Three ideals
Vesey interprets higher education

By MARK WORSCHIE
Vice Staff

The development of higher education provided the topic for a lecture given last night by Professor Laurence Vesey, of the University of California at Santa Cruz. Vesey, the author of several books on the history of American education, discussed the three ideals in higher learning and the balance between them.

Calling the university a "place of extreme intellectual diversity," Vesey said that career training, basic research, and liberal arts fall under the concept of higher education. "Pendulum swings" give each of these ideals relative prominence in history, and according to Vesey, current economic pressures hurt the liberal arts ideal out of all. "We live not only in an age of reduced means and budgets," said Vesey. "But of increasing pessimism and loss of intellectual morale. Faculties are being deprived of the time and confidence they need to do it."

Though career training and research hold the current advantage, Vesey said that the liberal arts are "not all that had a place to find oneself if one is to be lucky." Vesey defended academia from charges that universities help spawn complacency by promoting a culture of "protest" by saying that the market causes corruption, not the brief encounter with the academic world. "It is the target society that is failing us, rather than the academic world, society failing us," concluded Vesey.

Vesey's lecture, "Higher Education: The Development of a Profession," was the sixth in a ten-part series entitled "The Professions in American History." Sponsored by Notre Dame's history department and funded by the Scherer Community Endowment, the Industrial Arts Committee for the History of Technology, the lecture will be published by the University of Notre Dame Press.

Enrich students
ND/SMC foreign programs prosper

By CAROL CAMP
News Staff

Since the initiation of foreign studies programs in 1964, more than 1,000 Notre Dame and Saint Mary's students have utilized the opportunities which these programs provide.

Participants usually spend their sophomore or junior year abroad in such countries as Taiwan and Mexico. In the classroom, they learn about the country's language, literature, and culture, but they acquire the valuable and transferable education outside the familiar four walls. By living with people of a different cultural background on a daily basis, a vast new world of beliefs and ideals, which challenge their own perspective, introduces itself to the students.

According to Dr. Charles Par...
The Hall Presidents Council met for the seventh time this year opening with a presentation given by Brother Jim McTaggart on United Way. McTaggart encouraged the presidents to raise as much money as possible by soliciting student contributions. Student Savings Cards, which will give students a ten percent discount at a variety of stores were given to Hall Presidents. Student Body Vice President Tara Kenny discussed the problems of long lines in the North Dining Hall. Members of the HPC, agreed the problem was due to slow service. Council President, Mike Moran, asked if any of the dorms were having water problems. Only one water sample had been turned in to Rick Butler who is analyzing it for trifluoromethane. The meeting closed with a series of announcements. John Stevens, Alumni President, told the Council that the Standard Review Committee is going to give a plaque, on a monthly basis, to the dorm with the most spirit. It was also announced that Sorin Hall will be holding a Pep Rally tomorrow night featuring Garry Faust and also sponsoring a talent show Saturday morning. Both activities will be held on Sorin's porch — The Observer

Saint Mary's College will offer a study and tour program in India during the summer of 1982. The program provides an opportunity to travel in India, Nepal and Sri Lanka while learning about the history, religion, art and music of Asia. This representative from the India office of tourism located in Chicago, will be at Saint Mary's to discuss the study and tour program. The talk and slide show, which is open to persons interested in the program, will be presented at a time full at 7 p.m. The study and tour program will be held July 1-Aug. 13, 1982. Organized study will be conducted at the Ohrantam Fortepal Institute, a Catholic graduate school in Bangladesh. The study program will be interdisciplinary and students may obtain up to 10 college credits. Travel will include visits to Bangladesh, India, Delhi, Madras, the Taj Mahal, Ajanta caves, the beautiful valley of Kashmir, the tip of the continent, Cape Comorin and Kathmandu, the exotic capital of the tiny Himalayan kingdom of Nepal. The cost of the program is $4,000 and includes roundtrip air fare from New York, double occupancy rooms in luxury hotels, all meals, air and ground transportation in India. For more information contact Dr. C. Polpally, History Department, Saint Mary's College, Notre Dame, IN 46556. — The Observer

A pending presidential order would place fewer restrictions on CIA infiltration of domestic groups than an earlier draft that was shelved last March after a storm of protest, government sources said yesterday. The latest plan, if signed by President Reagan, would replace restrictions imposed on U.S. intelligence agencies by President Carter in 1978. It would permit the CIA to infiltrate and, with the attorney general's approval, influence domestic groups, sources said. The CIA is barred from such activities under the Carter order. The Reagan draft would have permitted the CIA to infiltrate a domestic organization only if that action "is limited in its nature, scope and duration to a lawful purpose related to foreign in intelligence." — AP

A retired judge and his wife complained that Delta couldn't fly on time, and a jury awarded them $200,000 for being bumped from a flight — by far the largest award ever made to airline passengers denied their seats. A circuit Court jury in New York agreed with former Illinois Supreme Court Justice Thomas Kluczynski and his wife, Melanie, that they suffered "humiliation, indignity and outrage" when they were told all seats were filled because of overbooking on their Delta Airlines flight to Florida on Feb. 19, 1976. The award against the airline, whose advertising slogan is "Delta is ready when you are," was more than twice the amount requested in the lawsuit. Delta said it would appeal the award, which the Civil Appeal Court last month upheld. It is the second jury award for airline bumping. CAB guidelines currently require that airlines provide bumped passengers with free flights for free within two hours of their planned departure time. The Kluczynskis had been invited to join Alberta Calver Chairman Leonard Lavin at his Florida farm to witness the birth of a horse. — AP

Congressional support for President Reagan's new economic proposals lost yesterday as the House considered an $87.5 billion appropriations bill which the administration deemed hundreds of millions over budget. The House voted 285 to 50 to cut $74 million from the measure, but the decisive vote was expected later on a Republican move to send it back to a conference committee to trim a potential presidential veto. Reagan's House allies argued that the appropriations bill for the departments of Labor, Education and Health and Human Services must be trimmed: "This is the best of bills and the worst of bills," said Republican Leader Robert H. Michel of Illinois. "On another day and another time" it would have received "unanimous support. We believe the bill is excessive and the president surely will veto it." Michel said in a speech on the House floor. Reagan voted last week to remove $30 million in programs from the bill. — AP

A heavy turnout appeared at a rally yesterday in Chicago as Atlanta voters went to the polls to pick a successor to Mayor Maynard Jackson, among seven candidates, including former U.S. Ambassador Andrew Young. Turnout was "heavy throughout the city," said Fulton County Elections Supervisor Tom Malone. "It was not another sunny sky. Polls were to close at 8 p.m. EDT. The ballot included City Council races among 35 races as well as the non-partisan mayor's race, which pitted Young against two other black candidates and four whites. Most pre-election observers expected that no candidate would get a majority of the vote, and many predicted an Oct. 27 runoff among racial lines, between Young and state Rep. Sidney Marcus, a businessman. Jackson's Atlanta's first black mayor, has served the four-year term and is prohibited from running again. He supported Young in the race. — AP

Sunny and cool today, high in the mid and upper 60s. Tonight, clear and chilly with chance of low to low in the upper 50s and low 40s. Tomorrow mostly sunny and warmer, high in mid and mid 60s. — AP

The Observer

The Observer (USPS 038 930) is published Monday through Friday and on home football Saturdays, service mark of exchange and subscription price. The Observer is published by the student of home price and Saint Mary's Col-lege. Subscriptions may be purchased for $5 per year ($15 per semester) by writing The Observer, POP BOX Q, Notre Dame, IN 46556. The Observer is the member of the Associated Press. All reproduction rights are reserved. Second class postage paid at Notre Dame, Indiana 46556.
World mourns President Sadat’s death

WASHINGTON (AP) - Egyptian President Anwar Sadat was mortared yesterday across the United States and around the world by leaders of the United States, the Middle East and Europe, who called him a man of courage, honor and peace.

Perhaps the strongest testament to Sadat's words and actions after his death is the sense of loss voiced by the world, whichSadat helped to develop.

Sadat's statement, "The world has lost one of the best among us," was the first of many moves that led to the establishment of the United States, the Middle East and Europe, who called him a man of courage, honor and peace.

Sadat's assassination occurred on Friday, Oct. 6, 1981, in Cairo, Egypt, where he had been attending a conference on the Middle East. The assassination occurred as he was giving a speech to celebrate the 10th anniversary of his presidency.

Sadat was born in Cairo on Sept. 25, 1918, and was the son of an Egyptian army officer. He was educated in Cairo, where he studied law and obtained his law degree in 1941. He then went on to study international law in Paris, where he obtained his master's degree in 1943.

Sadat returned to Egypt after World War II and became a member of the Egyptian Free Officers, a group that overthrew the monarchy in 1952. He served as the head of the Free Officers' committee and later as the leader of the Egyptian government.

Sadat was assassinated on Oct. 16, 1981, in Cairo, when a man opened fire on him from a car.

Sadat's wife, Jehan, and their children were also killed in the attack.

Sadat's death was mourned by leaders around the world, who called him a man of courage, honor and peace. President Reagan, who had known Sadat for many years, said he was a "true friend" and a "great leader.

However, Sadat's death also brought to light the fragile peace in the Middle East, which had been forged with great difficulty.

The United States and the United Nations joined in condemning the assassination and calling for peace in the Middle East.

Sadat's death was a blow to the hopes of many who had looked to him as a leader for peace.

Sadat's legacy will continue as we know President Sadat would have wished with all his heart," Begin said.

Western European nations joined in the lament, characterized by French President Francois Mitterrand's statement, "The world has lost one of the best among us.

Palestinians in the occupied West Bank, however, sang and passed out candy at the news of Sadat's death. Radio Moscow blamed the shooting on Egyptian "discontent" with Sadat's cooperation with the United States and Israel, and called Mubarak, Sadat's successor, a "man of great courage" and "a man of destiny.

Carter, who engineered the Camp David accord between Sadat and Begin in 1979, said the loss of Sadat was "a great loss for the world, but for the peace process, it is not a great loss.

Sadat was a man of peace, a man of the people, and a man of the world. His death is a loss for the world, but it is not a loss for the peace process.

Sadat's legacy will continue as we know President Sadat would have wished with all his heart," Begin said.

Sadat's death was mourned by leaders around the world, who called him a man of courage, honor and peace. President Reagan, who had known Sadat for many years, said he was a "true friend" and a "great leader."

Western European nations joined in the lament, characterized by French President Francois Mitterrand's statement, "The world has lost one of the best among us.

Palestinians in the occupied West Bank, however, sang and passed out candy at the news of Sadat's death. Radio Moscow blamed the shooting on Egyptian "discontent" with Sadat's cooperation with the United States and Israel, and called Mubarak, Sadat's successor, a "man of great courage" and "a man of destiny.

Carter, who engineered the Camp David accord between Sadat and Begin in 1979, said the loss of Sadat was "a great loss for the world, but for the peace process, it is not a great loss.

Sadat was a man of peace, a man of the people, and a man of the world. His death is a loss for the world, but it is not a loss for the peace process.

Sadat's legacy will continue as we know President Sadat would have wished with all his heart," Begin said.

Sadat's death was mourned by leaders around the world, who called him a man of courage, honor and peace. President Reagan, who had known Sadat for many years, said he was a "true friend" and a "great leader.

Western European nations joined in the lament, characterized by French President Francois Mitterrand's statement, "The world has lost one of the best among us.

Palestinians in the occupied West Bank, however, sang and passed out candy at the news of Sadat's death. Radio Moscow blamed the shooting on Egyptian "discontent" with Sadat's cooperation with the United States and Israel, and called Mubarak, Sadat's successor, a "man of great courage" and "a man of destiny.

Carter, who engineered the Camp David accord between Sadat and Begin in 1979, said the loss of Sadat was "a great loss for the world, but for the peace process, it is not a great loss."

Sadat was a man of peace, a man of the people, and a man of the world. His death is a loss for the world, but it is not a loss for the peace process.

Sadat's legacy will continue as we know President Sadat would have wished with all his heart," Begin said.

Sadat's death was mourned by leaders around the world, who called him a man of courage, honor and peace. President Reagan, who had known Sadat for many years, said he was a "true friend" and a "great leader."

Western European nations joined in the lament, characterized by French President Francois Mitterrand's statement, "The world has lost one of the best among us.

Palestinians in the occupied West Bank, however, sang and passed out candy at the news of Sadat's death. Radio Moscow blamed the shooting on Egyptian "discontent" with Sadat's cooperation with the United States and Israel, and called Mubarak, Sadat's successor, a "man of great courage" and "a man of destiny.

Carter, who engineered the Camp David accord between Sadat and Begin in 1979, said the loss of Sadat was "a great loss for the world, but for the peace process, it is not a great loss.

Sadat was a man of peace, a man of the people, and a man of the world. His death is a loss for the world, but it is not a loss for the peace process.

Sadat's legacy will continue as we know President Sadat would have wished with all his heart," Begin said.
The Observer Wednesday, October 7, 1981 — page 4

... Sadat

continued from page 1

mad.

He said constitutionally mandated elections will be held within two months. Until then, the government will be headed by the speaker of parliament, Sulf Abu Taleb. There were no outward signs of alarm in Cairo, other than deployment of anti-riot police, which was considered a normal precaution.

In Washington, Reagan said with the death of Sadat, "America has lost a close friend, the world has lost a great statesman and mankind has lost a champion of peace. ... In a world filled with hatred, he was a man of hope." In Jerusalem, Israeli Prime Minister Menachem Begin said he hoped the U.S.-sponsored peace process would continue "as President Sadat would have wanted with all his heart. I have lost not only a partner in the peace process but also a friend."

But hard-line Arabs reacted with joy, firing rifles in the air in Lebanon. The Palestine Liberation Organization's security chief, Abu Iyyad, said he "would shake the hand of the one who pulled the trigger."

First official word that Sadat was assassinated came from presidential advisor Mansur Hassan after emerging from a meeting with six top officials, including Mubarak. Asked by reporters if Sadat was dead or alive, Hassan said, "dead." He said the funeral would be held "in a few days."

The State Department said a U.S. Marine major, Jerald R. Agenbroad of Bruneau, Idaho, an Air Force lieutenant colonel, Charles D. Loney of Austin, Texas, and an Air Force captain, Christopher Ryan of Sacramento, Calif., were hit slightly wounded in the raid.

An Egyptian Foreign Ministry official said Foreign Ministry officials and others were wounded, including the Belgian attache, Claude Flamant, and Ireland's defense minister, James Tully.

Associated Press photographer William Foley, who was on the scene, said the attackers kept firing from the shoulder and no one was sure it was real for a few seconds, then all hell broke loose.

Sadat took over after the death of Gamal Abdel Nasser in 1970. Within three years he crushed one internal revolt against him. Expelled 15,000 Soviet advisers and started turning Egypt's orientation from the Soviet Union to the United States.

... Peace

continued from page 1

... Sadat recognized these realities, but he didn't inherit them, and therefore these realities still exist for us to build on. I think it would be a terrible mistake for America now to give way to despair, to think that we cannot go forward.

Egyptian Ambassador Adfaral Elsalvy said his country will continue to pursue peace in the Middle East and close ties with the United States.

"Cairo had confirmed that it continues its policies as charted by President Sadat and overwhelmingly supported by the Egyptian people," Ghorbal told reporters outside his embassy. "The peace process under Camp David will remain the...policy of the country. A close relationship with the United States will remain a cornerstone of Egyptian policy."

As the Egyptian ambassador faced reporters, the embassy flag was lowered to half-staff.

Israeli Ambassador Ephraim Eron said his government was "very much relieved" to hear that the surviving Egyptian leadership feels bound by the peace treaty.

He said of Mubarak: "He was a party to the whole negotiations. He was at President Sadat's side throughout this period. He was obviously in agreement with what Sadat did." He told ABC news, "I don't think there's any doubt he will follow in President Sadat's footsteps."

Though Sadat and Israeli Prime Minister Menachem Begin signed the historic Camp David peace accord in 1978, the final phase of the process, giving autonomy to the 1.2 million occupied Arabs in the Israeli-occupied West Bank and Gaza Strip, has remained elusive. Sadat and Begin only recently agreed on new negotiations, which opened Sept. 25 in Cairo.

Once there is an agreement on autonomy, that would be followed by elections among the Palestinians for a self-governing authority. That would be followed by a five-year transition period after which a final resolution would be made on the future of the Palestinians.

But State Department officials were encouraged at word that Sadat's successor will be Mubarak, who was in Washington just last week to confer with President Reagan. There was widespread yesterday among diplomatic observers that Sadat's death underscores the instability in the Middle East and the potential fragility of a peace based on new, potentially less reliable, foundations.

Elsalvy said on Sadat's, "Staflid Ford, a former Central Intelligence Agency director, expressed fears that Sadat's death will result in "a field day for the Soviet Union."

He said the Soviets will use Sadat's "fall as an evidence of what can happen to people who make friends with the United States."

Lawrence Veasey, U. of California-Santa Cruz, gave the third in a series of 11 lectures sponsored by the History Department. The topic of his talk was "Higher Education, Changes and Controversies." (photo by Cheryl Fritts)
Sadat assassination may sway AWACS opponents

WASHINGTON (AP) — The first congressional test of President Reagan's arms sale to Saudi Arabia was postponed yesterday after the assassination of Egyptian President Anwar Sadat, but there were signs the staying could sway some opponents to the administration's sale.

In the Senate, where the $8.5 billion package faced a formidable front of critics, Democrats and Republicans suggested the president may now be able to argue more persuasively that it is essential to bolster moderate regimes in the Middle East.

The House Foreign Affairs Committee, meanwhile, put off at least until today its scheduled vote on a resolution to veto the sale. The panel was still regarded virtually certain to recommend that action. The deal can be killed only if both houses disapprove by Nov. 1.

But there were conflicting signals in the Senate. One of 19 Republican opponents immediately switched in favor of the sale of AWACS radar planes and jetfighter equipment, and other senators suggested they might be swayed. Lawmakers should be put off indefinitely for reconsideration, Democrat Orin Hatch, R-Utah, said, "I'm going to reverse my vote on AWACS and support the president. We have to have the safeguards this deployment makes." A switch was one of a dozen Republicans targeted by Reagan and his strategists for a heavy dose of presidential lobbying. The Senate GOP leadership estimates it would take that many switches from the ranks of the opposition and the uncommitted to forestall a veto.

Sen. Alan Cranston, D-Calif., assistant minority leader and a leading opponent of the sale, predicted there would be a delay in floor consideration. Any postponement would require White House agreement to interrupt the time-keeping curb to the Nov. 1 deadline. Before Sadat's death, the White House had written off chances for a favorable vote in the House and acknowledged that it faced an uphill battle in the Senate.

Summing up the changed circumstances, Cranston said: "On the one hand, it will be argued that if we lose a friend in Egypt we must not jeopardize our relationship with the Saudis. . . . But this argument is undercut by the shooting of Sadat."

The deal can be killed only if both houses disapprove by Nov. 1.

ATTENTION ALL ND CLUBS: applications for the 1981 spring movie lottery are now available in the student union office.

applications will be due by 4 p.m. on Thurs. Oct. 15 1981 in the student union office.

STUCK IN SOUTH BEND OVER OCTOBER BREAK? BREAK AWAY with HERTZ as low as $119.00/week

These Economy Fares are Touring Rates, subject to change without notice and non-discountable. There are no minimum day and advance reservation requirements, but restrictions on what and where cars must be returned. Gas is not included. Call Hertz for details.

WHERE WINNERS RENT.

Hertz News and Other Fine Cars

234-3712 at Airport
232-5871 Downtown

People join TI for love of technology. They stay for a lot of reasons.

One of those reasons is the Semiconductor Group, the world's leading supplier of semiconductor components and materials. We will be on campus to talk with individuals degreed in a variety of areas which includes:

- Computer Science
- Electrical Engineering
- Physics
- Mechanical Engineering

CAMPUS INTERVIEWS

Wednesday, October 7 and Thursday, October 8

Stop by and visit with our recruiters on campus. You'll see why there's no place like TI for pioneering new technology.

Texas Instruments Incorporated

An equal opportunity employer M/F
Dear Editor:

I was deeply saddened and bewil­dered after reading the letter of Oct. 1 which defended the "No Fat Chicks" incident. I realize that we may be accused of overlooking this one recent incident out of the many, but perhaps this incident reflects the deep underlying problem which many of us, both male and female, have become aware of during our years here; that being a lack of sympathy, compassion, and love for people who do not measure up to our wholly per­sonal definitions of beauty.

If the men who participated in this cruel game truly care about the health of the human body, then I propose that they should care even more deeply about the health of the human spirit. No, destructive criticism will not help — only patience and loving understanding will. Why not care for people and then help to effect a change by the power of this caring rather than persecuting and victimizing the very people who need the most love?

None of us are perfect; that would be dull. It is the uniqueness of the spirit that makes each of us so special. Please do not expect perfection, you will never be happy; instead try to love us as we are, and we in turn will do the same.

C. Elizabeth Abzuba
Badin Hall

Dear Editor:

To Mr. Waltzeller and those per­sons who signed "No Fat Chicks"

I was greatly saddened to see your t-shirts protesting against fat people; your concern for other people's health may be praiseworthy. You express your criticism and cruelty. And why didn't you include "Gays" in "No Fat slogans?"

Ellen Richiski
Walsh Hall

Dear Editor:

I have a confession to make. I'm afraid that I completely misunderstood the intentions of the Ice Cream Guar­di. I honestly thought that they were demonstrating their shallow­ness and inconsiderateness, and now I read that they were inspired by God. You can imagine my guilt complex. It's funny, I usually used to think that I had a pretty good relationship with God — you know, he accepted how I looked and I tried to accept floods and poverty — but obviously I misunderstood him and he's probably been upset with me for ages.

My reasoning is that I have a favor to ask of God and the gang. Since you all have a working-type relationship (being supervisors under the Big Guy) I wonder if you could ask God a few questions for me? For example, just how long am I going to be in purgatory for wearing sweats to the dining hall all those times? And, if I bought some Calvin Klein and a few lulus, would that decrease my sentence? This is all confusing even to me. How can I be helped if I'm not in the confidence of heaven, and how do I know that God is after me?

Well, let me know what God has to say, and please keep up the good work. I'm sure God is proud of you.

Ellen Husley
Badin Hall

Dear Editor:

There are quite a few things away with the views expressed in the letter by Pete Waltzeller. The apparent con­form for the physical abuse of overweight people is carnal them­selves. And, some have been surgical. It is justified by a "Christian" motiva­tion of brotherly solicitude and caring anxiety for the weight problem some have for — if "something is going wrong, it is only right that something be said about it and get it into the open.

Wrong. A true Christian concern and kindness is caring for not only physical, but more importantly, the soul, mind, and spirit of an individual. This means we must be truthful in expressing our criticism. Christians should be guided by a spiritual and mental world view, and not be swayed by a carnal world view.

Sincerely,

Outrider

Dear Editor:

I agree with Mr. Waltzeller that it is sometimes difficult to give up or kind words to someone grossly overweight who does not seem to care about himself. To justify the cruel, heartless, and worst of all intentional acts of these "guards" is another matter entirely.

Did any of you ever stop to think what it may be like to be overweight? Believe me, I am in a position to know. I have looked at yourself in the mir­ror every day or trying to squeeze yourself into a pair of jeans already three sizes larger than normal. It is discouraging enough to have none of your peers respect you, but to have them stage a way to publicly ridicule you, just as you would of a nightmare come true.

No one can imagine how difficult dieting is until they have tried it. Next time any of you think about attacking people at the sundae bar, try eating cottage cheese for a week, or better yet, try not drinking for a week. Chances are you would be back for seconds.

Timothy J. Hennessy
Howard Hall

Dear Editor:

I was deeply saddened and bewil­dered after reading the letter of Oct. 1 which defended the "No Fat Chicks" incident. I realize that we may be accused of overlooking this one recent incident out of the many, but perhaps this incident reflects the deep underlying problem which many of us, both male and female, have become aware of during our years here; that being a lack of sympathy, compassion, and love for people who do not measure up to our wholly per­sonal definitions of beauty.

If the men who participated in this cruel game truly care about the health of the human body, then I propose that they should care even more deeply about the health of the human spirit. No, destructive criticism will not help — only patience and loving understanding will. Why not care for people and then help to effect a change by the power of this caring rather than persecuting and victimizing the very people who need the most love?

None of us are perfect; that would be dull. It is the uniqueness of the spirit that makes each of us so special. Please do not expect perfection, you will never be happy; instead try to love us as we are, and we in turn will do the same.

C. Elizabeth Abzuba
Badin Hall

Dear Editor:

To Mr. Waltzeller and those per­sons who signed "No Fat Chicks"

I was greatly saddened to see your t-shirts protesting against fat people; your concern for other people's health may be praiseworthy. You express your criticism and cruelty. And why didn't you include "Gays" in "No Fat slogans?"

Ellen Richiski
Walsh Hall

Dear Editor:

I have a confession to make. I'm afraid that I completely misunderstood the intentions of the Ice Cream Guar­di. I honestly thought that they were demonstrating their shallow­ness and inconsiderateness, and now I read that they were inspired by God. You can imagine my guilt complex. It's funny, I usually used to think that I had a pretty good relationship with God — you know, he accepted how I looked and I tried to accept floods and poverty — but obviously I misunderstood him and he's probably been upset with me for ages.

My reasoning is that I have a favor to ask of God and the gang. Since you all have a working-type relationship (being supervisors under the Big Guy) I wonder if you could ask God a few questions for me? For example, just how long am I going to be in purgatory for wearing sweats to the dining hall all those times? And, if I bought some Calvin Klein and a few lulus, would that decrease my sentence? This is all confusing even to me. How can I be helped if I'm not in the confidence of heaven, and how do I know that God is after me?

Well, let me know what God has to say, and please keep up the good work. I'm sure God is proud of you.

Ellen Husley
Badin Hall

Dear Editor:

There are quite a few things away with the views expressed in the letter by Pete Waltzeller. The apparent con­form for the physical abuse of overweight people is carnal them­selves. And, some have been surgical. It is justified by a "Christian" motiva­tion of brotherly solicitude and caring anxiety for the weight problem some have for — if "something is going wrong, it is only right that something be said about it and get it into the open.

Wrong. A true Christian concern and kindness is caring for not only physical, but more importantly, the soul, mind, and spirit of an individual. This means we must be truthful in expressing our criticism. Christians should be guided by a spiritual and mental world view, and not be swayed by a carnal world view.

Sincerely,

Outrider

Dear Editor:

I agree with Mr. Waltzeller that it is sometimes difficult to give up or kind words to someone grossly overweight who does not seem to care about himself. To justify the cruel, heartless, and worst of all intentional acts of these "guards" is another matter entirely.

Did any of you ever stop to think what it may be like to be overweight? Believe me, I am in a position to know. I have looked at yourself in the mir­ror every day or trying to squeeze yourself into a pair of jeans already three sizes larger than normal. It is discouraging enough to have none of your peers respect you, but to have them stage a way to publicly ridicule you, just as you would of a nightmare come true.

No one can imagine how difficult dieting is until they have tried it. Next time any of you think about attacking people at the sundae bar, try eating cottage cheese for a week, or better yet, try not drinking for a week. Chances are you would be back for seconds.

Timothy J. Hennessy
Howard Hall
SPORTS BRIEFS
by The Observer and The Associated Press

The Junior Varsity football team defeated Illinois Sunday afternoon, 17-6 at Champaign. The Irish, now 2-0 on the year, were led by a record-setting performance by quarterback Ken Delano who posted three touchdowns rushing and passed for 300 yards. The win was the first for the junior varsity team against Illinois since 1973.

The Notre Dame chapter of the Fellowship of Christian Athletes is sponsoring an evening with Irish baseball coach Larry Galentine Monday night at 8 p.m. in the Stadium. The event, which is open to the general public, is called "Faith and Baseball: A Night With Coach Galentine" and is scheduled to run until 9 p.m. The program will feature a keynote address by Galentine, who will discuss the relationship between faith and the sport of baseball. The event is free, but advanced registration is encouraged by calling (219) 631-7637.

The Observer will accept classifications Mon., Thurs. 10 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. However, classifications to appear in the next issue must be submitted by 3:30 p.m. the business day prior to insertion. All classifications must be prepaid, either in person or through the mail.

SPORTSCLASSIFIEDS, page 9

The Observer

by The Observer and The Associated Press

The Ohio State University football team defeated Illinois State Saturday, winning 34-21 in Columbus. The Buckeyes, now 4-0 on the season, are looking for their first conference win of the year. The game was played in front of a sellout crowd of 99,758.

The Notre Dame chapter of the Fellowship of Christian Athletes is sponsoring an evening with Irish baseball coach Larry Galentine Monday night at 8 p.m. in the Stadium. The event, which is open to the general public, is called "Faith and Baseball: A Night With Coach Galentine" and is scheduled to run until 9 p.m. The program will feature a keynote address by Galentine, who will discuss the relationship between faith and the sport of baseball. The event is free, but advanced registration is encouraged by calling (219) 631-7637.

The Observer will accept classifications Mon., Thurs. 10 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. However, classifications to appear in the next issue must be submitted by 3:30 p.m. the business day prior to insertion. All classifications must be prepaid, either in person or through the mail.
Notes Dame’s Museum Menon won on the two thirlings last week’s losses to St. Mary’s, at a match played in the ACCPub. (photo by Cheryl Erhli)

In commemoration of the 25th anniversary of O’Laughlin Auditorium

FRANCIS BOLE JOI0 conducts the Saint Mary’s Wind Ensemble and Collegiate Choir

Friday, October 9 at 8:00 - Little Theater and Sunday, October 11 at 2:00 - O’Laughlin

All members of the SMC-ND community are invited.

SACRED HEART PARISH SING!

We are now forming a Choir for the 9:30 Sunday Mass in the Crypt. Rehearsals are each Wednesday at 7:30 p.m. in the Crypt.

All voices welcome -- come share in a special musical experience! All students, staff and faculty are welcome (faculty & staff, too, of course!)

continued from page 10

Piazza

Peter paced the Irish with a 5 1/2 total (.345) for the season, a 39.5 percent (.234) for the season. Robenson’s-South Bend at 2:00

Norris, Gross do it all as A’s blank Royals

KANSAS CITY (AP) — Wayne Norris hit a three-run homer, and Mike Gross, who twice escaped the third, smashed a two-out, two-run double in the eighth inning for his fifth career no-hitter in his third game with two out in the seventh inning.

The Irish have an almost perfect blend of youth and experience, and appear poised to make that elusive trip to the NCAA championships.
Time has come for CFA

Perhaps you noticed in the public print where 61 major football schools in the U.S. rebelled against the National Collegiate Athletic Association and threaten to form their own institutional governing body, the better to get television money, grandpa. What nobody noticed was that they were so long.

The NCAA is an irritating bunch of self-appointed overlords who have twisted the noses of television for so long that they consider it a pet retriever. They say "fetch" and go on loafing.

The price is such a known quantity in the public print you know you’re getting that annual fall classic, Appalachian State v. The Citadel on a national network. What it is, however, you have preferred that stirring renewal of the ancient rivalry between Jackson State and Mississippi Valley State. Maybe you want ABC or CBS or even NBC? Or did you prefer Oregon State v. Minnesota?

I have an eye on Oklahoma later in the day. Fine. But, there was a catch. With USC going on national television against UGA, that would mean its options in the point to the contest. Now only can be televised against Notre Dame or UCLA later in the year. The network may choose one or other of these games. It cannot televise both. Presumably, on Nov. 21, instead of USC-UCLA we may be getting San Jose State or Long Beach State.

See you. See the NCAA. They’re the program directors in this cockeyed TV series. They’re the only ones who even know where Appalachian State is.

Network television is the only hope the all powerful conglomerate that everybody, woman, man, and child in America. It is Ordinarily controls what is put on the air. With exceptions. It’s deal with the NCAA is one of them.

Years ago, when ABC won the bidding — such as it was — for the right to broadcast the game, it had no trouble compromising. One of them was, it had to let the NCAA dictate product. This necessitated restrictions which were largely galactic, in that what is profitable to the nation, for instance, on a day when Notre Dame was competing Michigan State or someone else for the national championship, the western region of the network probably would most likely be getting Brigham Young or Boise State, or Utah. Even the alumni of worthy institutions would rather have been watching the Notre Dame game. For it is for certain any Mormon cascades of footstools would fall.

It doesn’t make any sense. It is as if a network contract for a game of Osterle’s Angles was to alternate with a high school performance of The Pirates of Penzance. Of course, the network would probably see only one appearance on national TV any year.

It was the concert of the NCAA that a television

continued from page 7

Mr. McCoy's Singles (Guarantor Series)

Mark Mathieson 1-0 - Nick Cogan 2-6, 4-6; 2-6. John Capelli 6-1, 6-3, 6-2; Paul Galbraith 6-1, 3-6, 7-5.

Andy Keene 6-3, 6-4; Paul Capelli 6-3, 2-6, 7-5. Gary Williams 6-1, 6-3; Nick Cogan 3-6, 6-2, 6-4. Nick Cogan 6-3, 6-4; John Capelli 6-3, 6-0.

... Price

continued from page 12

the top players available to recruiters this season. His older brother, Jovan, went from Marton to Purdue, where he became the captain of the 1972-74 Badgermaker team.

Marton High School (not to be confused with Martin High School of Milwaukee) is one of the most respected basketball schools in the state. Coach Bill Green led the team to back-to-back state championships in 1975 and 76. Green has also been instrumental in the successful development of the first match-up zone defense over the past several seasons.

Price helped Marton to a 24-4 record last season. His 10 career points already rank him fourth on the list of all time high scorers in Mariton history. Last season alone, he scored 239 points. "Joe is going to have a great career at Notre Dame," says Phelps, and we are very happy to announce that he'll be playing next season.

Jimm Murray

Sports Writer

Best of Jim Murray

Audience was interested in the football fortunes of its own high school teams. Schools with 1,000 bleacher seats and uniforms that look like cowboys for a road company of "Brother Rat." The left halfback might be willing to die for dear old Rutgers but ABC didn’t want to. They’re better off televising opera on Saturday afternoon.

The network band of NBC is bloodily viable in the breaking off of the 61 major institutions which formed the College Football Association, the soccerism group spinning off from the NCAA, but you have to think to think NBC and CBS, who now have NCAA total up to $265 million for four years, are not all that displeased. This was the year Notre Dame broke off from the NCAA. It was the year the football factories of the nation, minus the Big Ten and the Pac 10. The season went immediately up from the Establishment that this new league would just be the NFL South, but the fact of the matter is the NCAA is a cumbersome 900 member association, and there’s no way that Walk Wally, the executive director, can ever make the Chiefs or even East Germans a household word.

The new association would be a break for the viewing public, but it would be a bigger break for the member institutions. Some conferences require their members to share television money, so you would have the special case of a USC, maintaining a million-dollar football program, selling the Coliseum every Sunday, having to share revenue with a Northwest School which is running a scaled-down, mini-league operation, and having to pay Officiating Conference tournament weekends. NBC’s $108 million four-year package has the virtue of guaranteeing every member of the CFA a million dollars over the life of the contract. Well, for one, the little old viewing public can’t lose in a controversy. One of two things can happen, the CFA will make good its threat and succeed, automatically upgrading the content of Saturday afternoon football, or the NCAA will recalc its restrictions, revoke, and, in its own defense, put on a big time show immediately. Let someone else be the die for dear old Rutgers, not our football.

(4/27, Los Angeles Times Syndicate)

SPORT BORDER

continued from page 5

The ND-SMC golf team defeated Loras College (Dubuque, Iowa) by a whopping 43 strokes, 5-5-50, Sunday on the Saturday Memorial Golf Course. Notre Dame’s Louise Snell led the ND-SMC team with a 91. Loras’ Kathy Buchholz was medallist with an 87 — The Observer.

Practice for the Notre Dame Women’s Softball Club has been canceled for this week. There will be a mandatory meeting for all new and returning members Friday, Oct. 14. Time and location will be announced. Call Karen Alig (8019) for more information — The Observer.

Scuba divers or people interested in learning more about it are invited to an organizational meeting for the Notre Dame Scuba Diving Club tomorrow at 7:30 p.m. in Room 210 in the Lawlor Recreation Center. For more information, call Rob at 289-5137 — The Observer.

Women’s track team practices have started. Interested Notre Dame students should meet at 4:40 p.m. outside the gate to the track behind the ARC. For more information, call Lisa Monty (8019) — The Observer.

... Price

continued from page 7

Price

... Price

continued from page 12

continued from page 7

... Price

continued from page 7

... Price

continued from page 7

... Price

continued from page 7

... Price

continued from page 7

... Price

continued from page 7

... Price

continued from page 7

... Price

continued from page 7

... Price
Eye spring

Boilers squeak past Irish

By DAVE IRWIN
Sports Writer

Notre Dame's golf team seems to have emerged as a force in the Midwest as it closed the fall season with a second-place finish in the 12-team Notre Dame Fall Invitational. Last week the Irish placed fourth in the Indiana Intercollegiate Golf Championships in Indianapolis.

The Invitational, however, wasn't so much a matter of Notre Dame losing as it was being outranged.

Notre Dame's squad was in the clubhouse with a 562, just three shots off the team record established in 1974, with Boilemaer senior Jay Smith still out on the 645-yard Burke Memorial Golf Course. Burke has matured into one of the most challenging of northern Indiana layouts with its small, undulating greens and tight fairways.

Smith needed to hole the 18th hole to win the match and that's exactly what he did.

"I hitterly and figuratively won it for the team and the biggest for myself," Irish Head Coach Noel O'Sullivan said. "Notre Dame didn't lose it -- Purdue won it."

Smith's holeie gave him a two-under-par 66 (-6) and the medalist title for the second straight year. Notre Dame's Bob Horak and Tom Scully were runners-up each with 71.

Second-consecutive Frank Leyes shoots 72 for Notre Dame, sophomore Dave Moorman 73, junior Tony Ferrallm 74 and junior Gary Peters 76. This is Peters first year after transferring from Central Michigan.

If Smith had failed on his birdie attempt, Stoney Peters would have won the medal. The Irish would have won with a score of 76. Purdue's worst score was a 72.

"We went out in style," said O'Sullivan, who enters his eighth campaign as head coach. "Those numbers are the best in nine years by any Notre Dame golf team."

And losing to Purdue in golf is no shame. The Boilermakers have a full contingent of scholarships (Notre Dame has one) and emerged as Big Ten champions last year, despite the presence of perennial national powerhouse Ohio State.

"We didn't win, but we found out we are very capable," O'Sullivan said. "I'm not disappointed, and neither is the team."

Notre Dame's Fall Invitational. Last week's score was 875 (299-292-284), one shot behind Ball State's winning 874 (291-294-299). The Irish had won the tourney once (1978), placed second once and third four times in six years of state competition. This year, however, Notre Dame could finish no better than fourth, 36 shots behind Ball State's winning total of 755. The Irish, however, suffered a rash of penalty strokes and played without regular David See GOLF, page 8

Purdue-Calumet downs Saint Mary's spikers

By MARY SIEGEE
Sports Writer

Saint Mary's volleyball team lost its match to a tough Purdue Calumet team 12-15, 17-19, 15-13 and 10-15 last night at the Angela Athletic Facility. The Belles, who defeated both Notre Dame and Fort Wayne over the weekend, did not look impressive last evening.

The loss was the first of the young season for Saint Mary's.

Throughout last night's game, the Belles looked sluggish and never held a strong lead during any of the games. All four games were slow moving as the Belles fought a losing battle.

Part of the reason for the Belles' poor performance may have been a lack of confidence. Also, two of the team's stars, Amir Bourhan and Rosemary Whalen, did not play because of injuries. "I expect their back for next Tuesday's games against Goshen and Saint Francis," commented Head Coach Erin Murphy.

Murphy also stated she was quite disappointed with last night's match and the attitude was reflected throughout the team as the players left Angela.

Since the team lacked confidence during the match, "they lacked the concentration needed to win a game," said Murphy. "Every game is a fight, and you have to want to fight in order to win. We played, but we didn't play to win," she added.

The Belles hope to regain their fighting spirit before next Tuesday's matches. Despite their loss this week the Belles are optimistic about next week when they travel to Saint Francis and Saint Francis College. "This match taught us that we need the desire to win in addition to our skills," Murphy concluded.

Co-captain Terri Walters (29) and her Saint Mary's teammates had a rough time last night as the Belles dropped their first match of the season. See Mary Sieg's story at left (photo by Cheryl Fritz)

BOOGIE RECORDS

BOOGIE SOUNDS... ONLY $4.92!

DEVO
Q: Are We Not Men? A: We Are Devo
Includes uncoutrollable Urban Addict demos. Can't Get No Satisfaction Come Back Jones

DEVO
Alice Cooper Greatest Hits
Includes the Hits: School's Out Elecrted. No More Mr Nice Guy I'm Eighteen Billion Dollar Babies

CROSBY, STILLS & YOUNG
SO FAR

SD 19119
Molarity

Michael Molinelli

Garry Trudeau

The Observer

Today

Wednesday, October 7, 1981 — page 11

Molarity

• 8:00 p.m. — seminar, "the social world of luke — acts", prof. bo riecke, mem. library lounge, sponsored by religious studies dept.
• 12:15 p.m. — seminar, "the role of hemoglobin proteins in the subject's tolerance of insect," dr. john g. dumas, galvin auditorium, sponsored by biology dept.
• 4:30 to 5:00 p.m. — make-up photo day, room c-48, acc. (inside gate one).
• 4:30 p.m. — colloquium, "element a equals 107", spins i equals 560, atomic physicists, ion microfiche. 5 g erratum a board status report, dr. driscoll bolt, univ. of kansas, fed republic of germ-many. 118 niculand science hall, sponsored by physics dept.
• 7:00 p.m. — intro. program, "indian style and tour program," cartwell hall, nic, sponsored by dept. of history.
• 7:00 p.m. — film, "romans and palaces," annenberg auditorium, nine art museum.
• 7:00 p.m. — meeting, knights of columbia business meeting & c of c hall, all valid members welcome.
• 7:30 p.m. — pax christi study sessions; 4 and 5, basement of sacred heart presbytery (basement), sponsored by pax chrise.
• 9:00 p.m. — epistemology lecture series "knowledge reconsidered," keith burgess, univ. of arizona, galvin auditorium, sponsored by philosophy dept.
• 8:00 p.m. — play, "sugar moon sant don't dance no more," presented by theatre production class, washington hall basement.
• 8:30 p.m. — forum, fellowship of christian athletes forum, baseball coach larry galbo, buds hall chapel.

Television

Tonight

7:00 p.m. 16 Real People
22 Mr. Steiner
28 American League Division Playoffs: Yankees at Milwaukee: Game 1
54 Stepping Out
40 Lascia Telefoni con Lascia Lascio
7:30 p.m. 20 Diff'rent Strokes
8:00 p.m. 22 WKRP in Cincinnati
8:30 p.m. 16 Facts of Life
9:00 p.m. 16 Nickels and Dimes
22 Modu Blues
10:00 p.m. 16 NewsCenter 11
22 Cricket News
28 Newswatch 28
34 The Dick Cavett Show
10:30 p.m. 16 Tonight Show
22 9/11/81 Real Movie
28 ABC News Nightline
11:00 p.m. 28 Love Boat
11:30 p.m. 16 Tomorrow Coast to Coast

Today in History

Today's highlight in history.
In 1965, President John F. Kennedy signed a nuclear test ban treaty between United States, Britain and Soviet Union.
On this date:
In 1517, Austria's Don Juan decisively defeated the Turkish fleet off Lepanto.
In 1949, the republic of East Germany was formed.
In 1970, Egyptian Vice President Awal Sadat succeeded the late Gamal Abdel Nasser as president.
And in 1977, a new constitution for the Soviet Union was approved unanimously by the Supreme Sovi
In 1928, New York radio station WJZ went on the air.

But what does the student union record store have for me?
Cheaper prices prices - Save 24-35% of list prices!
Most current singles $6.50 (compare at $9.99 list).
Concerts $2.99 to $9.99

Convenience...The NSU Record Store is located on the Main Floor of the Union and is open 24-
PLUS- ordered albums take 1 week only!

Great selection...Springsteen, Fogglberg, Moody Blues, Stevie Nicks, Christopher Cross, Pat Benatar, Journey, and many more.
Also...record and blank tapes available.

So...for CHEAPER PRICES, MORE CONVENIENCE, and a GREAT SELECTION stop by the S.U. Record Store today!!

Senior Bar

announces another
WEDNESDAY NIGHT LITE SPECIAL

Tonight: MOLSON ON TAP!! 9:30-2:00
Thursday Night: Gin and Tonic Special
Friday Afternoon: Another Pre-Pep Rally Afternoon Celebration 4:30-7:30

The Daily Crossword

Across
1 Flight
24 Wire
3 Money units
44 Revolution
5 Golf
25 Bid
26 Big time
27 Sante Fe
28 Numbers
29 Russian
30 Number
31 Drive
32 Golf
33 Spain
34 Israeli
35 Miami
36 Good times
37 Horse racing
38 Facts
39 Gold Sp.
40 Route
41 Weight
42 Saturday
43 Seventy

Down
13 Lignite
14 Title
15 Now
16 Title
17 Title
18 Title
19 Title
20 Title
21 Title
22 Title
23 Title
24 Title
25 Title
26 Title
27 Title
28 Title
29 Title
30 Title
31 Title
32 Title
33 Title
34 Title
35 Title
36 Title
37 Title
38 Title
39 Title
40 Title
41 Title
42 Title
43 Title
44 Title
FSU continues ‘Oktoberfest’

By KELLY SULLIVAN

Sports Writer

Gerry Faust seldom underestimates his opponents, so Florida State’s win over previously undefeated Notre Dame just proved what he had known all along.

“I think their victory (36-27 at Columbus) was a lot of hot air, but it didn’t surprise us,” revealed the Notre Dame coach. “They’ve got a lot of great skilled athletes. They’re very quick and physical, and our players are really concerned — they feel this is going to be a tough football game.”

Faust told reporters at yesterday’s weekly press conference that if the Irish are successful, “They’re starting to catch on to the concepts of our offense,” he explained. “They’re finding out all the things we’ll be able to do. It’s really going to take a few seasons before the team knows it inside and out, but the players do understand what we’re trying to do. We coaches can see things starting to click now.”

And one person in particular who’s starting to click in his new position is wingback Tony Hunter. Faust says the 5-5 junior is making valuable contributions at that spot that go by undetected.

“Tony’s helping out in so many ways it’s unbelievable,” praised his coach. “His blocking has been a real asset. Having Tony in the slot as our lead blocker has really paid off for us. And as far as being a receiver, by putting him at wingback we can move him to the inside or the outside on a pass play.”

Hunter’s rushing average (27) caused many to speculate if ex-Mueller All-Americans might be moved back to split end. To be honest, I considered doing that,” Faust admitted. “I felt we might get more receptions out of him that way. Tony’s speed is not a running back’s speed, and we know that, but he’s a strong runner and he’s able to bring down. He’s learning how to use those four or five yards we need in key plays. And he loves the spot. He enjoys blocking as much as catching. Tony played a super game for us Saturday, and I’m very pleased with his improvement.”

He’s obviously pleased with quarterback Tim Koegel’s performance to date. The sophomore has a .56 completion rate and has paced for 475 yards. “We’re going with Timmy Koegel right now. Blair Keet’s not out of the picture at this point, but right now it’s Timmy and the offensive line is just in the midst of a five-game winning streak.”

However, the Irish may have their work cut out for them against a defense that allowed Ohio State only 38 yards rushing on 31 attempts. Of course, the Buckeyes’ ground game was merely a diversion for their air attack, which gained 206 yards on 51 completions in 52 attempts. Florida State’s defense has been stingy, in recent years, pacing the nation with 2.75 point scoring average last season. In fact, the 34 points which Nebraska scored against the Seminoles was the most points scored against an FSU team since 1974.

AIR PATROL — One of the admitted weaknesses of the Irish football team this season has been the big play. Although the Irish defense has surrendered 515 yards passing over the last three games, five pass receptions (77 yards vs. Michigan, 51, 41 and 40 vs. Purdue; and 165 yards against Michigan State) have accounted for 206 yards, almost half of that total.

OFFENSIVE RIVAL — Upon assuming the Irish coaching reins last winter, Gerry Faust remarked that he would be opening up the offense more than it had been in the past. Despite the relatively short period of time which the Irish have had to utilize their new plays, they have nevertheless opened up their passing game.

Sign recruits Irish cagers get their Price

By SKIP DESJARDIN

Assistant Sports Editor

Joe Price, a 6-5 swingman from Marion, Ind., has become the second high school senior to announce his intention to attend Notre Dame next fall.

Price averaged 18.6 points per game as a junior at Marion High School, and is expected to be a leading candidate for the coveted “Mr. Basketball” award in the state.

“Joe is an excellent shooter,” says Notre Dame Coach Doug Phelps. “He reminds me of Tracy Jackson. He’s the kind of player you can rely on to get off a good shot late in the game.”

Joe Price, the son of Jim and Debra Price, is a basketball star in Marion. He played on Marion’s indoor team that was unbeaten for the season and also leads his Marion baseball team.

Price was a 4.0 student at Marion and was named to All-State honors. He is the 10th straight Marion County player to sign with Notre Dame.

Joe Price has been rated as one of the top 10 deaf basketball players in the country. He has been named to numerous all-tourney and all-state teams.

Price is a 6-5, 190-pound swingman who averaged 18.6 points per game his junior year at Marion High School. He is expected to play small forward or power forward at Notre Dame.

Price was named to the All-Central Indiana Basketball Team for three straight years and was named to the All-State team all three years.

Price was named to the All-State team all three years and was named to the All-State team all three years.

Price is a 6-5, 190-pound swingman who averaged 18.6 points per game his junior year at Marion High School. He is expected to play small forward or power forward at Notre Dame.

Price was named to the All-Central Indiana Basketball Team for three straight years and was named to the All-State team all three years.

Price was named to the All-State team all three years and was named to the All-State team all three years.

Price is a 6-5, 190-pound swingman who averaged 18.6 points per game his junior year at Marion High School. He is expected to play small forward or power forward at Notre Dame.

Sign recruit Irish cagers get their Price

Joe Price, a 6-5 swingman from Marion, Ind., has become the second high school senior to announce his intention to attend Notre Dame next fall.

Price averaged 18.6 points per game as a junior at Marion High School, and is expected to be a leading candidate for the coveted “Mr. Basketball” award in the state.

“Joe is an excellent shooter,” says Notre Dame Coach Doug Phelps. “He reminds me of Tracy Jackson. He’s the kind of player you can rely on to get off a good shot late in the game.”

Price hit just under 58 percent of his shots from the floor last season at Marion, and connected on nearly 79 percent of his foul shots. Although most of his playing time came at guard, Price still managed to average eight rebounds and three assists per game.

For his third straight year, Phelps announced that Jim Dolan, a 6-8 forward from Toms River, N.J., will also attend Notre Dame next fall.

Coincidentally, Price and Dolan both received MVP honors in the final game of the “Pittsburgh High Five Star Camp.” The camp is one of the most highly respected showcases of high school basketball talent in the country.

“I’ve watched Joe play throughout the summer,” says Phelps. “We’ve been impressed not only with his shooting, but also with his ability to go to the basket.”

Price becomes the first Indiana native to play on a Notre Dame team that has won the national championship.

“I’m really excited about having Joe on our team,” said head coach Dan Dakich.

The Irish coach hopes to sign a total of five recruits for the 1984-85 season. Under NCAA regulations, players may not sign a national letter of intent until April. The institution is a one-year deal.

Price is confident his recruitment will continue, and he is a likely candidate for the school’s most valuable player award.

See PRICE, page 9

Joe Price, Gary Brooker and Pete Gillen (left to right) after months of evaluating, already have signed two recruits for next year. See Desjardin’s story at left.