WASHINGTON (AP) - A Florida-bound air-\nliner took off and crashed into a Potomac River bridge \nyesterday, sending automobiles and plunging into the icy \nwater. About 65 people were reported killed, but the \ncasualty count was unconfirmed.

The Boeing 737 was on a Florida flight, \nwith a booking of 65 passengers and a crew of five, \nhauled by Washington National Airport to Tampa and \nFort Lauderdale, Fla. The actual number of people on \nboard could not be verified.

Sr. Hilarie Besteman, a Diocesan of \nBaltimore police spokesperson, said there \nbereceived to be only five \nsurvivors from the plane. A Spokes- \nman for the Federal Aviation \nAdministration, Ted Mart, said an \n"unofficial" estimate "would be 65."

Police Capt. Michael L. Canfield \nsaid at least six motorcycles were \nkilled on the plane, several of the tops of cars \nand a truck hit.

At least 16 survivors were taken to \nWashington hospitals, some suffer- \ning injuries, some the effects of \nthe freezing water, and was pulled to \nbeneath the surface of the Potomac.

The crash occurred little more \nshortly after the crash, but the \nflight weather impeded rescue efforts. The tem- \nperature hovered in the 20s, winds \nwhipped the river.

Rescue boats were at the scene, \nthe Potomac River, searching \nfor victims in the ice. The plane's \ntail section also broke away, \nits engines blanketed the city.

Kosimierz Braun, a professor scheduled to join the NSMC Communications and Theatre Department, has been unable to leave Poland because of martial law restrictions limiting travel of Polish citizens. His arrival is still questionable. “It really is up in the air,” said Associated Department Chairman Mitchell Laffan. “But we should know by next week.” Braun’s classes will not be cancelled until the situation is clarified.

Fr. John led our group on a walking tour of the West Side area surrounding St. Malachy’s. As we walked by a housing project, we saw three children, one of whom was holding a knife in front of him. “Most people in this neighborhood use weapons at all times to protect themselves,” Fr. John said. He took the knives and matched them to our group. Fr. John of nearby Our Lady of the Angels parish who grew up in the Cabrini Green housing project, expects the Cabrini-Green housing projects to change drastically within the next few years. Plunge broadens urban perspective

During semester break 1 participated in the Urban Plunge, a 48-hour immersion into urban life designed to enable Notre Dame and Saint Mary’s students to experience the problems of injustice, poverty and apathy in U.S. urban areas.

I was one of six students assigned to St. Malachy’s, a Catholic parish located on the West Side of Chicago. Our hosts were Father Stephen Mangin, Father John Kobus, Sister Mary Robertson, and Sister Maude. St. Malachy’s is an area in which includes two high-rise housing projects and several vacant lots. There is not one complete block in the area. Fr. Stephen noted, adding that much of the damage resulted from the 1968 riots. "Some of our nuns were here during the riots," he said. "They watched as property was burned, and saw people standing in front of their homes and schools to protect them from the looters."

Ethnically, the area generally includes Ukrainians, Italians, Hispanic and black residents. Fr. John, however, noted "ethnic stratification." "Most whites are assumed to have a negative purpose in the area," he said. "White women are generally assumed to be prostitutes, and white men narcotizes agents."

Fr. John claimed that he found a dead woman on a street corner last year. "I called the police, returned another hour later, and found her still breathing."

As we walked through the area, no one on the street stopped in a police car, however, stopped by the housing project and an officer asked what were we doing in the area. When Fr. John explained that he was a priest, the officer asked if he was carrying a gun. When Fr. John answered "no," the officer said, "well good luck," and drove off.

A fire ambulance later stopped and asked if there was any business in the area. They offered us a ride, but declined it.

We walked about five miles in the area without difficulty. Mayor Byrne called this area a "public disgrace." Fr. John said that his neighborhood averages one shooting and two rapes per night. These crimes are not reported and the area is filled with people who are generally accustomed to be prostitutes, and white men narcotizes agents.

LOAN PROBLEMS

The loans were used by Richards and a partner to purchase the American Health and Sports spa in Roy, Utah in 1977. His original partner in the venture was a Utah neighbor, Lew Whangard, who later sold his interest to Alex Hutardo, who now heads the political division of the Republican National Committee.

After Richards and his partner failed to make 12 monthly payments on one $110,000 loan, the SHA had to pay $96,203 to the Bank of Utah. The partners also are behind in payments on a $110,000 loan.

"The main reason I don't pay it is don't have the money to pay it," Richards told The Post.

The chairman also said he told the acting director of the SHA's Salt Lake City office, C. Dale Randall, that "I don't want to be given any special privilege.

The newspaper quoted SHA officials as saying they expect Richards and his partner to make good on all the payments, and officials said the two partners had pledged their private homes as collateral.

War follows husbands home

By NANCY TRAVER
Associated Press Writer

DENVER (AP) — The wives of Vietnam veterans have never watched a buddy die, carried an M-16 rifle or survived in a jungle half a world away. But for many women, the war has come home with husbands unable to put Vietnam behind them.

"There are plenty of programs for vets, but their wives are secondary. Many times, I find women suffering even more than their husbands, because they have nowhere to go for help," said psychologist Candy Williams, who, as the wife of a Vietnam veteran, has pioneered a counseling program for other wives.

Nearly one million American soldiers served in combat in Vietnam, and half still suffer from the stress they experienced during the war, according to the federal government.

The men who went to war can use programs set up by the Veterans Administration or the privately sponsored Disabled American Veterans.

Ms. Williams' two-year-old sessions, where groups of six to 12 women could discuss their problems, were among the first in the nation for veterans' wives. She was the first psychologist to publish a guide for other professionals who wanted to begin work in the field, according to DAV outreach program director Bob Lehman.

Her pioneering efforts laid the groundwork for the creation of other programs in DAV centers across the nation, Lehman said.

Her husband Tom became active in an early Vietnam veterans program that was started in Denver by the DAV in 1979. In the beginning, she kept her distance.

"I backed away from getting involved at first, because I didn't want to set up a ladies' auxiliary, and I didn't want to do something weird only at helping the men get better," said Ms. Williams. "I changed my mind when I saw there were a lot of people who were really hurting, and it seemed they had nowhere to go for help.

"Before she could help the women, she had to learn about what was bothering their husbands, Ms. Williams said. She was able to find the answers to most of her questions by turning to her own husband, who served in Vietnam for two years.

Heavy women may risk chance of diabetes

WASHINGTON (AP) — Women who are overweight in their upper bodies face an increased risk of having undiagnosed diabetes and should be tested, federal researchers said yesterday.

A study at the Medical College of Wisconsin found that the location of fat in the body can help predict whether a woman has diabetes long before symptoms appear.

Obese women with most of their fat located in the upper body — the waist, chest, neck and arms — are more likely to be diabetics than those with fat concentrated in lower body areas such as hips, thighs and buttocks, researchers found.

Dr. Ahmed H. Kissebah said an upper-body obese woman has eight times greater risk of having clinical diabetes than a woman of normal weight. Those with lower body obesity showed little or no increased risk.

Speaking at a Milwaukee news briefing that was monitored by reporters throughout the country, Kissebah said the risk goes down with dieting and loss of the fat.

"What is heartening is that it is relatively easy to identify those who are at risk and to take early measures to reduce upper body segment fat," he said.

"This reduction lowers the risk of such metabolic disorders as diabetes, high blood pressure and heart disease," he continued.

The researcher said about 40 percent of American women are overweight and of these women, 25 percent have upper body obesity.

Kissebah said the findings should encourage doctors to make a serious effort to persuade women to lose weight.

Women with fat upper bodies also should ask their doctors to test them for diabetes so that treatment, which normally consists of weight control and special diets, can begin as soon as possible, he said. Insulin injections normally are prescribed only in extreme cases.

Diabetes is a condition that keeps the body from metabolizing sugars. Insulin, a hormone that helps the body use sugar, either is not produced in sufficient quantities or there is an inability to use the insulin that is produced.

Some studies indicate that early diagnosis and treatment results in better long-term outcomes for patients, said Kissebah, director of the college's General Clinical Research Center, a special human studies unit funded by the National Institutes of Health.

The association between upper body obesity and diabetes was first identified by French researchers in the 1970s. The relationship was confirmed in 1980 by the Milwaukee researchers after studying 15,000 obese women from around the country.

To examine this relationship more closely, the researchers compared 52 women who were between the ages of 20 and 40 — 25 with upper body obesity, 18 with lower body fat and nine of normal weight who were used as a control group.
Polish government listens

"Big Sister" controls phones

WARSAW, Poland (AP) — Big Sister is warning telephone callers their conversations are "being controlled" in martial law Poland these days.

Since telephone service in Poland's major cities was restored last Sunday, some numbers start a screechy-voiced woman chirping, "Rozmowa Kontrolowana."

In Polish that means "the call is being controlled," the call is being controlled.

The voice of Big Sister changes, sometimes high, sometimes a bit husker. But the message is clear: anything said on the phone may be heard and there should be no doubt about it.

On the first day the telephones came back after 39 days of silence, the intrusion was often inconsistent.

People testing the telephones, working for the first time since just before midnight Dec. 14 when martial law began, found that some numbers triggered Big Sister, while others did not.

Calls to the Roman Catholic Church press office were said to be under control by the voice, as were calls to some others who one could assume would be monitored.

But it was unclear if the voice was triggered by the person placing the call, or the phone number receiving it.

Two days after the phones were back in order, every call from The Associated Press office brought the warning "the call is being controlled," two or three times. Then the voice stopped and the other party either did or did not pick up the phone.

It was not the fact of the warning, but only the form it took that came as a surprise.

In an announcement that telephone service would be restored within the nation's big cities, the authorities said that the calls would be subject to control and could be cut at any time if whoever was listening deemed them damaging to the state.

The communiqué also warned that telephone conversations could be subject to further checking and anti-state activity could be punished.

Some people reported that calls were cut when such words as "internes" were used in conversations about seized members of the now-suspended independent union Solidarity.

But others said use of the word "Walesa," name of the now-sequestered chief of the independent union, and "Solidarity" did not trigger a cutoff.

It is unlikely that every single call is monitored, but it is impossible to tell which are or are not and the effect of the woman's reminder is clear.

The Notre Dame Wrestling team rated its win-loss record to 1-1 with a convincing triangular sweep last night at the ACC pit. The Irish powered through both Michigan and whipped Concordia 3-1 to 18 to claim their second triangular win of the season.

"We were worried about this meet because of the injuries we've had recently, just about everyone has something wrong with them," claimed Coach Brother Joseph Bruno. 167-pounder Phil Bary suffered a sprained ankle last week and may wrestle in two weeks. The other injuries are not bad.

Brian Fraid was the lone pin winner against Concordia as he pinned John Partipilo in thirty-seven seconds at 158 pounds. Karl Lachenbauer defeated John Ammon 2-1 in the long pin in the Huntington match. The Irish benefited from three wins by forfeits in both matches. Coach Bruno admitted that the forfeits were very helpful. They served to help a Notre Dame forfeit on the heavyweight division.

Over Christmas break, the wrestlers participated in the toughest college-style wrestling tournament in the country, the Midlands Invitational. Because of its open format, assistant coach Tinhorn Tenth-Fejel was able to wrestle at 142 lbs. He placed second. The Irish placed fourth overall and placed sixth as a team in the Olivet Invitational. The Irish placed second at 142 lbs and Joe Andreit placed third at 118 lbs individual wise.

The Notre Dame wrestlers will face Wabash and Millikin on the road this Saturday. The Irish return home next Thursday to face Bowling Green and Defiance in a triangular at the Pit, starting at 7:00. The Bowling Green Falcons are a traditional Mid American Conference power and they pose a threat to Notre Dame's undefeated record.

John and Bart Robinson, the game's first black players, were elected to the Hall of Fame yesterday in their first year of eligibility. John, who hit .255 career home runs, shattered the record of 415 held by Babe Ruth. John was selected by 406 votes of the 415 cast by 10-year members of the Baseball Writers Association of America. No player ever has been a unanimous choice to the Hall.

Robinson, the only man to win the Most Valuable Player Award in both the National and American Leagues, and, like Aaron, one of baseball's most feared sluggers for two decades, received 370 votes. A player needed 312 for election, or 75 percent of the voting board.

Aaron and Robinson became the 12th and 13th members to win the election to the Hall of Fame in their first year on the ballot. Both retired following the 1975 season. Aaron and Robinson will be inducted into the Hall of Fame at Cooperstown, N.Y., Aug. 1.

Aaron's 406 votes represented the highest vote total ever and the second best election percentage, only Willie Mays (495) in 1979. Possible 432 in 1979, received more votes Only Ty Cobb, with a percentage 758. Cobb received 432 of 540 votes. "Cobb was a unique player and he deserves to be there," Robinson said of Cobb. "I've always had a lot of admiration for him, and I'm happy for him to be in there." Robinson added. A baseball player who scored nine first-half points and overcame a Notre Dame forfeit in the late stages of the game at the 14:19 mark.

The Irish back into the game. Robinson's 7-1 1 lehard seven dwarfs the one of 19 from the free throw line and recording a 4-3 win in the deficit and recording a 4-3 win in the first half on a last second shot by John Badger. The Irish will be held off at the wire by the 14:19 mark.

Another change involves former center-guard coach Jim Higgins. Higgins will remain on the offensive line, but will take over Backhus’ job with the tacklers and ends.

No replacement has been announced for Higgins’ spot, though there have been reports that Larry Vander Heyden, a three-year offensive line coach with the National Champion Clemson Tigers, turned down an offer to coach in the same capacity at Notre Dame.

‘I’m not going, but the only reason I turned it down is that if you’re happy where you are, there’s no reason to move,” Vander Hayden told The Times of Hammond, Ind., this week. “I was very impressed with Coach Faust and very impressed with Notre Dame. I think it’s the pinnacle of college coaching.”

But things are going well here. We have a youngster that’s a freshman here at Clemson, and we just didn’t want to disrupt the family situation now.”

In front of nearly 18,000 at the Capital Centre, the largest crowd to see either team all year, the 7-4 center scored 17 points, grabbed 14 rebounds, and blocked four shots. He did it all while playing just 27 minutes.

And again, the Irish lost.

This week, the Irish decided to revamp their show. Things obviously weren’t working out, and a change was mandatory.

So they watched South Carolina take San Francisco to overtime. Then, in the best Milton Berle tradition, they stole all the good punchlines.

Tough defensive work held Quentin Dailey to 13 points, and forced 7-1 center Wallace Bryant to play outside.

But in the end, the Irish lost.

Phelps, as always, was hopeful as the trip came to an end. With a little fine tuning, he thought, he might be able to keep the show from closing.

So Phelps will try to change the script. Already, he’s had a comedy, a tragedy and an adventure story.

Now he wants a winner.
Kentucky is upset by Ole Miss

‘Cats lose again

OXFORD, Miss. (AP) — Junior forward Carlos Clark scored 23 points last night to spark Mississippi to a 67-64 upset over No. 6 Kentucky in a Southeastern Conference basketball game.

Ole Miss never trailed in the game, which finally was decided in the final minute on two free throws by Eric Laird. Mississippi stretched its first-half lead to 25-12 on two free throws by Siran Tushy, and the Rebels led 34-23 at the half.

Kentucky's Jim Masters cut the Ole Miss lead to 36-30 early in the second half with a short jumper, but Mississippi pulled out to a 15-point margin with a field-goal from Clark, the SEC's second-highest scorer with a 20.4 average.

The victory gave Ole Miss a 7-6 record overall and a 2-3 SEC mark, and Kentucky dropped to 9-3 and 2-2.

Tigers stay unbeaten

COLUMBIA, Mo. (AP) — Senior forward Ricky Frazier scored 15 points, including four on key layups late in the game, as No. 2 Missouri defeated Oklahoma State, 74-69, in Big Eight Conference action last night.

The victory improved the Tigers' record to 12-0 overall and 2-0 in the Big Eight. Oklahoma State is 8-5 and 0-2.

After trailing at the half, 32-27, the Cowboys came back with balanced scoring to tie the game at 40 with 14:06 left. Frazier then scored on two layups to give the Tigers a 46-42 lead.

Oklahoma State guard Matt Clark hit a three-point play to pull the Cowboys within 52-49 with 1:52 left. But Missouri forward Marvin McGarry hit two foul shots with a minute left to ice the game.

“It's important, but if you don't look at the season as 18 games, you can get into trouble,” he said. “If you don't get too depressed by your losses or too elated by your wins and you give a good effort in each game, you've got 10 games and you'll be on top.”

Freshmen guards Troy Taylor and Ron Stokes have fit into the Buckeyes' pattern beautifully and at times Miller has traded them with Larry Hugins in employing a three-guard offense to go along with junior Clark Kellogg up front.

Floyd saves Hoyas

Georgetown had a halftime edge of 29-20, after the lead see-sawed back and forth during the first half.

But Georgetown's Paul Ewing added nine rebounds, but Floyd sank another jumper with 6:24 left to give the Hoyas a 34-29 lead early in the second half.

CHICAGO (AP) — Forwards Terry Cunningham and Bernard Randolph poured in 10 points each last night to lift No. 4 DePaul to a 92-59 rout of South Carolina.

The Blue Demons, 14-1, ripped through South Carolina's defense in the first half, picking up 11 steals while the Gamecocks committed 16 turnovers. The Gamecocks, 4-5, were outscored 51-10 in a 10:54 span as DePaul built a 73-37 advantage. During that spree, Randolph scored eight points and Cunningham and Skip Dillard had six apiece.

Irish defeat St. Francis, 61-57

By MARK HANNYKSELA

Sports Writer

JOLIET, Ill. — Mary DiStanislao must have had a lot to say to her women's basketball team at halftime of last night's game against the College of St. Francis here.

The Irish coach kept her team in the lockerroom for more than 16 and one-half minutes of the 20-minute period. The team that finally emerged was different from the one that ended the first half eight points behind.

Notre Dame limited St. Francis to just 23 second-half points and put together a pair of offensive spurts that carried them to a 61-57 win.

It was the second of those two spurts that gave the Irish control of the game. Down 50-42 with just over eight minutes left, the Irish went on a 19-7 tear and finally took the lead on Mary Beth Schueth's double-clutch jumper with 5:10 left. Almost two minutes later, Schueth scored again. This time from just right of the lane, after taking a pretty lob feed from junior guard Debbi Hensley. St. Francis was able to close the gap to one, 58-57, with 0:50 left, but three free throws by Schueth and two more by freshman Carrie Bates iced Notre Dame's fourth straight win and eighth of the season.

The Irish, losers of only three, were led by Schueth in both the scoring and rebounding departments. The Indianapolis native scored 11 second-half points, and finished with 17. She pulled down 10 rebounds, including three very big ones in the last three minutes.

"I'm happy we had enough fortitude to pull it out down the stretch," she said, "but, other than that, I'm not happy at all. I wasn't happy with our post defense. We let them flash and post up and take it right to us."

And that's exactly what St. Francis did in the first half -- take it right to Notre Dame using an effective transition game and full-court pressure. The Lady Saints built a lead that reached ten points with less than two minutes left in the half.

"We were flat our whole being in the first half," DiStanislao said. "With the exception of Butler (which scored 67 in a nine-point win over the Irish), that's the most points we've ever given up. We were guilty of lack of aggressiveness that caused us to do some really dumb things.

"St. Francis deserved to win -- they played very well," she said. "We were able to win the game because of lights of Notre Dame's successful women's basketball campaign during semester vacation.

"We played well over the Christmas holiday," said Irish Coach Mary DiStanislao. "Our freshmen had really adjusted well to college basketball. At times, we made some mistakes due to our inexperience, but for the most part, I've been pleased with our play."

The Irish, who are now 8-3, began their road swing in Philadelphia at the Penn Tournament. In the opening round, freshmen Mary Beth Schueth and Carrie Bates led the way to a 62-47 victory over the Tigers by 14 points.

The Irish then travelled to Kansas City for a clash with the Tigers, who defeated UCLA earlier in the season. The Irish, who trailed by three points at halftime, outscored the Tigers by 10 in the second half for a 60-55 victory. Irish assistant Coach Pat Knapp called the victory "our biggest win in two years. The girls really played well."

Missouri led by as many as five points in the second half, but Notre Dame kept it close with aggressive play. A layup by junior forward Shari Lee's B.B.Q

Backhus, Meyers fired; Faust makes changes

By KELLY SULLIVAN

As expected, Notre Dame Head Coach Dan Faust, who coached the Irish to a 1-10 record last season, has fired offensive coordinator Brian Backhus and defensive line coach Bill Meyers.

Backhus, who admitted to being "disappointed" by the decision, was Faust's first high school All-American, a player at Moorlet. Responsible for the tackles and ends last fall, he was offensive coordinator in 1980 before coming to Notre Dame.

Backhus expressed the desire to remain in coaching if possible.

Meyers, who was unavailable for comment, had completed three seasons as a defensive assistant at Notre Dame under former defensive coordinator Frank Gotch. He has been Stanford University Rose Bowl teams, Meyers worked with the off- offense as a graduate assistant. Devine before Faust moved him over to the defense, he coached the tackles.

Lichtenberg, who also serves as offensive coordinator for the Irish, will now become the backfield coach. Former Arizona State offensive coordinator Ron Hudon, a major recruit for the 1980 Notre Dame squad, will also coach the backfield.

OAKLAND, Calif. — Humer had it that a sign had hung over the street to the Oakland-Alameda County Coliseum

Abandon hope all ye who enter here: it supposedly said.

From what Humer had never won here. Moreover, the 2-8 Irish were without star quarterback Joe B. Hall as they battled the No. 9, "team.

Anyway, however, Tim Andree and the Irish came in the back entrance Tuesday night and missed the sign. They played for their best game of the season, and barely beat the San Francisco Dons.

Heiser did say that, if an announcement on the subject is forthcoming, it would come either today or tomorrow, but he refused to elaborate.

If the reports are accurate, that would drive Deaver Phillips with seven healthy scholarship players on the squad. Mike Mitchell, John Paxson, Bill Varner, Tim Andree, Barry Spencer, Cecile Tucker and Ron Rowan.

In all likelihood, though, Dan Devine will alter his lineup against Virginia and is out of the lineup indefinitely.

The team returned to South Bend late last night from the West Coast, and Sluby and the coaching staff were unavailable for comment.

ND may lose Sluby to the school books

Notre Dame Assistant Sports Information Director John Heiser yesterday refused to comment on reports that Irish sophomore forward Tom Sluby had declared academically ineligible and would not be permitted to play for the remainder of the 1981-82 basketball season. But other University officials have indicated that the reports are indeed accurate.

The report first surfaced on the Metrosports telecast of the Notre Dame-San Francisco game last night and missed the sign. They played for their best game of the season, and barely beat the San Francisco Dons.

Phillips said, "John is the man we want at the quarterback position. It doesn't bother me that he missed. He did what he had to do for all night.

Paxson's biggest contribution came on defense. He held Quinton Dialley to just 15 points, less than half his average. The Irish used a sagging zone defense to trap Dialley wherever he was in the floor. Another ace of Tom Sluby and Bill Varner combined to force Bryant to shoot from the foul line.

The Irish took a lesson from last night's game, a tough contest between the Dons and South Carolina. They saw the Gamecocks outscore their opponents, and saw how effective double- and triple-team defenses could be.

Faust made several changes in his staff over the holidays, as he prepared for comment. They played by far their best game of the season, and barely beat the San Francisco Dons.

"These guys really proved a lot to me tonight," he said. "We stayed with one of the best teams in the country for 40 minutes. A struggle, but we need that.

"We played with composure. These guys never lost their cool. Physically, this game was as good as a win for us.

"Now the Irish return home. They'll look at the lessons they learned on the road, and try to apply those lessons to the 16 games still to come.

Glad to be home

Road life disagrees with cagers

If years past, they were mandatory stops on the vaudeville circuit.

Kans City, Washington. A show with people named Lieb, Phelps, Ake, Delpah, Louisvile, few faults and lots of laughs.

Unfortunately, vaudeville is dead.

In city after city, from coast to coast, the Irish played all night. Every night, the act was a little different but the outcome never changed.

Against Kentucky, Digger Phelps had a surprise. He devised a stall that held the Wildcats at bay for a full 40 minutes.

Joe B. Hall was content to sit back in a zone defense and let the clock tick away. It was almost a fatal mistake. Officials missed an obvious double dribble by Dick Min selfish.

Against Houston, Americus and Sluby's to an overtime and eventually win 34-28.

But the Irish lost.

Against Missouri, they came up with just nine points between them. Devine lands job as booster club prez

Former Notre Dame Head Coach Dan Devine, who resigned after the 1980 season, finally has found a new job.

After dabbling in various pursuitsthe past for the year, and also being rumored for several vacant head coaching positions, Devine yesterday accepted the presidency of the Arizona State University "Sun Angels," a booster group that is unaffiliated with the university. ASU officials made the announcement at a press conference yesterday.

Devine, 57, has kept himself busy, most recently as an assistant for the new domed stadium in Minneapolis, but he has all but distanced himself from the Notre Dame football program although he has kept in touch with many of his former players. In recent weeks, Devine has been rumored for several head coaching positions, including the NFL's New England Patriots and also a Canadian Football League job.

He also remains the most men-
