$50,000 damage

Fire temporarily closes Corby's

By BOB VONDERHEIDE

An early morning fire Sunday at Corby's Tavern, Inc., 1026 Corby Ave., caused $50,000 in structural and material damage, according to the South Bend Fire Department. The tavern should be "fully operational in three to four weeks depending on the weather," Corby's spokesman Dr. Robert Shugart Jr., said yesterday. He added that final work on the reconstruction contract will be completed today.

The South Bend Fire Department report listed "heavy ceiling damage to the roof and rafters at the rear of the building with water and smoke damage throughout the bar area." The fire started in the furnace room where stored items such as liquor, plastic cups and supplies apparently spontaneously ignited, according to a Fire Department spokesman, who was insistently anonymous.

The spokesperson also said the fire moved up and across the ceiling to the rear of the building but the fireman "did not intentionally extinguish," and this is definitely not an arson," said Shugart also does not suspect arson. Shugart said the fire department's "standing job" saved the building from complete destruction. Two fire trucks answered the 4:32 a.m. call and had the blaze under control within 45 minutes if the fire had not been contained.

WASHINGTON (AP) — Saluting crews hauled the tail of an Air Florida jetliner from the frigid frigid of the Potomac River on yesterday, but the achievement turned sour when the crumpled section failed to yield two flight recorders which could unravel the causes of last week's crash.

Investigators were initially excited when, after battling the frozen river for five days, divers managed to tie straps under the Porpoise 737's tail and lift it from a crane on the bridge overhead. But the objects of the operation - the critical cockpit voice and flight data recorders - weren't inside.

With that, divers took to the water once more, but darkness forced suspension of the effort for another two weeks.

Authorities had expected to find the voice and data recorders, each within the recovered section. But when they probed the wreckage, they weren't inside.

"Anyone who is familiar with Corby's," Shugart said, "would just be shocked to see the damage. There is extensive damage to the roof."

Corby's closed at 5:00 a.m. Sunday and Shugart, who was not in Corby's at the time, said the employees had left by 5:15 a.m. No one was in Corby's during the fire and the fire chief's report indicates that all doors were locked.

Some employees did turn the furnace's heat down to 55 degrees to prevent freezing, as instructed. "Because of the cold, the furnace had been working hard for two weeks," Shugart said.

Corby's is fully insured and the property is assessed at $100,000. The fire caused $40,000 in damage to the building and ruined $10,000 worth of supplies.

Shugart's wife, Rose Kessen, Rowley, actually owns the property, but she has been out-of-town and was unavailable for comment.

Manic depression

Patients battle highs and lows

BY MICHAEL C. BUELOW

MADISON, Wis. (AP) — Jennifer is a 35-year-old secretary and mother with the spontaneous, wild mood swings of a professional comedian.

Her wide, animated eyes complement her positive, robust voice and the picture she presents for the listener.

Today she feels normal, a mood she may or may not last long.

The full intensity of her manic state is under control, as she reminisces calmly about the past 16 years of her life — dominated by months of hospital stays, psychiatric therapy and the memories of two suicide attempts.

Diagnosed as a paranoid schizophrenic in her 20s, Jennifer was not discovered to be a manic depressive until a few years ago.

Jennifer, like other manic depressives, suffers from a disorder which scientists believe is caused by a chemical imbalance in the brain. According to Dr. James Jefferson, a psychiatry consultant and director of the Lithium Information Center at the University of Wisconsin Center for Health Sciences.

The center, the only one of its kind in the country, was founded in 1975 and has over 8,500 articles and studies on all aspects of lithium therapy.

Jefferson, like others, takes lithium, a common form of salt, to control the euphoric high and tearful lows with which this lightheaded condition jolts its victims.

Jefferson said about 1.15 million Americans suffer from manic depression. It affects roughly 500,000 people — have been diagnosed and take lithium.

"Manic depression differs greatly from regular depression and schizophrenia, according to Jefferson. While many manic depressives do suffer from manic depression, others do not. Some manic depressed — roughly 500,000 people — have been diagnosed and take lithium.

Jefferson said the mood swings of manic depression occur "in cycles of mania and normal, as if the patient is having a manic "high" and then a manic "low."

Jennifer, like so many manic depressives, suffers from manic depres-

Supreme Court sides with Moonies

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Supreme Court indicated yesterday it will let Unification Church members use an 1871 law aimed at protecting freed slaves from the Ku Klux Klan to sue people who try to "deprogram" them.

The court, without comment, cleared the way for one member of the Rev. Sun Myung Moon's controversial church to sue 11 people for $451 million under the law. In other matters yesterday, the justices took these actions:

- Left intact the criminal conviction of former Illinois Attorney General William Scott for understating his taxable federal income in 1972. Scot now must begin a one-year and one-day prison sentence.
- Rejected an attempt by the Oglala tribe of Sioux Indians to regain possession of South Dakota's Black Hills. The tribe says it is not bound by a 1980 Supreme Court decision that awarded the Sioux Nation of Indians — including the Nuclear disarmament debated

A forum on nuclear disarmament will be presented Wednesday at 7 p.m. in the Social Concerns Atrium, on the first floor of the LaFortune Student Center.

Bertrand Nolting, professor of History, and Denis Goullet, William and Dorothy O'Neill Professor of Education for Justice, will lead a panel discussion with the audience. The two professors will present opposing views on the production and actual use of nuclear weapons, before taking questions from members of the audience.

The forum is sponsored by the Community for International Lay Apostolate (CILA).

recognizable to friends and family of the victim but mistaken for other maladies, such as schizophrenia or alcoholism.

Recent medical evidence shows the disorder may be genetically transmitted, and that persons with family histories of manic depression are more likely to suffer from it than those who do not.

In Madison, patients are able to get the treatment, support, and counseling they need from profes- sionals and other nations through the Lithium Connection, a voluntary self-help group at University Hospi- tal and Clinics.
The Connection, founded in 1978, has nearly 100 members, and is one of only about a dozen dozen like it in the country that provides counseling and support for manics who use lithium.

Jefferson said counseling is an important follow-up to lithium treatment—detected through blood tests and mood observations—because users must decide whether the drug and its side effects improve or worsen their quality of life.

Some of the less common and more serious effects include hair loss, kidney damage, diarrhea, memory loss, coma and death, which can result from an overdose of the drug, Jefferson said.

Jefferson, who has published several books and a paper on manic depression and treatment, said an overwhelming majority of patients in nationwide meetings choose to continue using the drug.

Irish swim teams fall to Cleveland St.

For a time Sunday, it seemed that the Notre Dame swim team would pull off a sizeable upset. Going into the final relay event, the Irish looked like winners against the powerful team.

"Cleveland State has the third-fastest pool in the world," said Mike Shepardson. "They are a strong team that has already qualified for the nationals in several events."

The Irish swam well as a team, but fell just short of the upset, as Shepardson fell to Cleveland Willamowski, Shepardson and things to come. Glenn Battle, John Freestyle relay, and a 6-50 overall win.

The other winner for the Irish was Teri Schindler, who easily outdistanced her nearest competitor to win the 100-yard Breaststroke event.

Both the men and the women will return to action this Saturday at Illinois State.
