HILLCREST BEACH, Fla. (AP) — Thirty-three Haitian refugees drowned early yesterday after their leaky, 25-foot wooden sailboat broke up in rough surf less than a half-mile from shore, the U.S. Coast Guard said. The 34 others aboard the boat survived.

It was the worst such accident since heavy influxes of Caribbean refugees began arriving by boat more than three years ago.

 Petty Officer Daryl Gale said all the bodies washed ashore, and a search by helicopters and boats was suspended shortly before noon.

"You go in, you lose half of them there. It's so sad," said Dan Hynes, a police ser­ gent in this town 35 miles north of Miami.

By midmorning, the dead — their near-naked bodies twisted into odd, postures by the fierce waves that dumped them ashore — littered the beach along with ship debris, including the broken mast. The partially submerged ship's frame washed to within 50 feet of shore.

"It looked like a combat zone. There were bodies everywhere," said police patrolman Joe Dente.

The dead included 19 men and 14 women, including three who were pregnant. All were described as "youth adults" by authorities at the Broward County morgue.

Rev. Theodore Hesburgh accepted an offer from the Board of Trustees to remain in the position of University President for another five years.

According to Edmund A. Stephan, chairman of the Board of Trustees, the decision to retain Hesburgh came from all and hoi Trustees' comnittee on succession after it had received recommendations from numerous sources, including a faculty committee.

"The decision resulted mainly from the conviction that we have at this University great leadership and have had for 30 years," he said.

"We have in Fr. Hesburgh a man who is in rigorously good health and as intellectually alive as I have ever seen him.

"This conviction family came to us that we should not change the leadership when we have such a winning situation," he added.

Stephan also noted that Hesburgh was asked to remain for five years to convey the point that this is not going to be an annual decision that keeps the campus, the Trustees, and the friends of the University stirred up and concerned.

"It may not be five years, but we hope it will," Stephan said. "We just want to put that expectation in a place.

Fr. Hesburgh commented that he is not "jumping for joy" over the Trustees' decision because he felt that now would be a good time to get out and rest.

"I had pretty much psychologically prepared myself to be Chancellor and someone else President," he said.

"When you get a call from the people you are working with, however, you plan to go along with them.

Hesburgh added that he has no immediate plans for the next five years.

"I tend to live by day, he said.

"This place is on a constant upward thrust and we take our projects one at a time".

Stephan explained that the Trust­ es did not make a new President because although the Chancel­ or/President formula was appealing as an abstract way to "get at the problem," when the Trustees took a good hard look at the situation they thought it was best to continue with Fr. Hesburgh.

University Provost Timothy O'Meara added that the faculty con­sidered the Chancellor/President formula "too complicated.

Trustees, Reps discuss student problems

Student housing and social space were the central issues student representatives discussed with the Student Affairs Committee of the Board of Trustees during a meeting last Thursday.

Student who attended the meeting include Student Body President Don Murray, Student Body Vice President Guy Phillips, Graduate Student Union President Catherine Thack, Graduate Student Union Representative Dennis Staffelbach, Housing Cabinet Head Patrick Byrnes, and Off-Campus counselor Kathy Jurado.

Staffelbach introduced the housing issue by noting a problem with housing for male graduate students.

"Each year we have between 700 and 800 new graduate students," Staffelbach said. Presently, to house these students we have St. Joseph's hall and O'Hara hall.

"St. Joseph's has about 74 male students, and Brownson houses five to ten male students each year. The remaining space is reserved for graduate housing, for 500 students each year who are forced to seek housing off-campus.

Staffelbach added that Grave

O'Hara towers, which currently houses 146 female graduate students, has the underground utilities to facilitate 500 students.

Hesburgh pointed out that the University use available money to continue building on the Grace-O'Hara site.

This would allow room for 500 more graduate students," he said.

Jurado stressed the need for a new housing director and additional off­ campus housing.

"We have presented this idea to the campus," Jurado said, "and now will present it to the CCC as a whole, she said.

Jurado also noted that current offcampus housing director is also the director of Montzehall.

"He is the only University representative responsible for off-campus housing, and he already has a full­ time job," she said. "He himself said that he does not have the time and energy to put into all of the problems that come under the position of housing director.

Jurado added that the CUC task force thinks the need for a new housing director and will work with the off-campus housing director.

Donald P. Kelly, president and chief executive officer of Enmark, Inc., the diversified Chicago-based holding company with interests in consumer products and industrial chemicals, has accepted the position of chairman of the Edward Frederick Sorin Society at the University of Notre Dame. The announcement was made by Fr. Theodore M. Hesburgh, president of the University. "Don Kelly will give the Sorin Society the dynamic leadership it needs to become an integral part of the advancement program of the University," commented Fr. Hesburgh. The Sorin Society, inaugurated in 1976, is named for the founder of the University of Notre Dame and recognizes individuals who have demonstrated a tangible interest in supporting the University as well as those who wish to become more closely associated with its purposes, plans and programs. Membership in the Sorin Society is offered to friends of Notre Dame willing to make an unrestricted annual gift of $1,000 or more. — The Observer

The Juggler, a University of Notre Dame literary magazine, has been awarded second place in a national competition for student publications from 132 colleges or universities in 35 states. Published once each semester, the magazine contains prose, poetry, photographs and illustrations. Editor of last semester's award-winning issue was Lawrence J. Seino, a senior in the college of Arts and Letters and a resident of New Hope, Minn. Fr. Mario Peek of the Office of Student Activities serves as moderator for the magazine. A cash award of $200 accompanies the second place trophy. Dr. George Pimentel, chemistry professor at the University of California at Berkeley, will spend two weeks in October to Nov. 6 at the University of Notre Dame to deliver a series of Distinguished Scholar Lectures hosted by the Camille and Henry Dreyfus Foundation. In addition to discussions with faculty and students on research topics, Dr. Pimentel will give two public lectures on "Science and Public Policy" on Oct. 28 and "What is a Chemical Laser?" on Nov. 4. Both will be at 8 p.m. in the Memorial Library audionium. Dr. Pimentel has served on national committees concerned with science and public policy, and with his research group discovered the first chemically pumped laser. His work in rapid scan techniques led to the design of a unique infrared spectrometer for the 1969 Mariner interplanetary spacecraft to determine the composition of the atmosphere of Mars. A 28-year-old man has been charged with possession of a controlled substance after police in Ogden, Utah found 160 saturated stamps bearing the image of the cartoon character Snoopy, in his home. James Elmer Mars was arrested Thursday after police raided his house. Police Lt. William Sterler said the stamps apparently are being printed in Colorado and distributed through western states. He said the Salt Lake City authorities suspect the stamps are being sold there, also. None, however, have been seen, he said. — AP

The leader of a 14-member French expedition that scaled Kanchenjunga, the world's third highest peak, died in a fall as he was descending the 28,166 foot summit. Nepal's Ministry of Tourism said yesterday. The ministry identified the dead man as Jean Jacques Ricouraud, 29, of Paris. A spokesman said he was killed Oct. 15 after he slipped and fell nearly 1,000 feet down the mountain 350 miles northeast of here. Ricouraud and another member of the expedition had climbed the southwest face of the Himalayan peak without using oxygen, a spokesman said. Ricouraud's body was left behind when the expedition left base camp Wednesday for Katmandu, the spokesman said. — AP

"Best Legs on Campus" belong to a dog? Folks at the University of Washington will answer that question this week in a contest sponsored by campus fraternities and other groups. Among the 10 candidates for the title is Denali, a male Malamute who is mascot for the UW basketball team. Also in the running are male and female students, administrators and staff members. To vote, campus community members will place 25 cents in one of 10 jars bearing a photo of a nominee's legs. The winner of the "Best Legs on Campus" contest will be the person — or dog — whose jar contains the most money when the voting ends. Ballot box stuffing has been encouraged since the money will go to United Way of King County. — AP

The Student Senate met last night to discuss the meeting of the Board of Trustees, held Oct. 22. Student Body President Donald Jurado said there was a detailed account of the meeting's topics of discussion.

Off-campus housing dominated most of the discussion last Tuesday. Catherine Trace and Kathy Jaradula described the problems faced by both the graduate students and seniors which they searched for affordable living quarters.

Trace suggested that many graduate students were interested in living on-campus for economic reasons. She also asked the Trustees to consider a commitment to on-campus housing by building an addition to the Grace O'Harerow houses.

Jurado asked for and received a $10,000 grant for the dorms in order to improve the social space and party room.

A survey will be distributed later in the year to fully understand student's desires and ideas for next year's off-campus housing. Student Body Vice President Tara Keeney also discussed the Coeducational social life at Notre Dame and possible methods to improve it. Her goal is to move social integration between men and women and the improvement of social space.

Jurado offered suggestions for the improvement of Chautauqua, the coffeehouse in Lafertune. He described the frustration the Senate is experiencing with their attempts to make it a student "hang-out".

Jurado concluded the meeting with the Trustees by requesting and receiving permission to form a group to study the quality of life at other universities so that Notre Dame may be improved and use various aspects of the Notre Dame community.

Jurado felt that overall the meeting was "very constructive" and the relationship between the Student Senate and the Board of Trustees was "looking good".

NEW YORK (AP) — A convict slain in a gun battle with police was linked yesterday to the earlier $1.4 million Brinks' heist in which members of the Weather Underground allegedly killed two policemen and a guard.

Police sources said a 58-caliber slug found in the pocket of the convict, Sam Smith, came from the gun of Nyack Police Sgt. Edward O'Grady Jr., one of those killed.

Smith, imprisoned in 1971 for an armed robbery in which he shot and wounded two officers but jumped parole two years later, was killed in an apparent shootout with his guard, New York State Police Capt. William J. Snow.

Documents found in a raided East New York, N.J., terrorist safe house linked yesterday to the Queens shootout.

Documents found in a raided East Orange, N.J., terrorist safe house showed that the merged Black Liberation Army and Weather Underground had planned to kidnap executives of major corporations for ransom, according to a published report.

The guards were posted for five people charged in connection with a violent demonstration last month against a South African rugby team in which acid was thrown at a police officer. The guards were registered to one of the defendants was used in the Brinks shootout.

Two Weather Underground fugitives arrested Friday night in the Bronx waived extradition to New Jersey before a U.S. magistrate in Manhattan.

JERUSALEM (AP) — Israel and Egypt shifted strategy yesterday in negotiations on Palestinian self-rule, seeking swift agreement on an elected council to govern Israeli-occupied territories. Prime Minister Menachem Begin said he was "very close" to an agreement.

Begin said after a 90-minute meeting with Egyptian Foreign Min­ister Mubarak, "we are very close to an agreement."

The Cairo meeting will be the first ministerial-level talks in eight weeks. Low-level technical teams began meeting in Tel Aviv last week and will work through Thursday on the autonomy issue.

If the council is agreed upon, Begin said, "this will be a real breakthrough and a real change." He said a resolution of differences over the council was "the key" to the whole autonomy issue.

The United States has been called for an extra effort to break the stalemate and strengthen Egyptian President Hosni Mubarak's position as successor to slain President Anwar Sadat.

A major question is whether the Palestinians will accept the proposals and vote for the council. They say they want full statehood and have so far refused to participate in the talks arising from the Camp David accords.

Asked what would happen if the Palestinians boycotted the election, Begin quoted Sadat as having said that in that case "we have done our duty."

The implication was that Egypt and Israel would use their hands of autonomy and the Israeli occupation would continue.

WASHINGTON (AP) — Senate Republicans intend to seek between $50 billion and $70 billion in tax increases over the next three years as part of their attempt to cut budget deficits by $115 billion, sources said yesterday.

The sources disclosed the tentative target as Senate Finance Chairman Bob Dole, R-Kan., confirmed that his panel would begin drafting a bill to raise taxes early next year.

Dole predicted that Congress would enact the increases, but he spelled out few details, and did not mention how much the committee's Republican majority hoped to raise with its legislation.

But sources have reported that administration and congressional officials have drawn up a lengthy list of options, including higher excise taxes on tobacco, tobacco and gasoline, an import fee on crude oil and disallowing tax deductions on consumer debt interest, except for home mortgages and car loans.

"The Finance Committee is studying a number of tax increase options, including the loophole-closing proposals advanced by the administration and excise tax increases," he said.

Dole said he hoped hearings would start on the bill before Congress adjourns for the year. Senate Republican Leader Howard Baker of Tennessee and others said, however, that most of the effect would be felt in the 1983 and 1984 fiscal years.

Sources said Baker has spoken with President Reagan to discuss the GOP plan, although there has been no official White House reaction. Baker and other key Republicans in Congress are expected to meet with the president later this week to discuss his economic program.

Dole's statement followed a day of confusion over Senate Republican plans after Baker said on Sunday there would be no tax increases for the 1982 fiscal year.

He corrected himself yesterday, saying that because it would be relatively late in the fiscal year before the measure could be passed, any tax increase in 1982 would be modest.

Sources said that no consensus has been reached among Senate Republicans on which proposals to advance, although one official said the least desirable option was to backtrack on the three-year, income-tax cut that passed earlier this year.

These sources also said that while there was no final agreement on exactly how much should be raised in higher taxes, Senate Republicans who met privately for several days last week decided the $50 billion to $70 billion was the range needed to meet their overall goal.

and books many group on horseback trips on the prairie and mountain trails of the Old West, outfitted with equipment and supplies similar to that of trailblazers such as Jim Bridger.

The people who pay up to $2,000 for her trips — including food on which the travelers participate in a real cattle drive — scrounge for their own horns and catch their own currant trout.

"They want to participate," she said. "They want something of a challenge. They want to experience something different. They want action and they want a chance to learn something."

Dr. David Shainberg, a personality psychiatrist who encourages some patients to go on adventure vacations, says "There's a direct contact with the world you yourself perceive the experience. You actually learn for real cattle drive — scrounge for their own horns and catch their own currant trout."

"They're urban bound, looking for something not only to get out of the city but that provides some excitement, too," Shainberg said. "A lot of it has to do with self fulfillment. Many of us who grew up in the '60s are still searching for that."

Many of the new breed of traveler also seek out nature as part of their interest in the environment. Arnold Mitchell, a Manhattan psychiatrist, says this about a month-long trek through Nepal to the base of Mount Everest:

"You start to gain a different perspective of your life in the world, the feeling that you're small, the feeling of the vastness of the world and your little place in it."

Houser said adventure trips are really dangerous, but some risk is always involved in strenuous travel through unfamiliar territories.

"It's a nice escape from normal sedentary life," Houser said. "There's not too much risk in most of our lives, the danger and the risk is part of the attraction, like the thrill rides in an amusement park. For anyone trying to get the most out of their time on this planet, risk is an important part of it."

POLICE INVESTIGATE SISTERS' STRANGE DEATHS

JESUP, Georgia (AP) — Four-year-old Olympia Keith Reddish was found dead today. Police said she had stopped breathing. She was pronounced dead a few hours later.

The girl, three sisters and their half-sister, died under similar circumstances between June 28, 1980, and October 13, 1981.

Medical investigators and police are unable to determine the cause of their deaths and are not sure if they are dealing with a single homicide or some rare disease.

They're hoping more tests will clear the mystery.

"We have no idea what killed them," said Joel Smith, police detective in this southeast Georgia town. "We just know things like this happen every once in a while."

"It's hard not to think there's something foul play in it, but we have no proof," he said yesterday.

The father, whose name was not released, did not live with any of the children but visited them on occasion, police said. He will undergo further questioning and medical tests, but said that "he doesn't have any ideas" what caused the deaths.

A fifth daughter, 2, by a third woman, was also tested. Maria, 6, by his second wife, told police she had seen Olympia Reddish die after she went back to bed after tiring in her yard.

"I thought she was asleep," Maria said, "but she was dead." Ms. Gaston said.

On Oct. 13, Ms. Worley's third daughter, 2-year-old Laroni Monich Reddish, refused to eat breakfast. She complained about pain in her stomach and head, and Ms. Worley put her back to bed.

Ms. Worley found her dead less than an hour later.

A family said autopsies were performed on all four children, "but all tests were negative, completely negative."

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Philadelphia's labor leaders voted yesterday for a general strike and mass demonstration Wednesday in support of a 90,000 teachers union that has kept more than 200,000 children out of public school.

The strike was worked out by city officials and it says it will be very successful," said Edward Toohey, president of the Philadelphia AFL-CIO council which represents 350 national unions with about 250,000 members.

Toohey, following three meetings with labor leaders, said the vote was unanimous to support the teachers and "bring about a contract that is fair to them."

The teachers struck Sept. 8 after the school board said it could not afford the $2.35 million deficit, laid off 3,511 employees, canceled a 10 percent pay hike and fired 500 teachers.

Cut proposed for OPEC

(AP) — A report by a Kuwaiti newspaper yesterday that Venezuela is raising a proposed cut to $34 a barrel in OPEC's base price for oil has raised new doubts about the outcome of a special meeting of the cartel this week in Geneva, Switzerland.

The session was called on expectations that the formation of the other members of OPEC will continue to rise, and that the cartel will reach an agreement at Thursday's meeting.

Venezuela opposes a base price of $34 a barrel at OPEC's last meeting in August. But Calidonio Berri, Venezuela's energy minister, had indicated recently he would compromise on Venezuela's $36-a-barrel price if an agreement was near.

"He would be extremely complicated for Venezuela to remain outside the other countries," Berri had said two weeks ago. "We want to contribute to OPEC's unity.

But Marc Nan Nguea, the cartel's secretary general, was quoted by the Kuwaiti newspaper Al-Siyassa yesterday as saying Venezuela was holding out for a base price of $36 a barrel.

The newspaper reported that OPEC secretary general held lengthy discussions with Kuwaiti Oil Minister Sheik Ali Khalifa Al-Sabah during a one-day visit to this past weekend.

"Saudi Arabia still insists on unifying oil prices at $34 a barrel, while Venezuela's latest proposal suggested $36," said Nan Nguea. "Each side has its price."

U.S. committed fully to improving relations

MOSCOW (AP) — U.S. Ambassador Arthur A. Hartman pledged yesterday that the United States is "fully committed" to improving relations with Moscow, but said the Soviet Union won't show "restraint" in its policies and actions.

He also said the United States has no choice but to respond to "a major and uncompromising" Soviet military buildup.

Europeans contribute to Middle East

LUXEMBOURG (AP) — Britain, France, Italy and the Netherlands have agreed in principle to contribute troops to a peacekeeping force that will oversee Israel's final pullout from the Sinai desert next year, French Foreign Minister Claude Cheysson said yesterday.

Other ministers declined to confirm the decision.

However, a Common Market source said a formal agreement and a joint declaration on the 10 Common Market countries would be issued as soon as details of the force are worked out.

Nationwide contest open to all students

A nationwide contest is open for student papers on international business subjects. The contest is open to all U.S. and foreign graduate and undergraduate students.

A preliminary draft of a proposed paper in accord with contest guidelines is due December 1, 1981, at the Institute of International Education, sponsor of the competition, as part of the 1982 Student Conference on International Business, March 14-16, 1982. The Student Conference is an official adjunct of the 4th Chicago World Trade Conference.

The first-place winner must be able to present paper in Chicago at the World Trade Conference/Student Conference, and will receive a $250 prize, travel expenses to Chicago from the Continental U.S. and the Chicago World Trade Conference Award.

First-runner-up will receive a $150 prize; all other finalists will receive $575. Winning papers are usually published.

Reagan launches blitz to get AWACS sale

WASHINGTON (AP) — With a change in Senate vote just two days away, President Reagan launched an all-out blitz on the opposition Thursday in a bid to rescue his $6.5 billion arms sale to Saudi Arabia.

Before the day was over, he had picked up one vote and the opposition had gained one.

Reagan called seven senators to his office yesterday — five declared opponents and two who were undecided — and aides said he might talk to a dozen other Senators before the showdown tomorrow afternoon.

He is trying to overcome opposition to the sale of AWACS radar planes and F-15 jet fighter weaponry, a plan already rejected by the House by 401 to 111 vote.

Sen. William E. Armstrong, R-Colo., left the White House yesterday saying he was still undecided, but announced a few hours later that he will vote for the sale.

Sen. Patrick Leahy, D-Vt., who also had been uncommitted, took to the Senate floor even as the White House meetings were in progress to say he will vote against the sale.

Leahy said the sale would "start an avalanche" of arms requests from other Arab countries and said the administration had no underlying Middle East policy to justify such sales.

"We've still got a way to go."

Yesterday's announcements by Armstrong and Leahy raised the Senate line-up to 51-49 against the sale according to the latest Associated Press count.

The opposition includes 55 senators who have announced they oppose the sale plus two who say they are leaning against the deal.

Opponents must win a majority of the senators present and voting. 51 if all senators vote, to win approval of a veto resolution against the sale.

At the White House, spokesman Larry Speakes said, "We've still got a way to go."

"We're concentrating on a group of senators who are undecided" or who have expressed an interest in talking to the president, he said.

Speakes said Reagan may see as many as a dozen more senators today and tomorrow but refused to identify them.

It was a scoreless tie a lot of the time. "Except for the thing that plauged us all year long," added Crable. "A little breakdown here and there."

The breakdowns in the kicking game had a lot to do with Notre Dame's fate. Pointer Dave Pryor booted the leath up at their own 2-yard line in the fourth quarter, and that set up the field position for USC's winning score. "It's funny," noted Pryor, "when it was 0-0 at the half, the coaches told me it might come down to kicking it inside the 20."

Added to that were 22 and 24-yard misses by Harry Oliver that would have given Notre Dame the lead on both occasions. "Everything was fine," said Harry about the first kick. "I just missed it. The left half mark in that close is my toughest kick because I have to come across my body, but that's no excuse."

Paus took a delay-of-game penalty on the second try to give Oliver a better angle, but Southern Cal refused it. "I don't know if that really distracted me," Oliver remarked. "I figured if we got it that it would be a little better angle, but still you've got to put the ball through the goalposts. That's what it comes down to, and I just didn't do it. The snap was high and Tom (Koegel) still had his hand in front of the ball when I kicked it. I should have waited."

Notre Dame will have to wait until next year to stop USC's streak of four straight wins over the Irish, a first in the history of the series. But the seniors came up short on their last chance Saturday.

"I feel very sorry for them," offered Keel. "It's been four years and they've never beaten Southern Cal."

"We played our guts out and didn't come out on top," Crable added. "It makes it hurt that much more."

And Faust is sympathetic to their plight. "What can you say to kids when they play that well? But we'll be alright. This year didn't mean as much as last year, but it was still a great game for us."

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Terry Bradshaw hauled a tie-breaking touchdown pass to John Stallworth with 3:41 left to play to spark the Pittsburgh Steelers to a 20-13 victory over the Houston Oilers in a National Football League Central Division game played in a steady drizzle last night.

The victory boosted Pittsburgh, 5-5, back into a first-place tie in the American Football Conference Central Division with the Cincinnati Bengals, upset Sunday by New Orleans.

Bradshaw, Steelers defeat Oilers

The Oilers, who had tied the game 13-13 with a 10-point fourth-quarter surge, fell to 4-1 on the season. That ties them with Clevland for second place in the right AFC central.

(Though minus injured defensive starters Doug Greene, L.C. Greenwood and Don Shell, the Steelers limited Earl Campbell to 56 yards on 23 carries. In addition, Campbell lost two fumbles in Steeler territory as Pittsburgh halted a string of eight consecutive Monday night victories by Houston.

Trailing 13-10 midway in the final quarter, the Oilers took a 31-yard field goal to tie the game. Earlier in the fourth quarter, Oiler quarterback Ken Stabler combined with tight end Dave Casper on a 52-yard touchdown pass play. Casper caught the pass at the Pittsburgh 35 and broke tackles by Jack Ham and Jack Lambert on his way to the end zone to cut the Pittsburgh lead to 13-10.

After Frisch's game-tying field goal, Steeler fullback Franco Harris broke loose on a 50-yard, break-away touchdown run, out-of-bounds hit by Oiler linebacker Earl Washington drew a 15-yard penalty that moved Pittsburgh to the Houston 19. With 2:10 remaining, Bradshaw threw an apparent 1-yard touchdown pass to Jim Smith, who had caught a 46-yard touchdown bomb in the first period. But the play was nullified by a holding penalty. The Oilers' ensuing drive was halted by a pass interception by Steeler safety Ron Johnson, who returned the ball eight yards to the visitor's 12-yard line. Four plays later, Franco Harris plowed one yard for a touchdown with two minutes to play for the Steelers' final score.

John, Hooton square off in 6

NEW YORK (AP) — A well-rested Burt Hooton will try to clinch the World Series for the Los Angeles Dodgers, who have the comeback habit, when they play the fighting New York Yankees tonight in the sixth game at Yankee Stadium.

The Dodgers took a 2-1 lead in the best-of-seven series with their third straight victory Sunday, leaving George Steinbrenner, the Yankees' principal owner, to sound the battle cry — "we're going to come back in New York — just wait!"

Another battle cry sounded after Sunday's game was by a man who said, according to Steinbrenner, that New York fans are animals and that his pitch had not been knocked down. The man and another man confronted Steinbrenner in a Los Angeles hotel elevator, where the owner said he knocked them both down after being hit by a beer bottle and punched. He said he suffered a possible broken left hand.

Tommy John, the ex-Dodger who beat his former team in the second game, will try to even the series for the Yankees just three days after pitching two innings of relief in the Yankees' Saturday loss. John beat Hooton to give the Yankees a 2-0 Series lead.

"...we'll have our work cut out for us Tuesday."

The Dodgers got a boost Monday when officials at a Los Angeles hospital reported that third baseman Ron Cey did not suffer a concussion and was fine. Cey was hospitalized after being hit on the head by fastball from Yankee reliever Goose Gossage in the eighth inning Sunday.

Cey was to be examined again later Monday before a decision on whether he could go to New York for the sixth game.

A victory Tuesday night would enable the Dodgers to duplicate New York's 1978 World Series victory in which the Yankees lost the first two games, then won four straight.

"It's a helluva thing to do, beating the Yankees three straight, and we're going to have our work cut out for us Tues­day," Hooton said.

On Sunday, the Dodgers won their third straight over the Yankees at Dodger Stadium after losing the first two at New York. Jerry Reuss, the loser in the first game, pitched a five-hitter, and Pedro Guerrero and Steve Yeager connected on consecutive home runs off Ron Guidry in the seventh inning for the 2-1 vic­tory.

In his previous start at Yankee Stadium, Hooton worked six innings and gave up one unearned run on three hits as the Dodgers lost 3-0. It was his third straight start with only three days' rest between each one. But for Tuesday night's game, Hooton will have rested for five days.

"I've advocated pitching on three days' rest all along," Hooton said, "but not doing it during the season, then trying to do it in the playoffs and World Series is no easy matter. "I felt really good the last time out, but there was just no zip on the ball," Hooton said.

crowd proves that soccer has a bright future at Notre Dame," Han­ter said.

Notre Dame's two other homes came last week. The Irish traveled to Western Michigan on Saturday, Oct. 17, and outplayed their opponent 2-0, only to lose by a score of 2-0. The loss was obviously disappointing and frustrating, and could hurt Notre Dame's chance for a playoff bid.

The team's next loss came at the hands of Akron University, rated second only to Indiana in the Great Lakes Division. The game was played at Akron last Thursday, and the Irish fell by a score of 2-1.

Notre Dame is still ranked eighth in the Great Lakes division, but their hopes for a playoff bid are fading. It is by no means impossible, but it won't be easy.

COURIER KICKS — The Irish have four games remaining... they travel to Valparaiso tomorrow and return for their final home game Sunday against Wright State. (2 p.m., Carter Field)... then it's back on the road for games against Bowling Green and Western Michigan.

Robinson compliments Irish

By KELLY SULLIVAN
Sports Writer

Like most Notre Dame-Southern Cal clashes, Saturday's game ranks as another in the long list of classics between the inter-sectional rivals. "It was a great game," noted USC linebacker Chip Banks. "There is no other game like it. It's simply one of a kind. Our coaches really get into it because it is so special. It's certainly a bigger game than UCLA because there is so much tradition involved.

"Tradition and emotion again had a big hand in the caliber of competition. Though, the fifth-ranked Trojans brought a 5-1 ledger to town, both squads knew the records wouldn't mean a thing on the field. "I told our players all week that this game was like a heavyweight championship fight that might not be decided until the 12th or 13th round," predicted USC coach John Robinson. "And that's just what happened."

"We knew we had to play every play," offered linebacker Neil Hope, "and that there wouldn't be a big difference until late in the game. It's like a street fight, and the more physical team won out."

But tailback Marcus Allen thinks the Irish are pretty physical themselves. "Looks can be very deceiving," he said after the game. "I may look fine now, but I'm pretty bruised up and I'm hurting. ND-USC is one of the most physical and intense games in football, and this was no exception. We were fortunate to come out on top, the yards came really tough."

Yards were hard to come by for Allen. He came into the game averaging 215 yards an outing, but the Irish held him to a season-low 47 yards. But passing yards came even tougher to quarterback John Mazor.

"Notre Dame's secondary gave him very little," agreed Robinson. "We've raised John to be very selective and cautious, though, and he did a fine job of leading the team."

"I had a sore thumb all week," explained the sophomore, 7-14 for 46 yards, "and it acted up in the cold weather. I was a little afraid to throw the ball."

Robinson insisted his players are never afraid of Notre Dame's crowd — "They're just thrilled to be playing here," — but the fans really picked on two particular Trojans. "The crowd booed Joey and me every time our names came over the speakers," said safety Keith Browner. "I guess they don't like us because we don't play here like Jim and Ross did. We talk about it a lot at home, and Jim and Ross have always said they were 100 percent behind us."

Notre Dame, trailing 14-7, looked like they were going to stay be­hind very long when freshman Joe Howard returned a 69-yard kickoff for a touchdown. But Browner was there to stifle the big play. "It was a great return, I knew I was the last guy back there, and I tried to get the ball out of his hands, but he held on tight."

"They have very capable backs, and they all hold on to the ball," agreed linebacker Hope. "Phil Car­ter impressed me. I've never played against a quicker player."

Robinson was very impressed with Gerry Faust. "Things aren't going very well for him right now, but he'll get it turned around. There was something about the look in his eye after the game that impressed the hell out of me."

Today's highlight in history:
In 1978, Egyptian President Anwar Sadat and Israeli Premier Menachem Begin were awarded the Nobel Peace Prize.

On this day:
In 1651, Limerick, Ireland, surrendered to the British after a lengthy siege.
In 1866, France's Napoleon Bonaparte occupied Berlin.
In 1966, the U.N. General Assembly proclaimed the termination of Arab Africa's mandate over South West Africa.
And in 1975, a U.N. peace-keeping force arrived in Cairo to attempt to set up a lasting cease-fire between Israeli and Arab forces.

Irish are optimistic after loss to USC

By KELLY SULLIVAN
Sports Writer

"Every game with Notre Dame is a fight," said USC fullback Todd Spencer. "Eventually one team will fall. We're on the losing end of that, and it appears to be us this week." The Trojans, who are tied for the Pac-10 lead in the standings, lost for the first time this season. USC, the Pac-10 leader, remained unbeaten, and the Irish had lost the war, and the Irish were left to wonder what might have been.

"I don't think we lost the game," said coach Bob Crable, who felt the pressure of the game coming and issued a warning. "We're just planning on stringing out the opponent. We're not going to be caught off guard."

"It's not a big deal," said USC's Terry Moore. "We knew when we were going in to be competitive."

"We knew we were going to play against a great team," said USC's Rick Tuttle. "But we were prepared."

The Irish defense did a tremendous job of coming off the ball, Faust acknowledged. "They're a good team."

"I'm just glad that we're playing against a good team," said USC's Pete Crouch.

Notre Dame opens league play

Notre Dame's hockey team joined a select group of teams that have won three of their first four games this season. The Irish scored three goals in the first period and held off a determined Michigan State team to win 3-0.

"It was extremely exciting," said forward Rich Hunter. "We faced a tough challenge at the beginning of the game, but we responded well."

"The Irish defense was outstanding," said Michigan State's John Donahue. "They didn't give us anything."

The Irish defense did a good job of controlling the game, as the Irish were only outshot 10-5. The Irish defense was led by goalie John Donahue, who was credited with 13 saves.

"Our players really came of age today," said coach Rich Hunter. "They played like I've never seen them play all year."}
