groups who also want that space, so they can sell their interest if they hope to get it.

Q: Have you received cooperation from Administration in your efforts and projects?
A: Your initial expectations will never be fulfilled. Last week we had Duke Tomatoes here, and only seventeen people came. They who were who went had a really good time. He's always well received at Notre Dame. I just wish people would take advantage of the activities we offer at St. Mary's. We want people to realize that they can have a good time here, and don't always have to go off campus or to Notre Dame.

Q: What type of services and activities do you have planned?
A: Some of the services we're trying to make students more aware of are the Volunteer Service Opportunities and the Academic Council. Academics is one area of student government that goes largely un-tapped. The Academic Council, which is chaired by Vice President for Academic Affairs, Emmon Lopez, is made up of representatives, one from each department and helps students if they have a problem with a profes-

WNDU erects facility on U.S. 33

Volunteer activities, construction of the new 3.5 million facility for the WNDU television and radio stations continues on schedule, according to Charles Linster, Director of Special Projects at the stations.

Located at the corner of U.S. 35 and Dorr Road, the new building is expected to be completed by May of 1982.

Designed by Mathews, Purnacker, and Amella, Inc., the finished facility will be nearly 3,000 square feet. Features of the new building include two television and six radio studios which will be used for both on-air and audio production work. The building will also contain classroom and other teaching facilities to be used by radio and television classes and internships offered in cooperation with the University of Notre Dame and Saint Mary's College.

The building will house the three WNDU stations, which include Channel 16 Television, WNDU-FM Radio, and CW Radio/WNDU-FM Radio. The stations are commercial, taxing paying organizations, owned and operated by a subsidiary of the University of Notre Dame.

The new building will replace the stations' original facility, located just north of the University Library. The present station was built in 1945, when WNDU-TV first came on the air.

With occupancy of the new facility scheduled for June of next year, the University plans to turn over the old building to an existing university department in need of new space. Departments being discussed for occupation of the building include the University Placement Bureau and the Experiential Learning Group.

The new facility is expected to have an excellent impact on the University in particular in addition to the community as a whole, according to Bill O'Hagan, General Manager. He further stated The facility will al- low the station to offer educational television. In addition, the increased space will allow us to better serve the needs of the audience.

Maier explains role of news magazine

By MARK WORSCHEN
News Staff

Frank Maier, Chicago
bureau chief for Newsweek, has been tackling the istricate job of editing and approval. While not critical of this process, Maier admits that there are problems.

"Our writers in New York will receive a 100-word story from Chicago and find that space limits allow for only 800 word.
A series of Manhattan-based editors, whom he believes are "out of touch, with reality just because of location," will cut the Midwestern story down to the 800-word limit.

"He who uses the subtleties can be lost," said Maier.

"When I get the story back to me to see how it's set in concrete almost," he said.
"The system lends itself to oversimplification and errors of interpreting."

Maier also discussed "newsroom" in the media, saying that a great number of journalists rely on what other journalists have deemed important.

"What Dan Rather sets as his top story affects not only people, but other papers," commented Maier, referring to editors who choose headline stories on the basis of what more famous journalists have done.

"The power of the media to set the agenda for the rest of us is errorous."

"The particular problem of news magazines," Maier explained, "is that they influence not only readers, but also makes in the country.

"Speaking of journalists in general, Maier called them "fallible people" and denied any claims to objectivity.

"Nobody is objective. Everybody is subjective. All the best journalists try to be flat."

Maier also spoke of cover selection with respect to Newsweek and other weekly news magazines.

"Sensing is supposed to say something about what life is like in 1981, some of which is silly and frivolous, he said, adding that the next Newsweek cover story would be about ABC's General Hospital.

the government to continue a line of dialogue with the independent labor federation Solidarity to prevent further social protests over consumer and political issues.

"We are aware that the mood in the factories is getting radical, that social protest against misery and hunger is growing..." the paper said.

The call for mediation rather than confrontation follows the verbal war waged by the Soviet Union and its Warsaw Pact allies, charging Solidarity with a "large-scale anti-Soviet campaign" and telling the authorities here to crack down on the independent union.

The Bulgarian Communist dai-pendent trade union organizations

The Resident Director had an unlimited number of ways in which she could handle a violation complaint: she could meet with the student and sanction her; she could simply sanction her without a hearing; she could send her to another Board; or she could choose to ignore the original complaint," said O'Donnell. Kathleen Rice, who became Dean of Student Affairs in 1976, saw an immediate need for an overhaul of the outdated system. "The old system bred an inconsistent and capricious enforcement of regulations; the regulations were unclear and students just didn't understand the whole system," said Dean Rice.

In the 1977-78 term, a group of students, faculty and administrators, led by Dean Rice, began a thorough examination of the system. Their goal was to eventually develop a simpler, fairer, and more efficient system which included a due process clause for students. "The old system, as written, was simply too cumbersome and the language was too legalistic," said Rice. Their efforts bore fruit two years later (1980-81) with the adoption of a completely rewritten constitution containing many changes. The implementation of the new system last year was very successful and few difficulties ever arose. The identical system was approved for this school year.

The new system cites four legitimate regulatory entities of equal power: the Resident Directors; the Student Relations Board; and the newly created Dean's Hearing Board and Administrative Hearing Board. The Student Relations Board, a branch of Student Government, consists of eight students and is chaired by the Student Judicial Commissioner. The Dean of Student Affairs chairs the Dean's Hearing Board, which is completed by the Judicial Commissioner and a faculty member. The Judicial Commissioner's chairperson and two other administrators compose the Administrative Hearing Board. Procedural guidelines are succinctly stated for the handling of each and every case. Any deviation from this procedure is adequate grounds for appealing to the Appellate Board, which consists of a student, faculty member, and administrator. The student is afforded due process at each and every stage of the process.

All judicial activity must begin with the submission of an official incident report from the accusing party to the Resident Director of the accused party's hall. The Resident Director is then required to send a written notice to the accused requesting a meeting with her within 48 hours. At this meeting the student and Resident Director discuss the alleged violation and mutually decide on how the case can best be disbursed. If both parties agree, the actual meeting can become a hearing and the Resident Director gains the authority to sanction. Otherwise, it is agreed to which of the three Boards the student will be sent.

The purpose behind the various compositions of the various boards becomes evident at this point. "It offers the student the fairest judgment possible. Maybe the violation is the sort that a student's peers would be more understanding of. Maybe she feels the authority of the Dean was too legalistic," said O'Donnell.

The system includes four types of sanctions at present: a letter of discipline, disciplinary probation, social probation, and outright dismissal from either hall or school. A student need not receive a lesser sanction before receiving the next in order of severity. The letter of probation is the final step before outright dismissal and may involve restrictions on extracurricular activities or leadership positions. The two lesser sanctions serve simply as written warnings. All letters are maintained on file at the office of the Judicial Coordinator, who provides the various Boards with all information pertinent to each case. Dean Rice is pleased with the system thus far. "It worked very well last year and operates in a clear, consistent, and fair manner," said Rice.

She added that no changes in the system are foreseeable in the near future.

A 'planned approach'

ND govt. deals with students

An examination of the structure of Notre Dame’s Student Government reveals a planned approach to dealing with the concerns of students. In addition, it provides an effective link between students and the Administration.

As outlined in last week’s article, Student Body President Don Murphy’s cabinet attempts to deal with specific areas of student life in a comprehensive manner and to lay the groundwork for specific proposals to the Administration in these areas. Twenty-one cabinet positions exist, including five positions devoted to deal with special projects which may arise during the year. The cabinet is divided into three sections, each guided by an Executive Coordinator: Gene Barta, Don Schmid, and Frank Tjige.

"College to Career Days" and "Women’s Opportunity Week" are September 27 through October 2 and will begin with a keynote address by Juliette Morano Jones, who was the Secretary of Education under Jimmy Carter. She will talk on "Planning Livelihoods and Careers After a Liberal Arts Education." Women’s Opportunity Week will be held March 21 and will feature outstanding women in different fields giving speeches. We would like to get more women involved in this year’s program. Our women’s organizations such as Notte Flante and certain of the women’s groups would like to continue.

Q: Many students have spoken out against the paternal system at Notre Dame. Is anything being done to change or revist the present system?

A: We recently sent out to the students a general student government survey which included two questions about parents. We already have an in-house committee with the Board of Governance to begin working on changing the system if that is what the students want. We also sent out surveys to about thirty-five colleges similar to Saint Mary’s. We’re trying to see what their paternal systems are like.

Examples of work in this area are the soft and leg proposals. The H.P.C. is also working to define the relationship between it and the Student Senate. Since Mike and three elected representatives from H.P.C. are in Senate, H.P.C. has a vital role in the drafting of all resolutions. Finally, the council is working to further its own identity as a governing body. Holy Cross President Brian Kane says H.P.C. is the best representative of the students we have. We’re presenting the concerns of every dorm.

Once proposals are drafted either in the cabinet or H.P.C., they are sent to the Student Senate for ratification and refinement. Any official statement from the Student Government comes out of this body. The Senate is comprised of class presidents, H.P.C. reps, Off-Campus reps, Judicial Committee and four district senators. In addition to Murphy, Kenney, Student Union director Bill Lawler and Student Body Treasurer Karen Kiley. The Senate works with the everyday concerns of student life, leaving the cabinet and H.P.C. free to focus on long-range goals.

But just when it looked like the French were running out of gas and beginning to crumble, captain Sam Kahale beat the entire St. Louis defense to a feed from teammate "gopher" Steve Berry of San Francisco.

It's still in the fact that, for one shining moment back there, baseball had already made that kind of impact. It was a tough call to make but it happened against us so many times," Kahale explained. "The whole thing is that it was a close game that could have gone either way. We controlled the tempo most of the way and played our game. We beat them."

Blue's slider for a hitter is a looks like a fastball until — all of a sudden — the batters realize it's an impostor. "It's almost like you see this nice little old lady coming," John McNamara once observed. "And then, when she gets right on top of you, you realize it's a guy with a knife."

Now that Vida Blue has come up with a pitch with a knife in it, it is likely the Commissioner of Baseball will look the other way if he were to be traded! Or did the Commissioner just feel that the San Francisco Giants could not possibly have hurt the competitive balance unless the entire '62 Yankees moved in? The San Francisco Giants, you see, have the finest honors competitive balance of the 1959 St. Louis Browns. But Vida Blue, who has now won 178 games, can take comfort in the fact that, for one shining moment back there, baseball had already made that kind of impact. It was a tough call to make but it happened against us so many times," Kahale explained. "The whole thing is that it was a close game that could have gone either way. We controlled the tempo most of the way and played our game. We beat them."

Rich Hunter, the five-year all-American of Notre Dame's astonishing success that has culminated in a NCAA Top Twenty rating this week, said: "The whole game isn't decided on one call. You win some and you lose some, that way. St. Louis got a goal on a mistake by the referee of a rule interpretation and we didn't get a penalty kick in the last minute (of regulation) when Manu got loosed in the area."

"For our kids to even get to the point where they had a chance to beat St. Louis is something I never thought possible," he added. "We've been talking about this game for a year after they embarrassed us down there. The kids worked all winter, all spring, and all summer to get to this game and they played their hearts out. They deserve it."

These Notre Dame kids without a single scholarship deserve it as much as their coaches. And the St. Louis kids with all their scholarships and all their history deserve what they got.

St. Louis will still go to the playoffs and Notre Dame may not. But this 1981 Irish team wrote some history of its own that should never be considered tarnished.

Sorry 'bout that, you Georgia Dawgs, but the Clemson Tigers stole your thunder, so they might as well swipe your theme song, too.

The fourth-ranked Georgia Bulldog, college football's defending national champions, traveled to Death Valley, alias Clemson Memorial Stadium, and saw the nation's largest steelmaker win.

"The game was won by the Clemson defense," he said.

Second-ranked USC prepared for next week's showdown with No. 3 Oklahoma, which was idled, by defeating Indiana 21-0.

Raiders’ fullback Derrick Jensen plunged 1 yard for a touchdown early in the fourth quarter, helping prevent a 1-2 finish over Seattle, 1-2. The Raiders, 2-1, led 13-3 at the half on a 13-yard touchdown run by quarterback Jim Plunkett in the first period and a 20-yard Plunkett pass to Morris Bradshaw just before the half. Seattle pulled within three when Jim Zorn passed 36 yards to Sam McCullum for a score early in the second half.

Drew Henson’s 50-yard touchdown pass from backup quarterback Jeff Rutledge in the final period to erase a 16-14 deficit and send Los Angeles to its first victory in three games. Former Michigan and Arkansas quarterback Tyler scored fourth-quarter touchdowns, including a 32-yarder, to knock off New Orleans, who dealt Green Bay its second loss in three games.

The Giants, 2-1, got a pair of field goals from Joe Danels, including a club record 55-yarder, and Phil Simms threw for 424 yards, including 12 yards to Gary Shirk for one of New York’s touchdowns, to beat the Saints, 1-2. Blasting through those holes were Wolverine backs Woodfill (139 yards), Stan Edwards (52 yards) and Lawrence Ricks (40 yards, one touchdown). And Smith (64 yards, one touchdown) had few problems running the option, especially behind 275-pound blockers like tackle Ed Muransky.

Carter, who has been noted for their footballing and holstering (and Bob Cloes' main gun), "Muransky relaxed in a publik Michigan locker room. "So we just tawnted him a few times. We beat him the last two games, but they just got more points than we did. We knew how tough they were, so we had to blow them out this time."

"We came back after a rather poober performance against Win­consin, and I'm real pleased about that," offered Schmechtber. "But we're still 0-1 in the league. I'm not sure if I should trade this for a win later."

Dolphins upset Oilers

Quarterback Don Strock, a third-quarter substitute, threw a 3-yard touchdown pass with 6:40 left to play, boosting the Miami Dolphins to a 10-1 victory over Houston in the National Football League Sunday.

Strock, replacing starter David Woodley, completed seven of 10 passes for 62 yards and engineered the drive that kept the Dolphins, 5-0-1, undefeated. It was the first time this year any team had scored a second-half touchdown against Houston, 2-1.

Miami's first nine points came on field goals by Ken Stabler to Ken Burroughs in the first quarter and a 40-yard Tony Frenich field goal in the third quarter.

Miami sacked Stabler eight times for 62 yards in losses. Four of the sacks were by tackle Bob Baumhower.

Coach Don Shula said he replaced Woodley with Strock to start the second half because he wanted more experience in the lineup.

"The Oats were confusing Woodley with their coverages, and we just wanted more experience in the lineup," Shula said.

The Pelissier, stentor duty with a hammering pull, ran 12 yards for Cleveland's winning touchdown in the fourth quarter, and the Browns held on to beat the Bruins, who scored two touchdowns in the final period.普特的 scoring run gave the Browns, 1-2, a 20-17 lead. Cincinnati, now 2-1, closed the gap to three points with a 5-7 play on a 2-yard touchdown plunge by fullback Pete Johnson.

Rick Danneker's 20-yard field goal with four seconds to play lifted Minnesota 1-2, 1-2 over Detroit 1-2. The game marked the return of Vikings quarterback Tommy Kramer, who injured his knee in an Aug. 27 preseason game. Kramer drove the Vikings 81 yards in the final two minutes to set up the winning kick.

His drive included passes of 16 yards to Ted Brown and 18 and 3 yards to Sammy White.

Frank Polich, replacing the flag-borne halfback, then wrapped two field goals, 37 and 32, 37 and 32.

Michigan too much for Irish

By KELLY SULLIVAN

ANN ARBOR, Mich. — Sometimes between last Saturday and this Saturday, Michigan remembered what a No. 1 football team was supposed to play like and Notre Dame forgot.

The Wolverines learned their lesson following a loss to Wisconsin. Coach Bo Schenbechler drilled his team on fundamentals during practice this week, a work that backfired. Chuck Wooffolk called "long, hard and boring.

"We knew him best could never predict how he'd take defeat. Linebacker or the coaches to get him back. He would make the Irish a good team. I voted for Notre Dame coach Gerry Faust.

"But things do change. Last year, when the Billikens gave the Irish soccer 100 percent since last year and that's a credit to Notre Dame coaching staff has done." Faust acknowledged the importance of that early time.

"Once Michigan got going, they outplayed us in every aspect," remarked wingback Tony Faust.

"We had just too many little mistakes," Faust said. "This, in the final 11 of Notre Dame's 12 first downs. "I thought we were ready, but they outplayed us. They came out fired up and ready to play. But we really didn't want to lose. We just couldn't get on track and get a rhythm."

"If we had gotten a couple of breaks, maybe the momentum would have helped us out.

"There was a lot of arm-chair coaching going on after the game. Why did the offense suddenly get so conservative? It was still a close game," explained Faust. "I didn't want to gamble. Then why the fake field goal? I thought it would go — I just thought it would work.

"Almost nothing Notre Dame did seemed to work, but the Irish coach did still take his frustration out on his players."

"It doesn't do any good to yell at them right now. The team is in said I am that they didn't perform well. But as long as we learn something from this loss, it's been worthwhile.

"What really concerns Faust is whether his troops will bounce back from the shake-up."

"I don't want the kids or the coaches to get their heads down about this," he said. "We've got a real good football team. We just have to work harder."

Faust, 1-1 in the college ranks, doesn't want to go through two more afternoons like Saturday. "Assistants told me there'd be days like this one in a while, he added. "I just hope they're right — they'll only be once in a while."

Irish head coach Gerry Faust can only wonder "What have I gotten myself into," as he looks on Saturday's disappointing loss to the Michigan Wolverines. In two weeks of college coaching, Faust has collected his first win and his first loss. Would you believe a tie at Purdue? (Photo by John Macer)

"St. Louis lacks class in defeat" Sports Writer

The sport of soccer, for reasons that escape me at this time, has a history of violence that somehow adds a characteristic of Michigan's teams and very intense - if you'd have guessed you would after you watched the game on national television audience on the balance of the dominance, the tendencies on offense, in imitation of defense. When the line was over, Anthony Carter's thoughts about rotating his play calling, didn't move the football, but momentum early and couldn't take advantage of higher learning, probably felt pretty left out of things since he arrived in South Bend.

"There's no excuse," commented Notre Dame's coach Jimmy Johnson, when we'd throw the cover's squad player for a 7-for-1, yard reception. "We were in a zone two deep. The free safety (Rod Faust) was responsible for him. But Stacey (Tornas) knocked Carter out of bounds for a few seconds when Rod lost him. In college, you're allowed to come back in, and that's what Carter did.

"Faust acknowledged the importance of that early time. "Once Michigan got going, they outplayed us in every aspect," remarked wingback Tony Faust.

"We just made too many little mistakes," Faust said. "This, in the final 11 of Notre Dame's 12 first downs. "I thought we were ready, but they outplayed us. They came out fired up and ready to play. But we couldn't do anything to stop it.

"The Michigan defense found plenty of ways to stop the Irish of course, however. Deep in its own territory for most of the game. Notre Dame managed just 213 net yards (only 70 on the ground) while their offense produced 49.

"We just couldn't get on track and get a rhythm, " said Hunter, who gained just 11 yards in seven tries, but caught five passes for the better of Michigan's teams and "2 yards." There didn't move the football, but momentum early and couldn't take advantage of higher learning, probably felt pretty left out of things since he arrived in South Bend.
