Cites family as reason

Kennedy bows out of race

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Ed- ward M. Kennedy (D-Mass.) an- nounced yesterday that he will not seek or accept the 1984 Democratic presidential nomination, though he believes it was his call. With his children alongside, he cited "overriding" obligations to them, his brother Ted, and authorizing fundraising staff, and authorizing my decision, I think.

Kennedy's decision to drop out of the race would be difficult to go to the Democratic convention. The primary campaign veterans about setting up an- dalousy, the Democratic nomination from in- cumbent Jimmy Carter two years ago, but led in the early polls for the 1984 contest: When stepping aside, he received no other contenders but held open the possibility of such an outcome.

The decision left former Vice President Walter F. Mondale as the frontrunner in an already crowded field of unannounced Democratic candidates. Other liberals, including Rep. Morris Udall of Arizona, may now be encouraged to fill the void Kennedy's announcement was a political bombshell in Washington, even though it was well known that his family did not want him to par- ticipate in a 1984 campaign. Ken- nedy met with the clan over Thanksgiving, and "they all support

"Save the buses" Van Wolvlear blasts Burke

By TOM MOYLE

Father John Van Wolvlear, Vice President for Student Affairs, said Tuesday that Lloyd Burke, Student Body President, "is not facing the issue," with the "Save the Buses" campaign he initiated at Monday's Student Senate Meeting.

Van Wolvlear said that the Student Government had no basis for expect- ing the administration to pay the $324.75 in damages done to the TRANSPO buses carrying the foot- ball team after the Pittsburgh vic- tory.

"They (the students) wrecked the buses, so why should the administrat- ion pay?" Van Wolvlear said. He added that such measures as doubling the Student Union would not be necessary "if they (the students) could learn to control themselves and their actions."

The "Save the Buses" resolution, which was adopted by a 10-6 vote, calls for a 12 cent donation from "all mem- bers of the undergraduate student body and any others participating in the 'welcome'". as an answer to a Nov. 10 letter to Burke from Van Wolvlear requesting payment of the TRANSPO bill.

Burke said he does not expect to raise the entire amount from this voluntary drive.

Burke said the Senate was "looking light on purpose." The gain of the damage "is not really any money at all" for the university, he said, but also said, "If students think we should pay, we'll do something."

Van Wolvlear said this is the first time TRANSPO has billed the uni- versity since he has been here, though a bus windshield was broken after the 1981 Sugar Bowl win over Alabama. The damage this necessitated the replacement of rear doors and doors rails on two buses, as well as the replacement of windshield wipers, a rear window, a sign rack, a right mirror, and an air conditioning screen.

Burke said he believes that the ad- ministration should pay the bill. Af- ter earning "at least one million dollars in television money this year, they're arguing about $324.75," he said.

Van Wolvlear countered that the television money issue is "ir- relevant. If we earned twice as much could they wreck the buses?" He also noted that the administration is only charging for the TRANSPO bill, not for the labor involved in clean- ing up after the homecoming celebration.

Not all Student Senators believe the "Save the Buses" campaign is a good response. Jim Leous, Cavanagh Hall President, said the bill is "a serious matter. The resolu- tion makes us look petty." He went on to propose another solution: "If I were the coach, I would have paid it myself because it was a great display of school spirit, the likes of which we haven't seen since the Alabama game in 1980." Burke said that "it would be difficult to go to the ad- ministration with the number of responses we have so far."

Lack of response cited

Brainstorm deadline extended

By DAN MCCULLOUGH

The Student Senate announced this week that the deadline for entries to Operation Brainstorm, the contest that awards cash prizes for students' ideas on improving campus life, has been extended to next Tuesday.

Lack of student response made the brain- storming deadline extended.

Students with suggestions should see the sample form in this week's Observer or contact any Student Senator member. "Any idea is welcome," said Tucker.

Link to Tylenol case questioned in Illinois

By KEVIN FABER

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Kevin John Masterson, sought for questioning in the Tylenol poisoning case, was ar- rested back to Illinois yesterday after he waived extradition.

Masterson, 35, appeared in a Los Angeles courtroom after spending the night in a padded cell, the result of a violent incident in which he became enraged, scuffled with jailers and smashed the toilet in his jail cell.

But appearing before Municipal Court Judge Michael H. Tyman, the sandy-haired mechanic was calm and spoke softly as he acknowledged that he had been apprised of his right to fight extradition.

"I think I understand it, yes," Mas- terson said as the judge allowed him to read through the formal waiver he had just signed.

The judge turned him over to two Illinois investigators in the courtroom and told Masterson, "Good luck to you, sir."

Masterson was arrested Tuesday on a charge of marijuana possession but was not arraigned formally on that charge yesterday. The only mat- ter addressed at his hearing was ex- traction on the charge.

Masterson was sought by Chicago authorities because of statements he allegedly made linking himself to the seven deaths from cyanide-tainted capsules of Extra-Strength Tylenol. Illinois Attorney General Tyree Fa- ber told a Chicago news con- ference Tuesday night that his task force would ask that Masterson sub- mit to a polygraph examination.

He said that Masterson's attorney, David Schippers, has indicated Mas- terson will voluntarily take the lie detector test.

"We definitely want to talk to him about the Tylenol murders," Faber said. "We expect him to say he is not involved, but now that we have him in custody, we have some questions we want to ask."
Power of the press

In Evelyn Waugh's satiric novel about journalism, Scoop, a famous reporter is sent to cover a revolution in a Third World country. The reporter wins up in a different, peaceful country. Not once to disappoint his editor and a reading audience hungry for sensational war reports, the journalist sends totally false reports back to the newspaper describing the terrible carnage and war violence affecting the war-ravaged countries.

Surely enough, within a week a real revolution breaks out in the previously peaceful country all because of the false reports the journalist had sent in. It is stated in the novel that the journalist's characters: "News is what we (journalists) say it is."

Waugh certainly wasn't too far off the mark even though the book was written almost 50 years ago. In fact, only last week, another of America's most respected journalists, Edwin Newman, said the exact same thing in his keynote speech for the "Responsibilities of Journalists" conference in the Center for Continuing Education.

The scary thing is that Newman was serious. This assertion, coming from such a prestigious source, does more to reflect the burlenial power of the press than 100 Vietnam autobiographies.

More often than not, the press performs admirably in their tremendous task of collecting and disseminating the most relevant news stories of the day in a factual and unbiased manner. But it is apparent that Americans are being increasingly subjected to the sensational rather than the facts underlying — but more important — news stories. Television news networks are the most serious offenders in this case. In their intermittent and brutal battle for the ratings, the networks present cases, where they are being biased, it is the reader who should then draw their own conclusions for himself. This is what reasonable journalism is all about. Not film footage of young soldiers being blown to pieces or misleading headlines and distorted stories. Let's leave that kind of reporting to Prada and Evelyn Waugh novels.

Outside Thursday

The Observer is always looking for new reporters in both the sports and news departments, as well as people in advertising and circulation. Experience is needed, so if you're interested call us at 259-5035. You too can be an Observert.
Eileen O'Casey entertained and humored a gathering at the Architecture Auditorium last night with an account of life with her Irish playwright husband in the first lecture of the Sean O'Casey Festival. Her presentation "Sean and Myself" marked the beginning of the festival sponsored by the College of Arts and Letters that will continue through Saturday.

She described many memorable events of her life, from the moment she first read O'Casey's Juno and the Paycock to his death at 86 in 1964 at the age of 84.

Of her first exposure to O'Casey's work she remembers, "It filled me with excitement and emotion. I thought, 'I must somehow meet the man who wrote this play, but how?'"

After eventually being introduced to the playwright, Mrs. O'Casey, a young actress at the time, was asked to fill in for the lead in another O'Casey play, The Plough and the Stars. Though she thought it a "preposterous" part, her future husband convinced her to accept. "I can only think, looking back, that I was hypnotized and mesmerized into saying yes," she said.

Madrigal dinners begin tonight at SMC

Madrigal Christmas dinners, a traditional event at Saint Mary's, will be presented daily through Sunday.

The dinners, sponsored by the music department, are a re-enactment of the traditional Renaissance Christmas celebration. The Chamber Singers and College Musicum, dressed in 16th century costumes, will treat the dinners to traditional Christmas and Renaissance music. The program features singing, dancing and feasting.

The four dinners will be held in the North Lounge of Regina Hall at Saint Mary's. Seating will begin at 6:30 p.m., and the dinner will be served at 7 p.m. Tickets are $12 per person and may be obtained at the Saint Mary's ticket office or by mail. Seating is limited, and tickets must be purchased in advance. The public is invited.

After their marriage in 1927 and disappointment over the same rejectation of another O'Casey play by W. B. Yeats and the Abbey Theater in Dublin, Mrs. O'Casey went back to acting while her husband continued to write. "This was the best of both worlds," she said.

"Home all day with Sean and Breon (their first child), off to the theater in the evening. It was a very good time in our lives."

When her husband's health worsened, she left the stage to care for him. Wanting to move to a house near a school for their children, O'Casey told of needing a reference to convince a landlord to rent them a house.

Her husband wrote to George Bernard Shaw, a close friend, who responded that the landlord "proposed a lease in which I was not only to guarantee your rent but also your character, and I said I didn't know his character. I knew enough of yours to know that the consequences might include anything, even a war!"

After enduring World War II and despite his failing eyesight, O'Casey completed Cock-a-Doodle Dandy, a play in which he said was "his favorite play and is mine. He had achieved what he wanted. This play had interwoven into it music, song and dance." It will be performed as part of the Sean O'Casey Festival by students at 8 p.m. in the Little Theater at Saint Mary's on Thursday and Friday.

Before his death, NBC filmed "A Conversation with Sean O'Casey," which was shown following the lecture in the Architecture Auditorium.

The final Festival event will be the presentation of Juno and the Paycock on Saturday at 8 p.m. in Saint Mary's Little Theater sponsored by the Theater Guild of the Council of Irish Arts of Chicago.
Reagan tour.

Support pledged to Brazil

BRASILIA, Brazil (AP) - President Reagan, armed with a decision to ease the impact of U.S. sugar quotas on the ailing Brazilian economy, plunged into sensitive talks yesterday with Brazil's chief executive and emerged pledging renewed U.S. support.

"We have come to some agreements about future cooperation," Reagan told reporters after a 90-minute conference with Brazilian President Joao Baptista Figueiredo at the Palacio do Planalto, Brazil's presidential palace.

Reagan, who arrived here Tuesday night at the start of a four-nation Latin American tour to promote democracy and strengthen relations with countrymen that he said he looked forward to "working with Brazil on their economic problems as well as our own." He did not elaborate.

However, as the two leaders were meeting, Reagan's press office announced he had signed a proclamation waiving U.S. sugar quotas for sugar used to produce gasohol and alcohol for industrial purposes.

Although Reagan administration officials had warned in advance that this would not be a trip in which there would be U.S. handouts at every stop, the gesture was seen as symbolic of the administration's efforts to ease the trade protectionism Figueiredo has decried.

As the world's largest sugar producer, Brazil complained that the quotas Reagan imposed last May to protect the U.S. sugar market would cost up to $400 million in exports this year. This is just a fraction of Brazil's total annual exports of $32 billion, but the issue typifies the South American country's continuing concern about U.S. restraints on its trade.

Reagan also told reporters he is considering a request from the Beirut government to increase the number of U.S. peacekeeping troops in Lebanon and also may seek other nations' participation in the multinational force.

"We will be talking to friends and allies about that... because we want to do whatever we can to help get the foreign forces out of Lebanon," Reagan said, referring to the Israeli, Palestinian, and Syrian forces that remain in the strife-torn country.

On his first official trip to South America, Reagan spent the day engaged in conferences that were closed to the press and public.

Mexican press vows to end corruption

MEXICO CITY (AP) - Vowing not to "allow our homeland to crumble through our fingers," Miguel De La Madrid, became president of Mexico yesterday and announced a 10-point program to combat a deepening recession and widespread official corruption.

"Mexico is undergoing a grave crisis," De La Madrid said in an hour-long inaugural speech. "This is an emergency... the situation is intolerable."

De La Madrid, a 47-year-old economist, took the ceremonial red, white, and green sash of office from outgoing President Jose Lopez Portillo during a ceremony at the newly built House of Representatives.

Promising to set a personal example, he told his 70 million countrymen that "the moral regeneration of society will be a commitment and a permanent standard of conduct for my administration."

"We shall clean up and modernize the police departments of the federal government," he said.

"The police should be a guarantee of public safety and order, not a cause of their breakdown."

De La Madrid said he will root out and punish the corrupt officials widely seen as the hidden cause behind Mexico's worst recession of the century.

Abstemted by his nation's economic problems, including the largest foreign debt in the third world, De La Madrid gave little attention to foreign policy in his speech.

However, he repeated Lopez Portillo's vow "to meet others on an equal footing" and to work for "an immediate and peaceful solution to tensions in Central America."

Warning that the next two years would be tough, but promising that the burden of austerity would borne by everyone, De La Madrid announced a 10-point "immediate program for the reordering of the economy."

The program calls for sharp government spending cuts, job guarantees and continuation of public works already under way. Its program also includes tax increases, food programs, new standards in public housing, keeping the banks under the national control imposed by his predecessor, adjusting exchange control mechanisms to market conditions, and restructuring the federal administration.
Lecturers honor Saint Teresa

By AMY STEPHAN
New Staff

Saints are sometimes envisioned as being on a pedestal, far removed from us. We are concerned with the spiritual world. But Saint Teresa de Avila was very much concerned with and influenced by both the social conditions and literature of her time, according to Rev. Denis R. Gravis, a lecture last night at Saint Mary's Carroll Hall in honor of the 400th anniversary of her death.

Gravis, the Director of Programs at the Assisi Carmelite Spiritual Center in Darien, Ill., speaking on "Ms. Teresa de Avila: The Experience of the 20th Century through 16th Century Eyes," challenged the audience to read Saint Teresa's works.

"Don't read books about Saint Teresa, read her. In reading her, you will see your own experiences through her eyes," he said.

Gravis explained that 16th century Spain was much like 20th century America. He cited Spain's position as a world power, an inflation of more than 300 percent during Saint Teresa's lifetime, and a serious lack of jobs during this time as problems which are shared by today's society.

Gravis stated that Saint Teresa felt that many problems in society stem from goals which are too small. Saint Teresa advised people to "fix their eyes on their goals," he said. According to Gravis, Saint Teresa set her eyes on her goal, Jesus Christ, throughout her life.

Javier Herrero, W.R. Kenan Professor of Literature at the University of Virginia, centered on the influence of the popular romantic literature of 16th century Spain on Saint Teresa's writing, in his lecture later that evening.

According to Herrero, chivalry was very much admired in Saint Teresa's day. He outlined the life of Saint Ignatius of Loyola, who began life as a soldier and carried this spirit of chivalry into his faith.

Herrero stated that how Teresa was similarly influenced by the romantic tales of chivalry. He cited examples in her writing in which she compared the soul to a castle with many rooms, and described her convent as a fortress.

Herrero stated that Saint Teresa used the language of adventure, but through this language a greater spirit is referred to and expressed in her writings.

The BIRTH DEFECTS FOUNDATION and BIRTH DEFECTS CENTER

Great Deals on 16 in. Pizza

FREE DELIVERY

TO CAMPUS

with any 12, 14, or 16 inch pizza purchase.

Minimum non-pizza order is $5.00.

For the best in pizza, sandwiches and cold drinks

THE BEST

Support the March of Dimes

BIRTH DEFECTS FOUNDATION

Good Time

Joel Feinberg

Professor of Philosophy University of Arizona

Eleventh Annual Civil Rights Lectures

Autonomy as Personal Sovereignty

December 2, 1982

4:00 pm

Auditorium

Center for Continuing Education

Privacy as Autonomy

December 3, 1982

12:00 Noon

Law School, Room 101

sponsored by

CENTER FOR CIVIL AND HUMAN RIGHTS

Notre Dame Law School

Norbertine Fathers & Brothers

We offer the opportunity for Teaching and Pastoral Ministry with life in community.

We are men seeking God through

* shared life * shared prayer * shared ministry

This is our challenge!

For more information write to

Rev. Genz Griss, O.Praem.
Vocation Director
St. Norbert Abbey
De Pere, Wisconsin 54115

Pizzaria

East Bank

Emporium

Pizza

Dine among the antiques and enjoy our view of the new downtown!

Reservations Appreciated 234-9000

121 South Niles

South Bend
Wall Street Update

The Dow Jones average of 30 industrial stocks, which soared 36.45 points Tuesday, closed at a new all-time high.

Tuesday's average rose 1.14 points to 223.4 below the all-time high of 234.80 on July 21. The Dow has gained 5.56% since the start of the year, compared with the S&P 500's 2.26% gain.

The Dow's rise was led by energy stocks, as oil prices continued to climb. Exxon Mobil Corp. (XOM) led the way, gaining $2.03, or 4%, to $49.25. Chevron Corp. (CVX) was up $2.00, or 5.7%, to $36.25.

Meanwhile, a giant oil field was found in the north of Alaska, and the main beneficiaries of this discovery were two companies with virtually no overseas sources: ARCO and SOHIO.

You can see the dramatic changes in the business by following the trail Fortune magazine's annual compilation of the nation's top 500 industrial companies.

In 1970, ARCO was placed in the 50th position with sales of $1.7 billion (and profits of $118 million). SOHIO was lodged in 85th place with sales of $1.3 billion (and profits of $69 million).

By 1975, ARCO had risen to 15th place in the standings with sales of $7.5 billion (and profits of $150 million). SOHIO had moved up slightly to 75th on the roster with sales of $2.4 billion (and profits of $126 million).

In 1980, ARCO took over 11th place with sales of $8.7 billion (and profits of $1.65 billion), and SOHIO took a meteoric jump to the 25th position with sales of $2.1 billion (and profits of $1.8 billion).

Last year ARCO moved up another notch to 10th place. SOHIO moved up two notches to 21st place. They easily qualify as two of the fastest growing companies in the nation.

Exxon, Mobil, Standard Oil of California, Texaco and Gulf rose to the ruling positions in petroleum on a rich tide of Middle East oil. Now that same tide is sweeping them under. ARCO, on the other hand, is striking out in another direction. In September, it became the first U.S. oil company to sign an agreement with the People's Republic of China to drill for oil in the South China Sea. It could be a significant oil field. And in proceeding, ARCO can examine the experience of its competitors in the Middle East as an object lesson in how not to do it.

Airline offers local service

By PAM RICHARDSON
Staff Reporter

A trip to O'Hare may no longer be necessary for Northwestern students. The Student Union will establish a flight home beginning December 15.

Piedmont Airlines recently announced its plan to include daily nonstop service from South Bend to major cities in the East and South.

Piedmont will have two direct nonstop flights to Dayton, Miami, and Newark. Connections via Dayton will be offered to Boston, Dallas/Fort Worth, Orlando, Tampa, and Washington.

Piedmont spokeswomen, Jonathan Lynch, told The Observer that prices will be competitive with other carriers in the Midwest area as a way to attract local customers.

Lynch also feels that the new service to O'Hare will help the Notre Dame-Saint Mary's community "very much." Up until now, students had to fly from South Bend to get to O'Hare, now they can fly to O'Hare directly.

Lynch's expansion is mainly due to the fact that small and medium sized cities like South Bend have been struggling to maintain business. Piedmont is hoping its expanded services will mutually benefit the company and the Michiana area.

Free University

"an opportunity to share your interests"

Sign up in the S.U. office

Be an Army Nurse Be All You Can Be.

Call Collect

(219) 872-8634
Toward a national drinking age of 21

Most of those states that lowered their drinking ages from 21 to 18 did so after the horror of the 26th Amendment, which, in 1971, gave 18-year-olds the voting rights, a situation, which gave 18-year-olds the citizenry. Using the logic of the drinking age of 21, one could drive, for his country, support himself via full-time job, and now even vote for our leader. And he should be allowed to purchase and consume alcohol legally,” states New Jersey, Michigan, New York, and Wisconsin, gave 18-year-olds the “right” to drink. Few had the foresight at that time to see the effects of lowering the drinking age. In almost every state that lowered its drinking age to the ages from 16 to 21, particularly among the 18-21-age group. Many of these fatalities were of state drinkers from neighboring states which still had the “21” on their books. They had crossed the border for a night of legal carousing and ended up legally dead. More “young adults” were arrested for driving while inox, than another? A football player making use of his physical gifts (and appealing to the aesthetic need of the spectator) is no less important than a doctor utilizing his great mental capability. Isn’t it an insecure tendency for groups who have, be they materialists, athletes, artists, or alcoholics, to judge one another by the value of their physical gifts (and appealing to the aesthetic need of the spectator) is no less important than a doctor utilizing his great mental capability. Isn’t it an insecure tendency for groups who

The power of understanding

In this column, a growing life, faithfully lived, has been likened to an upward spiral that is hard to ascend. Understanding can be a great help with the positive direction of this spiral of life. It is this spiral that brings an understanding of human actions and this understanding strengthens faith. The root of compassionate understanding is the very basic and optimistic belief that the people are equal in that we all have the very basic and optimistic belief that the people are equal in that we all have the capability to grow to become better than we are. The power of understanding is firm, opens me up so that I might

El Salvador’s ‘progress’ two years later

Today marks the second anniversary of the assassinaton of four women in El Salvador. Given that a civil war has been in progress for the last three years, these deaths might pass as unacceptable, inexcusable casualties of a situation that thus far has claimed over 30,000

Paulita Pike

Guest Columnist

lives. But the characteristics that accompany their deaths do not allow the case to be written off as “unremarkable.” In the first place, these women were U.S. citizens, a fact which in itself draws attention to the act, especially when the events surrounding the deaths are less clear. Second, two of the victims belonged to the Maryknoll Order, a group, and one was a lay worker; he says to his chuckling com-panions, “made Me and God Doesn’t Make Junk.” Individuals are blessed with different amounts of different talents and abilities. But it is true that one person is “better” than another? Is one person more capable of love than another? Is one person more capable of love than another? Is one person more capable of love than another? Is one person more capable of loving another person? Isn’t it an insecure tendency for groups who

The Observer

The Observer is an independent newspaper published by the students of the University of Notre Dame de Lourdes and Saint Mary’s College. It does not necessarily reflect the policies of the administration of either institution. The news is reported with the objective of informing the students and the community. The Observer publishes a majority of the Editorial Board. Correspondence, opinions and letters are the views of the authors. Columns are available to all members of the community. This free expression of varying opinions on campus, through letters, is encouraged.
 mortgage loan

学生的联邦贷款Choosing a loan can be intimidating, but the Federal Student Aid site offers a variety of resources for making an informed decision.

FEDERAL STUDENT LOANS

- Direct Subsidized Loans
- Direct Unsubsidized Loans
- Direct PLUS Loans

SELECTING THE RIGHT LOAN

- Consider your financial need and eligibility.
- Compare interest rates and terms.
- Evaluate the impact on future loan payments.

APPLYING FOR A MORTGAGE

- Check your credit score and history.
- Review the property's value and affordability.
- Choose a mortgage with terms that fit your budget.

- Contact a lender to discuss your options.
- Complete the application process.
Lee leads Memphis St.

ST. LOUIS (AP) — Keith Lee scored 19 points and Phillip Haynes added 18 as the seventh-ranked Tigers on St. Louis 18-4 in an eight-point intermission advantage.

The Cardinals, who are unbeaten in three games. Andre Craig paced the Bil- likens, 2-1, with 1:5.

Lee leads Memphis

ST. LOUIS (AP) — Keith Lee scored 19 points and Phillip Haynes added 18 as the seventh-ranked Tigers pulled within nine at 36-27 in the first half. The Tigers out­

HARRISONBURG, Va. — Guards Otthell Wilson and Ricky Stokes combined for 25 points last night as Virginia’s top-ranked Cavaliers started slow but pulled away to post a 51-34 college basket­

Cardinals crush UC-SC

SANTA CLARA, Calif. (AP) — Guard Lancaster Gordon scored 17 points as the seventh-ranked Louis­ville Cardinals crushed the Santa Clara Broncos 84-56 in college bas­ketball last night.

Rodney McCray had nine rebounds, five assists, five steals and 14 points for Louisville, now 4-0. He was one of six Cardinal players in double/ti­}

jumps to a 41-21 halftime lead and were never threatened in the second half. The Broncos pushed as close as 44-29 before the Cardinals scored eight quick points to remove any hopes of a Bronco comeback.

Louisville shot 54 percent from the field while cold 33 percent.

Louisville shot 54 percent from the field while cold 33 percent.

In the first half, the Tigers out­

Rodney McCray had nine rebounds, five assists, five steals and 14 points for Louisville, now 4-0. He was one of six Cardinal players in double/ti­

jumps to a 41-21 halftime lead and were never threatened in the second half. The Broncos pushed as close as 44-29 before the Cardinals scored eight quick points to remove any hopes of a Bronco comeback.

Louisville shot 54 percent from the field while cold 33 percent.

In the first half, the Tigers out­

Rodney McCray had nine rebounds, five assists, five steals and 14 points for Louisville, now 4-0. He was one of six Cardinal players in double/ti­

jumps to a 41-21 halftime lead and were never threatened in the second half. The Broncos pushed as close as 44-29 before the Cardinals scored eight quick points to remove any hopes of a Bronco comeback.

Louisville shot 54 percent from the field while cold 33 percent.

In the first half, the Tigers out­

Rodney McCray had nine rebounds, five assists, five steals and 14 points for Louisville, now 4-0. He was one of six Cardinal players in double/ti­

jumps to a 41-21 halftime lead and were never threatened in the second half. The Broncos pushed as close as 44-29 before the Cardinals scored eight quick points to remove any hopes of a Bronco comeback.

Louisville shot 54 percent from the field while cold 33 percent.

In the first half, the Tigers out­

Rodney McCray had nine rebounds, five assists, five steals and 14 points for Louisville, now 4-0. He was one of six Cardinal players in double/ti­

jumps to a 41-21 halftime lead and were never threatened in the second half. The Broncos pushed as close as 44-29 before the Cardinals scored eight quick points to remove any hopes of a Bronco comeback.

Louisville shot 54 percent from the field while cold 33 percent.

In the first half, the Tigers out­

Rodney McCray had nine rebounds, five assists, five steals and 14 points for Louisville, now 4-0. He was one of six Cardinal players in double/ti­

jumps to a 41-21 halftime lead and were never threatened in the second half. The Broncos pushed as close as 44-29 before the Cardinals scored eight quick points to remove any hopes of a Bronco comeback.

Louisville shot 54 percent from the field while cold 33 percent.

In the first half, the Tigers out­

Rodney McCray had nine rebounds, five assists, five steals and 14 points for Louisville, now 4-0. He was one of six Cardinal players in double/ti­

jumps to a 41-21 halftime lead and were never threatened in the second half. The Broncos pushed as close as 44-29 before the Cardinals scored eight quick points to remove any hopes of a Bronco comeback.

Louisville shot 54 percent from the field while cold 33 percent.

In the first half, the Tigers out­

Rodney McCray had nine rebounds, five assists, five steals and 14 points for Louisville, now 4-0. He was one of six Cardinal players in double/ti­

jumps to a 41-21 halftime lead and were never threatened in the second half. The Broncos pushed as close as 44-29 before the Cardinals scored eight quick points to remove any hopes of a Bronco comeback.

Louisville shot 54 percent from the field while cold 33 percent.

In the first half, the Tigers out­

Rodney McCray had nine rebounds, five assists, five steals and 14 points for Louisville, now 4-0. He was one of six Cardinal players in double/ti­

jumps to a 41-21 halftime lead and were never threatened in the second half. The Broncos pushed as close as 44-29 before the Cardinals scored eight quick points to remove any hopes of a Bronco comeback.

Louisville shot 54 percent from the field while cold 33 percent.

In the first half, the Tigers out­

Rodney McCray had nine rebounds, five assists, five steals and 14 points for Louisville, now 4-0. He was one of six Cardinal players in double/ti­

jumps to a 41-21 halftime lead and were never threatened in the second half. The Broncos pushed as close as 44-29 before the Cardinals scored eight quick points to remove any hopes of a Bronco comeback.

Louisville shot 54 percent from the field while cold 33 percent.

In the first half, the Tigers out­

Rodney McCray had nine rebounds, five assists, five steals and 14 points for Louisville, now 4-0. He was one of six Cardinal players in double/ti­

jumps to a 41-21 halftime lead and were never threatened in the second half. The Broncos pushed as close as 44-29 before the Cardinals scored eight quick points to remove any hopes of a Bronco comeback.

Louisville shot 54 percent from the field while cold 33 percent.
Its role is to pull together space operations and research and development efforts, focusing on the unique technological needs of space systems. This can be your opportunity to join the team that develops superior space systems as the Air Force moves into the twenty-first century.

To learn more about how you can be part of the team, see your Air Force recruiter or call our Engineer Hotline toll free 1-800-531-5826 (in Texas call 1-800-292-5366). There's no obligation.

Arti's concept of the ORSC III Defense Satellite Communications System satellite, (USAF photo.)

Mod Air Force mechanical engineer inspecting aircraft jet engine turbine. Most Air Force engineers have complete project responsibility early in their careers. For example, a first lieutenant directed work on a new airborne electronic system to pinpoint radiating targets. Another engineer tested the jet engines for advanced tanker and cargo aircraft.
Doonesbury

Simon

Fate

Jeb Cashin

The Daily Crossword

Wednesday's Solution

Photius

The Observer

Today

Thursday, December 2, 1982 — page 11

The Notre Dame Student Union presents:
the Midwest’s hottest band

Duke Tumatoe
and the All-Star Frogs

Tickets Available at Student Union

Two Great Shows!!!

Saturday, December 4
$2 In Chautauqua LaFortune Ballroom

Senior Bar
This Thursday is Strawberry Daquiri Nite

open 9:30 - 2:00 am

Campus

* 4:30 p.m. — Sean O'Casey Festival Lecture, "O'Casey and Marx and Christ," by Prof. David Krause, Brown University, 11th Hاغger Hall.
* 6 p.m. — Organizational Meeting, in the Old Inn Gallery; anyone interested is encouraged to attend, refreshments will be served.
* 6:30 p.m. — Christmas Madrigal Dinners, starting at 6:30 p.m., dinner at 7 p.m., H. Mary's Regina North Lounge. advance reservations required, 412 per person.
* 7:30 p.m. — Wrestling, ND vs. Valparaiso, ACC-2.
* 7:30 p.m. — Program of Liberal Studies Lecture, "Plato's Use of Myth as a Pedagogical Device," by Prof. Jon D. Smith, ND, Library Lounge.
* 7:30 p.m. — Basketball, ND vs. Butler, ACC-3.
* 8 p.m. — Sean O'Casey Festival Play, "Cock-A-Doodle Dudley" by Sean O'Casey, Little Theatre, sponsored by ND/SMC Dep. of Communication and Theatre.
* 10 p.m. — NVA Club Basketball, The Observer vs. NROTC, ACC—courts.

T.V. Tonight

6 p.m. 16 NewCenter 16
22 22 Eyewitness News
26 Newswatch 28
34 3-2 Contact
34 3-2 Contact
34 NBC Nightly News
22 CIB News
28 ABC's World News Tonight
34 Making It Count
16 60 Minutes
22 Law & Order
22 Jeane's Way
34 The MacNeil/Lehrer Report
7 p.m. 16 All in the Family
22 Family Feud
28 Tic Tac Dough
34 Straight Talk
8 p.m. 16 Fame
22 Maggie Pig
28 Josie Loves Chachi
32 All Creatures Great and Small
8:30 p.m. 16 The Star of the Family
9 p.m. 16 Cheros
22 Simon and Simon
38 NFL Football Special
54 Sneak Previews
9:30 p.m. 16 Family Feud
34 Religion and Social Issues
10 p.m. 16 Hill Street Blues
22 Keen Landing
34 Odyssey
11 p.m. 16 NewCenter 16
22 22 Eyewitness News
11 p.m. 16 The Dick Cavet Show
11:30 p.m. 16 Tonight Show
12 22 Quincy and McClod

This show has been buried for millions of years, and this is the first time it has seen sunlight in all that time. Isn't that exciting?

Now we're going to cover it with mud and send it to the laboratory.
Sports

Over Irish

Poise, hot shooting lift ‘Cats

By CHRIS NEEDLES

Sports

Nugget Phelps had waited 12 years for Kentucky to come to town, and he had Notre Dame ready.

"The (opponent) has an aggressive defense with a patient offense," he said. "The key strategy that last season, had beared Idaho and had made a potential laug­her out of the Western Pennsylvania point UCLA win.

But the backers of Hamilton turn out to be perfect, either. Some are spectacular; others have a few flaws.

And so it was last night at the ACC. Some top shooting by Kentucky combined with key mistakes by in­experienced Irish players spoiled the script, and enabled the third­ranked Wildcats (2-0) to escape with a 58-45 victory over Notre Dame.

Kentucky’s 12-of-16 shooting, second half, the Wildcats’ shooting percentage was 75 percent from the floor in recording its second straight victory.

"Kentucky is a very, very good shooting team," said Notre Dame’s guard John Krug. "They don’t miss (injured center Kempton) 50-48.

"Anytime you’re within one, three, five points, you’ve got a decent shot," said Phelps.

Unfortunately for Phelps, a decent shot is sometimes not enough. They were able to come up at that point. Kempton moved its 2-3 zone defense from there onto Notre Dame after a 24-19 lead before the Irish were able to overcome those obstacles and post a 58-45 victory.

The same scenario seemed likely, but the Wildcats, who are 7-1 this young and inexperi­enced in the guys who can score with 4:53 left to break the cold spell, Kentucky had stretched its margin of victory to 21-18. Meanwhile, Notre Dame had turned the ball over on its first 16 tries and the Wildcats have some open shots. We are young and inexperienced in the front line," concluded Phelps.

"Our defense experiment showed with the turnovers," added Kempton. "In pressure situations, we didn’t break down, but just cracked in certain spots. We (the Wildcats) have fought hard, but we should have defense on that level.

Phelps started two freshmen last night (Kempton and Ken Barlow) in key situations in the second half of Kempton’s 10-point, 5 rebound performance was admirable, but Barlow and Dolan struggled in their first collegiate meeting.

Barlow, a 6-10 center from Indiana, was the leading scorer in the game (34 points) before the Irish were able to overcome those obstacles and post a 58-45 victory.

I’m gonna stick with him all the way," said Phelps. "He’s gonna be a good player, and I’m gonna have to live with him throughout the season.

Overall, Phelps, who had hinted that he is thinking of leaving Kent­ucky and Coach Joe B. Hall, and his overwhelming desire to beat the Wildcats, was in an upbeat mood after­wards. "You need to get another shot at him." That’s what I told the players.

"For Kentucky here and play (the game) here was good for the players, it’s good for the fans. They’re (the Wildcats) have eight guys who can play," concluded Phelps. "We’re gonna struggle, play eight or nine every night, hope that five of them can go with us.

At ACC tonight

Wrestlers host Valpo, Concordia in meet

By JEFF BLUMB

Sports Writer

For those who would like to see a little close contact among the Irish wrestling team, a good place to start is the ACC meet at 7:30 Saturday night in the Joyce Center.

Many people ask what is so exciting about the wrestling team that is second in the nation.

"The team is second in the nation," says Bruno, "wrestling is individual vs. individual, which is what we have as a team.

The people there tend to be a little bit more laid back. After they latch on to someone they watch him from minute to minute to minute and they just want to repeat the same moves. It is much easier for people to become attached to people because there’s a personality there.

Brooke Phelps hosts Valpo, Concordia in meet

By MIKE RICCARDI

Sports Writer

The Notre Dame women’s basketball team gets a chance to experience some old demons when it faces Butler University Saturday night at the Joyce Center.

Mary Dilliant is Irish’s women’s co ­2, 0, will be attempting to break into the win column against a Butler team that lost only three games in their last two years at the Joyce Center.

Mary Dilliant is Irish’s women’s co ­2, 0, will be attempting to break into the win column against a Butler team that lost only three games in their last two years at the Joyce Center.

"Butler has more Division I (catholic) players than many Division I teams," says Dilliant. "The Bulldogs won their season opener Tuesday night, 79-62 at Val­paraiso. "They work hard, and do simple things well."

Bulldog center Beth Reppenbush is a 20-point, away from Butler’s all time scoring leadership, and anchors a strong front line. She collected 22 points and 12 rebounds against Valpo. Coach Linda Mason has two first­year players in Eliza Prev­lics and Barb Skinner. "Skinner is extremely dangerous from the outside and as a driver," says Dilliant. "The Bulldogs’ scoring guard Prov­lics, the power forward, is excellent on the offensive boards and is very aggressive under the basket.

Forward Sue Morris and guard Jenny Young round out the starting five.

Mary D. remains concerned about turnovers, the most obvious Irish weakness in thexious run-up.

Notre Dame lost the ball 50 times in two games — including 19 misses in the first half of the Roaders game.

"That’s what keeps us out of the Top 20, from being one of the better teams, rather than a mediocrity," says Dilliant.

"We’ll use the next few games to stock up on our stocks. The players who are aspiring to the leads will be pushed themselves because they are needed around (LCLA and Lunch)." The Bulldogs will get to play.

There are still a couple of spots available to grab.

IRISH ITEMS

- Freshman francises, etc. Keys’ ankle, sprained against Rutgers Saturday, will be rested this week. The 6-1 ravine of Marion, Ind., will return to practice from his absence against Western Michigan in the next week...

-Cathy O’Reilly is responding well to treatment on her ankle injury and may be back in time to play by the end of the month.

"Butler has more Division I (catholic) players than many Division I teams," says Dilliant. "The Bulldogs won their season opener Tuesday night, 79-62 at Val­paraiso. "They work hard, and do simple things well."

Bulldog center Beth Reppenbush is a 20-point, away from Butler’s all time scoring leadership, and anchors a strong front line. She collected 22 points and 12 rebounds against Valpo. Coach Linda Mason has two first­year players in Eliza Prev­lics and Barb Skinner. "Skinner is extremely dangerous from the outside and as a driver," says Dilliant. "The Bulldogs’ scoring guard Prov­lics, the power forward, is excellent on the offensive boards and is very aggressive under the basket.

Forward Sue Morris and guard Jenny Young round out the starting five.

Mary D. remains concerned about turnovers, the most obvious Irish weakness in thexious run-up.

Notre Dame lost the ball 50 times in two games — including 19 misses in the first half of the Roaders game.

"That’s what keeps us out of the Top 20, from being one of the better teams, rather than a mediocrity," says Dilliant.

"We’ll use the next few games to stock up on our stocks. The players who are aspiring to the leads will be pushed themselves because they are needed around (LCLA and Lunch)." The Bulldogs will get to play.

There are still a couple of spots available to grab.

IRISH ITEMS

- Freshman francises, etc. Keys’ ankle, sprained against Rutgers Saturday, will be rested this week. The 6-1 ravine of Marion, Ind., will return to practice from his absence against Western Michigan in the next week...

-Cathy O’Reilly is responding well to treatment on her ankle injury and may be back in time to play by the end of the month.